This would make it lawful for labor to be imported for any industry where a supply could not be had in Canada. Partly owing to press of business during the season, and some opposition to the measure, it was not passed, but your committee received assurance that until such a time as it became law, the present act would be so construed as not to interfere with the necessities of manufacturers. It is confidently expected that the bill will become law at the next session of Parliament.

Successful Interference.

Upon the recommendation of your committee the association strongly opposed a measure introduced during the last session of Parliament by Mr. Smith, M.P., providing for the transfer of the power to investigate and punish violations of the Alien Labor Act from the Department of Justice to that of the Minister of Labor. Your committee believe that the Department of Justice is fulfilling its functions quite satisfactorily and that there is no occasion to have this work undertaken by the Department of Labor. The bill was not passed in committee.

Reports were received from the Industrial Exhibition, and special Exhibition committees, were submitted and adopted.

The Officers Elected.

The officers for the current year were elected as follows: President C. A Birge, Hamilton; vice-president, George A. Drummond, Montreal; Ontario—W. K. George, Toronto; Quebec—J. J. McGill, Montreal; Nova Scotia—D. W. Robb, Amherst, N.S.; C. J. Osman, Hillsboro, C. B.; John Hendry, Vancouver; Manitoba—E. J. Drury, Winnipeg; treasurer, George R. Booth; Executive, W. C. Breckenridge, Hamilton; A. Campbell, Toronto Junction; John Chaplin, St. Catharines; H. Cockshutt, Brantford; W. W. Cox, St. Catharines; E. B. Eddy, Hull; W. M. Gartshore, London; James Goldie, Guelph; R. Hamilton, Peterboro; Lloyd Harris, G. P. Henderson, Paris; J. Newton, Kingston; R. H. Hobson, Hamilton; G. W. McLaughlin, Oshawa; T. A. Russell, Toronto.

A resolution was passed recommending that fast line service be established between Britain and Canada second to none.

During the afternoon the members of the association with their lady friends, were taken out on an excursion on the steamer Chebucto.

Mr Tarte at the Banquet.

At the Manufacturers' banquet last night Mr. Tarte said:

The shortest route to the sea-board is destined to be the great highway not only for the commerce of Canada but of the whole American continent. The G.T.R. and the C.P.R. must work together to carry this Canadian trade. We can offer the exporters a route from the Georgian Bay to Liverpool, shorter than via New York. We must have trains from the west to the east.

Sectional differences must be laid aside. This country must be one. I believe we will have the fast line and we will have it very soon. The magnificent port of Halifax is the natural terminus of the fast line. If we have a fast line it must be best we can get. Montreal cannot be the terminal of the fast line; Halifax in winter, and Quebec in summer are the natural terminals; Montreal will supply the freight and passengers. St. John is the port for freight, but not for a fast passenger and mail service. This country must be united by cheap transportation and a strong Canadian tariff.

Our markets must no longer be slaughtered by American agricultural implement makers and our carrying trade must not be done in American bottoms and through American channels.

Wrecked at Cape Race.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 15.—The British steamer Delano, Captain Gray, from Rotterdam for Baltimore, with a cargo of iron and general freight, went ashore yesterday, in a dense fog at Seal Cove, near Cape Race. The crew escaped with great difficulty. They report that the ship is likely to be a total wreck. Salvage steamers were despatched immediately to the Delano. This is the first wreck this year at Cape Race.

Dennis' Narrow Escape.

Guelph, Aug. 15.—William Dennis, one of a gang engaged taking out gravel on the railway at Guelph Junction yesterday, slipped between two cars, and the wheels of one ran over his arm, almost severing it completely a little above the wrist. His hip was badly fractured and his head bruised. He is now in the hospital in this city. Dennis is a resident of Cooksville, and is about 20 years of age.

As to Packing Canadian Fruit.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Fruit Inspector MacKinnon in Great Britain writes that British fruit dealers object to the barrel as a means of packing fruit. Mr. MacKinnon suggests that small packages with honest statements will find a much more ready sale on the market over there. He also advices that experimental packages of fruit should not be sent indiscriminately, but at more stated times and in larger quantities.

An Engagement Announced.

Cobourg, Aug. 14.—At a brilliant reception given this afternoon by Mrs. Nellie G. Sartoris, at the residence of Mrs. U. S. Grant, the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Sartoris' daughter, Miss Vivien Sartoris, was made. Mr. Scovel, to whom she is to be married, is a cousin of President Roosevelt. The wedding is to take place in St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, on Saturday, Aug. 23.

Two Killed and One Insane.

Evreux, France, Aug. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair, Americans, who were related to Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, jr., (Miss Virginia Fair), were returning to Paris from Trouville yesterday, when their automobile swerved and crashed into a tree 15 miles from here. Both were killed. The chauffeur became insane as a consequence of the shock.

The secretary of the Peary Arctic Club, New York, has received a letter from the captain of the Windsor dated July 26, from Labrador.

Jack Lossin carried a 150 lb. bag of flour from Aylmer, Ont., to Orwell without dropping it, on Tuesday, a distance of two and one-half miles.

STRIKERS' HOPE IS MORGAN

Both Sides of the Trouble Expect Him to Bring About Peace.

His Motive May Be to Avert a Weekly Loss of Millions by a Placatory Policy—Perhaps May Force Arbitration—Riot Results in the Police Shooting a Foreign Workman—Some Very Narrow Escapes.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 15.—In J. Pierpont Morgan striking coal miners believe they see Moses, who is to lead them from strife to arbitration and perhaps victory. This sentiment, arisen no one knows how, is of overwhelming force from one end of the coal field to the other, and the news that the financier had sailed for New York from Liverpool yesterday, was received with enthusiasm everywhere. Crowds surround the bulletin boards of the newspapers which announced his sailing and operator and striker exclaimed together:—"It'll soon end when Morgan gets back. He'll make them come to terms."

Mr. Morgan, the miners believe, will return determined to force some concessions from the operators. This determination, no one believes, has come from any sociological sentiment, but from a business brain that can see the folly of continuing a weekly loss of millions, which a placatory policy would avert. They believe he will use the Reading, Lehigh Valley and Central Railroad of New Jersey as a weapon to compel the management of the other coal roads to recede from their present positions.

Rumors were plentiful yesterday that John Mitchell has already determined that the committee of the operators will not have finished their report before a committee of strikers will ask them to hear their side again.

A Riot at Warnke.

A riot occurred at the Warnke washery yesterday afternoon. A number of strikers attempted to enter the barricade where sheriffs deputies were stationed. One of the deputies fired into the crowd and shot a Slav in the leg. At the sight of blood the crowd of men and boys retreated. The deputies were prepared to fire a volley when the barricade was cleared of all intruders. All is quiet now.

The man who was shot was removed to a house near by and given medical attendance. The physician in attendance said the wound was not a serious one. The other men had narrow escapes, bullets passing through their coats. The deputies on guard at the mine said they had been annoyed all morning by stone throwing, and one of their number was struck on the head by a rock. They were tempted to fire a volley at the crowd on the outside of the barricades.

Welshmen to Aid Strikers.

Cardiff, Wales, Aug. 15.—The South Wales Miners' Federation has adopted a recommendation that the federation districts contribute $50,000 to assist the striking miners in the United States, on the ground that they are contending for principles of international importance.

BLOW AIMED AT LOTTERIES.

Montreal Men Convicted of Complicity Severely Punished.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Judge Choquet dealt a crushing blow at lotteries yesterday when he delivered his judgment in the case of the five directors of the Dominion Colonization Company, who were charged with keeping a disorderly house by running a lottery against the statutes, as revised by Parliament. George Giguere who was the organizer of the scheme, and practically the manager of the whole business, was sent to the common jail for three months, without the option of a fine. Alias Rivet, Albert Desjordy, Elie Sicotte and Ernest David were each fined $100 and costs or three months. There is no appeal from this judgment.

Fought on a Train.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—Charles Salisbury of Hespeler, who is alleged to have stabbed Frank Cromwell, the high wire walker of Galt, on July 14, was arraigned before Judge Chisholm yesterday. The fracas in which Cromwell was stabbed took place in a special train from Guelph to Hespeler. A counter charge has been laid against Cromwell. Yesterday an additional charge, that of interrupting the free use of a G.T.R. car by fighting therein, was laid by Detective Cockburn. The prisoners pleaded not guilty, and their trial was fixed for Aug. 22 at 11 a. m. In the meantime both men are out on bail.

Purely Loyalist Movement.

Paris, Aug. 15.—In a Cabinet council yesterday Premier Combes said that the agitation against the closing of the schools was a purely Royalist movement. There had been grave occurrences, he said, which came within the penal laws and which would result in prosecution, instruction for which had been sent to the procurer-general.

Horses For War Service.

London, Aug. 15.—The British War Office now has on foot a scheme for the encouraging of horse breeding suitable for war, in Canada. The scheme will be conducted under the supervision of the Canadian Ministry of Agriculture. A large number of horses will be shipped to Canada for stud purposes.

Russians Delay Restoration.

Pekin, Aug. 14.—The restoration of the Pekin-Shan-Hai-railway is being delayed by the Russians, who refuse to relinquish the new Chwang-Shan-Hai-Kwan section, unless they are allowed to retain the machine shops, and roundhouses at Shan-Hai-Kwan. The Russians also object to foreign officials.

BIG HARVESTERS COMBINE

Incorporated in New Jersey With Capital of $120,000,000.

Five of the Largest Harvesting Machine and Agricultural Implement Manufacturing Concerns in the United States Included in the Merger—Hamilton to Be the Canadian Headquarters of the International Harvester Company.

Chicago, Aug. 15. — The Tribune says: Details of the formation, operating plans, scope and purpose of the International Harvester Company were made public yesterday and include the immediate absorption of five of the largest harvesting machine and agricultural implement manufacturing concerns in the country, including the two great enterprises in Chicago. When the merger of these huge manufacturing plants is completed it is anticipated that the combination will reach out after the smaller concerns and ultimately invade Canada. The headquarters of the combined company will be in Chicago.

A director in speaking of the combine says: "In addition to the plants of the mergered companies the company will soon have another operation in Canada. This is almost completed. It has warehouses in the chief centres of population, and economies of production will result from its ownership of timber lands, coal, ore, blast furnaces, and steel properties. The administration of its affairs is to be of the most conservative character.

"The annual output of the five plants in the combine approximates over 700,000 machines. They employ fully 20,000 men."

Hamilton Its Location.

Hamilton, Aug. 15.—Hamilton is to be the Canadian headquarters for the International Harvester Company, incorporated yesterday in New Jersey, with a capital of $120,000,000. The Deerings, McCormacks and all large American manufacturers of harvesting machinery are in the concern. The Canadian plant, which is of huge proportions, is now in course of erection in East Hamilton.

Farmers in $50,000,000 Combine.

Pierre, S.D., Aug. 15.—Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary of State yesterday by the Farmers' National Co-operative Exchange Company, with a capital of $50,000,000. The principal object of the corporation is to enable farmers to secure better prices for their produce. For this purpose the corporation will buy and sell grain, live stock and all kinds of produce on commission and otherwise. A chain of grain elevators, warehouses, cold storage plants and stockyards will be built.

THE SUBSIDIES.

$150,000 From Canada and $75,000 a Year From Great Britain For the Canada-South African Line.

London, Aug. 15.—In its issue of this morning The Daily Express asserts that Canada will subsidize to the extent of $150,000 and Great Britain to the extent of $75,000 a year, the new line of steamships to be established between Canada and South Africa, which is the first portion of the great plan elaborated by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to make the British Empire independent of American and foreign supplies of food, etc.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Canadian High Commissioner, in London, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, assisted, according to The Daily Express, in arranging Mr. Chamberlain's plan, which has the sympathy of King Edward and the Prince of Wales.

The Canadian Pacific Railroad has thrown in its lot with the shipping lines concerned in the amalgamation, the paper concludes, and the same combination is arranging for a fast steamer service between Canada and Great Britain.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Thursday.
Newark 1, Toronto 10.
Providence 6, Rochester 4.
Jersey City 9, Montreal 0.
Worcester 9, Buffalo 10.

National League, Thursday.
Philadelphia 5, St. Louis 4.
Boston 1, Pittsburg 0.
Brooklyn 2, Chicago 6.
New York 3, Cincinnati 6.

American League, Thursday.
Philadelphia 4, Detroit 3.
Philadelphia 5, Detroit 1.
Boston 3, Chicago 1.
Baltimore 8, Cleveland 7.

Change in I.C.R. Staff.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—A special from Moncton, N. B., says: The Government organ here announces that Mr. E. G. Russell, manager of the Intercolonial Railway, has retired.

Mr. David Pottinger, the general manager, will take over the duties of Mr. Russell, whose office, that of manager, has been abolished.

The office of the assistant manager, filled by Mr. E. T. Horn, who was brought from an American road by Mr. Russell, has also been abolished, and Mr. Horn's services dispensed with.

Where Does Canada Stand?

London, Aug. 15.—The conference of colonial Premiers with Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, which adjourned Aug. 11, reached no agreement as to Canada's contribution to the Imperial navy. A special arrangement is contemplated in the case of Canada. Australia's share was fixed at $1,000,000 annually, and New Zealand's at $200,000.

Where Women May Vote.

Sydney, N.S.W., Aug. 15.—The woman franchise bill has passed both houses of the New South Wales Legislature.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R.C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner on Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his Office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville.
Office—9 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT.
J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q. C.)
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE
At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian . . .	Est'd 1821
The North America, .	Est'd 1792
Quebec, . . .	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS. Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oct-4Aw

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire in Society and Scottish Union & Nationa Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
I can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St. Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

A MEMORY TEST.

The Act by Which One Controversy Was Decided.

Three men were disputing in Berlin one day as to which of them had the best memory, and finally they asked Oskar Blumenthal, a well known writer, to decide the matter.

"Read me any page of Goethe's prose works," said one of the three, "and I will at once repeat it word for word."

"I can do better than that," said the second one. "Put me in a corner of this room, and I will play three games of chess simultaneously without ever looking at the boards."

"That's nothing to what I can do," said the first speaker again. "Begin a conversation with me now about the most absurd things possible, and at the end of an hour I will repeat the entire conversation to you."

The third man was silent, and Blumenthal said to him: "Why don't you tell us what you can do? A few minutes ago you were boasting a good deal of your wonderful memory."

"I know it," was the reply, "but I did not then know that my two friends took the matter so seriously. And as they are so much in earnest I will not try to surpass them, for I cannot forget that each of them did me a favor yesterday."

"Yesterday?" asked Blumenthal.

"Yes," was the reply.

"And you have not yet forgotten it? In that case the laurels belong to you, for you have indeed a wonderful memory."

Paying the Premium.

Some few months ago a young matron telephoned to one of the young men she knew, who is connected with a large insurance firm, asking him to write a policy covering her new household effects.

"Don't tell Dick," she asked. "I want to surprise him. He really thinks I have no business head at all."

The young man assented and issued the policy. He waited a considerable time for the payment of the premium. His friendship for the young woman caused him to resist sending the bill, but he finally did so. The recipient complained bitterly to an acquaintance, who is considerable of a wag, and he readily encouraged her in her ideas.

"Now, really," she said, wrinkling her pretty brows, "this bit of paper costs next to nothing. I could have written it myself."

"Yes," said he, "but if you have a fire the company will have to pay the loss."

"Well," she suggested, "let them deduct what they say I owe them. Then they won't be out anything."

Tricks of the Fahyahs.

The Fahyahs have a trick which is performed in this manner: They take a small cup, put it on the ground—all feats are performed in the open air—and place in it a small bulb, which is then covered with sand.

Taking a small fan from their waist and standing about two feet away, they fan a rosebush from the cup at least two and a half feet high, bearing quite a number of roses, one of which they will give for a piece of silver. The flower withers away into ether in twenty minutes.

I have seen a peach, a pear and a plum tree grow from seed, bear fruit and wither away again in five hours. I have seen these Fahyahs throw themselves upon broken glass held in a large box that it would be impossible for any one else to touch without receiving a wound and never get a scratch.

Admiral and Chaplain.

On the return from a long cruise Admiral Goldsborough's chaplain was asked by the admiral whether or not he considered the result of his labors satisfactory from a clerical standpoint.

"Yes," he answered, "the result has been in the main most satisfactory. The only serious impediment to progress with the sailors has been that it is impossible to prevent their swearing when they hear the officers guilty of the very fault for which I correct them."

"Tut, tut, man, that is not to be helped. The officers all swear," replied the admiral. "I do it myself sometimes, but I don't mean anything—not a bit more than you do by your praying."

Saved by His Wits.

The Duke of Wellington once met by accident an officer in a state of inebriety.

"Look here, sir," said the Iron Duke. "What would you do if you met one of your men in the condition in which I find you?"

The officer drew himself up, gave the military salute and replied with great gravity, "I would not condescend to speak to the brute!" His wit saved him his commission.

The Inquiring Mind.

Jimmy—I say, daddy, I want you to answer a question.

His Father—What is it?

Jimmy—Well, if the end of the world was to come and the earth was destroyed while a man was up in a balloon, where would he land when he came down?

Far From It.

Girl With the Plump Neck—Fan Billiwink has begun to show her age, hasn't she?

Girl With the Dimple—I should say not! She's begun to try to hide it.

Some people can study a subject all their lives and then know nothing about it

---

A man is generally at his heaviest in his fortieth year.

THE GIRLS OF KASHMIR.

Why They Are Not as Beautiful as They Once Were.

The girls of Kashmir in former times were sold and carried away to the Punjab, in India. They commanded a large price, and parents in moderate circumstances for centuries past have been in the habit of parting with their daughters to place themselves in easier circumstances, and the daughters have generally been quite willing to escape from a life of penury and labor to one of opulence and ease.

A laboring man in this part of India cannot earn over $2 or $3 a month, while many receive for their daughters as high as $1,000. There are some cases where $5,000 was paid, but the usual price has been from $100 to $500.

The practice became so common as well as so damaging that a severe law was enacted prohibiting any one from removing any woman from the country, but it is said that the business goes on now as it has done for hundreds of years, and to that practice may be charged the fact that the women of Kashmir are not as beautiful as they once were.

The process of taking all the beautiful girls away, leaving only the ordinary and ugly ones to continue the race, has lowered the standard of beauty. Most of the women and girls perform field labor as much as the men, and their dress is of the coarsest and plainest materials, consisting of a garment like a nightgown made of white cotton. There is no effort to have it fit.

The condition of women in Kashmir is a very sad one, but one from which there does not seem to be any present escape. It is a constant struggle to live, without the least hope of any accumulation or of ever seeing better days.

The men only receive about 5 cents a day and the women generally about 3 cents, and that will provide only the coarsest food.

PICKINGS FROM FICTION.

There is nothing that is enough for a woman, but all.—"The Mississippi Bubble."

Overdone heartiness is nearly as nasty as underdone mutton.—"Comments of a Countess."

No man can be brave who considers pain the chief evil of life.—"The Heroine of the Strait."

We ought never to do wrong when people are looking.—"A Double Barreled Detective Story."

Occasion's everything, but the rub is to know an occasion when you see it.—"The Lady Paramount."

I'd be slow in advisin' anybody to go crooked, but when ye feel ye're in the hands of sharpers it's the only way.—"Rockhaven."

The master poets love to deal with the victory of the vanquished, which the world's thinkers know to be greater than the victory of the victorious.—"Nathan Hale."

Be sure, before you give your love and your trust, that you are giving them not only to one who deserves them, but to one who really wants them.

Useful Purposes of Rosin.

There are many useful purposes to which rosin can be applied outside of those of general practice. As a nonconductor of heat it is used in the protection of water pipes, particularly in crossing bridges, where the pipe is laid in the middle of a long box and the whole filled with melted rosin. Rosin is also used in supporting basement floors in machine shops, which may be laid over some dry material, as spent molding sand, which is carefully leveled off, and the planking laid upon temporary supports separating it about two inches above the sand.

Numerous holes about two inches in diameter being bored through these planks, melted rosin is forced through them by means of funnels until the whole space is solidly filled, and then the upper flooring is laid upon these planks. In case the floor is subjected to shocks sufficient to break the rosin it rapidly joins together again in much the same manner as the regelation of ice.

The Dragon Slayer.

At an English school a pompous youngster whose father, it was well known, had been a successful omnibus driver was one day fingering ostentatiously a large seal which he is in the habit of wearing, representing St. George and the dragon, and, having drawn the attention of a school companion to it, remarked carelessly:

"Ah, one of my ancestors is supposed to have killed the dragon, don't you know!"

"Good gracious!" inquired the other, somewhat anxiously "Did he run over it?"

Went Back on the Blue.

Gerald—My brother turned crimson the other day.

Geraldine—I never knew him to blush.

Gerald—I didn't say that he blushed.

Geraldine—What did he do?

Gerald—Left Yale and entered Harvard.

Ignoring Precedent.

Edmonia—Mrs. Topnotch is what I call impertinent.

Eudocia—In what way?

Edmonia—Why, she is not a Colonial Dame, but when she came to the colonial reception she had on a more elegant frock than any one of the Dames.

Fruitless.

Little Willie—Pa, what does this paper mean by saying it was a fruitless search?

Father—It probably applies, my son, to the quest of some man who was looking for pineapples on a pine tree.—Chicago News.

Accommodating the Captain.

One of the sea captains in the employ of Stephen Girard had a rural Yankee's fondness for whittling with his jackknife and on one trip succeeded in getting away with a large part of the rail, although, feeling that he was not without the artistic sense, he really regarded the rail as greatly improved in appearance. When the vessel came to Philadelphia, Girard went aboard, made a general inspection in the captain's absence and as he was about to return to shore asked one of the seamen who had been cutting the rail. The seaman told him the captain and then, afraid his telling might have unpleasant consequences were the captain to learn of it in a roundabout way, informed that official of the interview with Girard. The captain was in terror of a reprimand, but, hearing nothing from his employer, supposed the incident closed. As he was about weighing anchor ready to leave port a dray loaded with shingles drove down to the wharf, and the driver hailed the vessel.

"There must be some mistake!" shouted the captain. "Our bill of lading doesn't mention shingles!"

"This is where they belong!" sung back the driver. "Mr. Girard himself told me to deliver them! He said they are for the captain to whittle!"

The Cat Nature.

The cat's spirit of independence is the most distinct characteristic of her nature. As Mme. de Custine rightly said, the cat's great difference from and, according to her sentiments, superiority to, the dog lie in her calm insistence on selection which invariably accompanies her apparent docility. To the dog proprietorship is mastership; he knows his home, and he recognizes without question the man who has paid for, feeds, and on occasion kicks him with all the easy familiarity of ownership. He follows that man undoubting and unnoticed, grateful for a word, even thankful for an oath.

But the cat is a creature of a very different stamp. She will not even stoop to conquer, nor be tempted out of her nature by offers of reward. She absolutely declines instruction; nay, even persuasion is lost upon her for any permanent effect it may be designed to have. You may be the legal possessor of a cat, but you cannot govern her affections.

St. John's Eve.

Curious and quaint beliefs still prevail in some parts of England concerning St. John's eve. Lassies still place their shoes, before retiring for the night, at right angles, forming a T, reciting the lines:

Hoping this night my true love to see
I place my shoes in the form of a T, under the idea that their future husband will be revealed to them in dreams. Formerly supper was placed on the table with the belief that the future husband would enter by the open door. There is, too, a prevalent idea that especially fortunate are the children born on St. John's eve, the rhyme running:

Under the stars on the eve of St. John,
Lucky the babe that those stars shine on.

Waited For a Yawn.

Two young fellows recently went out on a shooting expedition, driving to their destination in a trap. They had excellent sport, and toward nightfall they returned to where they had hobbled their horse and were proceeding to hitch up when they discovered that neither of them knew the way to do it. In about an hour they had most of the harness on; but, try as they would, they could not get the bit into the horse's mouth. At last one of them sat down in despair, and his companion said:

"Well, Tom, and what are you going to do now?"

"I'm going to wait till that brute yawns," was the reply. And they did.

Elephants' Love For Finery.

Strange as it may seem, the elephant is passionately fond of finery and delights to see himself decked out with gorgeous trappings. The native princes of India are very particular in choosing their state elephants and will give fabulous sums for an animal that exactly meets the somewhat fanciful standards they have erected. For these they have made cloths of silk so heavily embroidered with gold that two men are hardly able to lift them.

They Felt Hungry.

She—Well, Clarence, dear, the situation is not quite as rosy as it was pictured to us before marriage, is it?

He—Well, not altogether so, love.

She—I wish—er—I wish—

He—What do you wish, dearest?

She—I wish we had the rice and the old shoes they threw at us when we were married.

Her View.

A little three-year-old miss while her mother was trying to get her to sleep became interested in a peculiar noise and asked what it was.

"A cricket, dear," replied her mother.

"Well," remarked the little lady, "he ought to get himself oiled."

Honesty.

If honesty is the best policy in business, it is also the best policy when one has done wrong and is confronted with the question whether he shall confess everything frankly or make excuses. A transparent excuse is worse than none at all.

After a man is married he discovers that his wife's golden tresses are nothing in the world but red hair.—Philadelphia Record.

MOORE'S POEMS.

Still Almost as Popular as When the Poet Was in the Flesh.

The Irish melodies and national songs of Thomas Moore still enjoy a popularity almost as widespread as in the days when he shared with Lord Byron the honor of being the most popular poet of his generation. His longer poems have not stood the test of time so well, though "Lalla Rookh," with its wealth of eastern imagery and detail, is still read and admired by many, as are also his satirical papers and lampoons collected under the title of the "Twopenny Post Bag," and his biographies, including one of his friend Lord Byron. Moore, who was born at Dublin in 1779, was the son of an humble Dublin grocer, and even in his earliest youth wrote poems of no mean merit. When he went to London in early manhood his engaging social gifts, his charming personality and the sweetness with which he sang his own songs gained him almost instant admission to the highest society, and he retained the love and respect of hundreds of friends and acquaintances until his death in 1852. His health completely failed in 1845, and he wrote nothing for publication after that year. Above everything else Moore was a patriotic Irishman, and his national songs and ballads vibrate with love of country and are tinged also with that strain of pathos which seems to be inseparable from all Irish poetry. "The Minstrel Boy," "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall," and other songs may be instanced in support of this. One of the best known of his songs and one which was a particular favorite with the poet is "The Last Rose of Summer," which follows:

'Tis the last rose of summer
Left blooming alone;
All her lovely companions
Are faded and gone;
No flower of her kindred,
No rosebud is nigh,
To reflect back her blushes,
Or give sigh for sigh.

I'll not leave thee, thou lone one!
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Go, sleep thou with them.
Thus kindly I scatter
Thy leaves o'er the bed,
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead.

So soon may I follow,
When friendships decay,
And from love's shining circle
The gems drop away!
When true hearts lie withered,
And fond ones are flown,
O, who would inhabit
This bleak world alone?

The Money Vote to Lord Kitchener.

The money vote to Lord Kitchener set some of the British newspapers recalling money grants of the past to victorious commanders. The great captain Wellington comes first—first in date, first in rank, first indeed in everything. After Talavera, in 1809, he became Viscount Wellington, and had a pension of £2,000 a year conferred on him and his two successors in the title, and the pension only lapsed two years ago. Im 1812 he got an Earldom and an additional £2,000 a year, and in October of the same year became a Marquis, with a grant of £100,000 for purchase of lands to descend with the Marquisate. Finally in May, 1814, when everybody thought that Napoleon in Elba was done for, he was made a Duke, and received £400,000 to purchase estates entailed on the heirs male of his body.

But Napoleon was not done with yet, and Waterloo brought its reward, for the Duke, after being thanked by Parliament "for the consummate ability, unexampled exertion and irresistible ardor displayed by him on the eighteenth," received an additional sum of £200,000 for the purchase of lands, to be held by him and his heirs on the tenure of rendering a tricolor flag on every 18th of June. Thus the Duke received £4,000 a year and £700,000, to say nothing of his £20,000 a year in Spain and £2,000 in Belgium. After that there was no grant until 1839. Sir John Keane then was created Baron Keane of Ghuznee, with a pension of £2,000 for himself and his two immediate successors in the Peerage. Then came Chilianwallah, and Viscount Gough received £2,000 a year for himself and the next two heirs to the title. Lord Napier of Magdala received £2,000 a year for himself and his successor. Lord Wolseley received £25,000 after the Ashantee war and the thanks of Parliament. Lord Roberts got £100,000.

They Refused Free Medicine.

AVOIDED THE LUMBERMAN'S HOSPITAL AND CURED THEMSELVES BY USING

Lumbermen prove their confidence in Dr. Chase by buying his remedies and using them instead of the hospital treatment supplied them without cost. An interesting letter.

Mr. John L. Hickey, now caretaker of the Public and High Schools, Trenton, Ont., stated;—"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and found them the greatest medicine I ever tried. I used them when in the lumber camps and believe by keeping the kidneys and bowels regular and the general health good that they protect a person from catching contagious diseases which are so common in the camps.

"I have seen hundreds of men using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the lumber camps. They buy them by the dozen when going in, and to show how much faith they have in them they buy them when they could get their medicine for nothing by going to the hospital camp. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills keep my liver, kidneys and bowels regular and my health good. I would not think of being without them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THEY DROVE PIMPLES AWAY.—A face covered with pimples is unsightly. It tells of internal irregularities which should long since have been corrected. The liver and the kidneys are not performing their functions in the healthy way they should, and these pimples are to let you know that the blood protests. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will drive them all away, and will leave the skin clear and clean. Try them, and there will be another witness to their excellence.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

HAD LA GRIPPE.—Mr. A. Nickerson, farmer, Dutton, writes; "Last winter I had La Grippe and it left me with a severe pain in the small of my back and hip that used to catch me whenever I tried to climb a fence. This lasted for about two months, when I bought a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and used it both internally and externally, morning and evening, for three days, at the expiration of which time I was completely cured."

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed 'Perfection.'

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

AT DEATH'S DOOR.—DYSPEPSIA CONQUERED.—A GREAT MEDICAL TRIUMPH.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.
Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,
Wotton, P.Q. General Merchant

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly, subdues the pain and disease.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

Use the safe, pleasant, and effectual worm killer, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; nothing equals it. Procure a bottle and take it home.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Have you tried Holloway's Corn Cure? It has no equal for removing these troublesome excrescences, as many have testified who have tried it.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

FOR INFLAMMATION OF THE EYES.—Among the many good qualities which Parmelee's Vegetable Pills possess, besides regulating the digestive organs, is their efficacy in reducing inflammation of the eyes. It has called forth many letters of recommendation from those who were afflicted with this complaint and found a cure in the pills. They affect the nerve centres and the blood in a surprisingly active way, and the result is almost immediately seen.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive's grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been saved. Mr. A. W. Levy, Mitchell, writes; "I think Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickle's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recommend it for severe colds and consumption."

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Little Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Do not despair of curing your sick headache when you can so easily obtain Carter's Little Liver Pills. They will effect a prompt and permanent cure. Their action is mild and natural.

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

SIMPLY DELIGHTED

Many persons have been simply delighted at the good bargains and stylish Shoes they have secured at our

Sweep Out Sale

Of all odds and ends and broken lines. Walk in and take a look over our Bargain Tables Below are a few of the lines we have thrown out this week.

70 pairs Ladies' Fine Kid Buttoned Boots, all sizes, American make, regular $1.50, for	$1.00
60 pairs Ladies' 2-strap Red Slippers, $1.00, for	.75
7 pairs Ladies' Patent Leather Low Shoes, $3.00, for sizes 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 6.	$1.50
9 pairs Ladies' Patent Leather Low Shoes, $3.50, for sizes 2½, 3, 5½.	$1.75
14 pairs Ladies' Patent Leather Lace Boots, $4.00, for sizes 2, 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 6.	$2.00
1 Lot Ladies' Fine Kid and Patent Slippers, regular $2.50 and $2.00 lines, for	$1.50

THESE ARE GREAT SNAPS.

Full Lines Trunks and Travelling Bags on 2nd Floor

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

Daily Intelligencer.

STRIKES.

The frequency of "strikes" in Canada and the United States is becoming alarming, not only in the derangement of business, but in the results which too often follow. If the members of Trade Unions were content to exercise the rights which are theirs under the law, and not adopt a policy of terrorism towards those who do not agree with them, or who are desirous of continuing at work, no one could complain.

The truth is, no one is safe under the existing state of affairs in investing his money in any enterprise in which men of a Union are required to carry on the business, unless he is prepared to submit, in many cases, to the arbitrary rules of the Union, which decides and declares how the business shall be conducted. In the first place, no man must be employed unless he is a member of a Union, only so many apprentices shall be employed, the number of hours each man is to work, the wages the employer shall pay, etc. If these terms are not accepted, a strike; after which, if man or woman dare to enter the employment of any one against whom the strikers have fulminated their anathemas, he or she becomes a victim of abuse, maltreatment, and in some cases death. Late events have given to the world sad illustrations of these facts, and yet, politicians dare not raise their voices against the perpetrators of these crimes; on the contrary, legislate in such a way as to render punishment almost impossible.

Riot and bloodshed have within the past few days been the result of these strikes, and nothing gained by the strikers, except the disapproval of all peace-loving subjects of both the United States and Canada.

In Kingston, the whole force of machinists in the employ of the Locomotive Works in that city "went on strike," not only refusing to work themselves, but prevented others, at the risk of their lives, accepting employment.

The Company refused to be dictated to, and properly so, as to how the business of the establishment should be carried on; and in order to continue their business sent their Superintendent, Mr. Tandy, to Scotland to secure machinists, thirty-three of whom arrived the other day in charge of Mr. Tandy, to take the places of the strikers at the locomotive works.

Fearing trouble the men did not land in Kingston, but stopped off at Gananoque, and were conveyed by steamer "to Channel Grove, Simcoe Island, opposite the city, which place Mr. Harty, the president of the company, had purchased a few days ago. The men will be kept on the island, being conveyed to and from the works by steamer. The strikers made an ineffectual attempt to converse with the new arrivals, both at Gananoque and on the island. The new arrivals started to work on the 21st of July." Why was all this precaution taken? Simply to prevent tampering with the men, and probably maltreating them, if they declined to accede to the demand of the strikers not to go to work for the company. This, too, in a free country.

The Toronto Globe publishes an interview which one of its correspondents had with Wm. Harty, Esq., M. P., President of the Locomotive Works, in which that gentleman is reported to have said:—

> "If the system that these strikers ask for had prevailed in the United States, Andrew Carnegie, instead of being a millionaire, would to-day have still been a poor telegraph operator, and Schwab, the President of the greatest industrial corporation in the world, would still be using the pick and shovel. They would not have permitted them to advance in the world, no matter how industrious, how skilful or how clever they were. Under such a system men would be mere machines, with no ambition to work or fit themselves for higher positions and increased wages. Another point, and an important one; why are we subjected to treatment different from that accorded our competitors in the United States? In every locomotive shop there the boss gang system prevails; that is, a skilled and competent mechanic is placed in charge of a gang of from eight to ten handy men, apprentices, etc., whom he instructs and trains for advanced positions and better pay. The unions there accept this system. How is it that we, a Canadian firm, are not permitted to adopt such a system, when the unions here are controlled by the same headquarters in the United States? If we are not permitted to work under the same conditions we cannot expect to compete with United States firms, and the inevitable result would be that we would go to the wall. This much must be understood: We intend to conduct our own business, if we have to bring in the Sheriff to help us do so. He has been here about every ten years since the works first started. We don't want him again if we can avoid it, and we think the only way to keep him out is to manage our business ourselves."

This is a sound and logical business position to assume. If others would act upon the same principle, there would be fewer strikes, less suffering among the members of the strikers' families, less bloodshed, and less derangement of business.

TIMELY TOPICS.

For the next eight days the d.s.lgg. will rest.

• • •

The Council would be wise in following up other Canadian towns and cities who have gotten out illustrated pamphlets, setting out the beauties and advantages to be obtained by summering or locating permanently in our midst.

• • •

Without doubt Belleville rivals or exceeds any place along the bay, lake or River St. Lawrence as a summering or holiday town. We have good hotels and boarding houses, as well as splendid fishing. This summer particularly has been one of the most delightfully cool, and why should we not have more strangers within our gates?

• • •

A taxpaper residing on Yeomans St. enquires if that thoroughfare is to be left until next year in the condition in which it is at present. The street for the greater portion was picked up and left in that state, and is strewn with stones. As the appropriation for Public Works is about exhausted there is a strong probability that the necessary repairs will not be made this year.

• • •

If you have any complaints to make about the price of coal in Belleville just stop a minute and think about the New York price of that article of necessity, which is now quoted at $9 a ton.

• • •

Judging from the amount of advertising matter of different kinds forwarded to this office from the U.S., we are inclined to the belief that a play called "Quincey Adams Sawyer" will stroll into this berg between now and next spring.

• • •

To stir up 275 people, just transfer them from a passenger steamer to a tug—you will get the most beautiful results. See resolution of disgust and indignation in another column.

• • •

Sir Gilbert Parker, novelist, who found material for his first successes in Canada, has forsaken this chosen literary field. His next book will be a volume of short stories, whose scenes are laid in Egypt; and his next novel, "A Tyrant and a Lady," will also have Egyptian setting.

• • •

For some years past Oxford has been practically "running" the British Empire. It is now Cambridge's turn. The Premier and leader of the House of Commons, Mr. Arthur Balfour, is a Cambridge man, and so is the Duke of Devonshire, the Government chief in the Upper House. Mr. Gerald Balfour and Mr. Austen Chamberlain are likewise Cambridge men, and the list might be extended both on the Government and the Opposition side. Cambridge claims as alumni Mr. Labouchere and Sir Charles Dilke. By a remarkable coincidence, this sudden revival of Cantabrigian prestige coincides with the revival of her prestige in the world of athletics.

• • •

It is fairly safe to judge men by the papers for which they subscribe. Good papers attract good readers. Advertisers should bear this fact in mind. When they use high-class newspapers they should see to it that the text of their advertisements comports with the dignity and merit of the papers so used.

• • •

The pleasure of going on an excursion is intense to some. Returning is "intenser" to most—you have that tired crowded feeling.

• • •

Any farmer will tell you that the boasted agricultural profits this year look much bigger when considered in the aggregate than when distributed around among individuals.

• • •

A Detroit judge who is hearing a divorce suit spoke of the parties to the litigation as "a pair of fools well matched." Another Daniel come to judgment.—Buffalo Express.

• • •

A Rye man to whom Prince Henry gave a dachshund is being sued for damages by a woman whom the animal has bitten. The lady must be very angry to forget the distinction there is in carrying the marks of a royal dog's teeth.—Buffalo Express.

• • •

Three active volcanoes should do something to modify the climate in Alaska.

• • •

It is not necessary to hunt out some secret Anarchist society in order to explain the rioting in the coal regions. The rival organizations of operators and men which prolong the strike are primarily responsible.—Express.

• • •

The Haytians might learn one good lesson from Tennessee in the science of fighting revolutions. The Tennesseeans finish their insurrections all up in one day and then have peace till the time for the next election.

• • •

Probably the same palmist who now professes to have read in King Edward's hand that he would have a prosperous reign would be claiming that she had foretold his death if the operation had had a less favorable result.

• • •

The Dominion Electrical Engineer is in the city on official business. Would it not be well for him to inspect the street electric lamps to see if there is any foundation for the complaint, which is common, that the city is not getting the light for which it is paying?

• • •

There is a prospect of anthracite going as high as $12 in New York. This is burning up money, sure enough.

• • •

Street talk in some instances is "Father to the wish." In certain localities rumors of Aldermanic resignation are rife—but believe us, there is not a word of truth in it.

• • •

This Municipal Council was elected for twelve months and if we can read between the lines they propose to fill their offices until the time expires, doing their duty as best they can, irrespective of 'knockers,' 'kickers,' or 'has-beens.'

Watch the extensiv patronage of the MAGI Caledonia Springs; only superlative merit could attract such a business

• • •

In a communication from Lisbon, dated Sunday, August 10, the correspondent there of the Daily Express says that May Yohe and Putnam Bradlee Strong are living happily together at the Avenida Hotel as Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson. In an interview with the correspondent, Strong said: "Miss Yohe arrived here Wednesday, August 6, in response to my telegraphed request that she come. We are perfectly happy and intend to marry September 25, when Miss Yohe's decree of divorce has been made absolute. We shall then travel, but we shall never return to America, nor will Miss Yohe return to the stage." Its about time this celebrated pair got spliced and we doubt if America cares a rap if they never come back.

• • •

A telegram from Kingston says:—

> "Smythe and Smythe have issued a writ against Wm. Carey, shoe dealer, Princess street, to recover $700 penalties under the Ontario Elections Act. A penalty of $100 for voting at polling sub-division No. 5, Township of Kingston, knowing that he had no right. A penalty of $200 for wilfully voting without having all the qualifications required by law. A penalty of $400 for having received a certificate to vote from the returning officer, and voting without having first taken one of the oaths of qualification prescribed to be taken by voters."

This is as it should be. If a few more prosecutions of a similar character were commenced and persons who practice these frauds heavily fined, much good would follow. It is known that in this County tampering with certificates was no uncommon occurrence. A few examples made of Returning Officers and certificated agents for this kind of "Machine" tactics might prevent in future some of the iniquities practiced by Grit officials and Grit agents.

Among a Host It Stands Supreme

Malt Breakfast Food

A NECESSITY A FOR GOOD MORNING MEAL

IT BENEFITS ALL CONDITIONS, FROM THE INVALID TO THE ATHLETE.

Among the host of breakfast cereals now before the public, Malt Breakfast Food stands supreme. It is because the scientific use of pure Barley Malt in its preparation gives the food a most delicious flavor, adds to its nutritive properties, and makes it the most easily digested of all known foods. It promotes perfect digestion, imparts strength, force and vigor, and gives rest to body and brain. It is the king of foods for growing children. It suits all conditions, from the invalid to the athlete. Ask your Grocer for it.

A INGENIOUS INDIAN

WITH A PEN KNIFE CARVES OUT OF STONE A GOOD LIKENESS.

The Picton Times says: Mr. J. M. Hurley, ex-M.P., has in his possession a remarkable model of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, cut out of a dark brown mineral stone, by Joel Johnston, a Tyendinaga Indian, who used only a common jack knife to make the bust. The redman is a warm friend of Mr. Hurley, and having seen a picture of the "Great White" Premier, determined to make a "little monument" of him, and finding a stone capable of being whittled, he turned it, like a sculptor, into a piece of art. The likeness is said to be a splendid one of Sir Wilfrid, and reflects the highest credit upon "the poor Indian." Mr. Hurley received it from this red friend only a few days ago and treasures it highly.

Black Hair Ayer's Hair Vigor has been restoring color to gray hair for fifty years, and it never fails to do this work, either. And you can rely upon it for stopping your hair from falling. $1. All druggists. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russsian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

What Is Perseverance?

"Take hold, keep hold and never let go," the old darkey said.

That is just what we are doing at this store, taking hold of the prices to make them right, holding on to our many customers by our courteous treatment and business-like methods, and never letting our good reputation go by trying to work off some inferior article on which we might make more profit.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

ESTABLISHED 1890. PHONE MAIN 4303.

W. F. DEVER & CO.,

STOCK AND BOND BROKERS.

WE EXECUTE ORDERS IN

Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel

on Boston Stock Exchange, over our private wire, for cash or margin.

BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

We solicit accounts for the purchase of listed stocks and bonds.

19 Wellington St. East, Toronto.

DR. BUTLER'S

Blackberry Cordial

The Best Remedy for

Diarrhoea,
Dysentery,
Cholera,

25c Bot.

Every Dose effectual.
The best medicine for children and infants.

WATERS'

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting, Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

TALKING THROUGH HIS HAT.

(Montreal Star.)

A well-known and popular resident of one of Montreal's near-by suburbs has recently achieved a distinction unique and all his own. His wife, in the morning, to remind him of an important city commission, took the liberty of tucking into his hat-band a large and showy piece of paper, bearing the words, "Don't forget the laundry." Leaving the house suddenly in the morning to catch his train, as most suburbanites do, he snatched up his hat without noticing the paper, wore it on the train into town, and around on the street cars, to the intense amusement of the sober-minded Montreal citizens, and returned at night, having "forgot the laundry;" and it was Saturday night, too. He appreciates the joke, and is bearing up bravely under the circumstances, and the family are doing the best they can in the meantime for fresh linen.

Police Court.

Drunk.

Robt. Smith was arrested last evening for being drunk. At the Court this morning, the Magistrate allowed him to go with a warning, as he promised to keep sober.

Dog Tax.

A number were summoned up for neglecting to pay their dog taxes. In some cases an enlargement was granted and in four cases a fine of $1 as costs was imposed in addition to the tax which will be exacted.

A Remarkable Old Lady

A most wonderful old lady in this district is Mrs. Hartman, of Ernesttown Station, who is 101 years and six months old, yet she is in possession of all her faculties. Her hearing and sight are as keen as ever, and she does not require the aid of spectacles to enable her to read or sew. Her mind is bright and she evinces a lively interest in current events. Mrs. Hartman is still hale and hearty.

NERVE WRACKED AND INSOMNIOUS.

Everything goes wrong, head feels heavy and dull, mind is filled with strange forebodings, stomach is out of kilter. You need a good tonic like Ferrozone to bring back your lost appetite and digestion, and cleanse the blood of all impurities. Ferrozone is a wonderful invigorant and strengthener that will banish gloomy depression and quickly restore you to a healthy, vigorous condition of mind and body. Nothing is so good for the sick, weary and debilitated as Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, at druggists or J. S. McKeown.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure Constipation.

Mistakes in advertising are the most expensive mistakes a merchant can make.

(Changed daily)

Friday, August 15, 1902.

HARD

TIMES

Come again no more, that's our wish, yours, too. But really times ARE GOOD, they have been improving for some years until now they are real good. Farmers have plenty and a full purse, and they are spending it helping to make times better for us all. It's a common thing nowadays for a farmer to pull out a wallett of ten dollar bills when paying for his wall paper, proud he has the good money to pay for equally good wall papers.

YOU MIGHT NOT BELIEVE US

If we told you our business for July, 1902, just doubled that for July, 1901 — the only time in our history a month doubled that of the preceding year.

IT'S NOT ALTOGETHER

And alone the times that caused it. Our excellent stock and our low prices figured largely in the advance.

WE STARTED

This year to divide our profits with our customers and doubling sales, thereby doubling profits. It keeps us busy every hour, makes us feel good and our customers better. It pays us, and we mean to keep at it. We mean to sell our goods at small advances on cost and make this store noted for low prices and abundant selections.

IN OUR DECORATING OUR PAPER HANGING,

You will find our ability of a very high order—by far the best here, and our prices very modest. We can hang your wall paper away lower in price than others, and we will do the very best work. You cannot imagine our doing you a poor job. I fancy it's not like us or our business. Our motto is always the very best at the very lowest prices. In competition we will gladly run up against anything. Bring in your departmental store samples. You will find we are not afraid of anything you can show—don't blame you for getting goods where you can get cheapest and right here is

THE PLACE

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Papar Wholesale & Retai

Death of an Aged Lady

Mrs. Nancy O'Carroll, aged 96 years, died this morning at the residence of her son, Mr. Thos. O'Carroll, 6th concession of Thurlow. Deceased was born in Ireland, but had lived the greater portion of her life in this country. Mr. O'Carroll died many years ago. The aged lady was a member of St. Michael's church. A family survives.

A SURPRISING DISCOVERY.

You will be surprised in trying Catarrhozone to find how quickly it cures cold in the head. The agreeable penetrating vapor traverses every air cell and passage of the nose, throat and lungs. In one breath it carries instant death to the millions of germs infesting the respiratory organs and breaks up a cold in ten minutes.

A trial will convince you that Catarrhozone is the most potent, satisfactory and pleasant cure for Colds, Catarrh, Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Trouble. Complete outfit, $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure Biliousness

Two Large Hogs

Mr. Hutchison, who resides in the 5th concession of Thurlow, to-day disposed of two live hogs, which tipped the scales at 470 and 420 lbs. respectively.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness, Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

HONORING AN ARCHDUKE.

(Toronto Star.)

The Public Prosecutor of Cracow, in Austrian Poland, recently instituted criminal proceedings against the committee of a new club in that city for insulting a member of the Imperial family. The alleged insult consisted in inviting His Imperial Highness the Archduke Karl Stefan to become the honorary president of the club. The new organization is known as The Bald Headed Club, and the principal qualification for membership is that the candidate shall be "getting a little thin at the top." The Archduke, who is abundantly qualified, is also blessed with the saving grace of humor, and therefore stopped all legal proceedings. He declined, however, to accept the honorary presidency. The club has lost a distinguished figure-head, but it has gained a big advertisement and perhaps after all a Bald Headed Club ought to be like its members—"a little thin at the top."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

PHOTOGRAPHED AFTER DEATH.

(Woodstock Express.)

Very few people reach the age of 20 years without having their photograph in the family album, but young Gladstone Green, the victim of Sunday's drowning accident, was one of them. The sad end of the young man has terribly effected his friends, especially his family, to whom the sympathy of the community is being extended. He died without leaving a photograph, that treasure so much prized by sorrowing friends. Yesterday it was decided to take a picture of the deceased in the sleep of death. The body was removed from the coffin and photographed along with the wheel on which he had ridden to the fatal spot.

Sincerity is a gem of the first water.

"HELPLESS WITH RHEUMATISM"

South American Rheumatic Cure, Mr. Barker says, worked a miracle in his case, and he expresses his gratitude in no uncertain sound.

Mr. S. Barker, of 9 Suffolk Place, Toronto, writes:—"It is only fair to my suffering neighbors to publicly express my great gratitude for the almost miraculous cure from Rheumatism effected in me by the use of South American Rheumatic Cure. For three months I was next door to helplessness, and my sufferings were intense, but two bottles of this great remedy cured me. It relieves in six hours. 58

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

Wanted at once, good cook and kitchen girl, also night watch. Highest wages. Anglo-American Hotel, Belleville. a12-8td&2tw

We want men to sell for us; salary or commission; paid weekly; outfit free. Good demand for stock now. We have 800 acres of choice fruit and ornamental trees.—Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto, Ont. a14eod-d&w1m

Persons of undoubted character, good sense, and plenty of push, to help in a great spiritual work. Our plan is entirely original, and the possible returns ten to twenty dollars weekly. —The Century Christian Co., Limited, Toronto. a13-6td

LOST.

Lace handkerchief, Aug. 14, between Station and Upper bridge. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office. 15-2td

FOR SALE.

One Mantle Folding Bed. Can be seen at 163 South Albert St. 23-tf

FOR SALE OR TO EXCHANGE,

For a smaller house nearer the Shire Hall, Judge Lazier's residence, 194 Victoria Avenue. m14-d3m

For that Lack of Ambition
For that Tired Feeling

TAKE DR. KENNEDY'S Iron Tonic Pills

50 for 25c.

Sold only at—

McKeown's DRUG STORE

THE DIFFERENCE

Between living well and living poorly is very small if you buy right. The fellow who knows it all is satisfied, but people who are seeking new ideas are welling to learn. We invite you to call on us and let us show you how to buy Spectacles. There's only one glass that will fit your eye properly and if you don't get that one glass, your eye is liable to be injured.

Let Us Examine Your Eyes.
It's Free.

We fit each eye with the proper lense and at the proper price.

ALEX. RAY.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

As Furnished to The Intelligencer by Haight & Freese Co'y, Stock Brokers, New York, through Their Local Agency.

New York, August 15.

Stock	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	93½	93½	92¼	92⅞
do. pref.	103	103⅛	102½	102⅝
C. P. R.	139	139	137⅞	138⅝
Twin City	126	....	....	....
U. S. Steel	40⅞	41	40⅝	40⅝
do. pref.	90½	90⅝	90¼	90⅜
W. Union	93	93¼	92½	92¾
Manhattan	135¼	135¼	134¾	134⅜
Erie	40	40	39⅜	39⅜
do pref.	69	69	68¾	68¾
L. & N.	151¾	152⅜	151½	152
Mo. P.	119½	119⅛	117¼	117⅝
Nor.	70½	70¾	69½	69¾
N. Y. C.	164¼	165	164	164
Reading	66⅞	66⅞	66¼	66¼
do pref.	86¼	....	....	....
St. Paul	186¾	186¼	185⅝	185¾
South Pac.	72	72⅜	71¼	72½
Sou. Ry.	40⅛	40⅛	39⅝	40
Union. Pac.	109¼	109½	108½	108⅞
Amn. Loco.	32½	32½	31¾	32
do. pref.	93	....	....	....
Penna	159½	161⅜	159⅜	160
Alton	43¼	43⅞	42⅞	43
C. & O.	55	55	54¼	54½
Ills. Cent.	169½	170	168¼	168⅜
B & O.	109¼	110	109⅛	109⅜
H. V.	101½	102	100¾	101¼
S. F.	81	81	80	80⅛
Sugar	133⅜	133½	132¼	132½
Texas	51⅜	51⅞	50⅛	50½

Sept. wheat opened at 70 1-4, closed at 70 7-8.

Sept. corn opened at 51 3-4, closed at 51 5-8.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS,

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 15.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers.
C. P. R.	128 1-2	138 1-4
Toronto Railway	122 3-4	122 5-8
Twin City	126 1-4	126
Con. Lake Superior	28 1-2	28
Dom. Coal	143	140
Dom. Iron & Steel	72 3-4	72 3-8
Nova Scotia Steel	115	114 1-2
Sao Paulo	108 1-2	107

Being "purse proud" is the worst disease we ever heard of.

The only way some people could take a tumble to themselves would be to walk in their sleep.

Any woman will tell you that trying on a new dress is also trying on the nerves.

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Mon day(at 11.30 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester ar 3.25 a.m. daily (ex cept Monday) and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to

U. E. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

EXCURSION

PER

Str. "NIAGARA"

To PICTON

Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 16.

Boat leaves Rathbun's whaf at 2 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.

2 hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902,

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $3.40; Return, $5.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C. CARTER General Manager, Deseronto.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.

Running all rapids.

Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, 02

NEW BUILDINGS

NEW FEATURES

NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums

$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

All the Resources of Our Glorious Country

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE

THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Back.

SEVEN PER CENT. DEAD.

The Terrible Cost of War in South Africa Computed.

The advent of peace has set British journalists counting up the losses in the war. From Oct. 11, 1899, to June 1, 1902, in all 31½ months of war, the ultimate triumph of the British arms has cost 21,579 lives or nearly 7 per cent. of the troops engaged.

Taking the killed and wounded together, the casualties work out at 30,120 men, or nearly 10 per cent. of the total forces.

The surrenders of armed men total 9,714, or about 3 per cent. of the fighting line. Of these, six battalions, on whom fell the ordinary bad luck inseparable from a great campaign, account between them for 3,000 prisoners.

The health of the Imperial army, in spite of the severe strain imposed, has been remarkable; the figures of 13,000 deaths from disease spread over an average force of 200,000 men, in two and a half years, giving an annual death rate of only 26 per thousand.

Taking a per capita basis, we find the war has cost the colonies three lives for every 9,000 of their population, while it has cost the United Kingdom four lives for every 9,000 of its population.

Generals Symons, Wauchope and Woodgate were killed, and Generals Lord Methuen (twice), Macdonald, Knox, Wood, Barton, Ian Hamilton (twice), Little, Rundle and Kekewich have been wounded. Lord Methuen was the only general to suffer capture.

Deaths from accidental causes throughout the campaign number no fewer than 785, of which 223 were cases of drowning. Train accidents account for 141 deaths, lightning for 52, accidental self-shooting for 16, mistakes by sentries for 4, and miscellaneous accidents, chiefly among mounted men, for 349. There are, moreover, six reported cases of suicide, one being a lieutenant-colonel, one a major, and four privates. Mining explosions claimed three lives; two men were killed by lions, one by a bull, one by a crocodile, and one is reported shot while attempting to escape from his captors.

Finally, the Victoria Cross has been gained—perhaps a better word than won or earned—by every division of the Empire, except Wales and New Zealand, England claiming 29, South Africa 10, Scotland 9, Australia 4, Canada 3, Ireland 2, and India 1.

Hard Lessons in Good Manners.

School chaff is wholesome in most cases, but it may cramp what should not be cramped. As to the chaff which a man gives and gets at a university, howe er, we do not think there can be two opinions. It must do good, and it has not the opportunity of doing harm. Only those receive it who lay themselves open to receive it. The quiet man who wishes to read or to think apart need hardly ever come into contact with his fellows unless he so chooses. The swaggering or bumptious man, the opinionated man, the offensive man—these are certain to be chaffed, and the chaff usually goes home; not at once perhaps, but it usually gets there in the end with satisfactory consequences. The personal remark may be rude, but rudeness is often a very salutary weapon. It is certainly one of the most valuable instruments of English education. Indeed it may seem a strange thing to say, but it is surely true that continued experience of calculated, formularized and well intentioned rudeness teaches people to be polite.—London Spectator.

Chances of Life and Death.

The following table is one that is used by the London assurance companies, showing the prospect of life at various ages. It is the result of several years of careful calculation and is said to seldom prove misleading or incorrect. Of course sudden and premature deaths, as well as lives unusually extended, occasionally occur, but this is a table of average expectancy of life of the ordinary man or woman: A person 1 year old may expect to live 39 years longer; of 10 years, 51; of 20 years, 41; of 30 years, 34; of 40 years, 28; of 50 years, 21; of 60 years, 14; of 70 years, 9; of 80 years, 4. Readers can easily gather from the above statement facts which will tell them, approximately at least, how many years longer they may reasonable expect to live according to the law of averages.

Simple Indeed.

It seems as if the acme of frugality had been reached by a French officer who explained with many appropriate gestures his system of sustaining life on a pension of five francs a week.

"It is simple, veree, veree simple," he said to the friend who had expressed amazement at his feat. "Sunday I go to ze house of a good friend, and zere I dine so extraordinaire and eat so veree much zat I need no more till Vednesday.

"On zat day I have at my restaurant one large, veree large, dish of tripe and some onion. I abhor ze tripe—yes, and ze onion also—and togezzer zey make me so seek as I have no more any appetite till Sunday. You see, it is veree simple."

Official returns brought from the Klondike to Vancouver, B.C., by the steamer Princess May, states that $6,500,000 gold has already been taken from creeks and shipped to the coast.

The Kemp bylaw was carried at Stratford Thursday. The city guarantees the bonds of the company for $15,000 for fifteen years, payable in fifteen annual instalments of $1,000 and interest.

The London Daily Express says that the three principal mail lines running between England and South America have combined. Tickets issued on one line are good on any of the steamers in the combination.

At Knoxville, Tenn., Rev. Whig Duncan, Baptist minister, living near Winfield, Scott County, killed John and William Tramwell, brothers, in a battle on the street there Thursday. The Tramwells attacked Duncan, whom they charged with paying too much attention to John Tramwell's wife.

Geese That Lay Golden Eggs.

Once upon a time there was a promoter who owned a common, everyday goose who laid the usual, ordinary goose eggs. He conceived the scheme of syndicating the goose on a gold egg basis and proceeded to do so.

He informed the trusting public that soon his goose would lay an egg of gold each day and offered for sale stock in the Golden Goose Egg company, limited, at bedrock prices. There was a wild rush for the stock, and the promoter suddenly found himself wealthy.

He continued to sell the stock as long as there were buyers, for he did not want to kill the goose that laid the egg. His goose continued the same ordinary fowl as before.

Moral.—There are featherless geese that lay golden eggs.

Ministers' Maids.

"Are you a minister's wife?" was a query encountered so frequently by a young matron in search of a maid that she scented a story.

"Why this mania to live under the droppings of the sanctuary?" inquired the matron or words to that effect.

Then it appeared that the minister's family is considered a most desirable place because of the opportunities for witness fees in wedding cases. There are few bridegrooms who come without a witness to be married who will not bestow a generous tip upon the girl who furnishes this small but necessary feature of the ceremony.

Would Give Him a Lesson.

A reporter who is the father of a year old youngster met his pastor on Sunday afternoon.

"Why weren't you at church this morning?" was the first question of the spiritual adviser.

"I couldn't come," was the answer. "I had to stop at home and mind the baby. Our nurse is ill."

"That's no excuse," said the pastor.

"It isn't? Well, next Sunday I'll bring him to church with me and see how you like it."

Appropriate.

The professor of painting has just entered the classroom, where smoking is strictly prohibited. Here he finds an art student holding in his hand a newly filled cherry wood pipe.

Professor (ironically)—What a queer paint brush you have got there! What are you going to do with it?

Student—Oh, I'm going to make clouds with it!

Very Irritating.

"Once in awhile, even now," remarked the caller, "you hear of some Englishman who says our Revolutionary war was 'the most causeless rebellion in history.' Isn't is irritating?"

"Decidedly so," responded the Boston young woman. "If a thing is causeless, how can it be any more causeless?"

The Whole Thing.

"Bixby seems to think he's the whole thing as an expert authority on sporting matters."

"Yes; he appears to regard himself as pretty nearly big enough to wear golf links to fasten his shirt cuffs."

When we deserve it, we don't mind abuse. It makes us careful. But the trouble is we never agree with our critics as to when we deserve it.—Atchison Globe.

The Wrong Roll.

Immediately after a wedding which took place in Washington the best man started for South Africa, where he remained more than a year. On his return, says a writer in Harper's Magazine, he was given a dinner and wore evening clothes for the first time since the wedding.

In the midst of the evening, fumbling in his waistcoat pocket, he astonished himself and his friends by pulling out a hundred dollar bill. Where had it come from? A sudden thought flashed across his mind.

The next morning he went to the clergyman who had married his friends.

"Do you remember marrying Mr. Armitage and Miss Bently about a year ago?"

"Oh, perfectly," replied the clergyman. "I see them constantly at my church."

"Well, will you pardon me if I ask you a delicate question in strict confidence. How much did you receive as your fee?"

"I will return frankness with frankness," returned the clergyman, smiling whimsically. "It was the strangest fee that ever came my way. After the ceremony the best man, with a profusion of thanks, slipped into my hand a small sliver of plug tobacco wrapped in a wad of paraffin paper!"

A Sight For Sarah.

Of a certain bishop, famous as about the plainest man in England, the Liverpool Post tells this pleasing tale: One day as this homely parson sat in an omnibus he was amazed by the persistent staring of a fellow passenger, who presently unburdened himself as follows:

"You're a parson, ain't yer?"

"Well, yes; that is so."

"Look 'ere, parson, would you mind comin' home with me to see my wife?"

Imagining the wife was sick and needing assistance, the clergyman at great inconvenience to himself went with the man. On arriving at the house the man shouted to his wife to come downstairs, and, pointing to the astonished parson, said, with a grin of delight:

"Look 'e 'ere, Salrry. Yer said this mornin' as I wur the hugliest chap in England. Now, just yer look at this bloke!"

The London Thunderer.

In an old copy of Bradshaw's Guide to London (1857) I read that a visit to the office of The Times during the time the "huge machine" is at work, casting off its impressions, at the rate of 170 copies a minute—10,200 an hour—will present a sight not easily to be forgotten. "The average daily circulation is 32,000, and the value of the advertisement is estimated at $550 per page of six columns. The duties paid to the Government, for paper, advertisements and stamps alone, amount to $175,000 annually. This stupendous establishment employs 300 people daily on its premises. Scarcely an event can occur anywhere of which its emissaries are not prepared to supply the earliest and fullest account." The first number of The Times appeared on January 1, 1788.

Compare the great city newspaper of to-day with The Thunderer of 45 years ago. Circulation, 350,000, and presses that print 96,000 sheets an hour!

A Weed That Eats Fish.

An English naval officer, writing from Suakin, Red sea country, contributes the following remarkable instance of a plant preying upon one of the vertebrata. The instance noted was observed by him when surveying the Paracel islands, in the south China sea: "As I neared a pool cut off by the tide from the sea I noticed among other submarine plants a very ordinary looking flesh colored weed. Bending to inspect it closer, I noticed numbers of small fish lying helpless in its fronds, apparently with little or no life in them. Putting my hands down to pick one of them up, I found my fingers caught by suckers on the weed, the fronds of which had closed tightly upon them.

"The fish had been caught in every conceivable way—by the head, the tail, sides, etc.—and some of them had been held until the skin was completely macerated. Those of the fish that were still living had evidently been caught at different times, they appearing in all stages of exhaustion. I regret being unable to name either the plant or the fish, but that the botanical cannibal really preyed upon the finny denizens of the deep there isn't the least doubt."

When Reptiles Ruled a World.

There was a time "in the wide revolving shades of centuries past" when our globe was wholly in the possession of walking, swimming and flying reptiles. Being the dominant type, they divided naturally into three great classes. In the oceans they became gigantic paddling enallosaurians; on dry land, or, rather, wet land, for the whole face of the globe was doubtless a quagmire at that time, they became monstrous, erect dinosaurians, some of which had legs fifteen feet or more in length; those which inhabited the regions of the air were the terrible flying pterodactyls.

For a vast but unknown length of time these awful creatures literally ruled the earth. Finally after they had "seen their day" they began to grow less and less. One by one they died out in the face of the younger and more vigorous fauna until at the present time only a few miniature alligators and crocodiles and a few toy snakes remain as reminders of skulking lizards and geckos and of the enormous reptilian types that once crowded land and sea.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS

Front St. Phone 91.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSION

$10 To Winnipeg and other Points in Manitoba and Assinaboia.

On complying with conditions of certificates issued with ticket purchasers will be entitled to return transportation for $18.00. Good going from stations north of Toronto and Cardwell Jct., and East to Kingston, on AUGUST 20th.

Tourist Tickets

On sale to Muskoka Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Kawartha Lakes, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., and all Sea Coast resorts.

Illustrated literature and information from agents.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

20,000 Harvesters Wanted

In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run —To— For

From stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell

WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or Southwest or Northwest of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 10th, 1901, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS and ARE NOT GOOD on "Imperial Limited" and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation on Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest Agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.

CHAS. N. SULMAN.

All professions are overcrowded, but people think there is room at the top and that their children will be right at the top.

Only a few people can mow a lawn so it will look right.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,

Belleville and Peterboro,

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc,

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling

XXX Cider and White Wine Vinegars

Pure Spices

Whole and Ground.

ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.,

Telephone 214.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

The beauty of the landscape dwells in the beholder. The man by his side may not recognize it.

The grand cycle of life starts with an involution of primal energy from God and returns to the "Father's House" after the educational unfoldment of divinity in the self-consciousness.

A Breakfast Food That Makes Vitality Quick as Lightning's Flash

Central Park West, New York,
March 28, 1902.

"FORCE" FOOD CO.
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—I think it my duty to write and tell you how I appreciate the good quality of your "FORCE" Breakfast Food. I have had stomach trouble for a year and am unable to eat anything but "FORCE" and milk. It is the only solid food I eat, and I never get tired of it and have gained four pounds. I eat about three packages a week. It is better than any other food on the market, and I cannot praise it too highly.

Yours very truly, ——— ———

Name furnished on application.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves,"
"Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

Why should she not open the door and go in and speak to him? She has the right. But the sudden impulse to see him and speak to him is the impulse of the fond young heart of his shy girl-bride, which is yearning for a few soft low-spoken words, a reassuring touch of his kind hand, a tender glance from his eyes. And now he is not alone, and—worse still—mademoiselle is there too; and she is laughing—a mocking little laugh, though she speaks in a tone of condolence.

"It is hard on you!" she exclaims. "Couldn't Lord Dunavon have broken his neck in the hunting-field a little sooner than yesterday, or not broken it at all? He had signed the settlement a week ago, my friends tell me; so Miss Joyce Murray has a nice little fortune now—fifteen thousand. Only half what your bride has, of course; but a half loaf with the girl you love is better than a whole loaf with—"

"Hush, hush!" Dallas Glynne cries angrily.

"Well, of course, it's too late now," mademoiselle says jauntily. "If the news had come only a week ago, or even at eight o'clock this morning, you—"

"Hush!" Captain Glynne cries again more sternly. "It was too late two months ago, mademoiselle! When I knew that the girl I loved was false to me for the sake of money, and meant to marry for money, I resolved to do the same. But, once my honor was pledged elsewhere, there was no drawing back possible, even if Joyce Murray became the richest heiress in Christendom!"

And Yolande Glynne, wife of three hours — the hapless girl who loves him as she reveres him, as the best, noblest, wisest, truest of men—the man who has honored her above all women on earth in choosing her, young and simple and unlovely as she is, to bear his name, to be his wife and his love—she hears from the cruel lips of her false friend, from the crueller lips of her beloved, her bridegroom, the darling of her soul, why he has chosen her, why he has married her.

CHAPTER XII.

Captain Glynne's unhappy young bride does not wait to hear any further details of the business-like reasons which induced him to marry her. She shrinks away from the door with a chill sense of terror and dismay benumbing her. Something dreadful has happened to her—that is all she feels or knows just now; for her brain is bewildered; and a heavy weight seems lying on her heart.

She goes up the staircase and through the corridor to her own room again, where she drops into the nearest seat and stares vacantly at the floor. Thus the maid finds her some time later when she comes in with the tea-tray, all smiles and importance and deference to "young Mrs. Glynne," as the other maids are delightedly calling the bride among themselves, and heartily envying "Miss Pitts" her post.

"Law me, ma'am, it's time you had a cup of tea!" the girl exclaims, with concern and something like alarm in her eyes. "You're as white as your dress, ma'am! Let me take it off at once and put on your dressing-gown for a minute. It's rather tight-laced, ma'am, and its such a weight of silk in the train! Oh, my goodness, you've sat on your veil and crushed it dreadful!"

"What matter?" Yolande says, smiling at the maid's anxiety. "I shall never wear it again, you know. Pull it off, and those orange-blossoms, and throw them into the wardrobe drawer. I'm married now, Pitts!"

"So you are, ma'am," agrees Pitts, with a respectful, envious, admiring smile, "and to such an elegant, handsome, high-bred-looking gentleman too as Captain Glynne is!"

"Yes," the girl-bride says, in a cold precise tone and a hard matter-of-fact manner, "Captain Glynne is a handsome man and a well-bred man. If he were not, I should not have married him, you know. I suppose I have pleased my eyes to plague my heart, as the old saying has it."

"Goodness forbid, ma'am," says Pitts, in a shocked tone, pausing in folding up the bridal dress, and uneasily watching the pale face and glittering eyes and the cold mechanical smile. "I wonder has anything gone wrong and vexed her?" Pitts muses. "She do look queer, and her voice doesn't sound like her own voice."

"But, law, ma'am, you are so dreadful pale," she says, in tones of dissatisfaction; "and you haven't hardly touched your tea!"

"No, I can't drink it—I can't!" the young wife replies hoarsely and wildly. "I feel cold and faint; my very heart feels cold and feeble, Pitts, as if it were going to stop beating altogether!"

"A drop of brandy, Miss Yolande—I beg your pardon, ma'am," whispers Pitts coaxingly. "I know cook has a little in her room, so I can get it in a second. She was taken that bad last night with a pain in her chest that she had to have just a wee drop——"

"Get it for me! Get it at once!" Yolande interrupts sharply; and Pitts rushes off, and in less than a minute returns with a flask half full of cognac and a wine-glass.

She puts it down on the toilet-table, and as she turns round for the water carafe, Yolande pours out a sherry-glass full, and, ere the horrified maid can prevent her, drinks off the fiery liquid "neat."

"Oh, good heavens! Oh, law, miss! It'll get up to your head!" gasps Pitts, nearly crying with fright. "Drink some water, ma'am; please! Drink off your tea!"

"I shall drink neither water, nor tea, nor any other slops," Yolande says curtly. "Don't be foolish, Pitts. It has done me good. I never knew the value of brandy before. I feel quite a different person," she adds, smiling. "It has blistered my lips and throat, but that doesn't matter."

"You look ever so much better, miss," Pitts declares, trying to recover herself, but watching Yolande with scared eyes. "But, gracious" — with a scandalised giggle—"you must have some cachous for your breath, you know, ma'am, or Captain Glynne will find out!"

A flame of color dyes the girl's cheeks, but it is not a blush of shy gladness. A light glitters in her dark dilating eyes. But she takes the little box of tiny pink tablets in silence from the maid.

There is a knock at the door at that moment, and Pitts, answering it, shows a face all modest simpers and smiles.

"It's Captain Glynne, ma'am. He wants to speak to you for a minute."

By a convulsive jerk of Yolande's hand, the cachous are scattered in a shower over the carpet; she turns and walks into the adjoining room.

"Tell Captain Glynne I am not quite dressed yet, Pitts," she says deliberately, and then shuts the door and locks herself in.

Pitts reddens violently as she sees the flash of amazement in the bridegroom's eyes at the tone of the answer and the sound of the closing door. "They've quarrelled!" she says to herself.

"Please say to your mistress," Captain Glynne remarks very quietly, caressing his moustache, "that the four o'clock train starts in twenty minutes, and that, unless she decides to go by the later one, we must hurry;" and, without another word, he turns away.

Two minutes later Pitts hears a frou-frou of silk and the tap of high-heeled shoes. It is mademoiselle in her slim exquisitely-fitting gown of gold-colored brocade, with the petticoat thickly ruched around the hem, and the spreading train which "sits" as nobody else's trained skirt does.

"I have come, by the bridegroom's orders, to hasten the bride," she says, smiling, and showing her white teeth as she enters the room without even the formality of knocking. "Madame will be late! Where is she, Pitts?"

"My mistress is in her dressing-room, ma'm'selle," Pitts answers very stiffly.

Ma'm'selle tries to turn the handle of the locked door.

"I want you, cherie!" she calls sweetly, but a little sharply, too. "Your beloved is getting frightfully impatient!"

Mademoiselle's badinage meets with not the slightest response, though she can hear Yolande walking about the room and opening and shutting drawers. She rattles the handle more sharply and impatiently.

"Chere madame," she calls, with some mockery—and not good-natured mockery either—in her tones, "do you hear me? We are all waiting for you and your lord has sent up his commands that youmm m m mm his commands that you are to hurry!"

The dressing-room door opens suddenly, and mademoiselle's malicious smile fades in spite of herself.

"Did Captain Glynne send you up with orders to me to hurry, mademoiselle?" Yolande asks, coolly buttoning her long dark tan gloves.

"Orders! Well—really I beg a thousand pardons, madame, if I have offended!" Miss Glover exclaims, with scarcely veiled impertinence in her sneering tones and saucy glance. She struggles hard to conceal her surprise and chagrin at her unexpected rebuff, with the lady's maid standing by and demurely enjoying it all. "I did not know I was intruding, dear," she goes on, in a low reproachful tone; "and Captain Glynne is impatient, and bade me to tell you how late it was."

"Captain Glynne has just been here on the same errand himself," Yolande rejoins, sitting down; then, turning to her maid, she says, "Pitts, will you change these boots for the other pair of Pinet's? These are rather tight. Captain Glynne knows of course we can not go by the four o'clock train," she adds. "It is absurd to even think of such a thing when it wants only twelve minutes to four now!"

Pitts is buttoning on the other pair of boots, and Yolande seems absorbed in her chaussure. So mademoiselle, biting her lip, and feeling snubbed and mortified, is obliged to take herself out of the room.

"Your wife is not ready, Captain Glynne," she says, returning to the dining-room. "Your first conjugal lesson in patience!"—and she shows the edge of her teeth in a spiteful little smile. "She says you are absurd to even think she can go by the four o'clock train — this quite loud enough for half a dozen people to hear, including Major Hutchinson and the "best man" George Ormond. "I think she is worried about tight gloves, or tight boots, or something of that sort. I know I was sent out of the room sans ceremonie!"

"Mademoiselle has a grudge against Yolande as well as against me, I fancy," Dallas says to George Ormond—"why, I neither know nor care."

"Mademoiselle can be spiteful, I know," he responds, chuckling. "You haven't been spooning her, have you, old boy? Governesses carry their tender little hearts on their sleeves sometimes."

"I have never spoken a civil word to her beyond what I was obliged to do," Dallas answers sourly. "Sh!" he adds suddenly, as he raises his eyes for an instant.

"I thought so!" he says laughing. "I thought she had some dire cause of offence against you! A woman, sir, would rather you beat her than be indifferent——"

He stops abruptly; but Dallas Glynne's flashing glance and frown of warning have come too late. Mr. Ormond sees that the bride has entered the room, and is standing at his elbow, looking from him to her husband with an inquiring smile.

"We are not quite such fools as we seem, I trust, Mr. Ormond," she says gaily. "And what sentiments to inculcate in the mind of a newly-married man! I shall take my husband away from you," and she slips her daintily-gloved hand within his arm, and smiles radiantly up at him.

George Ormond stares admiringly and tugs at his moustache.

"By Jove," mutters the young gentleman appreciatively, "Glynne knew what he was about! She's a pretty girl and a charming girl, and she dotes on him! How precious lucky some fellows are!"

Captain Glynne smiles back at his young wife, secretly amazed and pleased. She was deadly pale and shy and quiet to the verge of insipidity that morning in her bridal robes; and, whilst he knelt by her at the altar and sat by her side at the wedding-breakfast, his heart went back with pangs of fierce regret to his false lost love—winsome, laughing, light-hearted Joyce Murray.

But, now the quiet, shy maiden Yolande Dormer has been transformed, and Yolande Glynne, his young wife of a few hours, is as different from her as a fresh red rose is from a white daisy — as different as a sparkling, handsome, self-possessed girl is from a dull plain one. Her dark eyes are alight with a strange brilliance, her cheeks are softly flushed, her lips wreathed in smiles; her whole manner is rather feverishly gay, but charmingly different from her usual tame placidity—so Dallas thinks.

His heart is very sore for that false lost love who is now, when it is all too late, within his reach. He despises her, he almost hates her, for her falseness; but he hungers for her sweetness and brightness and her fickle girlish fondness—now lost to him forever.

Knowing, however, that she is lost to him, his heart is on the rebound towards the girl who loves him truly and passionately, his fair little bride, who is standing beside him now, with all the men admiring her and envying him. His slighted love and wounded pride are yearning for the comfort and the consolation of the unselfish adoring tenderness of Yolande's heart; but, alas and alas, she knows this not!

And little does he know or imagine that the pretty dark-haired girl who is looking so elegant and attractive that he feels for the first time a thrill of pride at possessing her—little does he know or imagine that she, with her dainty gloved hand resting confidingly on his arm, is writhing in a secret agony of jealous wrath and misery—that she is counting the weary minutes and lagging hours that must elapse before the time comes when she can be revenged on him for his treachery and baseness and cruelty. Hapless girl! Revenge on him whom her soul loves, who is her demi-god and her darling!

But Captain Glynne does not even dimly suspect that there is anything wrong—and not merely wrong, but woefully wrong, woefully strained — in the relations between him and his newly-wedded girl-love, until at the moment of their departure, when mademoiselle presses forward amongst relatives and bridesmaids to kiss the bride.

Yolande, who has kissed and been kissed by almost everyone else—except her husband—draws back from mademoiselle with a haughty smile, and extends her hand.

"Au revoir, mademoiselle," she says, coolly; "we shall see you at Pentreath next, I suppose?" And then she pauses on the threshold, looking back at all the laughing bridesmaids with their handfuls of rice. "You shan't throw any of that ridiculous stuff over me and spoil my bonnet!" she says curtly; and, before they can guess her intention, she opens a large umbrella, and, catching up her velvet skirts, darts out to the carriage, the showers of grain rattling harmlessly off the umbrella; while Captain Glynne, following her, receives her share and his own of the rice, which lodges on the brim of his felt traveling hat, about his neck and shoulders, and glides irritatingly down inside his collar.

His face is red with rage, and smarting from the pelting he has received; and he utters some ugly expletives in smothered tones as he leaps into the brougham. He shuts the door with a bang ere the footman can touch it, throws himself back into a corner, and flings his rice-laden hat upon the opposite seat.

"Disgusting tomfoolery!" he utters savagely.

Yolande laughs carelessly.

(To be continued.)

Wedding Stationery at The Intelligencer Job Office.

THE MARKETS.

Grain Prices Are Easier—New Oats 46c. in Toronto—Wheat Cables Lower—The Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 14.

Liverpool—Wheat futures closed ¼d to ⅛d lower, and corn futures ¼d to ⅜d higher.

Chicago—Grain turned weak to-day, and closed easy. Sept. wheat lost ⅜c from yesterday; Sept. corn closed ⅜c lower, but Sept. oats gained ⅛c from yesterday.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	73¾a	72⅝	74⅝
Chicago	70⅝	69⅞	69⅝	69⅞
Toledo	70⅜	70⅝	70½	72⅓
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	72b	68b	66b	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Receipts of farm produce were two loads of oats, 10 loads of hay, 1 load of straw, with a few dressed hogs and a few lots of potatoes.

Oats—One load of old sold at 49½c, and 1 load of new at 46c per bushel.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 75 to	$0 80
Wheat, white, bush	0 75	0 84
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 77	....
Beans, bush	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush	0 84	....
Rye, bush	0 50½	....
Barley, bush	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush	0 49	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton	$10 15 to	$10 50
Straw, baled, car lots, ton	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers' tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb.	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected	$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected	0 08
Hides, No. 1 inspected	0 07½
Hides, No. 2 inspected	0 06½
Hides, No 1 cured, selling	0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected	0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected	0 08
Deacons, dairies) each	0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb	0 07	....

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

The receipts of live stock at the Cattle Market were 56 carloads, composed of 861 cattle, 1000 hogs, 695 sheep and lambs and 60 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $6 to $6.35; medium exporters, $5.40 to $5.75 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $5 to $5.50; light export bulls, $4.75 to $5 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $5.50 to $5.75; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1055 lbs. each, sold at $4.85 to $5.35 per cwt.; loads of good butchers sold at $4.75 to $5; loads of medium butchers, $4.25 to $4.50; common butchers' cows, at $2.75 to $3.50 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $25 to $42 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4 to $4.75 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.50 to $3.70 per cwt., for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs, nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.37½ to $7.50 per cwt.; lights at $7.12½, and fats at $7.12½ per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags $3 per cwt.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 14.—About 1000 head of butchers' cattle were brought to the city since yesterday morning, and some 600 of these were offered at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers, having bought freely yesterday, were not wanting many cattle to-day, and considerable numbers will have to be held over for a future market. The best medium cattle sold at from 4½c to 4¾c per lb., and the choice bullocks, at 5c per lb. These prices were about 1 cent per lb. less than similar cattle sold for two or three weeks ago. Ordinary medium cattle sold at from 3½c to 4¼c, and the common stock at from 2½c to 3¼c per lb. Canning stock sold from 1½c to 2¼c per lb. Calves sold at from $2 to $10 each, or from 3c to 4c per lb. Sheep sold at from 3c to 3½c per lb., and lambs, at from 4c to 4½c. Fat hogs sold from 6½c per lb., for fifty sows and large hogs, to 7¼c per lb. for good lots, weighed off the cars.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Cattle—Receipts, 00 head; market steady. Veals—Receipts, 50 head; tops, $7.25 to $7.50; fair to good, $6.25 to $7; common to light, $5 to $6; grassers, $3.50 to $4. Hogs—Receipts, 2000 head; slow; pigs and light Yorkers, 10c to 20c lower; other grades, 10c lower; heavy, $7.40 to $7.50; mixed and Yorkers, $7.25 to $7.35; light Yorkers and pigs, $7.15 to $7.25; roughs, $5.75 to $6.10; stags, $5 to $5.50; grassers, $7 to $7.20. Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 1200 head; steady; top lambs, $6.25 to $6.50; fair to good, $5.75 to $6; culls to common, $4.75 to $5.50; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.25; wethers, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, top, mixed, $4.25 to $4.50; fair to good, $4 to $4.20; culls to common, $2.25 to $3.25; ewes, $3.75 to $4.25.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 14.—Beeves—Receipts, 10,107; dressed beef, steady. Calves—Receipts, 5 head. Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 8186; sheep, dull, lower; lambs opened slow and weak, and closed lower, for common and medium; sheep sold at $2.50 to $4 per 100 pounds; lambs, at $5.00 to $6.85; one car very choice, $7.50; culls, $4 to $5; dressed mutton, 5½c to 8c per pound; dressed lambs, 8½c to 11½c. Hogs—Receipts 623; nominally steady.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 14.—Live cattle, steady, at 13½c to 14¾c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 12¼c per lb.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Brockville, Aug. 14.—There were 3692 boxes of cheese offered on Brockville Board to-day; of these 2210 were colored and 1482 white. The only business done on the board was a sale of 260 colored at 9⅝c.

Vankleek Hill, Aug. 14.—One thousand cheese were boarded here to-day and not a box was sold; buyers bid only 9¼c and salesmen demanded 9⅜c. A resolution was passed, refusing any privilege of selling on curb, so that not a box was disposed of. The buyers were much surprised at this action.

Tweed, Aug. 14.—There were 770 cheese boarded; 300 sold at 9 11-16c; balance unsold; Magrath, buyer.

New Head of Sandhurst.

Quebec, Aug. 15.—Lieutenant-Colonel Kitson, British Military Attache at Washington, who is at the Citadel, the guest of Lord Minto, has received by cable the appointment of Commandant at Sandhurst Military College, which is one of the most important positions in the British army.

How are You?

Do you suffer from constipation? Does your liver need regulating? Is your digestion troublesome? Do you suffer from headache? If so, you should take every day. This harmless tonic and system cleanser will regulate every organ and will remove all the unpleasant features that attend a sluggish liver. Your health and spirits will be so improved that your friends will scarcely know you. Pleasant to take—surely beneficial, but be sure that you get the genuine "Abbey's."

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

Mr. Burke, Provincial Factory Inspector, has returned to Toronto from Owen Sound, where he investigated the circumstances leading to the death of Dr. Horsey, M.P., by the bursting of a fly-wheel. Evidence of various witnesses was taken by him, but no definite cause for the break was ascertained.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt, Minister of Education, has stated that definite steps will be taken in September to establish in the province a forestry school. Just exactly where it will be located was a matter now under consideration. Toronto University, School of Practical Science, Toronto; Queen's University, Kingston; Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, are each after it.

KING WILL VISIT IRELAND.

Dublin, Cork and Belfast Within the Next Six Months.

Liverpool, Aug. 15.—According to The Daily Post of this city, King Edward has promised the Chief Secretary for Ireland, George Wyndham, to visit Dublin, Cork and Belfast in February, at the latest, possibly as early as November.

The King Goes to Cowes.

London, Aug. 15.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra left London for Cowes, Isle of Wight, yesterday. They drove in semi-state to the railway station, escorted by the Life Guards, through streets thickly crowded with cheering people.

The King and Queen arrived at Portsmouth at 4.30 p.m. yesterday, and went on board the Victoria and Albert, which sailed at once for Cowes. The warships in Portsmouth Harbor dressed ship and fired the royal salute when the King went on board his yacht.

The British Medical Journal makes the announcement that it is authorized to say there is no truth whatever in the recent rumors that King Edward will undergo another operation. The British Medical Journal declares that the King's recovery is complete, and that his general health is better than for a long time past.

Church Burned to the Ground.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 15.—The Roman Catholic Church, near Lambton Mills, was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon about 3.30. Three Episcopal clergyman were coming down the hill from St. George's, Islington, and seeing the flames they rushed into the sacred edifice and saved a great deal of the interior draperies, seats and movable things. The clergymen who saved the contents of the building were: Rev. Davidson Owen of St. James' Cathedral, Rev. A. McCausland, M.A., of St. Thomas' Church, Toronto, and Rev. H. S. Musson of Indianapolis. After the fire, they met Rev. Father Gallagher of St. Cecelias' Church, who was on his way to the church to make preparation for Sunday's service, and informed him of the catastrophe.

Objects to Sir Sanford Fleming.

St. John's, Nfld, Aug. 15.—The Government has protested against the appointment of Sir Sanford Fleming of Ottawa as third arbitrator in the claim of $2,000,000 of Contractor Reid against it, on the ground of that gentleman being interested in the Canadian Pacific Railway. Sir Sanford, on being apprised of the objection, withdrew from the appointment, and a third person has now to be selected instead.

Plot to Kill M. Delcasse.

San Sebastian, Spain, Aug. 15.—Several Anarchists of Madrid have been arrested on the charge of hatching a plot to assassinate M. Delcasse, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, during his recent stay at Foix, on the French side of the Pyrenees.

Dumont Wanted Money.

New York, Aug. 15.—Santos Dumont, the aeronaut, sailed for France yesterday. His departure was explained as due the failure of certain parties to put up the expected $25,000 prize for a successful flight in this city.

Hungarian Wheat Yield.

Buda Pesth, Hungary, Aug. 15.—The official estimate of the Hungarian wheat yield, based on returns up to Aug. 16, is 166,200,000 bushels.

TRIBUTE WRUNG FROM IT.

Even Reynold's Weekly Falls Into Line and Writes in Admiration of the English Character in Street.

Reynolds' Weekly, the Socialistic newspaper of London, is nothing if not vivaciously bitter. Specimens of its amusingly sweeping condemnations of everything have from time to time been given. Quite worth quoting is the tribute fairly wrung from it by the demeanor of London when suffering from the blow of the postponement of the coronation. Writing after the collapse of the coronation the "special correspondent" of that journal said:—

I am no believer in the English character, and yet I now stand, self-confessed, an admirer of it. 'Tis cosmopolitan and 'tis not Saxon. The stupid historian dubs us "Saxon" and "Sassenach," and naught else, and is stupid even in his descriptions. We are neither Saxon nor Sassenach. We are mostly fools. But fools be we as we may, we are fools with a glimmering of intellect. There is one supreme evidence of this. We have abandoned maffickingism. I walked late on Thursday night from Ludgate Hill Circus to Trafalgar Square. I walked among the people constrained, restrained, decent. There was no woman who wanted to reveal the underlining of her petticoat. There was no stupid Boeotian — all these fellows have the brains of the brainless—who wanted to reveal to the world the sole of his foot, a decorous, well-sustained, self-controlled, good-humored people walked along, and walked along in something like dignity. You missed the hi-hi-tidilledy-iddely-hi-hi-tiism of the ordinary mob. You had a really decorous people—a people you could respect, a people with their hands in their pockets and not in the air, a people greater than their own design, for they knew not their destiny.

I stood at Ludgate Hill on Thursday night. I was fascinated by a couple—a couple loving in their way, a bucolic way if you like, but loving. His hand was in hers and hers in his. All at once a wagon passed along in which the chevaliers of the East End were hustled close together. Suddenly one of their companions — a loidy — began to sing the "Soldiers of the King" in a raucous voice. Not a soul responded. The crowds on either side regarded her, as she opened her mouth, it to engulf an empire, as a harridan, a termagant, a fool, and then she, dispirited, desisted. Then as by an inspiration she howled out "God Save the King." She had caught the popular temper and sounded a note the popular voice could harmonize with. Up rose a great chorus—a chorus that really had something of sentiment in it. 'Twas not Bacchanalian; 'twas really human. And my girl and boy sang tenor and contralto to my bass.

I left Ludgate and walked to Hyde Park corner, passing all along through a jostling, wrestling, who-shall-be-first crowd. The whole way along I began to believe with intensified force in the English people. I have never been aught but a disbeliever, as I have said, in the theory of Saxonism. And these people were not Saxon in their emotion. True, they were generally phlegmatic and stolid, but their stolidity concealed a real sentiment—the sentiment of sympathy. I conversed with these people—, the people who repressed the larrigans, refused to buy those raucous-toned paper trumpets, and who despised the Hooligans, who, men and women alike, wanted to kiss the heavens with their steel-toed boots, and I found that they regarded the King not so much as a monarch but as a good fellow.

What has killed the republican spirit in England is not so much the question of the moment as the appreciation of the King's humanity. What use hiding it? The late Queen was a good woman, but a good woman only of the Gaelic type. She belonged to the "bang-goes-saxpence" example of womanhood—an example that would see an appetite sacrificed for a bawbee. The King doesn't belong to the same class. We say "clawss" in London—'tis the only means of showing your patriotism. As I stood outside a group beyond the entrance to the Hotel Cecil—this was at 10.30 on Thursday night—I heard a lady of much-petticoats and many frills declare that the King was a man. There you have the secret at once. "Puritanize the King," said a distinguished Liberal statesman to me at the National Liberal Club the other night, "and we shall think him to be a Pharisee." And there you have the secret of the new mood of the people—the mood that is resentful of stupidity, of secrecy, of anti-manliness, of anti-humanity.

Still the crowd flowed along beside me. It was a good-humored, good-natured, man-loving crowd. These scurrying fellows knew nothing of the nuances of economics—they knew nothing of the difference between godliness and stupidity, between Jingoism and hate-ism. They only thought of the man. Every now and then a fool passed blowing a trumpet that sounded a harsh note of imbecility—every now and then an ass protruded his face into yours, crowned with the becolored headgear of assininism. But, on the whole, the people were gentle, subdued, kindly, wholesome. You gazed upon them as they surged to and fro, you gazed whole-eyed, wondering, sympathetic, delighted. You felt that maffickingism had met its doom. This was a good thing—this unriotous rejoicing. Go where you would, the old tiddle-iddle-dy-hi-ti-hi-ti-ism had disappeared. You didn't want the mafficker — your soul rebelled against the idea that he was existent. But, glory be to God, he wasn't present. The King's illness had killed the mafficker.

"Sir," said a man to me, "can't a fellow buy a tickler?" "Get on," said the stern policeman. And he went on. "Ticklingism is over!

The eight muscles of the human jaw exert a force of about 500 pounds.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

Big Discount Sale

—OF—

Ladies' 'Ready-to-Wear' Summer Skirts

25 per cent. Discount

Commencing Tuesday morning, and for three following days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, we will give a discount of 25 per cent. off all lines of Ladies'

PIQUE, DUCK AND LINEN SKIRTS.

Nothing but this season's goods among the lot, all new styles and well made. Beautifully trimmed and tailor-made styles. This is a great skirt buying opportunity open for the next few days. It will pay you to look through the many lines.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT J. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 310 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

A FINE VARIETY OF ICE CREAMS

For to-night after the Band Concert—

Tutti-frutti,
Neapolitan.
Chocolate with nuts,
Peach, Vanilla, &c.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locals charged as less than twenty-five words.

The police answered a call last evening, but no arrest was made.

A drunk, which is the first arrest made in over a week, was placed in the cells last night.

A lantern was last night stolen from the corner of John and Wharf street. It was left there to show where an excavation was being made in the street.

The band will play at the park this evening, and the programme will be selected.

$3.50 shoes for $1.50—this is the greatest bargain for men in Belleville. Gorman's Shoe House are selling "World Known" black calf skin low shoes, medium weight sole, round, full toe, regular price (stamped on sole) $3.50, now $1.50. See Front street window.

IMPROVEMENT TO RECTORY

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH CONGREGATION DECIDE TO DO THE WORK.

A meeting of the congregation of St. Thomas' church was held last evening in the church hall for the purpose of receiving the tenders for the contemplated improvements to the Rectory.

There were a goodly number of the members of the church present. After prayer by the Rector, Rev. G. R. Beamish, Mr. J. P. C. Phillips acted as chairman of the meeting. The tenders for the renovation of the Rectory were submitted and it was unanimously decided to have the work proceeded with as quickly as possible. With this end in view, a committee composed of eight gentlemen and four ladies were appointed to see about carrying out the work.

It is expected that it will cost about $1,500 to make the necessary changes and improvements, but when completed the building will be modern and up-to-date.

Barn Burned

A barn belonging to Mr. Thomas Wright, who resides on the High Shore, Prince Edward County, was burned on Wednesday evening with its contents. Loss partially covered by insurance.

DEATHS.

O'CARROLL. — In Plainfield, on Thursday, Aug. 14, Nancy O'Carroll, wife of the late Michael O'Carroll, aged 96 years.

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, that our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Miss May Eustace is spending a few days with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. A. M. Dianiger, of Buffalo, is visiting friends on College Hill.

Mr. J. P. Maiden is able to be cut again after some weeks' illness.

Mrs. Jas. Woodley, Murney St., has returned home from a visit to her son in Montreal.

Mrs. George J. Johnson, and daughter, Beulah, have gone to Rimouski, Que., to visit relatives.

Miss Evalyn McCarthy, who was injured on the Aletha, appears to be somewhat better to-day.

Mrs. Geo. Reddick, of Trenton, has returned home, after a visit with friends in this city.

Mrs. Ellsworth, Franck St., has gone to spend a few weeks with friends in Castleton.

Mr. George Lingham is home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Langham, Dundas St.

Mr. John Campbell, of New York, who has been visiting his parents here, returned home to-day.

Messrs. John F. Scholes and Lou Scholes, of Toronto, were in the city yesterday en route to Montreal.

Miss Alport and Miss Winifred Wilson, of Montreal, are visiting Mrs. (Prof.) Coleman, Commercial St.

Mr. Thos. Wills, County Treasurer, accompanied by his daughter, has gone to Caledonia Springs for the benefit of his health.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Burrows, of this city, and son, Mr. Fred Burrows, of New York, are visiting at Kingston.

Miss Annie Reeves left on the noon train to-day for Oshawa to visit her sister, Mrs. E. H. Greatrix.

Mrs. Henry Thompson, who has been visiting friends in the city for some time, left for her home in Racine, Wis., yesterday.

R. H. Bradley, A. M. Kirkpatrick, R. G. Wright, M. W. Malley, H. B. Gadsden, J. C. Saul, Toronto; S. Williams, J. J. Wood, W. H. Reynolds, Montreal; C. E. Smith, Brockville; F. S. Upton, Charlotte; W. B. Clark, Jacksonville; W. B. Scott, Hamilton; O. Higman and wife, Ottawa; G. W. Wright and wife, Deseronto; Mrs. H. A. Rose, Wellington; Mrs. A. McNeil, Mrs. E. McGurn, Miss Thogan, Napanee; Miss S. A. Davis, Perth; A. H. Baker, Picton; M. Bonnell, Cleveland.

SENIOR LEAVING EXAMS

SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS FROM HASTINGS COUNTY.

The results of the Public School leaving or Part I. junior leaving examinations were sent some days ago to the High School Principals or Public School Inspectors concerned. A similar course will be followed with the Part I. matriculation results, which will be mailed on Monday, Aug. 18th.

The results of Parts I. and II. senior leaving, Part II. matriculation, honor matriculation, and Part II. junior leaving are given by Counties, and the successful candidates in Hastings County, are as follows:

Senior Leaving—Part I. — Coon, Slaven. Part II.—Horton. Part II., Matriculation— Harrison. Hitchon, Jenkins, Lazier, Dolan, Dyer, Ewen, Kemp, Nickel, Arnott, Bly, Empey, McClung. Part II.—Junior leaving—Campbell, Corbett, Fargey, Fraser, Handley, McGurn, Mills, Moon, Pringle, Stirk, Young, Cronk, Harrison, Harvey, Larkin, Lurdon, Snider (chemistry), P. Snider, Hudgins, Jewel, Preston (Fr.), Snell, Vermilyea, Yourex, Bailey, Bartlett, Chambers, Connor, Dafoe (Fr.), Downey, Elliott (Fr.), Finley, Guffin, Kirk, G. Knox, J. O'Reilly, Shillabeer, Verty, Wright, Alger, Bissinnette (Fr.), Cragg, M. Drewry, McMullen, Rodgers, Waldron, Wilkinson.

DOES YOUR BABY CRY AT NIGHT?

If so, it is well to know the great value of Polson's Nerviline, a household remedy for stomach pains, cramps, toothache, sick headache and the manifold ills peculiar to children. A few drops of Nerviline in sweetened water makes a pleasant drink and never fails to quickly relieve. Nerviline is as good as the doctor in emergencies and costs only 25c a bottle. Get Nerviline from your druggist to-day.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure Headache.

For Mackie's Release.

The Kingston News says: Another effort is about to be made to secure the release of Robt. Mackie, sentenced to serve ten years in the Kingston Penitentiary for complicity in the Napanee bank robbery. Next month Mackie will have served four years and the general opinion is that he has been sufficiently punished. Pare and Holden received light sentences, Roach was given a suspended sentence

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

NEW GOODS.

Here are a few of the many new things which have arrived during the last few days.

Our buyer made several special purchases when in the old country and these goods we are able to mark at much below regular prices.

SILKS

Our silk department has just received several additions to its stock. These consist of Taffeta, Bengaline, Louisine, Peau-de-Soie and Moire Silks. These are bought direct from the factories and will be found exceptionally good value.

—Pure Silk Taffetta, very fine quality, 20 inches wide, special.... 50c

—Heavy Taffeta Silk, 22 inches wide, ... 75c

—Extra Heavy Taffeta, 22 inches wide.................. $1.00

FANCY FLANNELETTES

These goods make very pretty and inexpensive waists for the house or street. We have some new ones in which could hardly be distinguished from real flannel, these at...... 12½c

DRESS GOODS

Our new dress goods are arriving, plain goods are mostly in evidence with a few fancy weaves. We will be pleased to have you inspect these from time to time as the new things are opened out.

—52 inch pure wool cheviot in grey and black, a fine quality which will make handsome suits 60c

—Black zebeline stripe, something very new, plain ground with satin camel hair stripe. 50 in. wide, $1.35

—Full assortment of black broadcloth from $1.25 to $2 50

PRINT

We have now in some very pretty patterns in red and yellow print for tie downs. These make a very cheap and serviceable covering.

—Good quality washable print, 27 inches wide 10c

—Best quality washable print, 27 inches wide................ 12½c

FANCY COVERS

A lot of new covers just to hand. These are of colored satin embroidered in gold and silver and are very handsome.

—Fancy satin doylie, 9 inches square, embroidered in gold and silver, 45c

—Embroidered yellow satin doylie, pattern in silver of vines and leaves, 12"x12" 75c

—Green satin table cover, plain centre border embroidered in gold and silver, one of the prettiest covers we have ever seen $4.50

TRIMMING

Just in, something very special in fancy material for yokes or other trimmings.

—40 inch embroidered chiffon in blue, pink, black, mauve, heliotrope and black and white, very pretty ... 50c

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

Resolution of Disgust and Indignation

Smithfield, August 14, 1902.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer;

Dear Sir,—The following resolution was passed unanimously by our 275 passengers on Smithfield Methodist church excursion to 1000 Islands, per steamer Aletha, Aug. 8—11:

We wish to express publicly our utter disgust and indignation at the treatment received from Capt. Roys, of the steamer Aletha, in requiring us to transfer to the Rival, a tug, wholly unsuitable for our accommodation, involving a whole night of unspeakable discomfort, ruining the clothing and endangering the health and lives of many of our company.

Signed on behalf of the company by Revs. T. S. McKee, Roger Allin, Francis Johnston, W. V. Sexsmith, Darius Crouter; Messrs. D. G. Bonter, T. N. Gunter, S. W. Dempsy, W. E. Baker, A. Snelgrove.

No words can express our abhorrence of the faithlessness and inhumanity of Capt. Roys.

Yours,
T. S. McKEE.

The Mohawk's Outing

An excursion under the auspices of the Mohawks of the Reservation in Tyendinaga was held at 12 O'clock Point yesterday and it was largely attended. The day was all that could have been desired for an outing and it proved to be an enjoyable affair. The Mohawk band furnished all necessary music for the occasion.

BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS.

It is time now to think what your boy is going to wear at the opening of school. You must have him looking right. In selecting the store to make your purchase, it is well to remember that the Oak Hall do not carry a single bit of "shoddy" in any suit in the store. Lively boys and shoddy clothes make a poor combination.

DAY OF IMPROVEMENTS

NATHAN JONES.

ALTERATION SALE

Many improvements are under way on Front St. and we are in the procession. Carpenters, painters, masons and paper hangers are at work and when through our store will present a fine, modern appearance. In the meantime we are topsy turvy, but in it all we will hold an "alteration sale."

SPECIAL BARGAINS

We reduce prices on Muslins, Ginghams, Percales, Galateas, etc., to clear them out. Ginghams that were 12½ and 15c for 10c. A lot of nice Percales to go at 10c. Bargains will be found in every department during this "Alteration Sale."

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

Just For To-day.

A few special bargains, things that you all like. Here are the prices—read them—we've lots more too numerous to mention—come in and see them.

Fruit Jar Wrenches	10c per set,	Jelly Tumblers	30c per doz
Fruit Jar Rubbers	5c per doz.	Tea Spoons	13c per 1-2 doz
Table Mats	30c per set	Wheat cups & saucers	35c per 1-2 doz
Glass Butter Dishes	10c each	Medium Glasses	5c each
Tooth Picks	5c per bunch	Egg Separators	5c each.
Bowls	4c, 7, and 10c each	Glass Sauce Nappys,	30c per doz.
Quart Pitchers	15c each.	Glass Berry Dishes	8c each

Our Baking Powder is something that we are proud of, because everybody that has once used it will use no other.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1902. NO. 90

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brentgood

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brentgood

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S' AFTERMATH.

(Hamilton Times.)

The descendants of Brigham Young, the Mormon apostle, have decided to hold annual family re-unions. Although he died in 1877, there are over 1,000 direct descendants, and there is not in Salt Lake City an available building large enough to hold the "family." There are living six widows of the Mormon president. Some of these women have positions of high honor in the Mormon church.

I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE

THE ORDER IN A FLOURISHING CONDITION—HAMILTON NEXT PLACE OF MEETING.

The Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows completed its business in Toronto on Thursday evening.

An important feature of the session was the voting of $1,000 towards the projected Oddfellows' Home, which sum, with amounts already in hand and promised, will bring the total to more than $20,000, the sum required before building operations can be commenced. It was decided, in view of this gratifying state of affairs, to commence operations at once, and the following committee was appointed to select a site for the home:—P. G. Sire, C. T. Campbell, P.G.M.; W. H. Hoyle, Henry White, G. T., W. J. McCormack, and D.G.M. J. B. Turner.

The only office for which there was a contest was the Grand Wardenship, to which E. B. Butterworth, of Carlton Lodge, Ottawa, was finally elected in a field of eleven candidates. The other elected members, who moved up in rotation, are;—Grand Master, R. K. Cowan, K.C., London; Deputy Grand Master, J. B. Turner, B.A., Hamilton; Grand Secretary, J. B. King, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, W. J. McCormack, Toronto; Grand Auditor, Charles Packert, Stratford.

The appointed officers are;—Grand Marshal D. B. Brown, Orangeville; Grand Conductor, R. R. Brett, Essex; Grand Guardian, R. H. James, Oshawa; Grand Herald, W. G. Graham, Guelph; Grand Chaplain, Rev. C. R. Morrow, Bartonville; Auditor, Abner Fraser.

All the officers were installed by P. G.M's. Hornibrook and Oliver. For the Grand Wardenship next year, twenty-two nominations have already been received.

Hamilton was chosen as the next place of meeting.

The Grand Lodge, on motion of P.G Master J. A. Young, again authorized their Grand Representative to Sovereign Grand Lodge to use their best endeavors to secure the passage of an amendment to the sovereign constitution of the order, that will change the age of admission to the subordinate lodges from 21 to 18 years.

A. L. Lewis, jr., Past Grand Master, Chatham, was elected by acclamation to represent this Grand Lodge in the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the highest legislative council of the order, which meets in annual session at Des Moines, Iowa, next month.

The Retiring Grand Master, Chas. Clifford Lyman, Brockville, was the only nominee for representative of Grand Lodge to the Sovereign Grand Lodge for next year. This is the highest gift of the Grand Lodge, and was a well-merited honor to Bro. Lyman, who during his term of office, has labored most successfully to promote the advance of the order in numbers and benevolent work.

The Grand Lodge concluded its business for 1902 with the usual votes of thanks.

FEET SCALDED COULDN'T WALK

A SERIOUS CASE OF FOOT TROUBLE COMPLETELY CURED BY ONE BOX OF "FOOT ELM."

Mr. John F. Downs, a well-known clerk of Wiarton, Ont., writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending "Foot Elm." I was laid up with scalded and sweating feet so that I couldn't walk. I tried many things but all failed to do me good. Then I started using "Foot Elm" and one box completely cured me. I heartily recommend "Foot Elm" to everyone suffering from sore feet."

"Foot Elm" is a purely vegetable white powder, which has a wonderful cooling, soothing and healing action on the feet. It prevents blistering and chafing of the feet, rests the tired, hot, aching feet, does away with all sweaty odors, and just works like magic in relieving painful corns, bunions and ingrowing toe-nails.

Price 25 cents a box of 18 powders at all druggists. Beware of counterfeits and imitations which injure the feet and ruin the shoes. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Saturday Night Half Price Sale

Here are some lines we desire to clear out and in order to do this we will offer at our Saturday Night Sale at Half Price.

Ladies' Colored Cotton Shirt Waists will sell at - - - - - Half Price
Ladies' Linen Shirt Waists - - - - - - - - Half Price
Ladies' Colored Cotton Costumes - - - - - - - Half Price
Ladies' White Pique Skirts - - - - - - - - Half Price
Ladies' Linen Dress Skirts - - - - - - - - Half Price
One Table of fancy Dress Muslins - - - - - - - Half Price
Ladies Fancy Cotton Stockings - - - - - - - Half Price
Children's Fancy Cotton Stockings - - - - - - - Half Price
Colored Leather Belts - - - - - - - - - Half Price
Fancy Belt Buckles - - - - - - - - - - Half Price
All Fancy Parasols - - - - - - - - - - Half Price

New Silk Waists

We have just opened some very pretty Styles in Ladies' Black, White and Colored Silk Waists at $4.00 4.50, $5.00, $5.50, $6.00 and $6.50.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

DEATH OF MRS. McMECHAN

A WELL-KNOWN LADY ON COLLEGE HILL PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. May McMechan died at an early hour this morning at the residence of her mother, Mrs. James Bateman, College Hill. Deceased was born in the city 27 years ago, being a daughter of the late Mr. James Bateman, who in January last met an untimely death on the G.T.R. Mrs. McMechan had been a sufferer for some months with lung trouble and her demise was anticipated. Mr. McMechan died some years ago at Springbrook, since which time Mrs. McMechan had lived here. One daughter, Nellie, aged 4 years, survives. The sympathy of a large circle of relatives and friends will be extended to the bereaved family in this another trial they are called upon to bear. The remains will be taken to Stirling on Monday for interment.

Trades Unions

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Sir,—I was pleased to see in last night's Intelligencer a well deserved rebuke to the intolerable insolence of Trades Unions. You quoted the case of the Kingston Locomotive Works, which is but one of the many instances of tyranny exercised by strikers in various parts of the country. The peace, prosperity and liberty of every citizen is now menaced by the audacity and insolence of strikers, urged on by men who go about the country, from place to place, under the pretense of looking after the welfare of workingmen, when, in reality, they are paid agitators, and a danger to the community. The Czar of Russia could never approach these men in sublime impudence and intolerance. I could quote numerous cases to show how the liberty of every citizen is in jeopardy, and how necessary it is that legislative action be taken to arrest the unscrupulous and tyrannical demands of these men, but on account of space I will content myself with a single instance, which was brought to my notice, a short time ago. I received a letter from a mechanic of Kingston asking me for work. In this letter he stated that his age and other demands of the Union, precluded him from joining it, and would not be allowed to work, except he could show the orthodox tag. If this is not a care of downright tyranny, I know not how to characterize it. It is certainly a case of coercion which deserves more than a passing notice; and this is but a sample of what we hear of these organizations every day of the week. I am further informed —I do not vouch for the truth of this statement, but I believe it to be correct—that the coal dealers in Kingston were approached by these men—leaders of trades unions—and ORDERED to raise the price of coal—and the difference in the advance to be handed over to the men who handled it.

I believe that every working man and mechanic is entitled to all he is able and willing to earn, and if he feels that he is not getting justice let him step down and out if he can do better elsewhere. No employer will allow a man to leave, if the employee is earning anything for him. It is only when the employee fails to be profitable the employer is willing to part with him. As a rule we find it is not the industrious workingman or mechanic who is the agitator, but the indolent and shiftless, who is seeking promotion at the expense of his more skilful and honest neighbor. It is time that men in authority, like Rev. Father O'Rielly, of Shenandoah, Pa., should speak out, as he has spoken in favor of liberty of action on the part of every man who is not a criminal. Here are his words addressed to his congregation last Sunday:—"It is a law of God and of man that every human being has a right to earn enough to feed himself and his family. If his children cry for bread he has the right to get that bread honestly, and no man living has the right to tell him he shall not. The man who interferes is a law-breaker and an enemy to public good. I know there are men in my congregation who want to go to work. They did not want to quit work and would go back to-morrow if they did not fear for their lives. I say this is wrong. You should have the manhood to go back to work and defy this organization, known as the United Mine Workers. It is a blood-stained organization, and it will be blood-stained until it ceases to exist. It was formed to promote crime and protect criminals. Every one was happy and contented here until Mitchell and Fahey came and organized unions. These men are not working men. They are not respectable, and I would not give two cents for the opinion of either of them. They draw big salaries and live on the best in the country. Did anyone ever hear of President Mitchell or Fahey doing a day's work? No; but they live in preying on the paltry earning of you poor, deluded men, while your unfortunate families are starving, they tell me. Fahey offered 150 union men to the sheriff to suppress disorder. The sheriff was wise in refusing their help. If he had, God help this community. If the mine workers really wanted to show that they favored peace why didn't get out and capture the murderers of that young man who was clubbed to death before their eyes? I was away at Bedford Springs when it happened, but it made me ashamed to say I came from Shenandoah.

"I want to urge you not to sign the petition for the withdrawal of the troops. Some misguided men are signing it. I, for one, say the troops are needed here. If they are taken away, God only knows how many lives will be sacrificed. They are not against the strikers; they are here to protect them. I have seen many strikes, my children, and I say to you, even if won, the cost is too great. You men who spend time in loafing around the saloons know only half the story. I, who go into the homes of the strikers, see the other side. It is the women and children who go hungry, who live in terror of riot and bloodshed, who suffer most. You should consider them."

This is a side light on the coal miners' strike, brought about by loafing agitators.

EMPLOYER.

Belleville, August 16, 1902.

NERVE WRACKED AND INSOMNIOUS.

Everything goes wrong, head feels heavy and dull, mind is filled with strange forebodings, stomach is out of kilter. You need a good tonic like Ferrozone to bring back your lost appetite and digestion, and cleanse the blood of all impurities. Ferrozone is a wonderful invigorant and strengthener that will banish gloomy depression and quickly restore you to a healthy, vigorous condition of mind and body. Nothing is so good for the sick, weary and debilitated as Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, at druggists or J. S. McKeown.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure Constipation.

DIED IN SCOTLAND

FORMER BELLEVILLE BUSINESS MAN PASSES AWAY.

News has been received of the death in the Airdrie, Scotland, hospital on July 15, 1902, of William Smeaton, formerly of this city, in his 54th year.

Deceased was born in Haddington, and came here with his parents when 2 years old. He left Belleville about three years ago, and resided in Montreal until last fall, when he went to Scotland. He was at one time engaged in business here as a merchant, and for many years was well known in our business circles. Deceased left a widow and one son, George Smeaton, of Windsor. Many citizens will regret to hear of the passing away of an old friend.

A Quiet Wedding

A quiet wedding took place on Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. James Hawley, Foster avenue, when that lady was married to Mr. John Sparrow, of Tyendinaga. Rev. M. J. Bates performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a few of the immediate relatives.

Tent Meetings

The services which are being held nightly in the tent at the foot of Dundas street, are well attended. Last evening the Revs. J. R. Real, M. J. Bates and W. Tomblin took part in the services.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

Band Concert at Park

There was a large number upon the park last evening, despite the chilly atmosphere. The programme rendered by the band gave general satisfaction.

A SURPRISING DISCOVERY.

You will be surprised in trying Catarrhozone to find how quickly it cures cold in the head. The agreeable penetrating vapor traverses every air cell and passage of the nose, throat and lungs. In one breath it carries instant death to the millions of germs infesting the respiratory organs and breaks up a cold in ten minutes.

A trial will convince you that Catarrhozone is the most potent, satisfactory and pleasant cure for Colds, Catarrh, Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Trouble. Complete outfit, $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure Biliousness.

Edward Pruhl, of Wilkesbarre, has petitioned the court to allow him to change his name, because most people call him "fool."

Bright and Happy Babies

Bright, happy and healthy babies are brought up on pure, health-giving Lactated Food. It soothes the weak, irritated stomach, corrects imperfect digestion, wards off the terrors of teething and gives sweet and natural sleep in the hottest weather. No sick, frail and puny babies when Lactated Food is used. Try it, mothers, during the present month, and note its wondrous effects.

Some people's only recommendation is that they do as they agree to. But others haven't even that.

DESERONTO DOINGS

YOUNG FARMER'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH—G. T. R. CHANGES.

Charles E. Ravoir, who has had charge of the Junction station for a good many years, received notice this week from the G.T.R. that he was appointed to fill the vacant office at Whitby. Frank Allison, who has been night operator and agent, has been appointed to fill the office vacated by Mr. Ravoir.

Charles Austin, a young man employed at the Red barn on the Rathbun Co.'s farm, met with a serious accident last Sunday afternoon. He was attending to some cattle when the Holstein black bull, Prince, savagely attacked him. The young man tried to get out of the bull's way through a gate, but the latter charged the gate so heavily that it was splintered. Austin suffered a dislocated collar bone, two ribs were broken and others fractured, and he was severely bruised about the chest. He had a narrow escape for his life.

E. J. Edwards, G. Edwards and Master Willie Edwards made a great catch of bass on Monday afternoon. They were out about 2 hours and landed 22 fish.

The annual instructional and competition gun practice of the Canadian Artillery will take place at Deseronto from September 13th to October 3rd, for field artillery, with twelve-pounder B. L. guns for detachments of garrison artillery with B. L. howitzers.

At the Oddfellows' picnic at Sydenham, on Wednesday, a game of ball was played between members of the Napanee and Deseronto lodges. The game resulted in a victory for Deseronto by a score of 18 to 6.

Books of the Bible

Church-going people sooner or later learn the names of the books of the Bible, but even they as well as the literary person looking for historical facts find it difficult to repeat them in order unless some thread of interest holds them together. Here is a set of rhymes which may be used with success:

OLD TESTAMENT.

The great Jehovah speaks to us
In Genesis and Exodus;
Leviticus and Numbers, see,
Followed by Deuteronomy;
Joshua and Judges rule the land;
Ruth gleans the sheaf with trembling hand;
Samuel and numerous Kings appear,
Whose Chronicles we wondering hear;
Ezra and Nehemiah now
Esther, the beauteous maiden, show;
Job speaks in sighs,
David in Psalms,
And Proverbs teach to scatter alms;
Ecclesiastes then come on
And the sweet song of Solomon;
Isaiah, Jeremiah, then
With Lamentations takes his pen;
Ezekiel, Daniel, Hosea's lyres
Swell Joel, Amos, Obediah's;
Jonah, Micah, Nahum, come,
And lofty Habakkuk finds room;
Zephaniah, Haggai calls;
Rapt Zechariah builds his walls,
And Malachi with garments rent,
Concludes the ancient testament.

NEW TESTAMENT.

This is the way the gospels run;
Matthew, Mark, Luke and John;
Then come the Acts inviting you
The apostolic church to view;
The Romans and Corinthians are
To cities sent, renowned afar;
Galatians and Ephesians, then,
Write by the same inspired pen;
Phillippians and Colossians stand
With Thessalonians near at hand;
Timothy leads to Titus on;
This brings us down to Philemon;
The Hebrews then we gladly find,
And that of James comes close behind;
To Peter then our thoughts we give;
With loving John we wish to live;
Pious Jude will pierce the soul,
And Revelation close the whole.

Please Everybody Permanently

Malt Breakfast Food

MAKES RICH BLOOD, STRONG MUSCLES, AND CLEAR SOUND FLESH.

IT IS A BANISHER OF DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION.

Malt Breakfast Food is the only sensible, correct and healthful breakfast food for all classes of our people —muscle or brain toilers. It pleases everybody permanently. It makes rich blood, strong muscles, sound flesh and keeps the brain clear. If you are a dyspeptic, or troubled with stomach derangements, Malt Breakfast Food will banish your ailments and give you perfect digestive vigor. Little children thrive fast on Malt Breakfast Food. It is the great health food for the weak and strong. You can get it from your grocer.

During the eruption of Mt. Soufriere the people of Kingston, Island of St. Vincent, carried umbrellas to keep off the dust showers.

"A Little Cold, You Know" will become a great danger if it be allowed to reach down from the lungs to the throat. Nip the peril in the bud with Allen's Lung Balsam, a sure remedy containing no opium.

Daily Intelligencer.

A NOVEL PROPOSITION.

The Rev. C. W. Gordon, now of Winnipeg, known in the literary world as "Ralph Connor," author of a number of works, has published a letter in which he advocates the application of the referendum principle to all great public proposals. The reason for this novel departure from our constitutional usages is, from his standpoint, that > "One can readily believe that, with this instrument of government in the hands of the people, we should not be at the mercy of unscrupulous politicians, who enter office poor, and in a remarkably short time accumulate wealth, although one would naturally expect that their devotion to public business, for which the salary is meagre enough, would so withdraw their energies from their private interests as to make accumulation of wealth even less likely than before they took public office."

At whom is the rev. gentleman aiming his arrow? Living in Winnipeg, perhaps he knows someone who adopted Dominion politics as a profession, became a Minister of the Crown and, as he affirms, "entered "office poor and in a remarkably "short time accumulated wealth."

He is not alone in proposing novel propositions. The Political Reform Union of Manitoba has been dealing with the same question. It proposes that the Minister of the Crown declare his financial position when he enters the Government, and give an annual report. Mr. Gordon thinks "this plan might serve to quicken in some of our public men that sense of honor which is at present not sufficiently active to rebuke self-seeking."

The rev. gentleman and "The Political Reform Union" probably have heard of men who entered office, after compromising with creditors and, in a very short time after becoming Ministers of the Crown, had bank stocks amounting to many thousands, sport blood horses, and revelled in elegant steam yachts.

All the suggested reforms and reports will not avail. A silk purse cannot be made out of a pig's ear; nor an honest politician out of such men as are portrayed by the Rev. C. W. Gordon, and hinted at by the Political Reform Union of Manitoba.

ALMOST IN DESPAIR

THE CONDITION OF MRS. JOHN SHOTT, OF ORANGEVILLE.

Suffered From a Burning Sensation in The Stomach—Food Became Distasteful and She Grew Weak and Despondent.

From the Sun, Orangeville, Ont.

The Sun is enabled this week through the courtesy of Mrs. John Shott, a lady well known and much esteemed by many of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another of those cures that have made Dr. Williams Pink Pills a household remedy throughout the civilized world. Mrs. Shott, in conversation with our reporter, said: "About three years ago, while living in Ingersoll, I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia. The trouble first began with severe headaches, dizziness and sometimes vomiting. Next I suffered continually from a burning sensation in my stomach; food distressed me; I did not sleep well at night; lost flesh and became very weak. I was continually doctoring but it did me no good. In fact I was gradually growing worse and despaired of ever being well again. One day a friend who called to see me strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. She spoke so highly of them that I decided to take her advice, and I soon discovered that they were not like the other medicines I had been taking and that I had at last found something to help me. I continued using the pills for perhaps a couple of months, when I found myself fully restored to health. I have always since enjoyed my meals with relish and have had no return of the trouble. With my experience I feel certain that if other sufferers will give Dr. Williams Pink Pills a fair trial they will find a certain cure."

Dr. Williams Pink Pills enrich and nourish the blood and strengthen the nerves. It is thus that they cure such troubles as dyspepsia, kidney ailments, rheumatism, partial paralysis, heart troubles, St. Vitus' dance and the ailments that make the lives of so many women a source of misery. These pills never fail to drive away pain, bring a glow of health to the whole body and make despondent men and women bright, active and strong. Do not take any pills without the full name "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around the box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

John Brintnell reports that a razor was stolen from his barber shop yesterday.

There was no business for the Police Magistrate to-day.

HIS SERVICES APPRECIATED

PRESENTATION AND COMPLIMENTARY RESOLUTION TO A WELL-KNOWN ORANGEMAN.

At a recent meeting of the local Orange Society the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Moved by Bro. Robt. Duffin, County Secretary, South Hastings, seconded by Bro. F. M. Clarke, Grand Secretary of Ontario East and Past County Master of South Hastings, and resolved, That the withdrawal certificate of Bro D. T. Rutledge, Past County Master, South Hastings, be granted, as he is about leaving this city to take up his residence in our good Protestant Province of Manitoba. While granting Bro. Rutledge his certificate, we cannot allow the event to pass without expressing in the strongest terms the regrets we feel in losing the active co-operation of our worthy Brother in the work of the lodge, he having filled the various offices and for two years that of Worshipful Master with efficiency, at all times being at the service of the lodge, and to whose energy and zeal its present good standing is largely due. And as a slight token of regard and goodwill, we would request him to accept this Scarlet Sash from the lodge, hoping that his future home will be as pleasant, and that prosperity will be his good fortune, feeling assured that his best efforts will always be used in the interests of Orangeism.

IT WAS JUST A FISH STORY

BIG CATCH OF BASS MADE BY FOUR MEN.

The Ontario Fisheries Department have been investigating a fish story which came from Belleville to the effect that a man in that burg had caught 34 black bass in one day. It so happens that the law only permits one man to take a dozen bass per day, no matter how good an angler he may be and an inspector was sent out by the department to prosecute what a resident of the town of Belleville termed a "Fish Hog." On arriving at the scene of carnage, however, he learned that the catch was made by four men in two days.—Toronto Telegram.

MAY CUT DOWN THE TERM.

CHANGE IN THE LENGTH OF APPOINTMENT OF GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT OF METHODIST CHURCH TO BE CONSIDERED.

When the General Conference of the Methodist church meets in Winnipeg next month it will have at least one difficult question to handle. The term of the General Superintendent, Rev. Dr. Carman, expires this year. Besides the election of that official it is understood that the tenure and other matters concerned with the superintendency will be discussed.

This is a question on which many prominent Methodists feel peculiarly sensitive. When the branches of the Methodist Church united, the Episcopalians demanded, as the price of renouncing Bishops, the prolongation of the tenure of the general superintendent. They now claim that any reduction from the eight-year period would constitute a breach of the agreement then entered into.

Another influential section, however, believe that there should be a change. No other office in the church is exempt from the regular quadrennial appointment by the conference. This is a particularly favorable time to make the change. Dr. Carman, who has held the superintendency for nineteen years—for a broken term of three years and for two full terms—is a man of advanced years, and it is urged that he would not be able to carry on the work of the office, without danger to his health, for another eight years.

In various quarters there is talk of the possibility of other candidates taking the field. When seen in this connection, Rev. Dr. Henderson, associate Secretary of the Methodist Missionary Society, knew of no opposition to the re-election of Dr. Carman. "I don't know of any canvassing," he said this morning. "Whatever takes place will be the result of spontaneous combustion. I know of no conference about which there has been less said beforehand."

Accidentally Shot Himself.

A young man maned Sutcliffe, lately arrived from England and employed on C. W. Bacon's farm, near Madoc, accidentally shot himself in the stomach Wednesday evening of this week. As the accident occurred about seven miles from town, some time elapsed before medical aid could be procured. It is not yet known whether it will result fatally. The young man has relatives in Tweed.

A Thurlow Yeoman Hurt

Mr. Erastus Davis, who resides in the 2nd concession of Thurlow, was last evening driving towards his home, when he was accidentally thrown from his vehicle and dragged for some distance. As a result the right ear was badly torn, and he also received a severe scalp wound, which rendered him unconscious for some time. To-day his condition was improved.

DEATHS.

DRISCOLL.—In Belleville on Aug. 16, 1902, Jeremiah Driscoll, aged 80 years.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Wood, Franck St., on Monday, Aug. 18, at 9 o'clock, to St. Michael's Church, thence to Catholic cemetery.

Penny X-ray instruments, by the aid of which the curious may see their own finger bones, are being sold in the streets of London.

SHOULD NOT CALL AT SYDNEY

Quebec Wants New Fast Atlantic to Herself in Summer.

Board of Trade of Quebec Wants the Fastest Possible Atlantic Line—Cable sent to Lord Strathcona—Claims of Ancient Capital as a summer Port Enlarged Upon—Full Text of the Message to the High Commissioner.

Quebec, Aug. 15.—The Board of Trade held a special meeting to-day for the purpose of adopting resolutions pointing out Quebec's claims to being made the summer port of the new line of steamers. The meeting was a very large and influential one.

The president was strongly against making Sydney a port of call, as was proposed by Hon. Mr. Tarte, claiming that the line's benefit to the whole Dominion in general, and Quebec in particular, would thereby be greatly impaired.

The resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, advocated the establishment of the very fastest line possible. They speak of the St. Lawrence as the sole fluvial artery, or most important waterway of the Dominion, that is safely navigable from the Gulf to Quebec by the largest and most powerful vessels, and that Quebec, possessing one of the finest harbors in the world, and being the head of ocean navigation, should be the summer terminus of the proposed line.

After the meeting the following cablegram was sent to Lord Strathcona, London:

Quebec, Aug. 15.

To the Canadian High Commissioner, London:

A large and representative meeting of the Quebec Board of Trade was held to-day concerning the fast line and its terminus. It was unanimously resolved to recommend that Quebec, owing to its great facilities, should be the summer terminus, and that the service should be of the best in speed and tonnage to compete successfully with other routes, and that there should be no intermediate port of call. Please transmit this to Sir Wilfrid Laurier; full text of resolutions being forwarded by mail.

(Signed) George Tanguay, president.

LAUNCH CROSSED ATLANTIC.

Captain Newman Gives Details of His Perilous Adventure.

Falmouth, Aug. 15.—Capt. Newman and his son Edward arrived here last night, in the 38 foot kerosene launch Abiel Abbot Low, in which they sailed from New York July 9.

In an interview Capt. Newman said: "The launch has proved herself a noble boat, but we experienced awful times since we left New York. Several times, in terrible gales, we nearly lost our drag anchor, owing to the gear chafing away. We voyaged 3103 miles. We had great trouble with the kerosene, because the tanks which held it broke and the oil flooded the cabin. My boy became ill and homesick. I suffered greatly from exposure and long sitting in one position. We spoke the Red Star Line steamer Kroonland Aug. 1 in mid-Atlantic.

"After this we encountered a series of most severe gales, and the hardships were so great that I feared we could not survive. We did not speak another vessel until Aug. 13, when we met a fisherman, 90 miles off the Scilly Islands. Those last 90 miles were the longest I ever ran in my life. I would not hesitate, however, to try the voyage again."

The voyagers rarely used the sail on the launch.

G.T.R. AFTER CLOVER LEAF.

Said to Want Line to Control Canadian Southwest Traffic.

Chicago, Aug 16—The Record-Herald says: There was a well defined rumor in railway circles yesterday that the Grand Trunk was after the Toledo, St. Louis and Western road, better known as the Clover Leaf. It was stated that the purpose of the deal was to place the Grand Trunk in the heart of affairs in St. Louis.

The Clover Leaf delivers at Toledo a large amount of traffic desired for Canadian points and some for export by way of Canadian routes. The acquisition of the road by the Grand Trunk would give the latter all of this traffic from the Southwest over the Clover Leaf whereas it now gets but a small portion of it. To connect the two systems would require the building of a short line of road unless the tracks of the Detroit and Southern were used by the Grand Trunk between Malinta and Detroit.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Friday.

Newark 0, Toronto 5.
Providence 5, Rochester 3.
Jersey City 6, Montreal 1.
Worcester 4, Buffalo 6.

American League, Friday.

Baltimore 1, Cleveland 5.
Philadelphia 11, Detroit 4.
Philadelphia 5, Detroit 2.
Boston 2, Chicago 1.
Washington 6, St. Louis 2.
Washington 2, St. Louis 1.

Farmer Burglar in Prison.

Windsor, Vt., Aug. 16.—Clarence Adams of Chester, who, undetected for upwards of twenty years, had plundered mills, stores and residences in his home village, was brought to the state prison here yesterday to serve a sentence of not less than nine nor more than ten years. Adams was a prominent and well-to-do bachelor farmer, who had been honored on different occasions by the electors.

Not in His Department.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Mr. Sifton says that the Yukon Telegraph linemen and operators are under the Public Works Department. He cannot verify the statement that they are behind in their pay, some of them for a year, and they are borrowing at two per cent. to meet their living expenses.

Too Much Potash Mined.

Berlin, Aug. 16.—The potash industry is undergoing a crisis due to over production. The Prussian Treasury mines have discharged hundreds of workmen and have reduced the wages of others from ten to thirty per cent. All private mines and factories took similar steps.

QUITE A NATURAL ATTACK

A Paris, France, Paper Assails the Premier of Canada.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Accused of Pandering to British Vanity by Vaunting His French Origin—He Is Described Also as a Renegade—How He Is Said to Beguile the People and Delude the Ancient Heroic Canada.

London, Aug. 16. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier's visit to the Island of Jersey was marked by an enthusiastic welcome from the people and the municipality and by a vicious attack upon the Canadian Premier by a Paris newspaper.

Before the welcome was read to Sir Wilfrid he was asked what language he desired to be addressed in. He replied that he wished to be welcomed in French, and the address was read in French accordingly. A more enthusiastic reception could not have been tendered the distinguished visitor.

The Patrie of Paris referring to Sir Wilfrid's visit to Jersey indulges in some scathing comments. Sir Wilfrid is described as a renegade.

"He is more English than Pitt," continues The Patrie, "more Imperialistic than Chamberlain. He owes his success to the clever way in which he panders to British vanity by vaunting his French origin, while loudly proclaiming himself a Britisher and an Imperialist."

Furthermore, The Patrie charges that Sir Wilfrid has inoculated the virtue of Pan-Britannicism in old heroic Canada, and has desecrated the memories of Quebec and Montreal with anti-patriotic doctrines.

FAVORS THE UNBORN CHILD.

Decision of Interest in Insurance Litigation—A Unique Point.

Toronto, Aug. 16. — A child born four months after its father's death was, by a judgment of the court yesterday, declared entitled to share in the insurance on his life, which had been left to "the widow and children."

"Such a child," says the court, "is in law a child existant, and takes as a child living at the death of its parent."

This decision is handed down by Mr. Justice Lount. The insurance, amounting to $2,000, is on the life of Wm. H. Lethbridge, of St. Thomas district, who died in April, 1897. In August following the daughter, Rhea, was born. There are four other children and the widow who will share in the insurance. The Trust and Guarantee, as executors of the estate, sought the opinion of the court on the doubtful point of allowing Rhea to share.

TO MOVE NORTHWEST CROPS.

C.N.R. Expects to Move 14,000,000 Bushels of Wheat.

Montreal, Aug. 16. — Mr. D. D. Mann of the Canadian Northern, who was here yesterday, stated that their first through passenger train between Port Arthur and Winnipeg would start some day next week, after which there will be a regular daily service each way.

Mr. Mann also gave some interesting data as to the Canadian Northern's ability to handle the crops tributary to their system. "Up to date," he said, "we have brought out 9,000,000 bushels of last year's crop, and, this season, we expect to increase it to 14,000,000 bushels. Last year we had elevator capacity for two millions, and this year, by the time the crop is ready to move, our capacity will reach six millions. Our hauling capacity has also been increased by 25 locomotives, and 800 cars."

Last of the Pan-Am.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—Medals were Thursday mailed by the Department of Agriculture to the 96 Ontario fruit growers whose exhibits won awards at the Pan-American Exposition. When the Pan-American proved such a financial failure as to be unable to issue medals the Ontario Department of Agriculture took the matter up and provided the cost of a bronze medal for each winner, and arranged for gold and silver medals on the recipient paying the difference between the cost of these and of bronze.

Manufacturers at Sydney.

Halifax, Aug. 16. — The special train with the Manufacturers' Association arrived in Sydney yesterday afternoon. All the members of the party interviewed favor Halifax as the winter port of the fast Atlantic service. The party, in company with the Mayor, Town Council, and Board of Trade, inspected the plant of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company. They visited every section of the works.

His First Inspection Tour.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—Lord Dundonald, accompanied by his A.D.C., with Col. Cotton and Lieut.-Col. Rutherford, left yesterday for Quebec. The Major-General will inspect the Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery to-day, and on Monday he will inspect No. 5 regimental depot, R.C.R., and the infantry barracks.

C.P.R. Engineer Killed.

Nelson, B.C., Aug. 16.—James Connechem, one of the first engineers on the Pacific division of the C.P.R., was killed three miles from Rosebery, on the Nakusp and the Slocum branch, by his engine plunging through a trestlework which had been burned by a forest fire.

Paris, France, soon will have skyscrapers on the American plan. An ordinance has just been passed by the Council removing the limit to the height of buildings, and already architects were at work on plans for several fifteen storey buildings.

A pure hard Soap
SURPRISE SOAP
MAKES CHILD'S PLAY OF WASH DAY

THE NEW WOMAN
will not use antiquated Starches. She insists upon being supplied with
BEE STARCH
It is ready to use—prevents the iron from sticking, the linen from cracking. Gives a fine finish with very little ironing.
10 CENTS PER PACKAGE. Save the Coupons.
SNOWDON, FORBES & CO., Agts., 449 St. Paul St., Montreal. 18A

CITY AND DISTRICT.

St. Thomas' Church Sunday School excursion and picnic, Wednesday, Aug. 20, Str. Niagara. Boat leaves at 9 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. sharp. Adults 25 cents, children 15 cents. Chalupka's orchestra on afternoon and evening trips, both ways. 16-19

At St. Thomas' Church to-morrow, the Rector, the Rev. Mr. Beamish, will preach at both services. In the morning Mr. McCready, of Buffalo, will sing during the Offertory, and in the evening there will be a short Sacred Recital after Even Song, during which Miss Honor Clayton, of Ottawa, violinist; Mr. Shanklin, of Chicago, vocalist, and Mr. Campbell, formerly organist of St. Martin's Church, Montreal, will assist.

Mr. Albert Ostrom, of Detroit, Mich., a former Intelligencer employe, is visiting friends in the city.

Dr. Clinton, Mrs. Clinton and child and Mrs. D. B. Solmes have returned from a trip to Montreal and Quebec.

RAGLAN WATERPROOF COATS.

Let us again impress you with the necessity of having a nice raglan coat if you are going away for a little trip. The Oak Hall have the proper thing in these coats, new ones just received for the fall. They can be worn for a light overcoat or waterproof. Price only $10.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

BRIDGE ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

To-morrow

11 a.m. sermon—Rev. W. Galbraith, M.A., LL.B., Ph. D. Vocal solo, Mr. Peter Forin.

2.30—Sunday School.

7 p.m. sermon—Rev. M. J. Bates. Vocal solo, Dr. Jessops, of Montreal.

Strangers in the city, students at Ontario Business College, Belleville Business College, and all other visitors welcomed.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Corner of Victoria Avenue and John Street.

The Pastor, Rev. A. H. Drumm, will occupy the pulpit at both services to-morrow.

THE TABERNACLE METHODIST CHURCH.

Church St.

Joseph H. Locke, Pastor.

Service at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. by the Pastor.

Mrs. (Dr.) MacColl, Choir leader and organist.

Sunday school and Bible Classes at 2.30.

Obliging ushers will extend a cordial welcome to all strangers and visitors.

VICTORIA AVE BAPTIST CHURCH,

Cor. Victoria Ave. and Pinnacle St

REV. O. C. ELLIOTT, Pastor.

Rev. E. G. Smith, M.D., who for 9 years has been medical missionary in India, at both services.

BELLEVILLE NORTH (BLEECKER AVE) METHODIST CHURCH.

10.30 Fellowship service; 11.00 a.m. preaching by the Pastor, Rev. M. J. Bates.

Kingston Road—Rev. M. J. Bates preaches at 2.30.

7 p.m.—Sermon by Mr. A. Vermilyea Tent meetings at 4.15 and 8.15 p.m., and each night next week at 8 p.m. All church workers invited and welcomed.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH.

Twelfth Sunday after Trinity.

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m.—Morning Prayer with sermon.

3 p.m.—Sunday School.

7 p.m.—Evening Prayer with sermon.

The most important features in life insurance are the terms, conditions and privileges set forth in the policy. The Imperial Life of Canada has its reserves placed on a 3 1-2 per cent. basis, thus guaranteeing larger profits. Immediate payment is made on proof of death. The policy contains no restrictions as regards residence or travel. A grace of one month is allowed in payment of renewal premiums. The policy cannot lapse so long as surrendered value is sufficient to pay premiums. There are many other advantages possessed by the Imperial Life, represented by Hunt & Jeffers

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Moderate winds, mostly northerly, fine to-day and on Sunday. No decided change in temperature.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	58
12 m.	74
2 p.m.	76

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

As Furnished to The Intelligencer by Haight & Freese Co'y, Stock Brokers, New York, through Their Local Agency.

New York, August 16.

Stock	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	92¼	92½	92	92⅛
do. pref.	..	....	....	....
C. P. R.	138½	138⅝	137½	....
Twin City	126	126½	126	126½
U. S. Steel	40⅞	41	40¾	40⅞
do. pref.	90½	90⅝	90½	90½
W. Union	92½	93½	92½	93⅛
Manhattan	134½	134½	134¼	134¼
Erie	39⅝	39⅞	39¼	39½
do pref.	69	....	....	....
L. & N.	152½	152½	151½	152
Mo. P.	118⅛	118⅛	117¼	117½
Nor.	69¾	70	69⅛	69½
N. Y. C.	164½	164½	163¾	163¾
Reading	66¼	....	....	....
do pref.	86	....	....	....
St. Paul	185½	....	....	....
South Pac.	72⅛	72½	71⅞	72⅛
Sou. Ry.	40⅛	40¼	39¾	39¾
Union. Pac.	108¾	108¾	108¼	108¼
Am. Loco.	32⅛	32½	32	32
do. pref.	93½	94½	93½	94¼
Penna	160½	160⅝	159¾	159⅞
Alton	42⅛	43⅛	42¾	42¾
B & O.	109⅞	110	109⅛	109⅛
C. & O.	54⅛	54⅜	53¾	53⅞
H. V.	101¼	102	101½	101⅞
S. F.	80⅛	80⅜	80¼	80¼
Texas	50⅞	50⅞	50¼	50½
Sugar	132¼	....	132	132⅛

"Teddy" Was Accepted.

Mr. E. T. Austin writes from England that, through Col. Biggar, he was accepted on the Canadian Coronation Contingent as a representative of the XV. Regt., A.L.I. Mr. Austin went to England with the Coronation Contingent in June, but did not return with the others. His friends will be pleased to know that this South African veteran had an opportunity of participating in the Coronation procession.

Massassaga Park Sold

Mr. H. Corby, who has been the proprietor of Massassaga Park for some years, has disposed of this well-known summer resort. The purchaser is Mr. J. A. Wheeler, who has recently taken up his residence near the city.

The police last night found a lap rug outside of a business place which was closed up.

Take Angier's Emulsion in the Summer.
If you have weak lungs or consumption make your fight against the disease during the summer. Physicians advocate fresh air, moderate exercise, and plenty of nutritious food. A valuable adjunct to this treatment, is Angier's Petroleum Emulsion. It promotes a healthy appetite, puts the digestive organs in a condition to digest and assimilate food—thus greatly improving nutrition. It keeps the bowels in a normal condition so that pills and aperients are unnecessary. It is pleasant to take, agrees with the stomach, restores health and vitality.
All druggists sell it.
ANGIER CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—3 Campbell Street,
MALCOLM WRIGHT.
J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B. C. L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont,
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q. C.
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE
At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block. · Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian	Est'd 1821
The North America,	Est'd 1792
Quebec,	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS. Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life Insurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE.
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oct-d&w

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
I can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont,

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses.
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St, Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville. Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

"Baby's Own Soap"

Beware of using imitations of our celebrated
BABY'S OWN SOAP
It stands at the top for purity. Most imitations are harmful for delicate skins.
Baby's Own Soap is made only by the
ALBERT TOILET SOAP CO., Mfrs
MONTREAL.
See our name on every box. 2-2

THE "RYRIE" WATCH.

Not for a year, but for a lifetime. Watches that may be handed from father to son—heirlooms.
The movement of a "Ryrie" Watch is as nearly perfect as possible, and yet, it's not expensive.
That is why it has brought to our store so many buyers who are particular about accurate time.

Let us send you our Catalogue, showing the many styles of solid gold, fine gold filled, silver and gun metal "Ryrie" Watches in both ladies and gentlemen's sizes.

The "Ryrie" Monogram Watches are particularly attractive.

RYRIE BROS.,
Yonge and Adelaide Sts.,
TORONTO.
DIAMOND HALL, Established 1854.

CARLING'S ALE
Is served every place where good goods are sold.
For sale by Wesley Bullen.

You May Need
Pain-Killer
For Cuts
Burns
Bruises
Cramps
Diarrhoea
All Bowel Complaints
It is a sure, safe and quick remedy.
There's only one PAIN-KILLER
PERRY DAVIS'.
Two sizes, 25c. and 50c.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
FARM LABORERS' EXCURSION
$10 To Winnipeg and other Points in Manitoba and Assinaboia.
On complying with conditions of certificates issued with ticket purchasers will be entitled to return transportation for $18.00. Good going from stations north of Toronto and Cardwell Jct., and East to Kingston, on AUGUST 20th.

Tourist Tickets
On sale to Muskoka Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Kawartha Lakes, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., and all Sea Coast resorts.
Illustrated literature and information from agents.
U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM
Cures Deep-seated Colds Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis. LARGE BOTTLES $1.00 MEDIUM 50c TRIAL SIZE 25c

THE MARKETS.

Wheat and Oats Advance—New Wheat 73c. on Toronto Market—Liverpool Cables—The Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, Aug. 15.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅛d to ¼d higher to-day, and corn futures ⅛d to ¼d lower.

Prices rallied at Chicago to-day on renewed buying, and the close was firm. September wheat advanced 1c from yesterday, September corn closed unchanged, and September oats advanced 1½c.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	74⅞b	73¼	75
Chicago	70⅝	70⅞	67⅞	69¾
Toledo	72¼	72¼	71⅞	73
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	72⅜b	68⅜	66¼	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Wheat—One load of new red sold at 73c per bushel.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 75 to	$0 80
Wheat, white, bush	0 75	0 84
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 77	....
Beans, bush	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush	0 84	....
Rye, bush	0 50½	....
Barley, bush	0 52	0 57½
Oats, bush	0 45	0 49½
Buckwheat, bush	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots ton.....	$10 15 to	$10 50
Straw, baled, car lots, ton.	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes ...	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers' tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb...............	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected	$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected	0 08
Hides, No. 1 inspected	0 07½
Hides, No. 2 inspected	0 06½
Hides, No 1 cured, selling	0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected	0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected	0 08
Deacons, dairies) each	0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb ..	0 07	....

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Flour—Receipts, 1100 barrels; market quiet.

Flour quotations—Patent winter, $3.80 to $4; patent spring, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; extra, none; superfine, none; strong bakers', $3.70 to $3.90; Ontario bags, $1.70 to $1.80.

Grain—Wheat, No. 2 Manitoba Northern, 78c to 80c. Corn, 70c to 72c. Peas, 83c to 85c. Oats, 46c to 47c. Barley, 58c to 60c. Rye, 65c to 67c. Buckwheat, 64c to 66c. Oatmeal, $2.30 to $2.40. Cornmeal, $1.50 to $1.60.

Provisions—Pork, $24 to $25. Lard, 9c to 10c. Bacon, 14c to 15c. Hams, 13c to 14c.

Produce—Cheese, 9c to 10c. Butter, townships, 19c to 20c; western, 16c to 17c. Eggs, 12c to 14c.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock were 72 loads, composed of 925 cattle, 1300 hogs, 1300 sheep and lambs and 45 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $6 to $6.40; medium exporters, $5.50 to $5.80 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $4.80 to $5.35; light export bulls, $4.75 to $5 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4.25 to $4.60 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $5.40 to $5.65; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1055 lbs. each, sold at $4.80 to $5.30 per cwt.; loads of good butchers' sold at $4.50 to $4.10; loads of medium butchers', $3.80 to $4; common butchers' cows at $2.75 to $3.50 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $20 to $42 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4 to $4.75 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.50 to $3.70 per cwt., for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs. nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.37½ to $7.50 per cwt.; lights at $7.12½, and fats at $7.12½ per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags $3 per cwt.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Aug. 15.—Cattle—Receipts, 160 head; market fairly steady; prime steers, $8 to $8.25; fair to choice, $4.50 to $7.75; heifers, $3.75 to $6.50; cows, $3 to $5.50; canners, $1.75 to $2.75; bulls, $3 to $5; feeders, $3.75 to $4.75; stockers, $3 to $4.25; stocker heifers, $3 to $3.50.

Veals—Receipts, 250 head; prime, 25c to 50c higher; tops, $7.75 to $8; fair to good, $6.75 to $7.25; common to light, $5.50 to $6.50; grass, $3.50 to $4.

Hogs—Receipts, 6800 head; opened fairly active, 5c to 10c lower, closing slow; demand satisfied; heavy, $7.20 to $7.30; mixed medium, $7.10 to $7.20; Yorkers, $7 to $7.12½; light do., $7 to $7.10; pigs, $7.10 to $7.15; roughs, $5.25 to $5.75; stags, $4.75 to $5.25; grass, $6.75 to $6.90.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4200 head; dull; 25c lower; top lambs, $6.10 to $6.25; fair to good, $5.75 to $6; culls to common, $4.75 to $5.50; yearlings, $4.75 to $5; wethers, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, top, mixed, $4 to $4.25; fair to good, $3.50; common, $2.25 to $3.25; ewes, $3.75 to $4.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 15.—Beeves—Receipts, 2981; steers, 10c to 15c higher on light receipts; bulls and cows steady to 10c higher; steers, $5.75 to $7.10; oxen, $5.50; bulls, $3 to $3.75; extra fat, $5.25; cows and heifers, $2.10 to $4.32½; extra fat do., $4.90. Shipments, 749 cattle, 30 sheep and 2600 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 121; market strong; veals, $5 to $8.25; mixed calves, $5.50; buttermilks, $4.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 6946; sheep 25c to 40c lower; lambs, 15c to 25c off; about all sold, except few late arrivals. Sheep, $2 to $3.80; tops, $4; culls, $1.75; lambs, $4.50 to $6.75; one car, $7; culls, $3.50 to $4.

Hogs—Receipts, 751; market lower; state and Pennsylvania hogs, $7.20 to $7.50.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Cattle—Receipts, 1500, including 1400 Texans, 500 westerns; steady; good to prime steers, nominal, $8 to $9; poor to medium, $4.25 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.50; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.50 to $5; calves, $3.50 to $7.25; Texas-fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $4.75 to $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 23,000; opened 10c lower, closed active; mixed and butchers, $6.40 to $6.95; good to choice heavy, $6.80 to $7.10; rough heavy, $6.25 to $6.80; light, $6.25 to $6.80; bulk of sales, $6.40 to $6.75.

Sheep—Receipts, 12,000; sheep steady to lower; lambs steady; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $4.25; western sheep, $2.50 to $4.25; native lambs, $3.50 to $6.75; western lambs, $6.40.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 15.—Live cattle steady, at 13½c to 14½c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 12c to 12½c per lb.

CHEESE MARKETS.

South Finch, Ont., Aug. 15.—The regular meeting of the Finch Cheese Board was held this evening; number of cheese boarded, 2000 boxes, 1500 white, balance colored. Price offered on board, 9⅝c for colored, and 9½c for white. A few boxes sold.

Gift Valued at $500,000.

London, Aug. 16.—It was stated here yesterday that Herbert R. Bishop, the retired New York banker, has given his superb collection of jade and precious stones to the Metropolitan museum of art of New York. His collection is regarded by the best judges as the finest in the world. Its pecuniary value is about $500,000.

Sir John Improving.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—A slight improvement was noted in Sir John Bourinot's condition last night. He is taking more nourishment than for some time back. While Sir John is not by any means out of danger, there is some hopes for his recovery.

Navigable 24 Hours a Day.

Montreal, Aug. 16.—The Shawinigan Water and Power Company have made an offer to the Dominion Government to light the St. Lawrence channel from Quebec to Montreal, so as to make the river navigable 24 hours a day.

Weather Good For Crops.

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—Reports from all parts of the country show that favorable weather prevails, and prospects are that one of the heaviest yields in the history of this province will be taken off.

MOORE'S POEMS.

Still Almost as Popular as When the Poet Was in the Flesh.

The Irish melodies and national songs of Thomas Moore still enjoy a popularity almost as widespread as in the days when he shared with Lord Byron the honor of being the most popular poet of his generation. His longer poems have not stood the test of time so well, though "Lalla Rookh," with its wealth of eastern imagery and detail, is still read and admired by many, as are also his satirical papers and lampoons collected under the title of the "Twopenny Post Bag," and his biographies, including one of his friend Lord Byron. Moore, who was born at Dublin in 1779, was the son of an humble Dublin grocer, and even in his earliest youth wrote poems of no mean merit. When he went to London in early manhood his engaging social gifts, his charming personality and the sweetness with which he sang his own songs gained him almost instant admission to the highest society, and he retained the love and respect of hundreds of friends and acquaintances until his death in 1852. His health completely failed in 1845, and he wrote nothing, for publication after that year. Above everything else Moore was a patriotic Irishman, and his national songs and ballads vibrate with love of country and are tinged also with that strain of pathos which seems to be inseparable from all Irish poetry. "The Minstrel Boy," "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall," and other songs may be instanced in support of this. One of the best known of his songs and one which was a particular favorite with the poet is "The Last Rose of Summer," which follows:

'Tis the last rose of summer
Left blooming alone;
All her lovely companions
Are faded and gone;
No flower of her kindred,
No rosebud is nigh,
To reflect back her blushes,
Or give sigh for sigh.

I'll not leave thee, thou lone one!
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Go, sleep thou with them.
Thus kindly I scatter
Thy leaves o'er the bed,
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead.

So soon may I follow,
When friendships decay,
And from love's shining circle
The gems drop away!
When true hearts lie withered,
And fond ones are flown,
O who would inhabit
This bleak world alone?

The Money Vote to Lord Kitchener.

The money vote to Lord Kitchener set some of the British newspapers recalling money grants of the past to victorious commanders. The great captain Wellington comes first—first in date, first in rank, first indeed in everything. After Talavera, in 1809, he became Viscount Wellington, and had a pension of £2,000 a year conferred on him and his two successors in the title, and the pension only lapsed two years ago. Im 1812 he got an Earldom and an additional £2,000 a year, and in October of the same year became a Marquis, with a grant of £100,000 for purchase of lands to descend with the Marquisate. Finally in May, 1814, when everybody thought that Napoleon in Elba was done for, he was made a Duke, and received £400,000 to purchase estates entailed on the heirs male of his body.

But Napoleon was not done with yet, and Waterloo brought its reward, for the Duke, after being thanked by Parliament "for the consummate ability, unexampled exertion and irresistible ardor displayed by him on the eighteenth," received an additional sum of £200,000 for the purchase of lands, to be held by him and his heirs on the tenure of rendering a tricolor flag on every 18th of June. Thus the Duke received £4,000 a year and £700,000, to say nothing of his £20,000 a year in Spain and £2,000 in Belgium. After that there was no grant until 1839. Sir John Keane then was created Baron Keane of Ghuznee, with a pension of £2,000 for himself and his two immediate successors in the Peerage. Then came Chilianwallah, and Viscount Gough received £2,000 a year for himself and the next two heirs to the title. Lord Napier of Magdala received £2,000 a year for himself and his successor. Lord Wolseley received £25,000 after the Ashantee war and the thanks of Parliament. Lord Roberts got £100,000.

Faint Heart Won.

Dora—How many times did you refuse Jack before you accepted him?

Ethel—Only once. He seemed so discouraged I was afraid to try it again —New York Weekly.

SALMON PACK 1,000,000 CASES SHORT

Columbia River Season Closed Friday With 237,000 Cases.

Astoria, Ore., Aug. 16.—The Columbia River salmon fishing season closed yesterday. The total pack of fourteen canneries is 237,000 cases, or 100,000 more than last year. The amount of frozen steel heads put up is 700 tons. The total amount of fish taken from the Columbia River during the season exceeds 82,000,000 pounds, equal to 430,000 cases. The pack of the various canneries is as follows.

Co-operative, 30,000; Sanborn Cutting, 27,500; Combino, 130,000; McGowan, 37,000; E. Booth, 25,000; Pillar Rock, 25,000; J. G. Meglar, 22,500; F. M. Warren, 31,000; Seafeurt Pros., 9,000.

The Puget Sound and Fraser River packs are failures thus far, and the world's supply of salmon this year will be nearly 1,000,000 cases short.

BAPTIST STUDENT DROWNED.

Fell Out of His Canoe at Stewart Lake on Thursday.

Port Carling, Aug. 16.—A sad drowning accident occurred Thursday afternoon at Stewart Lake, in the Township of Medora, about twelve miles from here. The victim was a young man, Mr. George Craig, the student in charge of the Baptist Mission at Foote's Bay. His home is near Dresden, Ont. Some canoe races were being run, and in some way the deceased fell out of his canoe and sank before assistance could reach him. The body, which is in about 20 feet of water, was recovered in about an hour. The body was taken to Gravenhurst yesterday accompanied by Prof. N.S. McKechnie of Woodstock, who will take it to the father's home, near Dresden.

TWENTY-FIVE DEPUTIES RELEASED.

Charged With Inciting a Riot and Felonious Wounding.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 16.—The 25 deputies on guard at the Warnike washery, when the riot took place Thursday, and who were arrested and jailed by the authorities on the charge of inciting a riot and felonious wounding, were brought down from the prison yesterday, and given a hearing before Judge Halsey. It was shown that the two men shot were not seriously wounded. Judge Halsey then released the prisoners in the sum of $10,000 bail for a further hearing on Monday.

Obstinate Case of Itching Eczema

LEG AND FOOT A MASS OF SORES THAT DOCTORS COULD NOT HEAL —A THOROUGH AND LASTING CURE BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

This letter from Tilsonburg, Ont., is an unsolicited testimonial to the extraordinary healing powers of Dr. Chase's Ointment. This is one more example of how this great ointment cures when all other means have failed. There is something almost magical about the way the preparation heals and cures. People who have not used it can scarcely understand how it can be so effective.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont. writes; "My father has been entirely cured of long-standing and obstinate case of eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores, and he suffered something terrible from stinging and itching. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by one of the best doctors here, he could get no permanent relief until he began the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"This preparation was so cooling and soothing that the very first application brought relief, and it was not long until the leg and foot were perfectly healed and cured. It is a pleasure for him to recommend this ointment because of the great benefit he has derived from it, and he will gladly answer any questions from other sufferers."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is useful in a score of ways. For every irritation or eruption of the skin it affords prompt relief. It heals and soothes wounds, scalds and burns, and has never been equalled as a cure for eczema, salt rheum, tetter and scald head. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.
No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.
For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.
J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

After Over-Indulgence get your stomach and liver into proper condition by using this renowned old family remedy
Beecham's Pills.
Sold Everywhere. In boxes, 25 cents.

THEY DROVE PIMPLES AWAY.—A face covered with pimples is unsightly. It tells of internal irregularities which should long since have been corrected. The liver and the kidneys are not performing their functions in the healthy way they should, and these pimples are to let you know that the blood protests. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will drive them all away, and will leave the skin clear and clean. Try them, and there will be another witness to their excellence.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

HAD LA GRIPPE.—Mr. A. Nickerson, farmer, Dutton, writes: "Last winter I had La Grippe and it left me with a severe pain in the small of my back and hip that used to catch me whenever I tried to climb a fence. This lasted for about two months, when I bought a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and used it both internally and externally, morning and evening, for three days, at the expiration of which time I was completely cured."

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed 'Perfection.'

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

AT DEATH'S DOOR.—DYSPEPSIA CONQUERED.—A GREAT MEDICAL TRIUMPH.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.
Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,
Wotton, P.Q. General Merchant

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly subdues the pain and disease.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

Use the safe, pleasant, and effectual worm killer, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; nothing equals it. Procure a bottle and take it home.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Have you tried Holloway's Corn Cure? It has no equal for removing these troublesome excrescences, as many have testified who have tried it.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

FOR INFLAMMATION OF THE EYES.—Among the many good qualities which Parmelee's Vegetable Pills possess, besides regulating the digestive organs, is their efficacy in reducing inflammation of the eyes. It has called forth many letters of recommendation from those who were afflicted with this complaint and found a cure in the pills. They affect the nerve centres and the blood in a surprisingly active way, and the result is almost immediately seen.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive's grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been saved. Mr. A. W. Levy, Mitchell, writes; "I think Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickle's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recommend it for severe colds and consumption."

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Little Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Do not despair of curing your sick headache when you can so easily obtain Carter's Little Liver Pills. They will effect a prompt and permanent cure. Their action is mild and natural.

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

SIMPLY DELIGHTED

Many persons have been simply delighted at the good bargains and stylish Shoes they have secured at our

Sweep Out Sale

Of all odds and ends and broken lines. Walk in and take a look over our Bargain Tables Below are a few of the lines we have thrown out this week.

70 pairs Ladies' Fine Kid Buttoned Boots, all sizes, American make, regular $1.50, for	$1.00
60 pairs Ladies' 2-strap Kid Slippers, $1.00, for	.75
7 pairs Ladies' Patent Leather Low Shoes, $3.00, for sizes 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 6.	$1.50
9 pairs Ladies' Patent Leather Low Shoes, $3.50, for sizes 2½, 3, 5½.	$1.75
14 pairs Ladies' Patent Leather Lace Boots, $4.00, for sizes 2, 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 6.	$2.00
1 Lot Ladies' Fine Kid and Patent Slippers, regular $2.50 and $2.00 lines, for	$1.50

THESE ARE GREAT SNAPS.

Full Lines Trunks and Travelling Bags on 2nd Floor

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

SAFETY IN TRAVEL

TORONTO MEN SAID TO HAVE PERFECTED AN IMPORTANT INVENTION

An invention of more than ordinary interest to the travelling public, and which promises to revolutionize the present methods for ensuring the safety of travelers, by means of signaling to locomotive engineers in case of danger of any kind on the track, such as obstructions, open switches, the approach of other trains, etc., has recently been patented in Canada. Application has also been made for patents in the United States and Great Britain.

The device is known as an electric train signal, and has been thoroughly tested under all sorts of conditions and in the roughest weather, with ice and snow, and has, it is claimed, never failed to give the most satisfactory results.

Engines protected with this device are warned by the ringing of a bell in the cab upon the approach of any other train within a distance of half a mile in front or behind the engine, thus preventing all possibility of collisions. This distance of half a mile either way may be extended to a much greater distance if desired

In addition to giving warning of the approach of other trains and open switches, the invention takes the place of semaphores and lights in case of fogs or storms.

Another advantage of this device is that engineers can be communicated with at any distance by station agents. Everything requiring inspection is attached to the locomotive, so that the signal can be operated in the most remote places or extended the entire length of the line. It can be attached to the locomotive without any alteration to the latter.

DOES YOUR BABY CRY AT NIGHT!

If so, it is well to know the great value of Polson's Nerviline, a household remedy for stomach pains, cramps, toothache, sick headache and the manifold ills peculiar to children. A few drops of Nerviline in sweetened water makes a pleasant drink and never fails to quickly relieve. Nerviline is as good as the doctor in emergencies and costs only 25c a bottle. Get Nerviline from your druggist today.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure Headache.

Daily Intelligencer.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Uncle Sam wants a pathologist who is to be stationed at Manilla. The troops will see that the supply of material for the work of the pathologist is well kept up.

• • •

Edison says that within thirty years electricity will take the place of steam. What's worrying us is the question of who will take the place of Edison then.

• • •

There is to be a baby show in New York City soon. The homeliest baby is to receive a prize of seventy-five dollars. The managers of the show have announced that the awards will be made by a committee in Omaha. The committee will probably take to the woods soon after it makes its awards.

• • •

The Government should above all other things remember that in bonusing a fast line the steamers of such line must be equal, if not superior, to anything running out of New York!

• • •

There are four different state swords belonging to the City of London. The black sword is used on fast days, and during the mourning for the Royal family.

• • •

Buckingham Palace occupies the site of the mulberry garden laid out by James VI. and I. in his unsuccessful attempt to start a silk industry in London.

• • •

A silver cup, or argyll—"Robert Burns from Mary," hall mark, 1784, —brought £10 10s at Stevens' auction rooms in London recently.

• • •

London is introducing water troughs for thirsty horses, at which the water can be run off by touching a push-button and fresh water run in.

• • •

In a speech in London the other day Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman told an admirable story of the advice given by an Englishman, a Scotchman and an Irishman, respectively, to a gentleman whose servant was constantly breaking articles in the household. The Englishman said to the employer: "Oh, get rid of him — dismiss him." The Scotchman's advice was: "Stop the money out of his wages." "But," said the master, "he breaks more than his wages amount to." "Then," said the Irishman, "raise his wages."

• • •

Miss Ella Witchazel, a young school teacher of Villisca, Ia., finding the close confinement and arduous duties of the school room injuring her health, tried the outdoor cure. Instead of spending her winter's salary and summer vacation in a crowded hotel at the seashore, she went on a farm, cut 25 acres of prairie hay, harvested 40 acres of wheat, gained 20 pounds in weight, a coat of tan for her hands and face, and a rugged health.

• • •

T. S. Sproule, Esq., M.P., Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Orangemen of British America sent the following cable to King Edward on Coronation day:

"Markdale, Aug. 9.
"His Majesty, King Edward,
London, England.
"Congratulations Loyal Orange Association British America on recovery and coronation. Long may you reign
"T. S. Sproule, Grand Master."

The following is the reply received thereto:

"London, Aug. 11.
"T. S. Sproule,
"Markdale, Grand Master,
"The King thanks you sincerely for your kind telegram of congratulations.
"Knollys."

• • •

Cablegrams from London of the 15th inst. say that a subsidy of $150,000 has been granted by the Canadian Government, and $75,000 by the Imperial Government in aid of a steamship service between Canada and South Africa. It is also stated that "arrangements are being completed between the British Government, the Canadian Government, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Allan, Elder-Dempster and Furness Lines combine to carry on a fast mail service between Montreal and Liverpool with a subsidy. A through freight service with Australia will also be initiated." If these rumors prove correct, some good has resulted from the conference in London.

• • •

The Globe reports that a Montreal manufacturer declared at the manufacturers' meeting in Halifax, that the cotton industry is being ruined in Canada, under the working of the Preferential tariff. This is no more than was predicted. If such be the case now, what may we expect when there is a stagnation in business and the markets become overstocked!

• • •

Too much rain say some folks. Well, the waterworks department doesn't think so. Just look at the small amount of lawn service in actual use this summer, and your water rate going on just as ever!

• • •

Any excursionist who has dwelt for an hour or so in Kingston this summer will tell you of the beautiful and graceful damsels to be seen upon the streets and wharves of that city. No doubt many are anxious to get away and our Belleville boys will be compelled to go after them if our younger female generation does not soon forsake their short dresses. Our older girls all get married, you know.

• • •

When Albert St. was properly put in condition from Victoria avenue to Bridge St., why was the last block, between Bridge and Dundas Sts. not even picked? It seems to most people that when a good thing is started it should be finished, and we think it should be so with our streets.

Editorial and important local news on second page.

The Barber Who Wasn't Sick

A barber working for one of the St. Catherine street establishments, in Montreal, has a poor idea of the mental calibre of certain nurses in one of the local hospitals.

A few days ago there was a patient who had to have an operation on one of his cheeks, and it was thought wise to have him shaved first. The St. Catherine street man was asked to send a barber up, and he did so. When the man arrived, a consultation was in progress in the sick man's room and the barber was put into one of the unoccupied bedrooms to wait. The minutes went slowly by and he half dozed.

Now, it so happened that a sick man had been expected for that room, and the nurse, in passing the door, saw what she believed to be her patient. He certainly did look ill, she thought, as, with eyes closed, he leaned well back in the chair. His eyes opened as she approached him, and he thought that the weary wait was over. "Well, how do you feel?" she asked, in as cheery a manner as possible.

"Oh, first rate," he replied. She expected such an answer. Patients rarely admit that they feel very badly. He was not prepared for the next move. Darting forward, she caught him by the wrist and held on to it for a minute. This was the most remarkable case of love-making at first sight that he had ever heard of, and the man was actually too dumbfounded to say a word.

"Not so bad," said the pretty little nurse, as she let go and ran lightly out of the room.

A minute elapsed and in she came again with a mouth thermometer.

"Open your mouth," she coaxed; "now, don't say a word."

Before the astonished man could say anything, the thermometer was under his tongue and the nurse stood looking at him.

"T-l-a-k-e i-t," he commenced to stutter, but the pretty creature put her hand to his mouth and closed it.

"Not a word now; it'll be all right soon, she crooned.

Then she pulled the thermometer out, and gazing at it said: "Why, your temperature is all right."

"Is it?" said the frightened man. "When am I going to do this shaving. I want to get away from here."

The nurse breathed a sigh of pity. "Too bad," she thought, "his sickness has affected his brain."

Just then the sick man's nurse came to the door and called the barber.

Nurse, who had taken the temperature, suddenly saw the mistake and she cleared out for a secluded spot, where her own temperature ranged from 100 to 110 for the next few few hours.

When the barber got back to his shop he said:

"Say, boss, I don't want to go up there again; they're all 'batty'."

Watch the extensive patronage of the MAGI Caledonia Springs; only superlative merit could attract such a business

THE BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Wanted—A number of bright, clever young men who are anxious to qualify for good positions. We have requests for graduates which we are unable at present to fill. Students who have passed through one or two forms of High School work make desirable office help after they have taken one or two of our departments. Call or write for particulars.—J. FRITH JEFFERS, M.A., Principal.

Like Other Evils cramps and diarrhoea come suddenly. Promptly give a dose of Perry Davis' Painkiller and the pains will go immediately. A bottle at hand will save hours of suffering—be prepared.

Photographs on linen and silks are becoming popular for pillow covers, handkerchiefs, etc.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE ... 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

The majority of Syrians belong to the Greek Church.

There is a Life Insurance Company that never lost a dollar through a poor investment. Can any individual investor make a similar statement? The character of this company secures to the policy-holders 90 per cent. of the company's profits. These profits are guaranteed in the policies. The name of this company is the Imperial Life of Canada. That is why that company earns for its policy-holders the greatest profits of any, and at the same time affords absolute security. Hunt & Jeffers will represent nothing but the gilt-edged.

The six masts of a ship are fore, main, mizzen, spanker, jigger and driver.

Mother "My mother was troubled with consumption for many years. At last she was given up to die. Then she tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was speedily cured."—D. P. Jolly, Avoca, N. Y.

25c., 50c., $1.00.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

SHOE REPAIRING

We have established a shoe repairing department in connection with our business. When you have any mending work to be done, leave it at the repair department of the Corner Shoe House. We guarantee

FIRST CLASS WORK.

Richard Black, who is in charge of this department, is A FIRST CLASS shoemaker in every respect. He has had over TWENTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE in this line.

If you desire neat, reliable work at moderate charges

BRING YOUR REPAIRING HERE.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.
Linen Coats from 75c up.
Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.
Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2 25 to $7.50.
Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russsian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blousss. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

What Is Perseverance?

"Take hold, keep hold and never let go," the old darkey said.

That is just what we are doing at this store, taking hold of the prices to make them right, holding on to our many customers by our courteous treatment and business-like methods, and never letting our good reputation go by trying to work off some inferior article on which we might make more profit.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Everybody Will Wear Spec Some Day

Present statistics show that there is a wonderful increase in the number of people who depend on Glasses for good vision. Take enlightened Boston, "The Hub," for instance, there are more people wearing Specs there than in any other city of its size. Where lenaring and progress are, you will find the most people wearing Glasses. Are you going to stay behind till you have to have them and then maybe find you have waited too long, that some small trouble has grown on till Glasses won't remedy it?

IF YOU DON'T NEED 'EM
WE TELL YOU.

ALEX. RAY.

Mistakes in advertising are the most expensive mistakes a merchant can make.

Sincerity is a gem of the first water.

Shoe Bargains

Men's Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.25
Boys' Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.00
Men's Fine Lace Boots	$1.15
Boys' Fine Lace Boots	.85
Men's Canvas Boots or Low Shoes	$1.00
Men's Dongola Kid Congress	$1.20
Men's Patent leather lace Boots	$2.00
Children's Button Boots or Slippers	.25

A. W. Vermilyea & Son

DR. BUTLER'S
Blackberry Cordial

The Best Remedy for Diarrhoea,
Dysentery,
Cholera,
25c Bot.

Every Dose effectual.
The best medicine for children and infants.

WATERS' Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting. Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.
Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

An Heirloom
In the Family
IS HUDSON'S DRY SOAP.

It has been transmitted from mother to daughter for three generations. It likely occupies a place in your home at the present moment, if not—then you are minus the right arm of cleanliness.

HUDSON'S DRY SOAP has lived up to its promise. Its age proves that abundantly, and the number of its users—well. we think "you realize what a MILLION means" now.

It is quite different from any other soap in existence, being the original and perfect DRY SOAP.

It will clean your clothes, your house, your kitchen utensils, dishes, silver and glassware and it economizes time and work.

What more could you desire!

(Changed daily)

Saturday, August 16, 1902.

School
Opens
Soon

And here at this, the greatest of school book and school supply houses, you will find everything you need and more.

OUR SCHOOL BOOKS—

Well, we have everything from the 1st primer up to the advanced stages of High School and collegiate books.

OUR SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Everything, too, worth having. We hunt the markets for the good things, the good values. We find what we hunt for, and we sell at this mammoth line at prices so reasonable and low that our reputation for school books and school supplies is just what it is

Wall Paper
Stationery
Picture Framing
Decorating—
THE VERY BEST.

C. B. Scantlebury
Wall Paper Wholesale & Retai

Wilson's
Fly Pads
The Original and only Genuine
INSIST ON WILSON'S

SANTAL-MIDY
Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
MIDY

OPPORTUNITY.

This I beheld, or dreamed it in a dream:
There spread a cloud of dust along a plain;
And underneath the cloud, or in it, raged
A furious battle, and men yelled, and swords
Shocked upon swords and shields. A prince's banner
Wavered, then staggered backward, hemmed by foes.
A craven hung along the battle's edge,
And thought, "Had I sword of keener steel—
That blue blade that the king's son bears—but this Blunt thing!"—He snapt and flung it from his hand.
And lowering crept away, and left the field.
Then came the king's son, wounded, sore bestead,
And weaponless, and saw the broken sword,
Hilt-buried in the dry and trodden sand,
And ran and snatched it, and with battle shout
Lifted afresh he hewed his enemy down,
And saved a great cause that hero's day.

—E. R. Sill.

BOER WAR STORIES.

An Innocent "Tommy" and His Query to General Botha.

The London Daily Mail's war correspondent, Mr. Edgar Wallace, writing from Klerksdorp, says: "There is an unrecorded incident of the peace conference which caused some amusement among the Boer delegates. The train conveying General Botha to Klerksdorp was standing at a small station when a Tommy, impelled by curiosity, drew near to the special saloon on the bridge of which Louis Botha was standing, and, respectfully saluting the Boer leader, asked, 'When are you going to let us go home, sir?' Botha smiled and replied, 'Very soon,' he hoped. 'The sooner the quicker,' quoted Atkins, and Botha laughed heartily."

A story is told in the English papers concerning a captain of the Fighting Fifth who fell into General Delarey's hands on December 13, 1900, when, in conjunction with Commandant Beyers he surprised General Clements at Nooitgedacht. After the engagement General Delarey, addressing the captain in friendly tones, said:—"Our day to-day, captain, yours to-morrow." He then gave an order that the prisoners should be removed to a neighboring mill, and offered the captain his own pony that he might ride there.

The offer was accepted, but, on mounting, the officer found himself in the position of being an armed man again, for Delarey's rifle was resting in the stirrup cup. "Perhaps you had better take this, General," he said, handing the weapon to Delarey, who laughingly replied that perhaps he had.

He then said, "But I must have those glasses, captain," indicating a pair of field glasses which his prisoner was carrying. The latter, however, begged to be allowed to retain these, as he particularly prized them.

"I am very sorry, captain," was the reply, "but I must have them. But I tell you what I will do. As soon as this (the war) is over I will send them to you, or their value"—and the captain still believes that he will keep his word.

London's Fire Traps.

We are sure that if a practical enquiry were set on foot as to the extent of the provision generally made in the buildings of London for protection against fire an appalling conclusion would be reached. Several lives have been lost recently in London fires because there was no way of escape. London is undoubtedly swarming on all sides with death traps only ready to claim their victims when a fire has broken out. Every one is aware of the difficulties which have to be faced when the question of the efficient protection of life shut up in buildings in a congested area is approached. In probably the majority of buildings in London it is impossible even to escape to the roof and thence to gain a safe refuge on the adjoining premises. We know at least of one instance, that of well-known bank premises, in which the boundaries of the property are marked on the roof by ugly spiked fences. While it is true that even this way of escape is not easy, it is certain that in a greater number of instances no such thing as a fire ladder is available.

How painful and appalling the outcome can be is evident from the terrible results of the non-existence of any means of escape at a fire which occurred in the city on Monday last. The example is all the more remarkable since the fire broke out in broad daylight, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and within 300 yards of the chief city fire station. The first call, indeed, came to the brigade by a messenger on foot. In spite of the proximity of the rescue station, ten lives were sacrificed in this fire because there were no means of escape and because the rescue appliances could not reach the upper floors, where several poor operatives were in danger. The fire escapes were too short by a few feet. On the morning after the fire one of our representatives visited the scene, and he states that the building was not a remarkably high one, and not so high as thousands of others in London streets.

The fire brigade authorities must be aware of the length of their fire escapes, and they must surely also know the extreme height of the largest buildings in the metropolis, and yet in this instance the fire escape failed to reach the top floor of the building. Prima facie, there would seem to be divulged in this occurrence a distinct and serious defect in the machinery of the brigade.

After Long Years.

An old man who had been working for a city firm for forty-two years, was called one morning into his master's private office.

"I'm awfully sorry, Mr. Holden," said his employer, "but we've decided to reduce our staff, so your services will not be required after next week."

The old fellow seemed to be considerably astonished.

"Surely there's some mistake, sir!" he exclaimed. "Why, when I started I was told the job was regular!"
—London Answers.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.
Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c line.
Reading advertisements, 15c per line.
Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon casual or contract rates.
Minimum space, 10 lines.
Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion.
Births, 25c each insertion.
Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.
All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.
Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c
(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

A good general servant. Apply to MRS. W. D. ROBB, 60 Alexander St. 1td

Agents Wanted—To take orders for our superior custom made "walking" and underskirts. Liberal commission. Write at once. — CANADIAN SKIRT CO., Guelph, Ont. 1td

Wanted at once, good cook and kitchen girl, also night watch. Highest wages. Anglo-American Hotel, Belleville. a12-8td&2tw

Persons of undoubted character, good sense, and plenty of push, to help in a great spiritual work. Our plan is entirely original, and the possible returns ten to twenty dollars weekly. —The Century Christian Co., Limited, Toronto. a13-6td

LOST.

Lace handkerchief, Aug. 14, between Station and Upper bridge. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office. 15-2td

FOR SALE.

One Mantle Folding Bed. Can be seen at 163 South Albert St. 23-tf

FOR SALE OR TO EXCHANGE.

For a smaller house nearer the Shire Hall, Judge Lazier's residence, 194 Victoria Avenue. m14-d3m

HOUSES FOR SALE.

The undersigned have received instructions to sell at once the following properties in the City of Belleville.

1. Frame house, N. E. corner of Everett St. and Bridge St.
2. Small frame house, east side of Everett street, first house north of Bridge street.

All above houses are now occupied by monthly tenants. These properties can be purchased upon reasonable terms and low prices.

Other City properties to rent and to sell. Further particulars will be given upon application to

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Solicitors, 9 Campbell St.
June 28, 1902. jy4-8-10-12d

IN PEACE

At midnight, on Sunday, Aug. 10, the hand of death stole in the home of Mr. Jno. Nightingale, Huff's Island, taking away a dear loved one—the flower and hope of the family—Florence Nightingale, being only twenty-three years of age. We expect the aged to pass away and cannot forbear to pause and drop a tear, but how much we grieve and how heart-felt is our sympathy for the bereft when one so young and full of promise is taken from our midst.

We could not have known her but to have been better for it. She clung to life, for she wanted to live as a help to her two remaining brothers and mother. But on learning she could not be spared she calmly resigned herself to the will and greater wisdom of her Master, in whom she trusted.

The new year found her with a severe cold, which developed into pneumonia and she never recovered, but gradually faded, getting weaker and weaker, until her soul, so pure and sweet, broke the chains of a diseased body and winged its flight, we trust to be with Christ, which is far better. Her care to the last being for those dear ones at home whom she must leave until they meet her again in the vast beyond.

The funeral service on Tuesday was conducted by Rev. Mr. Bogert, of St. John's church, Belleville. He read most impressively Psalm 39 and I. Cor., 15, and talked from the text: "The maid is not dead, but sleepeth," Matt., 9:24. He talked and reasoned like a father to his children, so that his words shall long remain impressed, we trust for good.

The nurse at the last, Miss Gertrude Bowers, all forgetful of self, performed her duty of love and sacrifice as for one of her own kin.

Miss Nightingale attended Albert College for a term and won there a large circle of friends, who did not forget her or the family in the hour of sickness and death.

Upon and about the casket were to be seen many floral tokens of love.

As the long procession sadly wound its way from that bereft home we felt keenly the solemnity, but restrained our tears as we thought of the poet's words, who says:

Weep not for death!
The fount of tears is sealed.
Who knows how bright the inward light
To those closed eyes revealed?
Who knows what holy love may fill
The heart that seems so cold and still?

—Com.

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Mon day(at 11.40 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester ar 3.25 a.m. daily (ex cept Monday) and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to

U. K. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

EXCURSION
PER
Str. "NIAGARA"
To PICTON

Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 16.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.

2 hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

(Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902.

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $8.45; Return, $13.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F. CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec. (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont,
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, 02
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Back.

After a Shave

There is Nothing so Soothing and Cooling as

Our WINTER CREAM.

It is one of the purest, most elegant preparations for Tan and Sunburn, or any roughness of the Skin, keeping it smooth and soft.

Price, 15c and 25c.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

Only a few people can mow a lawn so it will look right.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station,

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 6.—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,

Belleville and Peterboro,

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail	5.40 a.m.	6.10 p.m.
Mixed	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc,

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling

XXX Cider
and White Wine
Vinegars
Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.
Telephone 214.

NO OTHER BUSINESS

affords you equal credit, considering the amount you have invested. To illustrate; your account with us, amounting to $100 will enable you to at all times, buy and sell stocks to the valuation of from $500 to $1000. You are thus enabled to secure the profits to be made from investment of the above amounts, while really only investing $100. For accounts of larger size, you secure corresponding benefits. Our 400 page, clothbound, illustrated,

"Guide to Investors"

explains in detail the method, also contains full comprehensive information relative to Wall St., its markets and Securities. Each afternoon, we issue our

"Daily Market Letter"

a complete daily guide for investor or speculator. Both are yours, free of cost, for the asking, at any of our offices.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

373 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

20,000 Harvesters Wanted

In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run	—To—	For
From stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell	WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th	$10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or Southwest or Northwest of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 10th, 1901, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS and ARE NOT GOOD on "Imperial Limited" and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation on Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest Agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger
Agent, 1 King St. East,
Toronto.

S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

Why Do You Submit To A Daily Life of Suffering From A Common Evils.

Paine's Celery Compound

IS AN INFALLIBLE CURE FOR DISTRESSING SUMMER DYSPEPSIA AND ALL DIGESTIVE TROUBLES.

The tortures and evils of summer dyspepsia are experienced by thousands at this time. The dyspeptic's train of evils may be enumerated as follows: Feelings of dizziness, languor, nervousness, sleeplessness, intense headache, distension of the stomach, loss of flesh, difficult breathing, and the heart's action is seriously affected.

All forms of dyspepsia are quickly banished by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. The use of this marvellous medicine allays the inflammation of the nerves centered about the stomach; it opens up the sewers of the body and removes all waste matters; it cleanses the blood; it makes new nerve fibre; it restores digestive power, and promotes bodily strength and activity. Mrs. J. B. Orr, Lennoxville, P.Q., says:

"I have been a very great sufferer from dyspepsia for ten years. At times I would suffer most intensely, notwithstanding great care in dieting and the best medical help I could get. Severe attacks were always attended with very violent headaches, followed by nervousness and sleeplessness. Different physicians exhausted their skill in trying to effect a cure. Finally upon the advice of a friend, I decided to venture an experiment with Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle did me much good, and by the time I had used three bottles I was perfectly restored. I am now free from nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, headache and all the sufferings that arise from these distressing troubles."

Colombian Gunboat Captured.

San Jose De Costa Rica, Aug. 16.—News has reached her from the camp of the Colombian revolutionists, Agua Dulce District, that after a naval engagement the Colombian Government gunboat, Boyaca, was captured by the Colombian revolutionists. Three hundred Government soldiers, and General Ortiz and Henaof, with supplies of munitions of war and provisions were captured by Boyaca.

Law Officers' Incomes.

London, Aug. 16.—Mr. Austen Chamberlain informed Mr. Weir in the House of Commons that the fees received last year by Sir. Robert Finlay, the Attorney-General, amounted to £5,500. These were in addition to his salary of £7,000, making a total of £12,500. Sir E. H. Carson, the Solicitor-General, received £4,350 in fees, in addition to a salary of £6,000—total £10,350.

Reindeer For Antarctic Work.

Christiania, Aug. 16.—The Antarctic explorer Borchgrevinck, who is here, will return to America in a fortnight. He is arranging for the sailing of two ships in 1903 on an expedition to the south pole for the National Geographical Society at Washington. This expedition will utilize the reindeer, it is said, for the first time in Antarctic exploration.

First Sailing Oct. 18.

Montreal, Aug. 16.—The representatives of the Allan, Elder-Dempster and Furness line steamships, held a joint conference yesterday morning regarding the new South African service. It was decided that the first sailing would be the Allan line Ontarian, on Oct. 18, and another ship in November, both from Montreal.

Third Arbitrator Named.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 16.—Justice Emerson of the Supreme Court named Peter Archibald yesterday to be third arbitrator in the adjustment of the Reid railway claims. Mr. Archibald was formerly chief engineer on the Intercolonial Railway of Canada.

Government Turned Over.

Tien-Tsin, Aug. 15.—The turning over of the Government of the City of Tien-Tsin to the Chinese authorities was completed to-day with considerable ceremony.

Does Your Back Ache?

If it aches and pains, is stiff and sore, so that you can hardly get round to do your work, or if you're so bad you've had to go to bed, just take

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

The new Scientific remedy, prepared by the eminent Kidney Specialist, Dr. Zina Pitcher. These Tablets cure promptly and permanently the worst kinds of bad backs and all forms of kidney trouble.

Price 50c. a box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZINA PITCHER CO., Toronto.

WHEN IN PARIS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Be Received by President Loubet—1,600 Colliers Strike in South Wales.

Thomas Izzard, P. M. of South Zorra, died Friday morning.

It is expected that the apple crop in Essex will amount to 50,000 barrells.

At Napanee the Lardsdale Woollen Mills were burned Friday. The loss is $10,000.

Hon. Mr. Blair, interviewed Friday, said he was in favor of a 20-knot Atlantic service.

Over $3,375,000 was found in letters undelivered in the British postoffices last year.

The Canadian coronation contingent sailed for Canada on the steamship Corinthian Thursday.

Wm. McCraney, ex-M. P., for Halton, has been appointed Assessment Commissioner for Vancouver.

Port Hope is to have a by-law "to prevent hawking and spitting on the sidewalks of the municipality."

The Porte has issued an irade approving M. Rouvier's scheme for the unification of the Ottoman debt.

Thirty years ago John Charlton of North Norfolk, was first elected a member of the Dominion Parliament.

The Typographical Union Friday decided to take active steps to secure the observance of the eight-hour law.

The admission fee to Westminster Abbey has been reduced to 12 cents, from $1.25, and people at the rate of 2,500 an hour passed in.

At Kingston William D. Carry is now suing George Smith, agent for J. L. Gallagher, M.P.P., for $1,000, for bribery and other offences.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, on his arrival in Paris will be received by President Loubet and the membelss of the French Ministry.

Some 1,600 colliers struck work at the Abergorkey pits, Treorky, South Wales, as a protest against sixty non-unionists being employed in the mine.

At Forest Robert R. Dickey, one of the pioneer citizens of Forest, died Thursday, aged 69 years. He was Police Magistrate and Division Court Clerk.

Charles Allen, sr., the Hamilton man who was poisoned the other day by eating canned salmon, is in a very critical condition. His recovery is doubtful.

The Typographical Union voted against Socialism at Cincinnati on Friday. The organization of the International Ladies' Auxiliary was approved of.

Mussolino, the condemned Italian brigand, has been conveyed to the island of Elba, by a torpedo boat, and placed in the convict prison of Porto Longone.

Luther R. Marsh, widely noted as a spiritualist, died at his home at New York, Friday afternoon, after an illness lasting several weeks. He was 85 years of age.

The sum of $15,000 has been advanced to the Temiskaming Railway Commission for their use until they have money of their own, under the act passed last session.

Russian newspapers are dispalying keen interest in the projected Alaska-Behring Straits and Irkoutsk Railway. They report it is to be backed by American millionaires.

George W. Clark, of Lynn, Mass., has been arrested in Toronto on a charge of passing worthless cheques. He jumped his bail at Pittsburg, Pa., and will fight extradition.

The Nova Scotia Steel Company will at once proceed with the erection of the new steel plant at New Glasgow, with the proceeds of the new issue of $1,160,000 of bonds.

Great anxiety prevails at Bangkok because no telegrams had been received from Europeans in the north since nine days ago, when the Shans attacked Lakon and were repulsed.

Hon. G. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, addressed a large meeting in Liverpool Thursday night. He proposed that 500 army horses be purchased annually from the Dominion.

An investigation of the department of one of the principal officials of the Swedish State Treasury, named Tougberg, who was killed in an accident in June, reveals a serious defalcation.

Lombardo, the most notorious Italian brigand after Mussolino, has been surrounded by Italian troops on Mont Aspromonte, in the Province of Reggio, and killed after a serious encounter.

Mayor Stuart, of Truro, N. S., handed in his resignation Friday, having been voted down by the Council on the water supply question with the I.C.R., when he had been elected by the people on this question.

At a meeting of Iron Moulders' Union, No. 28, held Friday night, it was decided to close Gurney's Foundry, Toronto, to union men, and, as a result, about 20 moulders who belong to the union did not go to work this morning.

A special Russian Government commission has recommended the construction of a railroad from Alexandropol, in Transcaucasia, to the Persian frontier, with a view to its being a branch of the Frivian line when that is built.

James Cummings, who was committed for trial by the magistrate at Mount Forest, on a charge of cattle stealing has been lodged in Guelph gaol. The stealing has been going on since last November in a most systematic manner.

At Hastings Friday Simon Burshaw, an employe of Welsh & Co.'s Tannery, while engaged in starting a large wheel, was accidentally caught in the belt and thrown with such force that his spinal column was severed. He cannot recover.

Ausgleich Not Yet Signed.

Vienna, Aug. 16.—Negotiations for the establishment of the ausgleich between Austria and Hungary have not yet led to agreement on the subject. Hungary opposes the proposed high duties on textiles, iron and machinery. Dr. von Koerber, the Austrian Premier, and Colomon Szell, Premier of Hungary, are to report to Emperor Francis Joseph on the ausgleich negotiations next Saturday.

The "Sunshine" Furnace is entirely Canadian--is not a duplicate of any United States heater, as most of the furnaces made and sold in Canada.

Designed specially to meet the varied conditions of our climate, and to burn all kinds of fuel successfully--wood can be used in fall and spring, and coal in severe weather.

Has a self-acting gas damper--no need to open your doors, etc., to emit gas odors after lighting fire, as with common furnaces.

The "Sunshine" has more good features than any other furnace, and no other good furnace is so cheap.

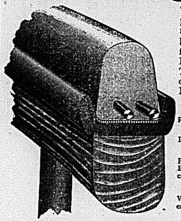
Sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for booklet.

McClary's

London, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, St. John, N. B.

The W. W. Chown Co., Limited Agents.

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box-Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

For pure blood, a bright eye, a clear complexion, a keen appetite, a good digestion and refreshing sleep, TAKE

BRISTOL'S Sarsaparilla

It arouses the Liver, quickens the circulation, brightens the spirits and generally improves the health.

Sixty-eight years trial have proved it to be, the most reliable BLOOD purifier known.

All druggists sell "BRISTOL'S."

Old Lace can be safely dyed to any color or tint with that English Home Dye of high quality, Maypole Soap. No matter how delicate the lace is, it is absolutely safe with Maypole. "No mess, no trouble." Quick, easy, safe, sure. It dyes to any tint!

Maypole Soap

Sold everywhere.
10c. for Colors. 15c. for Black.

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED
POND'S EXTRACT

FOR BURNS, SPRAINS, WOUNDS, BRUISES OR ANY SORT OF PAIN.

Used Internally and Externally.

CAUTION! Avoid the weak watery Witch Hazel preparations, represented to be "the same as" Pond's Extract, which easily sour and often contain "wood alcohol" an irritant externally and, taken internally, a poison.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at The Intelligencer Office. tf

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS

Front St. Phone 91.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.

CHAS. N. SULMAN.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—
"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves,"
"Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

"Why didn't you put up an umbrella, as I did?" she says coldly, while her very fingers are twitching to help him to adjust his collar and brush off the grains of rice from his dear broad shoulders, while her heart is full of a desire to put her arms around his neck, and praise him and pet him and caress him out of his ruffled temper.

But—ah, poor miserable Yolande! —he does not want her words or her caresses; he wants nothing of her but her wretched money for which he has sold himself! She and her love are only tiresome adjuncts to thirty thousand pounds.

"Because I wasn't as clever as you," Captain Glynne replies crossly, for some grains of rice are slipping down his back.

"Oh, I think you are—quite!" Yolande rejoins, in a curious tone and with a disdainful smile; and neither bride nor bridegroom speaks another word until Victoria is reached.

CHAPTER XIII.

"Do you want to look at any papers?" Captain Glynne asks carelessly, as they pass the book stall in the station, quite expecting a timid, "No, thank you," and a loud reproachful glance.

"Oh, yes, please!" Yolande says eagerly. "There is a new story in Temple Bar I am longing to go on with."

Dallas looks sternly at her, with brows drawn together and lips compressed.

"Here it is then; and here are the World, and Truth, and Life, and the Ocean and the Lady, and a lot of other delightful things," he says, in a drawling tone. "Do you want them all?"

Her cheeks burn and her heart beats fast at the sarcasm of the question.

"No, thanks, none of them!" she answers briefly. "Temple Bar will be sufficient."

They get into a carriage in which there are three other passengers — ladies—and Yolande, settling herself in a corner, appears absorbed in the pages of Temple Bar, while Captain Glynne, settling himself in the opposite corner, stares at the cartoon of Vanity Fair and glances curiously from beneath the brim of his hat at his young wife.

"Come," he says to himself sardonically—"there is nothing like sensible matter-of-fact matrimony! I was fool enough to be afraid I was going to have too much of the other thing. By Jove, I needn't have been, I see!"

The white stations, with their lamps all glimmering now, the cuttings, and the bridges fly by with a roar and a rattle; but the position and aspect of the passengers within that railway carriage remain unaltered; and Captain Glynne, who at first was not quite sure whether he was most vexed or amused, begins to know for a certainty that he is vexed, and feels slighted, offended, and hotly angered. His anger cools, however, as it intensifies and grows more serious, and by the time Chatham is reached he is in a mood of frigid haughty indignation.

"Very well, young lady," he says to himself; "two can play at that game! I'll give you full opportunity to sulk to your heart's content!"

Yolande lays her magazine down on her lap as soon as it grows too dark to read, and, leaning back, covers her eyes with her hand and pretends to sleep. So he thinks; but in reality she falls fast asleep, worn out with excitement and emotion, and also from the effects of the dose of cognac, which has acted as a powerful sedative on the tired body and mind.

Captain Glynne can just see the sensitive girlish lips below her hand —very pale, pure, gentle lips they are now; and there is a languor and helplessness about the slim girlish figure in repose which touches him into softer vexation.

"What a curious girl she is," he says mentally—"so shy and strange and variable! Poor child! Heaven help us both! We are chained to each other for life. It is the foolishness of folly for us to try to make each other miserable. Poor little girl, I must try to cheer her up!"

The other ladies get out at Chatham; the guard inspects the tickets, the newsboys call the evening papers; the doors bang, and the whistle shrieks; and Yolande sleeps through it all.

"Poor little soul!" Dallas says, with a slight smile, as he leaves his seat and sits down softly by her side. "It isn't exactly the most complimentary thing a bride could do, vis-a-vis to her bridegroom; but I suppose she never slept a wink last night in the wonderful excitement that she was to be married in the morning, and from anxiety about her finery."

He peers up under the shading hand, and sees the thick dark lashes resting peacefully on the pale cheeks, and his heart throbs with a new, tender feeling of protecting fondness.

"My own little wife!" he whispers, putting his arms softly about her, intending to lift her on to his knee, and let her sleep with her head resting against his breast.

But, as soon as the encircling arms touch her, Yolande leaps up with a violent start and wild frightened eyes.

"Where am I? Where am I? Don't, please!"—and Captain Glynne has his caressing arms thrust away — struck away indeed; and Yolande throws herself into the opposite corner, and gazes out into the gathering darkness.

"What is the matter with you, Yolande?" her husband demands sharply. "Did I startle you? I wasn't aware you were so nervous!"

He moves into the corner-seat his wife has just vacated, and, tilting his hat over his brows, watches her averted face with gleaming eyes.

"We are getting the sting before the honey in this pleasant instance!" he mutters to himself, a sensation of mingled anger, disappointment, and keen mortification thrilling him through and through. He could not have believed that he should feel so at any coldness or caprice of the girl he has married for her money.

"I was asleep. You—you frightened me!" Yolande answers huskily, with her head still averted.

Her poor little foolish womanly heart is in anguish at this moment because of her hasty wrath and repulse of her husband. She did not hear his words; but she saw a blessed glimpse of pitying fondness in his eyes and his soft half-hidden smile, and felt the wooing tenderness of his strong arms enfolding her.

"It looked as if you were, certainly," Captain Glynne retorts drily and contemptuously. "You almost frightened me, bouncing up in that Jack-in-the-box fashion! I was going to tell you," he goes on deliberately, "that if you don't mind, I shall get into the smoking carriage at the next station and remain in it until we come to Canterbury. I want a cigar horribly. If you mind being left, I will send your maid to you."

"No, I don't mind at all," Yolande says in a stifled voice, pressing her face against the glass.

"That's all right then," he returns shortly, settling himself comfortably; and when they arrive at Faversham, he is as good as his word, and, gathering up his traveling rug, he steps out.

"You will be all right now to Canterbury," he says coldly, pausing at the door. "We shall be off in a couple of minutes, and there is no one to get in."

"Oh, yes, thanks, I shall be all right!" Yolande agrees, barely glancing up from the page of her magazine; and Captain Glynne shuts the carriage door and marches off.

She keeps her eyes fixed on the page until the train starts, and then she flings the magazine across the carriage—not that it matters in the least, for she has not read intelligibly one line of the fascinating story, and indeed has been diligently perusing it upside down for the past ten minutes—and, with a bitter cry, throws herself face downwards on the cushion.

"Heaven pity me! Heaven pity me!" the poor girl sobs forlornly.

"How can I live with him like this? I couldn't!—I couldn't! It would kill me, when oh, my darling, I love you so!"

When the train reaches Canterbury, Captain Glynne, in the worst possible temper, returns to the carriage where he left his bride, and, barely vouchsafing her a glance in her distant corner, pulls his traveling cap over his eyes, and wraps his "Maud" around his shoulders, for the night has grown bitterly cold, with a piercing east wind blowing; and so, lugubriously comfortable, they pursue their journey in silence until Dover lights come into view.

In the smoking carriage he was unlucky enough to encounter a City "friend" of his cousin Lyulph Glynne —a keen, shrewd, dashing speculator, a Parisian-American — and an Army man, an acquaintance of his own; and they both congratulated him on his "approaching" marriage.

"Though I was under the impression that the awful deed was done," lisped the beardless Cavalry lieutenant. "Ormond told me ever so long ago that he was to be the 'best man.'"

"I am married," Dallas said coolly, yet shrinking a little from the keen twinkle of the American's eyes, knowing that he had walked into a trap. "My wife is in the next carriage; I have only come in here for a smoke."

He knew that they would see the announcement in The Times the next morning, and draw their own conclusions as to the gallantry of the bridegroom and the amiability of the bride.

But, when Dover is reached, after a choice dinner—served in their own sitting-room—as they were expected at the hotel—followed by a cup of good coffee and a cigarette, Captain Glynne begins to think he must really make an effort to restore his young wife to her usual state of happy fondness for him and blissful enjoyment of his society.

"She is upset about something, I can see plainly—poor little goose!" he says to himself, smiling at the ease with which he can bring sunshine or shadow upon her life's pathway.

He is not in the least apprehensive of non-success, though he knows that Yolande appears curiously feverish, odd, and contradictory in her manner, and that, although she is talking freely and even gaily about their wedding breakfast and the guests, and the weather and the east wind, and the Channel crossing in the morning, her tones are sharp and brief, her smiles few and cold.

She has not changed her dress, but has wound a scarf of soft yellow lace around her throat, and fastened it with a long gold clasp set with rubies. In her brown velvet gown and the yellow lace scarf, with the rubies glittering like points of fire, with her flushed cheeks and fever-bright eyes, she is strangely piquant and pretty, even to the fastidious eyes of Dallas Glynne.

"By Jove, the little woman knows how to dress artistically!" he tells himself, well pleased. "That is a comfort!"

"That is a very pretty gown you are wearing, Yolande," Captain Glynne graciously remarks aloud to his young wife. "Did you choose it yourself?"

"Yes—partly, and partly through mademoiselle's advice," Yolande replies, with a faint smile. "It is a becoming shade and well cut."

"It is," he agrees, rather surprised to find his compliment has not fluttered her with pleasure and gratitude. "Mademoiselle has correct ideas about millinery, if she hasn't about other things," he continues, almost as if he were muttering to himself, whilst he lights another cigarette. "The gowns I saw this morning on your aunt Sarjent and some of those other ladies were enough to give one jaundice! Wasn't it pea-green velvet and some yellow fur Mrs. Sarjent wore?"

"Yes—otherwise emerald velvet and light sable," Yolande replies, with the same chill smile and curling lip. "Aunt Sarjent is a clever, shrewd woman—a good-hearted woman, too; but she possesses no taste in dress. She is vulgar—naturally. We are vulgar people all of us—sprung from the common people, you know."

Captain Glynne crosses his legs, and leans back in his chair, surveying his girlish bride with a satisfied smile and a slight frown.

"You are not vulgar," he says, in accents of reproof, his smile and frown growing more haughty. "You would not be Mrs. Glynne if you were, I can assure you."

"Should I not?" Yolande inquires scornfully, looking at him with eyes that blaze—the handsome, self-satisfied, cold-hearted aristocrat who has sacrificed her to his need for money, and spoiled all her life merely to avoid earning his own livelihood. "Oh, yes, I think I should—no matter how vulgar—in the circumstances!"

She almost hates and despises him at this moment, and yearns fiercely to wound him in some manner to the very core of his selfish heart, to make him taste a little of the misery he has thrust upon her for her daily portion as long as they both sha[illegible]

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

China to Reform Trade Laws.

Shanghai, Aug. 15.—There is a prospect of an early settlement of the controversy between the British and Chinese treaty commissioners, concerning inland navigation. China has agreed to foster inland trade and so states in the treaty. The rules and regulations governing this inland trade have not been made part of the treaty, but have been added to the existing rules made four years ago by the Chinese Foreign Office and the British Minister. No edict has as yet been issued sanctioning the proposed tariff amendments.

A Gruesome Story.

Ottawa, Aug. 16. — A gruesome story comes from the wilds of Gatineau region, where an old man named Samuel Napier, was found dead in a shanty, with his body partly eaten by a dog. It appears that Napier, who was formerly a member of the Provincial Parliament of New Brunswick, had gone out as a shanty man last May. He was all right in June, but recently he was found dead.

READY FOR NAVAL REVIEW

"Bobs" and Kitchener to Receive Dewet, Delarey and Botha.

Fleet Illuminated Friday Night by Way of Rehearsal—Gathering of Royal Personages—Mayor of Portsmouth Gives a Garden Party to 2,000 Guests—King Edward Holds an Investiture on the Royal Yacht.

London, Aug. 16.—Portsmouth is now filled up with visitors who have gone to witness the naval review today. Last night the fleet was illuminated for a little while, by way of rehearsal, and fireworks sent up from Southsea Commons added to the picturesqueness of the scenes.

Several more royal personages joined the royal party off Cowes last evening. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain, Earl Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of the Forces, and General Lord Kitchener reached Southampton yesterday and boarded the steamer Nigeria, upon which the Boer Generals Dewet, Delarey and Botha will be welcomed upon their arrival from South Africa to-day and entertained during the review.

The Lord of the Admiralty arrived at Portsmouth last evening, and boarded the Admiralty yacht Enchantress, which will participate in the naval procession to be reviewed by King Edward.

By sanction of His Majesty, Portsmouth will observe to-day as a coronation holiday. Last night the Mayor of Portsmouth gave a garden party in Victoria Park, at which the 2,000 guests included a number of British and foreign naval officers, and the Japanese Minister to Great Britain, Baron Hayashi Tadasu. The naval suites were especially entertained.

An investiture was held yesterday afternoon on board the royal yacht at Cowes when several gentlemen received coronation honors from His Majesty's hand. Subsequently the party was conveyed to Portsmouth on board the royal yacht Osborne.

UNFEIGNEDLY THANKFUL.

King's Feeling Reply to the City of Portsmouth's Congratulations.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 16. — King Edward's reply to an address from the city of Portsmouth Thursday was handed to the Mayor of Portsmouth yesterday. On behalf of himself and Queen Alexandra, His Majesty thanks the city for its congratulations on his coronation, the recovery of his health and the conclusion of peace, and adds:

"We are unfeignedly thankful for the mercies which it has pleased Almighty God to vouchsafe to us and to our people, and we trust, now that we are happily at peace with all the world, that the recent rejoicings, wherein the whole Empire shared, may send us forward, each in his own station, to work with renewed earnestness for the maintenance and improvement of our noble heritage and the accomplishment of the ends that become a great people. For myself, I shall ever be stimulated in my exertions for the welfare of the Empire by the ineffaceable recollection of a tribute of loyalty and affection, which has touched me deeply."

The King and the Prince of Wales landed at East Cowes yesterday and visited Osborne House. During the morning the King marked the spot occupied by the coffin containing Queen Victoria's body on the deck, of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. A brass cross was set into the deck bearing the words: "Here rested the beloved remains of Queen Victoria from Feb. 1 to Feb. 2, 1901. Born May 24, 1819. Died, Jan. 22, 1901."

King's Gift Stolen.

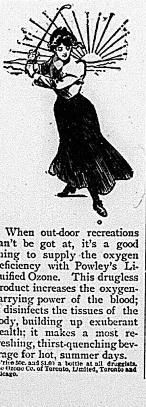
London, Aug. 16.—The medals presented to the Trinidad West African soldiers by King Edward on Tuesday were stolen from the barracks yesterday. The soldiers went to Westminster Abbey, and left their medals at the barracks. When they returned, they found that the decorations had disappeared. No clue to the thief or thieves has yet been obtained.

Hill Cuts Grain Rates.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 16.—J. J. Hill has led a movement to reduce grain rates in Minnesota and the Dakotas. All the roads have followed and the announcement was made yesterday. The reduction is from one-half cent to one and one-half cents a bushel. This will cut from the earnings of the roads about $1,000,000 annually.

The Blood's Life.

Any method that will increase the oxygen nourishment of your blood is good, for oxygen is your blood's life and your body's health.



When out-door recreations can't be got at, it's a good thing to supply the oxygen deficiency with Powley's Liquified Ozone. This drugless product increases the oxygen-carrying power of the blood; it disinfects the tissues of the body, building up exuberant health; it makes a most refreshing, thirst-quenching beverage for hot, summer days.

Price 50c. and $1.00 a bottle at all druggists. The Ozone Co. of Toronto, Limited, Toronto and Chicago.

The Nerves

control the most important functions of the human system. Among the symptoms of nervous exhaustion are "Brain Fag," Mental Depression, Irritability, Insomnia, Prostration, Hysteria, Headache, Flushed Face, Cold Hands and Feet.

IRON-OX

TABLETS

ACT AS A TONIC

increasing nerve energy and force; they also supply nourishment to the nervous system.

Fifty Tablets
For 25 Cents

It Has That Clear Liquor

so appreciated by Japan Tea Drinkers.

"SALADA"

Ceylon GREEN Tea will displace Japan Tea just as "SALADA" Black is displacing all other Black teas. 25c & 40c per lb.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR

Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn

Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon

Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie

Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.
Est'd
1871
Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

FOR dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many excellent qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk.

If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for "CORTICELLI"—the Dressmakers Favorite Spool Silk.

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE

FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

Big Discount Sale

—OF—

Ladies' 'Ready-to-Wear' Summer Skirts

25 per cent. Discount

Commencing Tuesday morning, and for three following days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, we will give a discount of 25 per cent. off all lines of Ladies'

PIQUE, DUCK AND LINEN SKIRTS.

Nothing but this season's goods among the lot, all new styles and well made. Beautifully trimmed and tailor-made styles. This is a great skirt buying opportunity open for the next few days. It will pay you to look through the many lines.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT G. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 310 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

A FINE VARIETY OF ICE CREAMS

For to-night after the Band Concert—
Tutti-frutti,
Neapolitan,
Chocolate with nuts,
Peach, Vanilla, &c.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up, $20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No local charged as less than twenty-five words.

Editorial and important local news on second page.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Nancy O'Carroll, of Thurlow, took place this morning. Services were held at St. Michael's church by Rev. Father O'Brien.

The Harvesters' Excursion leaves here next Wednesday morning at 5.50. Tickets and certificates may be secured at any time before Wednesday. General Conference of Methodist Church Excursion to Winnipeg Aug. 26 to Sept. 16. For full particulars of either of these excursions and for tickets, good to start from Belleville or any C.P.R. station, apply at office of S. Burrows.

Miss Sidna H. Brown, late pupil of Miss Archer, of Toronto, will receive pupils in violin after Sept. 1st, at the residence of C. H. Vermilyea, Bridge St. Arrangements may be made with Miss Brown any time during August.

Miss Pearl M. Vane will receive orders at her home on Mill St. for embroidering, costumes and blouses, with original designs; also point lace, painting in water colors and oils and Pyrography on wood and leather.

14-16

A.O.F. annual excursion to Summerville, Port of Rochester, per steamers North King and Caspian, on Saturday, Aug. 30 and Sunday, Aug. 31, leaving Belleville 11.38 p.m. Fare $1.50. Good to return any time up to Sept. 6th, $2.00.

a9,16,23,26,28d&4tw

Miss Agnes Hanley, A. T. C. M., graduate of Toronto Conservatory of Music, Violin Department, is prepared to receive pupils at her residence, 75 Dunbar St., after Sept. 1st.

a9,12,16,19,23,30,s2,13d&wlt

On receipt of our Company's cheque for a Matured Endowment, a well-known citizen writes; "I am certainly much pleased iwth the outcome of my policy. It indeed proved a profitable investment, in addition to carrying my risk." S. Burrows, Gen. Agt. The Mutual Life Co., of Canada.

ADVERTISERS TIPS.

Reputation rests on the bed-rock of honest dealing.

There is a certain degree of individuality in all good advertising that eludes the grasp of imitators.

"Lest we be forgotten" is an excellent motto for men in trade. It suggests the duty of persistence in advertising. The memory of the public is very short.

The grammar of many adwriters has need to be improved. Word pyrotechnics, bombastic adjectives and concentrated emphasis with vulgar slang do not conceal gross errors in the formation of sentences.

It is most natural that a man should avoid publicity in all things relating to his private life. But the merchant who seeks the same privacy in his business affairs is sure to go to the wall. Publicity is the genius of success in business.

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, that our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Miss Nellie Powell is in Toronto visiting friends.

Miss Evalyn McCarthy's condition is slightly improved this morning.

Miss Florence Hall, of Napanee, is spending this week with friends in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Falls are spending a few days at Cressy, visiting relatives.

Miss May Parks has gone to Peterboro, Lakefield and Keene, to visit relatives.

Mrs. T. Wallace, of Napanee, left for home yesterday, after spending the week, with friends in the city.

Miss Sadie Allen, of Napanee, visiting friends in Campbellford and Belleville, left to-day to spend next week in Picton.

Mr. Geo. Gooderham's yacht, Clorita, which has been cruising in this vicinity for some time, returned yesterday and reports having enjoyed some splendid bass fishing.

Rev. Mr. Holah, formerly Curate of St. Thomas' Church, this city, has been appointed to a lectureship in England in connection with the diocese of Algoma, says a Kingston despatch. He and Mrs. Holah will leave on Sept. 1st for London.

Sports and Pastimes.

BASEBALL.

A team of young baseball enthusiasts from the city went to Madoc yesterday and played a match with a team representing the Juniors of that village. The result was a complete victory for our boys who scored 22 runs to Madoc's 8. The teams were as follows:

Madoc Juniors—F. McMullen, l.f.; J. Drummond, c.f.; G. Bassette, r.f.; D. Guffin, s.s.; R. Embury, 3b.; S. Thompson, 2b.; A. Pine, 1b.; E. Pine, c.; G. Miller, p.

Belleville Juniors.—W. Pepper, l.f.; J. Foley, c.f.; T. Harrison, r.f.; P. Emsley, s.s.; R. Moore, 3b.; W. Robinson, 2b; H. Watkins, 1b.; T. Tuite, c.; H. Pringle, p.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

POINTED PAARGRAPHS.

If a jailbird doesn't fly it isn't his fault.

One way to teach children to be good is to set an example.

To be found in bad company is often an equivalent to being lost.

If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

An enthusiastic man loses his popularity as soon as people get onto him.

Actions may speak louder than words, but you can't make a woman believe it.

A cross old bachelor says the proper way to bring up children is to keep them down on all possible occasions.

If a pessimist happens to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth he naturally expects it to choke him sooner or later.

No woman is a heroine to her dress-maker.

A man isn't necessarily an angel because he flies high.

Most men would rather borrow than be caught begging or stealing.

One active causes of shrinkage in values is the assessor's visit.

The poor girl thinks it positively wicked for a man to marry for money.

It is but natural that the boarding school girl would rather board than keep house after she is married—Chicago News.

"BEST AND CHEAPEST"

Never was a greater truth than when said of Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills. 10c. a vial.

Little priced, little doses, but little terrors to drive out impurities and leave you a clear brain and a bright eye.

Do you suffer from Constipation or other disorder arising from this cause? Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are a safe and pleasant cure. Large size, 25 cents for 100 pills. 53

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

Berlin, Berne and Rome will be connected by telephone in August.

DEATHS.

SMEATON—In the hospital at Airdrie, Scotland, on July 15, 1902, William Smeaton, formerly of Belleville, Ont., in his 51th year.

NEW GOODS.

Here are a few of the many new things which have arrived during the last few days.

Our buyer made several special purchases when in the old country and these goods we are able to mark at much below regular prices.

SILKS

Our silk department has just received several additions to its stock. These consist of Taffeta, Bengaline, Louisine, Peau-de-Soie and Moire Silks. These are bought direct from the factories and will be found exceptionally good value.

—Pure Silk Taffetta, very fine quality, 20 inches wide, special.... 50c

—Heavy Taffeta Silk, 22 inches wide, ... 75c

—Extra Heavy Taffeta, 22 inches wide........ $1.00

FANCY FLANNELETTES

These goods make very pretty and inexpensive waists for the house or street. We have some new ones in which could hardly be distinguished from real flannel, these at...... 12½c

DRESS GOODS

Our new dress goods are arriving, plain goods are mostly in evidence with a few fancy weaves. We will be pleased to have you inspect these from time to time as the new things are opened out.

—52 inch pure wool cheviot in grey and black, a fine quality which will make handsome suits 60c

—Black zebeline stripe, something very new, plain ground with satin camel hair stripe. 50 in. wide, $1.35

—Full assortment of black broadcloth from $1.25 to $2.50

PRINT

We have now in some very pretty patterns in red and yellow print for tie downs. These make a very cheap and serviceable covering.

—Good quality washable print, 27 inches wide 10c

—Best quality washable print, 27 inches wide........ 12½c

FANCY COVERS

A lot of new covers just to hand. These are of colored satin embroidered in gold and silver and are very handsome.

—Fancy satin doylie, 9 inches square, embroidered in gold and silver, 45c

—Embroidered yellow satin doylie, pattern in silver of vines and leaves, 12"x12" 75c

—Green satin table cover, plain centre border embroidered in gold and silver, one of the prettiest covers we have ever seen $4.50

TRIMMING

Just in, something very special in fancy material for yokes or other trimmings.

—40 inch embroidered chiffon in blue, pink, black, mauve, heliotrope and black and white, very pretty ... 50c

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

Farmers' Institutes for Women

What the Farmers' Institutes have done for the farmers so the Women's Institutes hope to do for the farmers' wives and daughters. Two years ago the Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes made arrangements and called meetings of farmers' wives in different parts of the province, and as a result there are now 42 organized Women's Institutes, with a total membership of 3,048.

A hand book of Women's Institutes has just been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture for use at the meetings during the coming fall and winter. It contains specimen programmes for women's gatherings; it suggests topics of study; it contains lists of good books, bulletins and other publications that should be helpful in the home. In addition to this, there are leading articles by Canadian and American authors on subjects relating to the home, care and furnishing of the house, care of children, treatment of servants, housekeeping as a profession, housekeeping in the country, etc.

Mrs. Martha Van Rensselaer, of Cornell University, contributes an article on "Saving Steps," which contains many useful hints in reference to economizing time and money in the home. "How to Build the Farm Home" is discussed at length, and illustrations of convenient country houses are given, together with the plan of construction, cost of material, etc. "A Simple Method of Disposing of House Sewage on the Farm" has been written by an officer in the Department of Public Works, Ontario. This most important topic is given the attention it deserves, and plans are shown for cheap and convenient methods of disposing of all house wastes.

The pamphlet concludes with descriptions and illustrations of methods of home adornment with flowers. Photographs are shown of porch and yard decorations and the book generally will be appreciated by all who may read it.

During a recent cyclone at Karachi, British India, trains were stopped by the force of the wind, which blew at the rate of 100 miles an hour.

DAY OF IMPROVEMENTS

NATHAN JONES.

ALTERATION SALE

Many improvements are under way on Front St. and we are in the procession. Carpenters, painters, masons and paper hangers are at work and when through our store will present a fine, modern appearance. In the meantime we are topsy turvy, but in it all we will hold an "alteration sale."

SPECIAL BARGAINS

We reduce prices on Muslins, Ginghams, Percales, Galateas, etc., to clear them out. Ginghams that were 12½c and 15c for 10c. A lot of nice Percales to go at 10c. Bargains will be found in every department during this "Alteration Sale."

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

MIXED TEAS

Are becoming more generally used every day. We have several special blends of our own that will give entire satisfaction to our customers—especially our celebrated 30c and 40c mixed tea. We also can blend any tea your taste calls for.

"Our Own Baking Powder" out-rivals them all—10c, 15c and 25c per tin. Try it.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1902. NO. 91

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Stricken With Paralysis

Some time ago Mrs. Wm. Watkins, who resides on the lower part of Front street, near the wharf, had a stroke of paralysis, and on Saturday evening she had another stroke. Her condition at present is critical.

No woman is a heroine to her dress-maker.

A man isn't necessarily an angel because he flies high.

Toronto Mystery Being Traced Up

Certain Articles Offered for Sale in the Queen City.

The "Hornets" May Be Asked to Tell What They Know of Certain Transactions—This May Lead to Several Arrests—Detectives Have Names.

Toronto, August 18.—The city detective force is working on a clue that promises to fasten the crime of robbery on the person or persons guilty of taking articles from the Evans warehouse. While this line is merely incidental to the affair of May 30, when a burglar was discover- in the Front street drug house working on the safe and attempting to fire the building, it is calculated to lead to developments of a more or less interesting character, and, possibly, to the arrest of this man and his companions in crime.

The police have several clues showing where articles have been disposed of in Toronto during the past five months, which were undoubtedly stolen from a stock similar to that carried by the Evans & Sons' house. The location of these articles will result in the arrest of the parties who disposed of them, unless they tell from whom they obtained the goods. In that event, the people supplying the goods will be required to explain the source from which they were secured, and, failing in this, will themselves be forced to defend themselves against a charge of larceny. This will bring the matter home to someone, and the police are sanguine of early results along this line before Sept. 12, the date for another session of the jury handling the inquest over the remains of George Whalley, the Evans packer, who died under circumstances indicating murder, on July 19.

Detectives Have Names.

Around Toronto Junction during the past six months, a large number of such articles as fine hair brushes, tooth brushes, bottles of cologne, combs, puff boxes, fine soaps, packages of dye stuffs, toilet articles of considerable value, have been offered for sale and disposed of at ridiculously low prices. Boys and tramps have usually offered these things in that section, and the names of some of the parties who had the goods in their possession have been secured by the detectives.

The "Hornet" Gang.

About five months ago one of the young fellows identified with the "Hornet" gang was caught with a companion in a business house in the centre of the city late in the evening. The campanion was employed in the place, and the proprietor discovered that the boys had a key to the front door. Their explanation of their presence there at that hour to the proprietor was that they had merely gone in to get something which belonged to the boy who was working there. There was no evidence that they were there for any illegal purpose, but the fact that the boys had a key to the place was a disturbing factor to the proprietor, but the father of one of the boys settled the matter to the satisfaction of the house. One of these boys was then a companion of the "Hornets," and still is classed by them as a member. In this same house one of the employees had an article that came from a drug stock, and, when asked where he got it, declared that he had gotten it from an employee of Evans & Sons. It was remarked by an employee of this same place that other articles from the Evans stock had been seen around that place.

Burglar a Young Man.

It is a matter of police record that Watchman Johnson and C.P.R. Detective Turner both assert positively that the man they saw in the Evans warehouse the evening of May 30, was a young man. He could not have been more than 20, if that old.

In any event, the detectives believe that the "Hornets," who had the notions which they offered for sale around the city some time prior to that, can tell a good deal, when they are forced, as to the manner in which they came into possession of the articles.

THE CAUSE OF DYSPEPTIC PAINS.

Improperly digested food usually forms gases that cause a painful distention of the stomach and pressure against the heart. This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Cramps, Summer Complaint and all Stomach and Bowel Troubles. No household as complete without Nerviline. Try a 25c bottle.

ASSAULTED HIS WIFE AND OFFICER

WESLEY HOWELL CAUSES A LIVELY SCENE ON FRONT STREET.

Wesley Howell, who resides in West Belleville, was on Saturday evening in a fighting mood, and as a result got himself in more trouble than was necessary. It appears that he had had some trouble with his wife and in consequence she had a warrant issued for his arrest. Shortly before 8 o'clock Officer Hayes, whilst on duty on Front street, saw Howell and arrested him. The accused desired to know why he was arrested and the warrant was read to him. He asked the officer if he might speak to his wife, who was near by, and assent being given he approached Mrs. Howell and asked her if she had the warrant issued for his arrest. Being answered in the affirmative he struck the woman a severe blow in the face with his fist. The officer then took hold of Howell, and as he did so, the man dealt him a blow under the left eye causing an abrasion of the cheek. Howell was speedily conveyed to the police station and locked up. At the time there was a large number of persons in the vicinity and the occurrence caused considerable excitement and comment.

Howell will be locked up until tomorrow morning when he will be brought before the Magistrate and answer to two charges, namely: assaulting his wife, and assaulting an officer whilst in the discharge of his duty.

Death of an Aged Resident

Mr. Jeremiah Driscoll, aged 80 years, died on Saturday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Wood, Franck street. Deceased had been a resident of the city for some time. The funeral took place this morning to St. Micheal's church, where services were held by Rev. Father O'Brien.

Yacht Upset at Stella

A sailing yacht containing Warren Lockett, Miss Edna Lockett, Edward Cousins, Kingston, and Mr. Bellhouse, Napanee, upset off Stella on Wednesday, and the occupants didn't turn a somersault on dry land, either, or mysteriously re-apper in the boat. They went where all other capsized sailors go—into the deep, blue sea. Mr. Cousins was skipper, but the wind did the cleverer manoeuvring, and it was all over with the happy party. Miss Lockett, who can swim, was not inconvenienced, but climbed with her dripping comrades on the top of the upturned boat, and waited patiently for the rescuing contingent. It soon came, Garnet Lockett and Mr. Irving, of Napanee, propelling a row-boat to their friends at sea. After a snapshot photograph was taken a bee-line was made for shore.—Kingston Whig.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

YESTERDAY IN CITY CHURCHES

Notes of Services in Belleville's Different Places of Worship Yesterday

Bridge Street.

Rev. Dr. Galbraith occupied the pulpit in the morning and gave an able and forcible sermon, relating to the trials of Job. His text was from Job, 13th chapter and the first clause of the 15th verse:

"Though He slay me, yet will I trust Him."

During the service a solo was rendered by Mr. Peter Forin, with good effect. In the evening the Rev. M. J. Bates preached, and a solo was sung by Dr. Jessop.

Bleeker Street.

At the morning service the Pastor, Rev. M. J. Bates, officiated and preached. In the evening Mr. A. W. Vermilyea conducted services and preached. His text was from Hebrews, 11th chapter and last clause of the 16th verse:

"Wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he hath prepared for them a city."

Tabernacle.

The Pastor, Rev. J. H. Locke, preached at both services yesterday to good congregations. In the morning his text was from the 92nd Psalm and 12th verse:

"The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree; he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon."

St. Andrew's.

The Pastor, Rev. M. W. Maclean, preached at both services yesterday, and his discourses were able and instructive. In the morning the text was from 1st Peter, 5th chapter and 10th verse:

"But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto His eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you."

Baptist.

Rev. E. G. Smith, M.D., who has been for some years a medical missionary in India, occupied the pulpit at this church yesterday. In the morning he gave an instructive Bible reading, and in the evening an interesting discourse relating to Canadian Baptist missionary work in India.

St. John's.

The pulpit of this church was yesterday occupied by the Rector, Rev. Rural Dean Bogert. In the morning his text was from St. Mark, 7th chapter and 21st verse:

"For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders."

John Street.

There were good congregations present at the services yesterday which were conducted by the Pastor, Rev. A. H. Drumm. Both discourses by the Rev. gentleman were of a high order and much appreciated. In the evening the text was from Habakkuk, 2nd chapter and 3rd verse:

"For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak and not lie; though it tarry wait for it; because it will surely come it will not tarry."

At the evening service Mrs. Grant sang: "I will give you Rest."

Christ Church.

In the absence of the Rector yesterday, the Rev. W. Fleming, of Shannonville, officiated and preached at both services, his discourses being much appreciated. At the evening service Mr. E. S. McCready, of Buffalo, sang very acceptably a solo entitled "Forever with the Lord."

Emmanuel R. E. Church.

Rev. Geo. Worrell, of Philadelphia, preached at both services in the above church yesterday, the Rector, Rev. Mr. Gilliland, being absent on his vacation. At the morning service the text was from the last two verses of Jude, the discourse being a powerful and impressive one.

Holloway Street.

The services at this church yesterday were well attended. The Pastor, Rev. J. R. Real, preached at both services. In the evening his text was from Daniel, 5th chapter and 27th verse:

"Thou art weighed in the balance and art found wanting."

At the evening service Miss Myrtle Clow, of Picton, sang "Outside the Gates of Paradise," and Miss Watson sang "The Handwriting on the Wall." Both solos were well rendered.

St. Thomas'.

At the morning service the Rev. Mr. Belt, Rector of the St. James' church, Guelph, preached, and in the evening the Rector, Rev. G. R. Beamish, preached. The latter's subject was in reference to church service. The text was from the 90th Psalm and 17th verse:

"And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; the work of our hands establish thou it."

At the morning service Mr. McCready, of Buffalo, sang, and in the evening a sacred recital was given after the service, at which Miss H. Clayton, of Ottawa, violiniste; Mr. Shanklin, of Chicago, vocalist, and Mr. Campbell, formerly organist of St. Martin's church, Montreal, took part.

CUPID'S ADVICE
"GIVE THE BABIES NESTLE'S FOOD."

Nestlé's Food

is a perfect Infant's Food because it contains all the elements necessary to nourish and strengthen. It is invaluable as a preventive of Cholera Infantum and Summer Complaints.

In order that every mother may prove its virtues for herself, we will send a sample—enough for eight meals—free on request.

LEEMING, MILES & CO., SOLE AGENTS,
MONTREAL.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Moderate to fresh variable winds, unsettled, occasional showers. Tuesday, still unsettled.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	58
12 m.	62
2 p.m.	65
3 p.m.	66

OPENED A SACK OF FLEAS

PANIC IN ALLEGHENY POST OFFICE—SHIPMENT WAS MADE FOR NEW YORK.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 16.—Postmaster Grier, of Allegheny, has sent to V. J. Bradley, manager of the railway mail service in New York, a telegraphic request for an investigation and the immediate punishment of the clerk who is guilty of a joke played on the Allegheny Post Office. A "tie sack" from New York was opened in the Post Office to-day, and immediately thousands of fleas jumped out. All the clerks began to scratch themselves and the women clerks fled to the dressing room and would not go back to work for two hours.

A Quiet Home Wedding

A quiet wedding took place this morning at the residence of Mr. Charles Cook, North Front street, when his daughter, Miss Edith, became the wife of Mr. George Miller, of Toronto. Rev. J. H. Locke performed the ceremony. Miss Grace Cook, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. George Cook, of Toronto, was best man. After the wedding repast, Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for New Hampshire, where they intend to reside.

THE PENALTY OF A FAST LIFE.

Is paid for by an irritable condition of body and mind, by exhausted energy, poor digestion, unstrung nerves and broken sleep. If you must and will live the killing pace, better keep in mind the sustaining powers of Ferrozone, a wonderful tonic and reconstructor. Ferrozone is a blood maker, a nerve strengthener, a heart and brain invigorator. It creates appetite, insures perfect digestion and undisturbed sleep, restores the vitality and strength lost by excessive living very quickly. Ferrozone will do you inestimable good, try it. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or J. S. McKeown.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Getting Ready for Fall Goods

We are now opening our New Fall Goods. This means we must have room, and to make room for the New Goods we offer the following lines at exactly Half Price:

Ladies' Colored Cotton Shirt Waists will sell at	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Shirt Waists	Half Price
Ladies' Colored Cotton Costumes	Half Price
Ladies' White Pique Skirts	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Dress Skirts	Half Price
One Table of fancy Dress Muslins	Half Price
Ladies Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Children's Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Colored Leather Belts	Half Price
Fancy Belt Buckles	Half Price
All Fancy Parasols	Half Price

New Silk Waists

We have just opened some very pretty Styles in Ladies' Black, White and Colored Silk Waists at $4.00 4.50, $5.00, $5.50, $6.00 and $6.50.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

SURPRISE SURPRISE

SURPRISE SOAP
is Pure Hard Soap.

SURPRISE SURPRISE

GORMAN'S
THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

SHOE REPAIRING

We have established a shoe repairing department in connection with our business. When you have any mending work to be done, leave it at the repair department of the Corner Shoe House. We guarantee

FIRST CLASS WORK.

Richard Black, who is in charge of this department, is A FIRST CLASS shoemaker in every respect. He has had over TWENTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE in this line.

If you desire neat, reliable work at moderate charges
BRING YOUR REPAIRING HERE.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR
Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn

Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon

Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie

Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.

Est'd
1871

Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co.
Yards—Foot Front St.
Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

A MIGHTY FLEET'S GREETING

Guns of 100 Warships, Throats of 50,000 Jack Tars.

Thunder Welcome and Unite in an Inspiring Chorus of Cheers as King Edward as Admiral Reviews the Whole of the Naval Domestic Force—Ships Make a Brave Show of Well-nigh Omnipotent Power.

Portsmouth, Eng., Aug. 18.—King Edward completed the program of the Coronation festivities Saturday by reviewing the fleet for the first time since his accession. From a spectacular point of view the assemblage of a hundred and odd war vessels in the Roadstead off Spithead was a magnificent show.

The display represented merely the home fleet, not a single vessel having been withdrawn from the foreign station to participate in the pageant.

The day opened fine. There was an immense influx of visitors. The watchers of the Solent were covered with pleasure craft of every variety, from the tiny canoe to the big excursion steamer, and every vantage point on shore was covered with spectators. At 8 a.m., in response to a signal, the fleet broke out flags, and in the space of a minute the lines of black hulls were transformed into parti-colored lanes of fluttering bunting.

Royal Sovereign Flagship.

Simultaneously the pennant of Admiral Sir Charles Hotham, the commander-in-chief of Portsmouth, was flung out from the peak of the Royal Sovereign, which on Saturday acted as flagship of the fleet, five under-admirals' flags were also in view in different sections of the parade. The five lines in which the fleet was moored were located midway between the Isle of Wight and the mainland. Nearest to the Portsmouth shore were the special service vessels and yachts and a few distinguished visiting vessels, headed by the conspiruous white hull of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, Asaschio. The next line was made up of thirty-two British torpedo boat destroyers.

The Foreign Men of War.

Then there was a line of cruisers and gunboats. Then a double line of battleships and finally another line of cruisers. Another parallel line nearest to the Isle of Wight, was made up of foreign men of war, including two Japanese cruisers, the Asama and Takasago; the Italian armored cruiser, Carlo Alberto, and the Portuguese cruiser, Dom Carlos I. The precaution had been taken to compel all vessels to burn smokeless coal, but as the day advanced a haze spread over the water and scurrying small craft frequently disappeared in banks of mist.

Victoria and Albert Under Weigh.

At 12.30 p.m. the lines of the fleet closed, the guard boats drove all unauthorized craft out of the forbidden area and promptly at two o'clock the royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, with King Edward, Queen Alexandra and other royal personages on board, slowly got under weigh. This movement was signalled by a gunshot from the Royal Sovereign and thousands of Jackies swarmed over the decks' superstructures and fighting tops and manned ship in honor of their approaching Majesties. Then came the firing of the royal salute of twenty-one guns.

Fleet's Mighty Greeting.

The demonstration began just as the King's yacht, escorted by four smaller craft, approached the first line of the fleet. One hundred royal salutes, all fired at once, made a thunderous volume of sound such as was never before heard, save on a few great battlefields. The air was literally torn and rent until one felt its agitation in fitul pulsations as it beat against the face. The guns remained silent while the review was actually in progress.

Every man of the nearly 50,000 who lined the sides of the hundred warships was able to recognize the King as he stood amid a group of half-a-dozen on the bridge of the Victoria and Albert. He was dressed in an admiral's uniform and returned each ship's salute as he passed slowly up one line and down another. The vessels were moored only a ship's length apart, but it required two and a half hours to pass them all and reach the assigned anchorage.

A Cheer From 50,000 Throats.

Then came what was the most impressive feature of the day. It was simply one mighty cheer from 50,000 throats given on a signal from every ship in the fleet. It was a stupendous and inspiring chorus. It rolled from ship to ship, from shore to shore, mounted into the heavens and seemed to come back almost as a celestial echo. Twice 50,000 more who filled every manner of spectators' craft took up the cry, until it became a great diapason which was like the voice of a nation in united acclamation.

It was a crowning tribute of loyalty such as no man, be he King and Emperor or the humblest subject, could listen to unmoved, and, hearing, could ever forget. It is said that the King was deeply impressed, and gave earnest expression of his feeling to the flag officers of the fleet, whom he immediately summoned to come aboard his vessel to receive his thanks and congratulations. This ended the day's spectacle.

Wet Night for Illumination.

By 8 o'clock nearly all the guests had departed. The clouds which the firing of salutes had brought down looked threatening and shortly afterward a storm broke, with vivid flashes of lightning, sharp rolls of thunder and a deluge of rain. It came down in sheets. To get on the deck by 10 o'clock to see the illumination meant wet feet and wet everything. Nothing but oilskins could protect one against such a deluge, but the sight repaid one for the wetting.

Thousands of persons, who were expectantly awaiting the illumination of the fleet off Spithead to-night, not only were disappointed, but were drenched and bedraggled by a thunderstorm and rainfall of almost phenomenal suddenness and violence. The storm broke just as the signal for the illumination was given and the crowds ashore and afloat stampeded for shelter.

Searchlights at Midnight.

The storm continued for an hour. After that the night was fair and the illumination was carried out and was witnessed by thousands who re-appeared upon the shore. A rocket was sent up from the royal yacht, and a moment later the dim outline of the yacht burst out in thousands of incandescent lights. This was the signal for the hundreds of other ships, and, as if by magic, the entire fleet was illuminated in a great blaze of light. The sudden change from dusky shadows of battleships to one of electric brilliancy had a startling effect on the crowds, and they made manifest their delight by rounds of cheers.

The searchlights were still gleaming when the royal salute was fired at midnight. Then all were extinguished, save that on the royal yacht, which remained gittering.

The Assembled Vessels.

Battleships: Majestic, Magnificent, Prince George, Mars, Jupiter, Hannibal, Nile, Trafalgar, Sans Pareil, Empress of India, Revenge, Resolution, Collingwood, Anson, Benbow, Camperdown, Devastation, Edinburgh, Conqueror, Dreadnaught and Royal Sovereign.

Cruisers: Sutlej, Niobe, Doris, Furious, Pactolus, Premetneus, Australia, Galatea, Severn, Melampus, St. George, Hyacinth, Juno, Minerva, Brilliant, Rainbow, Apollo, Andromache, Narcissus, Immortalite, Crescent, Endymion, Hawke and Scylla.

Torpedo gunboats and small craft: Sanker, Alarm, Shipjack, Hebe, Speedwell, Renard, Circe, Jason, Grasshopper, Antelope, Gleaner, Sheldrake, Sharpshooter, Seagull and Hazard.

Training ships: Calliope, Cleopatra, Northampton, Seaflower, Dolphin, Wanderer, Martin, Nautilus, Pilot, Liberty.

Destroyers, twenty-four; torpedo boats, seven, and eight tenders.

TWENTY-THREE DROWNED.

Two Barques Wrecked Off the Coast of South Africa.

Cape Town, Aug. 18.—As the result of a storm which has just swept over here, the British barque Highlands, Capt. Smith, from New York, July 10, for East London, and the British barque Brutus, Capt. Dallachie, from London, June 3, for Table Bay, have been wrecked off this coast: the British transport City of Lincoln is ashore, and the German steamer Kaiser, from Hamburg, July 15, for East Africa, has been damaged.

Chief Officer Bourke of the Highlands says that the barque sank almost instantly and that twenty-three of the crew were drowned. The captain, ten men and himself clung to the bridge, which floated, but the captain and others were washed off. Bourke and two other men were rescued after having been six hours in the water.

Highfields, Not Highlands.

Cape Town, Aug. 17.—It was the barque Highfields, and not the Highlands, that foundered off this coast.

MOTHER KILLS HER DAUGHTER.

Crazed by the Death of Husband She Uses an Ax.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 18.—A frightful murder was committed here Saturday morning by Mrs. Fleming, an old woman, over 50 years of age, whose husband had called to her to take her daughter, 24 years of age, and join him in Heaven. The crazed woman stole to her daughter's bed as the girl was sleeping, and crashed her skull in with an ax. After killing her daughter, the old woman went into the garden and tried to bury herself. The girl was to leave Saturday morning for a little town up the island, where she had received an appointment as school teacher. Both mother and daughter were very devout church-goers.

Express Train Wrecked.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—George W. Farris, 21 years old, of Cave City, Ky., was killed, and his brother, Daniel E. Farris, 28 years old, of Millett, Mich., was fatally injured by a railroad accident at Hammond, Ind., yesterday. They were on a Chicago and Erie Railroad freight train which was standing on the tracks at Hammond when it was crashed into by an excursion train. The excursion train had 600 passengers from Southern Onio, and was running 40 miles an hohr. Several of the excursionists were painfully cut and bruised. The locomotive and the baggage car of the excursion train were badly wrecked.

To Make White Metal.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich, Aug. 18.—The announcement was made Saturday of the immediate building of a big factory to manufacture white metal. The Power Company provides a site at the east end of the American Soo. Nickel for the plant is to be supplied by the Clergue mines at Sudbury, Ont. The company building the proposed plant is composed of eastern men not previously identified with the Clergue interests in the two Soos.

No New Evidence in Quirk Case.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—Provincial Detective John Murray will go to Brantford this afternoon to attend the adjourned sitting of the Quirk murder inquest. It is understood that the Crown has no new evidence to lay before the jury and will ask for another adjournment.

Military Hospital Is Bad.

London, Aug. 18.—Queen Alexandra and Sir Frederick Treves recently paid a surprise visit to the Netley Military Hospital, and, as a result, have severely criticised the treatment of the patients. The matter is being brought to the notice of the War Office.

Hopetoun Did Not Resign.

Montreal, Aug. 18. — Lord Hopetoun, who retired from the Governorship of Australia, reached here yesterday, en route for New York and England. He declared that he did not resign, but that things had been made so unpleasant he had been recalled by the Imperial authorities.

SHE DRANK CARBOLIC ACID

Mrs. Emma Carnaby, of Toronto, Ends Her Suffering Life.

Moses Wilson, of Henderson Mills, Ont., Has His Neck Broken at Malone, N.J.—A Lake Captain Dies From Blood Poisoning From a Barley "Beard"—Richest Man in Carnegie, Pa., Offers $100,000 For His Life, But Dies.

C. L. Tiffany of New York, left $9,638,662 to his children.

F. W. Puttee, M. P., and Ralph Smith, M.P., have returned to Ottawa from London.

Sunday His Holiness Pope Leo held the great name reception for over 300 visitors and was not tired.

The heirs of the late J. J. Vickers have donated ten acres of ground to Fort William for park purposes.

Muzaffa-Ed-Din, Shah of Persia, arrived at Dover at noon Saturday on board the steamer Empress from Calais.

Mrs. Emma Carnaby, a Toronto widow, despondent over her ill-health, committed suicide on Saturday by drinking carbolic acid.

The London Times correspondent in Wellington announces that the Right Hon. R. J. Seddon, Premier of New Zealand, has refused a baronetcy.

The annual report of the Drury Lane Theatre printed Saturday in London shows that the profits during the past year amounted to £40,814.

Cholera reports show few cases of the disease at Manila, but a large number in some provinces. The total number of cases reported to date is 23,636 with 17,596 deaths.

At Medicine Hat, N.W.T., anyone can get gas by boring 600 feet for it. There is lots of it and the town is arranging to distribute it for general use at a very low price.

John Henry, the richest man in Carnegie, Pa., was struck by a train and fatally injured. As he lay dying he offered $100,000 to anyone who would save his life. He died.

A special from Malone, N.Y., says that Moses Wilson of Henderson Mills, Ont., was thrown from his carriage Saturday night and had his neck broken. He was 60 years of age.

Le Courier of St. Hyacinthe, Que., says Hon. Mr. Tarte has the ambition to become Sir Wilfrid Laurier's successor, and that he is working to that end. Sir Wilfrid may go on the bench.

Capt. Thos. A. Brown, a well-known vesselman, died at St. Catherines on Saturday from blood-poisoning from the scratch of a barley "beard" in the throat. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

An attempt was made at noon on Saturday to rob the G.T.R. passenger depot at Guelph. The burglar was arrested and gave his name as George Wilson, Detroit. When caught he had pried the till open.

Judge Morgan of Toronto, accepted bail for the appearance of George Clark of Pittsburg in an extradition case on Saturday. This is the first time in the history of extradition cases in Canada that this has been done.

Twelve-year-old Stanley Slithson of Terra Cotta, Peel County, was taking down a gun from a shelf at his home, when the weapon struck a chair and exploded. The charge entered his right arm at the elbow. He was taken to Toronto.

Skaguay's earthquake occurred while the people were at church, and terrorized the congregations. Crockery was broken and chimneys toppled over. The water in Lynn Canal rose five feet in a few seconds, and as suddenly subsided. Several boats were damaged. Str. Amur brought the news to Vancouver, B.C.

BASEBALL.

Saturday Games.

Eastern League.

Newark 3, Toronto 2.
Jersey City 3, Montreal 1.
Worcester 1, Buffalo 3.
Rochester 6, Providence 9.

National League.

Boston 3, Cincinnati 1.
Pittsburg 4, Philadelphia 2.
Pittsburg 6, Philadelphia 2.
Chicago 3, New York 6.
St. Louis 10, Brooklyn 4.

American League.

Philadelphia 2, Chicago 1.
Boston 7, Detroit 1.
Baltimore 5, St. Louis 12.
Washington 3, Cleveland 4.

Sunday Games.

Eastern League.

Newark 3, Toronto 8.
Jersey City 4, Montreal 1.
Providence 3, Rochester 1.

National League.

Cincinnati 2, Pittsburg 1.
St. Louis 7, Brooklyn 7. 18 ins. Darkness.
Chicago 2, New York 3.
Chicago 1, New York 3.

Eastern League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Toronto	62	31	.666
Buffalo	60	38	.612
Worcester	52	44	.541
Jersey City	52	49	.515
Providence	50	48	.510
Rochester	41	53	.437
Montreal	41	59	.410
Newark	29	68	.299

National League Record.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Pittsburg	71	23	.755
Brooklyn	55	45	.550
Chicago	51	45	.531
Boston	49	44	.527
Cincinnati	44	51	.463
St. Louis	45	53	.459
Philadelphia	38	60	.388
New York	32	64	.333

American League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Philadelphia	53	40	.570
St. Louis	53	41	.564
Boston	55	44	.556
Chicago	52	43	.552
Cleveland	48	51	.485
Washington	45	53	.459
Baltimore	40	57	.412
Detroit	39	56	.411

General French's Command.

London, Aug. 18.—Gen. French is expected to take over command at Aldershot about Sept. 15, thus replacing Gen. Buller.

HERESY TO CALL AT SYDNEY.

Hon. Mr. Tarte Says It Would Mean a Loss of Days.

Montreal, Aug. 18. — Hon. Mr. Tarte being interviewed upon his return from the Lower Provinces states emphatically that to insist upon Montreal as the summer terminus of the Atlantic fast line, would jeopardize the whole project. Comparing Sydney with Quebec, the Minister calculates that the difference in favor of the Cape Breton port would be but one day's traveling on the I. C. R. at 25 miles an hour, and he asks if any one in order to gain one hour in a voyage of six days would consent to shut themselves up in a railway car for 23 hours. It should be said, however, that Mr. Tarte has made no calculation for any less speed than 20 knots an hour, right up to Quebec, night and day.

Being asked what he thought of Sydney as a port of call, the Minister replied that it was a heresy, that it would be a loss of one or two days, and would mean the failure of the enterprise. Halifax in winter and Quebec in summer is Mr. Tarte's battle cry.

EXCESSIVE STEAMBOAT RACING.

Cambria in a Contest That Created a Panic Aboard.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Aug. 18.—Complaints have been filed with United States Collector Kellogg of this port against excessive steamboat racing by excursion steamers on the St. Lawrence river.

Captain John Hatch and the crew of the steamer Mary, were summoned before him yesterday for racing through the swift and dangerous waters of the rapids with the Canadian tug Cambria.

While in treacherous waters the boats came so close the excurstionists could touch hands. Women fainted and a panic ensued. Ex-Collector W. H. Daniels is the principal complainant, and charges the Mary with carrying 125 pounds of steam, when the steamer's certificate shows only 110. Steamboat Inspectors Multher and Chestnut have been called upon to investigate the matter.

FIVE WARSHIPS AT ST. JOHN'S.

Admiral Douglas in the Colony re, French Shore Fishing.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 18.— The British cruiser Ariadne, flagship of Rear Admiral A. L. Douglas, one of the Lords of the Admiralty, arrived here last evening, making the port in a dense fog. The Ariadne was escorted by the British cruiser Indefatigable. Awaiting Admiral Douglas' arrival here, were the British cruiser Charybdis, the sloop Alert, and the Special service steamer Columbine, all under the command of Capt. Montgomery of the Charybdis and the French cruiser Isly and the despatch boat Manche, under the command of Commodore Montferrand. Together these seven warships form the largest fleet which has been here for many years past. Admiral Douglas has come to the colony to discuss the French shore fishery question.

HOG CHOLERA IN LONDON.

Whole Herd of Seventeen Killed—Other Cases Named.

London, Aug. 18.—A bad case of hog cholera developed on the farm of Frank P. Chantler, just south of the city, and necessitated the destruction of his whole held of 17 hogs. The animals were noticed to be off feed and sick, and D. J. H. Tennant, V. S., was called in. He found the animals suffering from hog cholera. The herd was consequently killed with the least possible delay. The cholera has appeared in several places in this neighborhood of late. One herd, on concession 4, and another on concession 2 of London Township were destroyed recently. A few weeks ago Robert Hill of East London lost his herd of 46.

Smothered in a Cave-in.

Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—A distressing accident happened to the family of C. R. Rankin, in Lyonshall district, near Killarney, in which two sons, Harold, aged 4, and Robert, aged 6, were smothered to death by the cave-in of the sand pit on which they were playing.

Wreck of Islander Located.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 18.— The Northern has brought the news of the location of the wreck of the Islander, the vessel which went down with all on board some time ago.

Fined for Running Sunday.

Owen Sound, Aug. 18.—Magistrate Spencer gave his decision in the Sunday ferry case Saturday. He found against the defendants, the Ferry Company, fining them $40 and costs.

Baby's Food

can be purified and sterilized by

Powley's Liquified Ozone.

From 2 to 5 drops of Ozone to a bottle of milk will make the little one well.

Your druggist has it.
50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R.C.S., England.

Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER

Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte. may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—2 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,

Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.,
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.

Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.

Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 5 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.

JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian . . .	Est'd 1821
The North America, .	Est'd 1792
Quebec, . . .	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.

R. W. ADAMS. Agent.

Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult

W. J. THOMSON,

who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:

ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE.
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. [illegible]

THOS. STEWART,

Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Ins Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned

I can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.

The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.

Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies. Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.

Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.

Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont.
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto.
North British & Mercantile.

Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.

W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses.
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St.
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

Why Tramps Would Not Stop at an Ohio Farmhouse.

"I thought to try a little experiment on tramps," said the Ohio farmer, "and I put up signs all along the road inviting them to call at my place. I had plenty of work for all who wanted it and was willing to give every one a fair show. They read the signs, and they came my way, but they didn't stop. They'd call at every other farmhouse, but they passed me by as if we had the smallpox. One evening I stood at the gate as one approached, and when he came up I asked:

"'Did you see my signs along the road?'

"'Plenty of 'em,' he replied.

"'Goin' to stop?'

"'Not on your life.'

"'I can give you supper and a good place to sleep.'

"'Don't want it.'

"'See here,' I continued as he began to walk away, 'what's the matter that all you tramps pass me by? I don't look like a man up to tricks, do I?'

"'I can't say you do, but we ain't takin' no risks, you understand.'

"'Risks of what?'

"'Why, I guess the crowd thinks you are one of them fellers who invites a tramp in to supper and then keeps him at family prayers for an hour and a half afterward in order to get even with him.'" M. QUAD.

The Trappists.

Many letters come to the monastery announcing the death of relatives of the monks; these are seen by the abbot only, and at chapter he may simply announce: "The mother of one of our number is dead; let us pray for her soul."

Never to his dying day does the bereaved Trappist learn that he was praying for his own mother.

A Choice of Evils

"But why does he allow his wife to be so extravagant if he can't afford it?" "Oh, well, I suppose he would rather have trouble with his creditors than with his wife!"—Sketchy Bits.

Vacation Time.

Hey for the out of town summer resort!
Hey for the place where the lucky disport!
Hey for the mountain and hey for the lake!
Hey for the earwig, the ant and the snake!
Hey for the beds that are lumpy and rough!
Hey for the beefsteak so horribly tough!
Hey for the skeeters, the chiggers and flies!
Hey for the joys that the country supplies!

Think of the bliss that we shortly shall know!
Think of the blisters we'll get when we row!
Think of the blossoms in the woodlands so gay!
Think of the hours we'll find in a day!
Think how at dawn rise the cackles and crows!
Think of the skin that will peel from your nose!
Think of all this while beginning to pack!
Think how blamed glad we shall be to get back!

Sad is their lot who in town here must stay,
Getting their eggs and milk fresh each day,
Getting fresh fruits, also fresh garden sass,
Going to shows their dull hours to pass,
Blighted with bathtubs, tormented with ice,
Cursed with all comforts not barred by the price!
It is sad to reflect that they're missing the sport
That we lucky ones get at the summer resort.

—Chicago News.

Was in Four Hospitals,

DOCTORS SAID I WOULD NEVER BE WELL AGAIN—AM NOW AT WORK AFTER SIX YEARS OF ILLNESS — THANKS TO

The case described below was a very severe one, and well illustrates the power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in curing the most serious and complicated diseases. You can be certain of this preparation doing you good, because it works hand-in-hand with nature in building up the system.

Mr. Simon Cloutier, shoemaker, 110 Lagauchetiere street, Montreal, Que., states:—"For six years I was not able to work, my nerves were all unstrung and my digestion bad. I had severe attacks of headache, could not sleep and suffered with shooting pains in the small of my back. I was in four hospitals, but the doctors could not cure me. They said I would never be well again. In spite of their decision, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food some months ago, and I am convinced that I owe my life to this medicine. I have now been at work for over two weeks and believe that my health has been fully restored. It is a pleasure for me to add my testimony to the hosts of others from persons who have been cured by this wonderful medicine."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

MUSKOKA IN A CANOE

A POPULAR TRIP IS THAT KNOWN AS THE CRANE LAKES.

Explicit Directions for Making It Without a Guide—What One Needs on Such a Trip and How to Go to Work to Provide It—Provisions for a Week—Some Valuable Casual Hints for Comfort and Enjoyment.

There are two methods of making a canoe trip. The first, and the one which I shall not here attempt to describe, is to hire guides, who will do all the work involved in the trip, thus, to my mind, depriving one of much of the benefit and enjoyment of such a trip.

Another, and perhaps still more important, reason why a canoe trip should not be carried on in this way is that it is too expensive for most people. A good guide commands four or five dollars a day.

A popular trip in Muskoka is that known as the Crane Lake trip. Starting upon this trip one goes to the portage near the head of Lake Joseph. Here, by a small stream, Portage Lake is entered. From Portage Lake the voyager enters in succession into Lakes Robinson, Otter, Burnt and Blackstone, portages varying in length from a quarter mile to a mile intervening. From Blackstone Lake the canoeist enters by the Blackstone River into Crane Lake.

In Blackstone and Crane Lakes the maskinonge and bass fishing is very good. Maskinonge weighing from fifteen to twenty pounds have frequently been caught in Crane Lake.

Now, as to the preparations for such a trip. From the outline given above it will readily be seen that it would be very unwise for one unfamiliar with this district to attempt the trip without a chart, and while you are getting one be sure that it is accurate, and you will probably save yourself much inconvenience. It is well, also, to take the precaution of carrying a compass, particularly if you are not used to traveling in the forest. The writer has known of parties of men, who were not on their first trip, losing their path and wandering in the woods for a day and a half or two days.

In considering the question of provisions, bedding and tents, the question of their weight must also be considered. The quantity of each depends, of course, on the number in the party. A party of four in one canoe or of six in two canoes is a very good size. Where you have four in one canoe two can carry the canoe and two the baggage across the portages; where there are three in a canoe two carry the canoe and one must carry the baggage. Now you can see why you must not take very bulky or very heavy food. If you do it necessitates two trips across each portage, and that is a nuisance.

The writer does things in a manner perhaps primitive, but withal satisfactory. He lays in a good stock of bread, a considerable quantity of oatmeal, some cheese, some butter, sugar, coffee, salt, pepper, etc., a few cans of meat, concentrated soup and a couple of cans of condensed cream. This latter makes an excellent substitute when fresh milk is not to be had. Be sure and put the butter in some receptacle from which it cannot escape, should it melt, as it is liable to do. It is not pleasant to have all your baggage buttered. Do not take too much canned goods, as they are heavy and it is hard to pack them so that the corners of the cans will not stick into you when you carry your pack.

A party can quite easily carry provisions for a week. If it is intended to stay much longer than that it would be better to arrange for your supplies in some other way.

Do not take breakable dishes with you. Your meals will taste just as good eaten from tinware or porcelain as if eaten from the finest china. You will need for each member of your party a plate, a good-sized cup, a knife, fork and a couple of spoons. Besides these you will need a few extra plates and spoons. Of cooking utensils you will need a pail to cook the porridge and the soups in; a pail in which to boil your coffee, and a frying-pan in which to cook the fish. These three will supply almost every need in the cooking line.

A good heavy single grey blanket is plenty of bedding for one, or two can keep quite warm between the folds of a double blanket. The rest of the bed can be made of a good thick layer of the small twigs of cedar or balsam, or of large, coarse fern or bracken. If you get the ground well covered you will sleep just as comfortably as you would on a spring mattress.

A very good tent can be made of heavy factory cotton. Have it six or eight feet square at the base and six or seven feet high, without any side walls, that is, sloping right to the ground. Along the four sides of the tent, six inches from the bottom, fasten some small loops of rope.

When your camping ground is chosen, find two trees far enough apart to allow the tent between them. Tie a rope from one of these trees to the other, about seven feet from the ground. Hang the tent on this, so that the rope forms the ridge pole of the tent; slip some small poles through the loops of rope above mentioned, stretch the tent out as wide as possible, weight down the poles with stones and your tent is ready for occupation.—Canadian, in The Globe.

The New Observatory.

Messrs. Viau and Lachance, of Hull, have commenced work on their contract for the new Dominion Observatory, which is to be erected on the grounds of the Central Experimental Farm, about 250 feet from the Merivale Road entrance. The building, which will be of stone, will have a frontage of 150 feet, and a depth of about 50 feet. It will cost $75,000. The new telescope for the use of the Dominion astronomer's staff is now being constructed at Cleveland, Ohio. It will have a diameter of 15 inches.

MR. BOWSER'S CURE.

A FEW DOSES OF IT HAD A SURPRISING EFFECT.

In Trying to Purify His Blood In One Night He Took an Overdose of the Medicine and Made the Evening Hilarious.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

MR. BOWSER was smoking the last of his cigar the other evening when the doorbell rang and the girl said that a man wanted to see him at the door. He stepped outside and held what seemed to be a private conference for about ten minutes, and when he returned he had a two quart jug in his hand.

"It was our butcher," he explained as Mrs. Bowser looked at him in a questioning way.

"And he brought you that jug?"

"Yes. I was telling him a few days ago that I needed an old fashioned blood cure, and he volunteered to make up one. He knew just where to get the roots and barks, you see."

"And so you've finally got around to a blood cure!" sighed Mrs. Bowser. "Will this be the end of it for a month or two, or will you try a dandruff eradicator, a liver invigorator or a hay fever douche before you quit?"

HE HAD A GOOD THING, AND HE MEANT TO PUSH IT.

"Are you finding fault because my blood is out of order and I want to cure it?" demanded Mr. Bowser. "That would be just like you."

"I hadn't seen any signs of your blood being out of order."

"Oh, you hadn't! I've had a pimple as big as a hickory nut on my nose for the last two weeks, and yet you haven't noticed it! Others have, however. I've been almost ashamed to ride on the cars, and I've had boys call me Old Pimple. My blood has been off for weeks and weeks, and it's a wonder I haven't had pimples by the hundred. It's no wonder I have nightmare and toss about as I do."

"And the butcher has kindly fixed you up a cure?"

"He has. Have you any objections?"

"Not the slightest. Go ahead and take your dose and get rid of your pimple."

"WHOOPEE! I'M FEELING GREAT, I AM."

Mr. Bowser looked at her for a minute in an undecided way and then set his jaw and carried the jug down to the dining room. The main ingredients of the cure were sassafras and dandelion, and the butcher had told him to drink half a tumblerful three times a day. The stuff smelled good and tasted better, and after one glass Mr. Bowser decided to push things. There was no use fooling around with that pimple for a week or two when it could be cured in one night. He took a second glass and put the jug away, but almost immediately brought it out again to imbibe a third. He had a good thing, and he meant to push it. The third glass settled the fate of that pimple for all time to come. He went upstairs and sat down to his newspaper, and Mrs. Bowser had no remarks to make. Ten or twelve minutes had passed when the family cat came out from under the piano and strolled about the room, and after looking at her and rubbing his eyes Mr. Bowser said:

"Mrs. Bowser, have you turned this house into a cat hospital?"

"What do you mean?" she queried.

"Why, there are three old cats walking about the room."

"You don't mean to say you see three cats?"

"Three cats, Mrs. Bowser, three blamed old tomcats, and I won't have it. I'll knock every one of 'em in the head!"

"There is only one cat here. Has that pimple worked off your nose into your eyes?"

Mr. Bowser rubbed his eyes and winked and blinked, and, lo, two of the cats vanished!

"I was just joking," he said in a silly way—"just having a little fun, you know. Of course there's only one cat, and she's the dearest old thing in the world. Mrs. Bowser, next to you I love that cat more'n anything else on earth. If she should die, I'd want to die too!"

"How much of that blood cure did you take?" asked Mrs. Bowser as she looked hard at him.

"Just a sip, my dear. But it's doing me lots of good already. I think it's time to take another sip. You and the cat stay right here until I take another dose. Funny about those three old cats—ha, ha, ha! Thought it was the cat hospital, you know."

Mrs. Bowser did not seek to restrain him, but when he had gone downstairs she went up to her room. He didn't intend to take but one dose of that blood cure, and that a small one, but the liquid tickled his palate and had such a soothing effect on his pimple that the small dose became two large and liberal ones.

"Nothing like it for the blood—nothing like it," he mused as he smacked his lips and reluctantly set the jug away. "Butchers know what is good for pimples on the nose. If I hadn't happened to speak to our butcher, I might have had forty pimples by Saturday. Funny about those old cats. Can't fool me again, though."

As he went upstairs he looked for Mrs. Bowser, and, not seeing her, he sat down heavily in a chair and glanced around for the cat. She had shifted over on the lounge and was purring away with eyes half closed.

"Yesh, er bes' cat in er world," said Mr. Bowser after gazing at her for awhile. "If anybody ever hits you with a bottle, you come to me about it. Anybody who hits my cat hits me. Shay, now, what's your name? I used to know it, but it's gone out of my head. Is it Napoleon?"

The cat opened her eyes and ceased to pur, and after some trouble Mr. Bowser got his eyes on her again and said:

"If it ain't Napoleon, then it's Shakespeare or Cicero or Cæsar, but it's all right—all right. Best cat in er world and best name in er world. If I want to take medicine for my blood, you don't say nozzings 'bout it. Shay, Napoleon, let's be happy while we may. Let's swing our hats and whoop and ha, ha, ha! You good feller, I'm good feller, and Mrs. Bowsher good feller. Whoop! Whoopee!"

The blood cure was having its due effect, and as Mrs. Bowser listened over the banister she heard Mr. Bowser trying to work up a jig with his feet. After a few shuffles he suddenly stopped to call out:

"By er great horn spoon, but them old cats have come back—six, seven, eight, nine of 'em! Nine cats in a row, and all looking at me! Funniest thing I ever saw—ha, ha, ha! If Mrs. Bowsher was down here, she'd go into hysterics. I don't want no cat hospital around here, but I won't be mean about it. All er cats may stay all night, and I'll give 'em all er milk they want to drink. Whoopee! I'm feeling great, I am. Now, you cats, strike up a tune and snee me waltz to it."

Mr. Bowser rose up and wabbled about and finally staggered over and fell upon the lounge. The cat escaped crushing by a jump and at once ran downstairs, but Mr. Bowser never missed him and presently went on:

"Yesh, I'll show you nine old cats how to waltz after ragtime. I'll take this chair for my partner and we'll move off—so—and, Johnny, get your gun out—gun out—gun out!"

Mrs. Bowser felt the house shaking as he danced about, and she was prepared for the crash that soon came. Mr. Bowser fell over the chair, and the chair turned about and fell over him, and when she got downstairs they were tangled up together and going to sleep.

"What kind of carrying on do you call this?" she asked as she stood over the wreck.

Mr. Bowser opened one eye and looked at her in a sleepy way, and then closed it and said:

"Nine old cats, g'way from me! I want er go to shleep. Purifies er blood and takes er pimples off, and there is nozzings like it. Wheop! Whoo"—

And then he slept and snored.

M. QUAD.

Not For Bathing.

Stella—The poets say Aphrodite sprung from the sea.

Bella—I suppose she wanted to keep her bathing suit dry.—New York Press.

THEY DROVE PIMPLES AWAY.—A face covered with pimples is unsightly. It tells of internal irregularities which should long since have been corrected. The liver and the kidneys are not performing their functions in the healthy way they should, and these pimples are to let you know that the blood protests. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will drive them all away, and will leave the skin clear and clean. Try them, and there will be another witness to their excellence.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

HAD LA GRIPPE.—Mr. A. Nickerson, farmer, Dutton, writes: "Last winter I had La Grippe and it left me with a severe pain in the small of my back and hip that used to catch me whenever I tried to climb a fence. This lasted for about two months, when I bought a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and used it both internally and externally, morning and evening, for three days, at the expiration of which time I was completely cured."

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed 'Perfection.'

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

AT DEATH'S DOOR.—DYSPEPSIA CONQUERED.—A GREAT MEDICAL TRIUMPH.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia.

Signed, JEAN VALCOURT,
Wotton, P.Q. General Merchant

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly subdues the pain and disease.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

Use the safe, pleasant, and effectual worm killer, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; nothing equals it. Procure a bottle and take it home.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Have you tried Holloway's Corn Cure? It has no equal for removing these troublesome excrescences, as many have testified who have tried it.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

FOR INFLAMMATION OF THE EYES.—Among the many good qualities which Parmelee's Vegetable Pills possess, besides regulating the digestive organs, is their efficacy in reducing inflammation of the eyes. It has called forth many letters of recommendation from those who were afflicted with this complaint and found a cure in the pills. They affect the nerve centres and the blood in a surprisingly active way, and the result is almost immediately seen.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it; many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive's grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been saved. Mr. A. W. Levy, Mitchell, writes: "I think Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of Consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickle's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured. I always recommend it for severe colds and consumption."

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Little Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation, and disordered stomach.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Do not despair of curing your sick headache when you can so easily obtain Carter's Little Liver Pills. They will effect a prompt and permanent cure. Their action is mild and natural.

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

It's About Over

OUR SWEEP-OUT SHOE SALE

Of the season's remnants.

This week will likely bring it to a close. Some of the best Bargains for the last. Don't miss this opportunity.

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE

FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

Death of a Child

Russell D. Cowie, aged three years, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Cowie, residing on Moira street, died this morning. The little fellow had been ill for some time.

Passed Their Exams

Messrs. D. Barragar, J. Hayes and W. J. Brown have returned home from the Military School at London. All were successful in passing their examinations as lieutenants.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Daily Intelligencer.

LAURIER AGAIN TALKING.

The Premier of Canada is without doubt a pleasing and entertaining speaker. Unfortunately, he and his admirers run away with the idea that pleasant utterances and well-rounded sentences are evidences of statesmanship. English journals already found it necessary to expose this fallacy. Not at all dismayed by the exposure of his want of knowledge upon subjects upon which he has attempted to enlighten the people of the British Empire, he still goes on talking whenever the opportunity offers.

In Edinburgh, Scotland, the other day, he gave additional evidence of his vanity, in comparing his own statesmanship with that of the late Cecil Rhodes, stating that while Mr. Rhodes had been repelling and distrusting the Boers, he had been devoting his life and energies to the blending together of the two races which inhabit this portion of His Majesty's domains.

To the younger generation in Canada, this boasting and self-laudation of Sir Wilfrid may be accepted as gospel, but those who watched political events for the past thirty or forty years, and paid attention to the policies of the two parties, know that the very opposite has been the course pursued by Sir Wilfrid and those with whom he has been associated in public life, and therefore such utterances must create a smile of derision and contempt.

The fact is that the policy which he now claims as his was that of the late Sir John Macdonald and the party which he led, and which was most virulently opposed by the Grit-Rouge party of which Sir Wilfrid is the now recognized leader. Who, among the older, do not remember attacks which were then made upon the Conservative party, on the ground that an alliance with Anglo-Saxons of Ontario and the French of Quebec, was an unholy alliance, and that those who sustain such a policy were priest-ridden, "moutous" and placing themselves under French domination?

Time brings marvellous changes, and now we find Sir Wilfrid and his party literally stealing the policy so long advocated by Sir John Macdonald and his followers, of governing Canada in the interests of the whole, and not of a section.

No one should be surprised at this additional theft of the Conservative policy. The party that could appropriate a protective policy which they had for twenty years denounced as "legalized robbery," would not hesitate to father any doctrine, fiscal or commercial, which would for the time being add to their strength: hence people must not be surprised at anything which Sir Wilfrid may say upon this or any other question.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Leading citizens of Kingston have expressed themselves through the Whig. They want "Population," "A Revival," and "More Capital." Too true, poor old antiquated Kingston!

• • •

From talk of little birds we glean that the 1903 Council will have the guiding hand (as Mayor) of one of the present rank and file. Just wait and see if this tip is not correct.

• • •

Now that Mr. Wheeler has bought Massassaga park, let us hope he may put it on a paying basis as a summer resort.

• • •

Every summer resort nowadays must cater to the children and young folks as well as to their elders—Marine slides, merry-go-rounds, proper bathing facilities and hotel accommodation go to make up the successful holidaying and outing places.

• • •

Now New York talks of $14.00 coal!

• • •

The one thing money doesn't do is to save the rich from our common end—death. Occasionally it helps towards that end, to wit: Charles L. Fair and his wife's sudden accidental demise in France while automobiling. Fair was worth five or ten millions of money.

• • •

That bank president's wife who went in bathing and left three diamond rings (value $1,000) where her English bull dog got hold of and swallowed them, feels bad. We don't know how the dog feels.

• • •

The Whig fisherman challenges the fish pole man of the Belleville Intelligencer to mortal combat, and bets five dozen of buns that he can catch more members of the finny tribe in ten minutes than the Intelligencer writer can in an hour. The Whig sport in order to be successful would have to secure livelier bait than can be found in the Limestone City.

• • •

Having made a strike in Texas oil, a young Saint Louis man has just picked out a wife. Sudden riches are likely to turn any man's head.

• • •

The rapid-fire Dakota divorce is again working much to the delight of the New York 400.

Alcohol is being distilled from the sugar beet, and that vegetable has of course lost the support of the prohibitionists.

• • •

King Edward VII. is to establish a new order, it is said, which will confer honor on distinguished women. Since the Baroness Burdett Coutts received her title no woman has been elevated to the peerage because of her philanthropic benefactions.

• • •

That Texas man who got 47 Saint Louis girls to promise to marry him has, at least, shown that Saint Louisans are about as anxious to get married as Kingstonians.

A Michigan farmer and his wife, who were childless, have adopted an entire orphan asylum of 22. To nothing does the advice of the Hoosier Schoolmaster, "When you're gittin', git a-planty," apply more truly than to children.

• • •

Even Uncle Sam himself is feeling the coal squeeze. He has scarcely any coal left in his bins in the Government buildings at Washington. If the strike is not ended soon the United States Government will have cold feet.

• • •

It is hoped that all unpublished authors will not follow the example of the New Yorker who hanged himself because he could not find a publisher who was willing to bring out his book. Should they do so the nation would be decimated.

• • •

A few weeks ago the crop outlook in Europe was very bright, but bad weather, especially in Germany and Hungary, has caused serious damage. This means larger exports from Canada and the U.S.

• • •

For the sake of preserving the high and generally deserved reputation of Canadian justice, it would seem that the Dominion Government would fall in readily with the request of the State Department for the return of Greene and Gaynor as a courtesy.—Buffalo Express.

• • •

Kingston merchants burn too much midnight oil on Saturday night. They should try to cultivate their customers to do their business before Saturday noon for in a generation or so business will cease at noon on Saturday.—Whig.

Or sooner, of old Kingston doesn't wake up!

• • •

Lord Rosebery one time sat next to a farmer at his estate dinner and the confiding man whispered to the host, when the ice pudding was brought: "The pudding has been frozen." The ex-premier thanking the farmer and looking surprised, called to a waiter, said something, and then turning to the farmer again said: "They tell me the pudding has been frozen on purpose."

THEY TAKE WEEKS.

Ordinary remedies sometimes take weeks to even relieve cases that Catarrhozone cures at once.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes now and again and it cures a cold.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes every hour and we guarantee it will cure any case of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung or Throat Trouble, Deafness. It is very pleasant and convenient to use, quick to relieve, and certain as the hereafter to cure. Large size, complete, price $1.00; small size, 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

Sports and Pastimes.

SPORTING NOTES.

New London, Aug. 15.—W. L. Crowley, of Hartford, the promoter of the "Terry" McGovern-"Young Corbett" prize fight, scheduled to take place here on August 29th, has definitely announced that he has transferred the fight to Louisville.

At Brighton Beach Thursday Dan Patch went against his record of 2.00 3-4 and Star Pointer's record of 1.59 1-4. He was accompanied by two runners, and paced a splendidly rated mile. He went to the quarter in .30 1-4 and to the half in 1.00 1-4. The three-quarters was passed in 1.31, and he came home without pressure in 2.00 3-4, equalling his own record.

If you would know a young lady's faults get chummy with her girl friend.

The Cosmopolitan Character of the MAGI Caledonia Springs demonstrates the wide-spread reputation of these great curative Baths and Waters

INSPECTING THE DRILL SHED

NECESSARY IMPROVEMENTS WILL HAVE TO BE MADE SOON.

Capt. Maunsell, of Ottawa, engineer of the Militia Department, was in the city on Saturday afternoon, and, in company with Mr. Thos. Hanley, made a minute inspection of the drill shed. The roof was found to be in a bad state and other repairs are badly needed. The engineer will immediately make out his report to the Department.

In conversation with an Intelligencer representative Mr. Hanley stated that it would be necessary to have the repairs made before the snow flies, as the roof was in such a condition that a heavy fall of snow upon it might cause its collapse.

EXCURSION TO NAPANEE.

Str. Aletha, Wednesday afternoon next, 2 p.m., Trenton, Twelve O'clock Point, Brighton Bay in morning at nine. 18-2t

What an Unkind Nurse!

A day or two ago, an uptown baby was pronounced dead by a Kingston doctor, as no sign of life was noticeable to the eye or ear. The nurse, however, decided to make sure, and began a vigorous rubbing and pounding of the infant. Her efforts soon proved successful, for baby opened its eyes, and is now recovering.—Kingston Whig.

ABOUT WATERPROOF COATS.

You may have noticed that the Oak Hall have been advertising nice Raglan waterproofs at $10. These are the finest coats in our store. We also have nice waterproofs at $2.50, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00. We have a splendid assortment of all these lines and the values are just a little better than you can get in any other store.

THIRD LINE THURLOW.

Mrs. John R. Post and her sister, Miss Permelia McGunnion, of Greenridge, Manitoba, are at home, visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Grills, in Corbyville, and other friends in Ontario.

Mrs. J. Grills and daughter, Elda, have returned home, after visiting friends in Napanee.

Miss Edith Post has returned to the city, after spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Grills, at Corbyville.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s

Most men would rather borrow than be caught begging or stealing.

One active causes of shrinkage in values is the assessor's visit.

The poor girl thinks it positively wicked for a man to marry for money.

It is but natural that the boarding school girl would rather board than keep house after she is married—Chicago News.

FOUND HER LOST FORTUNE

Of health through believing what she read—tested the claim—proved the truth. South American Kidney Cure cured a violent type of Kidney Disease.

Mrs. Norman Cooke, of Delhi, Ont., doctored for Kidney disease until she was tired—tried plasters and a dozen remedies before she tried South American Kidney Cure. When she had used one bottle she had derived great benefit. After taking six bottles she was cured. She was so great a sufferer at times that she couldn't lie down—was totally unfit for household duties. South American Kidney Cure gives relief in six hours. 54

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

The beauty of the landscape dwells in the beholder. The man by his side may not recognize it.

A speaking countenance is more expressive when the mouth is shut.

Half-Sick If you feel run down, are easily tired, if your nerves are weak and your blood is thin, then begin to take the good old standard family medicine, Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If constipated, use Ayer's Pills. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

The Barbers
In The City

Have adopted a new scale of prices which are a decided advance over the old ones. Many young men besides older ones will not feel disposed to pay these new prices and will resolve to be their own barber. To do so your thoughts will naturally turn to

Razors
Razor Straps
Shaving Brushes
Razor Hones
Shaving Soap
Toilet Clippers

We have a large variety of these goods and we are sure we will be able to please you with our assortment and prices.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL
REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

The Wrong Glass

If your present Glasses fail to give you ease and comfort, there's something wrong. Is it your Glasses or your Eyes?

THAT'S A VITAL QUESTION WITH YOU.

Either is bad enough and should bring you to us at once.

We like to discover unusual Eye defects, the kind that puzzle the AVERAGE Optician.

"Glasses Right, Good Sight."

ALEX. RAY.

Mistakes in advertising are the most expensive mistakes a merchant can make.

Sincerity is a gem of the first water.

A Good Tooth Brush

Is something everybody should have. A Tooth Brush that is made of poor bristles is but little better than none at all.

THE KENT BRUSH

Is made to our order in England. It is a four-row, bleached bristle Brush, put together in a workmanlike manner.

We guarantee these Brushes.

PRICE 25c.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

DR. BUTLER'S
Blackberry Cordial

The Best Remedy for Diarrhoea,
Dysentery,
Cholera,
25c Bot.

Every Dose effectual.
The best medicine for children and infants.

WATERS'

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting, Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

THE BOY FROM TOWN.

Last night a boy came here from town
To stay a week or so.
Because his maw is all run down
And needs a rest, you know.
His name is Cecil, and he's eight,
And he can't skin the cat—
His maw she calls him "I'e"; I'd hate
To have a name like that.

He wears a collar and a tie
And can't hang by his toes;
I guess that I would nearly die
If I had on his clo's;
He can't ride horseback, and to-day
When we slid on the straw,
He ast if roosters helped to lay
The eggs I pick fer maw.

When our old gander hissed he run
As though he thought he'd bite,
And he ain't ever shot a gun
Or had a homemade kite;
He never milked a cow and he Can't even dive or swim—
I'd hate to think that he was me,
I'm glad that I ain't him.

He thinks it's lots of fun to pump
And see the water spurt,
But won't climb in the barn, and jump,
For fear of getting hurt.
His clo's are offle nice and fine,
His hair's all over curls,
His hands ain't half as big as mine,
He ought to play with girls.

A little while ago when we
Were foolin' in the shed
He suddenly got mad at me,
Because I bumped his head.
There's lots of things that he can't do,
He thinks that sheep'll bite,
And he's afraid of ganders, too;
But he can fight all right.

BROTHERHOOD.

That plenty but reproaches me
Which leaves my brother bare,
Not wholly glad my heart can be
While his is bowed with care.
If I go free, and sound and stout,
While his poor fetters clank,
Unsated still, I'll cry out,
And plead with Whom I thank.

Almighty, Thou who Father be
Of him, of me, of all,
Draw us together, him and me,
That whichsoever fall,
The other's hand may fail him not—
The other's strength decline
No task or succor that his lot
May claim for son of Thine.

I would be fed, I would be clad,
I would be housed and dry,
But if so be my heart be sad—
What benefit have I?
Best he whose shoulders best endure
The load that brings relief,
And best shall be his joy secure
Who shares that joy with grief.

(Changed daily)

Monday, August 18, 1902.

ABREAST

WITH

THE AGE

In everything we undertake in every department of our business you will find no old or worn out methods, no back numbers in merchandise, no high prices, but to the contrary—in this store will be found everything new, bright and down-to-date. In every department this has been the aim, and in the new department, that of

INTERIOR DECORATIONS,

The same plan will prevail. All wall papers the newest ideas, the latest prices, the lowest for good workmanship.

We do not enter upon this branch without experience. To the contrary, our decorator has had the widest of experience, practical experience, by way of decorating many of the first homes of Canada, has spent many years in the study of color and design, as applied to Interior Decoration, has applied same successfully, can assist you in the selection of colors desirable for respective apartments, and will not suggest those old, worn out and stereotyped methods—those things you should avoid — will guide you safely through the chapter of color and design, and land you safely in the well-applied and properly decorated home at a cost much more moderate than would be the crude ideas of those unacquainted with decorative principles.

THERE IS A MEANING

For each and every room in your home. The best definition is the one you should have applied to that room. The student of Interior Decoration can better define on this subject than any one else.

We can do it to your utter satisfaction.

If we don't please you we make no charge.

Nothing could be fairer than that, could it?

Let us try to please you, we can do it.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Papar Wholesale & Retai

WHAT SIR WILFRID SAID.

Premier Delivers Eulogy of His Country in London, England.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was received with prolonged cheers, at the coronation banquet held at the Guildhall, London, on July 11, replied on behalf of the self-governing colonies. It was, he said, his privilege five years ago to represent his country, Canada, at the celebration held in this ancient city in commemoration of the jubilee year of a reign forever made famous by the personality of the Sovereign, by the remarkable advance which took place under it of all the arts and sciences which contributed to the happiness of mankind, but whose characteristic for them would be the still more remarkable development of the British Empire as it existed to-day. (Cheers.) The British Empire, as all other creations of human effort, had been the cause of many conflicting sentiments. It had inspired, and perhaps more than ever would inspire, in the breasts of millions of men a deep sense of enthusiastic attachment. (Cheers.) British subjects could call the world to witness that the British Empire, wherever it had held sway, especially within the last 60 years, had carried with it everywhere an instrument of good government. In all His Majesty's possessions there was at this moment a remarkable and in some instances an almost phenomenal degree of prosperity, and among all those peoples, to whatever race they belonged, there was a universal sense of satisfaction and pride in British institutions. (Cheers.) Such, at all events, was the case in the self-governing colonies. Canadians present could bear testimony to the truth of his assertion that Canada to-day was a free, prosperous and happy country. (Cheers.) It was not always so, but the granting of representative institutions had worked that miracle. Prosperity and contentment had followed in the path opened by freedom. What was true for Canada was equally true for New Zealand and for Australia—indeed, there was only one shadow to that picture—one exception, which was South Africa. Until a few weeks ago, South Africa was scourged by war, which would not have broken out, if free civil rights under the law of full citizenship to all had been given there without any discrimination. He was convinced, however, that what had taken place elsewhere, would now be seen in South Africa under British rule. It was not in the genius of British history to make political changes simply for the gratification of a theory, or to round off sharp angles, but it was in the genius of British history to proceed slowly and cautiously, and never to change the condition of things, until there was a grievance, and then to remove the grievance and to go on further. Historic experience taught with almost unvarying certainty that political changes brought about in the hope of carrying an object not immediately prompted by practical necessity generally failed. He afterwards referred to the steadfast allegiance of Canada to this country. There was no finality in human affairs. He did not say that the time might not come when they might have a Parliament assembled in London from all parts of the globe. That would be a great spectacle no doubt, but not greater than the spectacle presented at this moment of a galaxy of free nations bound together by a sole allegiance to the same Sovereign. (Cheers.)

The Canadian Venice.

Muskoka the ideal—Muskoka the enchanted land, in whose waters one bathes and forgets the world without and its life inconstant. They call it the Canadian Venice, so much a thing of water is it and so beautiful, like the famous "City of the Sea," only more satisfying because the habitations of man are less numerous there, and nature is as God intended it to be.

It is a common remark among Americans who visit the Muskoka region that it is not fully appreciated by Canadians themselves. Its beautiful lakes and picturesque scenery are not to be equalled anywhere on the continent. The result is a greater rush of Americans there every summer—so much so that 5,000 people were turned away last year through lack of hotel accommodations. The universal opinion is that Muskoka is an unrivalled holiday ground, with its agreeable combination of waters and islands and woods and shores, with their incidental fishing and bathing and boating, the sparkling days and the cool, hushed nights that conduce to restful, refreshing sleep.

From a business standpoint the Muskoka region is one of Canada's most valuable assets. It is easily reached from the most densely populated portions of the United States and everything possible ought to be done to encourage American tourists. There are at present something like 125 hotels in Muskoka with a total accommodation for 7,000 people. That ought to be doubled and trebled very quickly with good management, and those who cater especially to the wants and wishes of American guests will have little cause to complain. There is no good reason why millions of dollars should not be spent in Canada every summer by American tourists, but that means something different from ordinary slip-shod methods and something better than the average hotel accommodations.

Co-operation in Canada.

There are 747 co-operative cheese and butter factories in Canada, where the farmers erect and equip the factories, and the Government undertakes to manufacture a good article at a cost of 2½ cents a pound to cover all expenses including marketing. They export $25,000,000 worth to Great Britain annually from these factories.

To Cure a Bilious Headache.

A teaspoonful of lemon juice in a small cupful of black coffee will almost certainly relieve a bilious headache.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.
Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c ne.
Reading advertisements, 15c per line.
Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual or contract rates.
Minimum space, 10 lines.
Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion. Births, 25c each insertion.
Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.
All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.
Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

We want men to sell for us; salary or commission; paid weekly; outfit free. Good demand for stock now. We have 800 acres of choice fruit and ornamental trees.—Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto, Ont. a14eod-d&w1m

Wanted at once, good cook and kitchen girl, also night watch. Highest wages. Anglo-American Hotel, Belleville. a12-8td&2tw

Persons of undoubted character, good sense, and plenty of push, to help in a great spiritual work. Our plan is entirely original, and the possible returns ten to twenty dollars weekly.—The Century Christian Co., Limited, Toronto. a13-6td

FOR SALE.

One Mantle Folding Bed. Can be seen at 163 South Albert St. 23-tf

Card of Thanks

I wish to convey my thanks to the Queen Ins. Co., through their agent, A. M. Ketcheson, for their prompt and entire satisfactory settlement of my loss by fire and would recommend above Company to intending insurers. JOHN BOLDRICK.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

As Furnished to The Intelligencer by Haight & Freese Co'y, Stock Brokers, New York, through Their Local Agency.

New York, August 18.

Stock	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	91⅞	92⅛	91¾	92⅛
do. pref.	102¼	102¼	102	102
C. P. R.	137¾	138	137½	138
Sugar	131¾	132⅝	131½	131⅝
U. S. Steel	40⅞	40⅞	40¼	40¼
do. pref.	90½	90½	90⅛	90¼
W. Union	93	93	92	92½
Pc.	103¼	....	....	....
Manhattan	134¼	134⅜	134	134⅛
Erie	39⅞	39⅜	39	39⅜
do pref.	68¼	68¼	68⅛	68⅛
L. & N.	151⅞	154⅞	151⅞	154
Mo. P.	117¼	117⅜	116½	116¼
Nor.	69	69¼	69⅛	68⅞
N. Y. C.	163¾	163¾	163¼	163½
Reading	66⅝	66¼	66⅛	66½
do pref.	86	....	....	....
St. Paul	185⅛	185½	184¾	184¾
South Pac.	72¼	72½	71¼	71⅞
Sou. Ry.	39⅞	40¼	39⅞	39¾
Union. Pac.	108⅛	108⅛	107⅞	107⅞
Amn. Loco.	32	....	....	....
do. pref.	95⅝	....	....	....
H. V.	101⅞	102	101⅛	101⅛
Copper	65	65¼	65	65¼
Texas	50¼	51⅛	50½	51
B & O.	109¼	109¼	109	109
Met.	147¾	147¾	147½	147½
Alton	42¼	43	42½	42⅝
Penna	159½	159⅞	159¼	159½
C. & O.	53⅞	54¼	53¾	53¾

December wheat opened 66 3-4, closed 66 3-8.

December corn opened 40 3-4, closed 40 3-4.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS,

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 18.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers.
C. P. R.	137 7-8	137 3-4
Toronto Railway	122 7-8	122 1-2
Twin City	126	125 3-4
Con. Lake Superior	27 7-8	27 3-4
Dom. Coal	142 3-4	142 1-2
Dom. Iron & Steel	75 1-2	74 1-2
Nova Scotia Steel		115 3-8
Sao Paulo	108 7-8	108 3-4

BELLEVILLE MARKETS.

Intelligencer Office.

Wednesday, Aug. 13.

The grain market at present is very quiet and dull. It is expected that within the next week new grain will be offered for sale, which will have the effect of toning up the market.

In produce there is no change to note in particular.

Our quotations are as follows;—

Fall Wheat—67c.
Spring Wheat—65c.
Goose Wheat—63c.
Barley—40c to 52c.
Feeding Barley—46c.
Oats—40c to 45c.
Rye—55c.
Peas, common—70c.
Buckwheat—50c.
Timothy—$3.50.
Clover—$4.50 to $5.00.
Butter—20 to 22c.
Eggs—13c to 15c.
Live Hogs—$6.60.
Dressed Beef, fores—5c to 6c.
Dressed Beef, hind—7c to 8c.
Shearlings—25c.
Spring lamb skins—35c.
Butchers' trimmed hides—$6.50.
Mutton—6c to 7c.
Horse Hides—$2.50.
Veal Hides—8c to 9c.
Deakins—50 to 55c.

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Mon day(at 11.30 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester ar 3.25 a.m. daily (ex cept Monday) and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to
U. E. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

Str. "NIAGARA"

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902,

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $8.40;
Return, $13.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F. CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, '02
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Back.

If a jailbird doesn't fly it isn't his fault.

One way to teach children to be good is to set an example.

To be found in bad company is often an equivalent to being lost.

If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8.—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail......	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed......	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed......	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail......	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed......	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed......	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed......	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed......	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling

XXX Cider and White Wine Vinegars

Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.,
Telephone 214.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.

An enthusiastic man loses his popularity as soon as people get onto him.

Actions may speak louder than words, but you can't make a woman believe it.

DEWET, BOTHA AND DELAREY

Meet the King and Queen on the Royal Yacht at Cowes.

Enormous and Enthusiastic Crowds Greet Them at Southampton and London—In the Metropolis on Saturday Night the London Mob Cornered Gen. Dewet and the Police Had to Rescue Him From the Cheering Mob by Force.

Southampton, Aug. 18.—Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey arrived here Saturday morning and met with a great reception both from Government officials and public.

The Boer generals looked remarkably well. Soon after landing they boarded the Nigeria, where Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, and Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener greeted them. They were also introduced to Mrs. Chamberlain and Lady Roberts, with whom they chattered for some time.

Did Not Go to King's Review.

Official arrangements had been made to permit the generals to witness the naval review, but after a conference with Abraham Fischer, the former Boer delegate, who came from The Hague, it was announced that they intended to proceed direct to London, in order to reach Holland as speedily as possible. The generals will go to Holland to pay their last respects to the memory of Gen. Lucas Meyer, who died of heart disease on Aug. 8.

Gen. Dewet, in conversation here, confirmed the statement that he and his companions will visit the United States before returning to South Africa.

When Dewet Was Cornered.

London, Aug. 18.—The Boer generals reached London in the course of Saturday afternoon. When asked why they had declined the Government's invitation to witness the naval review, they remarked that they were "too tired after the long war, and needed a rest."

The scene at the railroad station on the arrival of the Boers was remarkable. An enormous crowd of people gave them a welcome as hearty as given to Lord Roberts and Lork Kitchener when they arrived here from South Afraica. Shouts of "Good old Dewet," "Our friends, the enemy," and "Brave soldiers all," were frequently heard amidst salvos of cheers. Gen. Dewet was fairly cornered by the mob, and had to be rescued by the police, who, by sheer force, cleared a line of retreat for him.

Went to See the King.

Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey left London at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning for Cowes, Isle of Wight, to see King Edward on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. The hour of the Generals' departure was kept secret. The streets were deserted when the three Generals, accompanied by their secretaries, but by none of the ladies of their party, left.

Upon arriving at Southampton, the visitors were welcomed on board the Commander-in-chief's yacht Wildfire by Earl Roberts and General Kitchener. Immediately afterwards they visited King Edward on board the Victoria and Albert, and were then taken for a trip around the fleet in the Wildfire. They returned to London last evening, accompanied by Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener, who took leave of them at Waterloo Station.

The Generals Highly Pleased.

In an interview Gen. Botha's secretary described the visit to His Majesty. He said that when they boarded the royal yacht, King Edward came forward, and, after they had been introduced, shook hands with each of them. After a brief and informal talk of a non-political character with King Edward, they were introduced to Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria.

The Generals were highly pleased with their reception.

Going to Meyer's Funeral.

The Boer Generals, Dewet, Delarey and Botha, are expected to arrive at Brussels, says a despatch from that city, next Tuesday for the funeral of Gen. Lucas Meyer. Enormous crowds viewed the ambalmed body of Lucas Meyer yesterday. It will be taken to South Africa. Among the many floral tributes, were wreaths from former President Kruger of the Transvaal and Joseph Chamberlain, the British Colonial Secretary. The wreath sent by Mr. Chamberlain was composed of splendid orchids.

Magnificent For the Crop.

Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—The weather Saturday and yesterday was of the scorching variety. Magnificent for the wheat. Many farmers are now cutting. Last night rain fell in the Winnipeg district.

Wheat cutting will be pretty general by the end of this week. Farm laborers' excursions are eagerly looked for this week.

Ambiguous.

"What I am afraid of," said Miss Primly, shaking her head roguishly, "is the man I married would not love me when I am old."

"If he loved you when he married you," said Miss Candid, "he would."

SARA BERNHARDT.

"Lally Bernard," Special Correspondent of The Globe, Describes Her.

As a Canadian view of the "divine Sara" the following from the Coronation correspondence of The Globe is very interesting:

Speaking of "historical landmarks" I saw that wonderful "Sara" play "La Dame aux Camilles" the other night at the Garrick in a most marvellous way. One cannot for a moment imagine that she can have entered her sixtieth year. Her extraordinary power in the tender love passages in the play, and her genuine tears and sobs in the scene with the father of her lover, were so absolutely heartbreaking that the audience were moved to the most extraordinary extent. I had the pleasure of going to her dressing room with Mrs. Patrick Campbell after the last act, and found the great actress absolutely unnerved and exhausted by the strain of the part she had played with such skill and abandon, although "skill" can hardly be applicable to such a high manifestation of genius. She told Mrs. Campbell that she had thrown herself into the part, knowing that her sister actress was watching her from an upper box. "I have given just a little bit of my life knowing vitality for you," said the great actress of the day to the dark-eyed Anglo-Italian, who was kneeling before her, pouring out her admiration and delight at the marvellous performance we had witnessed. It was an interesting picture, this famous French actress, whom one saw for the first time without the "make-up" of the stage, for genuine salt tears, which had swollen her eyelids and lips, had washed away every vestige of paint and powder, and the black cosmetic which usually makes her eyes look like caverns. Her mass of rather tousley red-gold hair was pushed off her forehead, and the whole contour of the fine face was brought clearly into view. She was so simple, so earnest, so tremulous, and she asked almost plaintively of the actress, who almost worshippers her art, "We do give to the public bits of our lives, it is true, is it not?" "What did she wear?" I can hear my women readers ask.' She was still in her costume in which she is supposed to die in the last scene of that familiar play, and I could only detect that her "robe de nuit" was a filmy knife-pleated garment worn over some close-fitting pink underdress, so that even in this tragic scene the long, tight sleeves which one always associated with Bernhardt almost covered her pink-tipped fingers. A sort of robe de chambre of exquisite white liberty satin was flung carelessly over this intensely Parisian robe de nuit, but one had to exercise one's will power to turn one's attention to what she wore, for the personality of the artistg and the picture made by the two women, who formed such a splendid contrast, riveted one's attention, even though the garment worn by Mrs. Campbell was one which would captivate the writer interested in the subject of frocks and frills. A mass of billowy white chiffon frills, edged with filmy black lace, with a touch of glittering paillettes, and an overdress of most effective Irish lace in bold design, with a bodice impossible to describe to those who have not seen the curious cape effect, which hides the waist line in many of the smart evening frocks. A mass of white roses in the bodice and a spray in the dark hair completed a most effective toilet, but toilets were not in the thoughts of the two great actresses, who have spent a great deal of time together during the last few weeks, having a mutual admiration for each other's work. "It was 3 o'clock this morning when I left her charming garden in Kensington square," Bernhardt said, as she laid her hand on Mrs. Campbell's shoulder, and I could quite imagine that the hours had flown in that most delightful environment.

It is a joy to hear Bernhardt speak French off the stage. The slight guttural pronunciation affected by many members of her company is absent when she speaks, and I noticed the same clearness in enunciation in Coquelin, whom I had the pleasure of meeting at lunch the other day. The extraordinary strides made in the mastering of foreign languages by Londoners is evidenced by the number of foreign plays and players who find the audiences here so tremendously appreciative and satisfactory. Coquelin, Bernhardt and Madame Charlotte Weise at St. George's Hall show how popular French drama has become in London. Sara Bernhardt was to have been present at Westminster Abbey, and the King signed her "command" with his own hand. "She is never to be rushed or hurried to listen and think over what one says," was a remark I heard the other day. "She constantly looks into the heart of things," and I was amazed at the simple, gentle, almost pathetic manner of one of the greatest women of the day.

On taking leave of the well-known actress I ventured to express my gratitude for the intense pleasure the evening had given, and was unexpectedly honored with a hearty embrace from a woman who has not only retained the youthfulness of a girl, but the impulsiveness of a child.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis.

Rev. Gabriel Johnstone, rector of Trinity Church, Welland, writes: I had the deep gratification last week of visiting Mrs. Jefferson Davis, the widow of the late President of the Confederate States. Mrs. Davis is the guest of friends at "Solid Comfort," near Port Colborne. While the sad years which have passed since her husband's death have left their traces on her physically, they have in no way impaired her mental strength and loveliness. She has the incidents of the eventful history through which she has lived beautifully engraved on her memory, and she converses of the men and the times during the stirring scenes when her able and distinguished husband was the leader of the south in a most interesting manner, and the pathos with which she speaks of him as Jeff goes straight to a southerner's heart. I deem it a great privilege and pleasure to have met her.

The Flier of the Future.

The Tourist (en route)—Lemme know when you near Toledo.

Conductor—Passed it thirty-four seconds ago.

Tourist—What time do we reach Adrian?

Conductor—You'll have to speak a little quicker, my friend. That's Adrian back there.

Tourist—Next town is Sturgis, isn't it?

Conductor—It was. It isn't now.

Tourist—Then it's South Bend, I suppose?

Conductor—You are a slow suppose. We passed South Bend three seconds back.

Tourist—What are we stopping for?

Conductor — Chicago.

Hopkinsville Happenings.

Our village marshal is a humane man as well as a vigilant sleuth. He supplies the prisoners in the lockup with fans and ice water at his own expense.

We understand that Mrs. Uriah Day has lost her grandfather at the age of ninety-three and that a cousin of Mrs. Darius Williams dropped dead at the age of eighty-seven. We mingle our tears with those of the bereaved.

We have been criticised for not going to church oftener, but the fact is our best coat is split up the back and cannot be repaired, and we dislike to go in our shirt sleeves. Perhaps we may be able to buy a new coat in the fall.

The Feminine Idea.

"In your basket ball tournament is the first prize for the team that wins the most games?"

The fair devotee of the game looked disgusted.

"What foolish ideas you get!" she exclaimed. "I should think any one would know that the first prize is for the team that has the most attractive costume."

Woman's Wrongs.

She—Woman's unjust treatment begins at the altar.

He—How?

She—Why, her father gives her away, but none of the groom's friends, who know him best, ever give him away.

Proper Prospect.

Wigg—Why do you take off your hat every time Talkalot tells a funny story?

Wagg—That is due to the force of early training. I was brought up to reverence old age.

And Hope Returned.

As the patient returned to consciousness he saw that during a paroxysm he had kicked the covers off. Proceeding to replace them, he remarked:

"Ha, ha! Despite the doctor's doubts I will recover."

Netting For Himself.

Customer—I want fifteen yards of netting.

Clerk—For mosquitoes?

Customer—Naw, you idiot! For myself. The mosquitoes have got enough comforts already.

Thought It Likely.

Mrs. Doozle—And will you love me when I'm old and unlovely?

Doozle—I suppose so. You see, I'll be old and daffy then myself.

A Slight Mistake.

The Rev. Mr. Jones—Did you say the chief had me down for a toast at the banquet?

Savage—No. He's got you down "on toast."

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

20,000 Harvesters Wanted

In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run —To— For

From stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell

WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or Southwest or Northwest of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 10th, 1901, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS and ARE NOT GOOD on "Imperial Limited" and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation on Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest Agent, or to
A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East,
Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSION

$10 To Winnipeg and other Points in Manitoba and Assinaboia.

On complying with conditions of certificates issued with ticket purchasers will be entitled to return transportation for $18.00. Good going from stations north of Toronto and Cardwell Jct., and East to Kingston, on AUGUST 20th.

Tourist Tickets

On sale to Muskoka Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Kawartha Lakes, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., and all Sea Coast resorts.

Illustrated literature and information from agents.

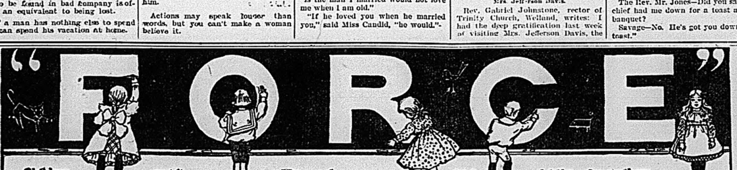
U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

A cross old bachelor says the proper way to bring up children is to keep them down on all possible occasions.

If a pessimist happens to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth he naturally expects it to choke him sooner or later.



"FORCE"
Children eat it like candy, which delights wise mothers

Hackettstown, N. J., April 20, 1902.

"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—I took home a package of "FORCE" yesterday and the children were anxious to try it for supper. We found it suited our palates and our little two-year-old girl cried for the second dish. The first thing this morning on reaching the breakfast table, she, in her baby English, made us understand that she wanted "FORCE" for her breakfast. We are all in love with it, but I am fearful you have got me into a "peck of trouble," as the children want "FORCE" for dinner and supper as well as breakfast.

Yours very truly, —— ——

Name furnished on application.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

Captain Glynne drops his cigarette in his amazement—more at the look in his young wife's face than even at the strangeness of her tone and manner. As he stoops to pick it up, the smouldering cigarette burns his fingers; and a keen pang of regret thrills through poor Yolande's tender, womanly heart at witnessing even this small suffering of her false, cruel love. Half a dozen words of tender humility at this moment would change her mood and purposes — and the current of both their lives, it may be — for ever. She would weep out the secret of her burning grief and disappointment in her husband's arms, and wildly plead like Esau, for even such blessing as there is left to bestow, for such warmth and comfort as are to be found in the ashes of his burnt-out passion for another woman.

"What circumstances?" he demands imperiously, his dark brows drawing together. "What do you mean, Yolande? You are speaking and acting rather oddly, my dear," he adds, trying to control his rising irritation. "For there is something wrong; and, if I don't take care, I shall have a scene," he tells himself in some alarm. "One would think you hadn't vowed all sorts of vows this morning," he says, smiling at her languidly, with a touch of ridicule in his tones — "to be the most loving and dutiful little wife to me!"

The words, the smile, the tone of cynical amusement with her petulance, are as flame to wax. The blood rushes to Yolande's face, crimsoning her very brow, and her brain seems on fire and whirling. She has lost all control of herself in the frenzy of pain and jealous rage, and the wild, mad, taunting words pour out in a torrent.

"So I did; but it was a lie!" she exclaims, clenching her hands, and standing up confronting him, stately and vengeful — he has never imagined that gentle Yolande could look like this handsome fury. "It was a lie — a lie, Captain Glynne — as great a lie as your vow was! I'll never be your loving, dutiful wife — never! I would kill myself first! You have deceived me and wronged me, vilely, cruelly, for the sake of that wretched money! Take it — take it all; but leave me free of you and you all; but leave me free of you and your cruel, cruel falsehood!"

"Have you gone suddenly mad, or are you practising for amateur theatricals, Yolande, may I ask?" Dallas Glynne demands, rising to his feet, and steadying himself by leaning on the table, for he feels absolutely stunned with shocked surprise for a moment.

The cause of this passionate outbreak reveals itself also to him at the same time, and he is hot and cold with wrath and dismay.

"That double-faced traitress has told her!" he thinks, grinding his teeth. "I'll wring that woman's neck the next time I meet her!"

"You know well the reason I have for this," Yolande says slowly and hoarsely. Her rage has spent itself already; nothing but her misery and pain remains. "I heard what — that person — mademoiselle said to you this morning, what you said to her. You married me only for money, and now the girl you do love" — with a piteous glance of timid hopefulness that waits even now for a word of contradiction — "has money, and you can't have her. I wish I had known in time to set you free."

He is sorry for her; he cannot but be sorry for her. The piteous eyes, the trembling, despairing tones touch him deeply. Nevertheless she is not Joyce Murray, the woman he loves. She is only the woman who loves him jealously and passionately, and to whom he is wedded for life. "It's a confounded nuisance!" he thinks with angry impatience. "I always was afraid of this sort of thing with her!"

"There is no use in wishing impossibilities," he says in response to her passionate words. "Since you listened to a conversation which you were never intended to hear, you ought to be satisfied that I would never have acted dishonorably towards you."

"What do you call dishonorably?" Yolande says slowly. The last spark of hope is flickering out now.

"I mean that, having asked you to be my wife, I would have fulfilled my engagement with you at any cost," he answers, and tries to steel himself to say it in a cool and business-like fashion, and not to suffer the sight of the slender figure in the clinging velvet gown, with the white marble-like face and glittering woeful eyes, to overcome his resolution.

"Thank you," she says huskily. "It was not acting dishonorably then, to take all and give nothing."

"Nothing?" he asks haughtily.

"Nothing — nothing!" she repeats wildly. "And I have given you everything!"

"Really," Dallas Glynne says, with frigid displeasure, "beyond giving me a very disagreeable specimen of your temper, I am not aware of receiving anything unusual from you."

"I loved you," the poor girl says slowly, gazing at his cold handsome face and symmetrical figure—"I loved you, Captain Glynne," she repeats, with wide-open eyes, staring as if half blind with misery. "You cared nothing for me — I thought you did. I would not have married you for worlds if I had known what I heard this morning!"

"Oh, nonsense," cries Dallas Glynne irritably, affected by the heart-broken face, the heart-broken tones. "You are a romantic girl and expect absurdities. How could you imagine for a moment that I had never met a woman I liked before I saw you? But, having met you and asked you to be my wife," he continues in a more assured tone, resuming his cold, composmanner, "I determined to be faithful and kind to you, to be a good husband to you, and make you happy; and, but for that gossiping chatterbox of a woman and your own silly jealousy, you would have been happy enough."

"Yes, for a while," Yolande says slowly, gazing at him still in pitiful wonderment that there is no mercy in him for her anguish. "I should have gone on believing—I am so silly and absurd, as you say—that you wouldn't have married me unless you loved me. I should have gone on believing that for ever so long, perhaps. I am glad I found it out so soon. The longer I believed and trusted you, and loved you, and lived with you, the worse it would have been for me. I have been saved from that, I am glad to say!"

"Glad of what?" Dallas demands sharply. "I wish you wouldn't make a scene over discovering a private affair of mine with which you have nothing whatever to do. I was deeply attached to Miss Murray, it is quite true; but, as I had no money and she had no money, she decided on marrying a man who could give her wealth, and I thought I could not do better than follow her example; and, as I could not possibly support a wife on my means, I determined to marry a girl who had some money of her own to supplement mine. Those are the 'ins and outs' of the whole story," he adds impatiently.

"Did she love you," Yolande asks, passing by all he had said beside — "Miss Joyce Murray? Did she?"

"Yes; but she loved herself better," Dallas answers sharply and angrily. "I wish you would drop the subject, Yolande. It is not a pleasant one to me. We have taken each other for better, for worse, and we must try to make each other comfortable and not miserable. If you will be dutiful and affectionate, I will be faithful and affectionate. I can say no more."

"Oh, no," cries Yolande, looking at him with incredulous horror — "never! We could never endure each other now. Can't you — can't we ever get free from each other any more?"

"No—never!" Dallas answers grimly. "We're bound and tied and chained and locked to each other for life. There is no use in repenting now, madam," he says, with a rather mocking smile. "You must put up with me, and I must put up with you. Come, Yolande," he adds, smiling vexedly—"we had better stop playing a scene from a Porte-St.-Martin drama. Nothing is in worse taste in real life than a disagreement between a bride and her bridegroom: come here to me, and let us kiss and be friends." And he crosses the hearth-rug to her as he speaks, and holds out his arms.

But Yolande rushes back from him to the other side of the room, with hands thrust out in repulsion.

"No—no—never! You shall never insult me with your false kisses again!" she cries, with dry, hoarse sobs, her tearless eyes blazing defiance at him. "I told you I would kill myself first! You can have my money—all of it—to do what you please with. Give me only what I always had—a hundred a year; I shall not want a shilling more. Do—do take all the rest, and go away out of my sight!"

"Does this piece of melodramatic nonsense mean that you want, with your whims and tempers, to make me ridiculous in the eyes of the world?" Captain Glynne demands fiercely, the defiance and rage and aversion visible in his young wife's face and attitude nearly maddening him.

He follows her, though she shrinks from him and repels him still, and, catching her arm, forcibly draws her into the centre of the room, beneath the light of the gaselier.

"You are my wife, Yolande, in the eye of the law—you belong to me — you are my property, and I am your owner and master," he hisses furiously through his clenched teeth, "and I shall not allow you to make me ridiculous—to make a scandal about my name! Do you hear? I won't allow you!" he repeats, bruising her arm with the grip of his sinewy fingers in the vehemence of his passion.

"You can kill me," she cries, with a short, wild laugh; "but you can't prevent me from hating and despising you! You can't prevent me from loathing your false, treacherous kisses—bought every one of them — or the very touch of your hand!"

He tightens his grasp of her arm at this fresh taunt. He is so taken by surprise, so hurt and enraged and disappointed, that a murderous passion takes possession of him. He has a struggle with the demon within him not to strike her to the ground, not to beat the life out of her—the pale, slender girl who is in his power, and yet taunts and defies him.

"I don't want to kiss or touch you, I assure you," he says, in a suppressed tone, with all the icy contempt he can express. "I would as soon kiss a baboon! But I mean to insist on your obeying me as far as the letter of the law goes. You can keep to yourself as much as you please. I want none of your charming society, except in public. Will you promise to behave yourself according to the duties of your position as my wife before the eyes of the world, and not disgrace me amongst the gentlewomen of my acquaintance to whom I must introduce you? Answer me!"

"Oh, yes!" Yolande replies very quietly, the pallor of her tortured face spreading to her lips. "I think I can safely promise to behave myself as well as the ladies of your acquaintance, and not to disgrace you. Will you let my arm go, please?"

He sees plainly the marks where his fingers have crushed the velvet of her sleeve, he sees her totter as he releases her, and a throb of compunction and passionate pity for her and her youth and helplessness and misery thrills him through.

"I had better ring for your maid and say good-night to you," he says, trying to keep up his frigid tone. "We are both too upset to carry on this discussion any longer. But we understand each other. That is the main point. Will you say 'Good-night,' or is it to be uncivil war?"

"Good-night," she responds faintly, hurrying out of the room with unsteady steps; and Captain Glynne, left all alone on the evening of his wedding day, looks about the deserted room, and thinks of all that has passed, and slowly and emphatically ejaculates—

"By Jove!"

* * * * * *

A fortnight later, in Paris, the English post is brought in one sunny April morning by the snowy-aproned garcon, and laid on the breakfast table at which Captain Glynne and his wife are seated.

"Madame" — such a slender, pale girlish "madame!" — is pouring out her husband's coffee, and adding hot milk to the exact degree which she has learned suits his taste, whilst he helps her to omelette and butters the petits pains. Briefly, they are practising all the amenities of a tete-a-tete breakfast of a "respectable" married pair.

They are not sitting side by side, but vis-a-vis, as "respectable" married folks do—though it is only fifteen mornings since they sat at their wedding breakfast. There is but the width of the oval table between them apparently — in reality there is the width of the world.

There is a letter with the family crest on the top of the pile; and Captain Glynne opens it first, reads it, changes color, frowns, and rereads it.

"I shall go back to England tonight," he says briefly, "and run up to Pentreath. My uncle is very ill and wishes to see me, and the Viscount is extra civil, which I don't understand, and urges me to come. What would you wish to do?" he asks carelessly, tearing open his other letters and papers. "Oh, here is one for you, Yolande! Stay here, I suppose? I shall come back in any case, in a week or ten days, and you will be all right for society, as the Ormonds and Mainsteys are here. Not that I care much for Lady Jeannie as a companion for you."

"And I do not care at all for Lady Jeannie," Yolande says, in a voice which she vainly tries to steady. "Couldn't I go back to London and stay with aunt Keren?"

"Certainly, or come with me to Pentreath, if you don't mind the circumstances — rather gloomy and all that," Dallas answers, with affected indifference, but watching her closely. "Read the Viscount's letter for yourself — you see, he says Lady Maria — poor soul! — is worse than usual. She has got a new nurse, or attendant, or some one of that kind."

He hands his wife the open letter, and begins reading another and with deep interest — a most dainty letter with a narrow mourning border — and so does not notice that Yolande, after hastily reading the Viscount's letter, has hurriedly opened and read the letter he handed to her, and then instantly put it into her pocket. The envelope bears the Pentreath postmark as well as Lord Glynne's letter and the dainty letter with the mourning border.

"Well, have you made up your mind, Yolande?" Captain Glynne asks presently. "You would not care to visit Pentreath just now, I in a quiet, constrained voice. "I am sure."

"On the contrary," Yolande says should wish to visit Pentreath just now."

"Oh, very well!" he replies coldly.

CHAPTER XIV.

"I wonder," Captain Glynne muses apprehensively, "if there is another 'scene' or unpleasantness of some kind in the air? And yet I hardly think so. Yolande seems to have repented to some purpose of her outbreak on that pleasant wedding day of ours!"

It is a cold, wet spring evening, and he and Yolande have just arrived at Pentreath Place from Paris; and, while he is dressing for dinner, Captain Glynne asks his valet what guests are staying in the house, though he knows quite well already.

Only the Honourable Mrs. Murray and her daughter, the man tells him. They were invited for Easter, but have stayed on since the terrible news of poor Lord Dunavon's death. They will probably stay on now "until the Earl is better," the valet says circumspectly — though every servant in the house knows that the old peer's days are numbered; and, as her ladyship, the Viscountess, is in very bad health, Mrs. Murray takes the Hostess's place "by her ladyship's desire."

"Ay, and by her own most cherished desire, too," mutters Dallas, with bitter contempt. "A far-sighted schemer that smooth-voiced lady is, as full of guiles as she is full of smiles, as one might say, like Silas Wegg. How could such a mother have a daughter that was not false and treacherous in every fibre of her being?"

(To be continued.)

The Coldest Corner

is not too cold to be quickly heated with a "Sunshine" Furnace.

No other heater will extract so much heat from the same amount of fuel, and few others have dampers to which the fire is so obedient.

The "Sunshine" Furnace is simple to operate, easy to clean, needs very little attention, has self-acting gas dampers, and is in every way a modern heater.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for catalogue.

McClary's

London, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, St. John, N. B.

The W. W. CHOWN CO., Limited, Agents.

THE MARKETS.

Grain Markets Are Easier—Liverpool and Chicago Prices Both Down—The Latest Quotations.

Saturday Evening, Aug. 16.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ½d lower to-day, and corn futures partly ½d lower.

Chicago prices eased again slightly today. September wheat closed ⅝c below yesterday, September corn ⅜c lower and September oats 1c lower.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are the closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	73⅝	72¼	74⅜
Chicago	70	70	65⅜	69
Toledo	71⅛	71⅛	70½	72
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	71⅝	67⅜	65⅞	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 75 to	$0 80
Wheat, white, bush	0 75	0 84
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 77	....
Beans, bush	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush	0 84	....
Rye, bush	0 56½	....
Barley, bush	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush	0 48	0 50
Oats, new, bush	0 45	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton	$10 15 to	$10 50
Straw, baled, car lots, ton	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected	$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected	0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected	0 07½
Hides, No. 2, inspected	0 06½
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling	0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected	0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected	0 08
Deacons (dairies), each	0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb	0 07	....

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Aug. 16.—Cattle—Receipts, 75 head; steady on good dry and easier on others.

Veals—Receipts light; ½c lower; tops, $7.50 to $7.75; fair to good, $6.75 to $7.25; common to light, $5.50 to $6.50; grass, $3.50 to $4.

Hogs—Receipts, 5100 head; opened active and 5c to 10c lower, closing strong; heavy, $7.10 to $7.20; mixed medium, $7 to $7.10; Yorkers, $6.90 to $6.95; light do., $6.85 to $6.90; pigs, $6.90; roughs, $5.25 to $5.00; stags, $4.75 to $5; grass, $6.50 to $6.80.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2000 head; dull; 25c lower; top lambs, $5.75 to $6; fair to good, $5.50 to $5.65; culls to common, $4.25 to $5; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; wethers, $4.25 to $4.50; sheep, top, mixed, $3.75 to $4; fair to good, $3.50 to $3.95; culls to common, $2.25 to $3.25; ewes, $3.50 to $3.75.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 16.—Beeves—Receipts, 115 head, all consigned direct; no sales reported. Dressed beef steady; city dressed native sides, 8½c to 12½c per lb. Exports to-day, partly estimated, 1225 beeves, 49 sheep and 7795 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, four head; no trading of much importance; city dressed veals, general sales, 9½c to 12½c per lb.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 5343 head; 22 cars on sale. Sheep slow; lambs slow and weak; common grades lower; about three cars of stock unsold; sheep sold at $2 to $3.62½ per 100 lbs.; lambs at $4.75 to $6.65; dressed mutton, 5c to 7c per lb.; dressed lambs, 8c to 11c.

Hogs—Receipts, 563 head; no sales reported; nominally weak.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Cattle—Receipts, 300; steady; good to prime steers, nominal, $8 to $9; poor to medium, $4.25 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.50; cows, $2.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.50 to $5; calves, $3.50 to $7.25; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $4.75 to $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 10,000; left over, 3500; steady at Friday's close; mixed and butchers', $6.40 to $6.95; good to choice heavy, $6.80 to $7.10; rough, heavy, $6.25 to $6.60; light, $6.20 to $6.90; bulk of sales, $6.40 to $6.90.

Sheep—Receipts, 500; sheep, steady; lambs, steady; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $4.20; western sheep, $2.50 to $4.25; native lambs, $3.50 to $6.75; western lambs, $6.40.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 16.—Live cattle easier, at 13c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 12c to 12½c per lb.

COAL MINES ARE CLOSING.

Use of Fuel Oil on Pacific Sad Blow to Miners.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 17.—Because of the adoption of fuel oil for steamers and otherwise in California, the demand for coal from Nanaimo mines has decreased very rapidly. Up to this year there has been a large fleet employed in the transportation of coal from British Columbia to San Francisco, but this has of late been decreasing.

The greatest blow has now fallen. The superintendent of the new Vancouver Coal Company at Nanaimo met the executive of the Miners' Union and announced the discouraging news that the mines would be shut down for a while, and frankly advised the men to look for other employment.

There is now more coal on the bunkers than the ships will take away for some days, and the Wyefield, one of the heaviest carriers, is going out of service after its next trip. No. 1 mine was closed down last week, just for a few days, it was said, and the Harewood mine was closed for an indefinite period. The closing of the former throws into idleness from 300 to 400 men; the latter only about 50.

ESTABLISHED 1890. PHONE MAIN 4303.

W. F. DEVER & CO.,

STOCK AND BOND BROKERS.

WE EXECUTE ORDERS IN

Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel

on Boston Stock Exchange, over our private wire, for cash or margin.

BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

We solicit accounts for the purchase of listed stocks and bonds.

19 Wellington St. East, Toronto.

Big Removal Sale.

Next month we move into the store across the street now occupied by Mr. J. H. Mills, and from now until we start to move all cash purchases at the store will be subject to a good big discount.

CARPETS, CURTAINS, WALL PAPERS, PICTURES, ETC., at lower prices than you ever before bought similar goods. You can benefit by the sale if you are in need of anything this store contains.

T. P. BROWN

Carpets, Curtains, Wall Paper, Picture Framing.

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.

Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district ~~that~~ they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

[illegible]

How the Great Anthracite Stands at Its Beginning.

Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 18.—At the beginning of the fifteenth week of the anthracite strike the situation is this:

Mines working, 7.

Washeries working, 18.

Number of strikers in region, 95,000.

Coal produced each week, 40,000 tons.

Coal shipped to tidewater weekly, 20,000 tons.

Coal on hand, practically none.

Troops at Shenandoah, 1,500.

Weekly strike bulletin of the United Mine Workers is as follows:

"The strike in the anthracite region firm as the everlasting hills; confidence and quiet reign supreme."

Strikers Still Treating.

Hamilton, Aug. 18.—Saturday afternoon there were further negotiations between the members of the Electrical Workers' Union, who are on strike, and the Cataract Power Company, and they will be renewed on Monday, notwithstanding the conditions fixed by the men, that the arbitration would be off unless the third arbitrator was appointed by noon Saturday.

Juvenile Logic.

Little Ethel—No, I shall never marry, and I intend to bring up all my children not to marry either.

P.M.G. Has Rheumatism.

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—A prominent official has received word that Sir William Mulock is suffering from a serious relapse of his rheumatic trouble, and his trip to Paris was for the purpose of consulting specialists.

1,000 Rebels Killed.

Pekin, Aug. 17.—The Viceroy of Szechuan reports that Imperial troops attacked the rebel headquarters at Inchawa on August 12. One thousand rebels were killed and their leader, Tong Yu Hung, was captured and executed.

"Kim" Will Be There.

London, Aug. 18.—Rudyard Kipling will be present at the coronation ceremonies at Delhi on Jan 1. He will leave for India about the middle of November.

Bishop of Keewatin.

Winnipeg, August 18.—Archdeacon Lofthouse, D.D., was yesterday consecrated Bishop of Keewatin. He is 47, and has been west 20 years.

Chinese Treaty Signed.

London, Aug. 18.—In a despatch from Shanghai the correspondent of The Times says the protocol of the tariff treaty was signed yesterday (Saturday) by the British, American, German and Japanese representatives without reservation, and by the Austrian, Belgian and Dutch representatives ad referendum. The document provides that the new tariff become operative Nov. 1.

Troops to Expel Nuns.

Paris, Aug. 18.—A large force of military left Brest yesterday to aid in the eviction of the nuns from the schools at Folget, Ploudeniel and Saint Meen. The Carthusian monks have decided to emigrate to Austria in October. A syndicate has bought their interest in the manufacture of chartreuse for 8,000,000 francs.

Tragedy at Wetterhorn.

Grindelwald, Switzerland, Aug. 18.—Two Englishmen and two Zermatt guides were overwhelmed yesterday by an avalanche while ascending the Wetterhorn. One of the tourists and a guide were killed. The other members of the party were seriously injured.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

Big Discount Sale

—OF—

Ladies' 'Ready-to-Wear' Summer Skirts

25 per cent. Discount

Commencing Tuesday morning, and for three following days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, we will give a discount of 25 per cent. off all lines of Ladies'

PIQUE, DUCK AND LINEN SKIRTS.

Nothing but this season's goods among the lot, all new styles and well made. Beautifully trimmed and tailor-made styles. This is a great skirt buying opportunity open for the next few days. It will pay you to look through the many lines.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT

J. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 210 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

Clapp's
Crimped Crust
Vienna Rolls

Fresh every morning.
5c each.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up
$20,000,000
(Twenty Millions)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. C. PARKER.
Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locals charged as less than twenty-five words.

Two prisoners and one tramp have been in the cells since Saturday night.

A large number of citizens yesterday visited the park, which is proving a great attraction.

The author of the communication signed "Anglican," commenting upon the services held in St. Thomas' church, must send his or her name to this office to insure insertion.

A parcel containing some gents' furnishings was found on Front street on Saturday night and left at the police station for the owner.

Miss L. M. A. Thompson, Final Examination in Piano, also Harmony, Counterpoint and Musical Form, Toronto Conservatory of Music, will receive pupils after September 1st. Studio Front St., over Gorman's. Telephone 140. 4-11-18-25

Steamers "North King" and "Caspian" leave Belleville daily (except Monday) for Kingston and 1000 Islands at 3.25 a.m., and for Rochester, N.Y., at 11.38 p.m., after June 28th. mc13-d&wtf

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

MR. D. T. RUTLEDGE KINDLY REMEMBERED BY HIS CLASSMATES.

At the close of a class meeting in the Tabernacle church yesterday morning, Mr. D. T. Rutledge one of the members who is leaving the city, was presented with an address and a purse. The address was as follows:—

Mr. D. T. Rutledge,—

Dear Sir,—We your class-mates and, others of the Tabernacle, learn with regret that you and Mrs. Rutledge are about to take up your permanent residence in a distant part of the country. We feel very sorry that the pleasant associations of class and prayer meetings which have so long existed among us should be thus rudely broken. We shall miss you and your kind words of sympathy and counsel from Sabbath to Sabbath.

On leaving this City you will be followed by our earnest prayers to God for your continued spiritual advancement, for continued health and for success in all your undertakings. We ask you to accept this sum of money as a slight token of our respect and esteem for yourself and Mrs. Rutledge.

Signed on behalf of John McNeil's class and others, this 17th day Aug., 1902.
MRS. W. L. BENNINGER,
MRS. J. F. POST.

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, that our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Mr. Walter Patterson spent Sunday in Picton.

Mr. Geo. Cooke, of Toronto, is visiting relatives in the city.

Police Magistrate Flint was in Tweed to-day on business.

Miss Nellie McFee, Foster avenue, is visiting friends in Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Craig, of Tweed, are in the city.

Mrs. D. Snider, of Chicago, is in the city visiting relatives.

Mr. Jos. Mills, of Tweed, spent Sunday in the city with his family.

Mr. J. F. Wilder, of Rochester, N.Y., is visiting relatives in the city.

Mr. Patrick O'Brien, of Toronto, is spending a few days in the city.

Miss Eva Hawley, of Blessington, is the guest of Mrs. D. Lucas, College Hill.

Mr. Bertram Smith has gone to Toronto for a week's visit with friends.

Mr. Bert Hughes, of Montreal, has returned home after spending two weeks here.

Mr. H. Corby and party reached London on Saturday en route for home.

Miss Bertha Aris, of Toronto, is visiting her friend, Mrs. Archie Wall, Dunbar St.

Miss Alice Newton has returned home, after a month's visit with relatives at Halston.

Mr. Gael Donnelly, of Rochester, N.Y., is spending a few days in the city with relatives.

Miss Ella Caverley, of Lattimer, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. M. Ketcheson, College Hill.

Mrs. Charlton, of Hamilton, is in the city the guest of her brother, Mr. Walter Fanning.

Mr. L. Slater has returned home from a visit to friends in Toronto and Peterboro.

Miss Lila and Master Clifford Burrows have gone to Collingwood to visit relatives.

Miss Ella Chisholm, after spending some time at Peterboro, has returned to her home in this city.

Mr. Gifford, of Rochester, N. Y., spent Sunday in the city, the guest of Mr. C. M. Vermilyea.

Miss Nellie Pringle has returned to her home in Napanee, after a visit with relatives in this city.

Miss Minnie Dulmage returned home yesterday after a month's visit with relatives at Rochester, N.Y.

Mrs. Geo. Scott, of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brenton, Charles St.

Miss Cora Fowell, of Woodstock, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lingham, Dundas St.

Mrs. V. McCarthy, who has been in Tornoto for some time, returned to the city on Saturday night.

Miss Mattie McClatchie has returned to Bancroft to her school, after spending her vacation at home.

Miss Ida Scott left this morning for a fortnight's visit with friends in Cordova, Havelock and Norwood.

Mrs. Clow and her granddaughter, Miss Myrtle Clow, of Picton, are visiting at Rev. J. R. Real's, Hillside St.

Mr. Frank Mullins, who has been attending one of the business colleges, has left for his home at Harrisville.

Prof. Rabbitts and Mr. Geo. Rannie have returned home from a fishing expedition at Campbellford and Hastings.

Miss Lulu Weese, of Kingston, eldest daughter of Mr. D. A. Weese, is paying her annual visit to her native city.

Miss Bogart, John St., who has been in Denver, Col., for over a year visiting her sister, Mrs. Neblock, has returned home.

Miss Molly Cronk and Miss Helen Farrington, of Wellington, who have been spending a few days in the city, have returned home.

Mrs. D. McKay and daughter, Miss Ethel McKay, of Port Hope, who have been visiting friends in this city, have returned home.

Mr. Edward C. Pascoe, now of Guelph, after spending Saturday and Sunday at home, returned to the "Royal City" this morning.

Sergt. W. L. Doyle and Corp. F. J. Thorpe, of the 49th Regt., have returned from attending the Canadian School of Musketry at Ottawa.

Miss Clare Brown, who has been spending her vacation at her home here, left to-day to visit friends in Toronto and St. Catherines.

Rev. A. L. Geen, Past Grand Chaplain, has been requested to deliver the oration at the decoration of the graves of deceased Oddfellows at Napanee next week.

Miss Nellie and Master Percy Cook, who have been visiting relatives in Rochester, N.Y., for some time, returned home yesterday morning.

Miss Jessie Crysler, who has been in Toronto during the school vacation, returned to the city on Saturday, and left this morning to resume her scholastic duties.

NEW GOODS.

Here are a few of the many new things which have arrived during the last few days.

Our buyer made several special purchases when in the old country and these goods we are able to mark at much below regular prices.

SILKS

Our silk department has just received several additions to its stock. These consist of Taffeta, Bengaline, Louisine, Peau-de-Soie and Moire Silks. These are bought direct from the factories and will be found exceptionally good value.

—Pure Silk Taffetta, very fine quality, 20 inches wide, special.... 50c

—Heavy Taffeta Silk, 22 inches wide, ... 75c

—Extra Heavy Taffeta, 22 inches wide............ .... $1.00

FANCY FLANNELETTES

These goods make very pretty and inexpensive waists for the house or street. We have some new ones in which could hardly be distinguished from real flannel, these at...... 12½c

DRESS GOODS

Our new dress goods are arriving, plain goods are mostly in evidence with a few fancy weaves. We will be pleased to have you inspect these from time to time as the new things are opened out.

—52 inch pure wool cheviot in grey and black, a fine quality which will make handsome suits 60c

—Black zebeline stripe, something very new, plain ground with satin camel hair stripe. 50 in. wide, $1.35

—Full assortment of black broadcloth from $1.25 to $2 50

PRINT

We have now in some very pretty patterns in red and yellow print for tie downs. These make a very cheap and serviceable covering.

—Good quality washable print, 27 inches wide 10c

—Best quality washable print, 27 inches wide................ 12½c

FANCY COVERS

A lot of new covers just to hand. These are of colored satin embroidered in gold and silver and are very handsome.

—Fancy satin doylie, 9 inches square, embroidered in gold and silver, 45c

—Embroidered yellow satin doylie, pattern in silver of vines and leaves, 12"x12" 75c

—Green satin table cover, plain centre border embroidered in gold and silver, one of the prettiest covers we have ever seen $4.50

TRIMMING

Just in, something very special in fancy material for yokes or other trimmings.

—40 inch embroidered chiffon in blue, pink, black, mauve, heliotrope and black and white, very pretty ... 50c

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

The following are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid at their cottage at Massassaga Park: Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Reid and son Ellis, of Guelph; Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Reid, of St. Louis; Miss Reid, of Tweed, and Miss Maud Reid, of Raleigh, North Carolina.

Mrs. Thomas A. Gardener, formerly of this city, now of St. Catharines, Ont., is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knight, William St. Mr. Gardener is the manager of the gas works in the "Canal City."

Mr. S. C. Chown, formerly of this city, now of Clandeboye, was in town yesterday, and was greeted by many friends. In the afternoon he was specially welcomed by the Bridge Street Sunday School, of which he was formerly assistant superintendent.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Mr. Wm. Holland Despard, Toronto, son of Mr. Wm. Pigott Despard, of Picton, formerly of Denoro House, Queen's Co., Ireland, and Miss C. Barratt. Fuller, daughter of Mrs. Charles Fuller, Rosedale, Toronto. The wedding will be solemnized in St. Simon's church, in that city, on Thursday, September 4th.

Arrivals at the Quinte: T. J. Park, Winnipeg; Miss Walsh, Miss Willworth, Kingston; S. Williams, J. T. Gayne, G. Beidgman, W. O. LaBelle, W. R. Carmichael, J. H. Gregg, M. E. Gilbert, Montreal; Dr. J. T. Reid and wife, St. Louis; A. N. Reid and wife, Guelph; Miss Maud Reid, Raleigh, N.C.; Miss Reid, Tweed; Master Ellis Reid, Guelph; C. M. Reid, Belleville; J. C. Baker and wife, Cameron, M.; Capt. G. S. Maunsell, Ottawa; A. W. Robertson, Cascades; H. P. Thompson, Merrickville; R. Smith, W. Laidlaw, J. S. Walsh, W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Jaffray, A. W. Hancock, Toronto; G. Caldwell, Decatur, Ill.; A. Riddell, Gilmour; R. C. Carter and wife, Deseronto; Z. H. Jarman, New York; W. H. Garratt and wife, Yonkers, N.Y.; Mrs. W. H. Garratt, Miss F. Edsall, Wellington; Mrs. P. H. Hallister, Rochester, N.Y.; S. E. Darby and wife, Denver, Col.; J. L. Dunkley and wife, Chicago, Ill.; W. J. Farley, Trenton; A. McNeil, Walkerville; J. D. Webb, C. Broley, Cobourg; D. E. K. Stewart, Madoc.

BIG BLOUSE and WRAPPER SALE

NATHAN JONES.

Never before have we offered two better bargains to our customers than we offer this week. Of course we lose money on every sale but we are determined to clear them all out to make room for Fall importations.

Blouse Sale

This week all our colored print blouses ranging from 50c to $1.00

For 25c each.

Surely a big reduction is that.

Wrapper Sale

All our wrappers at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.40 to be cleared out

For 75c each

That's much cheaper than you can make them for.

Also a few lines of our 12½c Ginghams left to be cleared out at 10c.

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

"Ye Olde Fashioned Style"

We have of late purchased about forty dozen old fashioned Alhumbru Blue Cups and Saucers. They are of the style that was all the go some fifty years ago, and if you want a nice old fashioned cup and saucer, the very kind your grandmother used to use, now is your chance.

They are selling at 10c each or $1.10 a dozen and they shall go fast at the prices marked.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1902. NO. 92

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents. Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

A Venerable Pair

(Napanee Beaver.)

William Burley, J. P., Moneymore, North Hastings, not far from Tweed, is now 103 years of age, and his wife, also still living, is but a few years younger. They are natives of Ireland, but came to Canada many years ago, where they have lived and prospered ever since. They are both still in the enjoyment of fairly good health, considering their many active years. John Allen, J. P., Marlbank, is their son-in-law.

To Kill Kaiser And Czar

Daring Attempt to Assassinate Them at Reval Recently.

Double Assassination Planned by Launch-Load of Russian Nihilists Disguised as Russian Officers—Remarkable News From London—Leader was About to See Emperors.

New York, Aug. 19. — A London cable to The Journal says: Russian despatches describe a daring attempt to assassinate the Kaiser and Czar together at Reval recently.

While the two monarchs were dining together on the Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, a launch bearing five men came alongside. She looked exactly like a Russian man-of-war's launch. One of the men wore the uniform of a Russian officer, while the other four wore the uniforms of Russian seamen.

In reality they were Russian Nihilists, bent on assassination.

The man in the officer's uniform, boarded the Hohenzollern and informed the officer of the watch that he belonged to the Czar's yacht, the Standart, and had urgent messages for the Czar's immediate perusal.

Owing to the urgency of his commission, he asked to be taken to the Czar without delay.

As the officer of the watch started to show him below, the captain of the Standart appeared on deck. He heard that one of his officers desired to see him, and confronted the disguised Nihilist, who drew a pistol, and tried to cover his retreat to the launch, but after a fight, was disarmed and arrested.

The four accomplices in the launch steamed away during the confusion and evaded the patrol boats, although they scoured the sea all night.

The ringleader confessed his intention to kill the two Emperors at one time.

Story Is Discredited.

Vienna, Aug. 19.—The report that an attempt had been made to blow up the German imperial yacht, Hohenzollern off Reval, Russia, recently, while Emperor William of Germany and the Czar of Russia were on board was discredited by all the newspapers of Vienna yesterday, including The Neus Wiener Journal, which published the report Aug. 16.

THEY TAKE WEEKS.

Ordinary remedies sometimes take weeks to even relieve cases that Catarrhozone cures at once.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes now and again and it cures a cold.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes every hour and we guarantee it will cure any case of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung or Throat Trouble, Deafness. It is very pleasant and convenient to use, quick to relieve, and certain as the hereafter to cure. Large size, complete, price $1.00; small size, 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Getting Ready for Fall Goods

We are now opening our New Fall Goods. This means we must have room, and to make room for the New Goods we offer the following lines at exactly Half Price :

Ladies' Colored Cotton Shirt Waists will sell at	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Shirt Waists	Half Price
Ladies' Colored Cotton Costumes	Half Price
Ladies' White Pique Skirts	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Dress Skirts	Half Price
One Table of fancy Dress Muslins	Half Price
Ladies Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Children's Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Colored Leather Belts	Half Price
Fancy Belt Buckles	Half Price
All Fancy Parasols	Half Price

New Silk Waists

We have just opened some very pretty Styles in Ladies' Black, White and Colored Silk Waists at $4.00 4.50, $5.00, $5.50, $6.00 and $6.50.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

DEATH OF A YOUNG LADY

MISS MAGGIE PATTERSON, OF THURLOW, PASSES AWAY.

Miss Maggie O. Patterson, daughter of Mr. Joseph Patterson, who resides near Plainfield, in the township of Thurlow, died yesterday afternoon, after a lingering illness of stomach trouble. Deceased was born in the township of Sheffield, 22 years ago, and with her parents moved to Thurlow some two years ago. Miss Patterson was an estimable young lady who made friends wherever she moved. She was a consistent member of the Methodist church and always took an active part in church work. Her demise is sincerely regretted by a large circle of acquaintances. In addition to the parents, two brothers and two sisters survive. The remains will be interred to-morrow at Park's burying ground.

THE CAUSE OF DYSPEPTIC PAINS.

Improperly digested food usually forms gases that cause a painful distention of the stomach and pressure against the heart. This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Cramps, Summer Complaint and all Stomach and Bowel Troubles. No household is complete without Nerviline. Try a 25c bottle.

MUSICAL EVENING

BRIDGE STREET EPWORTH LEAGUERS AND THEIR FRIENDS ENJOY A TREAT.

At the Bridge Street Epworth League meeting last evening a musical programme was given. During the evening Mr. W. S. Moore read a paper on Miss Havergal and the incidents leading to the writing of some of her poems. A paper on Longfellow and his "Rainy Day," referring to its musical setting, by Deemster, was followed by this song by Miss Lucy Holton. Miss Helen Landers contributed a vocal solo and Miss Maud Crothers a violin solo. Following a sketch of Lady Nairne and an account of her writing, "The Land of the Leal," by Mr. Horace Clarke, Miss Pearl Fanning sang a pretty setting of the poem. "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," by Miss Holton, was preceded by an account of the life of Handel, by Mr. Grant McClatchie.

A good audience was present and enjoyed the excellent programme. Mr. Schriver acted as chairman.

THE PENALTY OF A FAST LIFE.

Is paid for by an irritable condition of body and mind, by exhausted energy, poor digestion, unstrung nerves and broken sleep. If you must and will live the killing pace, better keep in mind the sustaining powers of Ferrozone, a wonderful tonic and reconstructor. Ferrozone is a blood maker, a nerve strengthener, a heart and brain invigorator. It creates appetite, insures perfect digestion and undisturbed sleep, restores the vitality and strength lost by excessive living very quickly. Ferrozone will do you inestimable good, try it. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or J. S. McKeown.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

A Lively Run Away

A lively runaway occurred on Moira street this morning. Miss Fairburn was driving towards the city, when the horse became frightened at some portion of the harness giving away, and off it started at a lively gait. Miss Fairburn held on pluckily until the animal was stopped near the upper bridge. No damage was done.

Surrogate Court

Finlay Osborne, late of the city of Belleville, probate of will granted to Maria Osborne and Geo. W. Taylor. Estate not given. Messrs. Clute & Morden, solicitors.

Ida A. Kelly, late of Thurlow, letters of administration granted to John Kelly. Estate $280. Messrs. Northrup & Roberts, solicitors.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co's.

Some girls give up a kiss as if they were having a tooth pulled.

Pay a man a compliment, and in a few minutes he will fish for another.

It never rains on the unjust if he can get hold of an umbrella belonging to the just.

THE STROKE WAS FATAL

MRS. WM. WATKINS A VICTIM OF PARALYSIS.

Mrs. Watkins, wife of Mr. Wm. Watkins, proprietor of the Ferry House, died at an early hour this morning. A few weeks ago the deceased was stricken with paralysis and on Saturday evening she received another stroke which terminated fatally. Mrs. Watkins was 58 years of age, and was a daughter of Mr. Daniel Gerow, and a sister of Mr. A. Gerow, who resides in the city. She was born in Prince Edward County and had resided in this vicinity the greater portion of her life. A husband but no family survives. A large circle of relatives and acquaintances will regret her demise.

ELEVATOR DESTROYED

CAMPBELLFORD STRUCTURE SUFFERS DAMAGE BY FIRE.

Campbellford, Aug. 18. — About 7 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in Fowlds' grain elevator, situated in the western part of this town, and some 2,000 bushels of grain were destroyed. A small frame building adjoining the elevator, owned by Mr. Dunwoodie, and used by Mr. Fowlds as a storehouse, was also burned. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin. Buildings and contents were covered by insurance.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

A TYENDINAGA MAN ARRESTED FOR AN ALLEGED CRIMINAL OFFENCE.

Joseph Kennedy, an unmarried man, about 30 years of age, was arrested yesterday by High County Constable Duffin on a serious charge, namely, attempting to criminally assault Mrs. Cousins, who resides at Thomasburg. It appears that one day last week Kennedy whose home is in Tyendinaga, was at Tweed and on his way home called at the home of Mrs. Cousins, and, it is alleged, endeavored to commit the offence with which he is charged. Mrs. Cousins' outcry brought assistance and Kennedy made an hasty exit. The accused will be brought up before the Magistrate to-morrow for a preliminary examination.

IMPROVEMENTS AT RIFLE RANGES

CAPT. MAUNSELL WILL RECOMMEND SOME MATERIAL CHANGES.

During the visit here of Captain Maunsell, engineer of the Department of Militia, he visited the Rifle Range with Col. Ponton, and he will recommend some repairs and permanent improvements which will cost several hundred dollars. It is too bad that these Ranges have this year been allowed to fall into disuse, and that the young men of the Regiment appear to take no interest in this line of defence. Free ammunition and good ranges should invite all to this manly and useful accomplishment. Both Inspecting Officers, as "old shots," believe a 1000-yards range quite feasible, and an effort will be made to secure it. This would put our range on a par with the best in Canada. Col. Ponton has volunteered to instruct a cadet corps in shooting if one is found.

Give the Baby a Chance.

During the hot weather, give the baby a chance to become strong and happy. If the milk or prepared food you are now using is not agreeing with your child, try Lactated Food at once. This marvellous infant food is making thousands of weak babies strong and vigorous. Every mother can keep her baby safe from the dangers of summer by using Lactated Food.

AGED NEGRO SELLS HIMSELF FOR $1000

WORRIED BY DEBTS, HE TAKES THIS MEANS OF SQUARING ACCOUNTS.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 15.— Jerry Logan, the aged negro janitor of the State Supreme Court, has sold himself to Gerald Stuart, clerk of the court, for $1,000. For this sum he agrees, in a written contract, to serve and obey Stuart as his legal master from now until the time of his death. Logan has lately been worried by debts, which he will pay now from the sum to be paid him for his liberty. He is an ex-slave, born of slave parents sixty years ago, and has many white friends of the old regime.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

R. T. of T.
C. M. B. A.
Y. M. C. A.
Prentice Boys.
Public Library.
Oxford Lodge S. O. E.
Band Concert at Park.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Moderate to fresh northerly winds, clearing and cool. Wednesday, fine; not much change in temperature.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	68
12 m.	72
2 p.m.	75
3 p.m.	80

Police Court.

The police court room would not hold all who sought to gain admission this morning. Two cases were down for hearing and both excited considerable interest.

Assault.

The first case called was that of Mrs. Jane Smith against Chas. Fry, whom she charged with assaulting her and also threatening to shoot her. The evidence of the plaintiff was given with no uncertain sound, but she was contradicted upon many points. The result of the investigation was that Fry was convicted of a common assault and was fined $4 and costs.

Two Charges of Assault.

Wesley Howell had to answer to two charges, namely: assaulting his wife, and assaulting an officer whilst in the discharge of his duty. Through his solicitor, Mr. Wm. Carnew, he pleaded guilty to the charges. The Magistrate in passing sentence stated that Mrs. Howell had asked for leniency in the case, and in consideration of her request he would impose a fine of $10 and costs, or in default, one month in jail. Upon the other charge a suspended sentence of one year in the Central Prison was imposed. The Magistrate administered to Howell a severe reprimand. Mr. P. J. M. Anderson, prosecuted.

A Nuisance.

John McDonald, who resides in Thurlow, just outside of the city limits, was charged with maintaining a nuisance, by keeping pigs. After some evidence had been taken the case was dismissed.

A Handsome Recognition

Some little time ago Lieut.-Col. Ponton, at the request of Mr. Winfield M. Thompson, of Boston, forwarded a photograph of the "Atlanta" and "Norah," taken during their race on the Bay of Quinte, and also a summary of the history of the "Atlanta," her measurements, outlines, etc., for the purpose of a publication regarding the America Cup. It will be remembered that in the palmy days of yachting in Belleville, the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club sent the "Atlanta" as their challenger to compete for the cup, and, although she did not bring it back, she gave a good account of herself. The book published by Mr. Thompson and by Mr. Thomas W. Lawson, the well-known authority on yachting, is a magnificent volume, limited to 3,000 copies, embellished with colored engravings, and most artistic letter, press and binding. The happy possessor of this volume will have not merely a complete record of yachting in America, but also a work of art seldom equalled on this continent, either as to typography or illustrations. Colonel Ponton appreciates very much the kindness of the donors in recognition of a simple act of courtesy on his part.

A GOOD SUIT OF CLOTHES.

A good suit means, as a general rule, "good for the money." The Oak Hall will sell you suits at $5, $6 and $7, pure wool, that are good, but we believe the very best value all around is in our $10 suits. You can readily understand that at this price you get better trimmings and workmanship, as well as better cloth. We would like to see the really particular man try and find fault with an Oak Hall suit at $10.

THE BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Wanted—A number of bright, clever young men who are anxious to qualify for good positions. We have requests for graduates which we are unable at present to fill. Students who have passed through one or two forms of High School work make desirable office help after they have taken one or two of our departments. Call or write for particulars.—J. FRITH JEFFERS, M.A., Principal.

You Can Buy
BEST FOR WASH DAY.
SURPRISE SOAP.
THE ST. CROIX SOAP MFG CO
ST. STEPHEN N.B.
BEST FOR EVERY DAY.
of any Grocer

GORMAN'S
THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

$1 $1 $1

BARGAINS FOR LADIES

Just such values as will delight all you ladies who are judges of shoe qualities.

We want you to see these shoes—we wish you to have these bargains—come—have first choice.

Seventy pairs of ladies' fine kid low shoes, nobby—easy—durable—regular $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 lines, now clearing at.... $1.00

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR
Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn
Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon
Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie
Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.
Est'd
1871
Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co.
Yards—Foot Front St.
Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

EXPLOSION IN SPIRIT TANK

Southampton Machinist Blown to Death While at Work.

Train Ran Down a Young Man and Two Ladies in Essex County—John Smith of Seely's Bay Fatally Injured in a Runaway Accident—Threshing Machine Belt Beheads Herman Neher—Boy Fatally Burned at a Toronto Hospital.

Southampton, Aug. 19. — Shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning George Nahrgang, machinist, in the factory of the S. Knechtel Wood Turning and Furniture Company, met with a fatal accident. He was working on an iron tank having a capacity of 100 gallons, which had contained methylated spirits, but which had been empty for months. The unfortunate man was fitting on an iron plate, which had been heated, when it is supposed the hot iron caused the accumulated gas within to explode with a report that was heard for blocks. The end of the tank was driven out and hurled some distance, striking him on the legs in its course. He was thrown a dozen feet. Both legs were broken in several places. He lived until 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon. A widow and five children mourn his demise.

Three Killed at Once.

Woodslee, Essex, Aug. 19.—A terrible railway accident occurred near here about 11.50 Sunday night, which caused the death of one young man, Jack Brown, and two young ladies, named Scraums, whose homes are near Essex. The parties were walking on the double tracks coming east from Essex, a westbound train was approaching. They stepped off the westbound track on to the eastbound track, not noticing the fast eastern express.

Killed in a Runaway.

Kingston, Aug. 19.—In a runaway accident at Seeley's Bay, John Smith, farmer, aged 45, was killed. His body was badly crushed, and he died almost instantly. He left a wife and ten sons and daughters.

Beheaded By a Machine.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 19.—Caught in a belt revolving at great speed, Herman Neher, son of David Neher, was instantly killed while fixing a break in his father's threshing machine on the farm of the latter, four miles south of Auburn. The Nehers are a rich family. The son was stooping over the separator and was engaged in removing an obstruction when his head became caught in the belt. He was dragged to a pulley, where his head was severed. He died in the presence of several threshermen, who were powerless to aid him.

Man Gave Him a Copper.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Coroner Aikins is investigating into the circumstances surrounding the death of 6-year-old Albert Bradshaw, which occurred in the General Hospital on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. About 6 o'clock on Saturday evening he went out on the front lawn, where, according to his own statement, a man gave him a cent. With the copper he went outside and bought some matches. Shortly afterwards another patient heard a cry, and looking out the window saw Bradshaw enveloped in flames. Securing a blanket he hurriedly ran towards the lad, and throwing the blanket around the boy, smothered the fire. At the time it was not thought that the lad was injured seriously. On Monday afternoon he suddenly collapsed and expired. Deceased's father works at Muskoka, and he has a sister living. The address of either are not known.

Craig Died For Others.

Woodstock, Aug. 19.—Fuller particulars of the drowning of George Craig in Muskoka show that he gave his life for others. When the canoe upset three were left clinging to it. Craig saw it would not bear the weight and let go.

Four-Year-Old Killed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—W. Johnston, 4-year-old son of D. Johnston, Water street, was killed in the railway yards yesterday.

Cassell Maxwell, son of Andrew Maxwell, Holland, who accidentally received the charge of a rifle in the stomach, may die.

Judge's Fatal Fall.

Zermatt, Switzerland, Aug. 19. — The body of Dr. Largin, chief judge of the Berne Court, was found yesterday at the bottom of a precipice of Mount Dom, which the deceased climbed last Saturday.

Brakeman Pitched 30 Feet.

Guelph, Aug. 19.—There was quite a smash on the W., G. & B. division of the G.T.R. about 11.30 Saturday night. A car of cement, an empty box car, and two cars containing lumber were thrown into the ditch. Andy Dawson, a brakeman, from Walkerton, was pitched some thirty feet. He escaped with a few scratches on the face and several bruises on the body. One theory is that the cement car was overloaded and broke down.

Bartlett Charged With Abduction.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Behind the arrest on Monday night of William Bartlett of Toronto Junction, and Rena Victoria Bryan of Owen Sound, there is an interesting love story. Bartlett is but 17 years old and the girl but 15 years of age. The young man is charged with abduction, and Miss Bryan with stealing a valise. Both charges are preferred by the aunt of the girl. The couple will be taken to Owen Sound to-day for trial.

Placed Under Arrest

Paris, Aug. 19.—The Temps says that Commandant Leroy Ladurie of the Nineteenth Infantry, who refused to obey an order to aid in closing unauthorized schools, has been placed under arrest. All the schools in Brittany have now been closed.

TORISHIMA OVERWHELMED.

All the Inhabitants of the Little Japanese Island, One Hundred and Fifty People, Were Killed.

Yokohama, Aug. 19.—The little island of Torishima was overwhelmed by a volcanic eruption between August 13 and 15, and all the inhabitants, numbering 150 persons, were undoubtedly killed.

The island is covered with volcanic debris and all the houses on it have disappeared. The eruption is still proceeding, and is accompanied by submarine eruptions in the vicinity, which make it dangerous for vessels to approach the island.

Torishima is one of a chain od islands, extending between the Bonin Torishima is one of a chain of island of Japan.

STRIKER SHOT AND KILLED.

Armed Deputies Clash With the Discontented—An Arrest Made.

Nesquehoning, Pa., Aug. 19.—In a clash between strikers and deputies here last night, Patrick Sharp, a striker, of Lansford, was shot and killed almost instantly by a deputy. The shooting caused considerable excitement for a time, but order was soon restored without any other persons being injured, and the town is now quiet. A deputy named Harry McElmoyle was arrested, charged with the killing of Sharp, and was taken to the county jail at Mauch Chunk. Sheriff J. H. Gombert of this county (Carbon) is at Mauch Chunk. It is reported here that he may ask that a detachment of the troops now stationed at Shenandoah be sent into the Panther Creek Valley.

Fighting For Arbitration.

London, Aug. 19.—William Abraham, member of Parliament for the Rhondda Valley division of Glammonashire, and president of the Wales Miners' Federation, in a speech delivered yesterday before the Rhondda Valley miners, urged the acceptance of the proposal of a financial contribution to assist the striking miners in the United States, who, he said, were fighting for the cherished principle of arbitration. The meeting passed a resolution in favor of contributions being made by the federation.

GOOD INDIAN HANGED.

Real Murderer Makes a Deathbed Confession 13 Years Later.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 19.—A deathbed confession made public yesterday proves that the wrong man was hanged for a murder on the Umatilla Indian Reservation thirteen years ago. Pilyou, a young Indian, was convicted and hanged for the murder of Agnes Tessant.

Two weeks ago Victor Williams, an Indian, finding himself dying of consumption, confessed to his wife that he murdered Mrs. Tessant and that Pilyou was innocent. He said he had not intended killing her, but as she had money and lived alone he determined to rob her. While he was ransacking her house she made an outcry and seized him. Thereupon he murdered her. He had kept his secret thirteen years, suffering agonies whenever he thought of the murdered woman and Pilyou, his friend, whom he allowed to be hanged.

Commerce of the World.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The State Department made public yesterday a report from United States Consul Winter at Annaberg, dated July 19, showing the commerce of the world for 1901, according to German statistics. The total imports and exports trade of all countries is given as approximately $23,800,000,000. Great Britain and her colonies heads the list, with the great total of nearly seven billions of dollars. Germany is placed second with $2,618,000,000, and the United States third with $2,118,200,000.

Col Lynch Breaks Down.

London, Aug. 19.—Colonel Arthur Lynch, M.P., for Galway, awaiting trial for high treason, in having held command under the Boers, is breaking down in prison. He seems deeply impressed by the gravity of his situation, and is inclined to plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the Crown. The prosecution has gathered conclusive evidence of the truth of the charges, and Colonel Lynch's own statement is accepted as a confession of guilt.

London C.I. Heads the List.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—The lists of the successful candidates in the junior matriculation examinations in the Province to Toronto University show F. C. Bowman of London Collegiate Institute at the head of the entire Province. It is worth about $400 a year to him besides fees.

Not Even Crazy People would scour their faces with brickbats, but thousands of persons do things infinitely more foolish.

The skin of the face, though delicate, is rhinoceros hide compared with the mucous membrane of the stomach and bowels.

Yet these sensitive organs are constantly scoured with drastic medicines, to their incalculable injury.

The Cure for Constipation is not a violent cathartic, but a mild and tonic laxative—which is another way of saying

IRON-OX TABLETS

LIKE A SHOAL OF PORPOISES

Torpedo Boat Destroyers Tossed About the Royal Yacht.

The King Faced Torrents of Rain and Half a Gale of Wind—The Naval Manoeuvres Shortened and Finally Curtailed—At Five O'clock the Fleet Dispersed to Take Up Its Usual Duties and King Returned to Cowes.

London, Aug. 19.—The naval manoeuvres in the Solent yesterday were marred by the weather. Torrents of rain and half a gale of wind drove the spectators from the sea front and it was noon instead of 10 o'clock when the royal yacht Victoria and Albert left Cowes, and took King Edward through the lines of the fleet. Subsequently an array of battleships and cruisers, to the number of nearly eighty, unmoored, formed in two columns and passed on either side of the Victoria and Albert. All the war vessels manned ship as they passed the royal yacht.

The evolutions of the fleet had to be curtailed in consequence of the weather rendering the proposed difficult "gridiron" movement dangerous. The flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers escorting the King pitched in such a way that they looked from a distance like a shoal of porpoises playing around the royal yacht. The Victoria and Albert returned to Cowes at about 5 o'clock, and the fleet dispersed to take up its usual duties.

KING CALLS QUEEN "WIFE."

Boer Leaders Pleased With Introduction to Alexandra.

New York, Aug. 19.—W. T. Stead, cabling The Journal from London says, speaking of the Boers meeting the King: I was very much more interested in seeing the Boer generals than in meeting 20 kings. Dewet surprised me the most; he is almost as tall as Botha, and much sturdier. His face is deeply lined like a seaman's rather than a farmer's. His manners are polished and his conversation almost courtly. He is much more of the thoroughbred gentleman in manners and conversation than are most of the officers he led such a dance over Africa.

They were pleased, too, that the King spoke of the Queen, not as the Queen, but simply as his "wife," just as if she had been plain Mrs. Guelph.

THE BOER GENERALS.

Secretly Left London Monday Night to Avoid the Crowds.

London, Aug. 19.—Dewet, Botha, and Delarey left last night for the Continent to attend the funeral of Gen. Meyer. After Saturday's experiences they were not willing to again face the ordeal of a British crowd, so the Generals chartered a special steamer and kept the railroad station where they entrained and their port of sailing a secret.

Authorized Statement.

Montagu White, the ex-consul-general in London of the Transvaal, has issued a statement authorized by the Boer generals, as follows:

"The generals are proceeding to the Continent for the purpose of greeting Mr. Kruger and Mr. Steyn, and attending the funeral of Gen. Lucas Meyer. Their present intention is to return to London at an early date for the transaction of business, but they have not decided on any fixed program. During their brief stay in London the generals have been the recipients of many invitations and kind messages of welcome, which they fully appreciate.

"The report that the decision of the generals not to visit the naval review was due to the influence of Fischer, is not true. Their real reason for declining the invitation Saturday was that they did not consider their attire quite suitable for a ceremonious visit, and the necessarily short notice conveyed to them did not give them the time for the necessary preparations. But they were glad of the opportunity of paying their respects to the King on the following day, after they had made the necessary purchases, and they are gratified at the kind manner in which they were received by His Majesty."

The Shah in London.

London, Aug. 19.—The Shah of Persia, Muzaffar-Ed-Din, and his suite, reached London yesterday and took up their residence at Marlborough House, as guests of King Edward. When he left the train at Victoria Station he was resplendent in a blaze of diamonds. The Prince of Wales, Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Minister; Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief, and the members of the Persian legation, and others, met the royal traveler at the station. The Prince of Wales and the Shah shook hands, and the visitor was introduced to the prominent persons present. The Prince of Wales subsequently conducted the Persian monarch to a royal carriage, and they drove off, escorted by a detachment of life guards and followed by other carriages.

Proceed With Sledges.

Rome, Aug. 19.—The Buenos Ayres correspondent of The Secolo cables that further news has been received there of the Nordenskjold Antarctic expedition. The vessel is imprisoned in the ice and preparations had been begun to proceed in dog sledges.

Nations Represented.

Christiania, Aug. 19.—About 1,000 foreign delegates representing all nations are here to attend the Young Men's Christian Association World's Congress, which will open to-day and last until Aug. 26.

Manitoba Potato Crop.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—The Manitoba potato crop will be only fair this year. The acreage is smaller than usual, and the weather has not been altogether favorable.

Do not go without Abbey's Salt!

If you have a bottle of Abbey's in your travelling bag, you are safe from the discomfort and danger of constipation, biliousness, sour stomach and kindred ailments that mar the pleasure of a holiday trip.

Take a teaspoonful of

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

in a glass of water before breakfast and it will keep you well for the rest of the day.

Tell your druggist you want 'Abbey's.'

SEES CO-OPERATIVE SYSTEM.

Hon. Mr. Ross Talks of Canadian and Australian Steamship Lines

London, Aug. 19. — Hon. G. W. Ross sailed from Liverpool on the steamship Lucania. In an interview he said that within a year Australian and Canadian steamship lines would be working under a co-operative system. This, Mr. Ross believed, would benefit the Empire more than strenuous competition. The new South African steamship service would probably mean the early inauguration of a fast mail service between England and Canada.

Halifax Permanent Terminus.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—A story was in circulation yesterday that Halifax will be the summer as well as the winter terminal of the fast Atlantic line; that Hon. J. Israel Tarte is bluffing when he so energetically favors Quebec against Montreal for the summer terminus. The same story states that the C.P.R. will construct an air line to Halifax and secure the contract. A well-known and a well-informed financial gentleman says that the matter will not be finally decided until a full meeting of the Cabinet is held, but that the Nova Scotia port will eventually be the all year terminal.

E. P. HANNAFORD DEAD.

Former Chief Engineer of the Grand Trunk Succumbs to Heart Trouble.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—E. P. Hannaford, formerly chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway, died suddenly yesterday at his residence in this city. He had been away with his family at Campo Bello, N.B., and while there, the heart trouble which had been threatening him became more acute, about 10 days ago. They returned to the city Sunday, but from the strain of the journey he succumbed to heart failure yesterday. Mr. Hannaford was born in England in 1834. He came to Canada in 1857, and the year following got a position with the Grand Trunk Railway. He rose to the highest point possible, the post of chief engineer, which he resigned in January, 1894. He leaves two sons, E. P. Hannaford, jr., and R. M. Hannaford, and two daughters.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Monday.

Worcester 6, Toronto 5.
Newark 1, Buffalo 7.
Providence 9, Montreal 4.
Jersey City 6, Rochester 10.

National League, Monday.

Pittsburg 7, Philadelphia 4.
Chicago 0, New York 5.
Cincinnati 2, Boston 11.

American League, Monday.

Philadelphia 2, Chicago 5.
Baltimore 11, St. Louis 1.
Boston 4, Detroit 4. 11 ins. Called darkness.
Washington 3, Cleveland 6.

Exhibits of Canadian Fruit.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—The Agriculture Department has decided to send samples of this year's fruit, just picked, to the Cork and Wolverhampton Fairs for free distribution. The first shipment of this fruit will be forwarded next week and subsequent shipments will follow as soon as the different species of fruit ripen.

Prof. Schenk Dead.

Vienna, Aug. 19.— Professor Leopold Schenk, author of "Determination of the Sex," died at Schwanberg, Syria.

English Writers Entertained.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—The Harbor Commissioners entertained the English journalists yesterday and the harbor was inspected. Hon. Mr. Tarte was present and made a characteristic speech.

Tweed to North Bay.

Kingston, Aug. 19.—The Bay of Quinte R.R. Co. purposes extending its line from Tweed to North Bay.

Three Sent to Jail.

Berlin, Aug. 19.—Three young men were sent to jail yesterday for tampering with a fire alarm box.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—8 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT.
J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B. C. L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 67.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge,
Q. C.,
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also mone to loan at 4½ per cent upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian . . .	Est'd 1821
The North America, .	Est'd 1792
Quebec, . . .	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS. Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life nsurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIF
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. ocs-d&w

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire in Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
I can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont, Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses.
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St. Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

SIR OAIVER MOWAT.

Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario Passes His 82nd Birthday on July 22, 1902—A Very Popular Gentleman.

No citizen of Toronto is more widely known or respected throughout the Dominion than his Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor Sir Oliver Mowat, K.C.M.G., who was 82 years of age on Tuesday, July 22, 1902. Sir Oliver was born in Kingston on July 22, 1820, his father, John Mowat, of Canisbay, Caithness-shire, Scotland, having settled in that city in 1816. At the age of seventeen, having picked up as much of an education as the best schools then afforded, he entered the law office of the late Sir John Macdonald, who was a few years his senior, where he diligently studied the profession he had taken up, and in 1842 he was called to the Bar, commencing his practice in the city of his birth. Before long he realized that Toronto offered a wider field, and removed to that city, where he has since made his home. He became a prominent member of the Chancery Bar, and in 1856 was made a Queen's Counsel, and appointed commissioner for the consolidation of the statutes of Upper and Lower Canada. In 1877 he was elected to represent South Oxford in Parliament, and held the seat until 1864. He was Provincial Secretary in the Brown-Dorion Administration from August 2 to 6, 1858. In 1861 he contested Kingston, but without success. He held the portfolio of Postmaster-General in the Macdonald-Dorion Administration from May 1865, till March, 1864, and occupied the same position in the coalition Government. After the fall of that Government he was raised to the Bench as Vive-Chancellor of Upper Canada, having previously been a member of the Union Conference which met in Quebec in 1864 for the framing of the confederation scheme. In 1872, in consequence of the retirement of Messrs. Edward Blake and Alexander Mackenzie from the Ontario House, owing to the provisions of the dual representation act, he was called on by the Lieutenant-Governor to form an Administration, and resigned his Vice-Chancellorship to do so. He became member for North Oxford, being elected to that constituency by acclamation, and assumed the office of Attorney-General of the Province. Afterwards he was six times returned for the constituency, thrice by acclamation, and thrice after a battle at the polls. He was Premier for 24 years, the longest continuous term of office as Premier ever accorded to any man in Canada. He resigned in 1896 to join Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet, and left it later to become Lieutenant-Governor. For two years Sir Oliver was a member of the Toronto City Council, where he rendered great service, representing St. Lawrence Ward in 1857 and St. James' Ward in 1858. Sir Oliver is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and for many years was president of the Evangelical Alliance. He has always taken a deep interest in social and religious matters, and has contributed on several occasions to religious literature. In recognition of his public services Queen's University in 1892 conferred upon him the degree of LL.D., and Toronto University paid him the same honor in 1889.

His Plan.

City Man—Yes; we all need a rest once in awhile.

Farmer—So we do, young man. An' if some of you city folks 'd foller my plan an' take yer rest from 9 at night till 4 in the mornin' you'd be a deal better off.—Puck.

Old People's Favorite.

A MEDICINE THAT INVIGORATES THE KIDNEYS AND LIVER, TAKES AWAY THE PAINS AND ACHES AND REGULATES THE ACTION OF THE BODILY ORGANS, STRONG RECOMMENDATIONS FOR

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The experience of Mr. Brown, as stated in his letter below, is similar to that of scores of men and women who feel old age creeping in upon them. The kidneys grow weak and inactive, the back aches, there are deposits in the urine, and pain and smarting in passing water. The legs swell, and there come pains and aches not unlike rheumatism

Under such circumstances old people turn to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for relief and cure, and are not disappointed. They have learned by repeated trial that they can depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills every time, and consequently they have become known as the old people's favorite medicine.

Mr. John Brown, 66 Nelson St., Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I am getting up in years, and having been a hard worker all my life, I am beginning to fail. For some time past I have thought there was something wrong with my kidneys. I seemed to bloat up, was very short of breath and feared heart disease, although I was told there was nothing wrong with my heart. I got so bad that I had to do something.

"Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I began using them, and by the time I had used up the first box I felt considerably improved. I continued using this medicine, and to-day feel ten years younger. I am strong and hearty, and do not suffer from my former ailments. I consider Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills an excellent medicine for old people."

There are people in nearly every town, village and country side road who have proved the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Ask your friends or neighbors about them. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Some Warm Items From a Decidedly Torrid Town.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

Repairs to the Heliso Opera House will begin next month. It is expected that at least a thousand bullets will be found in the walls and ceilings.

Benches and chairs have been placed in our private editorial graveyard and the park thrown open to the public, and it makes a cool and quiet spot for the weary to sit and meditate.

Giveadam Gulch may be a little slow on colleges, churches and high teas, but a careful inspection of the inhabitants proves that we have not got a baldheaded or a bowlegged man among us.

Jim Henderson, who passed the winter in a cave in the mountains and lived on wolf meat for four months, is eating grass and chewing cactus roots to familiarize his stomach with the dainties of civilization.

The people of Lone Jack were at considerable trouble last week to bring together two individuals named Tarantula Jack and Thunderbolt Sam, but the only result of the meeting was that the two men took a drink in company and talked over the old days when a holy terror didn't have to pay for his own whisky. The Lone Jackers were so indignant that they rose up in their wrath and drove them out of town.

M. QUAD.

TARANTULA JACK AND THUNDERBOLT SAM.

Unpleasant For Both.

An Irishman whose face was so plain that his friends used to tell him it was an offense to the landscape happened also to be as poor as he was homely.

One day a neighbor met him and asked:

"How are you, Pat?"

"Mighty bad! Sure, 'tis starvation that's starin' me in the face."

"Begorra," exclaimed his neighbor sympathetically, "it can't be pleasant for either of yez!"

As He Called It.

"But why," asked the man who always wants to know—"why do you call that little jump you make from a tower into the water a 'leap for life?' They tell me it is not at all dangerous."

"Well," replied the "artist," "don't I make me livin' by it?"

Undisputed Points.

Attorney For the Defense—You are a blackguard and a bluff, sir!

Attorney For the Prosecution—And you, sir, are a shyster and a rogue!

The Court—Come, come, gentlemen, let us get down to the disputed points of this case.

Should Keep Out of the Draft.

First South American—Ah, good afternoon, senor. Looks like a revolution.

Second South American—Yes; I've been predicting one for several days. My rheumatism always bothers me just before such changes.

Left Helpless.

Mrs. Brown—So your girl has left you? What for, for mercy's sake?

Mrs. Black—Absolutely for nothing.

Mrs. Brown—Oh, that's it? I remember you told me she wouldn't leave you for anything.

Worse.

"So Smith acted as judge"—

"At a church raffle. Foolish man!"

"No, no; not at a church raffle—at a baby show"

"Idiot!"

Fine Work.

Sport—Say, you can't fish there. You won't get a bite!

Mulduckie—Whist, now, don't you know all the fishes will flock under here to get in out of the rain?

A Division of Labor.

Mike—How much farther does the soign say it is to Noo Yor-rk, Patsy?

Pat—Twinty moiles.

Mike—Well, thot's only tin moiles apiece.—Judge.

Lots of Good Catches.

A gentleman in Pittsburg wishes to inquire about the lakes, and asks what there is to be caught. The gentleman is requested to pack his grip and come right along, for there is more catching done here than he ever dreamed of. Why in the canal alone, only a short stretch that runs in front of the office of this great journal, there is all the catching any man can wish for. To commence with, and it commences at 6.15 a. m., there are three boats to catch, and the efforts made by fully twenty per cent, of the catchers would make a horse laugh. A Washington lady the other day caught seven perch, thirteen sunfish, and two mudpouts, and little Tommy Schener got into the river to his neck and caught the tarnationist old larroping of his life. He has been lying on his little tummy ever since, and it happened three days ago. A gentleman from Buffalo caught four fine bass in less than ten minutes on Monday last, and the lockmaster caught a cord and a half of fine driftwood. Last season a young lady, none too young either, caught a husband while sitting on the wharf waiting for the Saturday night boat. She would be glad to trade him off for a second-hand carpet sweeper, or mostly any old thing now, but she caught him all the same, and you wouldn't have classed her as much of a catcher. Then a gentleman from Syracuse got into a boat the other morning on his first fishing expedition. He was real pretty to look at. Costume was the very thing, and brand new. He was a daisy, and said he didn't see any reason why he couldn't row. He caught a crab on the second stroke, and when he came up from under the boat he wanted to know if a water spout had struck them, or what it was anyhow. It is all right, dear boy, if catching is what you are after. Go to your nearest railway station and ask for a Kawartha Lake Tourist ticket, to Bobcaygeon, and you can rely on a round of catching that will keep you wondering for a year or more.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Has Fate Denied You A Pleasure That Thousands Now Enjoy?

IF YOU ARE NOT USING

Malt Breakfast Food

YOU ARE MISSING MANY ADVANTAGES AND TRUE ENJOYMENTS.

PROCURE A PACKAGE FROM YOUR GROCER AND TEST IT AT HOME.

If, up to the present, fate has denied you the opportunity of testing pure, delicious and health-giving Malt Breakfast Food, go to-day to your Grocer and procure a package of this popular breakfast cereal food. Its palate-tickling, appetizing and energizing properties will make it a dish that you cannot afford to miss at the morning meal. Its many good qualities are thoroughly appreciated by young and old who have made it their choice. As economical as common oatmeal, and vastly more nutritious.

A Man Who Hustled.

On the North Carolina side of the Cumberland mountains I had to ask for food and lodgings of a squatter who lived in a miserable shanty and said I would have to sleep on the floor, but nevertheless made me welcome. All we had for supper was corn bread, but later on I heard the wife saying to her husband:

"Now, then, yo' git yo'self out and hustle fur sunthin' a heap better fur breakfast."

For breakfast there were fried chicken, roast pig, roast yams, fresh eggs and corn coffee, and when it had been eaten the man smiled on me and said:

"I'd hev done better if I could, stranger, but by the time I'd stole chickens, pig, eggs and yams the only feller around yere with any real coffee in his house was wide awake and watchin' out fur me with a shotgun."

FOOT ELM

A SOOTHING, HEALING, COOLING POWDER, THAT GIVES RAPID RELIEF IN ALL FOOT TROUBLES.

"Foot Elm" is considered by those who have used it, to be a magical "foot doctor," affording rapid and positive relief in all distressing and discomforting conditions of the feet.

It rests tired feet.
It eases aching feet.
It prevents chafing and blistering of the feet.
It reduces swelling of the feet.
It cools hot feet.
It cures soft corns.
It relieves painful, smarting feet.
It cures sweaty feet.
It cools a burning bunion.
It soothes a sensitive corn.
It cures ingrowing toe-nails.
It dispels perspiration odors.
It "breaks in" new shoes.
It permits the wearing of a size smaller shoe.
It preserves the leather.

Those who occupation compels them to be a great deal on their feet, should never be without "Foot Elm" in their shoes, as it gives a restful feeling to the feet never experienced before.

Price 25 cents a box of 18 powders at all druggists, or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont. Don't accept a substitute.

CANADA'S INDIANS.

Nearly 100,000 Red Men Live in the Dominion—They Are Pretty Well Behaved—Cost to the Country.

Among the books in which the noble red man figures, that issued annually by the department of Indian affairs of the Canadian Government is, in its matter-of-fact way, as interesting as any the romanticists have given to the world. It is in agreement with the more stirring volumes in one thing at least. In it the Indian is regarded as a child in mind, who has to be educated up to the civilized man's standard. And the process is a slow one. Old Crowfoot of the Blackfeet, one of the cleverest and one of the most loyal of the Western tribesmen, was opposed to his people becoming owners of cattle because their possession of herds, he said, would be followed by the closing of the Government's ration-house. The ration-house and other services designed for the Indians' benefit cost the Government last year $1,019,329. There were also disbursements of $274,063 from the proceeds of the trust funds managed by the Government and which reached the considerable total of $3,941,393, or about $40 a head of the Indian population, which is given for the last year as follows:

Ontario...	20,763
Quebec......	10,865
Nova Scotia......	2,020
New Brunswick......	1,655
P. E. Island......	315
British Columbia...	24,567
Manitoba......	6,849
Northwest Territories......	17,927
Outside treaty limits	14,566
	99,527

This is an increase over the figures of 1900 of 517, spread generally throughout the provinces and due partly to natural growth, partly to accessions to the bands from outside the country or in the non-treaty regions. The natural increase is given as 239, the births recorded having numbered 2,479 and the deaths only 2,240. The larger proportion of deaths is attributed, directly or indirectly, to scrofulous or pulmonary troubles, and it is added that, apart from epidemics, the average of health depends largely on the character of the winter. The latter statement means much as to what has not been accomplished in bringing the subjects of it to an appreciation of the comforts of civilized life and to an acceptance of the steady toil by which they can be secured.

The policy of the department is described as that of amalgamating the Indians with the other classes of the community, first fitting them for the full responsibilities of citizenship. This policy, or the machinery provided thereunder, the report says, while satisfactory up to a certain point, has not proved as successful as desired. In Ontario an extended experience shows that the graduates of the schools, educational and industrial, with the rarest exceptions, return to the communities of their race, and, although, perhaps, better equipped than the majority of those who seek employment of various kinds among the whites in their vicinity, none the less to all intents and purposes remain Indians, with all their deepest interests, affections and ambitions centered in their reserves. The state of affairs is naturally more marked in the newer regions, but this may have a good as well as a bad side, as, in the opinion of those who study the situation, until the Western tribes reach the standard of those which in the east have been longer in contact with white men, "the graduates of the schools may be doing the greatest amount of good in the direction of elevating their race by returning to live on their reserves." In regard to them the department's duty is in the direction of guarding against their retrogression, and it is experimenting in the direction of establishing little colonies of them on the reserves in the hope that they will not only retain for themselves the benefits received at the schools, but exert a beneficial influence upon the people.

Laurier as a Prompter.

We are told that at the review of the Canadian and other colonial troops last week on the Horse Guards parade, the crowd refrained to an unwonted degree from indiscriminate cheering, perhaps out of sympathy with the Queen. What cheers were given were hearty enough, but were perhaps of an "organized" nature. According to the Westminster Gazette, they appeared to be led by an elderly gentleman in the front row of the stand nearest to the Horse Guards. He stood with his back to the parade ground, waving his hat and his arms when a cheer seemed to be appropriate, and led off with a stentorian "Hip, hip, hip——" When he relaxed his exertions and turned round the gentleman was seen to be —Mr. Seddon! But Mr. Seddon was not the real leader in the cheering, for a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, pointing out that people in the neighborhood of the Colonial Premiers soon became aware of their dissatisfaction at the frigid demeanor of the crowd, states that at length Sir Wilfrid Laurier lost all patience. "Look here, Seddon," he said, turning to New Zealand's Premier, "you have a good voice. For Heaven's sake get them to raise a cheer." Hence the stentorian "Hip, hip, hips" on which the chronicler admiringly congratulates Mr. Seddon.—Canadian Gazette.

An Indefinite Fish Story.

Mr. E. F. Clarke, M.P., Toronto, has been up on the Muskoka River fishing. "I had some good fishing, and intend to go up again for a few days. I hooked one big fellow. I do not want to exaggerate, and so I'll not tell you how big he was, but he was too big for myself and another man to handle. We got him alongside the boat, and then he just threw himself aside and went off with the hook and part of the line. But I'm going back, and will try him another tussle if he is willing."

A man of 70 has eaten in his lifetime about 58½ tons of food.

A Sure Cure for Headaches. — Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralising the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Will be Found an Excellent Remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

The Well Known Strengthening Properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer Complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of "Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup," and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation. —Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

UNTOLD MISERY — WHAT A WELL-KNOWN COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER SUFFERED, AND HOW HE WAS CURED.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time travelling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished, I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of Dyspepsia. (Signed),
T. S. McINTEE.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

He Has Tried It.—Mr. John Anderson, Kinloss, writes: "I venture to say few, if any, have received greater benefit from the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, than I have. I have used it regularly for over ten years, and have recommended it to all sufferers I knew of, and they also found it of great virtue in cases of severe bronchitis and incipient consumption."

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

Prof. Dorenwend

Of Toronto, the Famous HAIR GOODS ARTIST, IS COMING. HE WILL BE AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELLEVILLE, ON SAT., AUG. 30, UNTIL 4 P.M. With every kind and style of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches of all long hair in every length and shade.

His Art Styles are known and worn by all classes everywhere.

Be sure to visit his Show Rooms at the Hotel and see his new designs. He will, free of charge, demonstrate by fitting you what is the most suitable and becoming to you.

Their use adds Health, Comfort and Younger Appearance.

Gentlemen who are Bald should investigate and see his Feather Weight Toupees and Wigs, worn on over 55,000 heads.

Please Remember Day and Date

Saturday, Aug 30 until 4 p.m.

It's About Over

OUR SWEEP-OUT SHOE SALE

Of the season's remnants.

This week will likely bring it to a close. Some of the best Bargains for the last. Don't miss this opportunity.

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE

FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at

SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.

Good going August 30th and 31st, returning good until September 2nd, 1902.

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSION

$10 To Winnipeg and other Points in Manitoba and Assinaboia.

Passengers will be returned to starting point for $18 on complying with conditions of certificate issued with tickets. Good going August 20th, 1902. Tickets and information at Grand Trunk offices.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.

T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

An enthusiastic man loses his popularity as soon as people get onto him.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE ... 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanantly cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Actions may speak louder than words, but you can't make a woman believe it.

When you pay your money you should have what you pay for. If you buy fire insurance through Hunt & Jeffers you will receive perfect satisfaction should you suffer from a fire. They represent the "Sun," of England, and "Home," of New York, two companies ranking among the largest Fire Insurance Cos., and retaining a record for equitable adjusting and paying promptly. As long as you meet with no losses it matters not to what company you pay your premiums, it is when you have a loss you learn the difference.

Daily Intelligencer.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER JUSTIFIES REBELLION.

Canada's talking Premier has been making additional speeches in different parts of Great Britain, boasting of the freedom enjoyed by those who live under the Union Jack. In one of these oratorical displays he took occasion to justify the rebellion in Canada of 1836-7, and in the next breath made the startling statement that the descendants of the rebels of that period were the "first to rush to the rescue, when England found herself in war in South Africa with the Boers." This, too, in the face of the declaration of his colleague Tarte, when in Paris, that 90 per cent. of the people of the Province of Quebec were in favor of the Boers, and justified the course they were pursuing in their conflict with Great Britain.

That Sir Wilfrid should justify rebellion and consequently all the horrors that flow from civil war, is not surprising, when he thinks such a course will bring within his fold a greater number of his fellow subjects in his own province.

He pursued the same course, and justified Riel in his mad and causeless rising in Manitoba and the Nor' West Territories, declaring that had he been on the banks of the Saskatchewan at the time, he would have shouldered his musket and aided Riel in that which lead to the murder, by his followers, of priests and laymen. It must not be forgotten that when he thus boasted of his war-like valor, he was 3000 miles distant from the scene of action.

As might have been expected these declarations by the Premier of Canada, a position which gave weight to his utterances, were immediately seized upon by the Irish Nationalists as reasons why they should rebel had they the means to do so; as evidence of this, witness the declaration of John Redmond, the leader of the Home Rule party, who at a Nationalists meeting held in Dublin on the 9th of August, declared that "the "party as a party had formally "withdrawn from participation in "the coronation celebration and had "assembled for the purpose of pro"testing against the usurpation of "Irish government by England. King "Edward, he added, was not the con"stitutional monarch of Ireland. No "English sovereign had been so since "the union. A resolution which was "adopted, declared that 'Ireland "separates herself from the corona"tion rejoicing of her merciless op"pressors and stands apart in her "rightful discontent and dissatisfac"tion,'" and then continued with the declaration that the people of Canada had not as much reason to rebel as had the people of Ireland, though the Canadian rebellion had been justified by the Premier of Canada, and that the only reason they did not rebel was that they had not the means to successfully cope with the forces which would be brought against them, and, therefore, the only course left to them was to render Government in England, impossible.

These are the loyal Home Rulers with whom Canada's Premier delights to fraternize, and preach justification of rebellion, and with it all the atrocities which follow in its wake.

TIMELY TOPICS.

If the Toronto detectives don't hurry up and arrest some one in connection with the Evans warehouse mystery, newspaper readers will soon find it a very dull subject.

• • •

It is impossible to have weather that will favor all crops. The cereal yield in the country at large is sure to be above the average, while grape-growers are depressed on account of wet weather.

• • •

South Africa needs men and plenty of them. It is said that there is work in the mines and on the farms for 20,000 more men than can be secured.

• • •

We are in receipt of a copy of The Citizen, of Columbus, Ohio, sent up by our old friend Mr. Paul LaLonde, who is with "The Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels." The Citizen devotes a whole page in writing up this mammoth aggregation and its rehearsal. Here is what it says about Paul and his company of singers:

"Again the music changed and ten gentlemen marched down towards where the footlights are, when a peal of melody from the throats of the best singing party the writer ever listened to pierced the air. Paul LaLonde, the vocal director, stood out in front, and though it was but the second rehearsal the vocalists sang the entire selection without a discord. As the last note died away the remainder of the company began clapping their hands. The splendid rendition of the selection brought forth applause from their fellow performers.

• • •

The following is clipped from an exchange:

Dear Mr. Editor,—After reading your valuable paper for two years we had twins at our house last night. Please do not send the paper to me any more as I am a poor man and can't afford to raise a large family."

• • •

The startling information comes from New Jersey that the Jersey mosquitoes have acquired a taste for kerosene and are actually thriving on the doctored pools and ponds.

• • •

This is the season in which the crop reporter and estimator flourishes. It is the season when the grain men, the railroad men, the financial promoters, and speculators of all sorts are anxiously trying to form an opinion as to what the harvest will be. Merchants and manufacturers also try to gauge their operations to correspond with the bounty of the harvest, or the reverse.

• • •

The Boer Generals are having such a good time in England that those volunteers from Canada who are asking for more pay and not getting it are for once in thorough harmony with Paul Kruger. They are not in it.—Kingston Whig.

• • •

Bones dug up in Kansas seem to prove that man has lived over 35,000 years. Yet where he came from and whither he goes are things he hasn't found out "for sure" in all that time.—New York World.

• • •

A South Side man has a new automobile which he calls the "Harry Tracy." Constables and deputy sheriffs will do well to watch out for it and run when they see it coming.—Chicago Chronicle.

• • •

The joker who sent a sack of fleas to the Pittsburg postoffice should at once make known to the world what kind of a trap he used to catch the fleas.

• • •

Sir Wilfrid has visited the Island of Jersey, and received an enthusiastic reception. On presenting an address he was asked "in what language he desired to be addressed, and he replied "he wished to be welcomed in French"; and the address was read in French accordingly.

• • •

The Paris papers do not take kindly to Sir Wilfrid's constant reference to his nationality. Patrie declares that "he owes his success to the "clever way in which he panders to "British vanity by vaunting his "French origin, while loudly pro"claiming himself a Britisher and "an Imperialist." Patrie should have added "while in England," and when in Quebec anything that will please those of his nationality. Patrie has diagnosed his character fully.

• • •

Mr. Tarte has given offence to the Montrealers by declaring in a speech delivered in Halifax at the Manufacturers' banquet, that Quebec should be the summer port for the fast Atlantic steamers, and displeased the Haligonians by saying St. Johns must be port for freight.

• • •

A telegram from Wellington, New Zealand, says, the Right Hon. R. J. Seddon, Premier of that colony, has refused a Baronetcy. Sir Wilfrid, when excusing himself for accepting a title told his compatriots at St. Hyacinthe that "it was forced upon him," and he could not refuse. Humbug!

• • •

Judge Lount rendered a judgment on the 15th inst. on the liabilities of insurance agents. Banter and Galloway, millers, Burlington, some time ago appointed Seneca Jones, of Hamilton, their agent to place their insurance. Mr. Jones put on an additional $500 insurance, but omitted to notify the other companies concerned; a fire occurred and the omission to notify, as provided, under the rules of insurance companies, invalidated the policies; a compromise was effected whereby Banter and Galloway had to be content with $1,000, less than they otherwise would have received. They sued Jones for this sum and Judge Lount has decided in their favor. This will be a lesson to agents.

• • •

Strikes and mob violence appear to be the prevailing state of affairs in various parts of this continent. The difficulties in Shenandoah, Pa., have not yet ceased to exist. On the 16th inst. there was further disorder, the result of a mob chasing an alleged unfair workman, as they called him, near the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company's washery in the southeastern part of the town. The watchman was thrown into the creek running parallel with the railroad by some of those leading in the chase. Three men, John Howe, Frederick Zimmerman, and Matthew Bronse, who are alleged to have been participants in the assault on the watchman and the workmen, were arrested. They were given a hearing later and held in $500 bail each for trial. Other strikes and violence are of almost daily occurrence both in the United States and Canada, yet the law does not reach them.

The Cosmopolitan Character of the MAGI Caledonia Springs demonstrates the wide-spread reputation of these great curative Baths and Waters

• • •

The Toronto Globe declares the exposure by the London Review of Sir Wilfrid's ignorance of the Roman Empire as the utterances of a London cabby, and the London, Ont., Advertiser denounces the Review as "a fool journal." Most people think it would be more to the credit of Sir Wilfrid if these defenders of his utterances would show wherein he was right and the Review was wrong, than by calling names.

• • •

Shantymen and miners, says the Kingston Whig, who go to work in lumber camps and mining camps this winter, must get vaccinated. So decrees the Ontario Government.

• • •

Fortunate Regiment. It is stated that not a single man of the Queen's Royal West Surrey Regiment was captured during the war. The regimental losses included 136 officers and men killed or died of disease, and 271 officers and men wounded.

• • •

For violating the anti-lottery Act now upon the Statute Book of the Dominion, Judge Choquet, of Montreal, has sentenced George Giguere, manager of the whole business, to jail for three months without the option of a fine. Alias Rivet, Albert Desjordy, Elie Sicotte and Ernest David each to a fine of $100 and costs or three months. There is no appeal from this judgment. The judge will receive the commendation of all who desire to see these swindling schemes stopped.

• • •

There will not be as large a registration of dogs in this city as usual. The advance in the price of sausage is said to be the cause.

• • •

Uncle Sam, some months ago, declared the Filipino war to be over, but the natives there are still killing U.S. soldiers. It is evident that they haven't heard the news.

There is Nothing Like the Morning Bath and Rub

Everybody—that is everybody who assumes that life is worth living—takes a bath at night, but a good many people feel too many duties pressing insistently upon them to stop for a bath when they rise in the morning, says the New York Tribune. And yet the moment when she lifts her head from the pillow is the worst in the day to many a woman, especially in the hot weather. She feels languid and "headachy," lethargic and carries dull eyes and face to the breakfast table.

A cold shower bath and a brisk rub would brighten her eyes and enable her to begin the day with a smile. Failing the shower, a plunge bath will serve, and if this be inconvenient, a brief sponge at the washbowl will set the blood circulating to clear the heavy head. Then drink something immediately on arising. A quantity of cold water is beneficial.

Some people get a far better effect from a glass of hot water with half a lemon squeezed in it. The principle of the early morning drink is that it washes out the stomach, which during the long hours of the night becomes coated with mucous. It tones up the digestive apparatus and gets it ready for work.

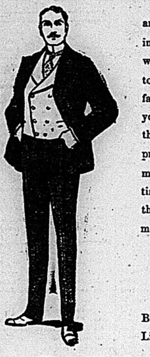
Then if the woman puts on perfectly clean clothes and gets five minutes in the fresh morning air outside, taking full, deep breaths, she will feel like a different creature. This may sound like a good deal of time for a busy woman to spend at the beginning of things, but it will not amount to more than ten minutes extra.

Hair Falls Ayer's Hair Vigor is the most economical preparation of its kind on the market. It doesn't take much of it to stop falling of the hair, to make the hair grow, or to restore color to gray hair. $1. All druggists. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S



Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russsian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

The Barbers In The City

Have adopted a new scale of prices which are a decided advance over the old ones. Many young men besides older ones will not feel disposed to pay these new prices and will resolve to be their own barber. To do so your thoughts will naturally turn to

Razors
Razor Straps
Shaving Brushes
Razor Hones
Shaving Soap
Toilet Clippers

We have a large variety of these goods and we are sure we will be able to please you with our assortment and prices.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Your Child's Eye Sight.

You are responsible for the sight of your child. Watch out for frowns, for squints and when he reads or looks at a picture book does he hold it too near or too far? These little things grow faster than the child and in many cases can be overcome if discovered in time.

WE ESPECIALLY INSIST ON YOUR BRINGING THE CHILDREN IN.

You may save them a lifetime of strain and weak sight. Defects of vision never disappear of their own accord and in most cases grow worse.

It's a duty you owe your child and we

DON'T CHARGE FOR ADVISING YOU

ALEX. RAY.

Mistakes in advertising are the most expensive mistakes a merchant can make.

Sincerity is a gem of the first water.

A Good Tooth Brush

Is something everybody should have. A Tooth Brush that is made of poor bristles is but little better than none at all.

THE KENT BRUSH

Is made to our order in England. It is a four-row, bleached brisle Brush, put together in a workmanlike manner.

We guarantee these Brushes.

PRICE 25c.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Are You Going to Paint this Fall?

No better time of the year in which to paint. The weather is more settled and you don't have to contend with the spring rains and fogs. Then again, all Paints are liable to be dearer next Spring. The S.W.P. will give good satisfaction, save you money and wear longer. $1.60 per gallon. Paint for barns, etc., $1.00 gall.

WATERS'

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting. Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

(Changed daily)

Tuesday, August 19, 1902.

MORE

BUSINESS

Business is getting better, times improving, the city is all right, so is the country.

PRICES

Yes, that may be the reason of it, for we are selling very cheap, but we are not selling cheap goods.

TAKE STATIONERY,

For example, our range, styles, colors and qualities all shine. In short, our stationery stock is par excellent. Can get anything you want here in commercial or private stationery, and at prices so reasonable that it will surprise you what a bundle you can get for a dollar.

TAKE WALL PAPER—

Everybody knows that there is but one stock of wall paper in the city and that our prices are lower than anywhere else in Canada. Such is the daily testimony of our home and our mail order customers.

TAKE PICTURE FRAMING—

Well, just give us a trial. Bring down half a dozen of those stored pictures, place them in our care for framing and we'll make you proud for very little money. Our framing is as modest in price as our workmanship is superior, and both price and workmanship do not eclipse our assortment of materials, mouldings, etc.

TAKE OUR DECORATING—

This is a branch of which we are justly proud, artistic goods, coupled with artistic combining of same produce, good, lasting and pleasing effects. We can furnish you in this line what you have not been able to get in Belleville during the past. Leave your decorating in our hands, and you'll not be disappointed.

TAKE OUR SCHOOL BOOKS—

Well, they always did shine in the eyes of the student, for we always have had and we continue to get the very newest to be found anywhere in school supplies. We simply lead.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Paper Wholesale & Retai

HORACE

Tells Us
"Excellence When Concealed
Differs But Little From Buried Worthlessness."
That is Why We Are Anxious
That the Light of

Hudson's Dry Soap

Shall Not be Hidden Under A BUSHEL.

Cleans, sweetens and Purifies everything it is used upon. Of special value for particular uses where common soap is objectionable.

Shoe Bargains

Men's Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.25
Boys' Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.00
Men's Fine Lace Boots	$1.15
Boys' Fine Lace Boots	.85
Men's Canvas Boots or Low Shoes	$1.00
Men's Dongola Kid Congress	$1.20
Men's Patent leather lace Boots	$2.00
Children's Button Boots or Slippers	.25

A. W. Vermilyea & Son

AT CAMP IRENE.

A Sketchy Talk by One of the Canadian Teachers Who Went to South Africa to Teach Boer Children.

At last, after five nights on the train, we arrived on Saturday morning, June 1st, at Camp Irene, from which point we were to be sent to our different destinations.

We were met by Mr. Barry, the head master, and some of his staff, and from that moment until the day we got our marching orders we received the utmost consideration from all whom we met. Nothing that could add to our comfort and convenience was forgotten, and the week we spent at Irene will remain in our memories as one of the pleasantest of our South African experiences.

There were all sorts of merry-makings that week, partly in our honor, and partly to celebrate the peace. A dinner on Monday evening, at which the dignitaries of the Education Department from Pretoria were present, and which was really a very enjoyable affair.

Toasts were drunk in good port, speeches were made—one by Dr. Mullen, of New Brunswick, who is to be principal of the new Normal school at Johannesburg—and afterwards in the drawing-room we had some extremely good music. Mr. Barry, who has a fine voice, sang "The Bandolers," and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." Mr. Ligertwood one of the Education Department men, playing the accompaniment as well as a professional. Mr. Usher, one of the officers, sang "Sigh no More, Ladies," in the sweetest of tenor voices, and altogether the music lovers amongst us had a genuine treat.

Then there was an ox-cart picnic, where we sat on mattresses— about twenty of us—in a huge wagon that seemed to be quite without springs, and jolted jollily over the rough veldt, the driver cracking his whip, shouting at his ten oxen, and taking the utmost pains to drive over every stone and hillock he could get in the way of. After the usual picnic tea we were surrounded by Kaffir children, clamoring for what was left. I could do nothing but gaze at them and admire their varied costumes.

There was one little girl who appealed very strongly to my sympathies, because she seemed to be humpbacked, a thing very unusual among these sturdy, straight-limbed dwellers in the open air. I pointed her out to the colonel, and he was overcome with mirth at my expressions of pity. "Come and see," he said, and he caught the little girl, who looked about ten years old, pulled her shawl down from her shoulders and there was the funniest little black baby hanging to her neck, its little beads of eyes staring up at me, and its queer head covered with tufts of wool that looked exactly as if they were stuck on at intervals, and never could have grown out of the scalp in the ordinary way.

We visited the schools too, and found the children doing excellent work. The teachers all seemed enthusiastic, and their pupils are evidently very fond of them. It was charming to hear the little things whenever we met them, say, "Good morning," with a pretty English accent, while they looked up at you with bright, smiling faces full of an eager desire to catch a look or word of approval.

Preparations were being made for the coronation festivities, at which there is to be a May-pole dance, the children to be dressed in red, white and blue. We saw them at their practices and I don't think I ever enjoyed anything more than the sight of those little Boer boys and girls singing "Come Lasses and Lads," keeping perfect time to the music as they marched and sang.

We'll "threep" it, "threep" it
"threep" it, "threep" it,
"Threep" it up and down.

Then at the close "God Save the King," sung with as much gusto as if they had been loyal subjects of Edward the Seventh, all their lives.

One evening Mr. Barry took me to a Burgher dance, where on a floor plentifully besprinkled with what a young Boer called candle-grease, I careered madly through a "barn-dance" with a young gentleman who, a few months ago was popping a rifle from behind a kopje at our poor unfortunate Tommies, and our brave, if sometimes foolhardy officers.

And the way that young son of the dusty veldt could dance was a revelation to me. Long before the music stopped I was obliged to call a halt and ask him to take me to the bench at the head of the room, where my hostess sat in state, presiding over a table on which was laid out a most tempting array of refreshments—jammy biscuits, lemon squash and lime juice. And you needn't laugh, because if you were in a refugee camp you would think these confections were rare delicacies and the fresh air life would give you an appetite that would scorn to stick at trifles. I ate my biscuits, which tasted like cottolene, and drank my lime juice with a zest that delighted the comfortable looking vrouw and brought a smile of appreciation to the countenance of my bearded and serious looking host. Altogether, I enjoyed my first ball in Boerland very much indeed, and was sorry when Mr. Barry took up the lantern and told me it was time to go.

Golf to Blame.

A fisherman noticed a lonely lady sitting on a rock at North Berwick, knitting, and remarked to his companion, "That's a lonesome lookin' wumman. She sits on that rock a' day aye knittin', she never speaks to a livin' sowl, an' auld maid, I suppose." "Auld maid," replied the other. "No her; I ken her fine. Her man's a gowfer!"—Edinburgh Despatch.

Filled the Bill.

She—The man I marry must have done something of importance. He—Then I am the very man you require. She—You? Why, what important thing did you do? He—I fell in love with you at first sight.—Illustrated Bits.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.

Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c line.

Reading advertisements, 15c per line.

Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual or contract rates.

Minimum space, 10 lines.

Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion. Births, 25c each insertion.

Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.

All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.

Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

Wanted at once, good cook and kitchen girl, also night watch. Highest wages. Anglo-American Hotel, Belleville. a12-8td&2tw

Persons of undoubted character, good sense, and plenty of push, to help in a great spiritual work. Our plan is entirely original, and the possible returns ten to twenty dollars weekly. —The Century Christian Co., Limited, Toronto. a13-6td

FOR SALE.

Two steam barges, one 110 ft. long, 22 ft. beam; the other 97 ft. long, 16 ft. beam. Both in good running order. S. W. Marchment & Co., 103 Victoria St., Toronto. 19-6t

One Mantle Folding Bed. Can be seen at 103 South Albert St. 23-tf

HOUSES FOR SALE.

The undersigned have received instructions to sell at once the following properties in the City of Belleville.

1. Frame house, N. E. corner of Everett St. and Bridge St.

2. Small frame house, east side of Everett street, first house north of Bridge street.

All above houses are now occupied by monthly tenants. These properties can be purchased upon reasonable terms and low prices.

Other City properties to rent and to sell. Further particulars will be given upon application to

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Solicitors, 9 Campbell St.

June 28, 1902. jy4-8-10-12d

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

As Furnished to The Intelligencer by Haight & Freese Co'y, Stock Brokers, New York, through Their Local Agency.

New York, August 19.

Stock	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close
Atchison	92⅛	92¾	92⅛	92⅝
do. pref.	102¼	102½	102¼	102½
C. P. R.	138⅝	139	137⅞	137⅞
U. S. Steel	40¼	40⅞	40¼	40¼
do. pref.	90⅝	90⅝	90	90
W. Union	91¾	93⅛	91¾	92⅛
Pc	104	104¼	104	104½
Manhattan	134¼	135½	134¼	135⅜
Erie	39¼	40	39¼	39¾
do pref.	68¾	69⅛	68¾	69
L. & N.	154⅞	157½	154⅞	157
Mo. P.	117¼	117½	117	117⅜
Nor.	69⅝	70½	69⅛	69⅞
N. Y. C.	163½	164	163¼	163½
Reading	66½	67½	66½	67⅛
do pref.	86⅛	86¼	86⅛	86¼
St. Paul	185½	186	185¼	185¼
South Pac.	72⅛	73½	72	73⅞
Sou. Ry.	40⅛	40½	40⅛	40¼
Union. Pac.	108⅛	109⅛	108	109⅛
Amn. Loco	32	32¼	32	32
do. pref.	94	....	....	....
Penna	159¼	160⅛	159¼	160
Alton	43	43¾	43	43½
C. & O.	54	54⅞	54	54½
Sugar	132	132¼	132	132¼
Ills. Cent.	169	169½	168⅞	169¾
B & O.	109	110¼	109	109⅞
H. V.	101⅝	101⅝	101¼	101½
Texas	51¼	51½	51	51¼

Sept. wheat opened 69 1-4, closed 70 1-8.

Sept. corn opened at 61 5-8, closed 62.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS,

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 19.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers.
C. P. R.	138 1-2	138 1-4
Toronto Railway	123	122
Twin City	126 1-2	126 1-4
Con. Lake Superior	27 3-4	27 1-2
Dom. Coal	142 1-4	141 3-4
Dom. Iron & Steel	78 3-8	78
Nova Scotia Steel	116 1-2	116
Sao Paulo	108	107 3-4

GENTLEMEN, IF YOU ARE BALD,

See Prof. Dorenwend's Art Coverings in Wigs and Toupees, worn on thousands of heads. They are a protection against Colds, Catarrh, etc., and give a most natural and younger appearance to the face.

Trying on and demonstrating the superior art of these goods free of charge.

He will be at Hotel Quinte on Saturday, Aug. 30th, until 4 p.m.

a19-3td&1w

The only way some people could take a tumble to themselves would be to walk in their sleep.

Any woman will tell you that trying on a new dress is also trying on the nerves.

The grand cycle of life starts with an involution of primal energy from God and returns to the "Father's House" after the educational unfoldment of divinity in the self-consciousness.

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Monday) at 11.30 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester ar 3.25 a.m. daily (except Monday) and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to
U. E. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

Str. "NIAGARA"

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902,

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $1.40;
Return, $3.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C.CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

(Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m. and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y,

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe, they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 40 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

THE MARKETS.

Grain Prices Irregular—Wheat Lower at Chicago Monday—The Latest Quotations.

Monday Evening, Aug. 18.

Liverpool wheat futures closed steady to ¼d higher to-day, and corn futures ⅛d lower.

Wheat sold off at Chicago to-day, but corn and oats were firm. Sept. wheat closed ⅛c below Saturday, Sept. corn advanced ⅝c and Sept. oats ½c.

VISIBLE SUPPLY.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 1,509,000 bushels; corn decreased 718,000 bushels; oats decreased 214,000 bushels.

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States together with that afloat to Europe is 44,344,000 bushels, against 45,853,000 bushels a week ago, and 60,960,000 bushels a year ago.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	73¼a	72⅛b	74b
Chicago	....	69	66⅝	68¾
Toledo	71¼	71¼	70⅝	72
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	71¼	67¼	65	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—
Wheat, red, bush.	$0 75 to	$0 80
Wheat, white, bush	0 83½	....
Wheat, spring, bush.	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush.	0 75	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush.	0 59½	....
Barley, bush.	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush.	0 49	0 50
Oats, new, bush.	0 45	....
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton	$10 15 to	$10 50
Straw, baled, car lots, ton	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb.	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected		$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected		0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected		0 07½
Hides, No. 2, inspected		0 06½
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling		0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected		0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected		0 08
Deacons (dairies), each		0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb.	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb.	0 07	....

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Montreal, Aug. 18.—Receipts, 1200 bbls.; market quiet.

Flour quotations—Patent winter, $3.90 to $4; patent spring, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; extra, none; superfine, none; strong bakers, $3.60 to $3.80; Ontario bags, $1.70 to $1.80.

Grain—Wheat, No. 2 Manitoba Northern, 78c to 80c. Corn, 70c to 72c. Peas, 83c to 85c. Oats, 46c to 47c. Barley, 58c to 60c. Rye, 65c to 67c. Buckwheat, 64c to 65c. Oatmeal, $2.30 to $2.40. Cornmeal, $1.50 to $1.60.

Provisions—Pork, $24 to $25. Lard, 9c to 10c. Bacon, 14c to 15c. Hams, 13c to 14c.

Produce—Cheese, 9c to 10c. Butter, townships, 19c to 20c; western, 16c to 17c. Eggs, 12c to 14c.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Aug. 18.—There were about 900 head of cattle, 150 calves and 1500 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were out in fairly large numbers. Prices still tending down, and many of the common stock will not be sold to-day. A few of the best medium cattle were sold at from 4½c to 4¾c per lb.; ordinary fed beasts at from 3¾c to 4¼c per lb., and common stock at from 2½c to 3¼c per lb. Canners bought the leaner cattle at 1½c to 2c. A superior veal calf, weighing 241 lbs., was sold for $12. The other calves sold at $2 to $10 each, or from 3c to 4½c per lb. Sheep sold at from 3c to 3½c per lb., and lambs at from 3¾c to 4½c per lb., only a few being over 4c per lb. Good lots of fat hogs sold at from 7c to 7¼c per lb., weighed off cars.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 18.—Cattle—Receipts, 4400; steady to strong; prime steers, $7.75 to $8.25; choice, 1200 to 1300 lbs., $7 to $7.50; fair to good, $6 to $6.75; choice 1000 to 1500-lbs., $6 to $6.75; fair to good, $5.25 to $5.75; choice heifers, $5.75 to $6.50; fair to good, $4.50 to $5.25; light to fair, $3 to $3.75; best fat cows, $4.50 to $5.25; fair to good, $3 to $4.25; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; export bulls, $4.50 to $5; butchers, $3.50 to $4.25; bologna, $3 to $3.75; fresh cows and springers, steady; good to choice, $45 to $50; medium to good, $30 to $38; common, $18.50 to $25; stockers and feeders strong, 10c higher; feeders, $4.50 to $5; stockers, $3.75 to $4.50; stocker heifers, $3.25 to $3.75; Texas cattle, fair to good, $3.85 to $4.95; veals, receipts, 1050 head; strong, 25c higher; tops, $7.75 to $8; fair to good, $6.75 to $7.25; common to light, $5.50 to $6.50; grass calves, $3.50 to $4. Hogs, receipts, 1200 head; fairly active, steady, closing steady to strong; heavy, $7.20 to $7.25; mixed $7.05 to $7.15; yorkers, $6.90 to $7; light do., $6.90 to $6.95; pigs, $6.90 to $7; roughs, $5.25 to $5.75; stags, $4.75 to $5.25; grassers, $6.60 to $6.90. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 10,000 head; sheep dull; lambs strong; top lambs, $5.75 to $6.25; fair to good, $5.50 to $5.65; culls to common, $4.25 to $5; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; wethers, $4.25 to $4.50; sheep, top mixed, $3.75 to $4; fair to good, $3.50 to $3.65; culls to common, $2.25 to $3.25.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 18.—Beeves—Receipts, 3361 head; steers, 10c lower except for top grades; bulls and cows, steady, except medium cows, slow to shade lower; all steers, $4.50 to $7.50; oxen and stags, $5 to $5.20; bulls, $3 to $4.40; cows, $2 to $4.40; extra, $4.75 to $5.40. Calves steady; Calves, receipts, 3783; veals, 25c higher; grassers and buttermilks, about steady; closed trifle weak; veals, $5 to $8.50; grassers and buttermilks, $3.75 to $4.50; no westerns. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 11,028; sheep in better demand; good sheep strong; lambs firm to 15c higher; some sales 25c higher; sheep, $2 to $3.50; choice, $4; culls, $1.50 to $1.75; lambs, $5.25 to $6.62½; one car, $7; culls, $4 to $4.50. Hogs, receipts, 4980; market 25c lower; Pennsylvania and State hogs, $6.90 to $7.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Cattle—Receipts, 24,000, including 2500 Texans; 8500 westerns. Prime steers, steady; others, 10c to 25c lower; good to prime steers, $7.90 to $9; poor to medium, $4.25 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.35; cows, $1.50 to $5.75; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5.25; calves, $2.50 to $7; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $4.50 to $6.40.

Hogs—Receipts, 31,000, steady; mixed and butchers', $6.25 to $6.95; good to choice heavy, $6.75 to $7.07; rough heavy, $6 to $6.60; light, $6.25 to $6.90; bulk of sales, $6.50 to $6.75.

Sheep—Receipts, 35,000, lower; lambs, choice steady; others, lower; good to choice wethers, $3.75 to $4.25; fair to choice mixed, $2.50 to $3.75; native lambs, $3.50 to $6.30.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 18.—Live cattle steady, at 13c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 12c to 12½c per lb.

Schwab's Illness a Mystery.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—A despatch from Loretta says that President Schwab of the U. S. Steel Corporation will indefinitely retire from active life. Dr. Goden never leaves his side, and Schwab sees no one. The character of his illness is not revealed. There is some mystery about it.

Two Flags on One Pole.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 19.— The American consul here and Canadian officials have raised American and British flags on the same pole on the boundary line, as a warning to smugglers of Chinese. The two nations will hereafter unite to wipe out the practice.

Will Go to South Africa

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Miss Annie L. Briggs of Sussex, N.B., has accepted the position of assistant school mistress in South Africa, and will leave in September. She will go either to Pretoria or Johannesburg.

The Sequel.

Rodrick—Mrs. Twist learned how to play poker so that she could keep her husband home at night.

Van Albert—How did the scheme turn out?

Rodrick—Well, after she learned the game she organized a poker club among other women and goes out every night herself now.—Chicago News.

A True Genius.

Mrs. Bjones—Your husband, I hear, is quite versatile.

Mrs. Brown-Smythe—Versatile is no name for it. Why, he can actually stay out late every night in the week and not give the same excuse twice.—Philadelphia Record.

Prompt Results.

"The mosquito is a good collector," remarked Bellefield.

"What do you mean?" asked Bloomfield.

"When he presents his little bill, it is liquidated on the spot."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

An Ideal Chauffeur.

"They say that it's just thrillingly delicious to take an automobile trip with the Buzzer's new chauffeur."

"Why is it?"

"Because he's cross eyed and left handed."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Disobliging.

Kid—Hey, dere, fatty, go on an' frow our ball down; wot's de mudder wid youse?—Chicago American.

Always a Superfluity.

Mrs. Jones—Willful waste makes woeful want.

Mr. Jones—Nonsense! Lots of women waste their breath talking [illegible] never seem in want for [illegible]—Judge.

If You Are Conscious of Failing Strength and Energy This Month, Make Use of

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

THE GREAT HEALTH AND STRENGTH GIVER.

NO OTHER MEDICINE CAN AFFORD OR GUARANTEE SUCH HAPPY RESULTS.

Men and women, young and old, of every rank in life, freely admit that they are more conscious of overtaxed nervous strength in the hot weather than at any other season.

When such a condition is experienced, Paine's Celery Compound affords advantages and results that no other remedy can offer with honesty. It vigorously cleanses the blood and regulates the tardy circulation. It strengthens and encourages the kidneys and enables them to filter from the blood all waste and morbid matters; it secures strong, firm nerves, gives sweet and natural sleep to the nerve-tired and brain-weary. In a word, Paine's Celery Compound is a true summer life-giver and health-builder. Mr. J. Ralston, of Nixon, Ont., says:

"It is now a year past since I had a severe attack of nervous prostration, caused by chronic dyspepsia, and I could not sleep at night. This condition of sleeplessness brought on delirium. I was attended by four of the best doctors, and took a great quantity of medicine, but all failed to do me any good. I thought I would try your Paine's Celery Compound. After I had used four bottles the nervousness and dyspepsia left me, and I have done more work since than for years past. I now enjoy excellent health and consider myself completely cured."

Wilson's Fly Pads

(POISON)

One 10 cent package will kill more flies than 300 sheets of sticky fly paper. Clean and handy.

MRS. DOLBY'S TALKS

SHE HAS A FEW WORDS TO SAY TO THE DEACON.

He Is Told That He Is Going to the Dogs at a Very Rapid Pace, but Has Nothing to Say in Defense of His Case.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

MR. DOLBY had been down to the postoffice after supper, and upon returning he found Mrs. Dolby seated on the piazza with her spectacles on and a grim look around her mouth. He tender heartedly brushed a bug away that he might not crush it and sat down, with a sigh, and after a long look at him over her glasses Mrs. Dolby said:

"Zadok Dolby, I've got a few words to say to you, and you know I'm a woman who talks right out when she has anything to say. You are a deacon in the church, but deacons want talkin' to now and then as well as other folks. Three or four mornin's ago you woke up and found a hog in the garden. You jumped for a club and ran him four times about the place, and just as he went through a hole in the fence you brought him a whack and said somethin' to yourself. What it was I dunno, but that hog turned around and looked at you in amazement, and I heard a boy laugh out and clap his hands. Zadok, I've got my suspicions—I've got my suspicions that after bein' a livin' example for forty years you are gettin' tired of your job and want to become wicked and go to hoss races and county conventions."

"STANDIN' IN FRONT OF A LOT OF CIRCUS PICTUR'S."

Mr. Dolby hitched about uneasily and pulled at the leaves of the Virginia creeper running up beside him, but did not defend himself. He was allowed to have three minutes to do it in, and then Mrs. Dolby set her foot to trotting and went on:

"One afternoon last week you was saunterin' about the back yard with your hands behind you and a contented look on your face. I was lookin' at you and thinkin' what a good man you was when you stepped on a blade of a hoe and the handle flew up and fetched you a whack on the head. You rubbed the spot, gave one look around, and then you kicked in the head of the old vinegar barrel and said somethin' as many as five times over. I couldn't catch the words, but my blood run cold for the next hour. Ever since then I've been askin' myself if I'm livin' with a man who may begin to chaw terbacker and bet on elections any mornin' in the year. Only last night I dreamed you had been churched for swearin' and that we was dividin' up the things and I was goin' home."

Mr. Dolby started to sigh, but saw two grasshoppers engaged in deadly combat on the ground and checked it to watch the struggle. He was mentally putting up a plunk that the cock eyed hopper would win over the old baldhead when Mrs. Dolby put on a more severe look and continued:

"I'm no hand to bring up things, Zadok, as you know, but I'm a truthful person and don't beat about the bush. You had never been to a circus when we got married, and you have never been to one since. You allus said that Satan and the circus was twin brothers. I know they have been postin' up bills for a circus that's comin' to town in two weeks, but I've been careful not to look at 'em. I've felt it my duty as your wife to turn my head away when I passed the pictur's, and if there had been any feelin' that I'd like to see the elephant I've come home and washed my mouth out with pepper sass. Yes, I've done all this, Zadok, but how is it with you? It wasn't three days ago that Mrs. Graham saw you standin' in front of a lot of circus pictur's, and you was so wrapped up in 'em that you didn't hear her speak to you. She said she'd bet you'd sneak off to the performance at night if you wasn't afraid everybody would see you. She didn't tell it to be mean, but she thought it was her duty. When a deacon begins to go down hill, his wife had better look out. He's liable to murder her any day. Zadok, if Satan has got hold of you I want to know it. I want to help you to wrassle with him. Have you a feelin' that you'd like to go to the circus?"

The grasshopper fight was ended by this time, with cockeye as victor, and Mr. Dolby had been asked a straight question. He didn't answer, however. There was a wistful look on his face, and the memory of those pictures rose up before him, but he sighed softly and wondered if the hen that was trying to crowd under the gate would accomplish the feat.

"And what did my brother Moses have to tell me three or four days ago?" asked Mrs. Dolby as a touch of pathos came to her tone. "Moses is no hand to tell things. When his cow died two years ago, he never said a word about it for weeks. He didn't tell this to me to make trouble between us, but he thought I ought to be ready if a calamity was comin'. He was goin' past the baseball grounds one day last week, and there was a game on. I don't say that baseball is as sinful as hoss racin', but I do know, and you have allus said so yourself, that it's one of the paths that lead down to perdition. The players yell and whoop and swear and drink beer, and sometimes the game ends in a fight. Moses didn't think of goin' in, especially as the price was two shillin's admittance, and he was turnin' away from temptation when he saw you. You was standin' up to the fence and lookin' through a knot hole, and he called your name seven times without your hearin' him.

"Moses almost cried when he told me of it. He said the next thing would be a hoss race unless you got hold of yourself, and the next after that would be a grand crash. You can't go on this way, Zadok—you can't do it. I ain't sayin' you've come to any great harm yet, though I notice you pick out the shortest chapters in the Bible for family prayers. Do you realize that Satan is after you?"

The hen had got under the gate and gone, but Mr. Dolby had become interested in two hogs in the street. Both wanted the same mudhole for a bed, and a fight was imminent to see which should have possession. Mr. Dolby's sympathies were with the spotted hog, and he took no heed of the woman behind him. She didn't seem to expect him to, but after a couple of minutes feelingly observed:

"There's one thing more, Zadok, and I'm bound to tell you of it. One evenin' last week when you was milkin' the cow and I was in the barn lookin' for eggs I heard somethin' go 'spat,' and I looked out to find you in a heap on the ground. The cow had kicked you over. You got up and grabbed a piece of fence rail, and you lambasted her nine times, and every time you lambasted you jumped out a word. I don't know what it was, as I had my ears stopped up, but I know it wasn't 'sugar.' You was still mad when you come into the house, and you kicked the cat and clicked your teeth together. Zadok Dolby, the time has come when I must know what you mean to do. Are you goin' to keep right on this way and bring up in the fire and brimstone at last or are you goin' to stop where you are and become a livin' example of goodness again? I want a plain answer."

She didn't get it, however. The hog-fight was on, and Mr. Dolby was mentally cheering the spotted one to victory, and he didn't even hear the question. The scrap lasted about three minutes, with victory perching on the banner of the better porker, and when it was concluded Mr. Dolby arose with a yawn, brushed a fly off his nose and sauntered out into the garden to see how the tomato plants were coming on.

M. QUAD.

A QUARTER OFF.

The Drummer's Reward For Saving a Drowning Man.

"I was driving into a New Hampshire village in a buggy three or four years ago," said a drummer from the Hub, "when I saw a man fall off a bridge into the river. As he came to the surface I saw that he could not swim, and I off with my coat and boots and plunged in. He came near drowning me, but at last I got him to the bank, and he proved to be the proprietor of one of the village inns. He was mighty grateful in words, and he shook hands with me about ten times an hour until bedtime. He told everybody what a hero I was and almost made me proud, and he threw out hints that such merit as mine would not go unrewarded. I passed that night and the next day and night at his inn, and then, being ready to depart, I asked for my bill. Mine host had begun to cool off considerably. In fact, he had come to believe that if let alone he would have rescued himself. Therefore I wasn't altogether unprepared for his words when he said:

"'Look here now, your bill is $3.75, but'—

"'But what?' I asked as he hesitated.

"'But it seems that you tumbled off the bridge and got wet the other day, and as I want you to carry away a pleasant impression of the town'—

"'You'll knock the 75 cents off the bill?'

"'No, sir. I'll take off a quarter, and I'll expect you to send me all the customers you can to even up things!'

"I refused his discount," sighed the drummer, "and when ready to go, he held out his hand for a shake and said:

"'Well, I'm glad it came my way to save your life, and I hope you'll make good use of it.'"

M. QUAD.

Rescuing a Hero.

"Who is that fellow at the bat?" asked the stranger, addressing the baseball enthusiast sitting next to him in the grand stand.

"That's Bingull," said the other.

"I thought so. I've got a warrant for his arrest on an old debt and I shall have to serve it on him as soon as the game is over."

Just then Bingull made a three base hit, bringing in two men, and the crowd went wild.

"Say," shouted the enthusiast, producing a well filled pocketbook, "Mr. What's-your-name, what is the amount of your claim against that man?"—Chicago Tribune.

New Bark In Trees.

It is not a new fact, but yet a remarkable one, that if a fruit tree—apple, pear or cherry—be stripped entirely of its bark in the second week in June a new surface of bark will immediately take the place of the older one. It is believed that the chief growth of deciduous trees in our part of the world takes place at midsummer.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8.—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling

XXX Cider and White Wine Vinegars

Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.

ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.
Telephone 214.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.

PORTER

There is no better tonic than good porter. CARLING'S PORTER has a reputation of over sixty years; and every bottle keeps up that good name.

CARLING LONDON

For sale by Wesley Bullen.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

He uses his ivory military brushes mercilessly for several moments, and then drops them suddenly as a suspicion dawns vividly on him for the first time.

"Are they both — mother and daughter — waiting?" he asks himself slowly. "I know Mrs. Murray was always anxious to hold the reins of government here even as a deputy. But can it be possible that they are waiting now to see Lyulph Glynne an earl and a widower? Is it possible that Joyce would sell herself to a man whom she hates and despises, even to be Countess of Pentreath? No, no, I could never believe it of Joyce, hard and worldly as I know her to be!"

He dresses himself, with his man's assistance, in a dazed and bewildered frame of mind; for the more he thinks of the possibility and probability of his suspicions the stronger they appear, and, when he is ready to go down stairs, he knocks at his wife's dressing-room door, thinking still of Joyce Murray and her fairness and falseness, and of how utterly he will scorn her if she ever wrongs herself so deeply for the sake of wealth and title as to marry Lyulph Glynne, whom he knows she dislikes and despises.

Yolande is waiting for him — he never has to wait for her at any time. She is wearing one of her pretty new dinner dresses — a rich crimson silk, simply made, perfectly fitting — and her pale face and milk white throat gleam fair and soft as rose-petals from the contrast of rich deep color.

Glynne's eyes soften and his heart aches with regret as he gazes at her, and he wishes she would smile at him as once she used to do. She is fastening the top button of her long creamy gloves, and adjusting her gold bangles over them; and she does smile, when she has finished, partly at him, partly at the gloves, because she is pleased with their perfect fit.

"Ready, Yolande?" he asks gently.

"Quite, thanks. We are rather early, I think."

"Yes. But there are probably some guests whom you haven't met," he says, with a slight unsteadiness in his tones, and wincing a little before Yolande's cold, inquiring eyes.

"Yes? Who are they?"—with calm indifference.

"Well, you have seen very few of my friends and relatives yet, Yolande," he says, prevaricating.

And she knows he is prevaricating, and her sad heart grows heavier, and the pain of jealous anguish that seldom leaves her makes her feel cold and faint. And then in a moment she grows hot with burning anger against him and his duplicity.

"But that I have been forewarned, I should have met her unprepared!" she thinks, trembling, and arming herself with the courage of indignant despair. "But for mademoiselle's spiteful letter, I should not have known whom I am going to meet! Captain Glynne doesn't even like to mention the name of his beloved cousin to a common person like me! She is one of the 'high-bred gentlewomen' of his acquaintance, and I am only the low-born wife he married for money! My feelings, and the betrayal of them perhaps before every one, do not matter in the least!"

"No, that is true," she agrees deliberately. "Except a very slight acquaintance with your cousin Viscount Glynne and your mother Lady Nora, I know none of your relatives."

And she does not say it as if she were sorry or displeased, or were stating anything but a perfectly unimportant fact. Since her miserable wedding day, it seems as if the very springs of emotion were frozen within her. Before her husband's eyes she compels herself to preserve always the same well-bred, equable-tempered indifference to all things, persons and places. The dignities and responsibilities of her new station have had their effect already on mind and body; and, as she has grown statelier, colder and calmer, so there has come to her the pale, fragile, aesthetic prettiness that is picturesque and fashionable.

The waxen pallor and the delicate violet shadows of the wistful girlish face are more pronounced than usual this evening, in contrast to the warm crimson of her robe, he thinks, and it touches his heart. For he knows there is a brightness gone out of face and eyes and voice for which nothing can atone.

"I shall have to forgive her all her savage little tempers and uncomplimentary speeches," he thinks impatiently. "I cannot endure this sort of thing much longer. I can see the poor girl is secretly miserable, and—so am I." And, knowing what she will have to encounter to forgive her and comfort her now, down stairs this evening, he longs and — last of all, but most of all— to let Joyce Murray see that he and his wife are happy together. "You will know more of them than you will care for, I fancy, before we leave Pentreath," he says, laughing, as he draws her hand within his arm. "You haven't had the bliss of meeting Lady Maria yet."

"I shall like to meet her. She is a great sufferer, isn't she?" Yolande asks quietly and sadly.

"Yes, I believe she is," Dallas says; and, answering the sorrowful tone of sympathy with a quick close pressure of his arm, he bends his head until his cheek touches hers. His heart throbs fast against the little hand in its creamy glove, a passionate yearning and longing and hope and fear commingled thrill him through. It is almost as if he loved her. "Yolande, can't we be better friends than we are?" he whispers, and holds his breath and trembles with eagerness for her reply.

"I thought we were very good friends, considering everything," she replies, her face clouding and flushing angrily. "I have been trying my best to learn to behave according to the duties of my position as your wife, and not to disgrace you among the gentlewomen of your acquaintance to whom you have introduced me—Lady Jeannie Ormond, and Mrs. Fred Mainstey and her daughter. I have failed."

There is dead silence for a moment.

"I did not ask you for a fresh specimen of your skill in making taunting speeches," he says, in a low tone, his face very pale, and drawing his moustache slowly through his fingers. "You are quite aware that neither Lady Jeannie nor the Mainsteys are women whom I wished you to associate with as friends."

"Really?" Yolande asks carelessly. "I thought they were to be my friends and protectors during your absence from Paris!"

"I thought you could visit with them and take care of yourself for ten days or so," Dallas answers shortly. "However, I do not wish to bandy unpleasant words. If it is to be an armed neutrality between us, so it be!" And then the demon within him urges him to utter one last stinging sentence. "It was out of consideration for you that I spoke," he adds.

"Thank you. I want no consideration of that kind," Yolande retorts.

"Very good; you shall have none shown you," says Captain Glynne, as a close to his interchange of conjugal tenderness.

And they descend the broad staircase side by side — the slender, dark-haired girl with her delicate face and large brilliant eyes, and the fair, stalwart soldierly young fellow —a pair formed to find wedded love and happiness with each other, yet as miserable, as angered and bitterly at variance with each other as they can well be. Side by side they enter the great drawing-room at Pentreath, where Dallas Glynne has so often entered with his false lost love.

And the first person on whom his eyes rest is that false lost love smiling on him kindly and brightly, looking fairer and lovelier than ever, golden-haired, blue-eyed Joyce Murray, in sofe dead-black silk and jet-sprinkled laces, with the black ribbons of her Swiss bodice laced across a white crape chemisette, and jet stars sparkling in her shining hair—her "mourning" for poor Dunavon's broken neck.

Yolande knows quite well that she is looking on her rival before ever a word is spoken. She knows it; and a handclasp seems to tighten on her heart, and the great room, with its lamps and pictures, and gleams of gilding and polished wood, and sombre splendid draperies, bright dresses, and faces, is whirling as in a kaleidoscope before her eyes.

"This is my wife, Joyce," Captain Glynne says, smiling. "Miss Murray, an old friend of mine, Yolande:" and he looks keenly into the keen girlish face by his side, pitying her even now.

But he need not. Yolande acknowledges the introduction, coldly but courteously, with a bow and a slight smile, and Joyce Murray draws back disconcerted.

Joyce is amiable and good-natured after a shallow fashion; she had made up her mind to be sweetly gracious to the poor little timid bride of her old lover, to win the heart of the romantic girlish wife and fascinate her, and exchange all sorts of sentimental confidences with her, and so keep the old chain of enthralment woven around Dallas still.

"I suppose he has made the poor little soul so horribly jealous that she can't bear the sight of me!" Joyce says to herself, soothing her ruffled vanity. "Men are so absurd! To think that he should tell a girl of that age of his former love affairs, when she was frantically in love with him herself!"

She glances at Dallas with a soft reproachful pout on her smiling lips, but pouts in good earnest when she sees that Dallas is not even looking at her, but gazing apast her in utter amazement, while Yolande's pale, cold face is lit up with smiles and brightly flushed.

"Ma cherie!" exclaims mademoiselle, rushing forward with carefully-studied enthusiastic affection, her plump arms shining white and bare to her shoulders above her twenty-button gloves.

"I am glad to see you, mademoiselle," the poor child says, nearly breaking down at this first welcome and the sight of a familiar face. She clasps the hands of her former governess in both hers, and her cheeks are flushed, and her eyes are dewy with tears.

"Your wife is a pretty girl, Dallas," Joyce says, biting her lip discontentedly. "I wish she would be friends with me!"—this with a soft lingering sigh and plaintive upward glance.

"How, in the name of all that is astounding, did she come here?" Dallas demands in a low tone, frowning as he looks at mademoiselle, who, over his wife's shoulder, looks at him with the sweetest of deferential smiles, though she guesses the very words he has just spoken by the movement of his lips and his displeased frown.

"I haven't paid off my debts to you, mon grande seigneur, Dallas darling!" sneers mademoiselle to herself. "But I'll pay them one day in full. I owe your unfortunate in fp:: I owe your unfortunate little fool of a wife a good turn for meeting me as she did just now before all the fine ladies who hate me, and I'll pay that too. I'm poor, but honest, my dear Captain Glynne!"

"I think I should rather ask you, Dallas," Joyce says, with a curling lip, turning her shoulder toward mademoiselle with a pretty scornful shrug. "She is an old acquaintance of yours, I understand, and an old acquaintance of the Viscount's, and an indispensable favorite — already —with Lady Maria!"

"In what capacity, for Heaven's sake, is she here?" Dallas asks impatiently.

"As an indispensable favorite, don't I tell you, Dallas?" Joyce replies, her pretty red lip curling more and more. "She is head nurse and confidential companion, private secretary, general tell-tale, spy, and toady. A most charming person, possessing universal talents! She is a favorite with your wife too, you see; and there is Lyulph the Lanky making his way up to her, looking quite hilarious. There is quite a happy family party at Pentreath at the present time, Dallas," Joyce adds, with a forced smile, "and clever mademoiselle is the centre of attraction. Mother and I," Joyce adds, with a bitter laugh, "are quite out in the cold."

"I am out in the cold too, Joyce," Dallas says softly, looking into her eyes; and the blue eyes smile back at him as sweetly as ever they have smiled on him.

"We must console each other, Dallas, for being shut out of the happy family party," Joyce murmurs.

CHAPTER XV.

It is a large well-furnished room of handsome proportions and exceedingly uncomfortable appearance, presenting the aspect of a first-class hospital ward and a surgical appliance manufactory in one, with an all-pervading odor as of a fashionable chemist's shop. A large Ilkley couch covered in crimson damask and adjusted to half a dozen angles is extended before one of the lofty windows, which has a red silk curtain on one side and a green one on the other. These curtains are very full but rather short, not quite touching the floor, which is of well-polished oak parquetry, and they are uniquely ugly in appearance.

Before the other window, through which the bright sunlight streams unchecked, is a large marble-topped table, on which are a pestle and mortar, a charcoal filter, a great jar of distilled water, and an open cabinet of large and small bottles; on a mahogany stand near by is an elaborate galvanic appliance, with an array of gleaming handles and wires and cylinders, and a big burnished dial-plate above all.

The opposite corner of the room is taken up with a gruesome-looking arrangement of pulleys and ropes and horizontal bars, and a wooden seat in the midst of all, as if some unfortunate were to be put to the torture them. Weird-looking chairs, with queer curves in their backs and protuberances at their sides, and leg-rests and reading-easels are scattered about the room, the floor of which is covered only with a dull grayish-brown thick carpet in the centre square, the wide margin being bare and polished.

On the walls hang several portraits of grave and scientific-looking men, with a low book-case running along one end of the room near the big Ilkley couch contains an ample supply of large well-bound volumes — books on religious subjects and books on diseases of the body and the mind; and around float the subtle odors of ether, Turkey rhubarb, spirits of wine, camphor, rose-attar, and red lavender.

This soothingly delightful apartment is the private sitting room of her ladyship, Maria, Viscountess Glynne. Yolande experiences the sickly sensation of entering a dentist's waiting-room—fingers and toes tingling and growing cold, and the mental question repeating itself with extreme rapidity, "Why was I fool enough to come?" as mademoiselle ushers her in on the following morning.

"It is one of her dear ladyship's good days!" she says, with the beaming complacence of a devoted nurse.

And Yolande gazing timidly into the corner where the Ilkley couch is in the green light of the emerald-hued curtain, wonders speechlessly what her ladyship looks like on her "bad" days.

A female form looking horribly like one which has been disjointed and is waiting to be put together again is extended on the couch, so odd is the attitude on the "ups and downs" of the surgical couch, so painfully defined are the joints of her ladyship's skeleton-like limbs, so cadaverous is her ladyship's long thin face, with its prominent long blue-white teeth and large eyes with pinkish eyelids and long, thin, drooping pinkish nose.

"I am sorry to have to ask you to visit me in my invalid retirement, Mrs. Glynne," Lady Maria says languidly, but in querulous high-pitched tones, as she puts out one chalky-white hand from beneath the coverlet, and then replaces it suddenly; "but I am not equal to any exertion at times. Isabelle, the temperature is getting lower; it has quite chilled my hand."

Mademoiselle trips briskly across to the pier between the windows, where a large barometer and thermometer hang side by side.

"It hasn't varied a decimal, Lady Maria," mademoiselle says, with scientific decision; "but your temperature has, I dare say. Allow me."

(To be continued.)

LIVE STOCK STATISTICS.

Number of Horses and Cattle in Ontario Show an Increase Over Preceding Year—Fewer Sheep.

Toronto, Aug. 19.— The following interesting statistics of farm live stock on July 1, 1902, have been prepared by the Department of Agriculture:

Horses.—Working horses, 393,307; breeding mares, 93,425; unbroken horses, 139,374; total, 626,106, as against 620,343 in 1901.

Cattle.—Milch cows, 1,010,746; store cattle, 458,834; other cattle, 1,093,004; total, 2,562,584, as against 2,507,620 in 1901.

Sheep—Over one year, 915,217; under one year, 800,296; total, 1,715,513, compared with 1,761,799 in 1901.

Hogs—Over one year, 238,992; under one year, 1,445,643; total, 1,684,635, as compared with 1,491,885 in 1901, and 1,771,641 in 1900.

Poultry—Turkeys, 732,359; geese, 332,781; ducks, 397,333; other fowls, 8,300,335; total, 9,762,808, against 9,755,286 in 1901.

The number of live stock sold or slaughtered in the year ending June 30, 1902, were as follows: Horses, 54,538; cattle, 673,544; sheep, 732,994; hogs, 1,991,907; poultry, 3,674,198.

The wool clip of 1902 is 5,690,673 pounds.

The number of colonies of bees is 202,529.

BOUNDARY MARK DESTROYED.

Lieut. Owens Investigating in the Disputed Territory.

New York, Aug. 19.—A despatch from Tacoma to The Sun says: Skaguay advices say the question of the destruction of an old Russian monument in the disputed territory between Alaska and British Yukon has been settled. S. Weitman, a merchant of Haines, arrived at Skaguay with the news that Lieut. Owens had found two monuments in perfect repair and definitely located the place where a third one had been destroyed. One of the monuments discovered is about ten miles above Rainy Hollow, fifty miles from the coast. Lieut. Owens is now examining other parts of the boundary and will secure the statements of Indians.

The monument destroyed was levelled to the ground. The destruction had evidently been wrought within a few months.

Lieut. Owens also found an old storm house on the summit. This was called boundary house when the Russians occupied the country. The walls of the building are falling down but there is every indication of occupation at one time.

RAINING IN THE WEST.

But Not In Sufficient Quantities to Do Any Damage.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—Rain has fallen incessantly since Sunday between Calgary and Kootenay Landing, and heavy rain has been falling in this and some other districts in the province during the day. It is not calculated to do any harm, and will prove of great benefit to garden stuffs. The C. N. R. weather report states that rain was general over the system Sunday afternoon and evening. It has not fallen in sufficient quantities to do any damage yet, however.

At Lethbridge, warm weather is rapidly ripening the grain, and barley has been cut. Fair estimates place the yield at 40 bushels to the acre.

At Sydney, wheat cutting commenced on Aug. 12, and 100 men will be required to handle the harvest crop at this point.

CATTLE INTO THE WEST.

14,500 Head Brought in From the United States.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—Several large herds of stock are now being taken into Western Canada. Among them are Cresswell's and Day's bunch of 10,000 2-year-old heifers, from New Mexico, and the Broom Cattle Company's bunch of 4,500 from Southern Colorado.

The Saskatchewan Valley Land Company have already sold one-half of their recently-acquired one million acre tract, situated between Regina and Prince Albert.

As a further instance of how Western Canada lands are selling, it may be noted that the immense block controlled by the Canadian-American Land Company along the Soo Line, has all been disposed of.

Increase Out of the Question.

London, Aug. 19.—The West India Committee has published the reply of Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, to the deputation from the Island of Trinidad, which recently interviewed him on the subject of the inadequacy of the relief which the Government is giving the planters. Mr. Chamberlain declared that any increase of the sum ($1,350,000), voted by Parliament, was out of the question, and that he could hold out no hope of a similar grant in 1903.

Lord Strathcona's Energy.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Col. Macdonald has returned from London. In speaking of Lord Strathcona, he says: "His Lordship is at his office early and late, and seems never tired of ministering to the comfort and welfare of visiting Canadians. Many gentlemen endowed with equal wealth would prefer a life of greater ease, but Lord Strathcona seems to find keen zest in an active career. As for hospitality, his Lordship is a lavish entertainer."

Want Petition Set Aside.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—The Conservatives of Lennox on Thursday will ask the court to set aside the Liberal petition against T. C. Carscallen, who holds the seat by a majority of 3.

Will Sail Sept. 11.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.— Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia and Lady Borden, will sail for Canada on Sept. 11.

"You Don't Care, Eh ?"

Well most folks do, and that is why

"SALADA"

Ceylon GREEN Tea is making Japan tea take a back seat, the people recognize "pure" tea. Sold in the same form as the celebrated "SALADA" black tea, in lead packets only.

A HEAVY IRONING

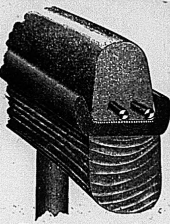
can be done with less labor and worry when you use

BEE STARCH

Try it and prove for all time our assertion. The iron cannot stick to the linen—nor will the latter crack when BEE STARCH is used.

10 CENTS PER PACKAGE. Save the Coupons.

SNOWDON, FORBES & CO., Agts., 449 St. Paul St., Montreal. 19A



The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.

Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

Wedding Needs.

In our handsomely illustrated catalogue you will find full lines and prices of all that is newest in wedding rings, bridal presents, bridesmaids' favors, wedding invitations, etc.

A copy of this catalogue will be cheerfully sent you upon application.

Ryrie Bros.,
Yonge and Adelaide Sts.,
TORONTO.

WE PREPAY CHARGES AND REFUND MONEY IF DESIRED.

A Wonderful Medicine.

Beecham's Pills

FOR ALL

Bilious and Nervous Disorders,

Sick Headache, Constipation,

Wind and Pains in Stomach,

Impaired Digestion,

Disordered Liver and Female Ailments.

PREPARED ONLY BY THE PROPRIETOR,
Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Eng.,
Sold by all Druggists
in Canada and U. S. America.
In boxes, 25 cents.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

will open an account with us. For such an account we will buy and sell, for you, as often as desired, 20 shares of stock—the value of which, amounts to from $400 to $3000. We advance balance of purchase money, at a charge, not exceeding rate of 6 per cent. per annum. Small capital, thus invested, enables the dealer to secure the profits from investments of greater amounts. Such accounts, properly operated, exceed in possibility of profit, any other method of investment. For benefit of customers, operating accounts, in this manner, we issue free our 400 page, clothbound illustrated "Guide to Investors." and "Daily Market Letter." One contains complete information as to Wall St., its methods and Securities; the other, faithfully outlines each afternoon, the probable movements of the markets. Both are invaluable to investor or trader: enable anyone to invest money, keep the principal intact and make it pay an income.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON,
373 Front St., - Belleville, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY

20,000 Harvesters Wanted

In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run —To— For

From stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell

WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th

$10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or Southwest or Northwest of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 10th, 1901, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS and ARE NOT GOOD on "Imperial Limited" and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation on Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest Agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.

S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at The Intelligencer Office. tf

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

New French Flannels

We have just received an advance shipment of Fine French Flannels for Early Fall wear, in beautiful Fancy Stripe Effects for Shirt Waists and Dressing Jackets, in shades Old Rose, Resida, Blue, Navy, Cardinal, Brown, Grey and Pink, at 50c yard.

New Dress Goods

We have also just placed in stock an early shipment of New Fall Dress Materials, comprising all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this fall.

Please ask to see through our Dress Goods Department for the latest novelties.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT G. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 316 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

After
To-morrow
Only One More

Wednesday half-holiday left. To make it more enjoyable take along with you a package of some of our many kinds of fine Chocolates.

These are always appreciated.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. C. PARKER.
Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No loss charged as less than twenty-five words.

Weather permitting, the band will play at the park this evening.

The Marks' theatrical aggregation are on their season at Perth.

The High Court of the I.O.F. for Eastern Ontario opened at Picton to-day.

A large excursion party from Madoc passed through the city this morning en route to Picton.

Miss Agnes Hanley, A. T. C. M., graduate of Toronto Conservatory of Music, Violin Department, is prepared to receive pupils at her residence, 75 Dunbar St., after Sept. 1st. a9,12,16,19,23,30,s2,13d&wit

On receipt of our Company's cheque for a Matured Endowment, a well-known citizen writes; "I am certainly much pleased iwth the outcome of my policy. It indeed proved a profitable investment, in addition to carrying my risk." S. Burrows, Gen. Agt. The Mutual Life Co., of Canada.

Mrs. A. A. Campbell is prepared to take music pupils at her residence in the Metropolitan Block, Campbell St., after the 1st September. Telephone 90. 9,12,19,26,28,30.

St. Thomas' Church Sunday School excursion and picnic, Wednesday, Aug. 20, Str. Niagara. Boat leaves at 9 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7.30 p.m, sharp. Adults 25 cents, children 15 cents. Chalaupka's orchestra on afternoon and evening trips, both ways. 16-19

Miss Sidna H. Brown, late pupil of Miss Archer, of Toronto, will receive pupils in violin after Sept. 1st, at the residence of C. H. Vermilyea, Bridge St. Arrangements may be made with Miss Brown any time during August.

Steamers "North King" and "Caspian" leave Belleville daily (except Monday) for Kingston and 1000 Islands at 3.25 a.m., and for Rochester, N.Y., at 11.38 p.m., after June 28th. mc13-d&wtf

MARRIAGES.

JOHNSON—MARTIN.—On the 18th of August, at the residence of the bride's mother, 147 Worcester St., Boston, Mass., by the Rev. C. E. Davis, Mr. James Sawyer Johnson to H. Mabel Martin.

DEATHS.

WATKINS—In Belleville, on Tuesday, Aug. 19, 1902, at her residence, Ferry Hotel, South Front St., Mrs. W. J. Watkins, aged 58 years, 3 months.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 21, to the cemetery. Service at the house at 2 o'clock.

EXCURSION TO NAPANEE.

Str. Aletha, Wednesday afternoon next, 2 p.m., Trenton, Twelve O'clock Point, Brighton Bay in morning at nine. 18-2t

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, that our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Dr. Shaw, of Keene, was a visitor in the city to-day.

Mr. John Moutt, of New York, is visiting in the city.

Mrs. M. T. Lynch, who has been seriously ill, is improving.

Mr. John Miller, Wellington street, was very low this morning.

Mr. Thos. Elliott, Portsmouth, Virginia, is visiting his family.

Miss Laura McCarthur, of Montreal, is in the city visiting friends.

Mr. W. Harper, of Brandon, is visiting friends in this section of the country.

Messrs. Jas. L. McCrudden and R. H. Dyer, jr., of Buffalo, are visiting in the city

Mrs. H. Dalton, of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. J. Lynch, Burnham St.

Most Rev. C. H. Gauthier, D. D., Archbishop of the diocese of Kingston, is visiting Bishop McEvay, at London.

Mr. Wm. Black, of Stratford, was in the city on Sunday, the guest of Mr. H. C. Pascoe.

Mrs. S. R. Armstrong, of Peterboro, has returned to her home, after a visit with relatives in this city.

Miss Florence Brough has returned home, after spending five weeks with her grandparents in Deseronto.

Misses Mayme and Grace Nelson, of Grinnell, Iowa, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. D. Cunningham, Yeomans street.

Miss Ray and Miss Gertie Nolan, of Detroit, Mich., are visiting their aunt, Mrs. George Moxam, Dundas street.

Mr. and Mrs. Sclater and daughter, of St. Mary's, returned to their home yesterday, after a visit with relatives here.

Mr. T. Peake and wife, of Toronto, are spending a few days in the city, guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Lazier, Commercial street.

Dr. J. D. Bissonnette, of Stirling, has been appointed associate coroner for the County of Hastings, in the stead of the late Dr. Robert Parker.

Mrs. Ed. Ashley and Master Elton Ashley, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., are in the city, visiting at Mrs. Ashley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. McCrudden, Catherine street.

The Rev. Mr. Geen left this morning to attend the High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters, of which body he is High Orator. Picton is the place of meeting this year.

At the Quinte:—W. S. Appleby, J. E. Anderson, G. A. Sterling, W. E. Wright, F. J. Watson, Mrs. T. C. Wallbridge and daughter, Geo. Hogg, Toronto; C. M. Wallbridge, Madoc; Mrs. McKelvy, Wallaceburg; Mrs. H. A. Alger, Stirling; J. Kennedy, Montreal.

Arrivals at Massassaga Park:—A. E. LaRoche, Miss German, Miss Young, T. Nash, A. Bird, L. C. Spangenberg, M. Crawford, J. Langeley, B. Backus, W. Reeves, C. Walt, E. Wessels, E. Foster, Rose Ketcheson, Miss E. Fish, Miss E. Walton, Miss R. Walton, Miss Mabelle Lattimer, Miss E. Grills, Miss Nettie Deacon, Miss L. Doyle, Miss Grace Waters, Miss Iler, Miss B Waters, Miss E. Phippen, Miss E. Lingham, Miss M. Webster, L. Hyman, P. Allen, V. Doyle, F. Wallbridge, Mr. Jones, D. B. Robertson, Miss Robertson, Miss Slater, Mr. and Mrs. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bird, Belleville; Miss J. R. Graham, Buffalo; Miss Grace Bouse, Bath; C. Howell, Exeter; Miss Palmer, Denver, Col.; Miss Hensing, Windsor; Miss Alford, Miss Wilson, Montreal; Miss Reid, Tweed; Miss Maud Reid, Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. C. B. Craig, Miss Grace Craig, Mrs. Eyre, Cobourg; Mr. Hardy and party of seven, Napanee; S. G. Hungerford, London; Mrs. Sidney Warner, Napanee; Mrs. J. E. Eakins, Master Gray Eakins, Toronto.

MARRIED IN BOSTON

FORMER WELL KNOWN BELLEVILLE BOY HAS JOINED THE RANKS OF THE BENEDICTS.

A wedding took place in Boston, Mass., yesterday, in which many of our citizens will be interested. Mr. James Sawyer Johnson, second eldest son of Mr. Wm. Johnson, was married to Miss H. Mabel Martin, only daughter of Mrs. L. Edna Martin of 147 Worcester St., Boston. The happy event, which has been anticipated for some time, took place at the residence of the bride's mother in the presence of some fifty relatives and intimate friends. The Rev. C. E. Davis was the officiating clergyman. Mr. Arther Lyon Johnson did the honors of groomsman for his brother and Miss Laura Green was the bridesmaid. Shortly after the happy event Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left Boston to spend their honeymoon in New York, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Toronto and Belleville. On their return to Boston they will reside at No. 4 Cypress Terrace, Brookline, Mass.

With a host of friends in this city The Intelligencer unites in congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

NEW SUITS.

We have just opened a very choice lot of Ladies' Tailor Made Suits which are pronounced by experts to be the nicest we have ever displayed and as we control this make they cannot be had elsewhere.

You will find a style, fit and finish about these goods that is unsurpassed, prices are right and if not perfectly satisfied with your purchase your money will be cheerfully refunded.

We will be pleased to have the Ladies call and inspect these goods.

Silk Waists

Here are some new arrivals in Silk Waists.

—Fine quality Silk Taffetta Waist, tucked allover, open front with box plait and stitching, latest large sleeve with pointed cuff, detatched lining....$3.75

—Very Fine Quality All Silk Soft Taffeta with rows of tucks, box plait open front cut with new Gibson effect, newest sleeve and cuff, a very stylish and handsome waist..................... $4.75

Aprons

Home sewing at least for economical purposes has now almost become unnecessary as the ready made article can be had so cheap with the saving of time and labor. Note the prices of our new white aprons.

—Fine White Lawn Apron, wide hem, with 3 rows of tucks, tucked bib, strongly sewn, well finished, ... 35c.

—Extra Fine Quality White Lawn Apron with new flounce bottom, with tucks, frilled bib, with fine quality insertion, side pocket, very pretty ....75c.

The RITCHIE COMPANY
Limited.

The Fall Fairs

E. Hastings, Thrasher's, Sept. 25-26.
Kingston's big fair, Aug. 25-29.
Ottawa Central, Aug. 22-30.
Morrisburg, Aug. 27-29.
Sherbrooke, Aug. 30, Sept. 6.
Toronto Industrial, Sept. 1-13.
Frontenac, Harrowsmith, Sept. 4-5.
Iroquois, Sept. 8-10.
Peterboro, Central, Sept. 9-11.
Addington, Tamworth, Sept. 12-13.
London Western, Sept. 12-20.
Napanee, County, Sept. 16-17.
Newboro, Sept. 15-16.
Brockville, Sept. 16-18
Hamilton Central, Sept. 16-18.
Perth, County, Sept. 17-19,
Prescott, Sept. 23-25.
Hinchinbrooke, Parham, Sept 23-24,
Delta, Sept. 23-24.
Merrickville, County, Sept. 24-25.
Renfrew, Sept. 25-26.
Lombardy, Sept. 27.
Spencerville, Sept. 30, Oct. 1.
Beachburg, Oct. 2-3.
Lansdowne, Oct. 7-8.

Will Extend Bay of Quinte Line

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 18. — H. B. Sherwood, superintendent of the Bay of Quinte Railway, says that the extension of the line from Tweed to Bannockburn will be proceeded with at once. He says it is the intention of the company to extend its line to North Bay and connect with the Temiscamingue Railway. This he expects will be an aid to Kingston, which he hopes will become a large smelting point.

"JUST AS GOOD"

Has no glimmer of truth in it when it means a substitute for Dr. Agnew's Ointment.

There are cases on record where men and women too have suffered unspeakable torture from piles; where all kinds of remedies have been applied; where the surgeon's knife has been resorted to as the only hope; where electricity has tried its good offices, but without any permanent cure; and Dr. Agnew's Ointment, as the last resort, has proved its magic—one application has given relief. There is no other "just as good." Don't take chances. 55

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

BIG BLOUSE and WRAPPER SALE

NATHAN JONES.

Never before have we offered two better bargains to our customers than we offer this week. Of course we lose money on every sale but we are determined to clear them all out to make room for Fall importations.

Blouse Sale

This week all our colored print blouses ranging from 50c to $1.00

For 25c each.

Surely a big reduction is that.

Wrapper Sale

All our wrappers at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.40 to be cleared out

For 75c each

That's much cheaper than you can make them for.

Also a few lines of our 12½c Ginghams left to be cleared out at 10c.

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

"Ye Olde Fashioned Style"

We have of late purchased about forty dozen old fashioned Alhumbru Blue Cups and Saucers. They are of the style that was all the go some fifty years ago, and if you want a nice old fashioned cup and saucer, the very kind your grandmother used to use, now is your chance.

They are selling at 10c each or $1.10 a dozen and they shall go fast at the prices marked.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1902. NO. 93

Good for Baby

Any baby will thrive on Nestlé's Food. It is wholesome, nourishing and easily digested. Twenty five years of use has proved its value.

Nestlé's Food

Sample (sufficient for eight meals) Free.

LEEMING, MILES & CO.,
MONTREAL.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Boer Account Of the War

Gen. Botha Says It Will Be Given at No Distant Date.

The Time, He Says, Has Not Yet Arrived For a Public Statement—Hearty Welcome Accorded the Boer Generals at The Hague.

Rotterdam, Aug. 19.—Dewet, Delarey and Botha, the Boer Generals, and their party landed here yesterday morning. They were given a hearty welcome by the municipal authorities and representatives of Boer associations. Many ladies presented bouquets to the Generals' wives. The ships in the harbor displayed their flags. The party proceeded to the Hague.

Boer Side of the War.

The Hague, Aug. 20.—A public reception was accorded the Boer Generals on their arrival here yesterday from Rotterdam. Gen. Eyter, in a speech, paid a tribute to their heroic deeds. Gen. Botha replied, expressing the appreciation of the Boer officers at the warmth of their reception, and referring to the consolation which it had been to them to know that while they fought their women and children were being supported by Dutch generosity. The time, added Gen. Botha, had not yet arrived to make public all they know, but probably at no distant date, they would publish their account of the war. The visitors were escorted in procession through the town in open carriages and were everywhere loudly cheered by the crowds assembled. A number of Boers who served during the war formed a guard of honor for the Generals.

Dewet Was Touched.

The generals also attended the pro-Boer exhibition, which is being held here. Responding to the welcome they received at the exhibition building, Gen. Dewet, in a voice broken with emotion, said: All those who organized this exhibition of art and industry have contributed to the growth of the nations. We South Africans were on the road to development of art and industry, but our legs were cut from under us; consequently we need help and support to rise again. It is for that very purpose that we have come to Europe, and we are gathered for the honors shown and the help given us by the Dutch.

WARSHIP BLOWN TO PIECES.

Only One Man Out of One Hundred and Thirty Escaped.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 20.—The Navy Department has received information concerning the explosion which completely wrecked the Chinese cruiser Kai-Chih on June 22 last, while the ship was lying at her station of Nan-King. The explosion occurred at 12.35 p.m. The vessel was blown to pieces and all of the officers and men, about 130, were lost with the exception of a seaman, who was picked up slightly wounded. The cause of the explosion could not be ascertained definitely, but it was believed that either the careless handling of ammunition or the want of care in using lights in or near the magazine was accountable for it.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Getting Ready for Fall Goods

We are now opening our New Fall Goods. This means we must have room, and to make room for the New Goods we offer the following lines at exactly Half Price:

Ladies' Colored Cotton Shirt Waists will sell at	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Shirt Waists	Half Price
Ladies' Colored Cotton Costumes	Half Price
Ladies' White Pique Skirts	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Dress Skirts	Half Price
One Table of fancy Dress Muslins	Half Price
Ladies Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Children's Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Colored Leather Belts	Half Price
Fancy Belt Buckles	Half Price
All Fancy Parasols	Half Price

New Silk Waists

We have just opened some very pretty Styles in Ladies' Black, White and Colored Silk Waists at $4.00 4.50, $5.00, $5.50, $6.00 and $6.50.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

SHAH AT MUSIC HALL.

Prince of Wales Bears Him Company—Enjoyed the Ballet.

London, Aug. 20.—The Shah of Persia, who reached London Monday as the guest of King Edward, was entertained last night at the Empire Music Hall. He went to the hall in a carriage, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, and escorted by a detachment of the Household Cavalry. The Shah was received with loud cheers when he entered the building and he apparently enjoyed the ballet, the animated pictures and the other attractions offered.

Yesterday the Shah gave a reception to the members of the Cabinet and the foreign diplomats in London and during the afternoon he took a long drive.

Killed at a Candy Pull.

Beattyville, Ky., Aug. 20. — At a candy-pull Jesse Nealy was killed, Robert Allen was mortally wounded, James Nealy's arm was shot off, Reuben Fox was badly wounded and four others, whose names cannot be learned, were slightly wounded, and Mrs. William Peters was shot in the leg. The trouble arose over a girl.

High Court Eastern Ontario.

Picton, Aug. 20.—The annual meeting of the High Court, I.O.F., of Eastern Ontario, opened here to-day. The various committees were appointed. The Supreme Chief Ranger, Dr. Oronhyatekha, was present.

High Court at Guelph.

Guelph, Aug. 20.—The sixth annual communication of the High Court of Central Ontario, I.O.F., opened here yesterday, when the report of the High Chief Ranger, E. J. Hearn, was presented.

Going to Europe.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20. — Hon. Hugh John and Mrs. Macdonald leave Friday via Montreal for England and Europe.

Major Wood Appointed.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—An Order-in-Council has been passed appointing Major Zachary Taylor Wood acting commissioner of the Yukon territory.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Paris.

London, Aug. 20. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who left Jersey Monday by steamer for St. Malo, arrived in Paris yesterday afternoon.

C.P.R. Will Not Buy.

Montreal, Aug. 20.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy states that the C.P.R. has no intention of purchasing the Wisconsin Central.

France Must Retrench.

London, Aug. 20.—Ex-Premier Meline says that France must retrench in order to wipe out the huge deficit.

Drowned in Lake Erie.

Hamilton, Aug. 20.—Henry Keene, of Hagersville, was drowned off Hamilton Point in Lake Erie Monday. He rode a horse in to drink, and about a hundred yards out both disappeared. Before help could be given he was drowned. The horse swam ashore. Deceased was a popular young man, and a member of one of the Canadian contingents.

In Memory of Kaiser's Mother.

Homburg, Aug. 20.—A statue in honor of the late Empress Frederick was unveiled here yesterday with considerable ceremony in the presence of Emperor and Empress, the Crown Prince Frederick William, and other members of the royal family, and troops of which she was colonel.

Head Crushed to a Jelly.

Quebec, Aug. 20.—A young man named Rousseau, 19 years of age, was instantly killed in the Rock City Tobacco Company's building, about 2.30 p.m. yesterday. The deceased was caught by the belting and whirled round until his head was crushed to a jelly.

Left for Manitoba

The farm laborers' excursion to Winnipeg and other points of Manitoba, which took place to-day, was extensively patronized from this section of the country. The scene at the station this morning was an animated one, but the crowd was well handled and no hitch occurred.

THE PENALTY OF A FAST LIFE.

Is paid for by an irritable condition of body and mind, by exhausted energy, poor digestion, unstrung nerves and broken sleep. If you must and will live the killing pace, better keep in mind the sustaining powers of Ferrozone, a wonderful tonic and reconstructor. Ferrozone is a blood maker, a nerve strengthener, a heart and brain invigorator. It creates appetite, insures perfect digestion and undisturbed sleep, restores the vitality and strength lost by excessive living very quickly. Ferrozone will do you inestimable good, try it. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or J. S. McKeown.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

ROLLING MILLS MAY ROLL

A PROSPECT THAT THE MILLS MAY AGAIN BE IN OPERATION.

A special meeting of the Industrial Committee was held last evening for the purpose of meeting two gentlemen who had spent the afternoon inspecting the rolling mills plant. These gentlemen have had large experience in the iron business and, we understand, expressed themselves as highly pleased with the Belleville plant. They were also impressed with Belleville's natural advantages as a centre for manufacturing purposes, and, after discussing the operation of the Belleville mills, left this morning for their home. The Committee hope as a result of their visit to see capital attracted to the city and its citizens once more rejoicing in seeing the mills operated to their full capacity.

To the Chairman of the Industrial Committee, these visitors stated that Belleville could, in the Hotel Quinte, boast the best hotel accommodation in Ontario.

CONSERVATIVES TO CONVENE

GENERAL MEETING OF ONTARIO ASSOCIATION—TACTICS OF THE GOVERNMENT—SIR OLIVER'S POSITION.

(Tuesday's Mail and Empire.)

A general meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario will be held in Toronto on either Tuesday, September 9th, or Wednesday, September 10th, during the second week of the Industrial Exhibition. The choice of either day has been left with Mr. Whitney. The Executive will meet on the day selected prior to the general meeting of the Association.

On Thursday morning a motion for the dismissal of the petition against Mr. T. C. Carscallen, M.P.P. for Lennox, will be heard by Mr. Justice Osler. The motion is based on certain irregularities in connection therewith, and Messrs. Bristol, Cawthra, and Bayley are acting for Mr. Carscallen and the Conservative party.

GOVERNMENT OUTLOOK.

The Government has been advised that it will probably lose North Grey on a scrutiny, which will place it in a minority of one. The course the Ministers have decided to adopt is that of appealing North Grey and keeping the constituency unrepresented by a lengthy litigation similar to that which kept the seat for West Huron vacant for three sessions. All the resources of the Government will then be centered in a stupendous effort to capture North Renfrew, on which would hang the maintenance of a majority of one.

A great deal depends, however, on what Premier Ross will have to say when he meets his advisers next week. The resolve of the Premier the Attorney-General, and the Ontario members of the Federal Cabinet to come back to Canada a month before they had originally intended to may indicate another general election in Ontario. In well-informed circles here it is thought that Premier Ross has been advised by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues to throw up the sponge and force another trial at arms. It is understood that Attorney-General Gibson favors such a move, provided that the Dominion Government is prepared to back Hon. G. W. Ross in another campaign. Hon. Mr. Stratton is frankly in favor of a coalition, provided he is in it.

SIR OLIVER'S POSITION.

Over and above all, Sir Oliver Mowat is to be reckoned with. His constitutional views are said to be strongly against administering the province with advisers not fully authorized by the votes of the people, and old Liberals declare that if a situation arises whereby the question of whether his advisers are in power is left with the election courts he will force an appeal to the people.

Died in Toronto

Miss Tillie Marshall, who resided in this city for some time, died in Toronto yesterday morning. The remains will be brought here to-morrow for interment. Miss Marshall was about 60 years of age and was a sister of the late Mrs. Henry Vandewaters.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

Wine Agent—The brand of whiskey I'm agent for is called "The Kinetoscope." Miss Wanta Noe—"Why do they call it that?" Wine Agent—Because after you drink a pint of it you begin to see moving pictures."

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.
Midweek Services Protestant Churches.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Light to moderate variable winds, generally fair; a few scattered showers, more especially during the night or on Thursday.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	68
12 m.	75
2 p.m.	77
3 p.m.	78

SUICIDE AT NAPANEE

KINGSTON MAN TURNED ON THE GAS AFTER STUFFING KEYHOLES, AND IS FOUND DEAD.

Napanee, Aug. 20. — About 3.30 yesterday afternoon W. Coffey, a man about 65 or 70 years of age, was found dead in his room in the Paisley House. It is clearly a case of suicide by gas, as there was no occasion to use the gas, there being an electric light in the room, which was going all night. The man is a traveler, but it is not as yet known what firm he represented. In five or six places in a book and on the inside of a newspaper, he wrote "121 Stuart street, Kingston is my home," which showed that he had premeditated the rash act.

Later information informs us that the unfortunate man was a traveller for Messrs. Geo. Robinson & Son., of Kingston. On reaching the Paisley House yesterday he at once went to his room and carefully stuffed up the keyholes with paper. He then turned the gas on, with the result above noted.

THE CAUSE OF DYSPEPTIC PAINS.

Improperly digested food usually forms gases that cause a painful distention of the stomach and pressure against the heart. This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Cramps, Summer Complaint and all Stomach and Bowel Troubles. No household is complete without Nerviline. Try a 25c bottle.

Successful Students

The following pupils of the B.H.S. have obtained certificates for Part I, junior matriculation:

W. Soule.
L. R. Walters.
R. Walton.
W. A. Thompson.
L. E. Standish.
C. Roberts.
W. J. Meagher.
K. M. Lazier.
H. M. Frost.
D. Lee.
A. Fargey.
T. McGinnis.
E. Waterston.

An Octogenarian Gone

On Saturday morning, 16th August, 1902, Jeremiah Driscoll passed peacefully away in his 80th year, after an illness of several months at the residence of his step-daughter, Mrs. Mary Wood, Franck St., Belleville. Deceased, in his younger days, was an athletic man, fond of aquatic sports, being an expert swimmer and diver, and for upwards of 55 years was considered one of the cleverest pilots on the Rideau Canal and lower Ottawa. In August, 1888, he was made the recipient of a handsome inscribed silver-mounted walking cane by the members of the "Pearl Yacht Club," Ottawa, in token of their esteem. His wife preceded him to the tomb 27 years ago. He has resided here since the death of his daughter, Mrs. Andrew Fogarty, Ottawa, nearly 8 years ago. His only surviving child, Miss Anna, also lives here.

The floral tributes, those "silent messengers of sympathy," and other acts of kindness from dear friends, will long be cherished as a pleasing memento by surviving relatives. The pall bearers were: Messrs. L. Holley, J. Cargill, L. Bollyea, W. Doherty, P. Wims and Geo. Leach. The funeral took place Monday at 9 a.m. to St. Michael's Church, where services were held by Rev. Father O'Brien, after which interment took place in the Roman Catholic cemetery. Requiescat in pace!

No Reasonable Man expects to cure a neglected cold in a day. But time and Allen's Lung Balsam will overcome the cold and stave off consumption. Cough will cease and lungs be sound as a new dollar.

A pure hard Soap.
SURPRISE SOAP
MAKES CHILD'S PLAY OF WASH DAY.

GORMAN'S
THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

$1 $1 $1

BARGAINS FOR LADIES

Just such values as will delight all you ladies who are judges of shoe qualities.

We want you to see these shoes—we wish you to have these bargains—come—have first choice.

Seventy pairs of ladies' fine kid low shoes, nobby—easy—durable—regular $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 lines, now clearing at.... $1.00

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR
Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn
Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon
Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie
Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE
Bridge St. Stores Telephone 139. Est'd 1871 Front St. Store Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!
Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.
The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

FIRST HARVEST EXCURSION

Nearly 2,500 People Start From the Maritime Provinces.

Harvest will Be General Throughout Manitoba This Week—Brightest Reports From Manitoba—Weather Has Been Favorable For the Ripening of Crops—Visitors From the Country Towns Are Enthusiastic Over the Outlook.

Montreal, Aug. 20.—The first of the harvest excursions for the Northwest passed through the city yesterday. It was from the Maritime Provinces and was made up of 570 from Prince Edward Island and from Nova Scotia, and 1,800 from New Brunswick. It is expected that these provinces by the sea will contribute as many men as last year.

BRIGHT HARVEST REPORTS.

Weather Favorable For the Ripening of Manitoba's Crops.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 20.—Yesterday's weather has been favorable for the ripening of Manitoba's crops. Fair and warm are indications for to-morrow. Every visitor returning from country towns is enthusiastic over the outlook. Among the reports received yesterday from the chief grain centres are the following:

Carman. — Farmers were cutting wheat, oats and barley last week. This week the harvest will be general. The weather is very favorable. There is no damage to crops.

Gretna.—Cutting is now general. No damage to crops. Weather is favorable for a good harvest.

Morris.—Harvesting will soon be general, and no damage from frost, rain or any other cause is feared.

Killarney.—Harvesting will be general in a week; no damage.

Souris.—A few farmers are cutting and harvesting, but it will not be general for a week; everything is favorable.

Portage la Prairie—Cutting of barley and oats is in full swing. With favorable weather cutting will be general this week.

Emerson—Everything is favorable; no damage; cutting will be general by the middle or end of the week.

Birtle.—Weather favorable; no damage from any cause.

Neepawa—Cutting will begin the middle of the week; no damage.

Glenboro—Rain fell yesterday. Barley and wheat cutting is in progress, and will be general this week.

Alameda.—Cutting will be general on Thursday; weather is favorable.

Morden.—Cutting will be general by the end of the week; everything favorable.

Manitou and Carman give similar reports.

Hartney.—Cutting is general; everything favorable.

Brandon—Cutting commenced on 15th, and will be general about 22nd; weather very favorable.

Regina.—Crops here are excellent and will soon be ripe. On the light soil, wheat will be cut in four days. The harvest will be general next week. The yield of wheat in this district is estimated to be between 36 and 40 bushels to the acre.

Gladstone.—Wheat cutting is expected to begin next week. Conditions are all favorable for large yield.

Miami.—One of the best crops ever raised in this district will be harvested this year. Probable yield is now placed at 30 to 35 bushels to the acre. Wheat cutting has commenced.

Dauphin.—Grain generally is looking fine. Cutting will commence next week.

Wawanessa—Grain is ripening fast. Cutting starts Monday.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Tuesday.

Worcester-Toronto. Rain.
Providence-Montreal. Rain.
Jersey City 0, Rochester 2.
Newark 6, Buffalo 3.

National League, Tuesday.

Pittsburg 1, New York 4.
Chicago 5, Philadelphia 8.
St. Louis 0, Brooklyn 6.
St. Louis 1, Brooklyn 7.
Cincinnati 8, Boston 7.

American League, Tuesday.

Philadelphia 2, Chicago 5.
Baltimore 4, St. Louis 11.
Washington 5, Cleveland 4.

Will sidetrack Leamington.

Windsor, Aug. 20.—William Newman, civil engineer, and one of the promoters of the Windsor and Lake Shore Electric Railway, which, according to original plans, was to run from Windsor to Leamington, received instructions yesterday morning from Henry Sligman, the New York capitalist, who is financing the project, to begin surveying operations at once in Windsor and to stop at Kingsville. The road will not be extended to Leamington, because the Town Council has thus far refused to grant the company a franchise.

The Postmaster-General's Health.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Reports sent out to certain newspapers represented that Sir William Mulock was badly crippled by rheumatism, and had gone to Paris to consult a specialist. Dr. Coulter, Deputy Postmaster-General, cabled for information regarding the report, and yesterday received a reply that it was absolutely false, and that the Minister never was in better health. Sir William Mulock and party leave for Canada on the 30th inst.

Talked of Prohibition.

Grimsby Park, Aug. 20.—Yesterday was temperance day at the Auditorium. Three meetings were held under the auspices of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance. In the forenoon there was an informal conference of prohibition workers. Those in attendance represented all parts of the province, and included many well known clergymen.

FIRE RAGING IN TIMBER.

Workmen Dug Holes and Stood in Water Up to Necks.

Ymir, B. C., Aug. 20.—A disastrous fire is raging about Ymir. Many square miles of timber have been burned, and a number of mine buildings, wagon roads and bridges have been destroyed.

From the Cyanide works of the Ymir Company to the Foghorn Mine, a distance of five miles, every building has been destroyed. The Cyanide plant was saved by the efforts of the employes, who dug holes in which they immersed themselves in water up to their necks, while they handled the hose in short shifts. The buildings of the Wilcox and Black Rock mines were obliterated.

$11,000 Fire in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—At 11 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the works of the Sills, Eddy Mica Company, and spread to the adjoining premises of Romain Poulin, tinsmith, and Brady & Harris, undertakers. The block, which is owned by Messrs. W. D. Morris and Maclaren was damaged to the extent of $6,000. About $5,000 damages was sustained by the tenants.

UNCLE SAM AND TURKEY.

Renewal of Tension Between the Two Is Affirmed.

Washington, Aug. 20.—It is admitted at the State Department that there is a renewal of tension between the United States and Turkey, but the officials do not deem it prudent to disclose the present condition of affairs. They say, however, that the condition is in no way grave, but is of that strained character which has occurred from time to time with Turkey in recent years. It is gathered that the present tension grows out of the long pending claims of the Americans who suffered loss during the Armenian outbreak. To some extent the Stone abduction added cause for irritation. The American Minister, Mr. Lieshman, has been given wide latitude to deal with the situation as circumstances may demand. There is the fullest confidence on the part of the authorities here in the course being pursued by the Minister.

TORONTO GIRL NEARLY LOST.

Miss Edna Dunn Rescued by a Brave Philadelphian.

Atlantic City, N.J., Aug. 20.—One of the most exciting rescues of the season was made yesterday by Jas. A. Tisdale, a prominent young man of Philadelphia. Mr. Tisdale was walking along the beach in the morning between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock when he heard a faint cry, and, looking out on the water, saw a young lady in distress. The fair one was Miss Edna Dunn of Toronto, Can.

Tisdale hastened to her side, arriving in time to save her going down the second time. Although the undertow was very strong. Mr. Tisdale succeeded in bringing the fair damsel to shore. On reaching land he was applauded for his brave act.

HAMILTON GIRL DROWNED.

Jane Shaw, a Nurse in Family of Henry Carscallen, the Victim.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Henry Carscallen, M.P.P., who is staying at the Queen's Hotel, received a telegram last night from Morivus, near the Royal Muskoka Hotel, saying that Jane Shaw, a nurse girl in his family, was drowned there yesterday. She and her parents live in Hamilton, and Mr. Carscallen will leave this morning to bring the remains home.

A Toronto Suicide.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—The doctors at St. Michael's Hospital were summoned at 10 o'clock last night to the basement of No. 2 Bond street, where they found Mrs. Ellen Clarke, wife of Thomas Clarke, contractor, suffering from carbolic acid poisoning. The stomach pump was used and emetics administered, but the woman failed to rally under the treatment. She died about 11 o'clock. Deceased was 57 years of age. All the circumstances of the case point to suicide. Mrs. Clarke, it is understood, had been drinking heavily for the past two weeks.

Gored by a Bull.

Athens, Aug. 20.—The death of James Donnelly, a prominent farmer at Seely's Bay, occurred Monday as the result of injuries received by being attacked by a bull on his farm Friday. His back was badly injured and limbs paralyzed. He would have been killed outright at the time, but for the arrival of a neighbor.

The Czar Threatened.

Vienna, Aug. 20.—A newspaper at Cracow, Galicia, publishes a report that the Czar of Russia found on his desk a missive from a revolutionary committee threatening him with death unless he conceded constitutional government to Russia. The Czar, according to the Cracow newspaper, was greatly alarmed.

Just Tired of Living.

Athens, Aug. 20.—Jennie Baillie, and English girl, living with John McMachens, near Lyndhurst, committed suicide on Sunday by taking carbolic acid. She had told some friends a few days before ending her life that she was tired of living.

More Boxer Troubles.

New York, Aug. 20.—The Methodist Mission Board has received by mail a number of reports from its agents in China concerning the recent local uprisings there.

Drowned His Four Children.

Salina, Kan., Aug. 20—Joseph Anderson, a farmer, drowned his four children in a cistern near here yesterday, and then committed suicide by shooting.

Deaths in Tornado.

Grand Forks, N.D., Aug. 20.—Four persons were killed in a tornado in Dakota.

MR. KRUGER WILL ABDICATE

Generals Botha and Dewet to Fight For Position.

Former President of the Transvaal Will Hand Over the Reins and the Residue of the Funds—Mr. Wolmarans, the Boer Delegate, Will Endeavor to Dispossess Dr. Leyds of the Power of Signing Cheques.

London, Aug. 20.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at The Hague telegraphs he is informed that at the approaching meeting between General Botha and his colleagues and former President Kruger, the latter will formally abdicate his position as Afrikander chief, and hand over the reins and the residue of funds to Gen. Botha and Gen. Dewet and Messrs. Fischer and Wolmarans, who were formerly Boer delegates.

Mr. Wolmarans, according to the correspondent's information, will endeavor to dispossess Dr. Leyds, the European agent of the Boers, of the power of signing cheques.

There are also rumors, says the correspondent of The Daily Mail, of an impending struggle for supremacy between Gen. Botha and Gen. Dewet.

ILLICIT TRAFFIC IN LUMBER.

Two Men at Ottawa Charged With Stealing Logs and Timber.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Detective Robillard of the Ottawa police force made an important arrest yesterday, and, if he proves the charge he has laid, the lumbermen will be rid of a source of loss. The man arrested was Jean Baptiste Giroux of Lefebre, a hamlet on the Ontario shore of the Ottawa River, opposite Monte Bello. He is charged with defacing, appropriating, concealing and stealing saw-logs. For years saw-logs have been stolen belonging to the Hawkesbury Lumber Company, the Gilmour Lumber Company and from a smaller firm at Monte Bello. Besides, the freight sheds and storehouses at Monte Bello have been entered, and the loss in goods has totalled many hundreds of dollars. Suspicions rested on parties in Lefebre, and at the request of the Attorney-General of Ontario, Robillard was sent to investigate. He secreted himself in the village, and his investigations led to the arrest of Giroux. The alleged thief was not in the village, but returned on Saturday.

His stay was brief, as he skipped to the Quebec shore and took the C. P.R. for Ottawa. Robillard did likewise, and got trace of his man yesterday, placing him under arrest; to await the arrival of the sheriff and officers from L'Original. Joseph Belanger, owner of a small mill at Lefebre, was also arrested in connection with the charge, but was released on his own recognizance to appear for trial. He is alleged to have shared the profits of the thefts, and to have sawn the stolen logs in his mill.

SPLIT IN THE ORANGE PARTY.

South Belfast Election Taken as Blow to Balfour Government.

London. Aug. 20.—A bye-election for a successor to William Johnston, formerly Conservative member of Parliament for the south division of Belfast, who died July 17., has resulted in the selection of Mr. Thomas Sloan, the nominee of the Protestant Association, with a majority of 826 votes over Mr. Charles W. Dunbar Buller, the unionist candidate.

Mr. Johnston had twice received pluralities of 2,600 and upward in the South division of Belfast, and he was three times returned without opposition.

The selection of Mr. Sloan has no bearing on the question of home rule. It rather indicates a serious split in the Orange ranks and dissatisfaction with the Government's policy. Mr. Dunbar Buller was the official unionist candidate. Mr. Sloan was the independent unionist candidate, representing the tenants' interests, and his election proves that the Government's policy in regard to the Irish land question is driving a large section of the Ulster unionists into revolt.

Fell 35 Feet.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—James Booth of Bell street, cousin of Mr. J. R. Booth, was seriously and probably fatally injured yesterday. He is a foreman for J. R. Booth and was overseeing the carrying of wheel-barrows of small stone used in concrete work when a big derrick struck him and hurled him over the edge of the scaffolding. He fell 35 feet into a concrete paved hole below.

Emperor 72 Years Old.

Vienna, Aug. 20.—Emperor Franz Joseph yesterday celebrated his 72nd birthday. Festivities in celebration of the Sovereign's natal day are being held throughout Austria and Hungary. The program includes the review of 30,000 troops at Vienna. All persons in the Empire imprisoned for lese-majeste, numbering 210 in all, have been pardoned.

Died at Morris, Man.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—John Kastner, the well known proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, Morris, Man., died here early yesterday morning. He was born at Stratford in 1838, leaving there about 20 years ago.

Almost Hanged Himself.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—An Englishman named W. H. Newman almost succeeded in committing suicide on the farm of Richard Rudd, near Crandall, Man., by hanging to a barn beam yesterday.

Prominent Mason Dead.

London, Aug. 20. — R. W. Bro. Lindsay Mackersy of Edinburgh, representative from the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada to the Grand Lodge of Scotland, is dead.

THE MARKETS.

Grain Prices Are Firmer—More Strength Exhibited at Chicago Tuesday—The Latest Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 19.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ¼d to ⅜d lower to-day, and corn futures ½d higher.

At Chicago to-day Sept. wheat closed 1c higher than yesterday, Sept. corn ⅜c higher and Sept. oats ⅜c higher.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	73⅝	72⅝	74½
Chicago	70¼	70⅝	66⅝	69⅝
Toledo	71¼	71¼	70⅝	72⅝
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	72¼	68¼	65⅛b	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush.	$0 75 to	....
Wheat, white, bush.	0 80	0 83
Wheat, spring, bush......	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush.	0 75	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush.	0 50½	....
Barley, bush.	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush.	0 48	0 50
Oats, new, bush.	0 35	0 40
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton..	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton.	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls.....	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb.........	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes....	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz........	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb..............	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each.....	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected........		$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected.......		0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected...............		0 07½
Hides, No. 2, inspected...............		0 06½
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling...........		0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected............		0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected...........		0 08
Deacons (dairies), each		0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb.........	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb....	0 07	....

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

The run of live stock at the cattle market was not large, 56 carloads, composed of 842 cattle, 500 hogs, 1208 sheep and lambs, with 50 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $6 to $6.25; medium exporters, $5.50 to $5.80 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $4.85 to $5.25; light export bulls, $4.25 to $4.75 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4 to $4.60 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $5.25 to $5.70; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1065 lbs. each, sold at $4.75 to $5.12½ per cwt.; loads of good butchers sold at $4.40 to $4.85; loads of medium butchers, $4 to $4.25; common butchers cows at $2.75 to $3.50 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $25 to $45 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4.40 to $4.60 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.40 to $3.60 per cwt. for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs. nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.25 to $7.37½ per cwt.; lights at $7.12½, and fats at $7.12½ per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags $3.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 19.—Cattle—Receipts light; market unchanged; veals steady; tops, $7.75 to $8; fair to good, $6.75 to $7.50; common to light, $5.50 to $6.50. Hogs, receipts, 2800 head; market active, 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $7.25 to $7.35; mixed, $7.10 to $7.20; yorkers, $7 to $7.10; light do., $6.90 to $7; pigs, $6.95 to $7; roughs, $5.25 to $5.75; stags, $4.75 to $5.25; grassers, $6.70 to $6.90. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 2000 head; sheep slow; lambs steady; top lambs, $5.75 to $6; fair to good, $5.25 to $5.65; culls to common, $4.25 to $5; yearlings, $4 to $4.50; wethers, $4 to $4.25; sheep, top mixed, $3.60 to $4; fair to good, $3.25 to $3.50; culls to common, $1.75 to $3; ewes, $3.25 to $3.50.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 19.—Beeves—Receipts, 402 head; a car of native steers sold at $6.40 per 100 lbs.; a bunch of westerns at $6.40; stags at $4.75; dressed beef, steady; country dressed native sides, 8½c to 12½c per lb. Calves, receipts, 206; steady; about 75 head unsold; veals sold at $7 to $8.25; city dressed veals, 9½c to 13c per lb. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 7282; sheep dull; slightly easier; lambs slow; light common lower; sales of all grades; averages easier than yesterday; about six cars of stock unsold; sheep sold at $2.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; culls at $1.50; lambs, $4.50 at $6.75; two cars at $7 to $7.05; culls at $4.50; dressed mutton, 5c to 7c per lb; dressed lambs, 8c to 11c lb. Hogs, receipts, 634; nominally steady.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 6000, including 2000 Westerns; very dull; good to prime steers, $8 to $8.90; poor to medium, $4.25 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.50; cows, $1.50 to $5.75; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5.30; calves, $2.50 to $5.70; Texas-fed steers, $3 to $5.50; Westerns, $4.50 to $6.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 14,000; 5c to 10c higher; mixed and butchers, $6.30 to $7.10; good to choice heavy, $6.80 to $7.17½; rough heavy, $6.10 to $6.75; light, $6.30 to $7; bulk of sales, $6.50 to 6.80.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 21,000; lower; lambs, choice, dull, others lower; good to choice wethers, $3.75 to $4; fair to choice mixed, $2.50 to $3.50; Western sheep, $2.50 to $3.85; Western lambs, $4.50 to $6.

A Refreshing, Cooling, Drink can be made with
Powley's Liquified Ozone.
It makes life worth living in hot weather.
Your druggist has it. 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—8 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT,
J. FRANKLIN WILLS,
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q. C.
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE
At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian	Est'd 1821
The North America,	Est'd 1792
Quebec,	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS. Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life assurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oct-d&w

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Ins Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
I can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St.
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

POEMS OF THE DOMINION.

A CANADIAN ON BURNS.

O, bard of the winding furrow,
And the reaper's nimble blade!
Sweet prophet of the carollings
In shaw, and glen, and glade;
Who bent to teach us pathos,
And to pity lend an ear,
And to call the inner echo out
For each man's soul to hear!

And now the world knows better
Than it ever knew before
The woes and pains, the hopes and gains,
That lie at each man's door!
'Tis not the old-time feeling,
"For me, alone, my strife."
But, "Come and know your brother-man,
And live with him his life!"

And whether we guide the furrow,
Or wield the sword or the pen,
Or earnestly heed the extended need
Of the bodies and souls of men,
There's a manly stride beside us,
As of one who would help us there,
Who sowed some seed for the world's sore need,
Langsyne, on the banks of Ayr!

And while we rear him monuments
Of marble or of bronze,
His ever-enduring memory rests
In the hearts of Scotland's sons!
As the Auld Mither thanks her laddies a',
For their mony leal "guid turns,"
She whispers our ear, as she wipes a tear—
"The best o' them a' was Bruns!"
—William Wye Smith.
St. Catharines, Ont.

SAME OLD SAVING.

Saving for the man who sells us meat,
Saving for the one who shoes my feet,
Saving for the chap who leaves the bread,
Saving for the dunner,ere he duns me dead,
Saving for the day the rent is due,
Saving for the money to lease my pew;
Saving for the gas ere the discount goes,
Saving for the winter, when the dog days close;
Saving for wife, to buy her a dress,
Saving for her bargains? "Well, I guess yes."
Saving for the doctor and yard-long bills,
Saving for the dentist and kindred ills;
Saving for holidays, oh, what joy!
Saving to buy the babe a toy;
Saving for a brand new suit of clothes,
Saving to match it with fancy hose;
Saving to pay the honest man,
Saving to help the also ran;
Saving to be able to rattle the cash,
Saving to cut a wider dash;
Saving to pay for the chunk of ice,
Saving for dollars feel kind-a nice.
Saving to lend, saving to borrow.
Saving ever, for the morrow;
Saving for the sport of spending,
Saving for business lending;
Saving in pain, saving in pleasure,
Saving up the golden treasure.
Saving in hope, saving in gloom,
Saving to purchase a splendid tomb;
Saving for friends to bury you deep,
Saving for heirs to hang round and weep;
Saving, and if you've saved your piles,
Saved for the heirs from tears to smiles.
—Charles F. Raymond.

AFTER RAIN.

"For three whole days across the sky,
In sullen packs that loomed and broke,
With flying ringes dim as smoke,
The columns of the rain went by;
At every hour the wind awoke:
The darkness passed upon the plain;
The great drops rattled on the pane.

"Now piped the wind as far aloof
Fell to a sough remote and dull;
And all night long, with rush and lull,
The rain kept drumming on the roof;
I heard till ear and sense were full
The clash or silence of the leaves,
The gurgle in the creaking eaves.

"But when the fourth day came—at noon,
The darkness and the rain were by;
The sunward roofs were steaming dry;
And all the world was flecked and strewn
With shadows from a fleecy sky.
The haymakers were forth and gone,
And every rillet laughed and shone.

"Then, too, on me that loved so well
The world, despairing in her blight,
Uplifted with her least delight,
On me, as on the earth, there fell
New happiness of mirth and might;
I strode the valleys, pied and still;
I climbed upon the breezy hill.

"I watched the grey hawk wheel and drop,
Sole shadow on the shining world;
I saw the mountains clothed and curled,
With forest ruffling to the top.
I saw the river's length unfurled,
Pale silver down the fruited plain,
Grown great and stately with the rain.

"Through miles of shadow and soft heat,
Where field and fallow, fence and tree,
Were all one world of greenery,
I heard the robin singing sweet,
The sparrow piping silverly,
The thrushes at the forest's hem;
And as I went I sang with them."
—Archibald Chapman.

Bleeding Piles

TWO LETTERS FROM MR. WALKER EXPLAINING THE SEVERITY OF HIS CASE AND THE PERMANENCY OF HIS CURE BY USING

Some people seem to think that it is too much to claim that Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure every form of piles, but facts go to prove the truth of this claim. These are interesting letters from one who has suffered much and been cured.

In November, 1901, Mr. Sherwood Walker, a fireman on the Canada Atlantic Railway, living at Madawaska, Ont., writes: "I am a great sufferer from bleeding piles. Sometimes the protruding piles come down, causing much misery and uneasiness, and at other times I am subject to bleeding piles, and they bleed to such an extent as to make me quite weak. If Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure this awful ailment you will have my everlasting gratitude."

On March 1, 1902, we received the following letter from Mr. Walker, which speaks volumes for Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles of the most distressing form. He writes: "According to my promise, I now take pleasure in writing to you. If you remember, you sent me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for bleeding piles some three months ago. I used it faithfully, and can say that it proved a Godsend, for it has entirely cured me of bleeding piles.

"I would have written sooner, but I wanted to be able to tell you that it was a permanent cure. This you can use for the benefit of other suffering people. There are several people here who have been cured of very severe cases of protruding piles by using this great ointment."

So far as we know there is no other preparation extant which is so successful in curing piles of the most aggravated kind as Dr. Chase's Ointment. Its soothing, healing powers are marvellous, and its cures thorough and permanent. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

QUERY OF A PASTOR

THE DECLINE OF CHURCH GOING, ITS CAUSE AND ITS REMEDY.

DESPISE YE THE CHURCH OF GOD?

Absurd Reasons Advanced Why Men Do Not Go to Church—Don't Understand Certain Parts of the Bible, Some Church Members Are Inconsistent, etc., etc., Brushed Away by the Simple All-Powerful Truths of the Gospel.

Entered According to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1902, by William Baily, of Toronto, at the Dep't of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—In this discourse, the decline of church going, its cause and its remedy, are discussed by Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage with characteristic vigor and directness. The text is I Corinthians ii, 22, "Despise ye the church of God?"

While rummaging through a bookstore the other day I purchased a volume with this suggestive title, "Why Men Do Not Go to Church." In it the author gives many blunt statements. He asserts that in New York city alone not more than 3 per cent. of all the male population are members of the Protestant churches. He makes this charge against New York city, with its millions upon millions of dollars invested in church architecture, with its millions of dollars every year lavishly expended for evangelistic work. He makes this charge against New York city, which is not a heathen town, but which claims to be not only the wealthiest but the most enlightened city in our Christian land. The author of that book further declared that not more than one-half of all the inhabitants of this country ever attend church. By that the author means the vast majority of Americans seldom set foot in any church building, because the most of the half who do attend church do so occasionally only.

With the startling statements of that book still fresh in my mind I would like to ask you the question which Paul asked the nonchurchgoers of Corinth. The world needs precisely the things that the church was organized to supply. It needs strength to resist temptation, it needs rules for the guidance of life, it needs support under affliction, solace in bereavement and a hope of heaven after death. All these blessings come by Christianity. It is therefore worth while inquiring what are the obstacles that keep men from coming into the church.

"Well," says some one in answer to the words of my text, "the reason I despise the church of God is because there are certain parts of the Bible I do not understand. Therefore I will not profess to believe what I cannot comprehend." Now, my friend, such a statement is simply absurd. From such talk one might suppose that the only inexplicable things in the whole universe are those recorded between the lids of holy writ. Why, there are whole realms and cycles and universes of facts in every direction yet untraversed and unexplained. You cannot focus the whole heavens with one telescope nor span infinity with the finite. You might as well try to build a range of mountains from Long Island to England by pitching pebbles into the Atlantic ocean or try to empty the Pacific by dipping up the waters with a sewing girl's thimble as to attempt to build up a system of science or to develop a belief in the Bible unless you are willing to accept some things which you cannot explain.

"My young friend," said an elderly Christian gentleman to a young college student whom he met in the train and whom he had overheard making some such remark as yours—"my young friend I thought I heard you say in reference to the Bible that you would not believe anything you could not explain. Now, in yonder fields are some pigs, sheep, horses and geese, all eating grass. Can you tell me why the same grass makes bristles for the pigs, wool for the sheep, hair for the horses and feathers for the geese?" There are things innumerable in nature and all around us which we fail to understand, yet we accept them without question. You have no more right to despise the church of God because you cannot understand all of the Bible than you have a right to despise electricity or deep sea soundings or the centrifugal power of specific gravity or the natural laws of growth and decay simply because you cannot comprehend everything about them. The mysteries of the natural sciences piled up about us are quite as inexplicable as the great mystery of godliness.

But, though statements may be made in the Bible which you and I cannot understand, the salient truths, the Calvary truths, the converting truths, are all simply told truths. I defy any unbiased man to read the simple words of the four gospels and remain blind to their meaning. No man can read the story of the prodigal son and fail to realize that God is represented by the aged father, that his own sinful life is represented by the sins of the younger son, that repentance and peace are represented by the return home and the divine love and forgiveness by the ring and the fatted calf and the father's kiss. Spiritual light and deeper faith will come later. So, my brother, as you believe in God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Ghost; as you believe that Jesus suffered and died upon the cross for our sins, as you believe that Christ has gone to heaven to prepare a dwelling place for those who are cleansed by his blood you believe all that is needed to qualify you to come into the church he established on earth. This was the saving belief of the Philippian jailer, to whom Paul said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved and thy house." A man is not necessarily barred from the church of Jesus Christ because he does not fully understand all the Bible. He is received and welcomed because he believes that "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"Well," remarks another man, "I do not join the church because of the inconsistencies of its members. Some profess one thing and practice another. They say Christians ought to be kind and loving and gentle and helpful to their fellow church members. Then they demonstrate that some of the worst fights on earth are church fights. The elder who prays the loudest in prayer meeting may be the farmer who never comes out second best in a horse trade, and the gossip of the sewing society is just as merciless as the gossip at the club or in a ballroom. As long as the church is filled with hypocrites I do not want to join it."

Stop, my brother! You know that some of the very best men in every community are members of the different Christian churches. You know, as well as I know, that though some of the church members may be hypocrites the vast majority are men and women who have banded themselves together for the purpose of prayer and communion with God and of trying to make their fellowship better and purer and truer and more Christlike. There are thousands and tens of thousands of church members who are no more hypocrites than your Christian father and mother, who were also members of a Christian church, were hypocrites.

To demonstrate how much you really respect the Christian church, though you may not know it, I would like to ask you a question. If you were stranded as a young woman in a distant city, without money or friends, to whom would you go for help? To the saloon keeper? To the rich brewer? No, no! Without doubt you would go straight to some Christian minister's home. You would go to him, just as many young men and women have come to me, and you would say, "My father and mother are members of Dr. So-and-so's church, in such and such a town. I have no money. I want to get home. Will you help me?" To have you realize how much you respect the church of the Lord Jesus Christ I would picture you stranded as a shipwrecked sailor upon a strange coast. What would you most prefer to see—a fortress, a king's palace, an army encampment or the steeple of a Christian church? You know as well as every intelligent man or woman knows that the community which lives under the shadow of the church spire is a God fearing community. The community which does not protect the Christian church is an unsafe community in which to dwell, and there is no exception to the rule.

What did you do when your little flaxen haired child died? Did you take the small white casket into a ballroom? Did you have her dancing master pronounce the eulogy over her dead body? Did you have her music teacher sing a song? No: you took her to the church. You took her into the church where many prayers had been offered. You did not have a dancing master pronounce a eulogy over her white, still form. You called in the Christian minister for the last reverent offices for your beloved dead.

When you criticise the sincerity of certain church members, you should not forget that the church of Christ was instituted for the imperfect as well as the perfect, for the moral cripples as well as for those who are spiritually whole. In the church there are to be found members like a man whom a friend of mine was one evening defending. Howard Crosby came to this gentleman and said: "Doctor, how can you like such a man?. You know he is not what he ought to be." My friend turned and said: "Dr. Crosby, if you had a little child who had lost an eye or who was deaf or who was born lame, would you despise him on account of his infirmity? Well, my friend is a moral cripple. I do not like him because he has lost one eye and one leg and one arm, but I do love him, because by the grace of God, he is trying to struggle against his daily temptations, and his spiritual deformities. So you will find in the church of God to-day moral cripples. They are struggling every day of their lives against sinful temptations; they keep on struggling; keep on praying; keep on reaching up to God; keep on staying in the church because they know that Christ did not come to institute a church for perfect men. He came to heal the sick and not the well. The church of God is the great earthly spiritual hospital, where Christ, as the surgeon, loves to set the crooked limbs; where Christ, as the spiritual opthalmologist, loves to open the eyes that are blinded of sin.

"Well," observes another hearer, "the reason I do not join the church is because I believe a man can be just as good a Christian outside the church as inside." Now, I would not assert that all men who are nonchurchgoers are unchristian men. John Newton used to say: "When I get to heaven, I shall have three great surprises. One great surprise will be to find so many people there I did not expect to see. The next surprise will be to find so many people absent, whom I expected to see, and the third great surprise will be to find that I got to heaven myself." Like John Newton, when most of us reach heaven—I pray we may all be there—I believe we will be very much surprised to find there some people who never entered the church door, and never publicly confessed their faith at the church altar.

But, though there may be Christian men and women living outside of the church fellowship, I for one do not believe I could be a Christian and not be a professed member of the church of Christ. I do not believe that I could turn my back upon my church and still love my Christ as I love him to-day, and, my brother and sister, neither do I believe you can turn your back upon the church of God and yet give to Christ your true and fervent love, because I believe that, as Christians, we should look upon the church as a collection of God's children. Therefore we should accept and love its members as our spiritual brothers and sisters, children of God, and we ourselves should long to be of the spiritual household.

Mark you well my statement. I did not affirm that there were no Christian men outside of the church of Jesus Christ, but I did affirm that a man cannot be as good a Christian outside of the Christian church as inside. There may be good Christians who prefer the society of Sabbath desecraters and worldly pleasure seekers to the society of those who delight in God's house.

"Well," answers another man, "I will tell you frankly why I despise the church of God. The reason I do not join the church is because it is too straightlaced for me, and I am not willing to give up my own way of living." My brother, I believe you have told me the exact truth. I believe ninety-nine-hundredths of those who scoff at the church scoff principally because they are not ready to surrender some secret sin. But as you have given me one honest answer I want you to give me another to a question just as important. If you are not ready to surrender your secret sin and join the church, where is that sin going to send you?

My unrepentant brother, as you are unwilling to join the church because you are reluctant to give up your secret sin, I ask you where will that secret sin ultimately send you? You need to be aroused from your spiritual lethargy, and to realize your awful danger. I would specially plead with you to surrender your sins and dedicate your life to Jesus Christ by joining the church, because, in your heart, you know well what you ought to do. I have always shrunk from the thought that people who were born in sin and ignorantly reared in sin, and unrepentant were totally lost. It has always been a question in my mind whether some of those poor loathsome creatures who were reared in the slums of a great city and who had never heard the name of Jesus except in blasphemy, might not in God's mercy be made as fit for the celestial city, as some, who, having been born in Christian homes, have led a different Christian life. God will never condemn one who is born blind because he cannot see. He will never destroy one who is born deaf and dumb because he cannot speak or hear; but, my brother, though there may be some excuse for those born in the sinful slums of a great city for not renouncing their sins and joining the church, there is no excuse for you. You were born in a Christian home, and you were reared amid Christian surroundings, you were started out amid Christian prayers, and the mere fact that you made such an excuse as you have, proves that the Holy Spirit is mightily striving with you to-day to confess Christ and join the church the Saviour founded on earth.

But there is one answer yet to the question of my text. This answer comes from many a troubled heart You say to me: "Mr. Talmage, I do not despise the church except by my actions in a public way. The reason I do not join the church is because I have so many home duties that I cannot do my share in church work, if I should join. In a few years I expect to take my place as a member of the church altar." Now, my friend, I want you to realize this great truth; God never ordained that one duty should conflict with other duties. He never wants a mother to leave the bedside of her sick child in order to attend a missionary meeting. He never compels a man to do for the church more than he can conscientiously do. But Christ does demand this: He does demand that you profess and confess his love before men. And you cannot do that in a better way than at the church altar. Then let the most imminent Christian duty decide what you ought to do hereafter.

And I would especially plead with you to confess Christ in the church before men, because, as you have others depending upon you, your present actions will probably decide how your loved ones will act and feel toward the church of Christ's establishment. This fact was demonstrated some years ago in Smyrna. Two sailors for some weeks had been attending the mission services. One night, in answer to the invitation to come forward and confess Christ and join the church, one of the sailors turned and said: "Well, I will come if Bill will." But Bill would not come. But the night before the ship was to sail the two sailors came forward and gave their hearts to Christ and joined the church. Then the Christian workers in Smyrna asked Bill how it was that he came to join the church. In rough sailor fashion he said: "Well, I liked to attend your meetings because they made me feel good. I used to think of the old times when on Sunday afternoons in the old home at New Bedford we used to sing the same songs. Mother was there and my sisters and brothers and father were all there, and I really wanted to join your church; but when Tom said he would come if I did, it made me mad. What had I to do with Tom's actions? But a couple of nights ago Tom was sick. I sat up with him, and as he was tossing around in his bunk I heard him muttering something, and as I put my ear down to his mouth I heard him say: 'Oh, Bill, won't you come, Bill? It's my last chance for heaven, Bill. Oh, Bill, won't you come? Won't you come? And then and there I said to myself, 'If my actions are going to keep Tom out of heaven, why, I'll come.' And here we are, sir, Tom and Bill!" So to-day the loved ones in your home and in the store, and those who are dependent upon you are pleading with you to come into the church for their sakes as well as for your own sake and for Christ's. "Despise ye the church?" Nay, nay! In your heart you feel that it is in the church you ought to confess Christ. You know it is into the church you will want to be carried when you are dead, and it is from its hallowed precincts you will want to go forth when you meet him when you shall dwell with him in heaven forever and ever and ever.

A Sure Cure for Headaches. — Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Will be Found an Excellent Remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

The Well Known Strengthening Properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer Complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of "Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup," and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation. —Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

UNTOLD MISERY — WHAT A WELL-KNOWN COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER SUFFERED, AND HOW HE WAS CURED.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time travelling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished, I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of Dyspepsia. (Signed),
T. S. McINTEE.

There are 36 letters in the Russian alphabet.

He Has Tried It.—Mr. John Anderson, Kimloss, writes: "I venture to say few, if any, have received greater benefit from the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, than I have. I have used it regularly for over ten years, and have recommended it to all sufferers I knew of, and they also found it of great virtue in cases of severe bronchitis and incipient consumption."

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.

Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER

Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte. may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,

Office—9 Campbell Street,

MALCOLM WRIGHT.

J. FRANKLIN WILLS,

Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,

Barrister, &c.

Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.,

Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.

'Phone 87.

E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.

Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,

Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.

Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security. Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.

JAMES A. CHISHOLM,

Office Ashley Block, Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian	Est'd 1821
The North America,	Est'd 1792
Quebec,	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.

R. W. ADAMS. Agent.

Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult

W. J. THOMSON,

who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:

ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE

Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oct-d&w

THOS. STEWART,

Insurance and Commission Agent.

Agent for the Norwich Union Fire in Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.

Bridge St.

Money Saved is Money Earned

I can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.

The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.

Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.

Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.

H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.

Liverpool & London & Globe of England.

Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,

Lloyd's Plate Glass,

Home Life Association, Toronto,

North British & Mercantile.

Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.

W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville,

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont,

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,

Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office,

Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St,

Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

POEMS OF THE DOMINION.

A CANADIAN ON BURNS.

O, bard of the winding furrow,
And the reaper's nimble blade!
Sweet prophet of the carollings
In shaw, and glen, and glade;
Who bent to teach us pathos,
And to pity lend an ear,
And to call the inner echo out
For each man's soul to hear!

And now the world knows better
Than it ever knew before
The woes and pains, the hopes and gains,
That lie at each man's door!
'Tis not the old-time feeling,
"For me, alone, my strife."
But, "Come and know your brother-man,
And live with him his life!"

And whether we guide the furrow,
Or wield the sword or the pen,
Or earnestly heed the extended need
Of the bodies and souls of men,
There's a manly stride beside us,
As of one who would help us there,
Who sowed some seed for the world's sore need,
Langsyne, on the banks of Ayr!

And while we rear him monuments
Of marble or of bronze,
His ever-enduring memory rests
In the hearts of Scotland's sons!
As the Auld Mither thanks her laddies a',
For their mony leal "guid turns,"
She whispers our ear, as she wipes a tear—
"The best o' them a' was Bruns!"
—William Wye Smith.

St. Catharines, Ont.

SAME OLD SAVING.

Saving for the man who sells us meat,
Saving for the one who shoes my feet,
Saving for the chap who leaves the bread,
Saving for the dunner,ere he duns me dead,
Saving for the day the rent is due,
Saving for the money to lease my pew;
Saving for the gas ere the discount goes,
Saving for the winter, when the dog days close;
Saving for wife, to buy her a dress,
Saving for her bargains? "Well, I guess yes."
Saving for the doctor and yard-long bills,
Saving for the dentist and kindred ills;
Saving for holidays, oh, what joy!
Saving to buy the babe a toy;
Saving for a brand new suit of clothes,
Saving to match it with fancy hose;
Saving to pay the honest man,
Saving to help the also ran;
Saving to be able to rattle the cash,
Saving to cut a wider dash;
Saving to pay for the chunk of ice,
Saving for dollars feel kind-a nice.
Saving to lend, saving to borrow,
Saving ever, for the morrow;
Saving for the sport of spending,
Saving for business lending;
Saving in pain, saving in pleasure,
Saving up the golden treasure.
Saving in hope, saving in gloom,
Saving to purchase a splendid tomb;
Saving for friends to bury you deep,
Saving for heirs to hang round and weep;
Saving, and if you've saved your piles,
Saved for the heirs from tears to smiles.
—Charles F. Raymond.

AFTER RAIN.

"For three whole days across the sky,
In sullen packs that loomed and broke,
With flying fringes dim as smoke,
The columns of the rain went by;
At every hour the wind awoke;
The darkness passed upon the plain;
The great drops rattled on the pane.

"Now piped the wind as far aloof
Fell to a sough remote and dull;
And all night long, with rush and lull,
The rain kept drumming on the roof;
I heard till ear and sense were full
The clash or silence of the leaves,
The gurgle in the creaking eaves.

"But when the fourth day came—at noon,
The darkness and the rain were by;
The sunward roofs were steaming dry:
And all the world was flecked and strewn
With shadows from a fleecy sky.
The haymakers were forth and gone,
And every rillet laughed and shone.

"Then, too, on me that loved so well
The world, despairing in her blight,
Uplifted with her least delight,
On me, as on the earth, there fell
New happiness of mirth and might;
I strode the valleys, pied and still;
I climbed upon the breezy hill.

"I watched the grey hawk wheel and drop,
Sole shadow on the shining world;
I saw the mountains clothed and curled,
With forest ruffling to the top.
I saw the river's length unfurled,
Pale silver down the fruited plain,
Grown great and stately with the rain.

"Through miles of shadow and soft heat,
Where field and fallow, fence and tree,
Were all one world of greenery,
I heard the robin singing sweet,
The sparrow piping silvery,
The thrushes at the forest's hem;
And as I went I sang with them."
—Archibald Chapman.

Bleeding Piles

TWO LETTERS FROM MR. WALKER EXPLAINING THE SEVERITY OF HIS CASE AND THE PERMANENCY OF HIS CURE BY USING

Some people seem to think that it is too much to claim that Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure every form of piles, but facts go to prove the truth of this claim. These are interesting letters from one who has suffered much and been cured.

In November, 1901, Mr. Sherwood Walker, a fireman on the Canada Atlantic Railway, living at Madawaska, Ont., writes: "I am a great sufferer from bleeding piles. Sometimes the protruding piles come down, causing much misery and uneasiness, and at other times I am subject to bleeding piles, and they bleed to such an extent as to make me quite weak. If Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure this awful ailment you will have my everlasting gratitude."

On March 1, 1902, we received the following letter from Mr. Walker, which speaks volumes for Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles of the most distressing form. He writes: "According to my promise, I now take pleasure in writing to you. If you remember, you sent me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for bleeding piles some three months ago. I used it faithfully, and can say that it proved a Godsend, for it has entirely cured me of bleeding piles.

"I would have written sooner, but I wanted to be able to tell you that it was a permanent cure. This you can use for the benefit of other suffering people. There are several people here who have been cured of very severe cases of protruding piles by using this great ointment."

So far as we know there is no other preparation extant which is so successful in curing piles of the most aggravated kind as Dr. Chase's Ointment. Its soothing, healing powers are marvellous, and its cures thorough and permanent. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

QUERY OF A PASTOR

THE DECLINE OF CHURCH GOING, ITS CAUSE AND ITS REMEDY.

DESPISE YE THE CHURCH OF GOD?

Absurd Reasons Advanced Why Men Do Not Go to Church—Don't Understand Certain Parts of the Bible, Some Church Members Are Inconsistent, etc., etc., Brushed Away by the Simple All-Powerful Truths of the Gospel.

Entered According to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1902, by William Baily, of Toronto, at the Dep't of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—In this discourse, the decline of church going, its cause and its remedy, are discussed by Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage with characteristic vigor and directness. The text is I Corinthians ii, 22, "Despise ye the church of God?"

While rummaging through a bookstore the other day I purchased a volume with this suggestive title, "Why Men Do Not Go to Church." In it the author gives many blunt statements. He asserts that in New York city alone not more than 3 per cent. of all the male population are members of the Protestant churches. He makes this charge against New York city, with its millions upon millions of dollars invested in church architecture, with its millions of dollars every year lavishly expended for evangelistic work. He makes this charge against New York city, which is not a heathen town, but which claims to be not only the wealthiest but the most enlightened city in our Christian land. The author of that book further declared that not more than one-half of all the inhabitants of this country ever attend church. By that the author means the vast majority of Americans seldom set foot in any church building, because the most of the half who do attend church do so occasionally only.

With the startling statements of that book still fresh in my mind I would like to ask you the question which Paul asked the nonchurchgoers of Corinth. The world needs precisely the things that the church was organized to supply. It needs strength to resist temptation, it needs rules for the guidance of life, it needs support under affliction, solace in bereavement and a hope of heaven after death. All these blessings come by Christianity. It is therefore worth while inquiring what are the obstacles that keep men from coming into the church.

"Well," says some one in answer to the words of my text, "the reason I despise the church of God is because there are certain parts of the Bible I do not understand. Therefore I will not profess to believe what I cannot comprehend." Now, my friend, such a statement is simply absurd. From such talk one might suppose that the only inexplicable things in the whole universe are those recorded between the lids of holy writ. Why, there are whole realms and cycles and universes of facts in every direction yet untraversed and unexplained. You cannot focus the whole heavens with one telescope nor span infinity with the finite. You might as well try to build a range of mountains from Long Island to England by pitching pebbles into the Atlantic ocean or try to empty the Pacific by dipping up the waters with a sewing girl's thimble as to attempt to build up a system of science or to develop a belief in the Bible unless you are willing to accept some things which you cannot explain.

"My young friend," said an elderly Christian gentleman to a young college student whom he met in the train and whom he had overheard making some such remark as yours—"my young friend I thought I heard you say in reference to the Bible that you would not believe anything you could not explain. Now, in yonder fields are some pigs, sheep, horses and geese, all eating grass. Can you tell me why the same grass makes bristles for the pigs, wool for the sheep, hair for the horses and feathers for the geese?" There are things innumerable in nature and all around us which we fail to understand, yet we accept them without question. You have no more right to despise the church of God because you cannot understand all of the Bible than you have a right to despise electricity or deep sea soundings or the centrifugal power of specific gravity or the natural laws of growth and decay simply because you cannot comprehend everything about them. The mysteries of the natural sciences piled up about us are quite as inexplicable as the great mystery of godliness.

But, though statements may be made in the Bible which you and I cannot understand, the salient truths, the Calvary truths, the converting truths, are all simply told truths. I defy any unbiased man to read the simple words of the four gospels and remain blind to their meaning. No man can read the story of the prodigal son and fail to realize that God is represented by the aged father, that his own sinful life is represented by the sins of the younger son, that repentance and peace are represented by the return home and the divine love and forgiveness by the ring and the fatted calf and the father's kiss. Spiritual light and deeper faith will come later. So, my brother, as you believe in God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Ghost; as you believe that Jesus suffered and died upon the cross for our sins, as you believe that Christ has gone to heaven to prepare a dwelling place for those who are cleansed by his blood you believe all that is needed to qualify you to come into the church he established on earth. This was the saving belief of the Philippian jailer, to whom Paul said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved and thy house." A man is not necessarily barred from the church of Jesus Christ because he does not fully understand all the Bible. He is received and welcomed because he believes that "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"Well," remarks another man, "I do not join the church because of the inconsistencies of its members. Some profess one thing and practice another. They say Christians ought to be kind and loving and gentle and helpful to their fellow church members. Then they demonstrate that some of the worst fights on earth are church fights. The elder who prays the loudest in prayer meeting may be the farmer who never comes out second best in a horse trade, and the gossip of the sewing society is just as merciless as the gossip at the club or in a ballroom. As long as the church is filled with hypocrites I do not want to join it."

Stop, my brother! You know that some of the very best men in every community are members of the different Christian churches. You know, as well as I know, that though some of the church members may be hypocrites the vast majority are men and women who have banded themselves together for the purpose of prayer and communion with God and of trying to make their fellowship better and purer and truer and more Christlike. There are thousands and tens of thousands of church members who are no more hypocrites than your Christian father and mother, who were also members of a Christian church, were hypocrites.

To demonstrate how much you really respect the Christian church, though you may not know it, I would like to ask you a question. If you were stranded as a young woman in a distant city, without money or friends, to whom would you go for help? To the saloon keeper? To the rich brewer? No, no! Without doubt you would go straight to some Christian minister's home. You would go to him, just as many young men and women have come to me, and you would say, "My father and mother are members of Dr. So-and-so's church, in such and such a town. I have no money. I want to get home. Will you help me?" To have you realize how much you respect the church of the Lord Jesus Christ I would picture you stranded as a shipwrecked sailor upon a strange coast. What would you most prefer to see—a fortress, a king's palace, an army encampment or the steeple of a Christian church? You know as well as every intelligent man or woman knows that the community which lives under the shadow of the church spire is a God fearing community. The community which does not protect the Christian church is an unsafe community in which to dwell, and there is no exception to the rule.

What did you do when your little flaxen haired child died? Did you take the small white casket into a ballroom? Did you have her dancing master pronounce the eulogy over her dead body? Did you have her music teacher sing a song? No: you took her to the church. You took her into the church where many prayers had been offered. You did not have a dancing master pronounce a eulogy over her white, still form. You called in the Christian minister for the last reverent offices for your beloved dead.

When you criticise the sincerity of certain church members, you should not forget that the church of Christ was instituted for the imperfect as well as the perfect, for the moral cripples as well as for those who are spiritually whole. In the church there are to be found members like a man whom a friend of mine was one evening defending. Howard Crosby came to this gentleman and said: "Doctor, how can you like such a man? You know he is not what he ought to be." My friend turned and said: "Dr. Crosby, if you had a little child who had lost an eye or who was deaf or who was born lame, would you despise him on account of his infirmity? Well, my friend is a moral cripple. I do not like him because he has lost one eye and one leg and one arm, but I do love him, because by the grace of God, he is trying to struggle against his daily temptations, and his spiritual deformities. So you will find in the church of God to-day moral cripples. They are struggling every day of their lives against sinful temptations; they keep on struggling; keep on praying; keep on reaching up to God; keep on staying in the church because they know that Christ did not come to institute a church for perfect men. He came to heal the sick and not the well. The church of God is the great earthly spiritual hospital, where Christ, as the surgeon, loves to set the crooked limbs; where Christ, as the spiritual opthalmologist, loves to open the eyes that are blinded of sin.

"Well," observes another hearer, "the reason I do not join the church is because I believe a man can be just as good a Christian outside the church as inside." Now, I would not assert that all men who are nonchurchgoers are unchristian men. John Newton used to say: "When I get to heaven, I shall have three great surprises. One great surprise will be to find so many people there I did not expect to see. The next surprise will be to find so many people absent, whom I expected to see, and the third great surprise will be to find that I got to heaven myself." Like John Newton, when most of us reach heaven—I pray we may all be there—I believe we will be very much surprised to find there some people who never entered the church door, and never publicly confessed their faith at the church altar.

But, though there may be Christian men and women living outside of the church fellowship, I for one do not believe I could be a Christian and not be a professed member of the church of Christ. I do not believe that I could turn my back upon my church and still love my Christ as I love him to-day, and, my brother and sister, neither do I believe you can turn your back upon the church of God and yet give to Christ your true and fervent love, because I believe that, as Christians, we should look upon the church as a collection of God's children. Therefore we should accept and love its members as our spiritual brothers and sisters, children of God, and we ourselves should long to be of the spiritual household.

Mark you well my statement. I did not affirm that there were no Christian men outside of the church of Jesus Christ, but I did affirm that a man cannot be as good a Christian outside of the Christian church as inside. There may be good Christians who prefer the society of Sabbath desecraters and worldly pleasure seekers to the society of those who delight in God's house.

"Well," answers another man, "I will tell you frankly why I despise the church of God. The reason I do not join the church is because it is too straightlaced for me, and I am not willing to give up my own way of living." My brother, I believe you have told me the exact truth. I believe ninety-nine-hundredths of those who scoff at the church scoff principally because they are not ready to surrender some secret sin. But as you have given me one honest answer I want you to give me another to a question just as important. If you are not ready to surrender your secret sin and join the church, where is that sin going to send you?

My unrepentant brother, as you are unwilling to join the church because you are reluctant to give up your secret sin, I ask you where will that secret sin ultimately send you? You need to be aroused from your spiritual lethargy, and to realize your awful danger. I would specially plead with you to surrender your sins and dedicate your life to Jesus Christ by joining the church, because, in your heart, you know well what you ought to do. I have always shrunk from the thought that people who were born in sin and ignorantly reared in sin, and unrepentant were totally lost. It has always been a question in my mind whether some of those poor loathsome creatures who were reared in the slums of a great city and who had never heard the name of Jesus except in blasphemy, might not in God's mercy be made as fit for the celestial city, as some, who, having been born in Christian homes, have led a different Christian life. God will never condemn one who is born blind because he cannot see. He will never destroy one who is born deaf and dumb because he cannot speak or hear; but, my brother, though there may be some excuse for those born in the sinful slums of a great city for not renouncing their sins and joining the church, there is no excuse for you. You were born in a Christian home, and you were reared amid Christian surroundings, you were started out amid Christian prayers, and the mere fact that you made such an excuse as you have, proves that the Holy Spirit is mightily striving with you to-day to confess Christ and join the church the Saviour founded on earth.

But there is one answer yet to the question of my text. This answer comes from many a troubled heart You say to me: "Mr. Talmage, I do not despise the church except by my actions in a public way. The reason I do not join the church is because I have so many home duties that I cannot do my share in church work, if I should join. In a few years I expect to take my place as a member of the church altar." Now, my friend, I want you to realize this great truth; God never ordained that one duty should conflict with other duties. He never wants a mother to leave the bedside of her sick child in order to attend a missionary meeting. He never compels a man to do for the church more than he can conscientiously do. But Christ does demand this: He does demand that you profess and confess his love before men. And you cannot do that in a better way than at the church altar. Then let the most imminent Christian duty decide what you ought to do hereafter.

And I would especially plead with you to confess Christ in the church before men, because, as you have others depending upon you, your present actions will probably decide how your loved ones will act and feel toward the church of Christ's establishment. This fact was demonstrated some years ago in Smyrna. Two sailors for some weeks had been attending the mission services. One night, in answer to the invitation to come forward and confess Christ and join the church, one of the sailors turned and said: "Well, I will come if Bill will." But Bill would not come. But the night before the ship was to sail the two sailors came forward and gave their hearts to Christ and joined the church. Then the Christian workers in Smyrna asked Bill how it was that he came to join the church. In rough sailor fashion he said: "Well, I liked to attend your meetings because they made me feel good. I used to think of the old times when on Sunday afternoons in the old home at New Bedford we used to sing the same songs. Mother was there and my sisters and brothers and father were all there, and I really wanted to join your church; but when Tom said he would come if I did, it made me mad. What had I to do with Tom's actions? But a couple of nights ago Tom was sick. I sat up with him, and as he was tossing around in his bunk I heard him muttering something, and as I put my ear down to his mouth I heard him say: 'Oh, Bill, won't you come, Bill? It's my last chance for heaven, Bill. Oh, Bill, won't you come? Won't you come?' And then and there I said to myself, 'If my actions are going to keep Tom out of heaven, why, I'll come.' And here we are, sir, Tom and Bill!" So to-day the loved ones in your home and in the store, and those who are dependent upon you are pleading with you to come into the church for their sakes as well as for your own sake and for Christ's. "Despise ye the church?" Nay, nay! In your heart you feel that it is in the church you ought to confess Christ. You know it is into the church you will want to be carried when you are dead, and it is from its hallowed precincts you will want to go forth when you meet Him when you shall dwell with him in heaven forever and ever and ever.

A Sure Cure for Headaches. — Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Will be Found an Excellent Remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

The Well Known Strengthening Properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer Complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of "Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup," and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose, See advertisement. Small pill, Small dose. Small price.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation. —Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

UNTOLD MISERY — WHAT A WELL-KNOWN COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER SUFFERED, AND HOW HE WAS CURED.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time travelling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished, I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of Dyspepsia. (Signed),

T. S. McINTEE.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

He Has Tried It.—Mr. John Anderson, Kimloss, writes: "I venture to say few, if any, have received greater benefit from the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, than I have. I have used it regularly for over ten years, and have recommended it to all sufferers I knew of, and they also found it of great virtue in cases of severe bronchitis and incipient consumption."

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

For Torpid Liver, Flatulence, Constipation, Biliousness and Sick Headache, TAKE

BRISTOL'S Pills

Safe, Mild, Quick-acting, Painless, do not weaken, and always give satisfaction.

A most reliable Household Medicine, can be taken at any season, by Adults or Children.

All druggists sell "BRISTOL'S."

It's About Over

OUR SWEEP-OUT SHOE SALE

Of the season's remnants.

This week will likely bring it to a close. Some of the best Bargains for the last. Don't miss this opportunity.

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE

FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

Wedding Bells

On the evening of Wednesday, Aug. 13th, a large number of friends assembld at the home of Mr. and Mr. Mrs. Archie Adams, West Huntingdon, to witness the marriage of their daughter Minnie to Mr. Thos. McLaughlin, of Cordova. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. V. Sexsmith, of Bayside.

The bride was dressed in white, with bridal veil, and carried a bouquet of white carnations, and looked most charming. The bridesmaid, Miss Isa Adams, cousin of the bride, was also beautifully attired in white. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Jas. McLaughlin, of Campbellford.

The ceremony concluded, the guests repaired to the dining room and did justice to a sumptuous repast. The bride was the recipient of a large and exquisitely chosen number of presents. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a solitaire opal ring.

After a very enjoyable evening the young couple departed for their future home at Cordova, taking with them the good wishes of a large circle of friends.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

In fact the price of coal ought to be ashamed of itself.

No matter how tight a girl's shoes are she never likes to acknowledge the corn.

DR. VON STAN'S PINEAPPLE TABLETS

The best by test—and making themselves a household word because they live out their promises to the letter, give instant relief in all Stomach troubles, and absolutely cure Dyspepsia and Nervous diseases.

No long tedious treatment, with possible disappointment in the end, but improvement from the first dose—and many a stomach sufferer has proved them so. One who has tested them says: "They're a delightful and positive cure and are filling a long-felt want." They're handy to carry. Take one before and after eating or at any time you feel a symptom of distress in the stomach. Sixty tablets, 35 cents. 56

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

GREAT MEN ARE SIR WILFRID AND SIR WILLIAM.

The greatest man that "has been" is Sir William Mulock, if the Toronto Globe and its London correspondent are to be accepted as impartial judges of public men.

This correspondent is a pleasing writer, and sends across the ocean interesting letters, detailing events as they present themselves to him. In addition to which he is evidently detailed to do an indefinite amount of puffing of the Canadian Ministers, who are now sporting themselves in London, Paris and other parts of Europe. Sir Wilfrid, if this correspondent is to be taken in evidence, is, without exception, the greatest and most influential man in Europe to-day; and Sir William Mulock "the greatest man that has been." Here is the latest:—

> "In the course of conversation with Sir Horace Tozer from Queensland the other day I was gratified to learn that in the estimation of this notable politician of the Conservative party in Australia the consummation of the Pacific cable scheme was entirely due to the energetic and decisive action of the Postmaster-General for Canada. Sir Horace gave me the detailed account of the proceedings which were in a fair way of collapsing when Sir William (then Mr.) Mulock entered the lists, and simply brought the whole matter before the Imperial and Canadian authorities in a manner which insured the immediate and successful launching of the enterprise, which at this juncture is well under way."

This statement of "Sir Horace Tozer from Queensland," was either made to please one whom he knew to be a correspondent of the leading Ministerial journal in Canada, or he was totally ignorant of the history of the Pacific cable scheme.

Mr. Mulock took up the role of others who had been for years advocating the uniting of the outlying portions of the Empire with its Capital, London. If one man, more than another, deserves credit for the position in which Canada now finds itself in relation to that great enterprise, it is Sir Sanford Fleming, who for the past sixteen years has never ceased to keep the subject before the statesmen of England and other portions of the Empire. It was he who urged the now Sir William to action and furnished the information upon which he acted. In this as in the penny postage scheme he followed in the wake of Mr. Henniker Heaton, seized his ideas, urged his policy upon the public men of the day, and is now lauded as the originator and author of "penny postage."

"I William" looks well in borrowed garments; and will, in future, if Grit writers can accomplish it, be acclaimed as the man who originated and gave to the British nation, "Penny postage and an all-British Pacific Cable!"

TIMELY TOPICS.

A sad boating accident occurred out in Minnesota the other day. Three young women were drowned, but, by heroism almost superhuman, their male escorts managed to swim ashore and give testimony at the coroner's inquest.

• • •

Mr. Curtis called at this office last night and saluted us thus: "Say, Boss! there is just one thing I would like to do!" We enquired what 'tis. "Well," said Curtis, "I'd like to run a paper in this town, and it would be an independent one, too! Just now I would like to know if it's the Police, Board of Health, or the Woman's Christian Association who are responsible for gettin' them weeds cut down around town. I can't find out, Boss, I've been to Graham's office two times, but he's away and ain't runnin' the town, anyway."

• • •

30 cents and a box of cigars thrown in was the rate offered the public by a railway broker in the rate war, from Houston, Texas, to Chicago. The former round trip rate was $18.

• • •

The mills may roll again, and Bellevillians may rest assured that the Industrial Committee will leave no stone unturned in that direction.

• • •

Miss Gladys Deacon denies that there ever has been any love affair between herself and the Crown Prince of Germany, but it will be noticed she postponed the denial till the newspapers had got through telling what a beautiful girl she is and how fit to be an Empress.—Buffalo Express.

• • •

An original swindler in Massachusetts has been making a lot of money by doctoring people with a common hand mirror. The method of treatment is merely to get the patient to look in the glass. No one will be surprised to hear that some remarkable cures have been made. There is a big class of invalids who only need to see themselves as others see them in order to get well.

• • •

That barber war in Chicago which is resulting in a distribution of free shaves may be of some use. For example, Chicagoans may get in the habit of being shaved frequently.

• • •

A London weekly paper recently unearthed a quaint army order. It deals with the machine guns provided for certain Volunteer corps, and advises that, where possible, "mules should be employed to draw them." "When a mule is not available, however," it goes on, "any intelligent non-commissioned officer will do instead."

• • •

On Coronation Day every man in the navy either drinks the King's health in a tot of rum or receives the equivalent in savings. It is the cheapest "big drink" in the Empire. Probably not less than 100,000 men will pour out libations in honor of the King. The equivalent of a ration of rum is a halfpenny and a half farthing, so that the men who do not take up their grog are entitled to a penny farthing every two days. The cost, then, of 100,000 rum rations works out at £325.

• • •

There are 645 wheat elevators in Manitoba and Assiniboia, 526 on the lines of the Canadian Pacific railway, and 119 on the lines of the Canadian Northern railway. Their combined capacity is 29,077,600 bushels of wheat.

• • •

A correspondent suggests that we should send our foreign exchanges to the city reading room, where he remarks they would be much appreciated by many. Doubtless they would. It does not occur to our correspondent that that is not the purpose for which newspapers are exchanged by their proprietors.

• • •

Eighty per cent. of women marry and have children. Only 21.9 per cent. of the graduates of fifteen typical girls' colleges have married. Does a college education lessen a girl's chances of, or decrease her desire for the state of matrimony?—Victoria Colonist.

• • •

On Thursday, August 21st, Messrs. Bristol and Cawthra will move before Judge Osler, to have the petition against the return of D. G. Carscallen, M.L.A., for Lennox, set aside. Mr. Carscallen's majority was 3.

• • •

A pronounced Grit this morning proposed that a deputation "consisting of George Washington Ross' majority" should be sent to welcome him home on his return from England. This suggestion is only worthy of some old fogyy Tory.

• • •

A vacancy in the English House of Commons is not, as in Canada, kept open for political schemers to put the "machine" in working order. The vacancy in Belfast, caused by the death of William Johnston, of Ballykilbeg, has already been filled Landlord or Tenant was the issue. Tenant won.

SIDNEY CROSSING.

The threshing machines are going the rounds and the yield of grain is more abundant than for many years.

Miss Jennie White, of Madoc, who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Emory Finkle, has returned home.

Mrs. Morrice, of Rochester, and Miss May Dame, of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Vandervoort.

Mrs. J. M. Stalker and little daughter, of Toronto, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spafford.

Miss Florence Hogle has returned home after spending a week with friends in Brighton.

The Sidney Auxiliary of the W.M.S. held an open meeting at Aikens' Church on Wednesday. Mrs. L. Massey gave an excellent address, after which a sumptuous tea was served by the ladies of Aikens' appointment.

Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Clarke, of Toronto, have been the guests of their sister, Mrs. Austin Hogle, and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Kelley are spending a couple of days in Picton. Mr. Kelley is a delegate to the High Court of the I.O.F., which meets there this week.

Miss Woods, of Port Hope, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Vandervoort.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Denyes and children, of Odessa, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kelley.

During the absence of Rev. Mr Tonkin to Toronto, his daughter, Miss Tonkin ably conducted the services at Aikens' church on Sunday.

Mr. Will Hadrell, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, is slowly improving.

The Cosmopolitan Character of the MAGI Caledonia Springs demonstrates the wide-spread reputation of these great curative Baths and Waters

Mr. P. H. Bonisteel and family, also Mr. Arthur Bonisteel, of Toronto, have been spending their holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bonisteel.

SUFFERED TEN YEARS

FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE, PAIN IN THE BACK AND HIPS.

AN INGERSOLL LADY'S REMARKABLE RECOVERY BY THE USE OF DR. PITCHER'S BACKACHE KIDNEY TABLETS.

Do not let any lady who is suffering the miseries of backache and derangement of the kidneys, hesitate one moment in procuring Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. These Tablets are the formula of Dr. Zina Pitcher, the eminent Kidney Specialist, and have cured hundreds of cases of the severest type of kidney disease, which ordinary remedies could not benefit. They are small in size, chocolate-coated and mild, yet thoroughgoing in their action—just suited to the requirements of a lady's delicate organism.

Mrs. W. Wallace, whose home is Bell St., Ingersoll, Ont., speaks of the benefits she derived from the Tablets, as follows;

"For many years, some ten or twelve, I have had a great deal of trouble with my back and kidneys, the pain getting into my left hip. I have doctored and doctored and tried all sorts of kidney remedies, and finally determined to try Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. I got a bottle from A. E. Gayfer, druggist, and must say they have done me a great deal of good. The pain in my back and hip is gone, the kidney irritation removed and I sleep well now at night. I am pleased with the Tablets and am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a bottle or 3 for $1.25 at all druggists or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

TUFTSVILLE.

Quarterly service was held at the Methodist church on Sunday last and was largely attended.

Mrs. M. J. Bennett and sons, of Kingston, are visiting at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bennett.

Frank Stapley has purchased a fine horse from John Juby

Misses Mabel and Annie Smith, of Campbellford, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Jas. Juby.

Our public school started on Monday with Miss Hartwich as teacher.

Stanley Eggleton, who was so severely injured in a runaway accident at Madoc about five weeks ago, is well enough to be moved, and is now with his sister, Mrs. A. W. Andrews.

Miss Mary Juby spent a few days' last week with her grandmother in Stirling.

William Fitchett, of Tweed, visited his mother last week and took home his two sons, who have been with Mrs. Juby for a month.

Please, Mr. Druggist, give me what I ask for—the one Painkiller, Perry Davis', I know it is the best thing on earth for summer complaints. So do you. Thank you. There is your money.

ELMWOOD.

Mr. Erastus Davis met with a painful accident on Friday evening last. He was returning from town, when his horse, which was a spirited animal, took fright at some object on the road; the rig was overturned and Mr. Davis was thrown violently to the ground. He was picked up in an unconscious condition, and it was found he had received some very severe wounds about the head and shoulders. At the time of writing he is resting nicely, and his recovery is assured.

Miss Nellie Culhane is spending a few days visiting friends in Marysville and vicinity.

Miss Ethel Hall, who has been spending a couple of weeks with friends here, returned on Monday to Toronto.

Mr. Jas. Fitzpatrick, of Foxboro, was the guest of his cousin, Mr. D. McDonnell, on Sunday last.

Quite a number from here took in the Oddfellows' excursion to Deseronto, on Wednesday evening, the 13th inst.

HALLOWAY.

The hum of threshers is heard in all directions.

A large number from here visited the South church on Sunday.

Mr. Wilmott Alcomrack and his cousin, Miss Susie McMullen, of Moira, were to the Epworth League here on Tuesday last.

Pills and Sarsaparilla

The best vegetable pills you can buy are Ayer's Pills. And the best Sarsaparilla is Ayer's. Two grand family medicines.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Clothes Wringers.

You will appreciate the quality to be found in our

Royal Canadian

Eze Rapid

They have fine white rubber rolls which are vulcanized directly on the shafts.

They work with a patent screw clamp which will enable you to get all the water from your clothes without tearing them to pieces. There action is easy so that it does not use up all your strength in operating.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

We Don't Guess

When we fit Glasses. We have the scientific Instruments for determining and correcting any and all defects of vision — no matter the nature of your case, if your Glasses do not suit you perfectly, call on us.

We Fit Any Eye That Responds to Light

You are invited to call. We delight in showing our methods and equipment.

ALEX. RAY.

Mistakes in advertising are the most expensive mistakes a merchant can make.

Sincerity is a gem of the first water.

English Fruit Salt

—PLEASANT
—COOLING
—REFRESHING.

4 large bottles - - 40c

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Are You Going to Paint this Fall?

No better time of the year in which to paint. The weather is more settled and you don't have to contend with the spring rains and fogs. Then again, all Paints are liable to be dearer next Spring. The S.W.P. will give good satisfaction, save you money and wear longer. $1.60 per gallon. Paint for barns, etc., $1.00 gall.

WATERS'

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting, Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y, STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 20.

STOCK	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	92⅜	93¼	92⅛	92¾
do, pref...	102¼	102⅞	102⅛	104
C. P. R.	138½	140⅛	138	139½
Twin City....	126¼	127	126¼	127
U. S. Steel ..	40⅞	41½	40⅞	41¼
do, pref....	90¼	90⅝	90¼	90⅝
W. Union	93⅛	93½	92⅞	93⅜
Pc	104½	105	104¼	104⅜
Manhattan ..	135⅜	135¼	135¼	135¼
Erie	39⅞	40½	39¾	40½
do pref......	69⅛	69½	69⅛	69¼
L. & N......	159	159½	157¼	157¾
Mo. P.	117½	118¼	117	117¼
Nor.	70½	70⅞	70⅛	70⅞
N. Y. C....	163¼	164⅛	163¼	163⅞
Reading	67⅛	67¾	67	67⅜
do pref....	86½	....	....	....
St. Paul ..	186	187½	186	186½
South Pac. ..	73¼	74⅛	73⅜	73⅞
Sou. Ry.....	40¼	41¼	40¼	41⅛
Union. Pac. .	109¼	109⅛	108⅞	109⅛
Amn. Loco..	32¼	32¾	32¼	32¾
do. pref...	93⅞	94	93⅞	94
Penna	160	160⅛	159⅝	160⅛
Ills. Cent.	169¼	169⅞	169	169
Alton........	43½	43¾	43¼	43½
C. & O... ...	54¾	55⅛	54¼	54¾
Sugar	132½	132⅞	132	132½
B & O.......	110	110¼	109½	109⅜
H. V.......	101¼	...	....	....
Texas.......	51½	53½	51⅛	53⅛

Sept. Wheat opened at 70 3-8, closed at 70 3-4.

Sept. Corn opened at 52 1-8, closed at 52 7-8.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS.

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 20.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers.
C. P. R.	138 1-2	138 1-4
Toronto Railway ...	122 3-4	122
Twin City		127
Con. Lake Superior..	27 3-4	27
Dom. Coal	142 3-8	142
Dom. Iron & Steel		78 1-2
Nova Scotia Steel....		107 1-2
Sao Paulo		113

(Changed daily)

Wednesday, August 20, 1902.

MORE

BUSINESS

Business is getting better, times improving, the city is all right, so is the country.

PRICES!

Yes, that may be the reason of it, for we are selling very cheap, but we are not selling cheap goods.

TAKE STATIONERY,

For example, our range, styles, colors and qualities all shine. In short, our stationery stock is par excellent. Can get anything you want here in commercial or private stationery, and at prices so reasonable that it will surprise you what a bundle you can get for a dollar.

TAKE WALL PAPER—

Everybody knows that there is but one stock of wall paper in the city and that our prices are lower than anywhere else in Canada. Such is the daily testimony of our home and our mail order customers.

TAKE PICTURE FRAMING—

Well, just give us a trial. Bring down half a dozen of those stored pictures, place them in our care for framing and we'll make you proud for very little money. Our framing is as modest in price as our workmanship is superior, and both price and workmanship do not eclipse our assortment of materials, mouldings, etc.

TAKE OUR DECORATING—

This is a branch of which we are justly proud, artistic goods, coupled with artistic combining of same produce, good, lasting and pleasing effects. We can furnish you in this line what you have not been able to get in Belleville during the past. Leave your decorating in our hands, and you'll not be disappointed.

TAKE OUR SCHOOL BOOKS—

Well, they always did shine in the eyes of the student, for we always have had and we continue to get the very newest to be found anywhere in school supplies. We simply lead.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Paper Wholesale & Retail

CANADA TO THE NIGHT WIND.

Breezes low, that softly steal across the sea,
As from the east the sad night-shadow creeps,
To that wide veldt where my dead hero sleeps;
O carry thou this gift to him from me!
Go stealthily, lest thou disturb his rest;
Breathe low thy song of bitterness and grief,
Take thou my gift, his loved maple leaf,
And leave it there upon my hero's breast.

Chatham, 1902. A. P. McKishnie.

MUSKOKA.

Mr. James Bain, of Toronto Public Library, On Who Discovered It.

Mr. James Bain, D.C.L., writes:—The discussion on this subject, which has been started by "Knoxonian" in The Westminster, revives early recollections. The lakes of the Muskoka district were a favorable hunting ground from the earliest times for the Indians, and for the white trapper from the middle of the eighteenth century until the influx of civilization destroyed the game within our own time. So abundant were Muskoka furs that Mr. Quetton St. George regularly visited Washago from 1800-1801 to purchase from the trappers. Mr. Bailey was agent for the Hudson's Bay Company for many years previous to 1860, at what is now Bracebridge, and the ruins of a trading post were visible on the banks of the Joseph River some 40 years ago. A rough outline of the lake appears in Mitchell's map of North America, published in 1760, but the division between Lakes Muskoka and Rousseau were not shown in any map till the publication of the S.P.V.K. atlas in 1835. In this map the whole route from the Ottawa to Penetanguishene is laid down from the descriptions of Alexander Sheriff, who crossed in either 1829 or 1830 by the Petewawa and Muskoka Rivers, describing in his paper the general appearance of the lakes and rivers and approximately giving distances. The first Government survey was made by I. Houghton Dennis, C.E., in 1859, who discovered Lake Joseph and named it after his son.

The Muskoka road was one of the earliest cut through the dense bush to open up the free grant lands and was finished as far as Bracebridge in the winter of 1859-60. In July, 1860, Mr. John Campbell, now Professor Campbell, and the writer walked over this road and camped on the shore of the lake. Not a tree was cut along the shores, and the park from what is now Gravenhurst to the bay was one of Nature's own providing. Two Indian bark wigwams stood on the beach where now the railway station and lumber piles hold sway. The following year we returned with a party of five, bringing with us a boat which was carried across the Muskoka road by a yoke of oxen, who occupied nearly fourteen hours on the journey of thirteen miles. The party reached on this occasion the upper part of Lake Joseph and found so much to interest them that the trip became an annual one, and the writer purchased on behalf of some of the members 300 acres of islands among which is the one now known as Yoho.

It is pleasant to see testimony borne to the energy and perseverance with which Mr. A. P. Cockburn devoted himself to opening up the lakes to the general visitor, though it interfered sadly with the unrestricted freedom which the few who visited Muskoka had heretofore enjoyed. Mr. Cockburn's first visit was in 1865, and his first steamer was launched in 1866.

THE HERO OF KARS.

Brief Sketch of the Career of Sir William Fenwick Williams.

The career of a brilliant Canadian ended on July 26th, 1883, by the death of Sir William Fenwick Williams, of Kars. He was born at Halifax, N.S., and is known familiarly as the hero of Kars. When a Colonel of engineers he was engaged in defining the Turco-Persian boundary, and was appointed British Military Commissioner with the Turkish army in Asia in 1854. He reached Kars, a town in Asiatic Territory, in September, and found the Turks wholly disorganized; but with indefatigable energy he corrected abuses, got rid of corrupt officials and endeared himself to the Turkish army. In June, 1855, the Russian General Mouravieff, with 40,000 infantry and 10,000 cavalry, besieged Kars, the garrison of which under General Williams, numbered 15,000 men, with three months' provisions and three days' ammunition. The siege lasted until the end of November of the same year, when, after one of the most heroic defences on record, in which his men suffered greatly from disease and lack of food, he was forced to capitulate. A grand assault of the Russians two months before resulted in a loss to them of 6,000 men, and it was only through famine that the gallant garrison was overcome. Even General Mouravieff, the commander of the besieging army, generously expressed his appreciation of his opponent's defence by saying, "General Williams, you have made yourself a name in history; and posterity will stand amazed at the endurance, the courage and the discipline which this siege has called forth in the remains of the army. Let us arrange a capitulation that will satisfy the demands of war without disgracing humanity." General Williams was detained in Russia as a prisoner until peace was declared when he was given a Baronetcy and an annuity of £1,000.

A Naughty Boy.

The other day, just as a train was about to go out of station, a boy ran up to the ticket inspector and whispered, "Sir, there's two men traveling in the train and neither one of them has got any tickets." Off went the inspector and searched all the carriages through, but without avail. All the passengers had proper tickets. Then, seeing his informer standing near the entrance to the station, he shouted, "Where are the two men without tickets?" "On the engine!" shouted the boy.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.

Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c line.

Reading advertisements, 15c per line.

Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual or contract rates.

Minimum space, 10 lines.

Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion.

Births, 25c each insertion.

Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.

All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.

Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

Sewing machine operators on wholesale coats, also hand sewers. Steady employment and best wages to good hands. Apply B. DAVIS, 76 York St., Toronto. 1td

Wanted at once, good cook and kitchen girl, also night watch. Highest wages. Anglo-American Hotel, Belleville. a12-8td&2tw

We want men to sell for us; salary or commission; paid weekly; outfit free. Good demand for stock now. We have 800 acres of choice fruit and ornamental trees.—Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto, Ont. a14eod-d&w1m

FOR SALE.

Two steam barges, one 110 ft. long, 22 ft. beam; the other 97 ft. long, 16 ft. beam. Both in good running order. S. W. Marchment & Co., 103 Victoria St., Toronto. 19-6t

The Value of Flower Studies.

"As a lesson in composition, nothing that I can call to mind at the moment will equal two or three hours spent with a few sprays of any simple flowers as subjects for the camera. For studying lighting, as well as rendition of color values and textures, one can hardly wish for better subjects. Good composition, good values, good texture and good lighting are a rare combination in this class of work. You may, perhaps, get two of these, but try for all four in the same picture and see how hard it is. The arrangement of the flowers will teach you lessons in composition that will be of value in making groups; the lighting is a study that you can hardly overdo; the effect of isochromatic plates and color screens is much better investigated in this way, while texture and its rendition, the strong point of our art, if we only realized it, is a serious study in itself. When you have mastered these four points, learn to get relief, roundness and atmosphere. If then you can secure, by the aid of knowledge obtained, a little "feeling," your photographs will be pictures and your pictures pleasing. Try, by your treatment, to suggest the bold assertiveness of this flower, the homely grace and simplicity of the other. The lighting, the arrangement of line, the choice of background and a dozen other things will all assist if employed intelligently. Even the tone of the print and mount will help. The proper trimming of the print can make or mar the result. A little study and you will agree with me that flowers are worth a few hours' time on a rainy afternoon."

I quote the above from Western Camera Notes, because it seems to me that the photographing of flowers should appeal more strongly to the nature lover than to anyone else. If you are a sportsman, you must love the open air—nature, in short; and what excellent opportunities those tramps across the country afford for studying the flowers in their natural haunts. A few choice flower studies on the wall, neatly framed, would prove a source of much consolation when the green fields and trees are safely esconced in a mantle of snow.—Pharos in The Globe.

Another Canadian Writer.

A recent McClure's contains a story of Newfoundland fisher-life by Norman Duncan, another young Canadian who has made a place for himself among the magazine writers of our Uncle Sam's land. Mr. Duncan was born at Brantford, Ont., was a schoolboy at Mitchell, and later a well-known residence man at Toronto University. He went from Toronto to Albany, N.Y., and after a period of newspaper work among the law-makers in the capital of the Empire State, he became a special writer on the staff of The Evening Post, New York, where the unusual quality of his sketches about the metropolis, especially of the Syrian quarter, won him immediate recognition. Something over a year ago a volume of these stories was published by the McClure Company, under the title "The Soul of the Street," which was well spoken of for its vivid and sympathetic presentation of the daily struggles and pleasures of these peculiar Syrian people.

Ducklings.

Young ducks require shade and protection from the sun. In the summer season it is best to let them subsist on grass and insects, as grain food is too heating.

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. [illegible] all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Monday(at 11.30 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester ar 3.25 a.m. daily (except Monday) and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to

U. E. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

EXCURSION
PER
Str. "NIAGARA"
To PICTON
Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 23.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.

2 hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.
TIME TABLE.
Commencing April 10th, 1902.
Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee
Str. "ELLA ROSS

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $8.40; Return, $13.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F. CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA
A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.
Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec. (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at

SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.

Good going August 30th and 31st, returning good until September 2nd, 1902.

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSION
$10 To Winnipeg and other Points in Manitoba and Assinaboia.

Passengers will be returned to starting point for $18 on complying with conditions of certificate issued with tickets. Good going August 20th, 1902. Tickets and information at Grand Trunk offices.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.
20,000 Harvesters Wanted
In Manitoba and Canadian North-west
Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run	—To—	For
From stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell	WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th	$10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or Southwest or Northwest of Winnipeg, but not beyond Mouse Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 10th, 1901, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS and ARE NOT GOOD on "Imperial Limited" and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation on Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest Agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger
Agent, 1 King St. East,
Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

FALL PLANTING.

For Strawberries It Gives Good Results With Intensive Culture.

Although not to be generally recommended, the fall planting of strawberries can sometimes be used with good results, say the horticulturists of the Michigan station, but in order to succeed special pains must be taken both with the soil and plants. In the states further south, where the seasons of growth will be considerably longer, this method of growing strawberries is preferred to planting in the spring. In seasons when the weather is moist during August and September very good results can be obtained in Michigan, but if drought prevails there is danger of a check to the plants, and this will result disastrously.

Upon soil that will not suffer seriously from drought or where water can be applied the fall setting will give good results. As the season of growth will be comparatively short at best, the soil should be thoroughly prepared and enriched. The plants should be of some strong growing variety that will furnish large crowns and that are adapted to hill culture.

Unless water for irrigation is at hand the planting should be delayed until the ground has been well moistened by rain, but if possible the planting should be done before the 1st of September. Good results, however, can be secured if the plants are set out by the middle of September. The rows should be from two to two and a half feet apart and the plants ten inches in the rows. Even though the ground has been well enriched, it will be advisable to mulch the plants by spreading decomposed manure along each side of the rows.

The ground should be occasionally worked during the fall and up to the time of freezing weather so that it will be entirely free from weeds. The ground should then be mulched, and in the spring receive a shallow cultivation. It will be desirable to replace the mulch before the blossoms have opened, and unless the winter mulch is sufficient to cover the ground so as to keep down the weeds and conserve the moisture an additional amount should be employed.

This method of strawberry culture is not recommended for the general planter, but for the amateur and for the home garden, especially where the starting of a new plantation was neglected in the spring.

Relations of the San Jose Scale.

To the current number of The Canadian Entomologist Prof. King of Lawrence, Mass., has contributed a summary of the scale insects, with their localities, known in British America. It comprises 59 determined species. One species has been found only in the Yukon district, forty-eight in Ontario, thirteen in the Maritime Provinces, nine in Quebec and ten in western Canada. As to localities, Ottawa takes the lead, doubtless because that is Dr. Fletcher's hunting ground, while London comes next, probably owing to the industry of Prof. Dearness, after whom two of the new species are named.

The scale insects form an extensive order. They are generally minute, and to the unpracticed eye many of them so much resemble each other as to be mistaken for the same species. It may be noted that they are all parasitic insects, feeding upon the juices of living plants. Of the fifty or sixty Canadian species, native or introduced, only five or six have proved themselves seriously destructive to fruit trees. The best known of these are the notorious San Jose scale, the oyster form scale, the scurfy bark louse, the oyster shell bark louse, the plum scale, and to these may be added the woolly scale of the maple. The only useful species known is the cochinel insect, a scale that lives on the cactus in tropical America, and which yields the carmine dyes.

Wonders of Our Language.

The construction of the English language must appear most formidable to a foreigner. One of them looking at a picture of a number of vessels, said: "See what a flock of ships." He was told that a flock of ships was called a fleet, and a fleet of sheep was called a flock. And it was added, for his guidance in mastering our language, that a flock of girls is called a bevy, and a bevy of wolves is called a pack, and a pack of thieves is called a gang, and a gang of angels is called a host, and a host of porpoises is called a shoal, and a shoal of buffalos is called a herd, and a herd of children is called a troop, and a troop of partridges is called a covey, and a covey of beauties is called a galaxy, and a galaxy of ruffians is called a horde, and a horde of rubbish is called a heap, and a heap of oxen is called a drove, and a drove of rowdies is called a mob, and a mob of whales is called a school, and a school of worshippers is called a congregation, and a congregation of engineers is called a corps, and a corps of robbers is called a band, and a band of locusts is called a swarm, and a swarm of people is called a crowd.

Sowing Buckwheat.

Buckwheat likes a dry or well drained soil. Sow the seed at almost any time when convenient from July 1 to July 15, and we have seen good crops where it was sown both earlier and later, but the above is a time when it is generally sure to do well, and there should be from twenty to thirty bushels of grain to the acre. In sowing buckwheat to plow under we should sow earlier, in June at least, and plow under while in bloom or just before any seed ripened, then follow by sowing winter grain.—American Cultivator.

The Native Versus the Imported.

Scrub cattle turned on the range far from the haunts of men thrive and multiply. Hogs do the same, as was well known in Texas many years ago, when the woods were full of them. But our higher bred cattle and almost snoutless hogs, left without care, would die out or degenerate to scrubs, from which they sprang. Trees are subject to similar laws. Our native forest trees flourish without pruning or cultivation, and wild plants that have never been subject to man's control are the hardiest the earth produces. Orchard trees, developed by art and man's device from the wild stock will speedily revert if left to care for themselves. Fruit trees, to maintain the high character to which they have attained, must have constant care of the same kind that has made them what they are. Neglected orchards become unproductive, and but a few years are required to reach the conditions that only the ax and the grubbing hoe can remedy.—Texas Farm and Ranch

Rats and Mice Easily Destroyed.

Some years ago my attention was called to a granary in Maryland under which a large number of rats had burrowed into the ground. The building was double, set on posts raised about eighteen inches above the ground, with a driveway between. The earth underneath was completely honeycombed with burrows. Two pounds of carbon bisulphide were secured. Wads of cotton varying in size from a hen's egg to one's fist was saturated and thrust into every burrow that opened on the surface. The holes were securely closed. Only in two instances were the holes opened by their occupants, and these were quickly destroyed by a second dose. Wherever a burrow is found about any building it can be treated in the same way.—American Agriculturist.

Bamboo Lighthouses.

The French consul at Batavia states that lighthouses are built of bamboo cane in Japan and suggests the importance of the wood in erecting builders' scaffolding. The power of resistance of a bamboo cane measuring eight inches to ten inches in diameter, even with a length of sixty-five feet, is enormous. Moreover, bamboo is said not to rot either when in the ground or in water, while the drier and older it grows the firmer it becomes.

Sleeping on the Line.

A strange circular was recently issued to signalmen on a Russian railway forbidding them to go to sleep lying on the rails. One would hardly imagine that the temptation to do so would prove overpowering, but it appears that the signalmen feel they have to sleep somewhere, and they labor under the delusion that the vibration of an approaching train will wake them up, a mission which it frequently fails to fulfill.

Insoluble Phosphates.

The use of insoluble phosphates, whether in the form of phosphatic rock or of the so called Thomas slag, has long been a bone of contention or debatable matter not only among the scientific men, but the practical farmers. The former have questioned whether the insoluble phosphate could be of any value as plant food, and some of the farmers have claimed that their crops were very much benefited by it. Although we have not tested it, our opinion leads us to believe that the farmers are right, and those who rely only on scientific principles may be wrong. We do not place sufficient confidence in the power of the soil and the action of frosts, rain and summer heat upon what are sometimes called insoluble fertilizers.

We know little of the power that these elements may exert, and when to the natural elements of the soil there may be added the effect of decomposing vegetable matter, either as stable manure or as green manure, plowed under, we can only say that we think they have much effect in making soluble not only phosphatic but other mineral elements in the soil. Those who have used the finely ground rock or Thomas slag upon fields which had received a liberal dressing of stable manure or had been treated with a green crop plowed under are so unanimously in its favor that we cannot doubt but that the so called insoluble phosphates do become soluble in the soil under certain conditions, depending upon the soil or the treatment it has received.—American Cultivator.

Handling Strawberry Runners.

As soon as the leaf is well formed on the new runners we pass along rapidly and layer them in a straight line between the mother plants, about 6 to 10 inches apart. After that the rolling runner-cutter clips off the subsequent runners and no others are allowed to root. This tool is not perfect, but the best device I have yet seen, and with a little hand work it does nicely. It permits the cultivator to stir and maintain the loose earth mulch over nearly the entire surface, conserving moisture perfectly and reducing the hand work to the minimum. It allows the foliage of each plant to adjust itself so as to give full exposure to sunshine and have a free circulation of air to each crown where the fruit buds are forming. The plants stool up beautifully, often exceeding the size of a bushel basket, yielding over 4 quarts large, even-sized berries.

The plant having abundant resources does not become exhausted and will produce three or four large crops without resetting. It permits a thick mulch to be put on in the fall between the rows close around the plant. This holds the winter and spring rain for the use of the plant, while it is completing its great loads of berries. Such berries are always rich in flavor, fine in texture and bright in color. Consumers enjoy eating them and are never satisfied with one dish. Keeping people everlastingly eating is what makes the market and high prices.—R. M. Kellogg, Michigan, in American Agriculturist.

Agents Ruined Them Both.

At the Whitefriars' club in London recently the members met to greet John Murray, the veteran publisher, as their guest, and to discuss the complicated subject of the relations of "Author, Agent and Publisher." There was a good deal of chaff during the discussion, and G. B. Burgin, the writer, told a story which turned out differently from what his audience expected. Two shivering, hungry, wretched outcasts met one cold winter's night outside the residence of a wealthy literary agent. There was a strip of crimson carpet on the pavement, and carriages thundered up to the curb in "profligate profusion." Then royalty descended and went to dine with the literary agent. "Who are you?" asked the first outcast of the other. "I seem to know your face." "I was an author—once," bitterly replied the other. "Who are you? I've seen you before." "I was a publisher—once," said the first outcast. Then they recognized each other, and, moved by the common impulse of brotherhood, turned round and shook their fists at the house of the agent. "There," they declared in unison, "there is the man who helped us to ruin each other." Then, linking arms, they sorrowfully went away to the nearest dosshouse.

The Comedy of Pretense.

Eleanor—What made you give up society, Edmonia?

Edmonia—Oh, I got so dead tired of seeing people who are nobody trying to act like somebody and people who are somebody acting like nobody.

Perfection.

"Do you think perfection is ever actually attained in this life?" asked the serious youth.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne; "some people become perfect bores."

Joke on the Baby.

"Yes, marriage is a lottery, and I am after a prize."

And the radiant young father continued walking after the baby coach before him.

Baby enjoys his bath all the more, and his sleep is the sweeter when you use
BABY'S OWN SOAP
It softens and soothes all skin irritations, keeping it healthy and fresh.
Don't use imitations on Baby.
ALBERT TOILET SOAP CO., Mfrs.
MONTREAL.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM
will positively cure deep-seated
COUGHS, COLDS,
CROUP.
A 25c. Bottle for a Simple Cold.
A 50c. Bottle for a Heavy Cold.
A $1.00 Bottle for a Deep-seated Cough.
Sold by all Druggists.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

AFTER SHAVING POND'S EXTRACT
COOLS, COMFORTS AND HEALS THE SKIN, ENABLING THE MOST TENDER FACE TO ENJOY A CLOSE SHAVE WITHOUT UNPLEASANT RESULTS.
Avoid dangerous, irritating Witch Hazel preparations represented to be "the same as" Pond's Extract, which easily sour and generally contain "wood alcohol," a deadly poison.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

The Whole Story
in a letter:
Pain-Killer
(PERRY DAVIS'.)

From Capt. F. Love, Police Station No. 5, Montreal:—"We frequently use PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER for pains in the stomach, rheumatism, stiffness, frost bites, chilblains, cramps, and all afflictions which befall men in our position. I have no hesitation in saying that PAIN-KILLER is the best remedy to have near at hand."

Used Internally and Externally.
Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

To be found in bad company is often an equivalent to being lost.

If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

The fellow who borrows 50 cents is content to do things by halves.

Being "purse proud" is the worst disease we ever heard of.

If a jailbird doesn't fly it, isn't his fault.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 6—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,
Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling
XXX Cider
and White Wine Vinegars
Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES
J. C. Hanley & Co.
Telephone 214.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

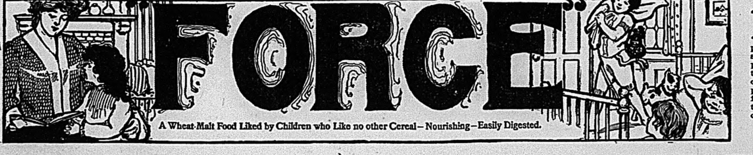
Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.
HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.



A Wheat-Malt Food Liked by Children who Like no other Cereal—Nourishing—Easily Digested.

Doylestown, Ohio, April 26, 1902.
"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—Seeing a package of "FORCE" in my grocer's yesterday, I purchased a package and tried it the same day. The entire family united in pronouncing it much better than any of the cereals on the market. Being fond of cereals, we give almost every new product of the kind a trial. I can truthfully say that it is seldom we find one that is as unanimously praised by everyone who uses it as "FORCE."

Yours very truly, —— ——
Name given on application.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

She has picked up a dainty little instrument of glass and silver from the marble-topped table, and, to Yolande's dismay, Lady Maria opens her mouth, and mademoiselle puts the little tube under her tongue.

"Ninety-seven! You have got up a degree," she announces thoughtfully. "You must have your beef-essence and a tablespoonful of iced champagne."

"Very well, Isabelle, you know best," the invalid returns wearily, closing her eyes; and mademoiselle glides into an adjoining room, where Yolande can see more marble-topped tables and a large polished brass spirit stove, and more bottles and jars and labelled drawers, like a dispensary.

Lady Maria opens her eyes presently, and looks at Yolande with a faint gleam of interest from beneath the pink eyelids.

"I am a great invalid; I lead a life of constant suffering," she says, with a faint smile which is curiously complacent. "You, I suppose, Mrs. Glynne, know nothing of aches and pains and sleepless nights and weary days?" — and she sighs wearily enough as she speaks. "I am obliged to live according to rule in every single particular," she continues, her wasted, bloodless face growing more animated as she expatiates on the intolerable existence she terms "living" — "to eat, drink, sleep, be clothed, go in and out according to rule, or I could not live at all. I must rest so many hours in the twenty-four, sleep so many hours, have so many ounces of food and drink—the liquids and solids must be most carefully calculated, my doctor tells me — have restorative and strengthening mixtures — my maltine and pepsine and bitters and mineral waters — all at their stated intervals, or I should never know what a moment's health is!"

Yolande listens to this recital with awed interest depicted on every feature, and Lady Maria, looking quite cheerful, raises herself into a more upright position by means of a large air-pillow, and continues her recital of the endeavors made to preserve her on the roll of humanity.

"The first thing in the morning — on my good mornings, as I call them," she goes on pleasantly — "I have my tepid salt bath; and I assure you, Miss — I mean, Mrs. Glynne, if the temperature of that bath was one degree too high or too low it would be attended with serious consequences. Then I have my dose of mineral water; then I lie down again for half an hour exactly; then my attendant gives me my dose of bark and quinine, then half an hour later my first morsel of food, a cup of black tea, not strong, and one oaten biscuit. That is all I have until ten o'clock; the stomach by that time has begun to awake thoroughly to the duties of the day, and I can venture on a small cup of cafe au lait, another oaten biscuit, and a bit of toast under a poached egg. Then — But do you care to hear about all this? Does it interest you?" she asks, pausing, with an indulgent smile.

"Yes, indeed, Lady Maria," poor Yolande replies truthfully; "it is so new and strange to me!"

"Well then," Lady Maria continues, with renewed animation; "at half-past ten on fine mornings, and of course having studied the barometer-readings and all that, I go out into the grounds in my pony-chair until half-past eleven, and then I rest as I am doing now until twelve, when I have half an hour of muscular exercise according to the Duffer-Muller method, you see the appliances yonder, and you will see me going through my exercises presently," she adds, in the tone of one who promises a good child some reward.

"I fear not, Lady Maria," mademoiselle says gravely, entering the room at this moment, bearing a tiny silver cup of beef-essence and a champagne glass with a teaspoonful of wine and a little cube of ice on a salver. "You must have longer repose after the excitement of seeing visitors. I dare not task your strength for at least two hours to come."

Poor Lady Maria looks rather cowed and disappointed.

"Mrs. Glynne and I are only having a quiet chat, Isabelle," she explains with a pleasing smile. "You are such a dreadfully cautious, careful creature about my health!"

"It is no wonder that I should be cautious about the most valuable thing committed to my care, Lady Maria," mademoiselle says, with a fine assumption of the amiable, devoted, high-principled nurse. "Mrs. Glynne is all that is gentle and sympathetic, I know; but more than one visitor before two o'clock in the day is too much for you, and I really cannot consent to run any risks, for my own part." The high-principled nurse grows very determined here. "Five minutes more for Mrs. Glynne's visit, dear Lady Maria, is all I can allow, as Mrs. Murray is waiting to see you."

"Oh, aunt Murray!" Lady Maria says coldly and impatiently. "I can't see more than one visitor at a time, Isabelle. Ask her to please come in the afternoon instead. I feel fatigued now."

"I know your ladyship is fatigued," mademoiselle agrees, casting down her eyelids gravely; "I told Mrs. Murray's maid that I feared so, but she said she was not to go back without a message from Lady Maria herself."

"Well, tell her I can't see her until the afternoon," Lady Waria says sharply, rather vigorously, too, for an exhausted invalid. "About five o'clock, Isabelle, say I shall be glad if she will come in to see me. Dear me," Lady Maria adds very irritably — "I am surely not obliged to have visitors whether I like it or not!"

"Certainly not," mademoiselle responds, with soft decision, bowing deferentially. "I will give your ladyship's message."

Lady Maria glances after her with satisfaction, and some of the lines of her peevish troubled face are softened.

"Isabelle is a good creature," she says gratefully — "a good, affectionate, high-principled young woman — in fact, I may say a most worthy young person of Christian character! Didn't you find her so, dear?" she adds, turning to Yolande. "What's the matter? You are not going yet?"

"I was afraid I was staying too long, Lady Maria," Yolande answers, flushing and hesitating. "I came for only a short visit, and you are fatigued —"

"No—not at all," Lady Maria says promptly — "at least, you don't fatigue me, and I wish you to stay awhile. Aunt Murray worries me; she is not in the least sympathetic— I can feel that the minute she enters the room — and Joyce is worse. I must be very well indeed when I care for a visit from them. Besides I want to see a little more of you, you know. You are a sort of relative now. Well, you are very happy, of course?"

Yolande flushes crimson, and smiles faintly.

"Of course! All girls are when they're only a fortnight married!" Lady Maria goes on, smiling sourly, and not noticing either Yolande's silence or discomfiture. "Captain Glynne is very good-looking and gentlemanly — you must bring him into my rooms some afternoon when I am feeling very strong. I hope he is not more selfish than most men. No — of course you won't allow that, child?"

Not a word comes from Yolande, whose cheeks are burning and whose hands are clenched as she tries desperately to make a pretty conventional speech about ordinary married happiness.

"Ah, well, you will find that all that wonderful bliss and sweetness and all the rest of it won't last!" says Lady Maria, with an outburst of bitter compassion. "It lasts for awhile certainly — longer with some than others; but the end is always the same! Better not expect too much! What is your name? Ah, Yolande! What a queer, queer name, and what a queer, quiet little thing you are!" She cannot resist the temptation to patronize the gentle little bride. It is a novelty to poor Lady Maria to be able to patronize a young girl, rich and fair, in her own rank of life. "I never imagined Dallas Glynne would marry a girl of your style," she continues coolly, scanning Yolande's face and figure.

"Nor did I, until I knew Dallas Glynne," Yolande remarks briefly.

Lady Maria looks rather startled and surprised.

"When I say that," she begins, in a gentler, more conciliatory manner, "I mean — "

But what she means Yolande never learns, for at this moment the door communicating with the corridor, which has been standing ajar, is pushed open hurriedly, and mademoiselle re-enters with a very pink color in her cheeks and her black eyes aflame with sparks of secret rage.

"I am very sorry, Lady Maria," she begins, in a low regretful tone, but Yolande knows she is in a fury by the curious catching sound in her voice, "but, though I gave your message to Mrs. Murray's maid, Mrs. Murray — "

"Herself has thought fit not to be kept out by any machinations of yours, mademoiselle!" Mrs. Murray says, interrupting her with a shrill angry laugh as she enters the room close on mademoiselle's heels.

CHAPTER XVI.

"Your nurse is quite too devoted, my dear Maria!" Mrs. Murray says, in those shrill, labored tones, and with that excessive politeness and pleasantness of manner which betoken wrath at the very highest pressure possible without an explosion. "She won't allow friend or relative to see your face if she can help it! Oh" — and she looks rather taken aback on perceiving Yolande — "you were allowed in, Mrs. Glynne! Really I congratulate you!"

"You see that friends and relatives can see my face, aunt Murray!" Lady Maria breaks in impatiently. "I told mademoiselle to say I should like to see you at tea this afternoon."

"Quite right; and I am coming in at tea time, dear," Mrs. Murray rejoins, almost recovering her usual amiability of manner, but not able at once to banish the red stain of anger that disfigures her smooth, soft, false face, or recover the suave placidity of her voice. "But I wanted to see you this morning to have some private talk with you, if it were possible — with a tightening of the lips and a lowering of the eyelids — "on family matters. I won't intrude on you now, of course, dear, and only came in to say good morning. I hope you feel better, Maria love?"

"No, I don't!" "Maria love" responds tartly. "Isabelle, my champagne has grown flat. Some more, if you please. Will you have some, aunt Murray?"

"No, thank you, dear — no, thanks" — this very curtly and frigidly, waving away the tempting glass of sparkling liquid "beaded at the brim" which mademoiselle is offering her meekly. "Well, I must go now," Mrs. Murray continues smoothly, with a regretful smile, as if concluding a long and welcome visit. "I have such a number of things to attend to. You have heard of the Earl, of course, this morning, Maria?"

"Of course," the Viscountess says coldly. "Glynne either visits me about nine o'clock every morning or I send Isabelle to him for news. He is not suffering, poor old man — slipping away painlessly, I suppose. It is well he is free from actual suffering."

"Excuse me, dear, you have not heard," Mrs. Murray says, with venomous politeness. "The Earl has passed a very restless night, and Sir Gregory Parker was telegraphed for half an hour ago. I have sent the young people off for a good long mountain walk; perhaps they will lunch at the farm at Penmawr. I told them not to hurry back to luncheon; it were just as well they were out of the house perhaps," she adds, with a grave face and a serious expression. "I always spare young people sorrow when I can;" and the lady sighs heavily again, then continues, "His son and you and I are here; the poor dear Earl will not care to see many;" and she puts her dainty embroidered handkerchief hurriedly to her eyes.

"You don't mean, aunt," Lady Maria exclaims, starting up hurriedly, a tall, gaunt, strange figure in a long semi-fitting clinging garment of dark red silk of stocking-web material, "that the Earl is dying? Isabelle! Where is Isabelle? Isabelle!" she calls angrily.

"Isabelle has disappeared for the time being, I suppose," Mrs. Murray sneers, "knowing you would not be quite pleased at her having kept the truth from you. I don't say he is actually dying, Maria dear. I only say we are very, very anxious from hour to hour. If you will allow me to see you," she adds, compressing her lips, "I myself will bring you the earliest news of any change in the dear Earl's condition."

"It is not necessary to trouble you so much, aunt," Lady Maria says shortly. "I shall come down to the drawing-room after luncheon. At whatever cost to myself, I must be in my proper place at a time like this."

"Certainly, dear, if you are sure you are equal to it," she says suavely to Lady Maria. "You are a naughty little woman, Mrs. Glynne" —turning to Yolande. "Your poor husband searched for you high and low, but of course could not find you, and nobody could tell him where you were; so I had to send him off in my daughter's guardianship, looking most disconsolate, poor fellow! He and Joyce and Lizzie Powys, and her brother from Llanfair, are all the party. I hope they will have a pleasant excursion!"

Yolande's eyes light up with sudden wrath or pain or jealousy — Mrs. Murray is not sure which.

"Captain Glyane knew where I was, Mrs. Murray," poor Yolande responds, in a forcedly calm voice. "He asked me if I would go, and I partly declined, as I was going to visit Lady Maria, as I told him. If he wanted to find me, he could have done so easily," she adds, with an irrepressible touch of bitterness.

"With mademoiselle standing on guard — a veritable dragon doorkeeper!" Mrs. Murray exclaims, with a silvery little insolent laugh. "Or is it Captain Glynne who is a naughty man and has left his poor little wife at home whilst he has gone off with the unmarried girls?

(To be continued.)

"IMITATION IS EASY"

The "Sunshine" Furnace has many imitators, but few equals.

Has been such a marked success that several Furnace makers are now trying to duplicate it. No imitation is so good because the "SUNSHINE'S" best features are fully protected.

When putting in your Furnace insist on getting a "SUNSHINE"—do not be persuaded to try some other "just as good," because no other is just as good, and costs so little.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for Catalogue.

McClary's

London, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, St. John, N. B.

THE W.W. CHOWN CO.
LIMITED, AGENTS.

Stomach and Bowels out of Order?

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion, by its antiseptic properties and its wonderful soothing and healing effect upon the mucous membrane of the stomach and bowels, is of special value in intestinal disorders, such as Gastric Catarrh, Fermentation of the Bowels, Diarrhœa, (acute and chronic,) Summer Complaints of Children, Constipation, etc. In fact, in nearly all cases where the bowels are "out of order" it restores them to their normal condition often after other remedies have failed.

All druggists sell it.

ANGIER CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

TWO GUARDS SHOT.

Trouble Breaks Out Near Carbondale—One Probably Dying.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 20.—Michael Connelly and Morris Drossman, guards at the Edgerton colliery of the Temple Iron Company, near Carbondale, were fired upon early yesterday morning from ambush. Drossman, who was shot through the foot, had his foot amputated at the Carbondale Emergency Hosuital. Connelly, who was shot through the eye, is in a critical condition. Sheriff Schadt and his deputies are trying to run down the men who did the shooting, but thus far have found no clue to the would-be assassins.

[illegible] No Outsider.

New York, Aug. 20.—The presidents of the anthracite coal roads had their usual weekly conference here yesterday. Before going to the conference Mr. Truesdals, president of the Lackawanna Railroad Company, said: "There is no foundation in fact for the rumor that the anthracite coal operators will make concessions in order to end the strike. I think work will be resumed in time to produce plenty of coal for the fall demand. The operators are ready, as they always have been ready, to adjust with their men any grievances that they may have, and they have never discriminated against any of their men because they belonged to the union. What the operators will not do is to discuss their business affairs with outsiders."

Conductors Favor Strikers.

Montreal, Aug. 20.—The Railway Conductors' Railway Association passed a resolution yesterday declaring against the handling of coal mined by non-union miners.

HAMILTON MAY BE DARKENED.

Effect of the Strike of the Electrical Workers Noticeable.

Hamilton, Aug. 20.—It was announced this afternoon by the striking electrical workers that no time limit had been decided on for the settlement of the matters in dispute between the strikers and the company. The strikers say they want arbitration, and they are not doing anything to prevent the possibility of securing this.

Until either Mr. Green or Mr. Hawkins returns nothing will be done by the strikers.

The effect of the strike is becoming more noticeable nightly. Monday evening the police reported a great many arc lights out, and last night hundreds of incandescent lights in the Gore and City Hall illuminations were out.

At a meeting of the Board of Works last night, Ald. Basquit protested against the poor condition of the lights at night, and asked that the Cataract Co. be forced to carry out its contract. The City Solicitor was instructed to notify the company of the unsatisfactory state of the lights, and threaten the rescinding of the contract if they are not improved.

British Warships Move.

Panama, Aug. 20. — The British cruiser Phaeton left here hurriedly on Saturday, and it is thought she sailed for Buenaventura, where the Columbian Government has been trying to force the agents of the British steamship Ecuador to transport troops. It is said that the Pacific Steam Navigation Co., in refusing, broke its contract with the Government.

Willemstad, Island, of Carncao, Aug. 20.—A report is current here that a number of British war vessels, under the command of an admiral, will visit La Guara, Venezuela, in a few days. No reasons for the presence of the warships in question at La Guayra can be obtained, and the report is causing considerable speculation.

British Writers at Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—The party of British journalists, under the charge of Mr. W. T. R. Preston, arrived here yesterday. They are studying the city each from their own point of view. These gentlemen compose the party: F. Charles Stewart, The Times, London, Eng.; A. E. Fletcher, Daily Chronicle, London, Eng.; Hugh Spencer, Daily London Express; James London, Leeds Mercury; W. Holt Waite, London Daily Mail; L. LeLage, London Standard; James Proudfoot, Glasgow; Arthur Stopping, Birmingham News; W. Howe, Inverness Special; D. L. Thomas, Cardiff; A. E. Copping, London Daily News; Rev. F. C. Stewart, ecclesiastical journals; B. W. Wilson, Manchester Guardian; G. Wetherall, Liverpool Post.

Mr. Borden Will Go West.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 20.—R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Dominion Parliament, will visit Vancouver about the middle of September, accompanied by other distinguished M.P.'s.

Ask For Sheriff's Dismissal.

Kingston, Aug. 20.—On the ground of incivility and extravagance, the Frontenac County Council have passed a resolution by which they will ask the Ontario Government to dismiss Sheriff Thomas Dawson.

Big Removal Sale.

Next month we move into the store across the street now occupied by Mr. J. H. Mills, and from now until we start to move all cash purchases at the store will be subject to a good big discount.

CARPETS, CURTAINS, WALL PAPERS, PICTURES, ETC., at lower prices than you ever before bought similar goods. You can benefit by the sale if you are in need of anything this store contains.

T. P. BROWN
Carpets, Curtains, Wall Paper, Picture Framing.

ESTABLISHED 1890. PHONE MAIN 4303.

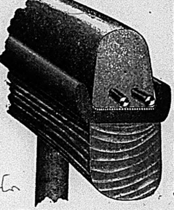
W. F. DEVER & CO.,
STOCK AND BOND BROKERS.

WE EXECUTE ORDERS IN
Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel
on Boston Stock Exchange, over our private wire, for cash or margin.
BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

We solicit accounts for the purchase of listed stocks and bonds.

19 Wellington St. East, Toronto.

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

Corticelli B. A.
WASH SILKS
are the embroidery silks of particular folks. Colored and tinted by Asiatic dyes — absolutely fast colors.

Exquisite true art shades; stronger to the number than any other work silk in existence; mounted in our patent holders, which provide for single or double needlefuls in a jiffy. No tangling, kinking or knotting possible.

Put your faith in Corticelli B. & A. Wash Silk and be safe.

Corticelli B. A.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, o
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Back.

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at The Intelligencer Office. tf

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

A cross old bachelor says the proper way to bring up children is to keep them down on all possible occasions.

If a pessimist happens to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth he naturally expects it to choke him sooner or later.

One way to teach children to be good is to set an example.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

New French Flannels

We have just received an advance shipment of Fine French Flannels for Early Fall wear, in beautiful Fancy Stripe Effects for Shirt Waists and Dressing Jackets, in shades Old Rose, Resida, Blue, Navy, Cardinal, Brown, Grey and Pink,

at 50c yard.

New Dress Goods

We have also just placed in stock an early shipment of New Fall Dress Materials, comprising all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this fall.

Please ask to see through our Dress Goods Department for the latest novelties.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT

G. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 216 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

Spanish Peanuts

Fresh roasted and salted. 30c a lb.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up.

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locs charged as less than twenty-five words.

The St. Thomas' Sunday School picnic to 12 O'Clock Point to-day was largely attended.

The only item the police had to report to-day was the finding of a bunch of keys.

Inspector Johnson will be in his office on Saturday to issue certificates to the successful girls and boys who passed the entrance examination.

A large excursion party from Trenton visited the city last evening.

Two guns of "A" Battery will be taken to Deseronto for the use of the Fifth Field Battery, so that they may be able to do some practicing before the artillery camp opens up on September 13th.

Steamers "North King" and "Caspian" leave Belleville daily (except Monday) for Kingston and 1000 Islands at 3.25 a.m., and for Rochester, N.Y., at 11.38 p.m., after June 28th. me13-d&wtf

Hand in Cutting Machine,

Albert Page, a lad employed at Messrs. Chown & Co.'s, yesterday had his right hand caught in a large pair of shears used for cutting tin. The result was that some of the fingers were badly lacerated.

Badly Bruised

Mr. J. P. Purdy, G.T.R. agent at Napanee, who was for several years on duty at the station in this city and is well known here, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. While handling some freight at the Napanee station a large case of galvanized iron fell in such a way that Mr. Purdy is rather badly injured from the hips down. He will be laid up for a time, but his friends are glad to know that no serious trouble is anticipated.

The Fall Fairs

E. Hastings, Thrasher's, Sept. 25-26.
Kingston's big fair, Aug. 25-29.
Ottawa Central, Aug. 22-30.
Morrisburg, Aug. 27-29.
Sherbrooke, Aug. 30, Sept. 6.
Toronto Industrial, Sept. 1-13.
Frontenac, Harrowsmith, Sept. 4-5.
Iroquois, Sept. 8-10.
Peterboro, Central, Sept. 9-11.
Addington, Tamworth, Sept. 12-13.
London Western, Sept. 12-20.
Napanee, County, Sept. 16-17.
Newboro, Sept. 15-16.
Brockville, Sept. 16-18
Hamilton Central, Sept. 16-18.
Perth, County, Sept. 17-19.
Prescott. Sept. 23-25.
Hinchinbrooke, Parham, Sept 23-24.
Delta, Sept. 23-24.
Merrickville, County, Sept. 24-25.
Renfrew, Sept. 25-26.
Lombardy, Sept. 27.
Spencerville, Sept. 30, Oct. 1.
Beachburg, Oct. 2-3.
Lansdowne, Oct. 7-8.

PERSONAL ...AND.. SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such a be arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Mrs. T. C. Wallbridge, of Toronto, is in the city.

Mr. "Rod" Embery left this morning for the North-West.

Mr. John Marks left to-day for Winnipeg, where he intends to reside.

Mr. P. W. O'Flynn, of Vancouver, B.C., is visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Amongst others who took in the excursion to Winnipeg to-day, were Messrs. S. Burton, Buchanan and T. Jackson of this city.

Mr. Will Spry, wife and son, of Boston; Mr. Joe Spry, of Montreal; Mr. Harry Spry, wife and daughter, of Niagara, are visiting relatives in the city.

Mrs. N. M. Stranahan, wife of the Hon. Mr. Stranahan, Collector of Customs of the Port of New York, is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Foster.

W. R. Ross, Esq., of Montreal, and daughter, Ethel, who have been spending the last week at the home of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Lambly, left yesterday for Toronto and the west.

J. E. Halliwell, Stirling; Mrs. Clapp, Picton; W. VanNorman, St. Thomas; Mrs. Smith, Cobourg; T. Hall, W. A. Shaw, J. F. Watson, M. R. Jennings, J. C. Davidson, W. Laidlaw, G. R. Sharp, Toronto; J. Greenburg, New York; J. Bliss, Brampton; A. Callaghan, Napanee; G. Taylor, Gananoque; Hon. F. L. Brown, G. W. Whistler, Youngstown, O.

WOOLLEN UNDERWEAR.

You cannot got on a trip to the Northwest, or in fact on a trip any place without taking your woollen underclothing with you. The weather is changeable and this is a season of cool weather. The Oak Hall have a full supply of all grades of woollen underwear from 50 cents a suit up to $2 and $3. Provide yourself before going away.

THE QUIRK CASE

JURY TO MEET ON BRANTFORD MYSTERY ON DECEMBER 2ND.

Brantford, Ont., Aug. 19.—The inquest on the death of James Quirk was resumed at the Police Court tonight, but no evidence was taken. Crown Attorney Wilkes asked for a further adjournment until December 2nd. This was granted.

Inspector John Murray was not present, but it is said that he will again take up the case. The local police are very reticent on the matter, but it is believed they are steadily at work gathering evidence. It is expected that the jury will be asked to return a verdict when the inquest is resumed on December 2nd.

PRELIMINARY HEARING

CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO COMMIT A CRIMINAL ASSAULT UPON A MARRIED WOMAN.

Joseph Kennedy, of Tyendinaga, who was arrested on a warrant, charging him with attempting to commit a criminal assault upon Mrs. Henry Cousins, of Thomasburg, was this morning brought up before Magistrate Flint for a preliminary hearing. The evidence of the complainant was to the effect that on Thursday night last about 10 o'clock Kennedy called at her residence and learning that Mr. Cousins was absent took undue liberties with her and also used insulting language.

The contention of the defendant was that he was not at Mrs. Cousins' house at all on the night in question. The case was in progress when we went to press. Mr. P. J. M. Anderson for Crown, and Mr. McMahon defended the accused.

Band Concert at Park

The attendance at the band concert last evening was exceptionally large and the programme provided by the band was apparently throughly enjoyed.

Death of Mr. Miller

Mr. John Miller, the well known hide buyer, died this afternoon at the family residence, Wellington street. Deceased had been ill for some time with kidney trouble.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

NEW SUITS.

We have just opened a very choice lot of Ladies' Tailor Made Suits which are pronounced by experts to be the nicest we have ever displayed and as we control this make they cannot be had elsewhere.

You will find a style, fit and finish about these goods that is unsurpassed, prices are right and if not perfectly satisfied with your purchase your money will be cheerfully refunded.

We will be pleased to have the Ladies call and inspect these goods.

Silk Waists

Here are some new arrivals in Silk Waists.

—Fine quality Silk Taffetta Waist, tucked allover, open front with box plait and stitching, latest large sleeve with pointed cuff, detatched lining....$3.75

—Very Fine Quality All Silk Soft Taffeta with rows of tucks, box plait open front cut with new Gibson effect, newest sleeve and cuff, a very stylish and handsome waist......................... $4.75

Aprons

Home sewing at least for economical purposes has now almost become unnecessary as the ready made article can be had so cheap with the saving of time and labor. Note the prices of our new white aprons.

—Fine White Lawn Apron, wide hem, with 3 rows of tucks, tucked bib, strongly sewn, well finished, ... 35c,

—Extra Fine Quality White Lawn Apron with new flounce bottom, with tucks, frilled bib, with fine quality insertion, side pocket, very pretty ....75c.

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

WOULD LICENSE VICE

DR. E. BENJAMIN ANDREWS SAYS LEARN LESSON FROM PARIS.

Chicago, Aug. 19. — Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews, of the University of Nebraska, in his lecture at the University of Chicago, said he believed that the city governments should regulate the social vice. He told the students that Paris had a system of regulation which had proved beneficial, and that this might be tried to advantage in some of the large cities of the United States.

He asserted that the evil was one which probably never would be entirely stamped out, and therefore means more effective than those now employed in this country should be found whereby less harm would come to those who would not keep pure and innocent.

"The State," declared Chancellor Andrews, "is under obligation to take measures to protect innocent women and children and future generations. I demur from the common opinion that in granting a license to a person engaged in a business or practice which is looked down upon or scorned by people generally the authorities are entering into collusion with the persons licensed. There are many times when a license is the best and most effective method of suppressing or regulating vice."

THEY TAKE WEEKS.

Ordinary remedies sometimes take weeks to even relieve cases that Catarrhozone cures at once.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes now and again and it cures a cold.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes every hour and we guarantee it will cure any case of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung or Throat Trouble, Deafness. It is very pleasant and convenient to use, quick to relieve, and certain as the hereafter to cure. Large size, complete, price $1.00; small size, 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

BIG BLOUSE and WRAPPER SALE

NATHAN JONES.

Never before have we offered two better bargains to our customers than we offer this week. Of course we lose money on every sale but we are determined to clear them all out to make room for Fall importations.

Blouse Sale

This week all our colored print blouses ranging from 50c to $1.00

For 25c each.

Surely a big reduction is that.

Wrapper Sale

All our wrappers at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.40 to be cleared out

For 75c each

That's much cheaper than you can make them for.

Also a few lines of our 12½c Ginghams left to be cleared out at 10c.

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, that our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

"Ye Olde Fashioned Style"

We have of late purchased about forty dozen old fashioned Alhumbru Blue Cups and Saucers. They are of the style that was all the go some fifty years ago, and if you want a nice old fashioned cup and saucer, the very kind your grandmother used to use, now is your chance.

They are selling at 10c each or $1.10 a dozen and they shall go fast at the prices marked.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 21, 1902. NO. 94

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Breut Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Remains Interred Here

The remains of the late Miss Tillie Marshall, who died in Toronto, arrived here at noon to-day. Services were conducted at the grave by Rev. A. Campbell.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

Boer Generals To Lecture

Will Hasten Their Return to England For This Purpose.

To Confer With Chamberlain With Regard to the Future Autonomy of the South African Colonies—Generals May Enter Legislative Council.

Utrecht, Holland, Aug. 21.—The Boer generals (Botha, Dewet and Delarey), accompanied by Dr. Leyds and Messrs. Fischer, Wessels, Wolmarans, Reitz, and others, arrived here yesterday from The Hague to visit ex-President Kruger and consult with him on the South African situation. The large crowds assembled at the railroad station and in the streets warmly applauded the Boers. The spectators at the station sang the Boer national anthem.

The Boer generals intend to hasten their return to England and start on a lecturing tour through the larger towns. They will confer with the Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, in regard to plans for the future autonomy of the South African colonies. It is said that possibly the generals will enter the Legislative Council of South Africa.

Cronje Sails Away.

Jamestown, Island of St. Helena, Aug. 21.—A thousand Boers, including General Cronje, his wife and his staff, sailed from here yesterday for South Africa.

Boer Leaders Fighting.

Vienna, Aug. 21.—The Neues Wiener Tagblatt publishes a telegram from Brussels, stating that dissensions are increasing among the Brussels Boer leaders. It is stated that Kruger, being advised to recognize peace in order that the leaders may return to South Africa, refuses, being influenced in his decision by Leyds.

CRUSHED IN AN ELEVATOR.

Windsor Man Meets Instant Death in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—Harry Stewart, aged 22, a resident of Windsor, whose parents reside in Paris, Ont., was instantly killed in Metzger's automobile repository, Detroit, late Tuesday afternoon. He was about to take an automobile to the repair shop on an upper floor. He opened the safety gates at the elevator shaft, and started the elevator which was in the basement. In some way Stewart let the gates slip and was caught and held by them in such a way that the ascending elevator floor caught him, dragged him through the gates, and then dropped him into the basement, dead.

No New Convents in Switzerland.

Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 21.—The Federal Council has decreed the active enforcement of an article of the constitution forbidding the establishment of new convents by religious orders or the re-establishment of suppressed congregations. Three months' grace is allowed the orders that have infringed the constitution in which to comply with the decree by closing their establishments.

Husband Kills Wife.

Quebec, Aug. 21.—About 2.30 yesterday morning a brutal murder was committed at Montmagny, Que. A man named Joseph Mathurin killed his wife by cutting her throat. The murderer and his victim are both 35 years old. Mathurin confessed to his brother immediately after the murder. Jealousy and drunkenness are said to be the motives.

Sir Edmund Barton Sails.

London, Aug. 21.—Sir Edmund Barton, Premier of Australia, sailed yesterday by the steamship Majestic for New York.

According to the New Zealand correspondent of The Daily Mail, Mr. Seddon, Premier of New Zealand, has abandoned his proposed trip to the United States, on account of the illness of his wife.

Blew Out the Gas.

Kingston, Aug. 21.—The sons of the late Mr. Coffey, found dead in Napanee, are of the opinion that his death was accidental, and was in no wise premeditated. They are quite satisfied that his life was probably lost by his blowing out the gas before retiring.

Three People Drowned.

Bridgeton, N. J., Aug. 21.—Nellie and Bertha Frawlinger and Peter Degar were drowned yesterday at Cumberland Causeway. The party were crabbing, and the two young women fell overboard. Degar jumped after them and all three sank.

"Lady Laurier" Steamer.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—The new Government steamer, which is being constructed at Paisley, Scotland, for the whole of the Maritime Provinces, is to be called "Lady Laurier." Capt. Johnson of Halifax goes over to bring the boat to Canada.

British Rifle Team on Board.

Rimouski Wharf, Que., Aug. 21.—The S.S. Lake Simcoe, from Liverpool, passed inward at 12.15 a. m. The saloon passengers include Hon. Edward Blake, M. P., and Mrs. Blake, W. S. Calvert, M.P., and the British rifle team.

Mr. Sutherland Leaves Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Hon. James Sutherland yesterday left for Quebec, and will have a cruise down the St. Lawrence in the new steamer, the Druid, along with the Quebec Harbor Commissioners.

Diseased Immigrants.

Ottawa, Aug. 21. — An Order-in-Council has been passed bringing into force the act passed at the last session of Parliament, prohibiting the landing of diseased immigrants.

THE BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Write for Catalogue.

Departments.

1. Bookkeeping and Commercial Usages—up-to-date in every respect. 2. Shorthand and Typewriting—Thorough office practice. 3. Telegraphing—Special attention given to Railroad work. Students may enter any day. A few dollars invested in a good business education will yield large profits.—J. FRITH JEFFERS, M.A., Principal.

Pony on a Jaunt

A pony attached to a dog cart, belonging to Mrs. P. Milne, of this city, ran away on Front street this morning. The animal stopped when it reached its home on Mill street. No damage was done.

Kennedy Discharged

The result of the preliminary investigation against Joseph Kennedy on a charge of attempting to assault Mrs. Henry Cousins, was the acquittal of the accused. Kennedy swore positively that he was not at Mrs. Cousins' place on the night in question, and was corroborated by other witnesses. The Magistrate then dismissed the charge. Mr. Anderson for Crown and Mr. McMahon for the accused.

To Meet September 10

Wednesday, September 10th, has been fixed as the day for the annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario. The meeting will take place in the club-room of the Mail and Empire, and Mr. Whitney, the leader of the party, will be present.

THE PENALTY OF A FAST LIFE.

Is paid for by an irritable condition of body and mind, by exhausted energy, poor digestion, unstrung nerves and broken sleep. If you must and will live the killing pace, better keep in mind the sustaining powers of Ferrozone, a wonderful tonic and reconstructor. Ferrozone is a blood maker, a nerve strengthener, a heart and brain invigorator. It creates appetite, insures perfect digestion and undisturbed sleep, restores the vitality and strength lost by excessive living very quickly. Ferrozone will do you inestimable good, try it. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or J. S. McKeown.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

Severe Electric Storm

A BARN WITH ITS CONTENTS DESTROYED IN THURLOW.

Between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock this morning this section of the country was visited by a severe electric storm. Rain and hail fell in torrents, the lightning was vivid and the thunder deafening. The street gullies could not carry the water off fast enough and in many cases the gratings became choked, causing the water to flow over the walks. No particular damage was done in the city. Some flower beds were destroyed and fruit was taken off from trees.

During the height of the storm a large barn situated on Mrs. Ann Carscallen's farm in the 1st concession of Thurlow, a short distance east of the city limits was struck by lightning and destroyed. Mr. Wm. Shaw, the occupant, lost the greater portion of the season's crop. Some farm implements, conveyances, etc., and about 50 chickens and a pig were cremated. His loss is covered by an insurance of $950 in the Liverpool, London & Globe. The building was insured in the Western Company for $500, which will cover the loss sustained.

A G.T.R. engineer saw four fires during the run from Deseronto Junction to this city.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. S. ROBERTSON.

Mrs. Robertson, wife of Mr. Alex. Struan Robertson, of Deloro, died at her home on Monday, 11th inst., aged 55 years, 10 months. Her maiden name was Emily Elliott. She was born in the Front of Sidney, but lived with her husband at Deloro for 19 years past. She leaves, besides her husband, a grown up family of two sons and daughters to mourn their loss.

CATHERINE DELORE.

Catherine Delore, beloved wife of Mr. Jeremiah Delore, died on Friday last at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Duncan Morrison, Tweed, aged 36 years. Deceased had been ailing for several months, and a few weeks ago was taken to Hotel Dieu, Kingston, for treatment. Medical skill, however, could not help her and she was brought home on Monday evening of last week. She is survived by her husband and six children.

THE CAUSE OF DYSPEPTIC PAINS.

Improperly digested food usually forms gases that cause a painful distention of the stomach and pressure against the heart. This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Cramps, Summer Complaint and all Stomach and Bowel Troubles. No household is complete without Nerviline. Try a 25c bottle.

EASTERN HIGH COURT

JOHN HERALD, OF KINGSTON, ELECTED HIGH CHIEF RANGER.

Picton, Aug. 20.—The High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters of Eastern Ontario elected the following officers: High Chief Ranger, John Herald, Kingston, acclamation; High Vice-Chief Ranger, Dr. W. E. Craine, of Cryster: High Secretary, G. L. Dickinson, of Manotick, acclamation; High Treasurer, J. S. R. McCann, Kingston, acclamation; High Physician, Dr. G. T. Basken, Ottawa; High Counsellor, J. M. Marshall, Brockville; High auditors, Walter Rowan, Ottawa, A. Low, Kingston.

The appointed officers are: Rev. C. B. Clarke, High Orator; D. E. Debertal, High Journal Secretary; M. Bailey, High Senior Woodward; W. C. Wales, High Junior Woodward; D. F. Oulton, High Senior Beadle; Wm. Lalonde, High Junior Beadle; Mrs. Clara Wetherell, High Organist; Milton Adams, High Messenger; W. H. Bishop, High Marshal; W. M. Mott, High Conductor.

Local Legal

Osgoode Hall, Single Court.
Before Chief Justice Falconbridge.

Klingbeil vs. Klingbeil. — Motion for injunction and receiver by plaintiff in an action by plaintiff to set aside a deed from plaintiff to defendant and an agreement between plaintiff and defendant. Defendant directed to pay plaintiff $30.00 within a week, and if paid motion to be enlarged to trial; if not paid, injunction to issue restraining defendant from use and control of farm and chattels till trial, plaintiff to be receiver. Pleadings to be delivered in vacation, and defendant to accept short notice of trial. Costs to be costs in the cause, unless the trial judge otherwise orders. W. C. Mikel for Plaintiff. Cassels of Blake & Co., for defendant.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE ... 25c.

Is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Catholic Foresters.
Derry Lodge True Blues.
Belleville Lodge, I.O.O.F.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Moderate to fresh west to north winds, fair and comparatively cool. Friday, moderate winds, fine, not much change in temperature.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	75
12 m.	73
2 p.m.	74
3 p.m.	73

WHO DISCOVERED MUSKOKA?

(Knoxonian in the Toronto "Presbyterian.")

It is pretty generally understood that a man named Christopher Columbus discovered America. But who discovered Muskoka? Future Macaulays—if we are ever able to raise a Macaulay—will have to wrestle with that question. Some will say the honor must be given to Mr. A. P. Cockburn. Whether Mr. Cockburn discovered the great playground or not, he certainly has done more than any half dozen men to make it known, and also to make it, in our opinion, the best summer resort in America. Some people say that Prof. John Campbell, W. B. MacMurrich, K. C., and a few other enterprising Ontario boys paddled around the lakes many years ago and came to the conclusion that nature intended that region for a grand national playground. No doubt Prof. Campbell, being highly gifted with the faculty for historical research, could settle the question of discovery if he would. But the learned professor is a singularly modest man and would hardly say he and his companions discovered Muskoka, even if he knew they did. Not long ago we heard, on what we believe excellent authority, that the honor of discovering Ontario's great summer resort really belongs to Justice Maclennan. Long before there was a railway or steamboat in that region the Judge made a circuit of the Muskoka lakes in an open boat and spent his vacation there. The learned Judge, like Prof. Campbell, is a modest gentleman, and quite likely he may never pose as the discoverer of Muskoka. Well, whoever discovered the playground, it is a good one. For lovely islands and pure air, and as a producer of restful feeling, it stands unrivalled among summer resorts. One of the chief attractions of this playground is that it always seems new. Go the twentieth time and you will like it as well as the first time. Of course we are speaking of the effect Muskoka produces on normal specimens of humanity. There are people who never want to go to the same place twice. As a rule, the place never wants to see such people more than once. All the northern country, embracing Lake Simcoe, Lake Couchiching, the Muskoka lakes, the lakes around Huntsville, Burk's Falls, to Ahmic Harbor, Parry Sound and Penetanguishene, is one of the best resting places on the continent. One can scarcely go wrong in that region if he wants a good rest. People come in large numbers from all parts of the United States, and the number of visitors continually increases. If there is only one thing in this world that a typical American citizen knows when he sees it that one thing is a good summer resort. The number of Americans who come to Northern Ontario every summer shows that they consider our Ontario playground first-class.

Holidays are now a part of our yearly life. Most people have found out that they can do more and better work when they take an occasional rest. Holidays were once considered a luxury. Now they are a necessity to every man who wishes to keep up with the procession. Ontario people should be profoundly thankful that they have so many resting places that may be enjoyed at a reasonable expense. Let us enjoy them with thankful hearts, and at the same time not forget to sympathize with those to whom days of rest never come.

Bass Preserve at Marmora

Mr. J. K. McCargar, fishery inspector, of Belleville, was in town Friday. He visited Mr. R. Bonter's bass preserve in the old lithograph quarry and is so pleased with it that he has made arrangements with Mr. Bonter to turn it into a hatchery, for which it will be fitted. Crowe Lake will be filled with young bass and made a still better fishing lake. The other lakes in the north will also be stocked with bass. Mr. McCargar is well satisfied with Marmora's reputation for keeping the fishing laws.—Marmora Herald.

The National Cash Register Company has arranged for the manufacture in Canada of all machines to supply their growing Canadian trade.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Getting Ready for Fall Goods

We are now opening our New Fall Goods. This means we must have room, and to make room for the New Goods we offer the following lines at exactly Half Price:

Ladies' Colored Cotton Shirt Waists will sell at	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Shirt Waists	Half Price
Ladies' Colored Cotton Costumes	Half Price
Ladies' White Pique Skirts	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Dress Skirts	Half Price
One Table of fancy Dress Muslins	Half Price
Ladies Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Children's Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Colored Leather Belts	Half Price
Fancy Belt Buckles	Half Price
All Fancy Parasols	Half Price

New Silk Waists

We have just opened some very pretty Styles in Ladies' Black, White and Colored Silk Waists at $4.00 4.50 $5.00, $5.50, $6.00 and $6.50.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

SURPRISE SURPRISE

SURPRISE SOAP is Pure Hard Soap.

SURPRISE SURPRISE

GORMAN'S
THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

$1 $1 $1

BARGAINS FOR LADIES

Just such values as will delight all you ladies who are judges of shoe qualities.

We want you to see these shoes—we wish you to have these bargains—come—have first choice.

Seventy pairs of ladies' fine kid low shoes, nobby—easy—durable—regular $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 lines, now clearing at.... $1.00

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR
Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn
Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon
Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie
Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.
: Est'd :
: 1871 :
Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!
Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.
The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

OFFENDED JUDGE MEAGHER

Vice-President Halifax Board of Trade Sent to Jail.

One Hundred Delegates of the Maritime Board of Trade Sat on the Court House Steps to Be Photographed and the Judge Upbraided Them—Mr. De Wolf Moved at the Afternoon Session and Then His Lordship Took Strong Action.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 21.— Judge Meagher of the Supreme Court, Halifax, who is holding court here, caused the arrest yesterday of J. E. De Wolf, vice-president of the Halifax Board of Trade. The judge, on coming out of the court room, found his exit blocked by the 100 delegates to the convention of the Maritime Board of Trade, who had assembled on the courthouse steps to have their pictures taken.

The judge ordered Sheriff Ingraham to clear a passage for him. The sheriff complied to the order, and the judge passed through the crowd, but some of the delegates resented the interruption, and as the judge and sheriff started to walk away there were murmurs among the crowd, which sounded like hissing. The judge immediately returned and demanded the name of the man who hissed, declaring he would hand him over to the sheriff.

The delegates were shocked at the judge's action, and at the first session gave vent to their feelings. J. E. De Wolf called upon the meeting to resent the unwarranted insult, and he moved a resolution to the effect, which was passed. Some of the delegates stated that the board should pass a resolution asking the Government to remove Judge Meagher from the bench.

Mr. De Wolf met the judge later, and the latter asked Mr. De Wolf how he was feeling. Mr. De Wolf replied: "Not any too well over your conduct." The judge said that if he repeated the remark he would hand him over to the sheriff. Mr. De Wolf repeated the remark and the judge forthwith handed him over to the custody of the sheriff.

As De Wolf marched off with the sheriff the delegates loudly cheered him. The matter was afterwards amicably settled and Mr. De Wolf was released.

The action of the judge has met with much adverse criticism.

30,000 STRIKING MINERS

To Be Offered Land Grants by the Canadian Government.

Toledo, O., Aug. 21.—George A. Whitney of this city has been authorized by the Dominion Government to proceed to the coal regions and offer inducements to 30,000 or more of the striking miners and their families to form a colony and locate on free homesteads which the Government will provide for them in the great wheat belt of the Northwest.

Whitney says that the men will be given work for six weeks at least at the rate of $85 to $100 per month and board, and after that work will be provided for them on Government contracts until spring, when they can begin breaking up their homestead grants for next season's crop.

It is also understood that the Canadian Government will furnish bona fide settlers with means to purchase horses or oxen, farming utensils and the erection of homes.

Whitney says the Canadian Government is anxious to secure colonists from the United States.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Wednesday.
Worcester 2, Toronto 0.
Worcester 3, Toronto 4.
Newark 4, Buffalo 6.
Newark 1, Buffalo 2.
Jersey City 3, Rochester 1.
Providence 3, Montreal 2.
Providence 0, Montreal 1.

National League, Wednesday.
St. Louis 0, Boston 1.
St. Louis 3, Boston 2.
Chicago 2, Philadelphia 4.
Cincinnati 10, Brooklyn 2.
Cincinnati 15, Brooklyn 1.

American League, Wednesday.
Baltimore 7, Detroit 6.
Philadelphia 4, St. Louis 1.
Washington 6, Chicago 10.
Boston 3, Cleveland 6.

Cunard Line Not in Combine.

New York, Aug. 21.—Clement A. Griscom, the President of the International Navigation Company, arrived yesterday on the steamship Oceanic. "I do not know when the steamship combine will be incorporated," he said. "When I went away everything was ready for its incorporation, so I expect it will take place very soon." "Has the Cunard Line entered into the combination?" he was asked. "No. No one but the newspapers ever considered the Cunard Line."

Big Strike at Havana.

Havana, Aug. 21.—The longshoremen and lightermen of all classes, and the dock laborers, went out on strike yesterday. They have several grievances, one being that coal should be unloaded per ton instead of by day wages. Efforts are being made by the union leaders to bring out the laborers at Cienfuegos and Cardenas. The total number of men out is 2,000. It is feared that shipping will be tied up for a long time.

Finlander Commits Suicide.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 21.—A Finlander named Fabien Runtle committed suicide by hanging at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Tuesday. He had been a very heavy drinker. He leaves a widow and family in the Old Country.

Price of Coal Jumps Up.

New York, Aug. 21.—The wholesale price of anthracite coal has jumped to $10 a ton for stove coal, and $11 for egg alongside.

CHUMMY WITH G. R. PARKIN

Morgan Talks Big to Principal of Upper Canada College.

The World-Noted Financier Even Got Beyond the Comprehension of the Erudite Scholar, Who Is Completely Enthralled With the Morgan Idea of Combination—Rhodes' Scholarships Unsuitable for Immature American Boys.

New York, Aug. 21.—J. Pierpont Morgan arrived from Europe yesterday, and, during the trip, became very chummy with G. R. Parkin, principal of Upper Canada College, who has been commissioned by Lord Milner, Lord Rosebery and other trustees of the Cecil Rhodes' educational beneficence to arrange for the distribution of scholarships in the British colonies and in the United States. To Mr. Parkin, Mr. Morgan spoke freely of his ideas of industrial development, and astounded the college president by the vastness of his economic plans.

Too Vast For Comprehension.

"Mr. Morgan's word picture of the ideal industrial development is so vast that I confess I could not adequately comprehend it," said Mr. Parkin. "Combination is the keynote of his idea. He claims the idea of combination will progress, growing wider and greater all the time. The steamship trust he used as an illustration, saying the present plan was only the beginning of an ultimately vast combination of shipping interests. His idea is so great that it has completely enthralled me, and I asked permission to visit him at his office and hear him more fully develop his idea for me."

The Rhodes' Scholarships.

Mr. Morgan took great interest in the matter of the Rhodes' scholarships, and expressed decided ideas regarding the manner of their distribution. He told Mr. Parkin that he did not believe they should be given to young men. "American boys should not receive their college training abroad. That would tend to un-Americanize them. We are the ruling nation, and our college boys should develop in an atmosphere of American ideas. All foreign notions should be kept aloof from them until their characters are developed. When they are thoroughly Americanized it will be of the greatest advantage to send them abroad to get a top dressing of foreign ideas from which they can select the best. The process will broaden their views and strengthen their judgment. But we should send to Oxford only full matured scholars or young business men who could fulfill the conditions of the Rhodes' gift," said Mr. Morgan.

Mr. Parkin said he thoroughly agreed with Mr. Morgan's ideas, and Bishop Potter, who was a party to the conversation, also agreed with the financier.

Mr. Parkin says that these scholarships are all for the 16-year-old post-graduate course in English universities.

Three Charged With Arson.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—The Inspector of Quebec provincial police, arrested Martin McDonald and wife and Harry Anger of East Hull on a charge of arson. The charge is that on May 13 last they set fire to a house and barn, for the alleged purpose of collecting $1,400 insurance from the Queen's Fire Insurance Co. The prisoners were handed over to Sheriff Wright of Hull.

Left Ten Million Dollars.

Detroit, Aug. 21.—In the will of the late Senator McMillan, bequests of more than $60,000 were made to charity. The estate is valued at $10,000,000, the bulk of which is to go to the widow and the sons. All the employes in the Detroit office of the big hardware concern, of which he was head, were left $250 each, and his three managers $5,000 each.

Burglars in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—Several places in this city were visited by burglars last night. The loss was not heavy. Among the stores and offices entered were: Keewatin Lumber Company, Waterloo Manufacturing Company, Ford Stationery Company, Heasley's, Miss Bain's, Palace Clothing Company and Burns' grocery.

Moors Attack the French.

Paris, Aug. 21.—A telegram, received here from Oran, Algeria, says that a party of Moors recently attacked a French military supply column, near Ain Delkelil, and that numbers were killed or wounded on both sides. Troops have gone in pursuit of the Moors.

About Drainage

You know the deadly consequences if a house is badly drained. Only a madman or a criminal would himself incur the risk, or subject others to it, for one unnecessary minute.

But do you realize the danger of a badly drained body? Are you aware that it poisons the blood, the very fountain of life?

Constipation is Bad Drainage

IRON-OX TABLETS

CURE CONSTIPATION

Twenty-five Adult Doses 25 Cents

GREAT WEATHER FOR CROPS.

Harvesting Operations Begin in Southern and Western Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—The weather was quite mild last night, and a great deal of cutting was completed yesterday. Prospects are of the brightest for taking off the immense wheat crop.

It was warm and cloudy yesterday, and harvesting operations began with a will, particularly in Southern and Western Manitoba. Every available reaper was busy around Roland, in Southern Manitoba.

The C.P.R. has made every preparation to receive the first of the harvest excursionists this afternoon from the Maritime Provinces. A new ticket office has been built, and extra hands engaged to look after their wants. The depot building has been placarded with posters directing new arrivals to the best locations.

2,380 Went West Wednesday.

Toronto, Aug. 21.—The Harvesters' excursions to Manitoba and the Northwest commenced yesterday, and the Union Station was the busiest spot in town. The men came from Toronto and from points east of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston, including the midland division. Three carloads were attached to the regular North Bay train at 1.45 p. m., and there seemed to be thousands left behind then. These were taken in two special trains of nine cars each later in the afternoon. The three trains conveyed 1,480 persons: From Kingston another hundred left, and the specials from Midland and Orillia, conveyed between them, about 800 more, so that altogether there left on Wednesday from these points 2,380. Last year 1,687 left on the first day of the excursion.

TALK OF THE C.M.R.

Ottawa Journal Says That Some of the Men Took to Looting.

Ottawa, Aug. 21. — The Journal published yesterday the following statement about Canadian soldiers:

"The Canadian Mounted Rifles, who formed the last contingent, were evidently a lively bunch. While they were in Northern Natal, they had nothing to do, and, consequently, took to looting for amusement. They raided in general, and one day swept down on Newcastle, taking everything before them. Their reputation for unruliness, it is said, was such that when they were leaving Newcastle to entrain for Durban the Newcastle merchants put up their shutters and stopped business for the afternoon. As a result of their depredations, a claim has been filed with the Canadian Government for £18 for damages incurred. The Australians and New Zealanders were included in the lot, and a total of £200 was withheld in all from the colonials in Northern Natal, where the depredations took place.

JUMPED INTO THE SEA.

Story Told by Immigrants Who Crossed the Atlantic.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—G. A. Johnston, Dominion traveling immigration agent, has returned from Fort William, having accompanied a train load of immigrants who were going through to the Northwest. Mr. Johnston was told by some of the men that when they were crossing the Atlantic, one of the party, a man named Robert Hewitt, jumped overboard and was never again seen, although a diligent search was made. Hewitt was playing a game of cards when, at the conclusion of one game, he got up and said: "Leave me out of this game, boys!" With this he went on deck and deliberately jumped into the sea. The crew of the Tunisian did everything possible to locate the unfortunate victim, but to no effect. Family trouble is supposed to have been the reason for his rash act.

Unknown Boy Drowned.

Toronto, Aug. 21.—A little boy, apparently about 8 years of age, was drowned in the Bay yesterday afternoon, at a point opposite the foot of Bay street. The body was recovered and taken to the morgue, where the remains await identification. Up till an early hour this morning nobody had turned up at the police stations to report that the lad was missing, nor had any requests been made for permission to view the body.

Paid to Be Good.

San Francisco, Aug. 21.— Charles Becker, a released forger, will be given $500 a month "to be good." The American Bankers' Association will try the experiment. Becker raised a $12 draft to $22,000 in 1896 and secured from the Nevada Bank $16,000. For this crime he was sentenced to seven years, but he has been a model prisoner and will receive a heavy reduction for good conduct.

Flies Rebel Flag.

Panama, Aug. 21.—The former Government gunboat, Boyaca, which left here July 29, to carry 300 soldiers to Agua Dulce, and which was captured by the Colombian revolutionists, is now at sea, flying the rebel flag.

One Thousand Die Weekly.

London, Aug. 21.—The Exchange Telegraph Company yesterday publishes the despatch from Simla, British India, saying that the plague mortality is increasing at the rate of 1,000 weekly.

Counterfeiter Gets Two Years

Toronto, Aug. 21.—Charles E. Higgins of Hamilton, for passing counterfeit money, was sent to Kingston Penitentiary for two years.

Squire Kelly Dead.

St. Thomas, Aug. 21. —Thomas Kelly, J.P., died Tuesday night. He was 76 years of age. He was born in County Clare, Ireland.

Hospital Gets $500.

St. Catharines, Aug. 21.—The hospital day earnings of the Trolley Company, netted the hospital $500.

IN HONOR OF THE SHAH.

A Seaman and Gun on Nelson's Flagship Victory Blown Through Porthole—Persian Ruler Meets King Edward.

London, Aug. 21.—There was a gun accident yesterday on board the old wooden battleship Victory (the flagship of Lord Nelson at the battle of Trafalgar). While firing a royal salute on the King's arrival at Portsmouth a charge exploded prematurely and one of the ancient muzzle-loaders and a seaman were blown clean through a porthole. The body of the sailor was not recovered.

The Shah Meets the King.

The Shah proceeded to Portsmouth this morning to visit King Edward on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, which was berthed at the dockyard jetty so as to obviate the necessity of the Persian monarch crossing the Solent. The Prince of Wales and the Shah's suite accompanied his Majesty to Portsmouth.

The Shah insisted on such slow traveling by the train that the King was kept waiting for upwards of an hour. As soon as the train was sighted His Majesty landed from the royal yacht and proceeded to greet the Persian visitor. The meeting between the two rulers was most cordial. They heartily shook hands and then walked to the yacht, chatting animatedly, while the warships fired royal salutes.

After lunching with King Edward and Queen Alexandra the Shah started on his return to London amidst the firing of a royal salute.

Prior to the Persian monarch's departure King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Shah, the Prince of Wales, Princess Victoria and Prince Arthur of Connaught were photographed in a group, the Queen and Princess wearing Persian orders, evidently conferred on them by the Shah while the latter was on board the royal yacht.

BULLETS FOR MOBS.

Judge Morgan Makes a Startling Statement in County Court.

Toronto, Aug. 21.—Young William Crook, who pleaded guilty to being a member of an unlawful assembly, was released by Judge Morgan in the County Judges' Criminal Court yesterday. The assembly in question was the occasion of the recent street car strike, and in making the release Judge Morgan took occasion to express his mind freely on the disgrace he considered these tumultuous meetings to a peaceful city like Toronto. He was perfectly in accord with the calling out of 1,400 troops to keep order, as had been done on that occasion and advocated in future still more strenuous measures.

"A few rounds of ball cartridge," he said, "would work wonders."

DUNDONALD FOR CANADIANS.

All South African Contingents Should Get Medals and Gratuity.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Lord Dundonald has made representations to the War Office not only in favor of a war medal for the 3rd; 4th, 5th, and 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles, but that they should also receive the special Imperial war gratuity of £5 per man. It is taken for granted that the troops will get the colonial gratuity of £5, but the special Imperial gratuity seems to have been reserved only for those troops who served on the field. The 2nd C.M.R. fought at Hart's River and were six months in South Africa. They will probably get both sums. Up to date the Canadian troops have been paid in gratuities a sum aggregating about $400,000.

NINE WORKMEN KILLED.

Explosion of Two Steel Digesters in Pulp Mill Caused Death.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 21. — Nine workmen are known to have been killed, five are missing and three others were badly injured by the explosion of two steel digesters in the Delaware pulp mills of the Jessup & Moore Paper Co., on the Christiania River, yesterday.

Those who were not killed outright were mangled or burned by escaping steam that flowed over their bodies from the broken digesters.

To add to the horror of the disaster, the wreckage took fire, but after some difficulty the fire department managed to subdue the flames, and the work of rescue was continued.

SIR WILFRID IN PARIS.

President Loubet Invites Him to His Rambouillet Home.

London, Aug. 21. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived in Paris Tuesday. He was received at the station by the Minister of Foreign Affairs. Canada's representation included Mr. Hector Fabre, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Sydney Fisher and many members of the Canadian colony in Paris. Sir Wilfrid may visit the Exhibition at Lille. President Loubet has invited the Canadian Premier to visit him at Rambouillet.

Four Men Killed.

Schenectady, N.Y., Aug. 21.—Four men were killed, one seriously injured and a score of others slightly hurt near Hoffman's Ferry, 10 miles from this city, about 9 o'clock last night by the breaking in half of a New York Central eastbound freight train and the subsequent crashing of the rear half into the front part, which had stopped.

Inventor of the Grain Cradle.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 21.— Joseph Shirk, the inventor of the Colt revolver and of the grain cradle, died yesterday at his home in East Earl Township, this county. He was 8 years old, and, besides being a noted inventor, was a surveyor.

Hon. Joseph Royal Dying.

Montreal, Aug. 21.—Hon. Joseph Royal, ex-Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories, is reported to be in a very serious condition at his residence in this city. He was recently operated on, and has since been unconscious.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.

Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER

Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte. may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,

Office—9 Campbell Street.

MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.

Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,

Barrister, &c.

Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.

Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.

'Phone 87.

E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.

Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,

(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.)

Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.

Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.

JAMES A. CHISHOLM,

Office Ashley Block, · Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian	Est'd 1821
The North America,	Est'd 1792
Quebec,	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insured at lowest rates.

R. W. ADAMS, Agent.

Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult

W. J. THOMSON,

who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:

ROYAL. ALLIANCE.

OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE

Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. ocsd&w

THOS. STEWART,

Insurance and Commission Agent.

Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.

BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned

can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.

The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co

The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.

The Equity Fire Ins. Co.

Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies. Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.

Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.

H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.

Liverpool & London & Globe of England.

Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont.

Lloyd's Plate Glass.

Home Life Association, Toronto.

North British & Mercantile.

Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.

W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,

Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.

Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St. Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

THE COUGAR'S FIGHTING.

How a Bull Elk Won a Battle by a Solar Plexus Blow.

The cougar does not leap upon its big game nor drop upon it out of treetops, but sneaks close or lies in wait upon the level and goes from cover in a straight rush like the tiger or the hunting leopard. It endeavors to seize upon the lower throat or shoulder with its teeth and to twist the quarry's head against this "purchase" in its powerful forearms until the neck is broken. Failing in its attempt, yet making good its catch hold, the cougar will—to put it modernly—go in and finish in any old style. It will usually finish once tooth and claw are engaged, but sometimes it fails and even gets the worst of an encounter.

Felix Michaud, a most reliable free trapper of the old regime, once told me he had watched a lion stalking a bull elk. It was a Teton mountain cougar of the big variety. It went from cover in a headlong rush, but missed its neck stroke as the bull lunged ahead, catching him at the point of the shoulder and going under his belly. Both animals were bowled over in a mixup of hair, hoofs, claws and horns. In a brief struggle, as they rolled over together, the cougar was thrown into the air, as if hoisted by a spring trap, by a convulsive kick from the bull's hind leg. The maddened elk gained its legs and chased its enemy off the field. An unlooked for punch in the wind had taken the sand out of pussy.—Outing.

Scotch "Drip Stone."

Years ago a Scotch great-grandpa brought to America a piece of sand rock that some persons thought was intended for a grindstone. What caused them to think so was not because it was round, but on the upper side it was hollowed out like a saucer, and the other side had a small projection like a chocolate drop in shape and size. Soon this was discovered to be what is termed a "drip stone" and when set in a shady place and the saucer side filled with water will deliver crystal pure and cold drops from the underside. The water is absolutely clean and pure as the result of this homely process. The idea was originally taken from the orientals, no doubt.

Sure to Please One.

George Selwyn, the famous English wit and man about town, took an extraordinary interest in deathbed scenes, criminal executions and funerals, and in "Jesse's Memoirs" the story is told of him that when the first Lord Holland was dying and learned that Selwyn had called to inquire after his health he said: "The next time Mr. Selwyn calls show him up. If I am alive, I shall be delighted to see him, and if I am dead he will be glad to see me!"

Too Queer to Pass.

"Yes, I still have the first dollar I ever made," said the gray haired passenger.

"The idea!" exclaimed the traveling acquaintance. "And how did you keep it so long?"

"It was very imperfect, being my first, and I'd have had trouble in passing it."

Didn't Count In the Bill.

Dr. Jalap—Well, you may thank your fine constitution for pulling you through. Nothing else could have saved you.

The Convalescent—But I cannot see that you have made any reduction in your bill for my fine constitution's share in the cure.

Congreve would prepare a drama for the stage in a week or ten days, though four or five times this period was spent in revision.

So Nervous Could Not Rest

HAD SPLITTING HEADACHES AND SYSTEM WAS WEAK AND RUN-DOWN.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Study these symptoms. They are for your guidance. You may not have them all, but if you have any of them your nervous system is not up to the mark, and a little extra expenditure of nerve force may bring the dreadful downfall.

Intolerance of motion, noise and light; twitching of the muscles of the face and eyelids; fatiguing sleep, sudden startings and jerkings of the limbs; dizziness and flashes of light before the eyes; irritability and restlessness in every part of the body; headache, indigestion, feelings of weariness and depression, and loss of interest in the affairs of life.

So long as the daily expenditure of nerve force is greater than the daily income, physical bankruptcy is certain to result sooner or later. Nerve force must be increased, and this can best be accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, because it contains in concentrated form the very elements of nature which go directly to form nervous energy.

Mrs. G. Thompson, 240 Munroe St., Toronto, Ont., states: "I was very much run down in health, and whenever I exerted myself more than usual I had severe attacks of splitting headache, and was very nervous, so much so that I could not rest well at nights. After using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I found that my nerves were steadied; I could rest and sleep better than I have for a long time, and was entirely free of headaches. I can speak very highly of this preparation for nervous trouble."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE FEMININE MIND.

Some Men Think They Fathom It, but They Are Mistaken.

A man can very seldom tell what is passing in a woman's mind. He talks with another man, and he can follow his processes; he gets his point of view; he can read between the lines; he can make a shrewd guess as to how he came to say that or why he refrained from saying the other, says the Watchman.

But a woman's mental processes are not those of a man. Her mental machinery is geared differently. You hear what she tells you. You can make inferences from it. They will be wrong because you do not know how she came to say what she did; you do not have the clew. Try to guess what she will say next, and you will find that you are all at sea.

The man who says that he understands woman is himself a woman. No man can understand a woman. He may love her. There may exist between his soul and hers that indefinable and celestial sympathy which is the sweetest thing on earth, but he does not understand her.

Her mental operation, her ways of thought, her point of view, will always be as inscrutable to him as the mental processes of an angel. Whether women understand each other is not quite certain. A greater part of the delight that men find in the companionship of women arises from their inscrutability. You cannot measure or exhaust them.

Their charming inconsequence, as it seems to you, will never cease to puzzle you, and every fresh conversation reveals a novelty of attitude or opinion.

SHREWD VICTOR HUGO.

The Quiet Way In Which He Baffled the Theatrical Managers.

Here are the methods which Dumas the elder and Victor Hugo employed when they had a new play to offer to the theater. Dumas would write to the director of the Porte St. Martin:

> My Dear Friend—I shall bring you on Monday a play in five acts. I shall need Mlle. Georges, Mme. Dorval, Bocage, Lockroy, Provost and five new scenes.

This extravagance would alarm the director, who would put off the production of the play till better days.

Then Victor Hugo would appear and shyly draw a manuscript out of his pocket. He would agree to everything. The stock company would play his piece admirably, since all he wanted was a good ensemble; no new decorations would be needed nor any change at all.

So the piece would be read, and as the roles were distributed Hugo would say musingly, "Dieu, how fine Frederick would be in that part!" "That is true," Horel would murmur, and a few days after he would announce that Frederick was engaged. Hugo would then remonstrate that this destroyed the equipose of the cast and Raucourt, Laferriere and Mlle. Georges would be engaged. Then Hugo would attack the stage setting. Old scenes, that the public had tired of, were almost an insult to these great artists. If Horel showed reluctance at this, Hugo would threaten to withdraw his piece. And so the game would go on, till, little by little, Hugo had obtained everything he wanted, even to changing the paper hangings in the stage boxes.

Jim O'Brien's Epitaph.

"I suppose our western country has furnished more funny things in the epitaph line than all the rest of the world," remarked a Colorado ex-congressman.

"I remember one that adorned the cemetery at Leadville in the palmy days of that great mining camp. It seems that in the course of a barroom broil one Jim O'Brien, a well known character, had his existence terminated prematurely. He was a good fellow in the main and not without friends. One of the dead man's associates, in deep grief over his demise, erected a wooden slab over his grave on which he had written in large letters:

> "Jim O'Brien departed for heaven at 9:30 a. m.

"A local humorist happened along soon afterward and appended the following:

> "Heaven, 4:20 p. m.—O'Brien not yet arrived. Intense excitement. The worst is feared."

Love of Country.

For the love of country, as such, it would be difficult to decide between the highlander of Scotland and the mountain born inhabitants of the Tyrol. Both will wander in search of fortune to the ends of the world and yet look back to their native mountains as their only real home. The same is true of the Swiss, although in a lesser degree. It is a very singular fact that inhabitants of mountainous countries possess this feeling of attachment in a much intenser form than those of flat countries.

Lacked Heart.

"Once there was a lawyer out near Galesburg," said an Illinois congressman, "who made a brilliant defense in a certain case. Men praised his effort. 'Will he make his mark for ability as an advocate?' some one asked. 'No,' replied the veteran lawyer. 'His ability begins here at the Adam's apple and extends upward. He must have something under his left breast.'" The congressman cited this as an example why some speeches fall in the house of representatives.

Never Failing.

Sister—What is the best way to retain a man's love?

Brother—Don't return it.

A woman does not begin to command until she has promised to obey.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

IN MANDALAY.

Thousands of Pagoda Bells Ring at the Setting of the Sun.

Mandalay has its own sky, soft and gray and incurving like a tent, with white cloud lines that seem meant for scrolls if one could read. It is the Very Sacred City, the city of contemplation, the city of all the monks. A thousand pagoda bells give tongue to the wind there when the sun goes down; a crumbling thousand more give up to time the testimony of outworn things.

It lies in a curved arm of blue hills, and something broods over it with solicitude. This you suspect from the air of the place and the way the shrill talk of the parrots and the complaint of the goats and the laughter of the people come to you wherever you are sitting. Afterward you go out, as I did that morning with the commissioner, and see under the very zenith, where the low gray sky is caught up, the square of the dark red crenellated walls of the old royal city, three miles each way, and outside the walls the parallel clear moat thinking back at the sky, and then you are sure that over and above the government of India some spirit is in possession here, some spirit that bends in affection over finished and forgotten things.

Seven roofed kiosks stand at intervals over the gates in the wall—they are called pyathat, but they strike the eye like peaceful conclusions—and low white stone bridges raised in the middle span the moat. The buttresses of the gates are painted deep gray and white, and the bank that slants steeply from the wall to the water has here and there a low, twisted, spreading tree on it, purely for decoration. You may stop at a corner and look two ways along the reflecting water, with bridge after bridge receding across, and pyathat after pyathat diminishing above, and each red and gray and white vista so picked out and finished under the quiet light slipping adorably into the near blue of the hills.

Mandalay seemed aware with bunting that day, flags and arches of welcome everywhere and crowds flocking—aware and almost awake—but you looked again and saw that she only turned in her sleep and smiled, as at a dream.—Exchange.

JAPANESE JOTTINGS.

Chrysanthemums served as a salad are a favorite article of diet among the Japanese.

At a Japanese banquet it is considered a compliment to exchange cups with a friend.

Japanese cooks are the most cruel in the world. They cut every atom of flesh off a living fish piecemeal without first causing death.

The lower class of the Japanese employ hardly any other material than paper for their clothing. Where wages are exceedingly low, cloth is an impossible extravagance.

Every hotel in Japan has a fan, special to itself, containing a view of the hotel and a blessing from the writings of Confucius. One of these is always given to the departing guest.

Many Japanese women are undergoing the slight surgical operation necessary to straighten the slant of the eyelid, which distinguishes them so unmistakably from Caucasian women.

The Japanese eat more fish than any other people in the world. With them meat eating is a foreign innovation, confined to the rich, or, rather, to those rich people who prefer it to the national diet.

Birds' Eggs Too Much For Science.

It is not often that science acknowledges herself at fault in an apparently simple matter, but she frankly does so in regard to the color and marking of a large proportion of birds' eggs. A reason there must be for their infinite diversity; it cannot be an aesthetic one, and all we can say with any confidence is that the ever pervading instinct of distrust is probably exhibited in eggshells as in more important things, and the main idea in their scheme of coloration has been the securing of safety from many enemies by harmonizing them with their surroundings. But it is a scheme full of perplexing exceptions, which any one can study for himself.

Preaching Monkeys.

The author of "The History of Brazil" tells of a species of monkey called "preachers." Every morning and evening these monkeys assemble in the woods. One takes a higher position than the rest and makes a signal with his fore paw. At this signal the others sit around him and listen. When they are all seated, he begins to utter a series of sounds. When he stops these cries, he makes another signal with his paw, and the others cry out until he makes a third signal, upon which they become silent again. This author, Mr. Maregrove, asserts that he was a witness to these preachings.

No Rash Remarks.

"Mrs. McSmith is a very queer widow."

"Queer in what way?"

"No one has ever heard her say she wouldn't marry the best man that ever lived."

Accidentally.

Hoax—How did he make his money?

Joax—Quite by accident.

Hoax—How was that?

Joax—He lost a leg in a railroad wreck and recovered damages.

Close Resemblance.

"Contentment," said Uncle Eben, "is a mighty fine thing. But de trouble about it is dat it is kin' o' hahd to 'stinguish fum plain laziness."—Washington Star.

FRUITS OF FREEDOM.

Canada to Play a Great Part in the Future of the Empire—A Granary to Feed the World.

The Colonial Premiers and their Ministers were dined by the Canadian Club of London at the Trocadero restaurant; Lord Strathcona presided. It is astonishing the amount of vitality in the High Commissioner. He moves about and talks like a man at fifty. The Lord Mayor was there, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Edmund Barton, Sir Robert Bond, Sir William Mulock, Hon. W. Paterson, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Lord Derby, Lord Ashbourne, Sir John Anderson, Mr. C. M. Hays, Hon. Dr. Montague, General Haly, Hon. H. T. Duffy, Hon. H. Peters, Hon. F. Haultain, Mr. J. S. Colmer, C.M.G., and quite a distinguished company.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was loudly cheered, after expressing his appreciation of the overwhelming warmth of English hospitality and of the kind terms in which the Lord Mayor had referred to him, went on to say that his Lordship had spoken of Canada in language of great encomium, but, great as his encomium was, Canada deserved it all. (Cheers.) The Lord Mayor had said that the free institutions with which they were blessed in 1867 had maintained the loyalty of Canada. They had done more—they had enhanced the loyalty of Canada. (Cheers.) This was a free country, and a man was always welcome to speak his mind to a British audience. Let him say this, then, that if it had not been for the charter of liberty which Canada has received, the condition of things would perhaps have been different. In 1837, the first year of her late Majesty's reign, Canada was in a turmoil of excitement. There was rebellion in the French province of Quebec; there were rebels also in the British province of Ontario. The rebellion, was, in his opinion, quite justified by the unworthy system which then obtained, and by the attempt to rule what ought to have been a free people by methods which did not suit them. But in 1899, when they had a free charter, when they had a Parliament to which the Government of the day were responsible, when they had all the blessings of responsible government in the same measure in which the people of England enjoyed them—at that time, when the authority of Her Majesty was threatened in distant parts of her dominions, the very sons of the rebels of 1837 were the first to go to the rescue and take their coats off to maintain the domination of the Queen in South Africa. (Cheers.) That was the result of the wise policy which had been followed in regard to Canada and the other colonies of Great Britain. The 19th century had been in Great Britain, a century prolific in reforms: but in all the reforms which had been effected in that memorable period there was none which had been so prolific in great and useful results as the concession to the colonies of the power to govern themselves in accordance with their own will and with what they believed to be their own interests. (Cheers.) Canada was blessed not only with a good system of government, but she was also blessed with a good climate—cold in winter, very cold; warm in summer, very warm; but always dry, cheering and invigorating, and full of exhilaration. After describing the great strides which Canada had made during the last 100 years Sir Wilfrid Laurier went on to say that there was absolute certainty that Canada would be the granary of Great Britain. At the present time there was in Canada an ocean of ripening grain of a quality unsurpassed in the world, and as for quantity, in a few years there would be enough to feed the whole of Great Britain, nay the whole of Europe. (Cheers.) The one thing only which they wanted in Canada at the present time was population. They had a population of five million and a little more; they had room and land to give homes and shelter to a hundred millions at least, and by-and-by, as he hoped in a not very distant future, they would have within the bounds of Canada a population of a hundred millions. (Cheers.) They were going to repeat the history of the United States, and he thought that in so saying he was not over-confident. But when he came to England and saw the distressed condition of many of our people it was always to him a matter of some surprise that no greater efforts were made by the people of this country to send over their poor surplus population to that vast land of Western Canada. The Canadian Government was doing it share. It had emigration agents in all parts of Europe, but it preferred the people of those northern races to which we all belonged, because, after all, they were the best of all men in a new country. But no matter where they came from—Great Britain, or Ireland, or Norway, or France, or Germany, or Hungary, or the United States also—they treated them all in the same way and turned them out good Canadians one and all. (Cheers.) The Canadian Government gave 160 acres of land to every boy of eighteen years of age, who would make it a home, and the price they asked was that he should take a good wife and bring up his children upon the land. Not one dollar did they require from him. They offered further advantages, and on these conditions they opened their domain to all the destitute of Europe. If the poor of Great Britain who were longing for work, and who would be the best of settlers, would go to Canada, they would be in a few years, prosperous men with homes for themselves and families. If he had a request to make of the Canadian Club it was that they would second the efforts of the Canadian Government, and send emigrants to Canada. The more we sent population to Canada, the more we would bind her to our heart, and the more we should have that condition which we all hoped for the British Empire, of which he, a British subject not of British origin, was just as proud as any one to-day.

A Sure Cure for Headaches. — Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Will be Found an Excellent Remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

The Well Known Strengthening Properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer Complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of "Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup," and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation. —Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

UNTOLD MISERY — WHAT A WELL-KNOWN COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER SUFFERED, AND HOW HE WAS CURED.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time travelling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished, I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of Dyspepsia. (Signed), T. S. McINTEE.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

He Has Tried It.—Mr. John Anderson, Kimloss, writes: "I venture to say few, if any, have received greater benefit from the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, than I have. I have used it regularly for over ten years, and have recommended it to all sufferers I knew of, and they also found it of great virtue in cases of severe bronchitis and incipient consumption."

Wedding and Funeral

FLOWERS

At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

MASSASSAGA.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Valleau were visiting friends at Mountain View on Sunday.

Miss Bertie Seeley, of Wallbridge, and Miss Blanche Seeley, of Stirling, were the guests of Mrs. Harry Jose during the past week.

Mr. Tracy Wallbridge spent Sunday at Mr. S. S. Potter's, Mountain View.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lent were visiting Mrs. Lent's parents at Fish Lake, Sophiasburg, on Sunday.

Mr. German Seeley, of Wallbridge, spent Sunday the guest of his sister, Mrs. Percy Catherall.

Mrs. Robt. Pye, of Lake Shore, was the guest of her sister, Miss Bessie Wallbridge, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Prest and family, of Belleville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jose over Sunday.

Messrs. Willet, Milton and Wyatt Lent, of Chicago, and Eli Lent, of Toronto, attended the funeral of their mother, the late Mrs. Lent, on Friday last. Rev Dr. Gardiner, of Belleville, attended the same funeral on Friday. Dr. Gardiner was a well known and highly respected minister in our neighborhood over fifty years ago.

Mr. Manly Snider has been confined to the house suffering severely with lung trouble.

Mrs Anderson, our popular Bible Class teacher, has been confined to her room for the past fortnight with severe illness.

Miss Maudie Jose has been under the doctor's care for some time past. Little hopes were entertained for her recovery till lately; she is now somewhat better.

Mr. Roy Welsh, of Mountain View, was present on Sunday evening at the League and delivered an address.

Mr. A. M. Weese, president of the Ameliasburg Agricultural Association, and Mr. D. A. Anderson, director, attended the meeting of the Association at Roblin's Mills on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Joseph Simonds has harvested 100 loads of hay this season.

Month After Month a cold sticks, and seems to tear holes in your throat Are you aware that even a stubborn and long-neglected cold is cured with Allen's Lung Balsam? Cough and worry no longer.

Cheese Makers Being Driven Out of the Business.

Why are some patrons or suppliers of milk so careless or negligent in supplying milk to a cheese factory? This great injury to the cheese trade is being carried on by a large number of patrons in Prince Edward, East, West and part of North Hastings, and also part of Northumberland and Addington. And why they will still persist in carrying on this great evil, injuring their own reputation as a cheese producing country, causing a larger number of pounds of milk to be necessary for a pound of cheese, as well as increasing the cost, also driving cheese makers out of the business, is the question of the day.

It is my opinion that there is not one patron supplying milk to a cheese factory but what fully understands the quality of milk he should supply. But still there are some patrons sending milk in old rusty cans not properly cleansed, the lids of which seem to be forgotten altogether.

I am furnishing each president a printed report of my visit at each factory, the conditions of factory, a list of names of patrons sending milk off in flavor caused from cans not being properly cleansed, also a report of the quality of the cheese.

Milk requires to be cared for in the best possible manner, aerated and strained in a pure atmosphere, and in warm weather cooled with ice or water to a temperature of 60 degs.

H. HOWEY,
Milk Inspector.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co's.

If a jailbird doesn't fly it isn't his fault.

It's About Over

OUR SWEEP-OUT SHOE SALE

Of the season's remnants.

This week will likely bring it to a close. Some of the best Bargains for the last. Don't miss this opportunity.

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

Daily Intelligencer.

THE RAINFALL.

The rainfall for the month of July has been, the meteorological report of the Dominion says, is largely above the average. In Ontario, east of Lake Superior, the average, especially from Georgian Bay south to Lake Erie was exceeded by from 3 to 3 inches over. East of Lake Ontario, some excessive falls were noted, noticeably Peterboro', 5.9 inches, and Port Hope 5.7 inches. Alberta rainfall was also generally above the average, ranging from two-tenths of an inch in the northern portion to over 2 inches in the southern portion. The rainfall at Calgary of 5 inches, making in all for the three months of May, June and July no less than 23.7 inches, is a phenomenal amount, when it is considered that the average mean annual precipitation for this station is only 15 inches. Elsewhere throughout Canada the rainfall was below the average, but in British Columbia, Quebec and in the greater part of Assiniboia and Saskatchewan to a small extent only. In Manitoba it was from 1 to nearly 2 inches below, and in the Maritime Provinces it was from 1 1-2 to nearly 3 inches less than the average, several districts in the latter Provinces complaining of damage owing to drouth.

REFORM CLUBS AND PATRONAGE.

A writer in the Montreal Star, of the 16th Aug., says:

> "To-day the Reform Club of a certain town not a hundred miles from Ottawa, and where it might be supposed that Christianity and civilization had been heard of, are appointing a committee to demand the wholesale dismissal of all the employees of one branch of one of the departments, not because the employees are unfitted for their work, or because they have been neglectful, but, forsooth, because that town did not return a supporter of the Liberal Government in Ontario at the recent provincial election."

Why that's nothing new. In this city such an organization has been in existence ever since the Grits came into power, and effected the dismissal of nearly the whole of the post office staff,; not because they were inefficient, but on the plea of economy, which has, as every one knew would be the case, rendered the post office one of the worst managed offices in the Dominion; there being but one or two clerks who know their business. Inexperienced and ill-paid officials are not likely to give satisfaction.

TIMELY TOPICS.

The excursion season is not dead yet. Both the Niagara and the Aletha took out large crowds yesterday.

• • •

"Yankee" Curtis says that the Mills could be used to advantage as a "Burdock Blood Bitters factory." This remark is superfluous. The Mills will run again as sure as "Yankee" lives, and for no such a purpose as he suggests,

• • •

One of these days the Timely Topics man will be giving our readers an up-to-date fish story. He was seen coming home the other day, after an all-day fishing trip, with two beauties about 6 inches long. If he mentions anything larger don't believe it.

• • •

Possibly the fact that the Boer Generals didn't wait to see the British naval review may be the outcome of the retiring habits they acquired during the war.

• • •

A great white metal industry in Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, is to base its prosperity on the cheap and unobstructed supply of raw material from Ontario. Michigan statesmanship seems to have the knack of reaping where Ontario statesmanship has sown.—Telegram.

This is what Ontario suffers from keeping a lot of incompetents in office.

• • •

Strikes galore are the order of the day. Nearly every day we read of them. The latest is that eighteen union moulders struck at the Gurney foundry works on the 18th August. The firm claims that it has men enough, and the men declare that they are out for a fight to a finish.

• • •

The piano workers in Bowmanville are taking a holiday. The travelling organizer who lives luxuriantly at the expense of his dupes, gives as a reason, that some of the employees received only 85 cents per day. The Secretary of the Company says this is a fib, that there is not one of the men working in the factory who receives less than $1.50 per day. People can do without pianos. Give them a long holiday.

• • •

Mr. Chamberlain has told a deputation that the $1,250,000 recently voted by the British Parliament is all the relief the West Indian sugar planters can look for in that quarter. It is complained that the sum is inadequate. So would be any sum that Parliament could grant.—Montreal Gazette.

Give the planters of the West Indies protection in the English market against foreign beet root sugar, and the sugar industries in British colonies would revive.

• • •

The Montreal Gazette commenting upon "the rumor that Sir Wilfrid is likely to retire into some snug berth," says of the "coming man":

> "The alleged ambition of Mr. Tarte to succeed him should have a fair chance of being satisfied," and he is. The most energetic of the ministers, courageous, resourceful, making himself acquainted with all parts of the country and all parts of the country acquainted with himself, the finger of destiny points to Mr. Tarte as the man to head the Government he directs, should events make a new leader necessary. A Tarte-Cartwright administration would be the thing exactly."

Gee-hu! What is in store for us?

• • •

A statement has been issued on behalf of the Boer Generals that the reason for their not attending the review of the fleet was that they had no clothes fit for such a dress occasion. Are the people of England not making too much of these heroes?

• • •

The Dominion Iron & Steel Company has received an order from the Consolidated Gas Company, of New York City, for 25,000 tons of coke.

• • •

The output of the Dominion Coal Company for the past year, according to Managing Director Jas. Ross, will be considerably over three million tons. The output for the preceding year was a little over a million and a half tons. The Steel Company is now the biggest consumer of the Coal Company's product.

• • •

Sir Richard Cartwright is the forlorn hope of the free traders against the protectionists. If Sir Richard Cartwright is their only hope free trade is in for another knock-out. The old failure cannot do any more for free trade than he has done for economy; nor will he jeopardize his position for principle.

• • •

The value of Ontario timber limits is illustrated in a sale the other day by the Hill Company, of Michigan, to the Edwards Company, of Ottawa, of a limit in the Temiskaming region for which over $300,000 was paid. Had this source of wealth been husbanded by our Ontario rulers, instead of being frittered away for comparatively nothing, to enable a Grit Government to keep the "pot boiling," there would be no deficit.

• • •

Perhaps the German Emperor will put up a barrier against Yankee girls, classing them along with Yankee sausage.

• • •

We feel sorry for Mr. Schwab. He will have to retire with only twenty or twenty-five millions with which to keep the wolf from the door.

• • •

With a heavy duty on soap, Cuba takes her stand among those nations who do not deem it a necessary of life.

• • •

Statistics show that there are 18,348 of Europe's nobility in prison. The rest of them are married to American girls.—Buffalo Times.

ST. THOMAS' S. S. OUTING

A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR AND A DELIGHT TO ALL.

The annual S.S. excursion and picnic of St. Thomas' Church was held yesterday to Twelve O'Clock Point per "Str. Niagara." The day was an ideal one, the weather being simply perfect, and every detail of the arrangements, from first to last, was all that could be desired. The early boat carried the scholars with their teachers and friends, and the afternoon trip added greatly to their numbers. In all over five hundred were in attendance during the day.

An excellent programme of sports was carried out, each event being strongly contested, and prizes were given at the close to the successful race competitors, as follows:

Boys under 8 years.—1. Bert Alford; 2. Chas. McConnell.

Girls under 8 years.—1. Emma Hutchinson; 2. Grace Parker.

Boys under 10 years.—1. Bertram Collip; 2. Harry Parker.

Girls under 10 years.—1. Eva Harker; 2. Isabella Stewart.

Boys under 12 years. — 1. Arthur Spangenberg; 2. Ned Farrow.

Girls under 12 years — 1. Greta Stork; 2. Marjorie McCuaig.

Boys under 16 years.—1. Joe Wallbridge; 2. Fred Nevery.

Girls under 16 years.—1. G. Stork; 2. Olive Stewart.

Sack race.—1. Joe Wallbridge; 2. A. Spangenberg.

Three-Legged race.—1. Philp and Nevery; 2. Newton and Alford.

Girls' Consolation race.—1. W. Harker; 2. O. Stewart.

Boys' 220 yards race.—1. Joe Wallbridge; 2. Harry Mitchell; 3. Fred Nevery.

The Cosmopolitan Character of the MAGI Caledonia Springs demonstrates the Wide-spread reputation of these great curative Baths and Waters

A UNION THAT IS STRENGTH

Malt Breakfast Food

IS A DELICIOUS COMBINATION OF PURE MALT AND THE CHOICEST WHEAT.

A BREAKFAST RELISH FOR THE STRONG AND WEAK.

Thousands of people dare not use oatmeal in any form, as they find it has a tendency to irritate the stomach, excite heat and redness of the skin and produce eruptions. Then again, cracked wheat and other cereals contain too much insoluble starch, which retards digestion.

Malt Breakfast Food is the king of foods for weak and strong stomachs. It does not contain a particle of insoluble starch, it is partially predigested, therefore does not tax the powers of digestion. Malt Breakfast Food contains a much greater amount of body and brain nutriment than other foods. It is the most delicious of all foods. It pleases every palate and becomes a fast favorite in homes where it is tried. Ask your Grocer for it; take no other.

Reason and Instinct.

A certain north country miner was particularly proud of a clever little dog he possessed. At times he was apt to claim a little too much for his pet, and one morning a neighbor was endeavoring to point out the difference between instinct and reason when an amusing interruption occurred.

A seedy looking tramp turned the corner, and the dog, without so much as a word from his master, sprang into the road and offered battle.

"There you are," laughed the miner as the dog snapped and snarled round the heels of the tramp; "'e don't like the look of the chap. That's instinct."

Suddenly the tramp turned and kicked the dog into an adjacent field.

"There you are," ejaculated the miner's friend grimly. "The chap don't like the look of the dog. An' that's reason."—London Tit-Bits.

"FOOT ELM" KEEPS THE FEET COOL

NOTHING LIKE IT TO KEEP THE FEET COOL, SWEET AND COMFORTABLE DURING THE HOT WEATHER.

Every summer plenty of people are puzzled to know what to do to keep their feet cool. They suffer so much from hot, burning, aching, sweating feet that walking is absolute misery.

A "Foot Elm" powder in each shoe will transform a pair of bothersome, burning feet into cool, comfortable feet, and make walking a pleasure. Try it, and see if it won't.

Price 25 cents a box at all druggists or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont. Do not accept a substitute.

Women Filemakers.

American emancipation of women embraces not only the upper classes, but the working classes as well, so much so that Americans reading the following item from an English trade paper receive a genuine shock of surprise:

"The census returns for Yorkshire show that in that country there are 402 women engaged at home in filemaking."

Hard manual, mechanical labor is a good deal of a rarity in this country.

It costs $2 a year to be protected to the extent of $5 a week indemnity against Typhoid, Typhus and Scarlet Fever, Smallpox, Diphtheria, Varioloid, Measles, Meningitis, Pneumonia, Pleurisy, Erysipelas, Appendicitis, Diabetes, Peritonitis, Lock-jaw, Asatic Cholera, Carbuncle. Hunt & Jeffers, opposite the Post Office, are agents for a thoroughly responsible company that offers this protection. They handle all kinds of Accident Insurance.

The above indemnity will not be paid for more than six months. Are you safe from any one of these?

My Hair Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow because it is a hair-food. It feeds the hair and the hair grows, that's all there is to it. It stops falling of the hair, too, and restores color to gray hair.

$1. All druggists.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russsian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Help Wanted.

4 Young Men who are good solderers to work on lanterns.

2 Young Men, 16 or 17 years of age, to work on presses.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

We Don't Guess

When we fit Glasses. We have the scientific Instruments for determining and correcting any and all defects of vision — no matter the nature of your case, if your Glasses do not suit you perfectly, call on us.

We Fit Any Eye That Responds to Light

You are invited to call. We delight in showing our methods and equipment.

ALEX. RAY.

If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

The fellow who borrows 50 cents is content to do things by halves.

English Fruit Salt

—PLEASANT
—COOLING
—REFRESHING.

One large bottle - 40c

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville,

Are You Going to Paint this Fall?

No better time of the year in which to paint. The weather is more settled and you don't have to contend with the spring rains and fogs. Then again, all Paints are liable to be dearer next Spring. The S.W.P. will give good satisfaction, save you money and wear longer. $1.60 per gallon. Paint for barns, etc., $1.00 gall.

WATERS'

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting. Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y, STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 21.

STOCK	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	92¼	93	92	92
do. pref.	102½	102⅜	101¾	101⅞
C. P. R.	139⅞	140½	138½	138¼
Ills. Cen'.	169¼	169¼	168	168
U. S. Steel	41⅝	41⅝	40⅞	41
do. pref.	99½	90⅜	89⅞	89⅞
W. Union	94	94¾	93⅞	94½
Pc.	104⅝	104⅞	104	104
Manhattan	135	135½	134¾	134¾
Erie	40⅜	40½	39¼	39¼
do pref.	69½	69½	69	69
L. & N.	158	158	154¾	154¾
Mo. P.	117¼	117⅞	116	116½
Nor.	70⅞	70⅞	69⅜	69⅜
N. Y. C.	164½	164⅜	163	163½
Reading	68	68⅜	67¼	67½
do pref.	86½	86⅜	86½	86⅜
St. Paul	186⅝	186⅞	184¾	184⅞
South Pac.	73¼	74	73	73⅜
Sou. Ry.	41¼	41½	40⅜	40⅜
Union. Pac.	109¼	109¼	108⅜	108⅜
Amn. Loco.	32¾	32¾	32⅜	32⅜
Penna	160¼	160¼	159½	159¼
B & O.	110	110	108⅞	108⅞
C. & O.	54⅜	54½	53¾	53⅞
Alton	43¾	44½	43⅞	43⅜
H. V.	101⅜	101⅜	100	100
Texas	53	54	52¼	52¾
Soo	70½	70½	67½	68

Sept. wheat opened at 70 5-8, closed at 71 5-8.

Sept. corn opened at 53 1-4, closed at 57.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS.

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 21.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers.
C. P. R.	139 3-4	139
Toronto Railway	121 3-4	121
Twin City	128	127 3-4
Con. Lake Superior	28	27 1-2
Dom. Coal	143	142
Dom. Iron & Steel	76 1-2	75
Nova Scotia Steel	114	113
Sao Paulo	107 1-2	107 3-8

(Changed daily)

Tuesday, August 21, 1902.

SNAP SHOTS

Many of our customers are taking many snapshots these days of our bargain tables. We keep these tables well replenished each and every week, keep putting on better articles for the money every time. So it's worth your while to keep in touch with these tables.

OUR DECORATING

Is proving a huge success, everybody pleased to the uttermost, pleased wives, pleased husbands and pleased decorator. We have the same ability to please in decorating that we have in our wall paper selections, same as in our Framing, same as in our stationery and book departments.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

The students and scholars all know us for school supplies and books, know that we have everything they want, the best kind and the lowest prices.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Papar Wholesale & Retail

DR. McLEAN ON INDIANS.

Some Interesting Information About Those [illegible]

Rev. Dr. McLean, of Carman, Man., in a recent talk on our Northwest Indians said that when he first went west he had not mastered the Indian language so to speak the Gospel he had to employ an interpreter. This man, a curious sort of being, between a negro and an Indian, demanded a dollar an hour. When his hour was up he would turn to Dr. McLean and the sermon was at an end.

Dr. McLean tells of the effect of the climate upon the Indian. Along the rugged coast of British Columbia the redman was short in stature and vigorous in action, with strong passions and by nature artists. Where the indentations in the coast are greatest there reside the more rugged and the more literate. The coast Indian was contrasted with the big-bodied inland Indian, with his undeveloped brain. The Indian who lived inland was too lazy to either work or fight.

The languages of the different races of the Indians were spoken of by Dr. McLean, who probably has mastered more of the languages than any other white man in the west. Indeed, it has been said that Dr. McLean could speak every Indian language. He however, did not claim any such achievement, for he told those present at the talk there were 1,500 languages and if he could speak them all, then he guessed he might be admitted to a professorship in Victoria University.

In the mind of Dr. McLean the Cree language is just as beautiful as the Greek. The struggles of Dr. McLean in mastering the language were told in a most interesting way. The speaker did not think there was a dialect or language on the face of the earth that did not have beautiful laws. God had made all laws or language as real as the laws of nature. He believed there was a connection between religion and language, and said that the language of mankind showed the Divine hand.

Next Dr. McLean dealt with the history of the Indian missions of the Northwest. The work was begun in 1840 at Norway House, when James Evans tramped out to that point. Associated with him as missionaries were George Barnley, Robert Rundell and William Mason. Now Barnley is living in England, while Mason went over to the English church and is a clergyman. Mason traveled to Norway House to assist Evans in the translation of the Bible into Cree. A printing press could not be taken into that country because of the opposition of the Hudson Bay Company. Evans made moulds out of lead from tea chests and cut types out of wood. These were stamped in the Indian language on birch bark. Evans, and not Mason, was the first man to translate the Bible into Cree syllabic characters. The Esquimax now had a syllabic system of writing similar to that invented by Evans.

It was George McDougall who started the mission in the "Devil's Playground, close to the Old Man's River in Alberta, where previous to the eighties the buffalo roamed in great numbers. McDougall was frozen to death during a snow storm in 1876, returning from a buffalo hunt near Calgary.

The Indians of the west had three kinds of schools—day schools, boarding school and industrial schools.

The lamentations of a squaw when she loses her papoose were narrated by Dr. McLean. Once he met a squaw who had buried her baby by hanging it up in the cleft of a tree. She was very scantily clothed on this mournful occasion, while the day before she had been well clothed and had plenty of beads. Her lower limbs were cut and bleeding, and she had cut a finger off with a knife. She went about wailing, "Come back! Oh, come back!" All of the Indian finery which she had discarded she believed would go to the happy hunting grounds with the papoose.

Dr. McLean said that civilization was finding its way among the redmen. He had influenced an Indian chief to bury his son. The Indian, however, would only have the body placed a foot under ground.

Chased by a Mother Bear.

On one occasion Alex Tremblay, the Parry Sound hunter and trapper, took a number of traps out to set district. Leaving his musket and evof a small lake, in the Parry Sound them at various points on the shores erything but traps and a tomahawk in the canoe, he went ashore, and was returning after setting his last trap, when he saw a bear cub running around in an open patch of ground. He went towards it, and the little animal seeing him, climbed up a tree, and squatted on a branch about twenty feet above the ground gravely regarding its pursuer. Mr. Tremblay cut a pole some eighteen or twenty inches in length, attached a slip cord to it, and dangled it in front of the cub. The latter at first sniffed suspiciously at the contrivance, but unable to resist the temptation attempted to hit the dangling loop with one of its little paws. The next moment the paw was caught, and the cub was gently lowered to the ground, protesting against the indignity with faint squeakings. The loop was quickly unfastened. Mr. Tremblay took the cub in his arms and started to walk leisurely towards his canoe. Then the squeak of the little captive was suddenly answered by a deeper cry. The hunter turned, saw the mother of the bear coming toward him at full speed. "Then hee's (I) run," says Mr. Tremblay when telling the story, "never so fast in hee's life." Straight to the canoe he ran, threw the cub into the craft, seized his musket, turned and shot the mother bear, which was within ten paces of him. The cub throve in captivity, and was afterwards sold to a Hudson Bay factor. When asked why he did not throw the cub away as soon as the chase commenced, he answered smilingly, "Hee's not tink about dat until eets all done."

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.

Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c ue.

Reading advertisements, 15c per line.

Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual or contract rates.

Minimum space, 10 lines.

Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion.

Births, 25c each insertion.

Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.

All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.

Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

FOR SALE.

Two steam barges, one 110 ft. long, 22 ft. beam; the other 97 ft. long, 16 ft. beam. Both in good running order. S. W. Marchment & Co., 103 Victoria St., Toronto. 19-6t

HOUSES FOR SALE.

The undersigned have received instructions to sell at once the following properties in the City of Belleville.

1. Frame house, N. E. corner of Everett St. and Bridge St.

2. Small frame house, east side of Everett street, first house north of Bridge street,

All above houses are now occupied by monthly tenants. These properties can be purchased upon reasonable terms and low prices.

Other City properties to rent and to sell. Further particulars will be given upon application to

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Solicitors, 9 Campbell St.

June 28, 1902. 1y-8-10-12d

Shoe Bargains

Men's Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.25
Boys' Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.00
Men's Fine Lace Boots	$1.15
Boys' Fine Lace Boots	.85
Men's Canvas Boots or Low Shoes	$1.00
Men's Dongola Kid Congress	$1.20
Men's Patent leather lace Boots	$2.00
Children's Button Boots or Slippers	.25

A. W. Vermilyea & Son

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION

Decrees that for every particle of dirt there is a corresponding particle to neutralize it.

Dirt being an ever accumulating and growing quantity, can never be completely gotten rid of, but its presence can be reduced to the minimum by the use of the proper antidote.

HUDSON'S DRY SOAP is an allsoap soap. A soap in which every dry atom is an active principle. In purchasing it you get soap and not half soap and half water. That is "ECONOMY."

Cleanse your house and everything in it, from your kitches dishes and your clothes, to the jewelery and silver that adorns yourself and your table, in half the ordinary time. That is "MORE ECONOMY."

The "MOST ECONOMY" is in the price.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at

SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.

Good going August 30th and 31st, returning good until September 2nd, 1902.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR

TORONTO

September 1st to 13th.

Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.

Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75

All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.

For particulars and information apply to agents.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.

T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

Never is time more precious than when some member of the family is attacked by colic, dysentery or any bowel trouble. The doctor is distant but if Perry Davis' Painkiller is near all danger is soon ended.

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited
BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Mon day(at 11.60 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester ar 3.25 a.m. daily (ex cept Monday) and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to
U. E. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston,

EXCURSION
PER
Str. "NIAGARA"
To PICTON
Saturday [Afternoon,] Aug. 23.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.

2 hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.
THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.
TIME TABLE
Commencing April 10th, 1902.
Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee
Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 5 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leave Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $3.40;
Return, $5.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO'Y, Local Agents
J. F CHAPMAN.
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA
A. HICKS, Captain.

(Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.
Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec. (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.
$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont,
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont,

Wilson's
Fly Pads
.. (POISON) ..
Sure Death to Flies
Clean, Safe, Effectual.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.
J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

Never is time more precious than when some member of the family is attacked by colic, dysentery or any bowel trouble. The doctor is distant but if Perry Davis' Painkiller is near all danger is soon ended.

AMONG BLACKFOOTS.

INTERESTING RESULTS OF A BLOCKADE ON THE C.P.R.

The Bow River's Work—Imperial Limited Brought to a Standstill—Guests of the C.P.R.—A Detroiter's Find—Bushels of Mushrooms Daily—Sketch of the Blackfoots—Men Thrifty and Women Marvels of Dexterity.

We were aboard No. 1, the C.P.R. westbound, and it was the 4th of July. We pulled into Medicine Hat long after twilight, and were informed by the porter that there was a washout ahead, and we were to lie in the siding all night. The Americans aboard fired their last bunch of firecrackers, and the porter, after the manner of his kind, bundled us all into our births, and the following morning the C.P.R. did a great and memorable thing. It pulled us one hundred and twenty-five miles west, then tied us up for forty-eight hours at Gleichen, in the heart of the Blackfoot Indian reserve.

No spot on the entire system of the great transcontinental highway could have been of so intense interest and few more beautiful.

We had not halted very long when the pride and delight of the true Canadian's heart—the "Imperial Limited"—roared up abaft, and in another twelve hours a second "No. 1," stood in to harbor, and then we learned the truth—two bridges down, one east, one west, of Calgary. No. 2 struck at Banff; the Imperial Limited, eastbound, tied up the gods alone knew where. Never in the history of the C.P.R., has traffic been so congested, never has the great Imperial Limited ceased its ninety-seven hour career across continent. That criminal little Bow River has done what saint nor satan, fiend nor fairy, could never dare to do; it has brought the great panting transcontinental flyer to a standstill.

Traffic had congested but 24 hours when the C.P.R. took us over as its guests. For a week it has "boarded" thousands of transients at the very best hotels, the dining cars, the cafes. The company spared no pains, no money, so long as their patrons could be royally treated. At Gleichen more than six hundred of us were the guests of the C.P.R. for two days. At Calgary 800, at Banff and at Field another five or six hundred—all treated like Princes at the expense of the road, that is hourly dropping unestimated thousands. One million dollars will hardly cover the loss, and yet every official smiles through it all, and the public are treated with a consideration open-handed enough to almost border on extravagance, and even the ever-exacting American tourist remarked loudly that after "free meals" had been declared to the traveling colony at Gleichen neither service nor menu in the two dining cars "St Cloud" and "Frogmore," fell off one jot.

But just here a delightful surprise awaited us all, an indeatigable Detroiter, who wandered up prairie trails, ever searching for information, discovered mushrooms, of that large, luscious, shell-pink variety that only comes from wild stretches of field, and that have a flavor far more delicate and appetizing than those found in the city markets. Buckets, baskets and even hats were requisitioned, and we supplied the dining cars for every meal with these delicacies. The Detroiter gave us impromptu lectures on edible fungi. He was a man of most extensive information, had traveled the world over and kept his eyes open, but he told us he had never seen such quantities of mushrooms together as these. We gathered bushels of them daily. I hardly think the Indians eat these fungi, or else the enormous camp of Blackfoots would have been up betimes and secured our breakfasts while we yet dozed in comfortable berths, for their tepees arose, smoke-tipped and conical, not 500 yards from the siding where we lay. The Indians made a good thing out of the C. P. R. mishaps, for the tourists hired horses from them at "a dollar a ride," and even the tender-foot would vault into the Mexican saddle and ride away across the prairie. The sturdy, shaggy inappi laying back his ears and loping away with the long, clean rocking motion, never seen except in the prairie-bred animal. Only one lamentable accident occurred, in the evening, when we had baseball and horse races. In the latter a fine grey pony, the property of a splendidly handsome blanket and buckskin clad Blackfoot, plunged into a badger hole, fell, and instantly expired with a broken neck. And just here it is time to refute an aspersion too frequently laid upon our wilder Indian tribes of the great west. The prejudiced white man will tell you that the Indians will eat anything, animals that die of disease, unclean portions of meat, etc. The detractors of the redman, and there were plenty of them abroad, assured the crowd that "the Indians will have a great pow-pow, and the feast of the dead horse," over the unlucky animal that lay near the track. But the next morning and the next night, and yet another morning came and waned, and the horse lay where it had fallen and the Blackfoot braves shook their heads when asked about a "feast." A goodly collection was taken up for the owner, which reward he deserved, as his steed had expired in making "a white man's holiday."

This identical brave exhibited great appreciation of class distinctions. A curious Chinaman came forth from his car, and a tourist asked the Blackfoot, "Is this your brother?" indicating the Mongolian. Such scorn and hauteur as the reply "No" expressed, such a lifting of the red chin, and indignant glance. It amazed some, but I was proud of my color-cousin of the prairie, and of his fine old aristocratic red blood, that has come down through the centuries to pulse in his conservative veins.

We visited the camp; a group of some dozen tepees, neat, orderly and picturesque, were bunched against the southern rim of the prairie. Great herds of fat cattle and excellent ponies grazed near by, for the Blackfoot is a thrifty person, and his wife is a marvel of dexterity in needlework. Beside very tepee was a travois, the peculiar vehicle that supplies the place of a cart. It is a fixture like two shafts, fastened at the lower end by a horizontal pole, firmly lashed in place by deer sinew. An immense amount of duffle can be stowed on this contrivance, and when the band "treks" the clothing, utensils, tepees and the smaller children are all packed atop the travois, a horse or dog is harnessed between the shafts, and the cavalcade starts up the trail.

The interior of the tepees was a delight. A fire burned in the centre, the smoke ascending through the apex of the canvas. Beautiful beadwork, buckskin garments, fringed and ornamented elaborately, hung about in profusion. Well-blanketed women cared for tiny children, whose painted cheeks glowed vermillion and yellow in the fire and sunshine. The gay coloring of the tepees, the silently-moving, graceful figures of the red folk, the sleek, fat herds, the camp fire, and the glorious carpet of coral colored prairie flowers, the over-hanging blue of the wide territorial skies, the far-off Rockies, with their snowy coronets, made a picture beyond the limitations of the artist's brush or pen, and always and ever the vivid scarlet of the tunics of the Mounted Police. We sighed a keen regret when the engine sounded a long series of whistles to get us aboard, for word had been flashed from Calgary that the Bow River had been conquered and that our 48-hour blockade was broken.—E. Pauline Johnson in the Toronto Globe.

A PREGNANT ILLUSTRATION.

The Difference Between the Officer and the Private in Canada.

Speaking at a reception to two returned soldiers at Lambton Mills last night, Mr. J. D. Evans expressed the loyal sentiments appropriate to the occasion, and then went on to make some patriotic remarks no less appropriate. He referred to the small value that was at first put upon the fighting uses of Canadians untrained in war and to the great change that took place when the men showed of what stuff they were made. While he thought that Canada should put men in the field in case of necessity, he thought they should go as Canadians and be commanded as Canadians. It was evident that these views were acceptable to the large crowd present.

The great difference between our soldiery—if we are to have soldiers at all—and the troops of the Mother Country, was strikingly illustrated by the affair at Lambton Mills. The big demonstration was equally in honor of an officer and a private—the officer being a son of a canon of the Church of England, a university graduate with a medical degree. The two men were driven in the same vehicle at the head of the procession, given equal prominence, stood up together while an address was read to them, and were alike presented with gold watches. The point is that it occurred to neither the officer nor the private that one should be distinguished above the other, nor did the idea suggest itself to the community that the officer deserved more consideration than the private. The view simply was that two Lambton boys having returned from the war, the citizens should welcome them home, which they did. That is the way people feel about such matters in this country.

The officer and the private are not thus levelled up in England at the conclusion of a war. They do not regard themselves as equals, nor are they so regarded by their townsmen. But more important than that is the fact that they are not equals—in education and self-reliance—for through life they move on different levels. Here our private soldiers may be in every particular the equals of their officers, except in knowledge of drill and tactics. The popular view here is, says the Toronto Star, that it is a military necessity that some of the men should be officers.

A Pathmaster and a Woman.

The law has a hard hand and an unpitying eye in some of the small and remote communities, and no man is so exacting as the one clothed with a little brief authority. In the township of Albemarle, in Bruce county, a poor widow, with three children, was compelled by a pathmaster to work side by side with men for three quarters of a day, shoveling gravel in a pit. She is a hard-working woman trying to make a living for her three children. His vison blurred by a sense of duty, feeling himself the instrument of inexorable law, the pathmaster ruled that the woman's land being chargeable with certain statute labor, and as she wouldn't, or couldn't, or at all events, didn't, hire anybody else to do the work, she must do it herself. And she did it.

The roads in Albemarl should grow fine and smooth where statute labor is directed by so firm a hand. Where even the widow must do her shoveling let us hope that no man escapes his duty or loafs and gossips by the roadside in doing his day and a half per annum of gravel piling in the middle of the King's highway.

A Question of Color.

Benjamin Constant when painting the portrait of Queen Victoria made the grand ribbon of the Garter, which was part of his illustrious sitter's costume, a certain tone of blue. The Queen criticised this part of the picture, but Constant stuck to his color. One day he received from Windsor a little parcel containing the order of the Garter. The Queen, fully convinced that she was right, had sent him the ribbon to prove his color sense was wrong. She did not confer the Garter upon him, however.

Q. HOPE JONES TALKS

LECTURES ON THE SUBJECT "THE GOOD SIDE OF BADNESS."

He Shows That Bad Men Have Many Redeeming Traits and Tries to Prove It by Citing the Cases of Nero, Lucrezia Borgia and Cyrus H.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

My dear friends, the subject of my remarks this evening is "The Good Side of Badness," and before I have finished I hope to make you feel more tolerant toward certain people whose memories have been jumped on with both feet for several generations past. It has cost me much time and money to gather my statistics and see them properly vouched for, but the price of admission to this lecture has remained at the old figure of 25 cents. That is the cost of admission to any hall to see a trained hog, and compared to one of my lectures a trained hog is as husks to ears of yellow corn.

HE MOWED DOWN CATS AND DOGS.

For hundreds of years the name of Nero has been held up to detestation because he fiddled while Rome burned and because he had a little way of slaughtering from 5,000 to 10,000 prisoners in a batch after a battle. It was also a fancy of his to wipe out towns and depopulate agricultural districts, and we read of his putting out eyes and shaving off ears and toes and fingers. Historians have gone at it and made out that Nero was never so happy as when slicing up orphans or sticking old women full of pins, but that is only one side of his character. We are down on him because he hasn't been given a fair show.

As a kid Nero was placid and serene and content, and he is not even charged with pulling the cat's tail. While other youths were stealing eggs, robbing orchards and breaking schoolhouse windows Nero was drawing cistern water for the Monday wash and cutting the grass in the front yard. He was industrious, honest and truthful, and he was an example to be pointed out. He grew to young manhood without a blemish on his character. Such was his probity that at twenty-one you might have searched his rooms over and over again without finding the photograph of an actress or a love letter from a ballet girl. His mother was still tucking him in when he went to bed on winter nights, and he was still loath to part with his hobbyhorse when the blow fell. He tumbled head over heels in love with a female trainer of lions, and in three short months she had broken his heart and mashed his wallet as flat as a pancake. We have all been there. We know what it is to be made a fool of by a girl we would die for. We would do just as Nero did if we had the chance. He first tried suicide, but the rope broke and let him down with a chug, and he rose up with a feeling that he must have revenge on the whole world.

My friends, if that female trainer of lions who gave a performance every afternoon and was really the first girl in the world to whistle a ragtime air, had not toyed with Nero's young heart he would probably have married and been taken on as keeper of the elephants and the driver of the band wagon, but she toyed, and he became a terror on wheels. He went in to slam things, and Rome suffered. Don't be too hard on him. He had been thrown down, and thrown hard, and he hadn't the stamina to bid his aching heart cease to ache and hunt around for another mash.

History has picked out Lucrezia Borgia and held her up as the monster of her age, and history has committed a great wrong. I started out on her trail feeling that death by hanging was too good for her, but as I traced her career step by step I had to leave my prejudices behind. As a child Lucrezia wouldn't hurt a fly. The sight of a bulldog picking up a cat by the neck would have thrown her into convulsions. As a girl she was sensitive to other people's feelings to an amazing degree. Had a young man with a pimple on his nose been courting her she would have died before asking him why he didn't have it cut off. She was a favorite in society. She always sat down on the edge of a chair and folded her hands and said, "Yes, ma'am," and "No, sir," and she knew nothing whatever of flirtations. It was only when she had become a young woman and when she learned that relatives of hers were plotting to rob her of her inheritance and send her out to do upstairs work at $4 a month that she turned to poison. She dosed them right and left, and when she discovered what a good thing she had she kept on with it. It is pretty well authenticated that she caused the deaths of fourteen different people, and some of 'em had funeral processions a mile long, but an impartial investigation has satisfied me that most of the crowd ought to have been in state prison anyhow. Besides,

A SKULL FOR "HAMLET."

The Odd Manner in Which the Elder Booth Acquired One.

The elder Booth acquired a skull for use in "Hamlet" in an odd manner, according to a story in Seen and Heard. The tragedian, somewhat in his cups, was traveling near Louisville when he took a horse from a field and rode off with it. Horse stealing at that time was a capital offense in Kentucky, and the greatest horse thief was a man named Fontaine. Booth was soon overtaken and when asked where he got the animal said:

"I captured him in a field back here."

"Indeed!" said one of the farmers. "And what might your name be?"

"My name is Fontaine," said Booth, without a smile.

"Fontaine!" ejaculated both men simultaneously. "Then you are the very man we want. Come back to town with us."

"Certainly," said Booth in the most good natured manner, and, wheeling his horse, he rode back to Louisville with his captors.

The city jail was then in charge of a Colonel Thomas, who knew Booth well. "We have brought you Fontaine, the horse thief, and claim the reward," said the farmers proudly, addressing the jailer.

"Where is he?" they were asked. Booth was produced. "Why, what does this mean, Mr. Booth?" asked Thomas.

"I haven't the slightest idea," said the great tragedian, with the utmost simplicity. "I met these two men with this horse, and they insisted upon giving it to me. I guess they stole it. I think one of them is Fontaine."

The rustics were about to be locked up when by the most singular coincidence a man rushed to the prison door on horseback and shouted out the information that the real Fontaine had been taken into custody. Booth made Fontaine's acquaintance in jail, and the horse thief, who was executed later, left by will his skull to the actor.

On the Beach.

Kitty—Only think! Carrie got her new bathing suit wet through the very first time she wore it!

Bertha—Mercy! You don't mean to say that she went into the water?

Kitty—The idea! Of course not. A drenching shower came on all of a sudden.—Boston Transcript.

Counting Them.

"Mr. Woodby Witte says that there are only eight jokes in the world."

"I should never have suspected from his efforts to amuse," answered Miss Cayenne languidly, "that he had found so many."

Sheep Raising in Canada.

James M. Kenan, or Vancouver, B. C., who recently talked to a reporter in Toronto, was one of the first men to introduce sheep herds on a large scale into the Northwest Territory. He declares that the prospects for owners of sheep on the Dominion side of the line are very promising at present, though they have been at a big disadvantage since the famous McKinley bill, which was designed especially to encourage the production of wool on the American side, became effective. It was practically a barrier to competition from the Canadian sheep owners, and gave the American sheep owners a differential of 10 per cent. and the added freight from Australia, against competition from that direction. Mr. Kenan said some owners of sheep on the Canadian side had taken their sheep into the States, but they were now coming back. His experience had been that the tariff had not very largely increased the production of wool in the Western States. The herds in Western Canada were largely increasing, and he thought the general era of good times in the Northwest Territories would result in much greater prosperity for the owners of Canadian sheep.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.
20,000 Harvesters Wanted
In Manitoba and Canadian North-west
Farm Laborers' Excursions
Will be run —To— For
From stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell
WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th
$10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or South-west or Northwest of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 10th, 1901, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS and ARE NOT GOOD on "Imperial Limited" and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation on Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest Agent, or to
A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8.—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,

Belleville and Peterboro,

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail......	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed......	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed......	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail......	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed......	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed......	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed......	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed......	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling
XXX Cider
and White Wine
Vinegars
Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES
J. C. Hanley & Co.
Telephone 214.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, "Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

The fellow who borrows 50 cents is content to do things by halves.

Being "purse proud" is the worst disease we ever heard of.

If a jailbird doesn't fly it isn't his fault.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

Fie! I believed better things of Dallas! Au revoir, Maria dear!"—and she trips off gaily, having paid off both Lady Maria and Yolande in the coin of such reprisals as she knows so well how to make.

• • • • • • • •

Mademoiselle glides out of Lady Maria's rooms with a subdued air and drooping downcast head, as Mrs. Murray observes with satisfaction. She glides out slowly and softly, meekly and lambly, and passes through the thick-carpeted corridor and the swing baize-covered door and heavy cloth portiere that shut off Lady Maria's rooms from the rest of the house—runs down the back staircase, and along another long corridor, until she is at the other side of the house. Here she pauses at a narrow oaken door — a mere panel which any one might mistake for the door of a narrow press or cupboard — which gives ingress to a small, rather meagre slip of a room. Viscount Glynne's special private sitting-room, where no one ever intrudes unless by express invitation.

Mademoiselle, however — after two little taps, with a pause between — enters boldly, and, shutting the narrow door behind her, slips a finger-bolt into its groove.

"I am coming to scold you, sir," she says.

The Viscount looks up from the piles of rent books and account books over which he is poring, with a slow saturnine smile on his lean face, his sunken lustreless eyes gradually brightening into something like warmth and admiration.

"What have you been doing to yourself, Belle?" he inquires, with a slight grin. " 'The puritan maiden Priscilla' —eh? You look the part to perfection."

"Do I?" Miss Belle questions softly, perching herself on the arm of his chair like a dove of peace and innocence in her pure gray and snowy soft garments.

"Gad, yes," the gentleman answers, "or a young rose in summer time!" What do you want, Belle? I have no time for foolery this morning."

"Nor have I time for 'foolery,' as you put it so politely, my lord!" Belle retorts. "But I have a few poor interests of my own to take care of as well as yours."

"I thought you said they were identical, my duck of diamonds?" sneers the Viscount.

"One would think the interests of your most faithful and devoted friend were identical with yours," Belle returns bravely and coldly, folding her plump arms across her white-draped bosom, "but when you suffer me to endure unmerited insults and hardships in your service, I begin to doubt your will and your ability to befriend me, my lord!"

"Who has been ruffling your feathers, now?" he asks impatiently. "Mrs. Murray? Hang her! Hang it all, you women are eternally squabbling with each other!"

Belle curtseys with great deference and turns to the door instantly.

"When you want me you can send for me, Lord Glynne," she says over her shoulder. "But I am neither your slave nor your debtor, that I should endure ungentlemanly language from you!"

"I beg your pardon, Belle," the Viscount says humbly. "I've been greatly worried and perplexed and all that — you quite understand me, I'm sure!"

"No, I don't," Belle declares shortly. "Why are you worried and perplexed when I can help you, if you will let me? If Mrs. Murray annoys you, why don't you get rid of her and her daughter? They haven't even the excuse of poverty to hang on here week after week as they are doing. They can live well on Miss Murray's money now."

"I should think so indeed!" the Viscount agrees, with a covetous glitter in his eyes. "Why, it is close on seven hundred a year — I know the stock it's invested in; and she'll have her mother's three hundred a year too when she dies."

"A thousand a year and a beauty," Belle says quietly — ominously so. "A disdainful, capricious, flirting beauty who has jilted half a score of young and handsome lovers —our dear cousin handsome Dallas amongst the number — and provoked you with her girlish insolence a hundred times! Oh, I see why you won't quarrel with Mrs. Murray, Viscount Glynne!"

"I don't want to quarrel with Lady Maria's relatives," mumbles the Viscount confusedly. "And now, at such a time as this, too, Belle, really families ought to be united —"

"In holy matrimony when there's a good deal to be gained by it," Belle finishes, with a dangerous glitter in her eyes and a low sibilant laugh, making his lordship look very uncomfortable. "You are overgreedy, my lord; you are grasping after the shadow as well as the substance," Miss Bella Glover declares, with cool audacity. "You want poor Lord Dunavon's fifteen thousand pounds in your pocket, as well as poor old Dormer's fifty or sixty thousand, though you have made heaps of money in the City, and though you are going to step into an earldom and seven thousand a year. Of course I know your private expenses are very large—such a good, generous, charitable, pious gentleman as Lord Glynne is!"

The Viscount fairly quails beneath the scorn of her piercing black eyes and her little laugh of mockery.

"But I won't aid you in your last scheme, my lord, and so it will never come to anything," she tells him coolly. "Lady Maria sha'n't die these twenty years if I can keep her alive to spite you and Joyce Murray!"

"Miss — Miss Glover! I am shocked — absolutely shocked — at your speaking in such an improper manner about Miss Murray and me! Most improper! Most unwarrantable!" the Viscount exclaims, with stern dignity, rather marred in effect by his mean flustered countenance, his very forehead dyed an ugly red, and his eyelids blinking nervously. "What a suspicious, jealous girl you are!" he adds, with a false, forced, croaking laugh. "I'll tell you something I've discovered about you, my clever little lady!"

"Joyce Murray is much more likely to be Dallas Glynne's second wife than ever she is to be yours," interrupts his tormentor. "I see behind the scenes and read between the lines, as you know, Lord Glynne. Dallas Glynne is as madly in love with her as ever he was, and she is as much in love with him as she can be with any one but herself. His unfortunate little wife will die of a broken heart maybe — he's treating her coldly and neglecting her shamefully already. I found that out before they had been twenty-four hours in the house."

"He's a scoundrel, a good - for-nothing, heartless scoundrel!" the Viscount declares, with sudden fury. "I am glad I have persuaded the Earl to treat him as he deserves."

"To cut him off with a shilling?" Belle asks, smiling.

"No, without it!" snarls the Viscount. "His name is not mentioned in my father's will — and most properly and justly" — with a fine Pecksniffian air of rigid virtue" — "if what you say is true."

"Quite true," she says coldly. "But, if his wife, Yolande, dies without children, he inherits two-thirds of her property for his life. With that and Joyce Murray's fifteen thousand, he can afford to do without the five hundred a year you have kindly deprived him of, Viscount. In any case," she adds decisively, looking up steadily into his angry, unpleasant face, "Miss Murray will never be Countess of Pentreath, however much you or she may wish it."

"Belle, my dear," the Viscount retorts, with the sweet smile and snarling tone he assumes when he is about to say something particularly unpleasing, "I'll tell you what I have found out about you — the cause of your enmity to Joyce Murray."

"Well, what is it?"

"You want to be Countess of Pentreath yourself!" he answers, with spiteful emphasis.

But Belle laughs up at him as audaciously as ever.

"So I shall be, if I live long enough," she declares gaily; and, kissing the tips of her fingers to him, she curtseys gracefully and disappears through the narrow doorway.

Lord Glynne — pious and sedate gentleman — chuckles with half angry admiration as he looks after her.

"What a plucky little demon is is!" he says.

CHAPTER XVII.

Mrs. Murray is gone; but the sting of her bland obtrusive presence remains, to unhappy Yolande at least.

Dallas was asking for her, seeking her, and could not find her. Dallas wished for her company on this long, delightful mountain excursion, repenting perhaps of his coldness and unkindness of the previous evening, and his frigidly-careless question this morning whether she would join him or not. She half refused, hoping that he would urge her to put off her visit to Lady Maria, until Joyce Murray came to his side, and pressed her with much gracious and pretty condescension, to go with them.

"We are such a small party, we shall be quite dull if you don't give us the pleasure of your company," Joyce said, with a sweetly sarcastic smile, her sunny blue eyes gleaming with amusement; for the girlish bride was looking very pale and grave.

"Captain Glynne knows I have an engagement this morning, Miss Murray," Yolande replies chillingly, and, without another word, turned away, leaving them talking together in low tones in the great embayed window of the breakfast room.

She hurried away indeed with a miserable, humiliated feeling of not being wanted in either their walks or their talks, gladly seeking the distraction of mademoiselle's society and the rather dreaded visit to Lady Maria in the endeavor to forget them — Dallas Glynne, her husband, and the girl he loves — to forget the sight of two fair heads side by side, and a pair of bright blue eyes smiling into a pair of bright gray-blue eyes in mutual understanding and confidence.

And now, implicitly believing Mrs. Murray's false words, she thinks perhaps she was too hasty. Perhaps Dallas really wished her to go. Perhaps she has displeased and grieved him by not going; it is "bad form" to parade their wretched married estrangement so openly.

Oh that she had gone! she thinks, her heart swelling with an agony of childish grief. Oh, if she could only repent now, at the eleventh hour, and hurry after them—for miles, if she might only overtake them—overtake Dallas! If she could but come up panting, laughing, victorious, full of joy in being with him, and hear him chide her and tease her, and then ask her gravely why she had come.

Might he not be pleased to find her obedient and humble, and reward her with a smile and a whispered word of kindness, and draw her hand within his arm and press it softly, as he did last night, and say, "Can't we be better friends than we are, Yolande?"—when she would whisper back—"Yes, Dallas, if you wish," and then——

Yolande's heart is throbbing madly at the scene her romantic fancy conjures up, at the wild hopes that rise before her in rainbow hues of promise, when Lady Maria's voice breaks the spell.

"Now, Mrs. Glynne," she says, with plaintive cheerfulness, "you shall see me go through my muscular exercise with the Duffer-Muller machine."

And Yolande is obliged to acquiesce as pleasantly as she can, with the hot tears starting to her eyes and her heart aching with wild regret.

"One, two, three! One, two, three!" repeats Lady Maria, as she sits in her swinging wooden chair, pulling at dangling ropes and pressing down clicking bars like treadles. "This is my leg and arm exercise," she explains, with palpable pride, after she has tugged and clicked for five minutes. "Now these are the extension planes," Lady Maria goes on, smiling at Yolande's frightened face, and elevating her feet so that her heels fit into sockets from another swinging bar of the machine, while she, in her chair, is pulled backwards and forwards in a manner horribly suggestive of the Holy Office. "Now I must have the spinal board out; but of course for that I must ring for Isabelle to work the shampoo-pads," says Lady Maria, absorbed in stretching herself at full length on a sloping baize-covered board which slides out slowly on rollers, and leaves her extended lay-figure-wise, in her long narrow red gown, amongst the ropes and treadles.

At this moment her faithful Isabelle enters the room.

"How is it that you are absent at twelve o'clock, Isabelle," Lady Maria asks reproachfully, "when you know how necessary punctuality is for me in everything? It is now half-past twelve, and I have only got to the spinal board; you have neglected me, Isabelle."

"Pardon me, my lady," the devoted nurse replies, deftly kneading Lady Maria like a batch of dough. "If you recollect, I told you I did not consider you were equal to your exercises this morning. I know the consequences of one of that lady's visits — utter prostration of your vital powers from the depressing influence of an unsympathetic presence."

"Quite true, Isabelle," Lady Maria agrees languidly, in a gratified tone; "and I think, if you will finish up with the chest rubbers, that will do for to-day. I do feel exhausted."

"You do not actually believe, I hope, dear Lady Maria," she says with mild reproach, "that I could be guilty of neglecting you. I left the room during Mrs. Murray's visit, dreading lest I should be the cause of agitation to you; and I went to discover the bare truth" — with a vicious hiss — "of the alarming news she very thoughtlessly announced to you. His lordship is not perceptibly worse, I assure your ladyship. He is a little weaker, as I told you, and Doctor Bleyce was not satisfied until Sir Gregory Parker was telegraphed for, not an hour ago. As you know, Lady Maria, I was in your room then, so I could not possibly hear the news. The Earl did not sleep well last night, and seems to be slowly but painlessly losing ground, as I told you. This information I have had freshly conveyed to me by the Earl's nurse, not five minutes since, and — I have spoken to the Viscount as well."

"Of course! Of course, Isabelle!" Lady Maria says apologetically. "I was only amazed to think that aunt Murray had any information that you had not, knowing, of course, that you repeat faithfully to me everything that the Viscount tells you."

"Of course, my lady," the meek and faithful creature says calmly.

"Of course!" repeats Lady Maria decisively. "I knew aunt Murray was exaggerating."

At this a faint swift hope dawns in Yolande's heart.

"Has Captain Glynne gone out, do you know, mademoiselle?" she asks carelessly.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

One Defendant Discharged.

Boston, Aug. 21.—At a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Fiske in the Federal Building yesterday morning, in the case of alleged smuggling of wool over the Canadian line in Vermont, Reuben Broomfield of Chelsea, one of the defendants, was discharged.

Fined For a False Alarm.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—James Currie, jr., was fined $20 for ringing a false fire alarm. Companions with him, Edward Gamble and William Smith, were fined $1 and costs.

Died From Injuries.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—J. Booth, cousin of J. R. Booth, the lumber king, who was injured, died yesterday morning in St. Luke's Hospital.

Sectionman Killed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—Robert Hunt, section man, formerly of Liverpool, was killed near Rat Portage.

Ito Still Leads.

Tokio, Aug. 20.—Marquis Ito still has a majority in the House of Representatives.

THE MARKETS.

Grain Markets All Higher—Chicago and Liverpool Prices Firmer—the Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 20.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅜d to ½d higher to-day and corn futures ⅜d higher.

High cables and better demand helped Chicago prices to-day. Sept. wheat advanced ⅝c to-day, Sept. corn 1c and Sept. oats ⅜c.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	74⅝	72⅝	74⅝
Chicago	....	70⅝	67⅞	69¼
Toledo	72⅜	72⅜	71½	72⅜
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	73¼	68⅝	65⅞b	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush.	$0 73 to	$0 75
Wheat, white, bush.	0 80	0 83
Wheat, spring, bush......	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush.	0 75	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush.	0 59½	....
Barley, bush.	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush.	0 44	0 48
Oats, new, bush.	0 30	0 33
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton..	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton.	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls.....	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb.........	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes....	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz.........	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb...............	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each.....	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected........		$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected.......		0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected..............		0 07½
Hides, No. 2, inspected..............		0 06½
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling..........		0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected...........		0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected...........		0 08
Deacons (dairies), each		0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb.........	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb.....	0 07	....

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Montreal, Aug. 20.—Flour—Receipts, 700 bbls.; market quiet.

Flour quotations—Patent winter, $3.90 to $4; patent spring, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; extra, none; superfine, none; strong bakers, $3.60 to $3.80; Ontario bags, $1.70 to $1.80.

Grain—Wheat, No. 2 Manitoba Northern, 78c to 80c. Corn, 70c to 72c. Peas, 83c to 85c. Oats, 46c to 47c. Barley, 58c to 60c. Rye, 65c to 67c. Buckwheat, 64c to 66c. Oatmeal, $2.30 to $2.40. Cornmeal, $1.50 to $1.60.

Provisions—Pork, $21 to $22. Lard, 9c to 10c. Bacon, 14c to 15c. Hams, 13c to 14c.

Produce—Cheese, 9c to 10c. Butter, townships, 19c to 20c; western, 16c to 17c. Eggs, 12c to 14c.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 50 head; steady; prime steers, $8 to $8.25; fair to choice, $5 to $7.50; heifers, $3.75 to $6.50; cows, $3.25 to $5.50; canners, $1.75 to $3; bulls, $3 to $5; feeders, $4 to $5; stockers, $3 to $4.50; stock heifers, $3 to $3.50; veals, $5.50 to $8. Hogs, receipts, 1700 head; active; light grades, 10c to 15c higher; others strong; heavy, $7.25 to $7.35; mixed, $7.25 to $7.30; light yorkers and pigs, $7.17 to $7.25; roughs, $5.25 to $5.75; stags, $4.75 to $5.25; grassers, $6.80 to $7. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 1000 head; steady; top lambs, $5.75 to $6; a few at $6.15; fair to good, $5.50 to $5.65; culls to common, $4.25 to $5; yearlings, $4.25 to $4.60; wethers, $4 to $4.50; sheep, top mixed, $3.75 to $4; fair to good, $2.50 to $3.65; culls to common, $1.75 to $3; ewes, $3 to $3.50.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 20.—Beeves—Receipts, 2249; demand fair; prices generally steady; steers, $4.50 to $7.50; bulls, $3 to $3.85; cows, $2 to $4.50. Exports to-day, 275 cattle and 3500 quarters of beef. Calves, receipts, 2835; firm to 25c higher; veals, $5 to $8.50; grassers and buttermilks, $3.87½ to $4.50; culls, $3 to $3.25. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 9472; sheep slow; prime lambs firm; others steady to 10c lower; sheep, $2.50 to $3.50; few choice, $4; culls, $2; lambs, $4.75 to $7; culls, $4 to $4.50. Hogs, receipts, 2225; market 25c higher; state hogs, $7.25; no western on sale.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 22,000, including 500 Texans, 700 westerns; choice steady; others 10c to 15c lower; good to prime steers, $8 to $9; poor to medium, $4 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.50; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.25 to $6.25; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulk, $2.25 to $5.25; calves, $2.50 to $7.25; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $4.50 to $6.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 24,000; 5c to 10c higher; mixed and butchers', $6.40 to $7.15; good to choice, heavy, $6.90 to $7.25; rough, heavy, $6.30 to $6.80; light, $6.40 to $7.10; bulk of sales, $6.00 to $6.90.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 23,000; lower; lambs lower; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $4; fair to choice, mixed, $2.10 to $3.50; native lambs, $3.50 to $6.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 20.—Live cattle weak at 13c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 12c to 12½c per lb.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Stirling, Aug. 20.—At Stirling Cheese Board to-day, 950 cheese were boarded. Sales: Watkins, 135 at 9⅝c; Magrath, 145 at 9⅝c; Kerr, 200 at 9⅝c; Cook, 200 at 9 7-16c; Hodgson, 270 at 9 7-16c. Board adjourned for one week, to meet at 2 p.m.

RANCHERS TO COME TO CANADA.

Big Cattle Company With 50,000 Head to Move Bodily.

Amarillo, N.M., Aug. 21.—The Littlefield Cattle Company of Pecos Valley has decided to move 50,000 head of Hereford cattle to the British Northwest, where a million acres of grazing land has been leased at 2 cents an acre for 20 years. Three hundred miles of barbed wire fence will be built at a cost of $50 a mile. The moving of the big herd will begin next spring.

Tax on Australian Cattle.

New York, Aug. 21.—J. Ogden Armour of Chicago returned from abroad yesterday. He denies that there is a beef trust being organized. When asked about the agitation for the removal of the tax on Australian cattle in England, he said: "I do not think that the removal of the tariff on Australian cattle in England will in any way affect our market here."

Boat Seized For Smuggling.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 21. — Special Officer Pownnot and Collector Cullen of the Canadian customs yesterday seized the United States fishing schooner Howard Holbrook for landing one cask of oil at Clark's Harbor and seven pairs of rubber boots and a box of tobacco at Wrayton's Harbor, without declaring the same or paying duties.

Died Aged 103.

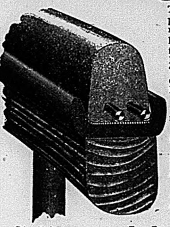
Craighurst, Aug. 21.—Mrs. Hugh McArthur, aged 102, died here. She was born at Islay, Scotland, and came to Canada 50 years ago. She left five generations behind her.

"You Don't Care, Eh ?"

Well most folks do, and that is why

"SALADA"

Ceylon GREEN Tea is making Japan tea take a back seat, the people recognize "pure" tea. Sold in the same form as the celebrated "SALADA" black tea, in lead packets only.



The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.

Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION

The sticking of the iron—the scorching of the linen and the troubles and worries of washing day are things of the past if you use

BEE STARCH

No worry—little work and absolute satisfaction. Try it.

10 CENTS PER PACKAGE. Save the Coupons.

SNOWDON, FORBES & CO., Agts., 449 St. Paul St., Montreal. 21A

Write us a Letter.

If you have any need in the jewelry line, however small, just write us about it.

Our Catalogue contains photographs of many hundreds of our choicest pieces, and will be sent you free.

We guarantee safe delivery —prepay charges and cheerfully refund money if you so desire.

DIAMOND HALL,
Established 1854.

Ryrie Bros.,
Yonge and Adelaide Sts.,
TORONTO.

FREE INFORMATION

presented, in a handsome clothbound, illustrated volume, relative to every security dealt in, upon the Exchanges. The creditable sort of information, essential to have, in either selecting investments, or securities, to buy upon margin. Contains 400 pages of most valuable reading. Compiled by writers, long experienced in Wall St. Its contents is invaluable to the business man and indispensable to investor or speculator. Why not possess a copy, when you can secure one for nothing, upon request at any of our offices. Ask for both our "Guide to Investors," and "Daily Market Letter,"

Orders solicited for

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
10 shares upwards. $1000 upwards. 1000 bushels upwards. 100 bales upwards.

Very Moderate Margins.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.
Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.
373 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

To Sleep Well

get your stomach and liver acting right. The easiest, quickest and safest way to do it is to use

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes, 25 cents.

The best advertisement of CARLING'S ALE is inside that bottle

All Dealers sell... Carling's

For sale by Wesley Bullen.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th,
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding Fare to Toronto and Back.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

New French Flannels

We have just received an advance shipment of Fine French Flannels for Early Fall wear, in beautiful Fancy Stripe Effects for Shirt Waists and Dressing Jackets, in shades Old Rose, Resida, Blue, Navy, Cardinal, Brown, Grey and Pink,

at 50c yard.

New Dress Goods

We have also just placed in stock an early shipment of New Fall Dress Materials, comprising all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this fall.

Please ask to see through our Dress Goods Department for the latest novelties.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT

J. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 210 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

Spanish Peanuts

Fresh roasted and salted. 30c a lb.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up.

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locals charged as less than twenty-five words.

A large excursion party from Campbellford and Stirling passed through the city to-day on route to Picton.

The police report two business places found insecure last night.

Three clothes lines were found outside of a business place last evening after the shop had been closed up.

There was no business for the Police Magistrate to-day.

This is a fine yachting season judging by the large number that weekly touch at Bay of Quinte ports.—Picton Times.

A number of citizens will be summoned up before the Cadi to-morrow for non-registration of dogs.

In the crop of a hen, which she killed recently, Mrs. J. B. Cleak, of Bancroft, found a gold nugget about the size of a small bean.

F. Trotter met with quite a serious accident while working in a mine near Bannockburn, when he fell some distance, breaking his shoulders and bruising himself considerably.

Steamers "North King" and "Caspian" leave Belleville daily (except Monday) for Kingston and 1000 Islands at 3.25 a.m., and for Rochester, N.Y., at 11.38 p.m., after June 28th. mc13-d&wtf

Miss Sidna H. Brown, late pupil of Miss Archer, of Toronto, will receive pupils in violin after Sept. 1st, at the residence of C. H. Vermilyea, Bridge St. Arrangements may be made with Miss Brown any time during August.

THRO MURRAY CANAL BY MOONLIGHT.

Excursion, per Str. Aletha, by Grace Church, Trenton, from Belleville to Trenton, Twelve O'clock Point and Brighton, Monday, Aug. 25, leaving at 6 o'clock. Tickets 25 cents. 21-23

OUTING SUITS.

You cannot take real enjoyment out of your vacation unless you are properly clothed. The Oak Hall have a fine assortment of just what you need in the way of a nice suit. Comfort and style are combined in our outing suits, they are cool, airy and just the thing to enjoy a day's outing in. We give you the same style, fit and service as you will find in custom made garments, at about half the price.

DEATHS.

MILLER.—In Belleville, on Wednesday, August 20, 1902, at his residence, corner of Charlotte and Wellington Sts., John Miller, aged 59 years.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, on Friday, Aug. 22, at 10 o'clock a.m., to John Street Presbyterian Church, thence to G.T.R. station. Deceased will be buried at Amherst Island.

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, but our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Miss Vida Asselstine is visiting friends in Trenton.

Mrs. J. G. Vandusen is visiting friends at Picton.

Mr. Sam Nelder, of Minneapolis, is visiting in the city.

Master "Andy" Geary is visiting friends in Stirling and Deloro.

Miss Evalyn McCarthy is reported as being somewhat better to-day.

Mrs. Hudson is the guest of her niece, Mrs. (Dr.) Mather, Tweed.

Miss Kathleen Geary is holidaying in Huntingdon and Hungerford.

Mr. John Way, of Rochester, N.Y., is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. W. W. Knight and family have returned to the city from a holiday tour.

Miss Gertie Lyng, of Toronto, is visiting her parents on Alexander street.

Master Ernest Pascoe has returned home from a two weeks' visit at Cobourg.

Miss Nellie Cook, Mill street, last evening entertained a number of her young friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Aylsworth have returned home from a visit to friends in Rochester.

Miss Ada Mills and Miss Forest, of Belleville, are the guests of Miss Nina Moore.—Trenton Courier.

Mr. J. A. Orr, proprietor of the Sudbury Journal, is in the city visiting Mr. Jas. Orr, Yeomans street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barlow left to-day for Montreal, to visit Mrs. Barlow's sister, Miss Montgomery.

Mrs. James Waugh, of Buffalo, N.Y., has been called to the city owing to the death of her father, the late Mr. John Miller.

Misses Fannie and Gertie Holmes, of Peterboro, returned home on Tuesday, after visiting their aunt, Mrs. John Pepper.

Mrs. G. W. Craig, who has been visiting in Belleville for a couple of weeks, returned home this week.—Tweed News.

Miss Elizabeth Worrell, North Front street, has gone on a visit to Philadelphia with her brother, Rev. Geo. Worrell, and his family, who have been spending the summer here.

Mrs. R. Presnail, of Hamilton, Mrs. Wm. Cox, of Madoc, and Mrs. D. D. Deyette, of Deseronto, are visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cox, Coleman St.

Mrs. Stephen Giles and two daughters, Misses Hilda and Martha, of Middleport, N.Y., are in the city, the guests of Mrs. Nelson, Foster avenue.

Rev. Morgan Wood, of Cleveland, formerly pastor of Bond Street Congregational Church, Toronto, has announced his intention of running for Congress. He will be Mayor Tom L. Johnson's candidate. Rev. Mr. Wood is a well-known and popular lecturer, and has appeared in Belleville on several occasions.

Rev. Dr. Meacham, who recently returned from Japan, is in the city, the guest of ex-Mayor Bogart.

At the Quinte;—J. Kennedy, A. A. Vickers, Montreal; F. C. Lalond, Brockville; W. Ellaigh, N. R. Jennings, C. P. Cooper, R. Ansell, S. E. Davis, H. Ferry, J. C. Heaton, J. Goodman, A. V. Pearn, Toronto; J. O. Hutton, Kingston; T. Hunter, Ottawa; F. J. Fox, L. Jacob, New York; L. T. Cross, St. Catherines; W. G. Evel, Hamilton; W. B. Reilly, Niagara Falls.

NO CHANGE OF BOATS.

Excursion to Thousand Islands, Young People's Societies, per Str. Aletha, next Saturday. Returning leaves Islands Monday, 7 a.m. 21-22

The Fall Fairs

E. Hastings, Thrasher's, Sept. 25-26.
Kingston's big fair, Aug. 25-29.
Ottawa Central, Aug. 22-30.
Morrisburg, Aug. 27-29.
Sherbrooke, Aug. 30, Sept. 6.
Toronto Industrial, Sept. 1-13.
Frontenac, Harrowsmith, Sept. 4-5.
Iroquois, Sept. 8-10.
Peterboro, Central, Sept. 9-11.
Addington, Tamworth, Sept. 12-13.
London Western, Sept. 12-20.
Napanee, County, Sept. 16-17.
Newboro, Sept. 15-16.
Brockville, Sept. 16-18
Hamilton Central, Sept. 16-18.
Perth, County, Sept. 17-19.
Prescott, Sept. 23-25.
Hinchinbrooke, Parham, Sept 23-24.
Delta, Sept. 23-24.
Merrickville, County, Sept. 24-25.
Renfrew, Sept. 25-26.
Lombardy, Sept. 27.
Spencerville, Sept. 30, Oct. 1.
Beachburg, Oct. 2-3.
Lansdowne, Oct. 7-8.

THEY TAKE WEEKS.

Ordinary remedies sometimes take weeks to even relieve cases that Catarrhozone cures at once

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes now and again and it cures a cold.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes every hour and we guarantee it will cure any case of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung or Throat Trouble, Deafness. It is very pleasant and convenient to use, quick to relieve, and certain as the hereafter to cure. Large size, complete, price $1.00; small size, 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

RAIN COATS.

Our new stock of Barlo Millerain dust and rain coats has just come to hand These are made, under patent, of goods rendered waterproof by a special process which renders them waterproof, leaving them soft and porous and are warranted not to shrink or cockle. Being very light they are of great service as dust coats for all kinds of travel and stand the hardest usage.

We have what is newest in these goods now, they can be seen in our south window and in our Mantle Room.

$5.75

—Barlo Millerain patent rain and dust proof proof coat, in Oxford Grey, Fawn or Navy with velvet collar, yoke back with plaits, pockets, buttons to bottom of skirt, a reliable coat for stormy weather $5.75

$6.75

—Barlo Millerain rain or dust coat, side pockets, velvet collar, with two circular shoulder capes $6.75

$6.50

—Barlo Millerain Raglan Coat, in Oxford Grey, Fawn or Navy, double-breasted with velvet collar and lapels, Raglan cuffs, two side pockets, style "Beatrice" very stylish, ... $6.50

$9.75

—Dark Castor Barlo Millerain rain or dust coat, with newest circular wide collar, raglan cuff, fly front, side pockets and good quality pearl buttons, one of our best coats.......................... $9.75

$4.75

—Ladies' Grey Fawn or Navy odorless rubber coat, raglan pockets, ventilated, yoke and plaits.............................. $4.75

$3.00

—Children's odorless rubber coats, side pockets, ventilated, a thoroughly reliable rain coat.......................... $3.00

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

Sports and Pastimes.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Lacrosse Club will have a full practice to-night and to-morrow night.

Cresceus, 2.02 1-4, is beginning to show good form at Cleveland. A few days ago he stepped a mile in 2.14, with the last end of it so fast that the Cleveland railbirds, who knew that he made a season of seventy mares in the stud, were breathless with surprise. His first appearance in public will be at Indianapolis on the 21st of this month, but his supreme effort to get as near the two minute mark as possible probably will be made at Cincinnati and Memphis later in the season.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—Joe Nelson, the cycle wonder, supported his title at the Coliseum meet, breaking the world's record for 20 miles and beating McFarland. Nelson set the crowd wild by his superb riding. Freeman lost his pace in the fourth, ninth and sixteenth and dropped out. K. McFarland had covered 18 miles when Nelson finished the 20. Nelson's time for the 20 miles was 27;18, beating the world's record of 27;34 2-5.

THE STYLE OF HAIR WORN

Is an important factor to produce a younger and refined face and a well shaped head for any lady or gentleman. Prof. Dorenwend, who will be at Hotel Quinte, Belleville, on Saturday, Aug. 30, until 4 p.m., can demonstrate this to anyone calling on him at his Show Rooms. He has Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches in every length and shade, that he will gladly adjust on any Lady's head free of charge to prove this. DON'T FAIL TO SEE HIM. It is his only visit to Belleville this season. a21-23d&w1t

If woman had their way no man would have his.

BIG BLOUSE and WRAPPER SALE

NATHAN JONES.

Never before have we offered two better bargains to our customers than we offer this week. Of course we lose money on every sale but we are determined to clear them all out to make room for Fall importations.

Blouse Sale

This week all our colored print blouses ranging from 50c to $1.00

For 25c each.

Surely a big reduction is that.

Wrapper Sale

All our wrappers at $1.00, $1.25 and $1.40 to be cleared out

For 75c ea c

That's much cheaper than you can make them for.

Also a few lines of our 12½c Ginghams left to be cleared out at 10c.

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Wor

"Ye Olde Fashioned Style"

We have of late purchased about forty dozen old fashioned Alhumbru Blue Cups and Saucers. They are of the style that was all the go some fifty years ago, and if you want a nice old fashioned cup and saucer, the very kind your grandmother used to use, now is your chance.

They are selling at 10c each or $1.10 a dozen and they shall go fast at the prices marked.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1902. NO. 95

NESTLÉ'S FOOD

Don't experiment on the Baby. Give it Nestlé's Food upon which the third generation is now thriving.

Samples (sufficient for eight meals) free.

LEEMING MILES & CO., MONTREAL.

When a man is his own god he is other people's devil.

The average salary of clergymen in the United States is $900 a year.

Every one of the large automobile factories is far behind its orders.

The Work of Lightning

A Blazing Load of Grain Sets Fire to a Barn.

Matthew Graham's Tragic Death at Dresden—The Worst Storm Known in that District—Damage to Crops in Frontenac County Was Very Severe.

Dresden, Aug. 22.—Matthew Graham, aged about 45, was killed by lightning near Florence while loading oats. His son was knocked senseless. The horses ran away with the burning load to the barn, and building and contents were destroyed. The storm was the worst ever known in this vicinity. It lasted about 45 minutes and cut everything in its course, the hail lying on the ground two to three inches in depth.

Lightning Destroys Barn.

Lakefield, Aug. 22.—James Condon's barn and contents, and a threshing machine, which was in the barn ready to thrash yesterday, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night, caused by lightning.

Damage in Frontenac.

Kingston, Aug. 22.—A heavy storm yesterday morning damaged crops throughout the County of Frontenac to the extent of thousands of dollars. Forty panes of glass in the house of William Grimshaw, Wolfe Island, were broken. Lightning damaged cows belonging to J. Short, Wolfe Island; J. Baxter, Barriefield; W. Keown, Cataraqui; and others throughout the country. The storm, though very severe, did little harm in the city. A barn full of hay and farm implements belonging to a [illegible] farmer, named [illegible], was burned; loss $700; insurance $500.

Lightning Near Comber.

Comber, Aug. 22.—Lightning struck the barn of James Stoneman, near St. Paul, and soon the barn was a mass of flames. The season's crops of hay, wheat and oats were consumed. The horses and cattle also fell a prey to the flames. Loss about $2,000; partly covered by insurance.

Four Killed by Lightning.

Rosthern, Sas., Aug. 22. — Two fatal accidents, caused by lightning, have been reported within the last few weeks. The first in the Fish Creek district, where three Galician settlers were instantly killed, and the other caused the death of a young Mennonite near Hague.

ORDERS TO KILL A REFORMER.

Dowager Empress Says That Kung Yu Wei Must Die.

London, Aug. 22.—A despatch from Shanghai to The Times says it is learned from an entirely trustworthy source that Wang Chih Chun, the New Governor of Kwangsi, has received secret instructions from the Dowager Empress to secure the death of the reformer Kung Yu Wei.

A telegram from Hankow states that there have been anti-Christian riots at Chencha, in the Province of Hunan. Two inland missionaries named Bruce and Lewis, it is reported, have been murdered. The report has not been confirmed.

No Such Offer Made.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—In reference to a Toledo despatch sent out Wednesday, stating that George A. Whitney, Dominion Immigration Agent there, had been commissioned to secure 30,000 of the striking miners to settle in Canada, the department states that there is nothing on record to show that any such offer has been made. Mr. Whitney is merely a local agent, supposed to induce settlers qualified to become farmers, to move to Canada, and receives so much per settler. He is not a regularly salaried officer of the department, and it is extremely improbable that he has been given any such commission.

Toronto Woman Injured.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 22—This evening, while Mrs. H. Gagnier of 88 Willcocks street, Toronto, with three children, were driving down King street in a high two-wheeled cart, the horse became frightened at a handcar moving along the M.C.R. tracks and ran away. The animal turned suddenly and collided with a telegraph pole, upsetting the rig. One child had an arm broken, while the other two were cut and bruised about the head, but not seriously. Mrs. Gagnier was rendered unconscious by the accident, but it is not thought she has received any dangerous injuries.

The Atlantic Fast Line.

Montreal, Aug. 22. — Hon. G. H. Murray, Premier of Nova Scotia, who arrived on the S. S. Lake Simcoe yesterday, said Elder-Dempster Co. will get the contract for the Atlantic fast line, and that Halifax will be the winter terminal, and Quebec the summer terminal, with Sydney as a port of call. He said also that Premier Tweedie of New Brunswick agreed with his remarks.

Drowned While Trout Fishing.

Fort William, Aug. 22.—Erskine Andrews of Chicago, was drowned in Lake Nipigon, 60 miles east of here, Wednesday. The lake and river Nipigon are the famous trout fishing streams of the north shore of Lake Superior. The young man and his father were capsized in a canoe while fishing. The father was rescued. The body of the son has not yet been recovered.

THE CAUSE OF DYSPEPTIC PAINS.

Improperly digested food usually forms gases that cause a painful distention of the stomach and pressure against the heart. This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Cramps, Summer Complaint and all Stomach and Bowel Troubles. No household is complete without Nerviline. Try a 25c bottle.

WANTS HER SON HOME

A KINGSTON LAD LEAVES KINGSTON FOR A BETTER PLACE.

The Kingston News of Thursday says: "A lady-like woman dressed in black called at the police station Wednesday and wept bitterly as she told her story. She is Mrs. Thomas H. Hendrie, of No. 187 Montreal St., and has a husband and seven children to look after. Her son Edward, aged sixteen, left home on Monday and is now in Belleville. She claims he has a good character and has no fault to find with him. She charges her brother William Hendrie, of Belleville, in being instrumental in getting the boy to leave home. She asked Chief Baillie could nothing be done but he said not. As no complaint can be laid and the boy was taken away from here by a relative, the police, according to the Chief, are powerless to act. Mrs. Hendrie said, 'I would go to Belleville and try to get the boy to come home again, but a woman with seven children cannot afford to leave them. I try to keep them and myself respectable and it seems too bad that it should be a relative that enticed the boy away.' Mrs. Hendrie was advised to consult a lawyer. She does not think her son will get into any harm but is very anxious to have him home again.'"

The Late Mr. John Miller

A large number of citizens were in attendance at the funeral of the late Mr. John Miller, which took place this morning. Services were held at the John St. Presbyterian Church, conducted by the Pastor, Rev. A. H. Drumm. The remains were taken to Amherst Island for interment.

THE PENALTY OF A FAST LIFE.

Is paid for by an irritable condition of body and mind, by exhausted energy, poor digestion, unstrung nerves and broken sleep. If you must and will live the killing pace, better keep in mind the sustaining powers of Ferrozone, a wonderful tonic and reconstructor. Ferrozone is a blood maker, a nerve strengthener, a heart and brain invigorator. It creates appetite, insures perfect digestion and undisturbed sleep, restores the vitality and strength lost by excessive living very quickly. Ferrozone will do you inestimable good, try it. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or J. S. McKeown.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN

WM. LASHER, OF DESERONTO, FOUND GUILTY OF HORSE STEALING.

The Port Hope Times says: Wm. Lasher was found guilty of horse stealing, and was sentenced to three months, and Geo. Lasher, acquitted on that charge but afterwards found guilty of stealing a suit of clothes, etc., from Hugh Ross, was sentenced to three months. For stealing from the residence of Geo. Hamilton, in the township of Hamilton, Wm. and Geo. Lasher, and Wm. Sidey, were sentenced to six months imprisonment, the sentences of the Lashers to run concurrently.

The man Wm. Lasher above referred to, is the party who was arrested here in May last, charged, with two others with stealing beer from a G.T.R. car. He was allowed to go, as he was only considered to be a tool of the other two who were convicted.

THEY TAKE WEEKS.

Ordinary remedies sometimes take weeks to even relieve cases that Catarrhozone cures at once.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes now and again and it cures a cold.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes every hour and we guarantee it will cure any case of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung or Throat Trouble, Deafness. It is very pleasant and convenient to use, quick to relieve, and certain as the hereafter to cure. Large size, complete, price $1.00; small size, 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Choir Practice.
Public Library.
Civic committees.
Band Concert at Park.
Independent Foresters.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Moderate to fresh northwest to north winds, fair and cool. Saturday, fine; not much change in temperature.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	65
12 m.	68
2 p.m.	70
3 p.m.	73

Culture is not character, but character is culture.

Some men march to hell to the time of heavenly tunes.

Few ever intend to take more than a tiny taste of sin.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

LADIES' RAIN COATS

Our Ladies' Rain Coats serve a double purpose. They are an absolute necessity on rainy days and make a nice stylish coat for early fall wear. Our new styles just opened sell from $3.50 to $8.00.

Getting Ready for Fall Goods

We are now opening our New Fall Goods. This means we must have room, and to make room for the New Goods we offer the following lines at exactly Half Price:

Ladies' Colored Cotton Shirt Waists will sell at	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Shirt Waists	Half Price
Ladies' Colored Cotton Costumes	Half Price
Ladies' White Pique Skirts	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Dress Skirts	Half Price
One Table of fancy Dress Muslins	Half Price
Ladies Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Children's Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Colored Leather Belts	Half Price
Fancy Belt Buckles	Half Price
All Fancy Parasols	Half Price

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

SATURDAY SHOE SHOPPING.

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

LADIES! LOOK HERE FOR BARGAINS.

When shoe buying to-morrow visit the Corner Shoe House—you will find here shoes of EXCELLENT QUALITIES—made on COMFORT GIVING lasts—selling at remarkable LOW PRICES. Just note the following:

$2.00 and $1.50 Low Shoes for $1.00

Here are values which will DELIGHT YOU — come — have first choice.

These low shoes must go and we are PAYING YOU WELL to help us clear them out—in order to make room for fall goods.

—They are our regular $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 low shoes—made of finest kid—stylish — easy—durable—you surely will not miss the chance to obtain a pair at the BARGAIN PRICE of.. $1.00

FOR THE CHILDREN

Children's black and chocolate kid slippers, sizes 11 to 13, regular $1.25, now.. .98

Children's chocolate and black kid slippers, sizes 4 to 7½, regular 90c, now.... .75

Little boys' fine chocolate kid lace boots, spring heel, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.50, now.............. $1.20

Children's patent leather and red kid slippers, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.25, now... .95

Children's red kid button boots, finest quality, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.50, now.. .... $1.25

Little boys' patent leather lace boots, neat and comfortable, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.50, now.......... $1.20

A BARGAIN FOR MEN

"World Known" black calf skin low shoes, with substantial sole, stylish, durable, regular price (stamped on sole) $3.50, now.............................. $1.50

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR

Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn
Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon
Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie
Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricota Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

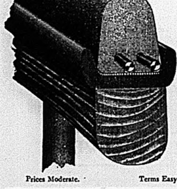
Bridge St. Stores Telephone 139. Est'd 1871 Front St. Store Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

ESTABLISHED 1890. PHONE MAIN 4303.

W. F. DEVER & CO.,

STOCK AND BOND BROKERS.

WE EXECUTE ORDERS IN

Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel

on Boston Stock Exchange, over our private wire, for cash or margin.

BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

We solicit accounts for the purchase of listed stocks and bonds. 19 Wellington St. East, Toronto.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE

FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

A TALK WITH DR. G. R. PARKIN

A Rhodes' Scholarship For Each Province Annually.

He Will Leave Upper Canada College and Expects to Finish the Plan For Carrying Out the Rhodes' Bequest Within Two Years—Favors Sending Mature Men For Post-Graduate Work—Toronto His Centre on This Continent.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—"Most surprising, the interest people are manifesting in these Rhodes' scholarships," remarked Dr. G. R. Parkin, principal of Upper Canada College to a reporter last Thursday evening, as he waded through the pile of correspondence that had accumulated in his office during his absence in England. The learned gentleman is enjoying excellent health, and seems to have withstood the exertions consequent of the new duty thrust upon him by the trustees of the Cecil Rhodes' scholarship bequest, so as to provide for the giving of effect to the provisions of the will.

As to Upper Canada College.

"What change will the appointment make in Upper Canada College?" the doctor was asked.

"Well," he replied, "what I want to do is to spend all the time I have at my disposal at the present to put Upper Canada College in the best order I can. We have a capital staff and a large number of applications from intending scholars, so that everything will be in first-class shape on the opening of the course in September. Upper Canada College will go on the same as ever—and, I hope, better than ever—and when I get the right kind of a man to take my place, he will have a splendid start, a princely start, compared to what I had. I advised the trustees to take their time in the selection of a successor, and to be cautious and deliberate in the selection, for Upper Canada commands a good man, and there is no doubt but that she will get one. In the meantime, I do not want to think of anything else, other than the college. I have to travel a good deal in the interests of the college up to the time of opening, and I want to get everything in order."

Scholarships For Canada.

"How many scholarships are there for Canada?"

"Well, that is a rather interesting thing. It seems that Mr. Rhodes was a great admirer of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, and had come to the conclusion in the reading of his life, particularly that part having to do with the struggle between Upper and Lower Canada, that there were no other places of consequence in this country. He therefore stipulated scholarships for only two of the provinces. I immediately waited upon the trustees on learning this, and, after explaining matters, they did not hesitate to consent to place the whole of the Dominion on the same basis as the other colonies, that is that there shall be three scholarships for each province, one expiring in each province every year."

"Will the scholarships be for post graduates or undergraduates?" Dr. Parkin was asked. "My idea," he explained, "is that we do not want to send the boy from the High school to Oxford. It would be a mistake, for several reasons. I believe that we want to send a more mature class of men, and I would like to see men go largely for post graduate work, and, if Oxford has not the arrangements for doing so, let her provide them. That is a matter, however, that has to be settled yet."

As to any objection that Americans might take to sending their boys to Oxford, for fear of their becoming Anglicized in their methods, he could not see how it could be taken seriously. He went to Oxford himself, and, from his experience, he believed that a person would get more benefit at Oxford after he had become matured than at a young age.

Plan Completed in Two Years.

Asked when the scheme would be put into operation, he said: "At first it was thought it could be done next year, but when we came to study the ground, the countries interested, with the desire to place them on an equal basis—and, as this is a sure thing that is going to last for all time—the feeling is that we should not hurry it, and I do not expect to get the scheme completed in two years."

"Do you propose to visit the countries interested in the meantime?"

"Oh, yes, it will be necessary, in order to hear the wishes and the views of the leading gentlemen in regard to what they think would be most advisable. In working this continent, I shall make Toronto the centre of my operations, and I hope to be here a good many months in the year in this way. The other time I will spend in either London or Oxford, as things may require.

Greatest Point.

"The greatest point that has to be accomplished," he went on, "is to get in touch in each country with men in whom we can absolutely trust. Already I have the views of a large number of leading educationists, which will doubtless prove of value in the final drafting of the scheme. I hope the Americans will look at the matter as they should, and instead of hesitating to send their sons to Oxford, as some one intimated, they will send them cheerfully, and on the other hand they could doubtless make some provision for a university course for English students, in the United States."

Will Do No Harm.

Speaking of the alleged harm the scheme would do to Oxford by the aggressive methods of the young American, Dr. Parkin pointed out that instead of harm he thought it would do a great deal of good. "As I understand it there will be about 200 men there all the time on scholarships and these will not figure so very much as some might think in the large attendance. Besides, I think you will find them modest young men who will go there eager to learn and not to impress their American characteristics on their English fellow student. Indeed they would take none of the charm away from Oxford at all. It amounts to this, that here in Canada and America is a rugged character that will be brought into contact with the centre of social culture that will result to the benefit of both."

Tribute to Dr. Parkin.

The London Times of the 13th inst. pays a glowing tribute to the ability of Dr. Parkin and his fitness for the task allotted to him. In part it says: "The trustees under Mr. Rhodes' will are to be warmly congratulated upon the important parliamentary step they have taken towards carrying into execution the munificent provisions it contained for the establishment of scholarships. A great Imperial conception, inspired by Mr. Rhodes' bequest, but its full realization must depend largely upon the practical measures taken for carrying it into effect. The trustees have been singularly fortunate in securing the services of a man peculiarly fitted for the task of preparing a scheme for their approval. In Dr. Parkin the trustees have secured a man who will be in sympathy with the university and college authorities as well as with the generous ideals of the great testator."

AMUSING THE SHAH.

Firing Maxims and Posing For Moving Pictures—A $15,000 Dinner.

London, Aug. 22.—The Shah paid a lengthy visit to the Maxim works yesterday. He showed keen interest in the latest inventions in artillery and electrical appliances. On the invitation of Sir Hiram Maxim, he got astride of the seat of a Maxim gun and fired three belts of blank cartridges. His Majesty was considerably shaken by the recoil at his first attempt, but he stuck to his post and finished like an experienced gunner. The Shah and his suite posed for moving pictures before leaving. He subsequently proceeded to the Persian legation, where he gave a state luncheon, which cost $15,000, so sumptuous were the decorations and arrangements.

Fire at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Aug. 22.—Yesterday morning fire broke out in D. M. Davidson's bakery on Park street, and before the firemen arrived the building, a wooden one, was doomed, and before the fire was under control, it destroyed the Davidson building and adjoining one to the east, occupied by Wing Lung, laundryman, several outbuildings at the rear and the building to the west, owned by J. L. Neelin, and occupied by F. Witherspoon, harnessmaker; also the shop to the east of the laundry, owned by Wiley Brothers, and occupied by H. E. Reid, tinsmith, and a barn in the rear of William Swiggler of the Mining Exchange Hotel. Loss has not yet been ascertained.

Keep Out of Belgium.

London, Aug. 22.—It is announced here in a special despatch from Brussels, that the Belgian Government has requested the Boer Generals—Botha, Dewet and Delarey—not to enter Belgium, and that the station master at the northern railroad station has been instructed to summon troops to keep order in the event of his receiving notification of the presence of the Generals on board the train from Holland.

Captain's Devotion Recognized.

Liverpool, Aug. 22.—The Marine Board, on behalf of the Government, has presented Captain Freeman of the British steamer Roddam with a silver vase in recognition of his devotion to duty in getting his vessel away from St. Pierre, Martinique, when that town was destroyed by the eruption of Mont Pelee. Captain Freeman has previously received three medals for his gallant conduct at St. Pierre.

Largest Liner Afloat.

Belfast, Ireland, Aug. 22. — The White Star line steamer Cedric, of 21,000 tons, the largest liner afloat, was successfully launched at Harland & Wolf's yards here yesterday. She is 700 feet long, has 75 feet beam, and draws 49 1-3 feet of water. Her carrying capacity is 18,400 tons, and she has accommodation for 3,000 passengers.

Fell Off Train to Death.

Montreal, Aug. 22.—George Allan, aged 75 years, of Minneapolis, who was returning Wednesday evening with his wife from the Maine coast, fell off the train south of Farnham, and was injured so badly that he died soon after. The old man was trying to pass from the first-class coach to the Pullman.

Eleven Persons Dead.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 22.—Eleven persons dead, two in the hospitals so seriously injured that little hope is entertained for their recovery, and six still missing whose bodies are supposed to be in the ruins, is the result of the explosion at the Delaware Pulp Mills.

King on a Cruise.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 22. — The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward and Queen Alexandra on board, left Cowes yesterday on a cruise along the west coast of England. She will anchor off Portland to-night.

Cattle Guard Men.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—Mr. George Robertson of St. John, N.B., is in the city. He will be associated with Mr. F. T. Holt in the inquiry into cattle guards. The latter arrived in the city yesterday to receive his instructions.

India's Crops Saved.

Bombay, Aug. 22.—Good rains have fallen in West India just in time to save the crops and remove the immediate fear of famine. The Central Provinces and Berar have also been benefitted.

KNIFE IN HIS HEART.

Man Named Fortin, Who Has Six Cuts, Arrested on Information.

Quebec, Aug. 22.—A man named Beauchamp, who lived on Champlain street, and bore an evil reputation, was found dead on the cornfields yesterday morning. It is plainly a case of murder, as a knife was found buried in his heart.

On receipt of information given by Sergt. Lyndon of the Royal Canadian Artillery, who was in the vicinity at the time, Detective Walsh went in search of Fortin, who, when arrested, admitted having had a fight with Beauchamp.

He readily went with the officer and bore signs of his recent conflict in the shape of six slight cuts, all on the right hand side of his face. The prisoner is positive in asserting that when Beauchamp first attacked him he did so with his knife, for he had previously threatened him with it. It was only then that he (Fortin), drew his own knife, which was much smaller, in self defence.

ANTITOXIN FOR HOG CHOLERA.

Discovered in Time to Combat an Epidemic in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Aug. 22.—The eastern part of Indiana has been ravaged by hog cholera for two months. A remedy has been discovered by Dr. Frederick Kemmer of Wayne County, and applied to more than four hundred hogs in the last ten days, and not a hog so treated has died. Dr. Kemmer describes the remedy as an antitoxin made for the cholera germs. The germ is isolated, dried and pulverized. A fluid is made of this powder and it is injected into the hogs to antagonize the poison of the cholera. Dr. Kemmer says that the hog is then immune from cholera for eight months, when the operation ought to be repeated. He says that the medicine does not have any bad effect upon the meat.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

The Porte has returned a package of insurance policies taken from Americans.

Mrs. Davis, with an ax, Thursday stopped a mutiny of prisoners in the Des Moines, Iowa, jail.

A cablegram from Portsmouth, Eng., announces the death there on Thursday of Bessie Bonehill, the vaudeville actress.

Five men and a woman were taken into custody on Thursday in New York, and an entire green goods plant was captured.

Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, sailed for Europe Thursday on the steamship La Lorraine.

For stealing a horse bridle, Walter Smitheen was sent to the Winnipeg penitentiary for two years by the Police Magistrate Thursday.

Six thousand people attended the funeral of Striker Sharp, at Lansford, Pa., who was killed by a deputy. One thousand were women.

A. C. Shaw, general American agent of the C.P.R., at Chicago, who is in Toronto, said on Thursday that between 40,000 and 50,000 people would settle in the Canadian west this year.

A report comes from England that Sir Edward Hutton, formerly Major-General commanding Canadian militia but latterly in charge of the military force of the Australian Commonwealth, has been recalled by the War Office.

Harry Drope, Hamilton, received a telegram Thursday evening from H. G. Booth, stating that Charles Gilmour, an old Hamilton man, had been knocked off by a car pole, run over and killed. Deceased was a brother of William Gilmour and John Gilmour of the firm of Boulter & Gilmour, and Mrs. Campbell, wife of John Campbell, dry goods merchant. He left the city a few years ago.

The British Team in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The British team, which is to compete for the Palma trophy, arrived in the city last night and will at once commence practice at the Rockliffe range. The team is commanded by Major Hon. T. F. Freemantle. They were met at the depot and welcomed by Col. Tilton, Col. Hodgins and Col. MacPherson, of the D.R.A.

Town in Ecuador Destroyed.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Aug. 22.—The town of Babahoyo, in Los Rios Province, was destroyed by fire Wednesday. Much merchandise from Guayaquil, in transit, was burned. The town is 70 miles from Guayaquil and has a population of about 2,000.

Will Come This Way.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Many Chicago vesselmen are of the opinion that a vast quantity of grain, formerly shipped for export via Buffalo, lake and rail to New York and other seaboard points, will this year go by way of the Canadian routes.

Drops Sir Gordon Sprigg.

London, Aug. 22.—A despatch to The Exchange Telegraph Company from Cape Town says: "The Progressive party has elected Dr. J. W. Smart to be their leader, repudiating Sir J. Gordon Sprigg (the Premier)."

Morgan is Too Late.

New York, Aug. 22.—J. Pierpont Morgan has returned from Europe. It was said he could and would settle the coal strike. However, there is very little hope of Mr. Morgan settling the strike. Matters have gone too far.

Some Miners Go Back.

Montgomery, W. Va., Aug. 22. — From 200 to 300 miners resumed work yesterday at this place, Red Ash, and Loup Creek. Twenty-seven mines are now being operated in the Kanawha and New River fields.

Received Hearty Reception.

Brussels, Aug. 22.—Gen. and Mrs. Botha have arrived here. They received a hearty reception from the populace.

WHEAT CUTTING GENERAL

Manitoba's Crop Is Found To Be Heavier Than Estimated.

Ideal Harvest Weather Prevails—If It Continues the Crop Results Will Also Be Ideal as to Quality of Wheat—First of Harvesters Arrive in Winnipeg—Being Properly Cared For—3,000 More From Toronto.

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—Winnipeg is enjoying ideal harvest weather. If it continues the province will have nothing but No. 1 hard wheat to offer for sale this fall, and the grain buyer's avocation will be greatly simplified, as there are practically no weeds in the crop. There will be no cleaning necessary, and the farmers' lot will indeed be a happy one.

Some 180 harvester hands arrived in the city yesterday from the Maritime provinces, and within the next two days 5,000 will be here.

R. Mitchell, representing the N.W.T. Government, is in the city to secure 7,000 harvesters' and arrangements for the reception of the men are excellent, and all their wants will be well looked after.

The Provincial Government has secured the services of a number of reliable farmers who will meet each of the harvesters' trains at Port William and give advice to those on board as to the best locality for them to proceed to get immediate employment, and the districts where the grain is ripe and "ready for the sickle" will be supplied them.

Wheat cutting may be said to be general throughout Manitoba and the crop is found to be even heavier than at first estimated.

Harvesters For Manitoba.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—Harvest excursionists again had control of the Ontario railroads yesterday. Three thousand passengers were handled for the Northwest grain fields. This was several hundred in excess of Wednesday's traffic, and to-day the crowd is expected to reach even heavier proportions. Railroad officials assert that they believe the total of 19,000 carried to the Northwest during the cheap rates of last year will be exceeded this year by probably 5,000.

OUTBURST AGAINST GERMANY.

Frenchmen Do Not Forget the Loss of Alsace and Lorraine.

Berlin, Aug. 22.—The outbursts of French feeling against Germany, that took place at the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Marsh La Tour (or Vionville, fought Aug. 16, 1870) is described circumstantially by a correspondent telegraphing from Strassburg. Many inhabitants of Lorraine crossed the frontier to participate. Bishop Turinaz of Nancy, addressing these persons, said: "You come across the border in spite of German cannon, and in spite of unhappiness hanging over your provinces to show here, on French soil, your unshaken fidelity to the old Fatherland. Through your very presence you ask the silent, but eloquent, questions: 'How long shall we wait for you? When will you come to liberate us?'"

Gen. Cuny, who followed, said: "Comrades of 1870.—You have come here in order to send fraternal greetings across the Moselle and Vosges to those whose hearts remain French, and say to them, that your hope of the future, which will wipe out the defeats of the past, will never die."

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Thursday.

Providence-Toronto. Rain.
Worcester-Montreal. Rain.
Newark 3, Rochester 0.
Jersey City 1, Buffalo 6.
Jersey City 2, Buffalo 2.

National League, Thursday.

St. Louis 1, Boston 6.
St. Louis 7, Boston 4.
Cincinati 4, Brooklyn 7.
Chicago 0, Philadelphia 2.
Pittsburg 1, New York 8.
Pittsburg 2, New York 0.

American League, Thursday.

Philadelphia 12, St. Louis 5.
Washington 6, Chicago 4.
Boston 4, Cleveland 1.
Baltimore 6, Detroit 5.

For the Benefit of His Creditors.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—W. J. Hill, ex-M.P.P., said last night that he had assigned to E. R. C. Clarkson. The assignment was precipitated by the issuance of a writ by Williams & Wilson of Montreal, claiming $1,054. Mr. Hill says he assigned in order to protect his creditors. He says his assets consist of a $9,000 plant at Shawinigan Falls, and $6,000 in disputed accounts with engineers on his various contracts. Besides, he values his Soo plant at $11,000. Altogether he claims his liabilities in Ontario are only $6,000. All he desires to pull out all right is an extension of time.

Sir Wilfrid in France.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Le Temps of Paris says Sir Wilfrid Laurier and M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs, will together examine several commercial conventions which might be concluded between France and Canada. Sir Wilfrid entertained at luncheon yesterday prominent Canadians in Paris and the staff of the Canadian agency. To-day the Canadian Premier will give a luncheon to the St. Sulpice Seminary, in honor of the St. Sulpician fathers, the first colonizers of Canada.

Aftermath of Election.

Kingston, Aug. 22.—J. M. Farrel, acting for W. J. Shibley, the defeated Reform candidate in the County of Frontenac, in the recent provincial elections, has issued a writ against John Martin, merchant, Elginburg, for $2,000. It is charged that Mr. Martin slandered Mr. Shibley in connection with the late election.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—8 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.,
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont,
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.,
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE
At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.
Guardian . . . Est'd 1821
The North America, . Est'd 1792
Quebec, . . . Est'd 1818
City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS, Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oct-d&w

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire in Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office,
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St.
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403 Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

FOR HOUSE WEAR.

Negligees Are Growing More and More Elaborate.

Negligee attire is growing more and more elaborate. Indeed fussiness is essential to almost every up to date garment. At present it is possible fortunately to copy the most costly models at a comparatively small outlay, so highly wrought robes and jackets are the rule. A potent aid in much of this copying is the abundance of cotton fabrics made in imitation of silk. All the light mercerized goods have been made available for house gowns, negligees and the like, and while not a few of these are worthy of really fine trimmings there is no end of inexpensive things which will set them off nicely.

DRESSING JACKET.

Many white fine materials are utilized for tea gowns. Most of these are made according to empire designs and trimmed with dainty laces. White tea gowns are stylish in dainty lawns and muslins trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertion. Some are made with Spanish flounces tucked or trimmed with lace. Others have plain gathered ruffles headed with embroidered beadings having pale colored ribbons run through.

The illustration shows a very pretty dressing jacket. It is made of checked lawn ornamented with a fine design. The fullness is gathered into a square yoke. The fronts and bottom are banded with plain silk. The sleeves are cut Chinese fashion and also banded with the silk. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Valuable Manuscripts.

The two greatest manuscripts in America, according to the Bookman, are the manuscript of the Declaration of Independence, which is in the government archives and which has become illegible, and the life of Benjamin Franklin, written by himself, the only manuscript entirely in his own handwriting, which changed hands and was added to a private collection in New York city. The Franklin manuscript was discovered in France some years ago in the possession of the descendants of M. Le Vaillard, to whom it had been given by William Temple Franklin, Franklin's grandson.

The Policeman's Evidence

REGARDING THE THOROUGH CURE OF CHRONIC CONSTIPATION BY THE USE OF

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Nearly every occupation has considerable influence on the health. While outdoor work is usually most healthy, there are circumstances, as in the case of policemen, which cause special ailments.

The greatest enemy to the policeman's health is constipation. Owing to his duties on his beat he is led to frequently neglect the call of nature, and as a natural consequence his bowels become irregular and he suffers from intestinal indigestion.

The letter quoted below is the unsolicited testimonial of a policeman, who believes that his fellows on the police force, as well as all people who suffer as he did, should know of the excellence of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Policeman Peter C. Morris, 10 Wascana avenue, Toronto, states: "For years I was troubled with habitual constipation, which, I believe, is the most common ailment of all policemen. I had spent considerable money in trying all sorts of so-called remedies for constipation, and was always disappointed, as the relief was only temporary.

"I now gladly state that I have been completely cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and shall be pleased to personally recommend them to any person who wishes to interview me. I have already advised many friends to use them."

Constipation probably causes more distress and discomfort than any other derangement of the bodily organs, and is undoubtedly responsible for a majority of other human ills. You can be cured of constipation by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are more generally used in Canada than any other medicine, and their sale is increasing all the time. Most people can refer you to cases of serious diseases being cured by this great medicine. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

EXIT NO. 1214

BY ELIAS LISLE

Copyright, 1901, by T. C. McClure

My acquaintance with No. 1214 began in Phil Casey's court. Handball is the most democratic sport in the world. One day No. 1214 and I found ourselves pitted as partners against a judge of the supreme court and a lightweight prizefighter, and although his honor played a pretty rough game we beat them by a close score; so close was it, in fact, that a spirit of rivalry was engendered which established our competition as a regular Saturday afternoon event thereafter. Later I met 1214 on his beat on the big bridge, and when I was kept late in my office that spring I would walk across for the sake of the talk with my big police friend. A master of hand, eye and temper I already knew him to be; now I came to know him as a poet in the rough, beset with longings and emotions which he did not himself understand. The sight of the full rigged ships, inbound with all sails set or outbound for the great unknown world, stirred the very soul of him.

"Will ye look at her now, walkin' like a great lady an' with the shape of one!" he would cry, with a kindling eye to the curve of the full bosomed sails. "An' where might she be bound, I dunno? But it's well I'd like to go with her."

"And leave your place on the force?" I asked.

"An' I'll be doin' it one of these days. Why not? I have no wife nor fam'ly an' a tidy sum in the bank."

"And where will you go then?"

"Ah, where? That's a thing no man knows, meself least of all."

One Friday evening as I was walking across with the big policeman the talk suddenly shifted from the morrow's game.

"Sure, I think the judge plays a little overhard for his point," No. 1214 had been saying; "that backhander he took me over the jaw, now, an' me just reachin' for the ball. A referee wud ha' called a hinder on him. Accidental? Sure, don't I know that his honor is too much of a gentleman—Whisht! What's that, now?" he interrupted himself as a dark shadow shot in front of us.

"A nighthawk out collecting insects," said I.

"Is it, now? I think witches was invinted whin the first Irishman clapped on to one of thim birds. Do ye think, sir"—he spoke diffidently and after a pause—"that there is anything in this belafe that we was once some kind of animal or crature?"

"It is a very old belief, John," said I.

"Thin, if there's a breath of truth in it I think I was some crature that flew before I was born this time to be a polaceman. There's times, sir, when I'll be beyant by the rail there an' I'll be lookin' an' longin' an' longin' an' lookin' till I could leap out to take my chances with the sea birds there."

With such vehemence did he speak that I was disturbed. "Why, John," said I, "you'd do well to ask for a transfer. Gazing down a hundred odd feet till you want to leap isn't a safe diversion."

"An' ye needn't to be worryin' about that, sir, thank ye," said he quietly. "I'll not take the jump—not before the birds tache me to fly."

"We'll need to be in our best trim for them tomorrow afternoon," said I as he turned back to his beat. "So keep your head steady, John."

When I reached the court on the following afternoon, I found the lightweight, who rejoiced in the cognomen of Bunt Hahno, serving long ones into the left hand rear corner, which was the supreme court's weakest point. No. 1214 did not appear, and I had to pick up a recruit, whereby the bench and the ring won a hollow victory. On the following morning the newspapers printed paragraphs to the effect that Patrolman John Hannerty was missing, and the evening papers exploited it into a mystery. It seems that the officer had disappeared from his beat on the bridge. That he did not leave at either end seemed certain, for he would have had to pass several brother officers. At 11:55 he had been seen near the railing; at three minutes after midnight he had gone, leaving neither trace or clew. There seemed to be but one inference, and five evening papers printed pictures of the alleged suicide which were chiefly remarkable from the fact that no two of them were in the faintest degree alike. What little element of mystery there was left was considered to be destroyed by the washing ashore of a policeman's coat and trousers on the following morning. That evening the mystery had a sudden revival, for police badge No. 1214 reached the bridge police station by mail. Detective work, amateur and professional, got no further than the fact that the badge had been mailed in a plain white envelope in a mailbox near the water front. Theories were advanced, refuted, defended and replaced by new theories until some newer matter came to occupy the public's avid mind.

At the handball court No. 1214 was not forgotten, and in many a hard fought contest with his honor and Bunt I missed his quick eye and indestructible hands, for he had few equals at the sport. One day nearly six months after his disappearance, when the judge and I were arguing a point single handed while awaiting Bunt and a fourth man there burst in abruptly a sailorman in bad repair. So close behind him as to suggest a violent, propulsive force came the prizefighter.

"He didn't come when I foist ast him," panted Bunt, "so I had to jolt up his manners," indicating a cut lip and a badly banged eye which the visitor was ruefully rubbing. "I caught him down here on the river front. He was tellin' about Johnny Hannerty. Speak up, ye dago Swede, or I'll hand yer another."

"I donno about no Johnny Hannerty," said the sailor doggedly, but with an eye to Bunt's twitching left. "I was tellin' some mates about a crazy man what flew aboard the Giovanna"—

"Wait a moment," interrupted the judge. "Let us get this straight. What did you say he did?"

"He said he flew aboard," said the sailor. "I donno if he spoke true. I never seen him fly, but I donno no other way he could have got aboard."

"Tell the rest of it—tell the rest of it, or I'll tear yer ear off!" vociferated the ferocious Bunt.

"Hahno," said his honor quietly, "order a drink for our seafaring friend, please, and let him spin his yarn uninterruptedly."

Being refreshed, the sailor proceeded with a better grace: "We'd passed under the bridge about midnight, on our way out, last April fools' day. 'Twas a high tide, for we just scraped under with our maintop gallant mast down. It was my watch on deck. We was just gettin' into the bay when I see a man comin' down the mainmast ratlines. He wasn't no man we'd shipped an' he didn't have no clothes, only shirt an' drawers an' shoes. I was mighty surprised, an' so was the mate. He up to hit the man, but the other feller let him have it, an' the mate didn't wake up for near an hour. He hit a queer blow—kinder like this." And the sailor gave a very fair imitation of the driving blow peculiar to handball players and a thing to keep out the way of. "Then he done a queer thing. Our tug was just puttin' back. He walked to the rail an' threw over a little white package to the tug. 'Mail that where it belongs, will ye?' he calls, an' I goes down after the crew."

"That was the badge!" I exclaimed.

"But there is very slim proof that this was No. 1214," objected his honor.

"Tell him about the scrap; tell it just like you told it before," cried Bunt. "Wait till you hear that, judge."

"Oh, the fight," said the sailor. "He done his best. It took near the hull crew to get him in irons. I got a cracked rib from it." And he rubbed his side.

"A short left jolt, wasn't it?" cried Bunt.

"I guess it was. Anyhow, it was when I was up close an' it finished me. He hit awful quick an' awful hard an' every time he landed he hissed between his teeth like a snake."

"John Hannerty, by heavens!" chorused the three of us (except that Bunt put it a little stronger), for there was no mistaking that hissing expulsion of the breath which followed every one of No. 1214's most effective drives.

"But how on earth could he have got aboard when he was on the bridge five minutes before midnight?" demanded the judge.

"Said he flew aboard like a bird," reasserted the sailor positively. "Never seen him fly, but he must ha' got there somehow."

"May it please the court," I said, "I can clear this mystery. Here was the Giovanna going out into the world, and there on the bridge was No. 1214 with a soul full of yearning. It was only a step from the bridge roadway to the ship's maintop masthead. The soul full of yearning gets the best of 1214 and he makes the step, casts away his uniform and becomes a mysterious disappearance."

"But what has become of him?" asked the judge.

"Quit us at Bonos Airs," said the sailor. "Found a lot of dagoes there battin' a little baseball round a room with their hands. Went in an' played one of 'em, then two of 'em, then three of 'em, an' got all their money. When we sailed, he was fixin' up a place of his own, an' said he'd be an alderman in six months if they had 'em there."

"That is No. 1214 beyond reasonable doubt," said the judge. "Shall we report the matter?"

"Nit," said Bunt. "He might want to git back his job on the police some day."

So we held our peace, and on the police records No. 1214 is still down as missing.

Tried Them on the Indians.

"When I was out in Oregon, fifty-three years ago," said a pleasant looking farmer, who has been in the red raspberry business for twenty-five years, "I first saw red raspberries growing wild in the thickets and along the edges of the wild Oregon roads. They were saucer shaped and not so deep as the modern berry, just like those which still grow wild in Michigan. As the Oregon berries looked tempting I picked a lot in my hat, but did not dare to eat them, as I did not know whether they were poisonous or not.

"On my way back to camp I met a number of Indians whom I had seen before and knew to be friendly; in fact, they had taken such a fancy to me that they once offered to adopt me into the tribe. To these genial Indians I presented my hatful of fresh red raspberries, and my joy was great when they ate them all with relish. After that I ate all I wanted.

"In old New England, I understand, they used to call the raspberry 'the thimbleberry' on account of its resemblance to a woman's thimble."—Detroit Free Press.

A Matter of Sex.

"Does your parrot talk?"

"No; it's a male."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

STYLISH TRIMMINGS.

Taffeta Bands For Muslin Gowns. Lace the Ideal Ornamentation.

A new idea in trimming muslins and batiste gowns is the use of taffeta bands. They are straight or curved at the edges and scattered with embroidered polka dots. The taffeta may be white or some delicate color. One band is placed at the hem and another between waist and hem, curving up in the back. The bodice usually is outlined at the yoke with an applique pattern of this.

Lace forms, of course, the ideal summer trimming. Jaunty little coats made of lace are quite cut away in front to show the waist and fasten with a band of chine ribbon, which passes under the arms and is caught with art nouveau enameled clasps. The sleeves reach to a little below the elbow and are slit to above the bend of the arm.

BLUE MUSLIN.

Some of the neatest street parasols are made of white silk, hemstitched around the edge. The silk is often embroidered in polka dots or small figures, and the handles are of wood.

A pretty blue muslin is the subject of the sketch. The waist is made with a very original arrangement in the shape of a frilled bolero and a wide satin collar. The sleeves are finished with frills. The skirt is laid in fine perpendicular tucks and has a graduated flounce finished with three narrow frills. JUDIC CHOLLET.

DETAILS OF DRESS.

Neck Boas Are Made to Go With Each Costume.

The tulle bow at the back of the neck is not seen so much on gowns this summer.

Boas of every description are the rage this summer. They come in chiffon, dotted and plain; net, feathers, chenille, ribbon, and crepe de chine in all the delicate shades as well as black and white. White dotted net trimmed with black and white ribbon is very pretty. The chenille boas are usually of black, trimmed with white chiffon or white satin ribbon. Some are small, while others reach to the bottom of the gown. The newest are composed of one or more wide ruffles, which lie flat on the shoulders and gradually taper as they reach the ends.

LACE NET RUFFLE.

Many of the handsomest boas are made of lace.

A very dainty cape ruffle is the subject of our sketch. It is made of wide lace gathered very full in two rows, and it is ornamented with a spray of natural looking pink roses. The hat which goes with this is of pink chiffon trimmed with small pink roses and black velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

When the Worm Turned.

Nell—They were divorced on the grounds of incompatibility.

Belle—How was that?

Nell—He refused to wear the neckties she bought him to match the carpets and wall paper.—Boston Transcript.

A Sure Cure for Headaches. — Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Will be Found an Excellent Remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

The Well Known Strengthening Properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer Complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of "Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup," and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation. —Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

UNTOLD MISERY — WHAT A WELL-KNOWN COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER SUFFERED, AND HOW HE WAS CURED.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time travelling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished, I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of Dyspepsia.
(Signed),
T. S. McINTEE.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

He Has Tried It.—Mr. John Anderson, Kimloss, writes: "I venture to say few, if any, have received greater benefit from the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, than I have. I have used it regularly for over ten years, and have recommended it to all sufferers I knew of, and they also found it of great virtue in cases of severe bronchitis and incipient consumption."

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

ONE WAY TO KILL A DOG

FASTEN DYNAMITE TO HIS TAIL AND LIGHT A FUSE, BUT DON'T FORGET TO TIE HIM.

Pittsburg, Aug. 20.—George Meehou a coal miner of Scali Siding, near Drifton, wanted to relieve his mangy dog of suffering by killing him. Disliking the sight of blood, he tied two sticks of dynamite to the dog's tail last night, lighted a long fuse and bolted for the house. He forgot, however, to tie the dog.

The dog got to the house, only to find the door slammed in his face, so he crept under the cabin, which stood on posts. Nothing was left of the dog, and the cabin was blown into small pieces.

Meehou and his wife were found full of splinters among the ruins. They will be laid up for a month.

The Canadian Northern Railway Company have brought twenty boilermakers and machinists from Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, to take the place of the strikers.

WARNING TO CIGARETTE FIENDS

HE KNOWS HE'S JACK—THAT'S ALL THIS CIGARETTE SMOKER CAN TELL ABOUT HIMSELF.

Policeman Clark, of Jersey City, found a well-dressed young man, who was smoking a cigarette, sitting on the steps of the Church of the Holy Cross early yesterday morning. The officer was unable to get any information from the stranger other than that his name was "Jack" and that he had forgotten where he lived.

"Jack" was taken to the Ocean Ave. station house, where the cops took turns trying to refresh his memory. They were not successful. Police Justice Murphy remanded the man to the City Prison in the hope that his friends may call for him. "Jack" smoked several cigarettes in quick succession in his cell last night and seemed to be struggling hard to remember who he was.—N.Y. Sun.

WEDDING AT BLESSINGTON

A WELL KNOWN COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE.

On Monday evening last a large number of invited friends assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, Blessington, to witness the marriage of their daughter Miss Theda, to Mr. Robert Miller, of Madoc village. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Fusee, of Tyendinaga. The bride was attired in a dress of white muslin and carried a bouquet of white carnations. After the nuptial knot had been tied the wedding repast was partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left on Tuesday for Manitoba, where they intend to reside.

YOU WILL LIKE IT

Malt Breakfast Food

IS NOT FLAT AND MUSHY LIKE THE ORDINARY CEREALS.

IT GETS ITS DELICATE AND DELICIOUS FLAVOR FROM THE MALT IN IT.

You will surely like Malt Breakfast Food as well as the thousands who are now using it regularly every morning.

Malt Breakfast Food is not a flat, mushy food like the ordinary cereals now seeking recognition. It is a delicious concentrated food loved by young and old—a food that bestows a vigorous health, making you happy and contented.

Malt Breakfast Food is the only grain food scientifically combined with pure and health-giving Malt. This scientific combination produces the delicate flavor peculiar to Malt Breakfast Food. This food is as economical as common oatmeal. One package makes twenty-five meals. Do not accept inferior foods; ask for Malt Breakfast Food and see that you get it. All Grocers.

Jas. Currie, jr., was fined at Berlin, Ont., yesterday $20 for ringing a false fire alarm.

It's About Over

OUR SWEEP-OUT SHOE SALE

Of the season's remnants.

This week will likely bring it to a close. Some of the best Bargains for the last. Don't miss this opportunity.

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

Daily Intelligencer.

TARTE ON PROTECTION.

Canada has to-day what may fairly be designated a conglomerate Government. Heretofore, at least since the forties, the Government of Canada, whether Conservative or Reform, has been carried on upon the principle of responsible government; Ministers, so far as the outside world was concerned, being a unit upon all public questions. At present we have a Ministry composed of men diametrically opposed to each other upon one of the most important problems in political economy. Notwithstanding the fact, that Ministers are supposed, under the constitution, to be a unit, they are found attacking each other in public upon vital questions of policy. Many instances might be given; at present, however, we confine ourselves to the great question of protection and free trade.

A year ago in Mantreal at a banquet given by the Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Tarte told those present, in presence of Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding and other Ministerial colleagues, that upon the question of protection, they, the members of the Cabinet, "quarrel like blazes."

It is well known that the Finance Minister, Mr. Fielding, was not only chagrined but highly offended at this declaration, and resented it, but did not resign. What did Tarte care for that? To show his contempt of all of the free trade members of the Cabinet, he has again boasted of his continued adherence to the principle of protection.

At the Manufacturers' Association banquet, given the other day in Halifax, to attend which he journeyed from Ottawa to Nova Scotia, and did not hesitate to proclaim his views. While discussing the question of transportation, he is reported in the Mail and Empire, to have said:—

> "We could sell as cheaply to the Canadian consumer as the United States producer, provided we had a proper tariff.
>
> "The country must be protected by a strong Canadian tariff. The voices of the nation, the farmers, the consumers, the manufacturers were stronger than any Government, and their voice for a Canadian tariff must prevail over that of any set of politicians. I have been long opposed to free trade government. We have at Sorel yards that are building great ships; at Sydney we are producing iron. We can build ships on the lakes, and you can build them at Halifax. We can build our own locomotives to carry our own freight. (Applause.)"

These are sentiments which smack very much of a Conservative speaker; hence it is not to be wondered that Mr. Borden, the leader of the Conservative party, endorsed them, when he said, in speaking immediately after the Minister of Public Works, that "Mr. Tarte's views on the tariff were "not unlike those he himself had uttered in the House of Commons, and "those Mr. Tarte himself had before "spoken in the same arena."

What he meant by the declaration that he had "been long opposed to free trade government," may be better understood by quoting from the Toronto Globe's report of this remarkable speech. The Globe's report says:—

> Mr. Tarte said that the great need of Canadian manufacturers was cheap transportation between different portions of the Dominion and between the Dominion and ports on the continent, and freedom from being made a slaughter market by foreign manufacturers.
>
> • • • • • •
>
> He was prepared to state his own position, and to stand or fall by it, and it was that this country must be united by cheap transportation, and have the protection of a tariff ample for its needs.
>
> • • • • • •
>
> Canada must have factories of its own, it must build ships of its own. He belonged, of course, to a free trade Government, but upon the advice of the Minister of Finance, and with his entire sympathy, they had bonused the iron industry. Why did they not go a step further and have a shipbuilding policy? They could build ships on the great lakes, and they could build ships at Halifax for the sea. In closing, Mr. Tarte said that their strongest men were sent to represent them in the Commons, for now they were needed, and in this connection he said that in the present leader of the Opposition the Maritime Provinces had a strong man.

Is it any wonder that the Conservative leader gave his assent to such sound Conservative doctrine?

What will his Grit colleagues in the Cabinet say to this bold declaration of protectionists principles? Nothing. Tarte is Master of the situation, and like the Globe, they will be as dumb as an oyster.

The United States fishing schooner Howard Holbrook has been seized at Halifax for landing one cask of oil, seven pairs of rubber boots and a box of tobacco without paying duty.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Good work at the fire saved this city a severe blow. Our firemen are to be congratulated upon their efficient work.

• • •

Those Cubans seem not to have learned yet that the first essential to successful government is never to resign from an office when one gets mad, but to hang on until kicked out. Even if they are whipped as G. Washington Ross is.

• • •

Troops can control riots in the mine regions, but such cold-blooded assassinations as those reported from Scranton call for hangings.

• • •

The United States may stand only third in control of the world's commerce, but Great Britain and Germany don't dare to compare baseball records with them.

• • •

The general increase in British trade returns for July probably shows some influence of the peace in South Africa. The increase in imports was nearly double that in exports. The burden of the Boer war was a heavy one.

• • •

Charles M. Schwab is but 40 years old. He entered the steel business at a salary of $6 a week. As president of the United States Steel Corporation he is said to have received $250,000 a year. Yet in his case as in many others success seems to have been won at the sacrifice of his health.—Buffalo Express.

• • •

If that Chicago bank which forbids its employees to marry until they are getting $1,000 a year were really solicitous for their welfare, it would go a step farther, and place them all on a $999.99 salary. —Buffalo Express.

• • •

A Kentucky girl has refused 150 offers of marriage in order that she may fit herself in Europe to be a professional musician. The young men certainly did all they could to save the public from another affliction.

• • •

Another rumor bobs up to the effect that the coal strike is soon to be settled. Let us hope that the rumor is true.

• • •

Kissing a Binghamton baby near its ear ruptured the child's ear drum and made it partially deaf. Mammas, take warning.

• • •

A chicken hatched at Livonia has four wings, four legs and two perfect bodies joined at the neck, with one head.

• • •

A Whitney Point farmer had a hard time boarding his first trolley. He tried to climb over the fender and then tried to vault the motorman's gate.

• • •

The experience with the 3,200 miles of railroad owned and operated by the Government in Victoria, South Australia, shows that a railway may be run by a Government with economy and yet have due regard for the accommodation of the public. The expenses for one year were only sixty-two per cent. of the receipts.

• • •

General Booth has just acquired 30,000 acres of land in Western Australia, where he will establish a great Salvation Army agricultural and industrial colony, which he will populate from the London slums.

• • •

During the season in which thunderstorms are common it is interesting to learn what trees should be avoided in particular when the air is charged with electricity. An ancient Swiss proverb advises people to avoid the oak tree, to fly from the fir and seek the beech tree, which is safe. A little time ago a special inquiry was made in Canton Lucerne to find if there was any truth in the proverb. Statistics showed out that out of eighty trees struck by lightning in a forest district fifty-six were oaks, twenty-four firs and larches, but, though there were 17 beeches, not a single one suffered.

• • •

George A. Whitney, homesteading agent for Canada, has been authorized by the Dominion Government to proceed to the coal regions and offer inducements to 30,000 more of the striking miners and their families to form a colony and to locate on free homesteads, which the Government will provide for them, in the great wheat belt of the Northwest.

• • •

An exclusive pork diet tends infallibly to pessimism. Beef, if persevered in for months, makes a man strong, energetic and audacious. A mutton diet continued for any length of time tends to melancholia, while veal eaters gradually lose energy and gayety. The free use of eggs and milk tends to make women healthy and vivacious. Butter used in excess renders its users phlegmatic and lazy. Apples are excellent for brain workers, and everybody who has much intellectual work to do should eat them freely. Potatoes render one dull, invidious and lazy, when eaten constantly and in excess. To preserve the memory to an advanced age, nothing is better than mustard.

The Cosmopolitan Character of the MAGI Caledonia Springs demonstrates the Wide-spread reputation of these great curative Baths and Waters

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Mrs. Wm. Tennent has returned from a visit to Picton.

Mrs. John Latta, North Front St., is visiting in Deseronto.

Miss Beatrice Latta has gone to Montreal for a brief visit.

Mr. Frank Thompson, of Queensboro, was in the city to-day.

Miss E. Curtis, of Barrie, is the guest of Mrs. Stewart, Ann street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McDonough, of Peterboro, were in the city to-day.

Mrs. John Gordanier, of this city, is the guest of Mrs. F. Cooley, of Trenton.

Mrs. F. C. Wilson, of Cleveland, O., is visiting her mother, Mrs. S. Young, of Sidney.

Mr. J. F. Wilder returned to Rochester last night, after a visit with relatives here.

Messrs. Jacob Finkle and W. A. Huffman have gone to Ottawa to attend the Central Fair.

Mr. John T. Cockram, of the St. Lawrence Hall, Madoc, was in the city yesterday on business.

Mrs. Reed, Misses Addie and Marguerite Pringle, George St., are visiting relatives in Napanee.

Miss Florence Moon, of this city, and the Misses Higgens, of Port Hope, are camping at Stoney Lake.

Misses Maud Brock returned yesterday from a holiday spent with her sister on the lower St. Lawrence.

Mr. Joe Goodman, of Toronto, was in the city yesterday attending the funeral of the late Mrs. W. Watkins.

Mr. James Boyle, Trenton, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. James McDonnell, of Montreal, is in the city for his holidays. He still thinks there is no place better than the Bay of Quinte district.

Mrs. McKelvy, Wallaceburg; Mrs. H.

Rev. Frank DuMoulin, Rector of St. Peter's, Chicago, and Mrs. DuMoulin, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Northrup for the past few days, left last evening for Toronto, where they will spend Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sawyer Johnson, of Boston, arrived in the city this morning per "North King." Their numerous friends will regret that their visit is to be a brief one, as they leave on Monday next.

At the Quinte;—A. J. Johns and son, A. M. Louttit, A. W. Hargrove, J. B. Easson, W. H. Pearson, Misses A. and J. Fowler, Miss E Smith, Toronto; L. G. Mickles, Buffalo; C. A. Fownes and wife, C. McDonald, New York; Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Serson, Gananoque; F. H. Minaker, H. C. Douglas, Montreal; F. C. Lalond, Brockville; R. Manley, Chicago; A. D. Proctor, Ottawa; R. C. Carter, J. F. Chapman, Deseronto; J. Phillips, Detroit; W. G. Parker, Mrs. C. E. Parker, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Pearce, H. R. Pearce, Miss J. Pearce, Marmora.

SPORTING NOTES.

Arrangements are being made to have the Madoc Baseball Club come to Belleville on Wednesday next to meet the Belleville team. If the game takes place it will be one of the warmest kind.

The heart within to resist evil is better than a fence without.

The problem is not to get education out of politics so much as to get education into the politicians.

Bronchitis All serious lung troubles begin with a tickling in the throat. You can stop this at first in a single night with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Use it also for hard colds, and for coughs of all kinds.

25c., 50c., $1.00.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Clothes Wringers.

You will appreciate the quality to be found in our

Royal Canadian

Eze Rapid

They have fine white rubber rolls which are vulcanized directly on the shafts.

They work with a patent screw clamp which will enable you to get all the water from your clothes without tearing them to pieces. There action is easy so that it does not use up all your strength in operating.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Will You Be One ?

Our Customers are our best advertisements. Every pair of glasses fitted by us sell others.

Every day some one says, Mrs. So and So is so well pleased with her glasses that I thought I would come to you.

We are human though never satisfied. We want to add you to our chain. To fit you is to fit your friends in the future,

We Correct All Defects of The Human Eye That Glasses Will Remedy.

ALEX. RAY.

If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

The fellow who borrows 50 cents is content to do things by halves.

English Fruit Salt

—PLEASANT
—COOLING
—REFRESHING.

One large bottle - 40c

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic

This preparation has been very highly recommended, being a natural remedy for Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Hysterics, Nervousness, Melancholy, Dizziness, Hysteria, Spinal Weakness.

Price $1.00 a Bottle.

—AT—

WATERS'

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting, Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y, STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 22.

STOCK	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	92	92⅞	92	92¾
do. pref.	102	102¼	102	102½
C.P.R.	138¾	139½	138¾	139½
Twin City	128½	....	....	....
U. S. Steel	41	41⅛	40⅞	41⅛
do. pref.	99	90⅛	90	90
W. Union	94¾	95⅛	94¾	95
Pc	104½	104½	104¼	104½
Manhattan	134¾	135¼	134¾	135½
Erie	39¾	40⅛	39¾	40⅛
do pref.	69½	69½	69	69
L. & N.	156	156⅛	154¾	156
M. P.	116½	117⅛	116	117
Nor.	70¼	70⅞	70½	70⅞
N. Y. C.	163¾	164	163½	164
Reading	67⅞	68⅜	67⅞	67⅞
do pref.	86½	86¾	86½	86¾
St. Paul	185½	185⅞	184¼	185¾
South Pac.	73	75⅛	72⅞	75⅛
Sou. Ry.	40½	40⅞	40¼	40⅞
Union. Pac.	108¼	109	108	108⅞
Amn. Loco.	32	32¾	32	32¾
do. pref.	93⅞	....	....	....
Penna	160	160⅛	159½	160
Alton	44¼	44¼	43½	44
Ills. Cent.	168⅛	168½	168	168½
Sugar	132½	133¼	132⅜	133
C. & O.	54⅛	54⅛	53⅞	54⅛
B & O.	109½	110	109⅛	109⅞
H. V.	100	101	100	102
Texas	52⅛	53¼	52⅛	53

Sept. wheat opened at 71 7-8, closed at 71 3-8.

Sept. corn opened at 57 1-2, closed at 57.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS.

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 22.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers.
C. P. R.	139 1-8	139
Toronto Railway	122	121 5-8
Twin City	128 1-2	128
Con. Lake Superior	28	27 3-8
Dom. Coal	143	142
Dom. Iron & Steel	77	76 7-8
Sao Paulo	106 3-4	106

(Changed daily)

Friday, August 22, 1902.

SATURDAY SPECIALS

A DAY OF BOOKS,
A DAY OF STATIONERY.

You will find books at bargains everywhere, on the bargain tables, on the half price shelves and in every available space where they can be seen.

STATIONERY—

A counter devoted to bargains in all kind of stationery, not forgetting commercial requirements.

SCHOOL BOOKS—

Books and supplies of every description, everything you could think of to make children happy in their labors. Exercise books and scribblers so thick and paper so good you will wonder how they can be made for so little money. Candidly, we have this year the best line of school supplies we have ever before seen, and that's saying a lot, for we have always had the best.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Paper Wholesale & Retail

NEWS NOTES.

NEWS NOTES FROM CITIES AND TOWNS FROM ALL OVER CANADA.

Thomas Kelly, J.P., is dead at St. Thomas.

Hamilton Beach is to have new cement sidewalks.

The Seventh Band of London may go to New York on Labor Day.

Robert Hunt, C.P.R. sectionman, was run over and killed near Rat Portage.

The Synod of the diocese of Rupert's Land opened at Winnipeg yesterday.

Over 100 hogs have died of hog cholera in Middlesex county.

A. Spencer, a well known Winnipeg contractor, is dead at Los Angeles, Cal.

The latest union to be formed in Winnipeg is the Bucksawyers' Union of Manitoba.

Between Kingston and Renfrew 275 men left for the North-west harvest fields on Wednesday.

Up to date the Canadian troops have been paid by the British Government in gratuities a sum aggregating about $400,000.

Work was begun on Thursday on the proposed Windsor, Essex, and Lake Simcoe Electric Railway from Windsor to Kingsville.

Commissioner Ross left White Horse yesterday for Victoria, B.C.

The price of hardwood has advanced among Guelph dealers fifty cents a cord, and is now selling at $6.50, with cut and split at $7.00.

The Woodstock Times reports that some farmers in that district are sending back their binder twine, because their crops being ruined, they have no use for it.

SERGE SUITS AT $7.00.

See the serge suits, in men's sizes, that the Oak Hall are selling at $7. We just received them this morning and they are as good for a little better than anything you ever saw at $8. Hard finished worsted serge, coats all French faced, full 16 oz. goods, sewn with silk. Suppose you have a look at them.

A LITHUANIAN TIPPLE.

(Toronto Globe.)

An American officer, who has been helping to keep order at the anthracite mines say that the trouble is due to foreigners, who are largely Anarchists. The Lithuanians, he says, fear neither man nor God, and are desperate and utterly beyond control. "Shenandoah is a veritable hell-hole. Many thousand barrels of beer are sold there annually to the miners. They dump a barrel into an old wash-tub—whether it is clean or not makes not the slightest difference — and then they pour in a couple of quarts of vile whiskey. The mixture is stirred up with a broom handle, and is then ready to drink. Old tin cups, broken glasses, anything is used in conveying the stuff to the drinkers, who consume it until they reach an advanced stage of intoxication."

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto,

Dr. Chase's Ointment

5 & 10c Store. J. C. WOOD'S 15 & 25c Store.

Saturday Specials

NOTIONS

Chetalaine Bags, reg. 50c; for ... 25c
Gentlemen's Bill Books for 25c
Boys' White Sailor Collars, reg. 15c; for 5c
Boys' Colored Sailor Collars, reg. 35c; for 10c
Gentlemen's Black Cash. Hose, reg. 25c; for 15c

SOAPS

6 bars perfumed Castile, 11 in. long for 25c
6 boxes King Edward Parlor Matches for 25c
Sponges, reg. 25c, for 15c

GENEVAWARE

INSPECT OUR WINDOW AND SEE THESE BEAUTIFUL GOODS AT 5, 10, 15 and 25c EACH.

SCHOOL BOOKS

WE HAVE A FULL RANGE OF PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS AND SUPPLIES.

Buy them here and save money.

CANDY SALE—Saturday Night Only.

10c. 1-2 lb., Regular 30, 40 and 50c. lb., for ...... 10c 1-2 lb.
5c. 1-2 lb., Several Special Lines, for ...... 5c 1-2 lb.

5 & 10c Store J. C. Wood's 15 & 25c Store

Big Removal Sale.

Next month we move into the store across the street now occupied by Mr. J. H. Mills, and from now until we start to move all cash purchases at the store will be subject to a good big discount.

CARPETS, CURTAINS, WALL PAPERS, PICTURES, ETC., at lower prices than you ever before bought similar goods. You can benefit by the sale if you are in need of anything this store contains.

T. P. BROWN

Carpets, Curtains, Wall Paper, Picture Framing.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

"Wanted," at once, at Graham's Evaporator, 20 girls.—R. J. Graham. 1td

A good general servant for a small house near Institute. Apply Mrs. Wheeler, Hotel Quinte. 22-2t

We want men to sell for us; salary or commission; paid weekly; outfit free. Good demand for stock now. We have 800 acres of choice fruit and ornamental trees.—Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto, Ont. a14eod-d&w1m

WANTED TO RENT.

A house with modern conveniences, between Charles and Pinnacle streets. Apply Rev. A. H. Drumm, Cor. Bridge and Charles streets. 22-2t

FOR SALE.

Two steam barges, one 110 ft. long, 22 ft. beam; the other 97 ft. long, 16 ft. beam. Both in good running order. S. W. Marchment & Co., 103 Victoria St., Toronto. 19-6t

The late John Skinner, of Hamilton, left an annuity to the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hugh McArthur is dead at Craighurst, aged 102. She came to Canada from Scotland 50 years ago.

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Monday(at 11.30 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester at 3.25 a.m. daily (except Monday) and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to

U. K. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

EXCURSION

PER

Str. "NIAGARA"

To PICTON

Saturday Afternoon,] Aug. 23.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.

2 hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902.

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $8.45;
Return, $13.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass, Agt., Deseronto.
R. C CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents. Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.

Running all rapids.

Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

A Man and His Pension.

Mr. Ware, the commissioner of pensions, received a letter from a man in Illinois a few days ago which read:

"I am now getting a pension of $30 a month. Recently the Lord has prospered me, and I do not think I should get so much money. I gave my services to the country, and I think I should have some pension, of course, but I think $30 a month is too much. Is there any way I can have my pension reduced or suspended while I enjoy the prosperity that is mine at present?"

This is the only request for a reduction of pension ever received by the bureau. It was referred to the pension examiner in the district in which the man lived, who reported as follows:

"I have the honor to inform you that the person who applied for a reduction in his pension is now in the insane asylum at this place and has been for some time."

THE KING WHO WAS A PAUPER

By Frances Wilson

Copyright, 1901, by Frances Wilson

The king was in his counting house, but he was not counting out his money. He left such details as that to the henchmen who sat in the large outer office under the soft radiance of green shaded electric lights, adding up columns in a perfunctory manner and dreaming, to a man, of what they would do if they were king.

A modest door, upon the glass of which was inscribed in small, neat letters "Mr. Allston," led into the king's private room, where Turkish rugs smothered the floor and leather covered chairs were ranged along the wall. There was also a low bookcase, which contained such invaluable biographical dictionaries as Bradstreet's and Dun's, to say nothing of Poor's Railroad Manual, Somebody's Street Railways and a number of similar works, which constituted the king's solid reading, though he had once observed dryly that "they contain more fiction than you'd suppose from the titles."

The king was sitting at his desk, tracing with a lead pencil crude squares and rectangles on the pad before him. The buzz of Wall street, softened to a gentle murmur by the height, came in through the open windows, and a soft breeze fluttered the papers on his desk and filled the room with its freshness, just to let him know that it was April.

The breeze was damp and cool, as if it had blown across moist, earthly places where the violets were pushing upward instead of across acres of metal roof. It rumpled the king's thick hair as nonchalantly as if he had been a mere commoner and somehow set him to thinking of the queen.

He stopped making squares and rectangles and began to scrawl something on the pad instead, something that would have made the clerks in the outer office open their eyes and stare in wonder could they have seen it, for it was quite sentimental and had nothing whatever to do with stocks and bonds:

> Oh, faint, delicious springtime violet,
> Thine odor, like a key,
> Turns noiselessly in memory's wards
> To let a thought of sorrow free!

Indeed the king himself was aghast when he looked at what he had written, and he tore the sheet from the pad with a hurried, guilty air and crumpled and crushed it into a small wad before he threw it into the wastebasket. Then he took it out again and tore it into small pieces, a precaution which was entirely unnecessary, as no one had ever been able to read more than two consecutive words of the king's writing, and, besides, no one in the world would have believed him capable of quoting poetry.

He went back to his squares and rectangles again, his mind busy with the days before his millions had made him a serene highness. In those days, he remembered, he and the queen used to take long walks in the park when he could get away from the office in time. She called it their picture gallery and affected a fine scorn for the people who gushed over their Corots, Millets or Rousseaus, but gave never a thought to the real thing—the tender greens, the misty grays, the last flush of sun in the western sky, against which the trees stood out in velvety, mysterious darkness. "We get our beauty at first hand," she was wont to say gayly, "instead of on small pieces of canvas which reek of man instead of God." And they had gone their way through the soft April twilights or seasuous summer dusks, in love with life and the world.

But that was all very long ago! The king gave a weary little sigh as he realized how long. The queen—he liked to think of it all as hers—had "one of the finest private galleries in America" now, and she drove in the park on spring afternoons rather bored and disillusionized and certainly too busy in bowing to the occupants of other carriages to give much time to the beauty about her. It no longer gave her a thrill of delight to notice how the gray of the leafless trees sometimes melted into a pale amethyst nor did it touch her with a subtle sadness to watch the sunset through a network of bare branches. It is only the poor who have time to appreciate nature's free exhibitions.

Even kings have their bad quarter hours, though you couldn't make any of the clerks in the outer office believe it. In this particular case, for instance, not one of them divined that his majesty was sitting there in his luxurious private room longing for the old days before he was king, living over the days when he and the queen were first married—those exciting days when he could scarcely get home fast enough in his eagerness to tell her perhaps that the time had come when she might afford the pale green carpet and mahogany furniture upholstered to match which she had so long coveted for her little drawing room.

And the pink brocade hangings! The king smiled reminiscently as he thought of them, for they were a surprise. She never dreamed that they had reached that point of affluence where they could afford them, and he had decided to surprise her with them. He could still see the shine in her eyes and the flush on her cheeks when they came home! The portrait painters should have done her then, the king thought discontentedly.

Well, the queen had her carriage now and a retinue of servants and Paris gowns galore, but none of these things had ever brought the light to her eyes that had shone there when the brocade hangings came home. Life had given her all her wishes and filched from her—zest. It seemed rather tragic to the poor king at this moment that the very success to which she had been his chief inspiration had become the ocean upon which they were drifting apart; not intentionally—heaven forbid that—but like two ships when the cable that lashed them together had been sundered.

It was the price they paid for a lion's share of the world's money. There was something chummy and intimate about a six room apartment with one maid which a house of the king really did not know how many rooms and a host of servants could not possibly attain.

Then it comes about naturally enough that queens should breakfast in bed and that kings have their clubs and that both should feel obliged to respond to the thousand and one demands upon their time until they neglect each other from sheer weariness. If there had been boys and girls about the great house, the king told himself with a sore sense of desolation about his heart, things might have been different.

He took out his watch. It was just 4 o'clock.

"Call up my house," was the brief command to the boy who appeared in response to his ring, "and ask for Mrs. Allston."

They would go for a walk in the park once more, he and the queen, and revive the old times before they were rich and stupid. And he would tell her—he felt as shy as a boy at the thought—how the breeze had suddenly set him to thinking of her and the old days and he had found himself scrawling that favorite verse of hers, did she remember, "Oh, faint, delicious springtime violet," and—

The tinkle of the telephone bell at his side interrupted him.

"An engagement at 5? Can't you break it?" The king's voice was full of disappointment and appeal, and the queen, who stood serene and beautiful at the other end of the wire, wondered languidly what was the matter. "Very well. I may not be home for dinner. Sorry you couldn't go." And the king hung up the receiver with an odd sense of loneliness and failure.

He pulled down his desk cover with a bang, picked up his gloves and strode out, followed by a dozen pairs of envious eyes, and all the time he was asking himself bitterly what it profits a man if he gain the whole world and lose the sweetest thing in life—the soul to soul companionship which made the old life dear.

"After all," mused the assistant stenographer as the click of the elevator door announced that he was really gone, "I sometimes imagine that the king isn't quite happy!" And then she rested her tired head upon her hand and tried to wonder what it would be like to have plenty of money.

Changed Her Name.

Mrs. Pigg, a very charming and vivacious widow, called recently on a legal friend of hers, a widower, to consult him on a matter of interest to her.

"You know, sir," she said to him, "that when the late Mr. Pigg died he left me all his fortune, much to my satisfaction, of course, but he handicapped it with the name of Pigg, which I must say I don't like."

"Well," ventured the lawyer, "I presume a handsome woman isn't especially complimented by being left a Pigg."

"I should say not," she laughed. "Now, what I came to see you about was whether or not I must execute what you call a deed poll to get it changed."

"Um—er," he hesitated, as if wrestling with a great legal problem, "um—er—yes, but an easier way is to apply to a parson, and I'll pay all the expenses myself."

It was sudden, but a widow is never caught napping, and she appointed that evening for another consultation.

Kind Hearted.

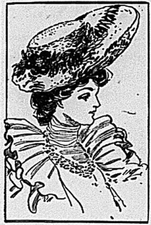
"But why," she asked after they had hummed along a block or two, "do you take this course. It doesn't seem to be a bit interesting."

"There are several hospitals located out this way," he answered, letting out another notch. "I always like to make it easy as possible for the victims."

FASHION HINTS.

How the Latest Skirts Are Trimmed. Flounces Popular.

Cloth skirts are being flounced with silk, and silk and satin dresses have flounces of chiffon (which should be put on double), point d'esprit, net, gauze, etc. Grenadine is too stiff for shaped flounces. It looks best in straight frilled flounces. Kilted and box plaited flounces look well in glace or foulard. Muslin frills are pretty. They can also be shaped and edged with narrow ribbon.



IMPORTED HAT.

Alternate bands of silk and lace insertion compose many handsome gowns. Dresses of all over white and beige embroidery are finished with rows of tiny satin ribbon ruffles. Generally all the summer dresses are made with elbow sleeves beautifully finished with lace ruffles and ribbon bows. Gowns of transparent material are appliqued with lace medallions placed here and there on the body of the gown. Black velvet ribbon is often used as a finish. Figured lawns, swisses and dimities are very pretty and are made elaborate.

The pretty French hat in the cut is of coarse ecru straw trimmed with black silk flowers and green leaves.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

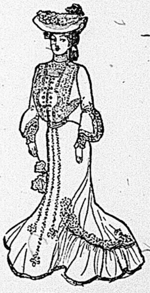
GOWNS FOR THE COUNTRY.

Foulards Are Elaborately Trimmed. —Useful Holland Dresses.

Foulards and china silks have large, sprawly figures and are elaborately trimmed. The bottoms of the skirts are finished with innumerable chiffon ruffles, and they have very long trains.

Some ox blood mercerized chambray suits are trimmed with rows of white honiton braid, the same appearing on sailor collar and bodice. Plain shirt waist suits are made with tiny tucks back and front. The sleeves are tucked below the elbow.

Brown holland is another material a liking for which has been revived this season. It is extraordinary how very smart a costume of this can look when cut and fitted by a first class tailor or dressmaker.



WHITE CHEVIOT GOWN.

An approved hat for country wear is made of fine white or cream chip, with a wide brim and a flat crown which is encircled by a wreath of flowers and leaves.

A pretty seashore gown is made of white cheviot, as shown in the illustration. The waist has its body made of all over Irish lace, with a front and bolero effect of the goods. The sleeves are slashed to allow a glimpse of the lace undersleeve. The skirt has a gathered flounce set in under a wide band of insertion, and there are three narrow bands of insertion down the front. The hat is a model of elegant simplicity.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Hard on the Absent.

Flowery Young Clergyman (conducting a children's service while occupying a pulpit for a brother clergyman en route to Europe)—Well, children, I am very glad to be able to address you today. I'd a great deal rather talk to you children than to the older people, for I love children. But instead of talking to you I want to talk with you. So when I ask any questions, you may answer promptly. Now, children, what have we to be thankful for today?

Children—Flowers, birds, sunlight, church, school, homes.

Young Clergyman—All very well, children, very well. But whom do we miss today?

Children (viva voce)—Mr. Twitchell.

Young Clergyman—Quite right, children, quite right. We all miss Mr. Twitchell. Who can tell me where he is today?

Children—On the ocean.

Young Clergyman (poetically)—Yes, children, on the ocean and half seas over.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, Southwest and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.

SECOND CLASS $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.

Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."

For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.

A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East,
Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS

Front St. Phone 91.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, 02

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums

$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

All the Resources of Our Glorious Country

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE

THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Back.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail......	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed......	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed......	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail......	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed......	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed......	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed......	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed......	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling

XXX Cider and White Wine Vinegars

Pure Spices

Whole and Ground.

ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.

Telephone 214.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.

CHAS. N. SULMAN.

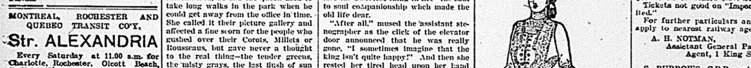
Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.



A Satisfying Wheat Malt Food that Restores Vitality Consumed by the Fire of Life.

Albany, N. Y., March 2, 1902.

"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—I have used your "FORCE" frequently, and cheerfully recommend it as the best cereal I have ever used. It is nutritious, strengthening, and Nature's quick restorer for the young, aged, and invalids. I have a package of it in the house all the time.

Yours very truly, ——— ———

Name furnished on application.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

"Oh, yes!" mademoiselle replies briefly. It is no part of her scheme to spare Yolande's feelings. "He and Miss Murray went out an hour ago, up the hills as far as Penmawr, I believe."

"Alone?" Lady Maria asks, with a scandalised emphasis, and a warning glance at Yolande which her devoted nurse is too busy to see.

"Oh, no—at least, I think not! Miss Powys and her brother went with them," mademoiselle answers absently. "They will lunch at Penmawr, of course. There is such delicious bread-and-cheese to be had there, and home-brewed ale, and all sorts of nice things!"

"Penmawr is five miles away," Lady Maria observes.

"Oh, yes!" mademoiselle says quietly. "They can't be back until the evening. Ten miles across the hills is no joke."

"You were afriad of the fatigue, I suppose, dear?" Lady Maria says, with an inquisitive look at Yolande. "You don't look strong. It would have been too much for you."

"Yes," Yolande answers, in a dull voice, "I could not have borne it."

And then she rises and bids Lady Maria good morning, resisting a pressing invitation to try the Duffer-Muller method of exercising her muscles, or the effects of the galvanic battery, or a dose of ante-luncheon bitters, or any of the seductions of Lady Maria's delightful retreat. She escapes them all, and gets away to her own room to spend the long, weary day alone.

"Isabelle," Lady Maria says, desisting a minute from anxiously feeling her own pulse, "why has Captain Glynne gone off with Miss Murray and left his young wife at home?"

"I am sure I don't know, Lady Maria," Miss Glover replies, with a little moue of puzzled inquiry.

"It doesn't seem very attentive or loving conduct on the part of a bridegroom, I think," Lady Maria observes severely. "I disapprove of course of love-making and devoted fondness and all that sort of thing extremely, and consider it in very bad taste for a married couple to display their fondness for each other openly: but I certainly disapprove of quite marked indifference to each other's society. It is equally in bad taste until people have been married a year or so — or unless special circumstances oblige them to be very much apart."

"Very bad taste, indeed, as your ladyship says," responds mademoiselle.

"And Joyce, too," Lady Maria goes on angrily — her blue-eyed, golden-haired, gay, young cousin is no favorite with the faded, sickly invalid — "I think Joyce might have had the decency not to permit Dallas Glynne openly to neglect his young wife for her so soon! Every one knows that there was some engagement or nonsense of that kind between her and Dallas Glynne formerly."

"Indeed, yes, Lady Maria — as you say," echoes mademoiselle with meek regret. "It is scarcely decent, such open neglect of a young newly-married wife!"

"I shall speak to Captain Glynne, if I see anything more of conduct of this sort!" Lady Maria declares more angrily.

"Pardon me if I suggest that you should speak to Miss Murray also, Lady Maria," mademoiselle says smoothly. "Miss Murray fears very much actually incurring your displeasure, and fears also very much being banished from Pentreath Place. It has great charms for her," she adds, in a curious altered tone — "for the Honorable Mrs. Murray, her mother, as well."

"I wonder why," Lady Maria remarks uneasily, trying to read her companion's countenance.

"It is time for your oysters and beef-tea, Lady Maria!" she says, in tones of solemn importance. "Five minutes to the hour. I must order them at once."

"Not beef-tea to-day, Isabelle," Lady Maria says anxiously. "I fancied it did not agree with me very well yesterday."

"Clear gravy soup, then," suggests the devoted attendant, "or Julienne with green pease?"

"How can you think of such a thing?" Lady Maria exclaims tragically. "Green pease! I am surprised at you, Isabelle! Of course you have not been very long in my service, or you would know that green pease — especially canned pease, for the gardener has very few so early as this — are simply deadly poison to me!"

"I wonder now much Miss Joyce and the Viscount would give me for the hint," Miss Isabelle remarks to herself malignantly.

"I might indeed consider myself as a laid-aside invalid," Lady Maria goes on in a tone of sorrowful importance, "if I ate green pease in any form!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

Darkness within and without, darkness all about her, darkness in her heart! Yolande Glynne, a desolate, forlorn bride, not three weeks married and already neglected by her husband, begins to realize her position, to pity herself, and to weep bitter tears about herself in girlish, heart-broken grief and anger. But when the long, long day wears on, and the sunshine fades, and the blue skies are darkly clouded in one of April's changeful moods, and the afternoon wanes quickly, lowering skies and soughing wind and chill blasts of rain betokening a wet and stormy evening, the poor little married girl's mood changes pitifully.

"The whole live-long day without one sight of his face!" This is what she is saying to herself now, as she sits in the gloaming in her chill, gloomy bed-room.

"He is not coming — not coming! Not one sign of him — for I have never taken my eyes off that bend of the carriage road beyond the trees. No sign of him yet, and it is nearly six o'clock. I have not seen him since ten this morning. He has been gone more than seven hours — all the day — he and Joyce Murray together. Oh, Dallas, Dallas, you need not insult me so cruelly and shamefully — you need not let every one see I am a poor, unloved, despised creature you married for her money! Oh, Dallas, my darling, you need not degrade yourself so!"

She has been sitting there without stirring or changing her position for hours, ever since the afternoon began to wane, and she has expected the returning party from their long mountain excursion every minute. She has left the drawing-room, where indeed she was sitting in solitary grandeur, as Mrs. Murray, with cold courtesy, begged her to excuse her from keeping her company.

"I must be in my own rooms, ready at any moment the Earl's nurse wishes to speak to me," she says vaguely, the truth being that she is keeping a close and jealous watch on mademoiselle's movements, lest she supplant her as supernumerary head nurse in the dying Earl's room.

Mademoiselle has been sent several times with messages to the nurse or to the Viscount, when in his father's apartments, by Lady Maria, or on behalf of Lady Maria herself, and mademoiselle stays there sometimes, and takes the nurse's place for half an hour, and sees the doctor sometimes, and knows everything, and understands everything, and is generally invaluable. But Mrs. Murray feels she could cheerfully strangle mademoiselle. The rights of relationship, the privileges of birth and of old acquaintanceship all seem to melt away as barriers before the detestable, cunning, ubiquitous person who has not been in the house three weeks.

Lady Maria says, with ungrateful candor, that she never met any one who understood her so well as Mademoiselle Gantier. The Viscount, in his grave, sententious manner, declares that mademoiselle is "a most estimable young lady," and that her services are "peculiarly valuable to Lady Maria."

So Yolande, being left quite alone, and dreading Lady Maria's arrival in the drawing-room, has gone to her own grand, cheerless room, and has there shut herself in from every one. Her maid has brought her some tea at five o'clock, which she drinks sitting in the window recess still, pretending to read the while, lest Pitts should discover she is watching for her husband.

Pitts, however, sharp-eyed, quick-eared waiting-woman that she is, is well acquainted with all the secrets of her young mistress's married life.

She brings her mistress the latest news of the household, with her cup of tea.

"His lordship, the Earl, is sinking, they say, ma'am," Pitts tells her, with bated breath. "And Sir Gregory Parker is expected about nine to-night. They are saying, ma'am, that his lordship, the Earl" —Pitts loves titles—"will hardly live through another twenty-four hours."

"Has Captain Glynne come back yet, do you know, Pitts?" Yolande asks, with an assumption of carelessness, her eyes fixed on a page of her novel as she sips her tea.

"No, ma'am, they haven't come back yet," Pitts answers, with a touch of resentfulness in her voice.

"They haven't come back yet!" Yolande repeats, tossing aside the unread book, the pages of which are wet with fast-falling tears. "They are together, and I am left alone! Oh, what shall I do? What shall I do? How shall I live this dreadful life?" She sobs piteously, and then checks herself, lest "they" see the signs of weeping disfiguring her face and despise her.

But when the day is dying and the heavy rain-clouds are deepening the twilight all about the darkling woodlands, Yolande turns away with a long, heavy sigh of despair from her post at the window, and, lighting the candles on her toilet table, wearily begins to dress for dinner. She will not ring for Pitts; she looks so ill and spiritless that Pitts may think she is unhappy, and it will keep her from thinking of her troubles if she has to dress herself. So she puts on a black lace dress — one of those soft, floating, diaphanous, ever-becoming dresses which look well even in the shabby stage —over an amber satin petticoat with knots of rich amber satin amongst the black lace draperies, and then she puts on her diamonds.

Yolande has several good diamond ornaments in her splendid new velvet-lined jewel case now. In the broad band of velvet around her white throat she fastens three small stars of brilliants; then she puts in her diamond ear studs and dons her gold bangles, a horse shoe monds on the one and one large splendid stone flashing like a miniature sun on the other. Then Yolande Glynne looks at herself long and earnestly — at the ghostly, picture-like grace and charm of the slender, stately reflection she sees in the mirror.

The effect of the black-and-amber dress and the diamonds, and of the fair white face and the shining dark hair and brows above the deep lustrous eyes, startles even herself.

And, as she gazes, earnestly, without one touch of selfish vanity, a sudden, wild, fond hope lights and flushes the marble-pale face into beauty. Would that she could see Dallas now, meet one admiring look from his eyes such as he gave her last night, hurry to his side, clasp her arms about his neck, and kiss him quickly, lest her courage should fail! Surely he has returned by this time, for she heard footsteps in the dressing room a few minutes since. And, with her hands pressed tightly over her heart, to still its loud throbbing, Yolande hurries softly to the door communicating with her husband's room, and listens breathlessly.

The door is locked, but the key is on her side; and, nerving herself to the daring act, she unlocks the door stealthily, and cautiously peeps in. There is no one there; and, trembling and laughing at herself, Yolande ventures in step by step, and gazes about her with strange interest.

It is the first time she has ever dared to enter her husband's apartment, and she is terrified now at the thought of his entering and finding her there.

Still, like poor Fatima, she lingers on and on in the Bluebeard chamber, peering about in most inquisitive fashion. Captain Glynne's man — an excellent servant of his class — has just left everything laid ready for his master to dress — evening clothes and stiff, snowy shirt laid on the bed, silk socks and patent leather shoes airing near the nice bright fire, white tie, razors, and brushes on the dressing table, and a can of hot water steaming in the foot bath.

Yolande fingers the ivory brushes, touches the razors with a tremor of fear, resisting a violent longing to open one of the shining blades, peeps into the dressing case, and laughs when she sees cosmetique and violet powder and macassar oil, and "brilliantine" and choice perfumes and pastes and unguents.

"Oh, you vain fellow, and you so handsome already!" she says, smiling delightedly, at her discovery. "I should so like to see Dallas waving and twisting up his moustache, and powdering and perfuming himself like a professional beauty. Oh, you bad boy!"

And then Fatima's mishap befalls this too-curious bride also, a bottle of macassar oil replacing the fatal door key. She has the bottle in her hand with the stopper out, when she catches the sound of quickly approaching steps. The bottle, heedlessly restored, without its stopper, to its place upon the table, treacherously tumbles over, and from it pours a scented rose-colored stream over the razor case, the satchel of silk handkerchiefs, and a couple of white ties.

Yolande has barely time to realize the ruin she has wrought ere she escapes into her own room, panting and laughing, yet dreadfully frightened. She locks the door, and stands listening, when she hears a loud exclamation of dismay; it is not, however, Dallas's voice, but in his servant's!

"Just time for me to make my escape!" she thinks, too flurried quite to realize that she is leaving an innocent person to suffer blame.

"I had better go down stairs at once," Yolande decides reluctantly "and be out of the way of awkward inquiries."

She has a childish dread of provoking her husband's anger, and fairly trembles with fear as to what he may say to her in his displeasure at her entering his room and meddling with his toilet table. But there is no sound of Captain Glynne's dear imperious tones in the dressing room; and, as Yolande passes slowly along the corridor on her way down stairs, she sees that Joyce Murray's room is unoccupied save by her maid, who is quietly sewing in white net quilling into an evening dress.

They have not yet returned, Yolande is convinced. It is twenty minutes to seven now, quite dusk, and rain is falling. The wind has risen also, and is howling through the yet leafless trees, and wailing and moaning around the gables and chimney pots of Pentreath Place, which stands on high ground.

Oh, what if something has happened? What if Dallas should never return? The house is silent — silent as the grave save for the moaning wind and some low-toned voices in the Earl's sitting room, where nurses and watchers are waiting for Death. What if an accident has happened to Dallas — she never remembers Joyce Murray now — and if the shadows of funeral gloom which seem closing about her are but an omen of some awful calamity which is about to befall her? What if Dallas be dead — if she will never more see a smile in those gray-blue eyes, never more hear the tones of the proud, calm voice which has such magic power to stir the pulses of her heart?

Oh, to see Dallas and clasp his hand, and look upon him in his handsome, stalwart manhood, and forgive him anything, everything because he is as "the light of the eyes" to her!

There is a crimson-dyed sheepskin before the drawing-room door, and Yolande, standing on it, pauses a moment while she softly turns the handle, dreading in truth to encounter either Mrs. Murray or Lady Maria just now.

(To be continued.)

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at The Intelligencer Office. tf

THE MARKETS.

Grain Markets Are Firmer—Liverpool and Chicago Close Higher—Toronto Live Stock—The Latest Quotation.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 21.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅛d higher to-day and corn futures 1⅛d higher.

Chicago markets were much stronger today, and closed firm. September wheat advanced ¾c from yesterday, September corn 3⅛c and September oats 1⅛c.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	75½	73	74¼
Chicago	....	71½	70	69½
Toledo	73¼	73⅜	71⅜	73
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	74	69¼	65⅝	...

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush.	$0 72 to	$0 75
Wheat, white, bush.	0 70	0 78
Wheat, spring, bush......	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush.	0 75	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush.	0 50½	....
Barley, bush.	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush.	0 46	0 47
Oats, new, bush.	0 33½	....
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton..	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton.	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls.....	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb.........	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes....	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz.........	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb.............	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each.....	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected.......	$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected.......	0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected.............	0 07½
Hides, No. 2, inspected.............	0 06½
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling..........	0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected...........	0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected...........	0 08
Deacons (dairies), each	0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb........	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb....	0 07	....

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock were 79 carloads all told, composed of 1416 cattle, 800 hogs, 1811 sheep and lambs, with about 50 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $6; medium exporters, $5.50 to $5.80 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $4.60 to $5.25; light export bulls, $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $5 to $5.50; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1055 lbs. each, sold at $4.75 to $5 per cwt.; loads of good butchers sold at $4.25 to $4.75; loads of medium butchers, $4 to $4.25; common butchers cows at $2.75 to $3.50 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $25 to $45 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4 to $4.25 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.40 to $3.60 per cwt. for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs. nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.25 to $7.37½ per cwt.; lights at $7.12½, and fats at $7.12½ per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags $3.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Aug. 21.—There were about 300 head of butchers' cattle, 75 calves and 2500 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers, having bought nearly all the beef they required yesterday, were slow in coming out to-day, and trade was very dull all round. The prices of cattle and calves were about the same as on Monday's market, but lambs and hogs have declined considerably in price. There were no really good cattle on the market, and the price paid for the best medium cattle was 4½c per lb., and from that down to 3½c for pretty good stock. Common cattle sold at from 2¼c to 3¼c and the canners at from 1½c to 2c per lb. Calves sold at from $2 to $10 each, or from 3c to 4½c per lb. Sheep sold from 2¾c to 3¼c and lambs at from 3¼c to 4¼c per lb. Fat hogs sold at from 5¾c to 7c per lb. Good lots brought about 6¾c per lb., weighed off the cars.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 21.—Cattle—Receipts, 150 head; easier; veals strong; tops, $7.75 to $8.12½; few at $8.50; fair to good, $6.75 to $7.50; common to light, $5.50 to $6.50. Hogs, receipts, 1400 head; active; heavy, $7.35 to $7.37½; mixed, $7.30 to $7.35; light yorkers and pigs, $7.20 to $7.30; roughs, $5.50 to $6; stags, $4.75 to $5.25; grassers, $7 to $7.15; closing firm. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 1650 head; sheep dull, lambs firm; top lambs, $5.75 to $6.15; fair to good, $5.50 to $5.65; culls to common, $4.50 to $5; yearlings, $4.25 to $4.60; wethers, $4 to $4.50; sheep, mixed, $2.75 to $4; fair to good, $3.25 to $3.65; culls to common, $1.75 to $3; ewes, $3.25 to $3.75.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 21.—Beeves—Receipts, 472 head; dressed beef, steady. Calves, receipts, 67; about steady; veals sold at $5.50 to $8 per 100 lbs.; buttermilks at $4.25 to $4.50. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 5901; sheep fairly active, but averaging slightly easier in price; good lambs firm; others steady; supplies of lambs light; sheep sold at $1.50 to $3.40 per 100 lbs.; a choice deck at $3.75; lambs, $6.55; dressed mutton, 5c to 7c per lb; dressed lambs, 8c to 11c per lb. Hogs, receipts, 685.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Cattle—Receipts, 10,000, including 400 Texans, 500 Westerns; dull and lower; good to prime steers, $8 to $8.75; poor to medium, $4.25 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.25; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.25 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5; calves, $2.50 to $7; Texas-fed steers, $3 to $5; Western steers, $4.50 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 20,000; mostly 10c higher; mixed and butchers', $6.50 to $7.25; good to choice, heavy, $7 to $7.35; rough, heavy, $6.40 to $6.90; light, $6.50 to $7.25; bulk of sales, $6.80 to $7.10.

Sheep—Receipts, 13,000; steady; lambs, lower; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $4; fair to choice, mixed, $2.50 to $3.50; native lambs, $3.75 to $6.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 21.—Live cattle steady at 13c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 11½c to 12c per lb.

Supreme Officers Elected.

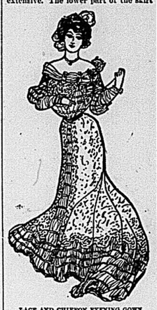
Ottawa, Aug. 22.—Yesterday the Great Priory of Knights Templars elected the following officers after selecting Sarnia as the next place of meeting: D. L. Carley, Windsor, Supreme Grand Master; Hon. William Gibson, Beamsville, Deputy Grand Master; Rev. A. W. Richardson, Kingston, Grand Chaplain; W. H. Garrioch, Ottawa, Grand Constable; B. A. Young, Montreal, Grand Marshal; O. S. Hillman, Hamilton, Grand Treasurer; W. H. Whyte, Montreal, Grand Chancellor; Frederick Walter, Hamilton, Grand Registrar.

SUMMER NOVELTIES.

Dainty Petticoats—Novel Tulle Evening Gowns.

A pretty novelty in petticoats has white muslin flounces trimmed with insertion or frillings of lace set on a foundation of silk. The flounces may be procured ready made at some stores and are intended to be tacked on to the silk slips, from which they can be removed from time to time for washing.

A white tulle dancing frock recently seen at a summer resort was lavishly trimmed with tiny coral velvet ribbons. The skirt was made with a long yoke of cluny lace describing vandyke points. On this the tulle was plaited at intervals, so that its flare was quite extensive. The lower part of the skirt was trimmed with narrow coral velvet ribbon wrought into a scalloped border.



LACE AND CHIFFON EVENING GOWN.

Another pretty tulle gown was made of simple black and white, with tiny chenille dots powdered all over it.

A very smart evening gown is here shown. It is made of ecru lace and pink chiffon. The lace is cut in a vandyke bolero over a full underblouse of the accordion plaited chiffon. This chiffon is banded with narrow black lace. The sleeves, which reach exactly to the elbow, are mainly of the chiffon banded with the lace and partly covered with two diamonds of lace joined to form an upper sleeve.

The skirt is plain, with the exception of a front and a wide flounce of chiffon. A spray of artificial roses decorates the left shoulder.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

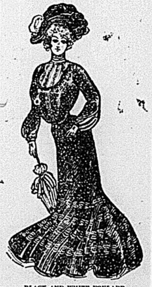
EVENING HAIR DECORATIONS

Empire Half Wreaths and Coronets of Flowers.

For evening wear as a hair decoration a full wreath or an empire half wreath of tiny pink roses, with a few leaves in either the delicate green of the rose foliage or the darker green of the ivy, is very becoming to a young wearer.

There are also coronets of larger roses or of lilies of the valley combined with maidenhair ferns. Frequently worn with such a hair ornament there will be a similar spray of flowers on the waist or skirt.

A bertha of tiny drooping blossoms such as lilies of the valley or field daisies can appear on a girlish looking gown of airy chiffon or tulle. A princess gown of white lace was seen recently decorated with three lilies near the left bosom, and from this to the bottom of the gown extended a spray of the lilies intermingled with black velvet ribbon.



BLACK AND WHITE FOULARD.

A smart foulard is the subject of the illustration. The waist is made with a yoke of white mousseline de soie, and the sleeves have undersleeves of the same. The skirt has a wide gored ruffle trimmed with three bands of lace. With this is worn a big black hat with a feather and a pale rosette.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Friendly Criticism.

Quads—Scribbles imagines he has quite a literary bent.

Space—Bent may be the proper term now, but later on he'll find himself broke.—Chicago News.

Headache.

Pain across the forehead or at back of head is dangerous. It slowly but surely weakens the intellectual powers, impairs the vitality and will. Headache is sometimes from the eyes but more frequently is caused by a disordered condition of the stomach and digestive organs.

Do not suffer. The pain can be cured by the harmless remedy

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

It never loses its effect. Cures by driving out the poison, and does not simply deaden the pain as do so many preparations containing narcotics.

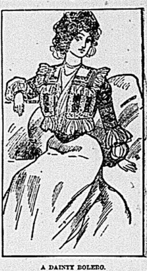
Abbey's in the morning will make you well and keep you well.

UP TO DATE STYLES.

The Latest Two Color Tea Gowns. Pearl Side Combs.

In tea gowns two colors are quite the vogue. One shade constitutes the underdress, while the upper one is made of some more sober tint. For instance, a gown of willow green will have an underdress of shrimp pink crape accordion plaited.

The prettiest side combs have a row of pearls on top, and these are charming in dark hair. Strings of pearls are also twisted among the coils, and a single rose is perched above the ear or a little one side of the twist if the hair is done high.



A DAINTY BOLERO.

There is a tendency to trim the hips of skirts and yet at the same time preserve the plain lines.

The stout woman should avoid muslins, at least those of startling nature.

A dainty bolero for an evening dress is here shown. It is of silk mousseline de soie and white lace. The wide collar is of the mousseline de soie and lace. The undersleeves are also of this. The sleeves are laid in horizontal tucks and the body in vertical ones. Both are banded with lace insertions. The bottom of the bolero is edged with a wide lace frill.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

MAGNETISM OF MISERY.

Men Haunt Scenes That Revive Memories of Pain.

Every storm, earthquake or disaster of any kind brings out a curious phase of human nature. Many of those who have seen their houses destroyed or their nearest relatives killed return as soon as possible to the scenes of devastation. In some instances this is explained by the fact that there are more opportunities of earning a livelihood among old neighbors than among new surroundings. In numerous cases, however, no such business reason operates as an inducement. The magnet is sentiment, not money. As some mourners devote every holiday to visiting graves, so a large fraction of the homeless and bereaved go back to spend the remainder of their days in the scenes that recall calamity and gloom.

It was so after the great London fire, it was so after the Lisbon earthquake, it was so after the yellow fever swept Philadelphia, and in more recent years the Chicago fire, the Mississippi floods, Charleston, Johnstown and other catastrophes confirm the old experience. Apparently the desire to gain new pleasures is no more keen than the wish to revive the memory of old pain. Our last storm destroyed much property and many lives, but we will see people choosing homes in sight of the telegraph pole from which the fatal live wire dangled or the flooded stream in which the only son was drowned.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

New French Flannels

We have just received an advance shipment of Fine French Flannels for Early Fall wear, in beautiful Fancy Stripe Effects for Shirt Waists and Dressing Jackets, in shades Old Rose, Resida, Blue, Navy, Cardinal, Brown, Grey and Pink,

at 50c yard.

New Dress Goods

We have also just placed in stock an early shipment of New Fall Dress Materials, comprising all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this fall.

Please ask to see through our Dress Goods Department for the latest novelties.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT

G. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's Jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 310 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

Spanish Peanuts

Fresh roasted and salted. 30c a lb.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up.

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. C. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No loc charged as less than twenty-five words.

The various civic committees will meet this evening.

Weather permitting, the band will render a select programme at the park this evening.

The heavy rain storm yesterday morning washed out Catherine street in some places to such an extent that repairs are absolutely necessary.

Mothers! You will find the largest assortment of children's shoes in Belleville at Gorman's Shoe House.

The police last night found the front doors of two business places unlocked.

Geo. McDonald, on the farm next to the Carscallen place, where the destructive fire took place Tuesday morning, had two cattle killed by lightning.

Steamers "North King" and "Caspian" leave Belleville daily (except Monday) for Kingston and 1000 Islands at 3.25 a.m., and for Rochester, N.Y., at 11.38 p.m., after June 28th. me13-d&wtf

WILL LIKELY DISBAND

THE THIRD ROYAL CANADIAN REGIMENT IS TO LEAVE HALIFAX.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 21.—Regimental orders have been issued, directing that the Wellington Barracks be vacated on September 15th, in order to make room for the 5th Royal Garrison Regiment, now stationed at Aldershot. This is one of the many regiments organized during the Boer war.

It is not stated whether the Canadians will be disbanded, or removed for other duty.

They Didn't Ride Free

On Monday night, or rather Tuesday morning a barber and a tailor boarded a G.T.R. west bound train for Deseronto. They were en route for Picton and refused to pay their fare. Not only were they bound to travel free, but they declared that they could whip the "whole train crew." Then there was trouble for them and at Ernesttown, in a down pour of rain they were ejected.—Kingston Times.

NO CHANGE OF BOATS.

Excursion to Thousand Islands, Young People's Societies, per Str. Aletha, next Saturday. Returning leaves Islands Monday, 7 a.m. 21-22

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, that our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

FIRE FIGHTERS DO GOOD WORK

Moulding Department of Marsh and Henthorne's Foundry Scorched.

Fire Had Gained Great Headway —Considerable Damage Done By Water.

One of the most stubborn fires which the local brigade have had to battle with for some time occurred last evening, but their work was so well directed that they succeeded in keeping the flames confined in the portion of the building in which the fire broke out.

At a few minutes before 7 o'clock an alarm was sounded, fire having been discovered in the foundry conducted by Messrs. Marsh & Henthorne, on Mill street, so well known as the Brown's foundry. When the brigade arrived the flames had gained considerable headway, the fire having broken out in what is known as the foundry or moulding department of the establishment. Owing to this part of the building being very hot and dry, the flames spread rapidly, and at one time it seemed probable that the efforts of the brigade to confine the fire to this portion of the foundry would be futile, but fortunately the main structure was saved. Line after line of hose was run out and the fiery element was attacked from various points of vantage, and after an hour's hard work the fire was under control and the building saved.

Owing to the firm being exceptionally busy, the moulders had all been at work up to six o'clock and a large number of the hands were returning to work in the evening when the fire broke out. They assisted the firemen materially in directing the work and checking the flames. In the southeast portion of the moulding department is situated the pattern shop, in which is stored thousands of dollars worth of patterns, some of which are invaluable. A determined effort was made to check the flames from reaching the shop, and in this respect the firemen were successful. Volumes of water were, however, poured into it, and the loss will be considerable, as the patterns were thoroughly soaked. Owing to the roof being slated, the flames did not break out much, but the upper flooring of the moulding shop was badly burned and in some places the roof partially caved in, showing that the timbers supporting it had been burned.

It is supposed that a spark from casting was the cause of the fire breaking out.

Although the machine shop and other departments of the foundry were in full blast to-day, the fire has thrown some 12 mechanics temporarily out of work. The firm will, however, have the men at work as soon as possible, as they are very busy.

Messrs. Marsh & Henthorne are unable to estimate at present the loss sustained by them, but it will be a considerable amount, and the loss will also be great on account of this part of the foundry being idle for some time. The loss is, however, covered by insurance in the Anglo-American, Scottish Union and Canadian Companies.

The building belongs to the Bank of Montreal, and their loss is also covered by insurance.

Every effort will be made to have the damage repaired as soon as possible.

Here is a rare chance for you to make money—it is a bargain offering and one which will attract many shrewd buyers to Gorman's Shoe House to-morrow. You may take your choice of their $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 ladies' low shoes for $1.00 per pair.

Barn With Contents Destroyed

A barn belonging to Mr. Randall Smith, who resides in the 2nd concession of Tyendinaga, near Shannonville, was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. Lightning was the cause of the fire. The barn contained the season's crop and some farming implements, all being burned. The loss is placed at $2500. The contents were insured for $1000 in the Anglo-American and the barn was also insured.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

A woman may have opened the door to sin, but man gave it the glad hand as soon as he got home.

The only thing that comes to the man who waits is the dust from the procession.

SCEPTICS TURN BELIEVERS AND ARE CURED

Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder a Great Blessing

"When I read that Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder could relieve Catarrh in 10 minutes I was far from being convinced. I tried it—a single puff through the blower afforded instant relief, stopped pain over the eyes and cleansed the nasal passages. To-day I am free from Catarrh." B. L. Egan's (Easton, Pa.,) experience has been that of thousands of others and may be yours. 57

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

RAIN COATS.

Our new stock of Barlo Millerain dust and rain coats has just come to hand. These are made, under patent, of goods rendered waterproof by a special process which renders them waterproof, leaving them soft and porous and are warranted not to shrink or cockle. Being very light they are of great service as dust coats for all kinds of travel and stand the hardest usage.

We have what is newest in these goods now, they can be seen in our south window and in our Mantle Room.

$5.75

—Barlo Millerain patent rain and dust proof proof coat, in Oxford Grey, Fawn or Navy with velvet collar, yoke back with plaits, pockets, buttons to bottom of skirt, a reliable coat for stormy weather $5.75

$6.75

—Barlo Millerain rain or dust coat, side pockets, velvet collar, with two circular shoulder capes $6.75

$6.50

—Barlo Millerain Raglan Coat, in Oxford Grey, Fawn or Navy, double-breasted with velvet collar and lapels, Raglan cuffs, two side pockets, style "Beatrice" very stylish, ... $6.50

$9.75

—Dark Castor Barlo Millerain rain or dust coat, with newest circular wide collar, raglan cuff, fly front, side pockets and good quality pearl buttons, one of our best coats.............................. $9.75

$4.75

—Ladies' Grey Fawn or Navy odorless rubber coat, raglan pockets, ventilated, yoke and plaits.......................... $4.75

$3.00

—Children's odorless rubber coats, side pockets, ventilated, a thoroughly reliable rain coat............................ $3.00

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

THE PRIZE FAT WOMEN

MAKER OF KENTUCKY MOONSHINE IS TOO STOUT TO GET THROUGH COURT DOORWAYS.

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 21.—Because a prisoner is too fat to get through the court room doors. United States Commissioner Lindsey has telegraphed to Washington for permission to hold court in the open air. The prisoner is Jane Woolsey, of Litchfield, arrested for making moonshine whiskey. She was hauled to this city in a wagon, but it was discovered she could not be taken up the narrow stairs leading to the court room. She is 5 feet 5 inches high, and weighs 430 pounds.

Police Court

Dog Cases.

A number of parties who have neglected to register their dogs were summoned up to-day. A few who were summoned produced their tags which they had secured since receiving their summonses. In a few cases a fine of $1 was imposed.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

"Ye Olde Fashioned Style"

We have of late purchased about forty dozen old fashioned Alhumbru Blue Cups and Saucers. They are of the style that was all the go some fifty years ago, and if you want a nice old fashioned cup and saucer, the very kind your grandmother used to use, now is your chance.

They are selling at 10c each or $1.10 a dozen and they shall go fast at the prices marked.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, 1902. NO. 96

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

The population of Queensland is a trifle over half a million.

The best shot in the British navy was recently awarded 42 cents as prize money.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 60c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

SHORT MEETING OF CIVIC COMMITTEES

No Action to be Taken in Petition re Tax Collector—Several Accounts Passed.

A Request for three Months' Auctioneer License Refused—Other Matters.

At the civic committee meeting last evening the following members were present: Alderman Chown, McFee, Price, Galbraith, Panter, Cooper, Sinclair and Sulman.

There was not much business to transact and an adjournment took place at an early hour.

PUBLIC WORKS.

Ald. Panter, chairman, presided over this committee.

The accounts passed were as follows:

Belleville Pottery Co.	$19 20
Pay Sheet No. 17	637 00
Mac Machine Co.	13 36

A communication was read from Messrs. Clute & Morden, asking that $5 be returned to their client, Mr. J. Walsh, which was withheld from him through an excavation which he made upon a street.

The Clerk was authorized to reply to the communication, stating that the money would be returned when the 3 months was up, this being the time set by the Council.

Ald. Panter asked if the pier to the lower bridge was going to be repaired. The Surveyor said that the work could not be done whilst the water remained so high.

Mr. N. Lazier was present to address the committee in reference to a drain being rebuilt from Burton to Charlotte street. He was anxious to have the drain fixed, as water remained in the cellar of his house.

Ald. Panter said if a tile drain was built the appropriation would be exceeded.

In answer to an enquiry, the Surveyor said he could not tell whether the drain was a city or a private drain. He stated that it would cost about $60 to build a tile drain from Burton and Charlotte streets.

On motion the Surveyor was authorized to look into the matter and report at the Council meeting on Monday.

The Street Surveyor was authorized to place gravel on Yeomans street.

PARKS.

Ald. Sulman presided over this committee in the absence of the chairman, Ald. Pope.

The only business transacted was the passing of two accounts, namely:

E. McGrath	$15 00
S. Sheehan	3 60

There was nothing before the Fire, Water and Light, Industries and Market Committees.

EXECUTIVE.

Ald. Chown, chairman, presided.

The accounts passed were as follows:

Bell Telephone Co.	$ 80
Board of Health	75
J. S. McKeown	2 50
D. M. Waters	6 65

An account of $68.62 from Mr. A. Rollins, for preparing the rolls, was, on motion to Ald. Cooper, referred to the City Clerk for payment, it being contended that it was his duty to prepare the rolls.

The two auditors' accounts for $125 each and $17.50 for services of typewriter was referred to the Council, as the Mayor had promised to attend to the matter and he was not present to report.

The Collector's Petition.

The petition presented to Council at its last meeting in reference to the collection of taxes, and requesting the Council to reconsider its action and appoint Mr. Starling as collector of the rolls for 1902, was read and caused considerable discussion.

Ald. Sinclair said that action in regard to giving out the rolls should have been deferred until the petition had at least been considered. He objected to the manner in which this position had been filled, as it was not done in as open a manner as it should have been. As some of the rolls were now in the hands of one of the newly appointed collectors, of course nothing could be done.

Ald. McFee stated that nothing could be done in the matter now. He took objection at the proper time, as he did not like the proceedings which were taken as to the appointing of two men, and thus depriving Mr. Starling of the position.

Ald. Galbraith said that the by-law appointing Mr. Starling distinctly stated that two rolls could not be in his hand at the same time.

Ald. McFee— That part of the by-law could have been rescinded, as it was done once before.

Ald. Price said he would like to say something plainly upon the subject, and in reference to Ald. Wills, but as that gentleman was not present, he would not talk behind his back.

Ald. Wills—"It was a sharp trick, anyway."

Ald. Cooper thought the proceedings had been regular and that the proper time to have objected was when the by-law was passed. He moved that no action be taken in the matter.

Ald. Price said that he objected to any star chamber proceedings in regard to civic affairs. This matter should have been discussed in open committee. He also objected to any one Alderman saying that certain Aldermen should have nothing to say in the matter.

Ald. Chown said he had heard nothing of that kind. The subject of appointing the tax collectors was discussed at a special meeting of the Executive Committee and the representatives of the press were not present.

The motion of Ald. Cooper prevailed.

Auctioneer's License.

A communication was read from Mr. T. Blackburn, stating that he was going to have an auction sale to dispose of some of his stock, and he had engaged a special man from Hamilton to conduct the sale, and desired to get an auctioneer's license for three months.

Ald. Sinclair thought it would be unjust to the parties who were licensed auctioneers in the city, and who were compelled by the by-law to take out a license for a year, to allow another party to take out a license for only three months.

Ald. Chown said that Mr. Blackburn had engaged this gentleman as he was considered an expert and understood the class of goods Mr. Blackburn was intending to dispose of.

Ald. Wills came in.

Ald. Wills said the by-law would have to be changed if the request was granted, as it stated that the license must be for one year. This by-law was made for the protection of our merchants and auctioneers.

Ald. Sinclair thought that the by-law could not be changed.

Ald. Galbraith said this was a special case, and something might be done. The sale would be but a few days, and Mr. Blackburn desired a specialist in this line.

A motion prevailed that the request be not granted.

Peddling Without License.

Ald. Sinclair stated that during the past few days three gentlemen had been about the city trying to dispose of articles and he understood they had no license.

Ald. Price—"The police should look after them and see that they have a license.

The matter was referred to the Chief of Police to see that the parties took out license.

This completed the business and the committees adjourned.

A GUARANTEE OF ITS WORTH

Malt Breakfast Food

IS UNIVERSALLY RECOMMENDED BY THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

THE ONLY PERFECT FOOD FOR BODY, BRAIN AND NERVES.

Malt Breakfast Food is the only cereal food universally recommended by the medical profession. It is partially predigested, enabling the weakest stomach to appropriate every particle.

Malt Breakfast Food is rich in Malt, Gluten and Phosphates; it therefore is a perfect food for body, brain and nerves.

Malt Breakfast Food is endorsed and recommended by the famous Ralston Club, an organization of over ten millions of members. It is the favorite morning dish with our Canadian people of all classes, and is rapidly superseding all other breakfast foods. You will never thoroughly enjoy your breakfast until you are a user of Malt Breakfast Food. Your Grocer recommends it.

Recent analysis of the city water at Manilla showed that it was not responsible for the cholera raging there.

The Mikado of Japan has presented to Queen Alexandra a pair of the famous long-tailed birds of Japan and 10 dwarf chickens.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Cure All the Ills of Little Babies and Little Children.

This medicine is good for all children, from the feeblest infant, whose life seems to hang by a thread, to the sturdy boy, whose digestive apparatus occasionally gets out of order. There is no stomach or bowel trouble that Baby's Own Tablets will not speedily relieve and promptly cure, and do it in a natural way, as the medicine is guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. Experienced mothers everywhere praise Baby's Own Tablets above all medicines. Mrs. James A. Wilson, Wyoming, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for both my children, and consider them indispensible in any home where there are young children. One of my children was very fretful, and I always found the Tablets comforting, and a splendid regulator of the stomach and bowels. I think the Tablets have been the means of promoting many a sound night's rest for both myself and children."

Children take these Tablets as readily as candy, and crushed to a powder, they can be given with absolute safety to the youngest, weakest infant. You can get the Tablets from any dealer in medicines, or post paid at 25 cents a box, by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

Cholera is increasing in Egypt and Manchuria.

Great Britain brews annually $345,000,000 worth of beer.

TAKING SPORT SERIOUSLY.

One of the evils of the day is thoroughness as applied to sports and recreations. There is no game, however difficult or however simple, but is hedged about by difficulties which actually turn pleasure into pain, says the Boston Transcript. Time was when a game of whist, for example, was a genuine diversion; now it has become so scientific that it is distinctly hard work to play a good game. So as to bicycling, golf, ping-pong — everything, in a word. We have got so into the habit of taking our pleasures seriously that those pleasures are no longer recreations, or at least not the recreations they might be were perfection not so persistently insisted upon. In these days no sooner is a game invented or imported from other lands than somebody has to go to work to make its playing a science, and in order to make, to this end a newspaper or magazine devoted to that particular game is indispensable and inevitable. So that the drain upon the mental faculties produced by the playing of the game is rendered more drastic by the reading one has to do to keep up with the times. Oh, for a game that cannot be made scientific, that will forever escape a literary organ, and which will always and forever be just good fun and nothing more!

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

SATURDAY SHOE SHOPPING.

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

LADIES!
LOOK HERE
FOR BARGAINS.

When shoe buying to-night visit the Corner Shoe House—you will find here shoes of EXCELLENT QUALITIES—made on COMFORT GIVING lasts—selling at remarkable LOW PRICES. Just note the following:

$2.00 and $1.50 Low Shoes for $1.00

Here are values which will DELIGHT YOU — come — have first choice.

These low shoes must go and we are PAYING YOU WELL to help us clear them out—in order to make room for fall goods.

—They are our regular $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 low shoes—made of finest kid—stylish — easy—durable—you surely will not miss the chance to obtain a pair at the BARGAIN PRICE of.. $1.00

FOR THE CHILDREN

Children's black and chocolate kid slippers, sizes 11 to 13, regular $1.25, now.. .98

Children's chocolate and black kid slippers, sizes 4 to 7½, regular 90c, now.... .75

Little boys' fine chocolate kid lace boots, spring heel, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.50, now............. $1.20

Children's patent leather and red kid slippers, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.25, now.., .95

Children's red kid button boots, finest quality, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.50, now.................. $1.25

Little boys' patent leather lace boots, neat and comfortable, sizes 8 to 10½, regular $1.50, now.......... $1.20

A BARGAIN FOR MEN

"World Known" black calf skin low shoes, with substantial sole, stylish, durable, regular price (stamped on sole) $3.50, now.............................. $1.50

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

LADIES' RAIN COATS

Our Ladies' Rain Coats serve a double purpose. They are an absolute necessity on rainy days and make a nice stylish coat for early fall wear. Our new styles just opened sell from $3.50 to $8.00.

Getting Ready for Fall Goods

We are now opening our New Fall Goods. This means we must have room, and to make room for the New Goods we offer the following lines at exactly Half Price:

Ladies' Colored Cotton Shirt Waists will sell at	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Shirt Waists	Half Price
Ladies' Colored Cotton Costumes	Half Price
Ladies' White Pique Skirts	Half Price
Ladies' Linen Dress Skirts	Half Price
One Table of fancy Dress Muslins	Half Price
Ladies Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Children's Fancy Cotton Stockings	Half Price
Colored Leather Belts	Half Price
Fancy Belt Buckles	Half Price
All Fancy Parasols	Half Price

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

A pure hard Soap

SURPRISE SOAP

MAKES CHILD'S PLAY OF WASH-DAY.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR

Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn
Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon
Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie
Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

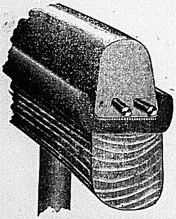
Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.
Est'd
1871
Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co.
Yards—Foot Front St.
Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

Prof. Dorenwend

Of Toronto, the Famous HAIR GOODS ARTIST, IS COMING. HE WILL BE AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELLEVILLE, ON SAT., AUG. 30, UNTIL 4 P.M. With every kind and style of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches of all long hair in every length and shade.

His Art Styles are known and worn by all classes everywhere.

Be sure to visit his Show Rooms at the Hotel and see his new designs. He will, free of charge, demonstrate by fitting you what is the most suitable and becoming to you.

Their use adds Health, Comfort and Younger Appearance.

Gentlemen who are Bald should investigate and see his Feather Weight Toupees and Wigs, worn on over 53,000 heads.

Please Remember Day and Date

Saturday, Aug. 30 until 4 p.m.

Daily Intelligencer.

OVER WHOM, AND OVER WHAT DOES KING EDWARD VII. REIGN?

Few, who have not given attention to the extent and magnitude of the British Empire, have a correct idea of its population and area. A contemporary has compiled this subject temporary has compiled bits of some information which are of interest to every British subject:

Edward VII., King of Great Britain and Ireland and of British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, who was crowned on the 9th of August, is the head of an Empire beyond precedent or parallel. In the days of Augustus, the greatest of the Roman Emperors, the population of the whole earth was not probably equal to one-quarter the population of the present British Empire; the population of the Roman Empire not probably one-eighth. One-fourth of the habitable surface of the earth is British; one-fourth of the people of the earth live under the British flag.

The land surface of the globe has an area of about fifty-two million square miles, on which about sixteen hundred millions of human beings exist. Of the surface of the earth, ten to twelve millions of square miles, the polar regions, sand deserts and barren steppes, are practically not habitable. More than a quarter of the rest is British. The area and population of the Empire in this year of grace, 1902, are, roughly speaking as follows:

Area, square miles 12,000,000
Population 400,000,000

About fifty-five millions of the people of the Empire are of British stock, the greater portion of the balance being in India, whose population is about three hundred millions.

More than half the surface of the earth and nearly half its population belong to five great powers. Comparison of the figures of these may be of interest.

Next to the British Empire in extent and in nominal strength of population comes Russia, whose figures are:

Area, square miles 9,000,000
Population 140,000,000

Of the population, about 100,000,000 is of Russian stock or speak Russian.

Greater than Russia or any power save the British in real strength though with smaller figures is the United States:

Area, square miles 3,600,000
Population 85,000,000

Seven or eight millions of the foregoing population are, in the Philippines, the balance are English-speaking, though they include several million negroes.

The German Empire shows as follows:—

Area, square miles 1,230,000
Population 75,000,000

Of the area, over a million square miles are in Africa, and about fifteen million people.

Fifth of the great powers, France with forty million people at home, inhabiting a European area of 204,000 square miles, is able with her colonial territories to supply the following total figures:

Area, square miles 4,000,000
Population ... .96,000,000

These all are great figures. But the population under the British flag is greater than the populations under all the others put together; and the British area equal to two-thirds that of all the rest conjointly. In wealth, the British predominance is proportionately great. Such is the vast dominion of which Edward VII. is crowned the head.

But these statistics, marvellous as they are, constitute a very minor reason comparatively for pride or gratification among the British peoples. The great and the just reason for such feelings lies in the character and the work of British politics, using the word in its great legislative and administrative sense; in the freedom and justice the British political idea demands and concedes; in the peace and order of British rule; in the constellation of free self-governing States under its aegis. The King, though but a nominal ruler, the servant not the master of his people, is a vital point of the vast structure, the chief officer of its law, the crown of its mighty machinery, the highest personal exemplar of its system and its brilliancy; and to him, as he formally ascends the greatest throne of all the ages, should come a proportionate sense of his personal responsibility, as his fellow-Britons should issue a sympathy, a respect and support not to be shaken or diminished until the utmost limits of proof that they cease to be deserved.

If You have Weak Lungs

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion will benefit them immediately. By its soothing, healing and antiseptic action, it cleanses and heals the sore, irritated and diseased membranes, stops the cough, revitalizes the blood, creates healthy flesh and strengthens the whole system. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is pleasant to take, agrees with weak stomachs, promotes a healthy appetite and keeps the digestive organs in a healthy condition so that the food is properly digested and assimilated. A gain in weight always follows its use.

All druggists sell it.

ANGIER CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such a be arrival or departure of guests, the movements o well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Mr. "Ed" Milburn, of Lindsay, is in the city.

Miss Blanche Swayze, of New York, is visiting in the city.

Miss Rose O'Connor, of Trenton, is visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. E. J. Davidson left to-day for New York to visit friends.

Miss Annie Brown, of Roseneath, is visiting Miss Tomblin, Cedar St.

Miss Maud Hay, of Peterboro, is visiting friends in this city.

Miss E. Gardner, of this city, is visiting friends at Brockville.

Mr. W. J. Gould and family have returned from a two weeks' trip to Stoney Lake.

Mr. S. Symons returned home yesterday after spending two weeks at Campbellford.

Miss Wheler, who has been absent from the city for some days returned this afternoon.

Mr. E. W. Milburn of the Bank of Montreal, Peterboro, is spending his holidays in this city.

Mr. Jas. Little returned home yesterday after spending a few days at Stoney Lake.

Mr. W. Hitchon returned home today after a week's outing at the Oak Hill Pond.

Mr. David Johnstone and wife, of Peoria, Ill., visiting his sister, Mrs. S. Moon, Murney St.

The bass fishing in the bay this year is very good, indeed. Big catches are reported almost every day.

Mr. M. J. Buckley, wife and family, of Toronto, are spending a few days with Mrs. Buckley, Dundas St.

Miss Bertha Emmons, who has been visiting relatives in Chicago and St. Paul, has returned to the city.

Mrs. S. Bascomb and Miss Tena Teal, have returned home from a visit with friends in Battle Creek, Mich.

Mr. Harry C. Thompson, after spending a couple of weeks on the St. Lawrence, has returned home.

E. W. Holton, of the dock office staff, is in Belleville hospital, suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Canniff, of Toledo, O., who have been visiting relatives in the city, returned home yesterday.

Mr. George Phillips, who has been visiting his parents on Charles St., for a week, has returned to Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Dingman, and niece, Mrs. Clapp, of Picton, are visiting Mr. R. H. Vandewater, on Front Street.

Miss Daisy Biscomb, Bleecker Ave., has returned home after a six-months visit with friends in Battle Creek, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Byrne and family, North Front St., have gone to Rochester, N.Y., where they intend to reside.

Rev. B. Greatrix, wife and two children, of Campbellford, returned home yesterday, after visiting friends in this vicinity.

J. P. Madigar, having secured a house on Mill St., has brought his family from Campbellford. They will live in town for the future.

Mrs. Stephen Bopery, of Lindsay, and daughter, Gladys, who have been visiting relatives and friends in the city, left yesterday for Montreal.

Mrs. E. H. Cuddy and daughter, Dorothy, of Fort William, and Miss Buckley, of this city, have returned from their trip to St. Johns.

Mr. and Mrs. George N. DeMill left this morning for their home in Minneapolis, after a pleasant visit with their parents at Bay Crest.

Miss Maud Cunningham, who has been visiting at the Kerby House, Coe Hill, for the past month, left on Monday with Misses Phylliss Johnston and Celia Kerby, for a couple of weeks' camping with friends on Reta Island Park, Eagle Lake.

A terrific thunderstorm early yesterday morning passed over here, doing considerable damage to flowers and fruit. The apples suffered the most. Randall Smith, on the Tyendinaga Reserve, had two barns and the contents burned. Wm. Sero, who lives on the Slash road, near Milltown, had his barn and contents totally destroyed.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y, STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 23.

STOCK	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	92⅝	93	92¼	92¼
do. pref...	102	102	102¼	102
C. P. R.	139	139¼	139	139¼
Ills. Cent.	168½	168¾	168⅜	168¾
U. S. Steel ..	41	41⅛	40⅞	41
do. pref....	99	90¼	90	90½
W. Union	95¼	95⅜	95⅛	95⅜
Pc	104⅛	104¼	104⅛	104½
Manhattan ..	134⅞	135	134¾	134¼
Erie	40⅛	40¼	40⅛	40⅝
do pref......	69⅛	69⅞	69⅛	69⅞
L. & N.	156	156	155¼	155⅜
Mo. P.	117	117	116⅝	116⅞
Nor.	71	71⅜	70⅞	71¼
N. Y. C.	163⅞	164¼	163⅞	164¼
Reading	68	68	67⅜	67⅞
St. Paul	185¾	185¼	185¼	185¾
South Pac. ..	75¼	77⅛	75⅛	76⅞
Sou. Ry.	40¼	41	40⅝	40¼
Union. Pac. .	108⅞	109½	108¾	109⅜
Amn. Loco..	33	33	32½	32⅝
Penns	160¼	161¼	160	161
B & O.	110	110⅛	109⅞	110
C. & O... ...	54¼	54½	54⅛	54⅜
H. V.	101	....	....	...
Texas.... ...	52¼	53¼	52¼	53¼
Sugar	133¼	133¼	132¼	133

Sept. wheat opened 71 1-8.

CITY AND DISTRICT.

There were no cases in the police court to-day.

A excursion party from the town of Deseronto visited the city yesterday.

Owing to the inclement weather there was no band concert at the park last evening.

To-day's market was well attended by both sellers and buyers, and prices were generally fair. Butter sold at 20c to 22c; eggs 14c to 15c; chickens 35c to 60c per pair; ducks 75c to 90c per pair, and turkeys $1.50. Apples were offered for sale in abundance at 10c per peck, and potatoes sold at 45c to 50c per bag.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv.

23,25,62,27

Visited Martinique.

Mr. John Hodgins, a former Belleville boy, now a U. S. Red Cross nurse, is home from Washington, after an absence of twelve years. He has a number of interesting relics of the many places he has been during the interval since leaving Belleville, among others being some curios from Martinique, West Indies, which place he visited just a week after the recent volcanic eruption. Mr. Hodgins has a three months' furlough, which he will spend visiting friends in different points in Canada.

Car Jumped the Track.

A car of a freight train on the line of the G.T.R. jumped the track at Newtonville last night, causing a delay of all trains. The auxiliary was called from here to the scene of the accident.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv.

23,25,62,27

Kicked By a Horse.

A young son of Mr. Robt. McCoy was this morning leading a horse up Front street, when it became restive and kicked, striking the lad in the side. It was fortunate for the boy that he did not receive the full force of the blow, as he might have been seriously injured.

Two Remarkable People

Mrs. Geo. Wagar, township of Camden, is now 82 years of age, milks 7 cows night and morning, does her own housework and walks two miles to her grocery. She is a remarkable specimen of hale and hearty and well-preserved womanhood. Mr. Wagar is 87 years of age and is a robust old gentleman.

Broke His Arm.

Yesterday afternoon John Burke, a young son of Mr. Richard Burke, Dunbar street, whilst playing about the agricultural park fell and broke his right arm near the wrist. The fracture was reduced and the little fellow is doing well.

Dead Man Convicted.

City of Mexico, Aug. 23.—Jose Madiedo, an alleged "dead" man, who attempted to defraud the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, out of $20,000 on a policy, was convicted yesterday, and sentenced to four years and a half in prison. Dr. Perez, who signed the death certificate, was acquitted.

An Ex-M.P. Dying.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 23. — Alfred Stockton, ex-M.P., is dangerously ill at his home here. Little hopes are entertained for his recovery.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE ... 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Moderate winds, becoming variable. Fine and a little warmer to-day and on Sunday.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m. 63
12 m. 72
2 p.m. 75

HAYS TO BECOME PRESIDENT

Other Rumored Changes in the Personnel of the Board.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson to Accept Position as Chairman of the Executive—Promotion Rumors Persistent—Officials Disclaim Information, But an Announcement Would Not Surprise at Headquarters—To Buy American Line.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 23. — Mr. Chas. M. Hays, second vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk is due to arrive to-day at New York on his return from England. Mr. Frank W. Morse, third vice-president of the company, has gone to meet Mr. Hays.

According to reports in circulation, Sir Charles Rivers Wilson will retire from the presidency, to become chairman of the Executive Board as Sir William C. Van Horne did when he handed over the reins of the Canadian Pacific Railway government to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy.

Officials of the Grand Trunk here disclaim having information that such changes are likely to take place in the near future. But it is inferred that an announcement to this effect would not cause a surprise at headquarters. Since Mr. Hays' visit to England to confer with the directors, rumors of his promotion have been persistent.

The excellent results attained during his administration, a desire of Sir Charles Rivers Wilson to retire, and the advancing years of first vice-president, Price are given as the chief factors for the reports.

To Buy American Line.

Detroit, Mich. Aug. 23.—A Toledo despatch says that it is believed here that Charles M. Hays, vice-president of the Grand Trunk, is in London for the purpose of submitting a proposition for the purchase of the Shore Line recently built between Toledo and a point near Detroit as an electric line, but with a road bed and equipment that makes it available as a first-class steam road.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

BRIDGE ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

11 a.m.—Short address to boys and girls by the Pastor, Rev. W. J. Crothers, M.A., D.D. Subject: "A Glimpse of the Future."
2.30—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Sermon by the Pastor. Subject; "A Picture from an Old Gallery."

Special music by choir, and vocal solos by Miss Wheler. Mrs. Fraser (nee Miss Kathleen Phillips), and Dr. Jessops, of Montreal.

Strangers in the city, students at Ontario Business College, Belleville Business College, and all other visitors welcomed.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Corner of Victoria Avenue and John Street.

The Pastor, Rev. A. H. Drumm, will occupy the pulpit at both services tomorrow.

THE TABERNACLE METHODIST CHURCH.
Church St.
Joseph H. Locke, Pastor.

Service at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. by the Pastor.

Mrs. (Dr.) MacColl, Choir leader and organist.

Sunday school and Bible Classes at 2.30.

Obliging ushers will extend a cordial welcome to all strangers and visitors.

VICTORIA AVE BAPTIST CHURCH,
Cor. Victoria Ave. and Pinnacle St
REV. O. C. ELLIOTT,
Pastor.

Rev. Geo. Cross, L.L.D., Professor of McMaster University, Toronto, will preach at both sermons.

Young People's meeting Monday evening at 8.00. Prayer and praise service every wednesday at 8.00.

Seats free; all welcome.

BELLEVILLE NORTH (BLEECKER AVE) METHODIST CHURCH.

10.30 Fellowship service; 11.00 a.m. preaching by Rev. Dr. Galbraith.

7 p.m. preaching by Rev. W. Martin.

Tent meetings at 4.15 and 8.15 p.m., Speakers Rev. J. R. Real, Mr. Vermilyea, Y.M.C.A. Secretary Mr. Wilkie, and others. Each week night meeting at 8. All welcome.

Kingston Road—2.30, Rev. W. Martin.

Centre St.—Supplied.

Wedding Stationery at The Intelligencer Job Office. tf

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.

Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER

Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte. may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT.

Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,

Office—9 Campbell Street.

MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.

Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,

Barrister, &c.

Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.

Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.

'Phone 87.

E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.

Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,

Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q. C.,

Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security. Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.

JAMES A. CHISHOLM,

Office Ashley Block. - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian . . .	Est'd 1821
The North America, .	Est'd 1792
Quebec, . . .	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.

R. W. ADAMS. Agent.

Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult

W. J. THOMSON,

who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:

ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE.

Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. ocs-dtw

THOS. STEWART,

Insurance and Commission Agent.

Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Ins Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.

BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned

can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.

The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.

Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.

Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.

H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.

Liverpool & London & Globe of England.

Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont.

Lloyd's Plate Glass.

Home Life Association, Toronto.

North British & Mercantile.

Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.

W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,

Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.

Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St. Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403 Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

KINKS IN THE CABLE.

Skaguay-Juneau Line Already Damaged Beyond Repair.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 23.—Skaguay despatches say that although the Skaguay-Juneau cable is not broken the Government crew of experts have stopped operations toward repairs and given up the proposition in despair. The trouble arises chiefly from great kinks in the line, which was so loosely laid that it went to the bottom in coils. The insulation has been broken in so many places that an entire new cable seems necessary. The line is one hundred miles long. It was laid last fall, but has been operated only a few weeks.

Movements of Ontario Ministers.

Toronto, Aug. 23. — Hon. Richard Harcourt, who has been head of the Ontario Government during the visit of the Premier, left by boat for a holiday trip east. He will be gone about ten days.

Hon. Frank Latchford, Minister of Public Works in the Ontario Government, left for the Maritime Provinces yesterday. He will visit Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Hon. J. M. Gibson, who reached Montreal a couple of days ago on his return from England, came up from that city on yesterday morning's train in company with his private secretary, Mr. Frank Ford. Mr. Ford came up to the Attorney-General's office, but Hon. Mr. Gibson went on to his home in Hamilton without leaving the union station.

A Million Dollar Difference.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—J. Lorne McDougall, Auditor-General for Canada, who has been in Pittsburg in connection with the dispute as to the method of payment of iron bounties to the Dominion Iron and Steel Co., passed through Toronto yesterday on his way to Ottawa. If Mr. McDougall's refusal to sanction the proposed payment is sustained it will make a difference of about $1,000,000 in the bounty.

Quarrelled on a Train.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—Charles Salisbury was charged before Judge Chisholm yesterday with stabbing Frank Cromwell of Galt on July 14. Cromwell was charged with having assaulted Salisbury. Then the two were charged jointly with creating a disturbance on the train on which the trouble occurred. The cases were not concluded. T. C. Robinette of Toronto is defending Salisbury.

President in Hartford.

Hartford, Aug. 23.—President Roosevelt was presented with an address by the workingmen of this city yesterday.

Killed Flying a Kite.

Medina, N. Y., Aug. 23.—William D. Holdredge, a prominent young man of this city, yesterday walked off the roof of his father's three-storey business block and was instantly killed by the fall. Holdredge was experimenting in kite flying when the accident occurred.

C. R. Devlin Ill.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Word has been received in the city that Mr. C. R. Devlin, ex-M.P., Canadian Immigration Agent in Ireland, is seriously ill on the other side. Mrs. Devlin and her young son left yesterday for Cleveland on receipt of the news.

An Operation Not Necessary

ITCHING PILES OF TWENTY YEARS' STANDING CURED PERMANENTLY BY

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Is it necessary to undergo a surgical operation with all the accompanying risks, expense and suffering in order to be freed from the suffering of itching piles?

Very many people ask this question and too frequently the medical advisor answers yes. But there are scores and hundreds of people throughout the length and breadth of this land who know differently. These are people who have been actually cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Among others, is Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, of Bowmanville, Ont., a man well known and highly respected in this town, of which he has been a resident for about thirty years. In a letter to us Mr. McLaughlin describes his case as follows:—

"For twenty long years I suffered from itching piles, and only persons who have been troubled with that annoying disease can imagine what I endured during that time. About seven years ago I asked a druggist if he had anything to cure me. He said that Dr. Chase's Ointment was most favorably spoken of, and on his recommendation I took a box.

"After three applications I felt better, and by the time I had used one box I was on a fair way to recovery. I continued the treatment until thoroughly cured, and I have not suffered any since. I am firmly convinced that the ointment made a perfect cure.

"I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment an invaluable treatment for piles. In my case I think the cure was remarkable, when you consider that I am getting up in years and had been so long a sufferer from this disease."

It is all nonsense to talk about a surgical operation as the only cure for piles. Scores of people are being cured every day by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Not merely relieved—though relief itself is a great thing to the sufferer from piles—but cured thoroughly and permanently, as Mr. McLaughlin has been. Dr. Chase's Ointment has no worthy rival. It stands alone as an absolute cure for piles of every form! 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Health from Oxygen.

Mountain air is pure air because it contains its full amount of oxygen. Because of the oxygen that is in mountain air people go there to be made healthy; to be cured of germ produced diseases. Powley's Liquified Ozone increases the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. It is not liquified air—it has somewhat the same effect as liquified or pure, condensed oxygen. For any summer sickness such as dysentery, diarrhea, hay fever, it is simply invaluable—giving prompt relief and restoring normal conditions. It makes a delightfully refreshing drink for hot weather.

Price 50c. and $1.00 a bottle at all druggists. The Ozone Co. of Toronto, Limited, Toronto and Chicago.

Signals on 'Change.

On the floor of the Stock Exchange there has been in vogue for years and is still in use a mute system of language by which telegraph operators convey orders to brokers whom they represent. It is done by movement of the fingers, and the purpose of it is to hide the nature of orders from other brokers. The plan is after this fashion: When a telegraph operator receives an order to transmit to a broker, he will raise his index finger if the order is to buy at an eighth; reverse it if the order is to sell. Should the operator want to indicate other fractions each additional finger raises the limit an eighth. The fist clinched and thumb uplifted tells the broker that three-quarters is meant. When it comes to seven-eighths, that fraction is made by forming a right angle with the thumb and first finger, and, finally, if the even figure is wanted a waving movement of the hand is used.

This is the system adopted by nearly every active broker in making transactions, but to prevent others from following up their orders some have an independent notation device and will communicate by signs which are known only to the operator and the broker directly concerned.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Modern Editorial.

An essay on "The Boston Newspapers" in the Bookman throws some light on the development of the modern editorial. The earlier newspapers had no editorials. Attempts to mold public opinion took the form of letters signed "Publius," "Junius" and like Latin names.

The writer in the Bookman claims for Boston the honor of originating the present editorial form. The Boston Daily Advertiser and Repertory, the first successful Boston daily, was founded in 1813 and the next year passed into the hands of Nathan Hale, nephew of the spy of the Revolution. Hale began to substitute leading articles written in the office for those formerly furnished by the stalwart Romans — "Fabius," "Honestus," "Nov-Anglus," "Laco" and "Massachusettensis."

The fashion set by the Advertiser was widely copied and at length became general. Mr. Hale came to take such pride in his innovation that when distinguished men like Everett and Webster offered articles for use as editorials he insisted on printing them as communications. Only the staff men were allowed to write the regular editorial comment.

A Final Decision.

It was while Judge Celora E. Martin was on the New York supreme court bench that a self important young lawyer was arguing a motion before him. Tiring of the attorney's grandiloquence, Justice Martin interrupted him and started to render an adverse decision.

"But your honor does not understand the case," still urged the attorney, who saw that things were not coming his way. "Permit me to explain the law. I have here some of the latest decisions of the court of appeals, in which it is held"—

"Motion is denied, with costs," again interrupted the justice. "Have you any later decision than that?"

Provoking a Husband.

A Mohammedan woman cannot of herself separate from her husband without his consent. He may divorce her with a few words spoken by himself. If she is clever, however, she will take him by surprise at an unguarded moment and contrive to do or say something which will make him so angry that before he can exercise sufficient self control to stop himself he has uttered the wished for words.

ATLANTIC PORT ALL THE YEAR.

Necessary For Fast Line to Compete With the Morgan Combinations.

London, Aug. 23. — A correspondent's letter to The Times agrees with the sentiments of the fast Atlantic line expressed by Robt. Reford, of Montreal. This correspondent says that the Canadian line must use an Atlantic port all the year round in order to compete with the Morgan combination.

In support of the argument against the use of the St. Lawrence River route, the correspondent gives a lengthy list, showing the important casualties to steamers on the St. Lawrence during the seasons from 1896 to 1892. There was a total of forty-four, ten of these being totally lost. The total tonnage of the forty-four steamers stranded was 150,527 gross, of which 31,282 tons were totally lost.

The correspondent says that the St. Lawrence being only open about half of the year, these very losses have occurred during the course of about forty months.

Bound For Home Port.

Sir Richard Bond, Premier of Newfoundland, sailed for New York yesterday. He thinks that if St. John's is made the terminal port, the passage from Liverpool will be shortened by 52 hours. The new service will be largely a matter of subsidies.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Friday.

Worcester 7, Montreal 8.
Worcester 5, Montreal 3.
Newark 2, Rochester 5.
Providence 0, Toronto 1.
Providence 0, Toronto 0, 12 ins.
Jersey City 1, Buffalo 10.
Jersey City 7, Buffalo 3.

National League, Friday.

Chicago 2, Boston 5.
Pittsburg 14, Brooklyn 2.
Pittsburg 7, Brooklyn 1.
Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 2.

American League, Friday.

Washington 6, Chicago 9.
Boston 1, Cleveland 8.
Philadelphia 12, St. Louis 4.
Baltimore 2, Detroit 10.

Sir Wilfrid's Answer.

London, Aug. 23.—The Paris Journal says Sir Wilfrid Laurier being asked why Canada did not join the United States replied:

"We should disappear. French Canada would disappear much more quickly in that gigantic furnace than in the flood of Anglo-Saxon immigration. All who love the French language ought to wish for us to remain Canadians."

"Besides," concluded the Canadian Premier, "there is nothing nowadays to foreshadow such a change."

U.S. Immigrants Naturalized.

Ottawa, Aug. 22. — Attention is drawn to the fact that, although the census of 1901 disclosed the presence in Canada of 127,891 persons born in the United States, 66 per cent. of this number have become naturalized British subjects. The fact seems to show that American settlers may well be welcomed in Western Canada, seeing that they readily take the oath of naturalization.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

The run of live stock at the cattle market was moderate, 60 carloads, composed of 743 cattle, 900 hogs and 35 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $5.75; medium exporters, $5 to $5.25 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $4.60 to $5.25; light export bulls, $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $5 to $5.25; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1055 lbs. each, sold at $4.75 to $5 per cwt.; loads of good butchers sold at $4.25 to $4.75; loads of medium butchers, $4 to $4.25; common butchers cows at $2.75 to $3.50 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $25 to $45 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4 to $4.10 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.40 to $3.60 per cwt. for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs. nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.25 to $7.37½ per cwt.; lights at $7.12½, and fats at $7.12½ per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags $3.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 22.—Cattle—Receipts, 125 head; strictly good steady; others lower; prime steers, $7.85 to $8.25; fair to choice, $5 to $7.75; heifers, $3.75 to $6.50; cows, $3.25 to $5.50; canners, $1.75 to $2.75; bulls, $3 to $5; feeders, $4 to $5; stockers, $3 to $4.50; stock heifers, $3 to $3.50. Veals, receipts, 225 head; strong; tops $8.25 to $8.50; fair to good, $7.25 to $7.75; common to light, $6 to $7. Hogs, receipts, 5100 head; active, 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $7.50; mixed, $7.40 to $7.47½; yorkers, $7.30 to $7.40; light do., $7.25 to $7.40; pigs, $7.30 to $7.40; roughs, $5.50 to $6.10; stags, $4.75 to $5.25; grassers, $7.10 to $7.25. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 3150 head; sheep very dull; lambs strong, 25c higher; top lambs, $6.25 to $6.50; fair to good, $5.75 to $6; culls to common, $4.50 to $5.50; yearlings, $4.25 to $4.50; wethers, $4 to $4.25; sheep, top mixed, $3.60 to $3.75; fair to good, $3.25 to $3.50; culls to common, $1.75 to $2.75; ewes, $3.25 to $3.50.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 22.—Beeves—Receipts, 2321; market opened steady, closed slow; steers, $4.50 to $7.30; bulls, $3.40 to $5.30; cows, $2.25 to $5.20. Export cattle, 684 cattle and 2250 quarters of beef. Calves, receipts, 102; veals firm at $5 to $8.50; grassers and buttermilks, $4 to $4.50; westerns, $4.70. Sheep and lambs, receipts, 4156; sheep quiet; good handy sheep full steady; lambs firm, in light supplies; fair to good, 25c to 35c higher; 1½ cars unsold; sheep, $2 to $3.50; lambs, $5.25 to $6.70; few choice, $7.25. Hogs, receipts, 852; nominally steady.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Cattle—Receipts, 2000; slow; steady; good to prime steers nominal, $8 to $8.75; poor to medium, $4.25 to $7.50; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.25; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.25 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5; calves, $2.50 to $7; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $4.50 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,000; excited; 10c to 15c higher; mixed and butchers', $6.75 to $7.50; good to choice, heavy, $7.15 to $7.55; rough, heavy, $6.50 to $7.10; light, $6.75 to $7.45; bulk of sales, $7 to $7.35.

BABY'S OWN SOAP

Baby's Own Soap

is a guard against all skin troubles in children. It cleanses, softens, soothes and prevents chafing and sores.

IT IS AS GOOD FOR THE OLD AS THE YOUNG.

ALBERT TOILET SOAP CO., Mfrs. MONTREAL. 4-2

Its easy to have the best if you always insist upon having

Carling's Ale and Porter

ALL DEALERS

CARLING LONDON

For sale by Wesley Bullen.

Releve those Inflamed Eyes!

Pond's Extract

Reduced one-half with pure soft water, applied frequently with dropper or eye cup, the congestion will be removed and the pain and inflammation instantly relieved.

CAUTION!—Avoid dangerous, irritating Witch Hazel preparations represented to be "the same as" Pond's Extract which easily sour and generally contain "wood alcohol," a deadly poison.

You May Need

Pain-Killer

For Cuts Burns Bruises

Cramps Diarrhoea All Bowel Complaints

It is a sure, safe and quick remedy.

There's only one PAIN-KILLER. PERRY DAVIS'.

Two sizes, 25c. and 50c.

Wilson's Fly Pads

will kill all the flies in a room in a few hours.

Avoid Imitations.

This shows how to use them.

"No Mess"

Let a woman forget the mess and trouble of the old-fashioned powder home dyes and go right out to-day and buy a cake of that famous English Home Dye of highest quality, Maypole Soap. It washes and dyes at the same time. Clean, quick, easy, sure! Brilliant colorings and fadeless when she uses......

Maypole Soap Dyes

Sold everywhere. 10c. for Colors. 15c. for Black.

SANTAL-MIDY

Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

MIDY

MAHOMET

Was at one time an obscure driver of camels. Who would have dreamed that one day he would found a religion to which millions would pin their faith?

HUDSON'S DRY SOAP was first put upon the market when railroads were in their infancy, and the telephone and telegraph would have been considered close to witchcraft.

It was little thought at that time that it would attain a growth exceeding a million users. You know what a million means?

If HUDSON'S DRY SOAP did not fill a necessary place in every home where it is used its sale would never have reached such proportions.

Banishes dirt from everything, especially obstinate dirt.

A Sure Cure for Headaches. — Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Will be Found an Excellent Remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

The Well Known Strengthening Properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer Complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of "Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup," and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation. —Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

UNTOLD MISERY — WHAT A WELL-KNOWN COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER SUFFERED, AND HOW HE WAS CURED.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time travelling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished, I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of Dyspepsia.

(Signed),
T. S. McINTEE.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

He Has Tried It.—Mr. John Anderson, Kimloss, writes: "I venture to say few, if any, have received greater benefit from the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, than I have. I have used it regularly for over ten years, and have recommended it to all sufferers I knew of, and they also found it of great virtue in cases of severe bronchitis and incipient consumption."

Wedding and Funeral

FLOWERS

At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

Uses for $1,000,000

(Philadelphia Times.)

Seated with some congenial cronies in a cool corner of a roof garden the other night was James Connor Roach, actor, playwright, wit and raconteur. They had been discussing wealth and what it meant to be a man of millions, when Roach said;

"Now, how many of us here to-night know what $1,000,000 really means? How many people in general know?

"Some think of a million as a check for that amount signed by George Gould and indorsed by Russell Sage. Others picture great heaps of gold.

"When I hear poor chaps like us speaking of millions I think of the story of three of my countrymen who were digging a sewer in Kensington.

"They had shovels with very short handles and the dirt had to be thrown higher the deeper they dug, so the longer they worked the more energy had to be expended.

"One noon hour they were seated along the fence, eating dinner, when Pat said;

"'Byes, do yez know what I'd do if I had a millyun dollars? I'd buy mesilf a job as porther on a Pullman car and spind the rest of me days in luxury.'

"Mike removed his pipe from his mouth, sighed as he looked at his empty pail, and said;

"'Well, well now, would yez? I'd buy me one of the big corner saloons with all the lookin' glasses, and iv'ry time I took a drink I'd see mesilf twenty-four times takin' it.'

"The whistle summoned them to work, when Jim gave his opinion.

"Holding his lame old back with one hand, and reaching for his shovel, he declared:

"'If I had a millyun dollars I'd add two feet to the handles of all these shovels.'"

THE CAUSE OF DYSPEPTIC PAINS.

Improperly digested food usually forms gases that cause a painful distention of the stomach and pressure against the heart. This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Cramps, Summer Complaint and all Stomach and Bowel Troubles. No household is complete without Nerviline. Try a 25c bottle.

It's About Over

OUR SWEEP-OUT SHOE SALE

Of the season's remnants.

This week will likely bring it to a close. Some of the best Bargains for the last. Don't miss this opportunity.

The J. J. HAINES SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

BOOKS AND BOOKMAKING.

London publishers are chronicling the fact that there is a brisk demand for books in South Africa. All of the successful war books are called for and school books are being shipped in large quantities.

Gilbert Parker has turned aside from fiction and politics long enough to write a "History of Quebec" in two volumes.

"Religious historical novels are the thing," asserted a well-known novelist at a recent dinner. "One can get his characters into any sort of a scrape without bothering about a plausible solving of the problem. Miracles are in order. You introduce a miracle, and everything is smoothed out in one chapter."

"That reminds me of a story," said the critic. I guess it isn't sacrilegious. At any rate I had it from one of the most famous and well-loved preachers in this part of the world.

"He was continually bothered by cranks because he wouldn't turn any one away. One day a man went into his study and announced that he was Jesus Christ. He was insane, but the doctor didn't show a trace of surprise.

"'Indeed,' he said pleasantly. 'Where are your credentials?'

"The man stared.

"'Of course I've no doubt you are just what you represent yourself to be, but it is customary to ask for credentials.'

"'What sort of credentials do you want?' stammered the crank.

"The doctor smiled sweetly.

"'Oh, I don't know. I should think a miracle would be the best thing. Any little miracle will do.'

"The visitor turned and fled. Now, the religious novelist of the day seems to think any little miracle will do for his purpose."

THE PENALTY OF A FAST LIFE.

Is paid for by an irritable condition of body and mind, by exhausted energy, poor digestion, unstrung nerves and broken sleep. If you must and will live the killing pace, better keep in mind the sustaining powers of Ferrozone, a wonderful tonic and reconstructor. Ferrozone is a blood maker, a nerve strengthener, a heart and brain invigorator. It creates appetite, insures perfect digestion and undisturbed sleep, restores the vitality and strength lost by excessive living very quickly. Ferrozone will do you inestimable good, try it. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or J. S. McKeown.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

Daily Intelligencer.

TIMELY TOPICS.

The thermometer indicates that there is still plenty of room at the top.

• • •

Mr. Burrows, of this city, C.P.R. agent, sold last week 80 Manitoba excursion tickets. 5,000 have already gone from Ontario to assist in harvesting the Manitoba and Nor' West crop; a large number of whom will, no doubt, make that section of the Dominion their permanent home.

• • •

Some Liberals in Ontario are advocating the appointment of the son of J. M. Gibson, at present Attorney-General, as successor to the Hon. Oliver Mowat. They say they want a more active and energetic Lieut.-Governor than Sir Oliver. Mr. Gibson would make an admirable Governor.

• • •

The Normal School in Toronto opened for practical work on the 21st inst., at which there were 120 students of whom only 14 were males. "School ma'ams" will soon be plentiful.

• • •

A trip over the G.T.R. from Belleville to Toronto shows what extensive improvements are being made in grades and double tracking. The result of these changes will be appreciated when it is stated that the big Grand Trunk engines which formerly hauled loads of 750 tons over this stretch of roadbed can now easily handle 2,500-ton loads, while under the new conditions they pull average loads of 2,000 tons. Every Canadian will rejoice at the prosperous condition of this road; not more so, however, than the English bond and shareholder.

• • •

An ice trust has been formed at Franklin, Pa. This is one of the coolest transactions which has occurred in the trust line.

• • •

A Pittsburg preacher has caused a rumpus in his church by charging that the basso in the choir kissed the soprano. Who is the proper person for the basso to kiss?

• • •

Says a reader of Topics: "Did you ever hear of the gardener in this city whose land is so rich that he could not raise cucumbers?" When asked to explain, he said that the vines grew so fast that the cucumbers were all worn out by being dragged over the ground.

• • •

An English peeress offers to exhibit herself publicly in her coronation gown for a charge of sixpence, the proceeds to be given to charity. It is needless to say that the lady is reputed to be very beautiful.

• • •

That $1,500 pair of shoes which a Wisconsin man has just bought in New York must be good for at least seven leagues at a step.—Buffalo Express.

• • •

It must be a shock to the New Jersey mosquitoes to read that the Louisiana mosquitoes are preventing work on the farms. As bad as the New Jerseyites are, they must deplore this interference with the cotton crop.

• • •

It is announced that, owing to drought, the crops in the Bombay Presidency are likely to fail. It is a curious fact that although the crops in all foreign countries were, a few weeks ago, expected to be very large, damage is now being reported from many places. This means large exports from this country.

• • •

Owing to the scarcity and high price of anthracite coal, this product will not be burned on the ships in the naval maneuvers and as a result it will be impossible for the vessels to get near the shore without their smoke being seen. If anything were needed to show the absolute necessity of preventing any more of these coal strikes it is found in the handicap under which the navy is laboring in the present maneuvers. These play wars are too serious to be interfered with.—Buffalo Express.

• • •

"Rain, rain, go away, and don't come back for many a day. The earth is soaked, the streams are high and not a thing in sight is dry. The prospect makes the farmer frown. His oats are lodged, his grass is down, his meadow's underneath the flood, his cornfield is a field of mud. In town the merchant's glum and blue because of patrons scant and few. He looks for trade but looks in vain, and sadly mutters, 'too much rain.'"

• • •

Lennox is having its full share of election troubles. The latest phase in the drama is the presentation of a cross petition, accusing Mr. Madole, the defeated Grit candidate of personal bribery, and asking for his disqualification. The "Machine" was at work actively in Lennox.

• • •

INFORMATION WANTED.

A plain and simple answer
To this riddle's all I wish:
Does fishing make men liars,
Or do only liars fish?

• • •

A correspondent from Sidney, signing himself "Old-Time Reformer," says he has read an account in the Toronto Globe of a grand reception and dance given by Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, at the Cecil hotel in London, England, and wants to know from Timely Topics if these "magnificent affairs are paid for by the country, and how much it would cost?" What the cost would be it is difficult to say. It cost the Shah of Persia, to give a luncheon to some friends in London $15,000 from which "Old Reformer can judge of the cost of a reception and a dance at the Cecil No matter what it cost the country will pay for it. If these spreads were given at the expense of the country by a Conservative Premier the whole Grit press of the country would be sounding the war cry of economy and denouncing Tory extravagance; but when done by a Grit it's all right. The dignity of the Dominion must be maintained they say.

• • •

Hon. Mr. Gibson, Attorney-General, who has just returned from England, says the Government is all right and "will have a working majority." No doubt he counts on "Machine" bye-elections.

• • •

Dodds & Co., of Montreal, paint manufacturers, have withdrawn from the Dominion "White Lead Association," on the ground that "they did "not care to have their "business run by others, "nor did they care to be dictated to. They were opposed to "combines. They are right. It is difficult to convince workingmen that they have not the right to strike for higher wages when the employers combine to raise unduly the price of the article they make. Both are bad.

• • •

The Minister of the Interior has offered the city of Ottawa one of the old posts that marked the boundary lines between Maine and New Brunswick, as a souvenir of the Ashburton Treaty. If accepted, it will be a constant reminder of how Canada was deprived of a large section of the country, through the imbecility and stupidity of the man who negotiated the treaty, and the cunning and cupidity of those with whom he had to deal.

• • •

A proposed industry has been abandoned in Kingston on account of the "stand taken by the labor organizations." This is the result of "Unionism," and looks like cutting off the nose to spite the face.

Editorial and important local news on second page.

VACATIONISTS.

Here they are again,
As they were last year,
Clothing torn and stained,
Systems out of gear.

Grumbling at the food
And the lack of sleep,
At the heat and cold,
At the prices steep.

Stung by bumble bees,
Bit by bugs galore,
Lo, the cheerless crowds
From the woods and shore.

Coming back played out,
Blistered up and broke,
To the daily grind
Of the office yoke.

—JOHN SMITH.

Give the Baby a Chance.

During the hot weather, give the baby a chance to become strong and happy. If the milk or prepared food you are now using is not agreeing with your child, try Lactated Food at once. This marvellous infant food is making thousands of weak babies strong and vigorous. Every mother can keep her baby safe from the dangers of summer by using Lactated Food.

A member of the British Royal Society has demonstrated to the satisfaction of his colleagues that the age of fish may be determined by their scales.

Five Little Minutes are all the time Perry Davis' Painkiller needs to stop a stomachache, even when it is sharp enough to make a strong man groan. Don't be fooled by imitations. 25c and 50c.

That this is an age of slang is demonstrated by the fact that candy which formerly bore sentimental inscriptions now bears flippant phrases.

The Cosmopolitan Character of the MAGI Caledonia Springs demonstrates the Wide-spread reputation of these great curative Baths and Waters

During the fiscal year ended with June 1, 657 vessels of 473981 gross tons were launched in the United States, compared with 1,709 vessels of 488,-616 tons in 1901. The decrease is in sailing vessels, canal boats, barges, etc.

"FOOT ELM" MADE MARCHING EASY.

MANY CANADIAN SOLDIERS IN THE LATE SOUTH AFRICAN CAMPAIGN, TESTED "FOOT ELM" AND SPEAK ENTHUSIASTICALLY OF ITS MERITS.

The First Canadian Contingent that went to South Africa was supplied with "Foot Elm." So helpful did it prove in preventing chafing, scalding and blistering of the feet on the long marches over the hot sands of the South African veldt, that from Col. Otter, Capt. Barker, as well as from dozens of privates, have come words of the highest praise for this splendid remedy for the feet.

Mr. A. MacGregor, Color Sergt. 48th Highlanders, Toronto, Ont., who was through the campaign, has this to say:

"Foot Elm" was thoroughly appreciated by everyone who used it, as it prevented chafing, eased and rested the feet and robbed marching of a great deal of misery."

People who suffer in any way with their feet should not fail to try "Foot Elm." It makes walking easy. Price 25 cents a box at all druggists or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont. Do not accept a substitute.

"Of the 600 weeds and grasses growing in the Northwest," writes Professor Thomas Shaw, "it is estimated by those that have made a study of it that sheep will eat 576 of them, while horses consume but 82 and cattle only 56."

"CURED TO STAY"

Is the universal testimony for South American Nervine, and what it did for Mrs. Armstrong it will do for any woman living.

"For one who has suffered as I have for over six years from nervous prostration, and having spent nearly all I possessed in doctor bills without any permanent relief, you can imagine what a God-sent blessing I feel South American Nervine has been to me. The first few doses gave me great relief. It took six bottles in all to cure me, but I feel I am cured to stay cured."
—Mrs. Geo. Armstrong, Orillia, Ont. 58

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

A Norwegian, Henrik Finne, of Stavenger, has invented a machine for turning out tins used for sardines and anchovies. Hitherto a skilled laborer could make about 600 tins daily, but Mr. Finne's machine will produce from 15,000 to 20,000 a day.

MEN'S RAINPROOF COATS.

More and more every day you see the positive necessity of having a good waterproof coat. Really they have got so reasonable in price at the Oak Hall, that almost any man can afford one. Prices $2.50, $3.00 and up to those swell raglans at $10. You will find it hardly possible to get along without one.

THE BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Write for Catalogue.

Departments.

1. Bookkeeping and Commercial Usages—up-to-date in every respect. 2. Shorthand and Typewriting—Thorough office practice. 3. Telegraphing—Special attention given to Railroad work. Students may enter any day. A few dollars invested in a good business education will yield large profits.—J. FRITH JEFFERS, M.A., Principal.

A coronation Dubar will be held on January 1, 1903, in a great amphitheatre about four miles from Delhi. The place will accommodate 12,000 persons.

Can you pass an examination for Life Insurance now? If so, protect your family by taking out a policy in the Imperial Life of Canada, when your premiums are less than they will ever be again. You are simply making positive a sum of money against disaster by paying interest on it while you live, the principal being presented to your family at your death. There are so many advantages offered by this company not held out by others, that it will be to your interest to consult Hunt & Jeffers, agents for the Imperial Life.

The only thing that comes to the man who waits is the dust from the procession.

No Hair? The trouble is your hair does not have life enough. Save your hair. Feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. If the gray hairs are coming, Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore color every time.

$1. All druggists. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russsian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

Clothes Wringers.

You will appreciate the quality to be found in our

Royal Canadian

Eze Rapid

They have fine white rubber rolls which are vulcanized directly on the shafts.

They work with a patent screw clamp which will enable you to get all the water from your clothes without tearing them to pieces. There action is easy so that it does not use up all your strength in operating.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Will You Be One ?

Our Customers are our best advertisements. Every pair of glasses fitted by us sell others.

Every day some one says, Mrs. So and So is so well pleased with her glasses that I thought I would come to you.

We are human though never satisfied. We want to add you to our chain. To fit you is to fit your friends in the future.

We Correct All Defects of The Human Eye That Glasses Will Remedy.

ALEX. RAY.

If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

The fellow who borrows 50 cents is content to do things by halves.

English Fruit Salt

—PLEASANT
—COOLING
—REFRESHING.

One large bottle - 40c

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic

This preparation has been very highly recommended, being a natural remedy for Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Hysterics, Nervousness, Melancholy, Dizziness, Hysteria, Spinal Weakness.

Price $1.00 a Bottle.

—AT—

WATERS'

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting, Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

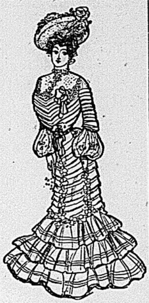
Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

FASHIONABLE GOWNS.

Many Are Made of Filet Lace—Boleros Still Popular.

Filet lace is much used for summer gowns. It is frequently trimmed with bands of pongee or silk. The foundation of this lace is a square meshed lace on which a pattern is worked in darned fashion. It has rather the effect of an old sampler. Gold or silver tinsel on black or brown is exquisite with a touch of color.

The bolero, like the blouse, has apparently come to stay. Chiffon and mousseline are appliqued with heavy textures or bits of silk, and the bolero in this fashion is fitted loosely and is fastened with bows of colored velvet set on in the front.



GRAY VEILING.

So far there is little change in the fashion of skirts, but short ones are in the minority and are rarely seen except for athletic sports.

A costume of gray veiling is shown in the cut. Both waist and skirt are laid in wide bias tucks. The skirt has three tucked ruffles. The waist is collarless and is trimmed with a yoke and undersleeves of white chiffon. Bands of white silk applique also aid in trimming the waist and skirt.

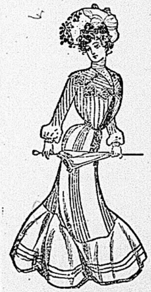
JUDIC CHOLLET.

FANCY COLLARS AND TIES.

Silk Mull Fichus, Wash Collars and Stocks.

Bertha collars of embroidered batiste appear on very many of the new gowns. Another fashionable mode for linen dresses shows a short, oddly shaped bolero with stole ends of lace and edged around the sides with narrow bands of stitched linen. The bolero is worn over a tucked blouse of embroidered batiste.

Pretty little silk mull fichus are edged with flower passementerie. Thin white wash goods and net make equally effective fichus. A flower bordered fichu is as dainty a piece of apparel as one could wish for.



OF OLD ROSE LINEN.

In the wash ties and neckbands fashion still clings to the pique stocks of white, with narrow colored ties. The knot seems to be superseding the bow, and many of the new stocks have the ties simply crossed over and fastened with a fancy pin.

Many collars are made of insertion and featherstitching. They fasten in the back and taper down into points in the front.

The picture shows a gown of old rose linen. The blouse waist has a tucked collar cut in points and edged with square lace applique. The skirt is also tucked and has a wide gored ruffle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Thomas B. Reed on Fame.

Here is a definition of fame given by ex-Speaker Reed at the Bowdoin college commencement dinner: "Fame is largely a matter of accident. Being in the right place at the right time and doing the right thing, or, better still, making people think you are doing the right thing, is about all there is to fame." This definition gains much in effectiveness when "fame" is pronounced with the ex-speaker's well known drawl.

Auction Sale!

We have decided to place before the residents of Belleville and surrounding country one of the greatest opportunities ever presented of securing first-class goods at their own price.

Ten Thousand Dollars

WATCHES, CHAINS, RINGS, BROOCHES, PINS, STUDS AND OTHER JEWELERY, STERLING SILVER, CUT GLASS, SILVER-PLATED WARE, CLOCKS, FANCY CHINA, BRIC-A-BRAC, &C.

For some time we have been anticipating a move; our present quarters being too small. We have leased for a number of years the store lately occupied by Mr. T. P. Brown, as a carpet and curtain store, but before leaving our present quarters, have decided on holding an immense Auction Sale. We take this method of selling our present stock so we can enter our new store next month, "September," with an entire new line of goods.

SALE TO OPEN ON

Thursday, August 28th,

AT 2.30 IN THE AFTERNOON

And to be continued every day—afternoon and evening—until further notice. Mr. J. H. Havill, of Hamilton, known as the "Prince of Jewelry Auctioneers," has been engaged to conduct the sale. Sale at 2.30 and 7.30 each day. Ladies are especially invited to attend. We will endeavor to make them comfortable.

T. BLACKBURN,

JEWELLER & OPTICIAN.

NEXT TO DOMINION BANK, BELLEVILLE, ONT.

We expect to open our New Store about Sept. 25th--Remember T. P. Brown's old stand, opposite Campbell street.

---

5 & 10c Store. J. C. WOOD'S 15 & 25c Store.

Saturday Specials

NOTIONS

Chetalaine Bags, reg. 50c; for ...	25c
Gentlemen's Bill Books for	25c
Boys' White Sailor Collars, reg. 15c; for	5c
Boys' Colored Sailor Collars, reg. 35c; for	10c
Gentlemen's Black Cash. Hose, reg. 25c; for	15c

GENEVAWARE

INSPECT OUR WINDOW AND SEE THESE BEAUTIFUL GOODS AT 5, 10, 15 and 25c EACH.

SOAPS

6 bars perfumed Castile, 11 in. long for	25c
6 boxes King Edward Parler Matches for	25c
Sponges, reg. 25c, for	15c

SCHOOL BOOKS

WE HAVE A FULL RANGE OF PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS AND SUPPLIES.

Buy them here and save money.

CANDY SALE--Saturday Night Only.

10c. 1-2 lb., Regular 30, 40 and 50c. lb., for ...... 10c 1-2 lb.
5c. 1-2 lb., Several Special Lines, for ...... 5c 1-2 lb.

5 & 10c Store J. C. Wood's 15 & 25c Store

Shoe Bargains

Men's Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.25
Boys' Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.00
Men's Fine Lace Boots..	$1.15
Boys' Fine Lace Boots ..	.85
Men's Canvas Boots or Low Shoes	$1.00
Men's Dongola Kid Congress	$1.20
Men's Patent leather lace Boots	$2.00
Children's Button Boots or Slippers	.25

A. W. Vermilyea & Son

RUPTURE

MY EXPERIENCE WITH TRUSS

First truss, bought in Hamilton, cost	[illegible]
Second truss, bought in Toronto, cost	[illegible]
Third truss, bought in Toronto, cost	[illegible]
Fourth (special truss) ..	[illegible]
Six others at different times	68[illegible]
Total cost of failures ...	92.30

Last, best and only one that was satisfactory made for me by AUTHORS & COX, 135 Church St., Toronto, cost $7. This truss cured me in less than 12 months.

S. B. ALTON, Appleby, Ont.
a14-3tw&d23,30

Lord Roberts has approved of one soldier in each batallion acting as chiropodist to the rest.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

A good general servant for a small house near Institute. Apply Mrs. Wheeler, Hotel Quinte. 22-2t

"Wanted," at once, at Graham's Evaporator, 20 girls.—R. J. Graham. a22-2t

To Rent, a house with modern conveniences, between Charles and Pinnacle streets. Apply Rev. A. H. DRUMM, Cor. Bridge and Charles Sts. a22-2t

FOR SALE.

Two steam barges, one 110 ft. long, 22 ft. beam; the other 97 ft. long, 16 ft. beam. Both in good running order. S. W. Marchment & Co., 103 Victoria St., Toronto. 19-6t

HOUSES FOR SALE.

The undersigned have received instructions to sell at once the following properties in the City of Belleville.

1. Frame house, N. E. corner of Everett St. and Bridge St.
2. Small frame house, east side of Everett street, first house north of Bridge street

All above houses are now occupied by monthly tenants. These properties can be purchased upon reasonable terms and low prices.

Other City properties to rent and to sell. Further particulars will be given upon application to

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Solicitors, 9 Campbell St.
June 28, 1902. jy4-8-10-12d

A NAGGING COUGH drives sleep and comfort away. You can conquer it with Allen's Lung Balsam, which relieves hard breathing, pain in the chest and irritation of the throat. Give it freely to the children.

Strs. North King and Caspian

EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR

50c Wednesday, 27th Thursday, 28th

Return tickets will be issued at SINGLE FARE

Good going 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, returning until 30th Aug. inclusive.

U. E. THOMPSON, Ticket Agent. RATHBUN CO, Ticket Agent

EXCURSION PER Str. "NIAGARA" To PICTON

Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 23.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways. 2 hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.

THOS. STEWART, Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902,

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a.m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p.m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leave Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $2.45; Return, $3.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F. CHAPMAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.

E. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.

Running all rapids.

Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY, Agents, Belleville, Ont.

A. W. HEPBURN, General Manager, Picton, Ont.

NO RISK...

There is absolutely no risk in purchasing your watches, fine jewelry and silverware from us. We guarantee safe delivery; we prepay charges and cheerfully refund money in full if desired.

Our handsomely illustrated catalogue will assist you very materially and may be had upon application.

DIAMOND HALL, Established 1854.

RYRIE BROS., Yonge and Adelaide Sts., TORONTO.

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at The Intelligencer Office. tf

KRUGER HAS LOST PRESTIGE.

And Leyds Will Not Have Much Weight in Future.

London, Aug. 23.—The Brussels correspondent of the Times says telegrams from Holland have been confused and contradictory, but it is plain that the Boer Generals have done everything in their power to avoid arousing anti-British demonstrations, and all reports regarding their future so-called political program are premature. Rumors that Kruger reproached the generals are not credited in Brussels, and reports of dissension between the generals and their colleagues are unconfirmed.

The loss of prestige by Kruger and his party, says the correspondent, is shown by the lack of interest in their doings on the part of the Belgian press. Serious opinion does not assign to Leyds any status in future political development of South Africa.

The Temps thinks the Boer generals' decision to return to London immediately shows they expect Chamberlain to make a positive statement as to when autonomy will be granted.

Botha at Meyer's Bier.

Brussels, Aug. 23.—Gen. Botha visited the cemetery of Ixelles, near this city, yesterday, and saw the body of Gen. Lucas Meyer in the mortuary. Botha, who was deeply moved, stood some time in prayer, and then placed a wreath on the coffin. The body of the Boer General will remain in the mortuary for three months, when it will be taken to South Africa.

FOUND DEAD ON A POLE.

Lineman of the Bell Telephone Co. Killed by Live Wire.

Winnipeg, Aug. 23.—Alex. T. McLean, a lineman, employed by the Bell Telephone Company, was found dead yesterday morning, hanging from the cross-arm on a telephone pole. Two workmen, also employes of the company were engaged in passing a wire to McLean, and, upon noticing that he stopped pulling on the line, looked up and saw his body hanging limp and lifeless over the arm. A live wire is run upon the pole near where the man was engaged but there are no marks upon the body that would indicate electrocution. McLean was aged 48, and leaves a wife and family of six children. He was one of the Nile voyageurs, and took part in the Gordon relief expedition.

CUT INTO HIS MAJORITY.

But English Conservative Was Returned in Kent.

London, Aug. 23.—H. W. Forster, Conservative, has been re-elected to the Parliamentary vacancy in the Sevenoaks division of Kent, caused by his appointment to the Lord Commissionership of the Treasury. His majority was 891 votes over the Liberal candidate, Beaumont Morice. The contest centered on the Education Bill.

At the last election in the West, or Sevenoaks, division of Kent, Mr. Forster defeated his Liberal opponent by 4,812 votes.

STEAMER STRIKES PILOT BOAT.

John E. Townsend, Light Keeper at Louisburg Instantly Killed.

Halifax, Aug. 23.—A despatch received here last night states that the steamer Egda, bound into Louisburg Harbor late Thursday night, struck the pilot boat, which went out to meet her and in which there was four men. The pilot boat was swamped and John E. Townsend, the lightkeeper at Louisburg was instantly killed. Life buoys were thrown from the steamer to the other men, and they kept afloat until help reached them.

An Interesting Gift.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—The Archaeological Museum, in this city, is to be presented with a beautiful copper hatchet, which was recently found in an excavation in the rocks about four miles from Parry Sound. Intimation to this effect is made by Mortimer Weeks, the finder. The copper in the hatchet seems to have been hardened by some process unknown at the present time. The discovery, it is thought, will lead to a vigorous search for native copper in that section.

Edison's New Storage Battery.

New York, Aug. 23.—Thomas A. Edison is building a special electric car, fitted with his new storage batteries, to be used in the 500-mile reliability run, which will be held in October under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America. The journey will be from this city to Boston and return. It will be the first public test of the invention. The schedule allows six days for the journey with 15 miles an hour as maximum speed.

Soudan Tribes Troublesome.

London, Aug. 23.—The St. James' Gazette yesterday hears that trouble is threatening in the Soudan. The Government, the paper says, is preparing an expedition against the tribes. Col. Mahon, the reliever of Mafeking, and now Governor of Kordofan, has been recalled from leave of absence, and Sir Francis Wingate has also cut short his holiday and returned to Cairo.

Paid $525 For a Sow.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—George Creelman, Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, returned yesterday from the sale of Yorkshire pigs at the Winter Fair at Guelph. He says the success it has met with will make it an annual affair. One sow sold for $525, the largest price ever paid for a sow in Canada. The average price was $10.

Joseph Royal Dying.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 23.—Hon. Jos. Royal, who has been very ill, was given up last night, and may not live till this morning.

BRIGHT CROP PROSPECTS

Better Weather For Harvesting Could Not Be Wished For.

Thousands of Acres of the Manitoba Wheat Crop Cut on Friday—Heavy Crops Demands a Greater Quantity of Binder Twine—Five Thousand Harvesters Arrive From the East at Winnipeg and Were Despatched to Their Destinations.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 23.—No better weather for harvesting could be wished for in Manitoba than that which blessed Manitoba's fields yesterday. It was warm and bright, and thousands of acres were cut. The heavy crop necessitates a greater quantity of twine than usual.

Five thousand harvesters arrived from the East yesterday. The first train reached here at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. With despatch these men were hurried to their destinations. Delegates from all districts in the Province are here, and greatly assisted the railway and Government officials in forwarding the men. The maximum wage agreed to was $40.

From the best authority obtainable the crop of the Northwest Territories will be a huge success this year. The total output is estimated at 15,000,000 bushels, or an average yield of from 80 to 21 bushels per acre.

15,000 in Three Days.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—That section of Ontario tributary to Toronto has furnished 15,000 excursionists for the Canadain west in three days. The season closed last evening. Seven trains were sent out yesterday afternoon loaded as "specials." This was in addition to the regular trains, all of which carried from three to five extra coaches. Though the harvest contingent handled through the Toronto gateway this season is short three or four thousand, as compared with last year, the regular equipment of the railroads centering here was exhausted, and the unique picture of ordinary box cars being crowded with passengers was presented at the Union depot.

PERILS OF A LUXURY.

Sir Thomas Lipton and Sultan of Morocco Hurt While Automobiling.

London, Aug. 23.—Sir Thomas Lipton was in an automobile accident yesterday, while coming to town from his country house. His twelve-horse car, which he was driving himself, skidded on the street car rails at Woodgreen, and crashed violently into the iron railing bordering the road. The car was wrecked, and the railing was smashed for a considerable distance, but Sir Thomas escaped with a shock.

A special despatch from Madrid says that advices received there from Tangier announce that the Sultan of Morocco had a dangerous accident while automobiling near Fez yesterday. The driver lost control of the car, which dashed into a stone wall. As the vehicle was not going fast, the Sultan escaped with a shaking up and a fright.

RIOT ARRESTS IN JAMAICA.

One Accused Man Sails For New York to Escape Prosecution.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 23.—Respectable persons are being arrested as having been implicated in the rioting at Monetgo Bay last April. The arrests are creating much excitement. Ralph Thomson has evaded arrest and has gone to New York. He is charged with rioting and wounding policemen, with intent to murder.

The authorities are taking steps to obtain the extradition of Thomson. More than 50 persons who participated in the riots have been sent to prison.

Dressmaker's Backache.

Women engaged in the arduous work of dressmaking frequently have trouble with their back and kidneys. Running a sewing machine, plying the needle in the never ceasing stitch, stitch, stitch, pressing seams—constant bending over—soon tells on the back, makes it ache and pain. No wonder these women often find their health fail. The kidneys get out of order, the back pains, and the whole system gets full of poisons which the sick kidneys are unable to eliminate.

No dressmaker should allow her health to slip away, and backache and kidney troubles keep her in misery, when such ease, comfort, freedom from pain and invigoration of the system can be obtained by using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

ACTED SPLENDIDLY.

Miss A. Schwartz, 42 Water Street, Berlin, Ont., states her experience with Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets as follows: "I suffered from backache and kidney trouble for some years, which I think was due to sitting so close and bending over at my work. The trouble at times was quite severe, so I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets at Roos' drug store. They certainly acted splendidly with me, for I had not finished the first bottle until I got complete relief."

Price 50c. a box, at all druggists or by mail, The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto.

(Changed daily)

Saturday, August 23, 1902.

PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING

In all its branches, not ordinary workmanship, extraordinary—work so neat and clean, so well arranged. For the very best class of paperhanging our prices will be much lower than you have previously paid for ordinary work.

Our Color Combining will please you. We will not give you the stale, wornout color combinations. Our decorator understands color, knows the new things, knows how to use them, when and where to introduce effects. Decorating is no new line, no experiment with us. It is the outcome of many years of experience and study color, coupled with an expert knowledge of all that has been produced in wall papers during the past twenty years.

SATURDAY SPECIALS

A DAY OF BOOKS, A DAY OF STATIONERY.

You will find books at bargains everywhere, on the bargain tables, on the half price shelves and in every available space where they can be seen.

STATIONERY—

A counter devoted to bargains in all kind of stationery, not forgetting commercial requirements.

SCHOOL BOOKS—

Books and supplies of every description, everything you could think of to make children happy in their labors. Exercise books and scribblers so thick and paper so good you will wonder how they can be made for so little money. Candidly, we have this year the best line of school supplies we have ever before seen, and that's saying a lot, for we have always had the best.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Papar Wholesale & Retail

THE MARKETS.

September Grain Erratic—Quick Changes in Chicago Options—Liverpool Cables Higher—The Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, Aug. 22.

Liverpool wheat futures closed unchanged to ¼d higher to-day and corn futures 2½d higher.

Lard advanced 2s at Liverpool to-day.

Chicago markets were erratic again locally, but closed steady. Sept. wheat closed ⅛c lower than yesterday, Sept. corn ⅛c lower and Sept. oats ⅛c lower.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	75¼	72⅝	74⅝
Chicago	....	71⅝	67⅞	69¾
Toledo	72½	[illegible]	71½	72¾
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	72	68½	65½	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 72 to	$0 74
Wheat, white, bush	0 73	0 75
Wheat, spring, bush	0 73	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 73	....
Beans, bush	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush	0 81	....
Rye, bush	0 50½	....
Barley, bush	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush	0 46	0 47
Oats, new, bush	0 35	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 55	....

ONTARIO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected		$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected		0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected		0 07½
Hides, No. 2, inspected		0 06½
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling		0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected		0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected		0 08
Deacons (dairies), each		0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb	0 07	....

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Montreal, Aug. 22.—Flour—Receipts, 600 bbls.; market quiet.

Flour quotations—Patent winter, $3.80 to $4; patent spring, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; extra, none; superfine, none; strong bakers, $3.60 to $3.80; Ontario bags, $1.70 to $1.80.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, Southwest and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.

SECOND CLASS $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.

Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."

For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.

A. H. NOTMAN, Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.

S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.

Good going August 30th and 31st, returning good until September 2nd, 1902.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR TORONTO

September 1st to 13th.

Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.

Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75

All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.

For particulars and information apply to agents.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.

T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS

Front St. Phone 91.

The Surest Remedy is Allen's Lung Balsam

It never fails to cure a SIMPLE COLD, HEAVY COLD, and all BRONCHIAL TROUBLES.

Large Bottles $1.00. Medium Size 50c. Small or Trial Size 25c.

Endorsed by all who have tried it.

OVER $2,500

worth of stocks can be purchased by you, through us, if you have an account with us, amounting to $100. Larger amounts in proportion. You can secure the profit, possible to be made on an investment of the above amount, by actual investment of comparatively little money. We loan you balance of purchase money, at a charge, not exceeding the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, for the time of the loan. No other business in the world, proffers you greater credit. Full particulars of the method, plainly and clearly outlined, together with other valuable information, in our handsome 400 page, clothbound, illustrated

"Guide to Investors,"

which we issue for free distribution. Our

"Daily Market Letter,"

makes unbiased analysis of market conditions, so presented as to benefit investor or trader upon margin. Send for both. They are free.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

373 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.

No. 8.—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.

No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.

No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.

No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.

No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.

No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.

No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling

XXX Cider and White Wine Vinegars

Pure Spices Whole and Ground.

ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.

Telephone 214.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.

CHAS. N. SULMAN.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS, Manager.

tf

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, 02

NEW BUILDINGS

NEW FEATURES

NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums

$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

All the Resources of Our Glorious Country

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE

THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel

Consult Your Station Agent Regarding Fare to Toronto and Back.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves,"
"Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

There is only the glow of the bright firelight in the room, and the radiance of one crimson-shaded lamp. The window blinds have not yet been drawn, and in the gray, wild evening, from amid the tossing trees and driving rain, beneath the stormy clouds of coming night, a wayfarer might well look with desolate, envious eyes at the warmth and pleasantness within, at the picturesque group in the firelight on the big Persian rug.

A very pretty girl is lying back wearily and restfully in a satin-cushioned rocking chair, drinking tea, and smiling down languidly at the outstretched figure of a handsome young man lying on the rug at her feet — Captain Dallas Glynne, in his old favorite position, and pretty Miss Joyce Murray, with tumbled golden hair and bright flushed cheeks and softly shadowed eyes, from the healthful fatigue of their six hours' long mountain excursion together.

"We're in a disgraceful state of mud and damp, Dallas, both of us," Joyce is saying, as she lazily bends down for his cup, which he as lazily hands up to her, and then takes up the little silver tea pot of the tete-a-tete service on the table beside her. "It was delicious; but I'm awfully tired; aren't you? I wish dinner was an hour off—"

And then they became simultaneously aware of Yolande's presence.

CHAPTER XIX.

She pauses but for a few seconds, in sheer surprise and bewilderment; but it is long enough. Neither Dallas Glynne nor Joyce Murray will ever forget the incident or forget her as she looked just then, graceful, elegant, disdainful, making them both for a few moments feel a little afraid of her, a little ashamed of themselves.

Joyce was the first to recover herself with a gay laugh.

"Oh, Mrs. Glynne!" she exclaims. "What a reproach to us! You are dressed already for dinner, and Captain Glynne and I are not fit to be seen! I was just saying how disgracefully wet and muddy we were."

"You both seem rather oblivious of the flight of time certainly," Yolande retorts coolly; "it is a quarter to seven now."

She experiences no feeling of anger, or excitement, or indeed emotion of any kind, beyond a strange, stupefied feeling of dull contempt and despair — contempt for herself as well as for them, despair for her own future.

"Your mountain walk was rather a long one, wasn't it?" she says, with a faint icy smile, looking from one to the other composedly. "I was rather anxious as to what had become of you both; but I need not have been, I see. You took care of each other. And your mother kindly assured me this morning that she had placed my husband under your guardianship for the day, Miss Murray."

All this is said easily, smilingly, with a cold, woman-of-the-world indifference which is too careless for scorn, and which stings Dallas Glynne worse than tears or upbraiding would have done.

"She despises me," he tells himself, "and I deserve it. It was very bad form of me to go off for the whole day with Joyce and leave her at home! By Jove, Yolande looks this evening as if she could pay me back in my own coin! What a strange girl she is! I'm not by any means sure I quite understand her."

And Joyce says inwardly—

"How very stupid of mamma to say anything of the kind! She knows that Dallas Glynne's wife must hate me and be awfully jealous of me!"

Then she picks up her sealskin cape and black serge toque.

"I really must disappear now, Dallas," she says, laughing, "and I should advise you to do the same. We shall be in deeper disgrace than we are in now if we don't hurry."

"Captain Glynne," Yolande says distinctly, with a stress on the formal appellation, "I want to tell you, lest you blame your man, that it was I who was the cause of the accident in your room just now."

He pauses, amazed, on his way to the door, and Joyce pauses a moment also, forgetting herself.

"What accident?" he asks, turning back.

"I went into your room to speak to you, thinking you were there," Yolande answers steadily, in cold, even tones, "and, having foolishly stopped to look at your dressing case, and a bottle of macassar oil, I—spilled it over some things—spoiled them, I fear. I am very sorry!"

But there is utter indifference in her tone, and he is nettled.

"What did you spoil?" he asks sharply.

"I don't know," Yolande replies, without looking at him. "Some ties and handkerchiefs and other things."

She sinks down gracefully into a low easy chair, and puts up her pretty black satin, amber-slashed shoes on the fender-bar of the tiled hearth.

"Did you do it on purpose?" he asks more sharply.

He thinks this will effectually arouse her from this cold, provoking insouciance that is as new as it is unpleasant to him. But Yolande only smiles disdainfully as she glances at him.

"No. Why should I do such a very foolish thing?" she replies carelessly.

And Captain Glynne dashes off to dress, muttering savagely.

• • • • • • •

Lady Maria, greatly to Mrs. Murray's displeasure, will not permit dinner to be delayed one minute; so, when Captain Glynne and Miss Murray at length make their appearance, the fish has followed the soup, and Lady Maria, looking like a martyr in a horribly unbecoming gown of stone-colored velvet, glances up sternly from her plate of boiled chicken.

"A thousand pardons!" Joyce says airily, smiling at her. "Dinner is half over, I am afraid."

"Dinner was begun a quarter of an hour ago, Joyce," Lady Maria responds austerely. "And, even if I could consent to keep the rest of the family waiting for dinner, I could not calmly consent to ruin my own health for days simply because you and Captain Glynne choose to take such long walks together!"

Captain Glynne reddens angrily, and glances covertly at his wife from beneath his half-lowered eyelids. But Yolande is not looking at him.

"We lost our way, Lady Maria," Captain Glynne says curtly. "I explained how it happened to Glynne. We got down into Llanfair Valley instead of keeping across the mountain — Moelwyn, I think it's called—"

But Joyce interrupts him, with a gay laugh—

"You never will learn Welsh topography, I'm afraid, Dallas. That long, low mountain beyond Llanfair is Moel Galch. Moelwyn is miles off. We really got dreadfully far out of the right road," she adds, smiling merrily. "I'm so awfully sorry!"

"Are you? You don't seem so," retorts Lady Maria disagreeably. She detests eating at the family dinner table, being obliged to dispense with some of the weighing and measuring of her food that goes on in her own apartments, and always tempers the delight afforded by her presence by being very cross.

Yolande looks up at this moment, and Joyce meets her gaze. It is amused and coldly contemptuous.

"Well," Joyce says, deliberately eating her fish and looking from Lady Maria to Yolande, "I cannot truly say I regret the walk, long as it was. It was simply delightful!"

"It must have been," Yolande agrees, in clear, cold tones and smiling as brightly and coldly as Joyce herself. "I suppose you would like just such another walk to-morrow, Miss Murray?"

"I should!" Miss Murray answers, and she loses her temper so far as to say it rather defiantly.

The Viscount peers at her with a sickly smile, and elongates his thin, compressed lips.

Mrs. Murray clinks her spoon against a wine glass nervously, and Dallas Glynne feels a spasm of rage against everybody at the table.

"Joyce needn't think I'm going to make an ass of myself even for her," he says inwardly. "I've seen too much of that sort of thing. It would do Joyce no good to have her name coupled with mine now; and I certainly shall not give Yolande cause to pose as the neglected, injured wife. Not that the cross, stiff little creature seems to care very much now what I do! Ever since that blessed wedding day, she has been more like a sugar-icicle than anything else!"

He gazes across at the "sugar-icicle" — Yolande is sitting at the opposite side of the oval table between Mrs. Murray and Lady Maria —and wonders gloomily whether, on the whole, it really would not have been pleasanter to have his fair young wife passionately and happily fond of him, as he had been so greatly afraid would be the normal state of affairs in his conjugal existence.

"I wonder if I could not make her as much in love with me as ever, if I were to try?" he thinks.

At this moment Yolande looks up again, her eyes and his meet, a faint troubled flush disturbs the cold pallor of her face, and he sees with what an effort she tries to continue her conversation with Viscount Glynne.

She has been enthusiastically describing the beauties and charms of a St. Bernard puppy she has seen at the show.

"You're regularly in love with him, Mrs. Glynne!" the Viscount remarks, with his slow, mirthless, sneering laugh. "Young ladies are apt to fall in love with handsome puppies."

Though she strives her utmost, Yolande cannot help reddening hotly, for the sting in the rude speech is palpable enough to every one.

"Well, I am in love with that dear little St. Bernard," she admits, looking down at her plate, and flushing more and more deeply in her anger and embarrassment, though she tries bravely not even to feel the insulting innuendo. "I never saw such a beautiful little dog! I only wish I could buy him."

"If he is a well-bred puppy, you shall certainly have him, Yolande," her husband says, with a slight smile, and a faint accent on the adjective.

(To be continued.)

CANADA HAS BEEN IGNORED

Britain Represented as Allowing Bond-Blaine Treaty.

Premier Bond's Mission—Will Re-open Reciprocity Negotiations at Washington—Has Received Full Powers From Imperial Government in Favor of Free Trade With U.S.—Despatch at Variance With Understanding With Canada.

London, Aug. 23—Sir Robert Bond, the Premier and Colonial Secretary of Newfoundland, sailed from Liverpool yesterday for Montreal on the Allan Line steamer Pretorian, on his way to Washington, with full powers from the Imperial Government to re-open the negotiations, through the British Charge d'Affairs, for the ratification of the Bond-Blaine convention.

The Newfoundland Premier has declared himself in favor of free trade with the United States, as against a union of the colony with the Dominion of Canada. His success in obtaining Imperial sanction for his present American visit is the culmination of 12 years of persistent effort, and only this week was he able to convince the Government of the injustice done to Newfoundland by the non-ratification of the convention, and able to secure its consent for the resumption of the reciprocity negotiations.

The Premier of Newfoundland will lose no time in getting to work, and the British Charge d'Affairs will communicate with the State Department shortly after the Premier's arrival.

Possibly Untrue.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—The above despatch was sent out by the Associated Press, an American institution, and is at variance with the understanding which the Canadian Government has with tve Imperial authorities.

30,000 WOMEN TO MARCH.

"Mother" Jones, the Miners' Friend, Talks at Strike Headquarters.

Indianapolis, Aug. 23.— "Mother" Jones, the "miners' friend," was at strike headquarters yesterday on her way to West Virginia, after a visit to the west, and spoke of a movement which she proposes to inaugurate as soon as Congress convenes if the strike is not settled before that time.

"We will organize the wives of 30,000 striking miners," she said, "and march on Washington as soon as Congress meets, and present a petition asking justice for the miners. We will shake them up down there, and will have a popular Congress when we get to Washington."

Cost of Coal Police.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 23.—It is estimated that the coal and iron policemen now guarding the idle collieries in four counties of the anthracite region number 5,000. The employment of so many special guards has necessitated an expenditure by the companies to date of $1,800,000.

When Strike May Cease.

Montreal, Aug. 23.— A Montreal coal dealer says that he has private information to the effect that the strike will be broken by Labor Day.

Tried to Wreck a Train.

Woodstock, Aug. 23.—Edward Hennecker, a 15-year-old boy, whose home is in Bright, is in jail here, charged with attempting to wreck a G.T.R. train last Monday night by placing a tie on the tracks near Bright. Chief Detective Day of the G.T.R. swore out a warrant against the lad Hennecker, who was employed by a farmer near Bright. Officers from the city arrested him last night. He denied his guilt.

Broken Into Kindling Wood

Halifax, Aug. 23.—Capt. Garnier of the schooner Folino, which arrived at North Sydney yesterday from Gaspe, reports the wreck of the schooner Targuin of Souris, P.E.I., during the terrific gale on Sunday last, at Grindstone, one of the Magdalen Islands. The Targuin was broken into kindling wood in an hour after going ashore. The captain and crew barely escaped with their lives. They lost everything.

Punctured His Lung.

Grand Valley, Aug. 23.—Mr. Robert Brown, 13th concession, Garafraxa was riding on the hay rake, and used the fork to urge on the horse. Giving it a prod with the steel end, the horse kicked, driving the wooden handle into Mr. Brown's side, to such a depth that his breath came in and out of it. Mr. Brown received two such wounds, and for a time it was thought he would not recover.

"We just had a
"call for

IRON-OX

TABLETS

"and the gentle-
"man remarked
"that they had
"done his wife
"more good than
"any remedy
"she had ever
"used."—H. W. Brown
Drug and Book Company
Lincoln, Neb.

A Gentle but Effective
Laxative; not a
Cathartic

LOOKING INTO CATTLE GUARDS.

Commissioners Intend to Work Hard—R. L. Borden's Subscription.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, has sent $25 to the fund for erecting monuments on the graves of deceased Canadian soldiers in South Africa.

F. W. Holt and George Robertson, the commissioners appointed to enquire into the question of cattle guards for railways, commenced work Thursday afternoon at the Department of Railways, where an office has been fitted up for them. They had a long interview with Mr. G. A. Mountain, chief engineer of the Canadian Atlantic Railway, who later on will submit a report to them. The commissioners will meet the chief engineers of other leading railways, and will also hold a conference with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, of the C.P.R., Mr. W. Wainwright, of the G.T.R., and others who take an interest in the matter. It is intended to give every one who has got anything practical to submit an opportunity to be heard. The commissioners will go as far west as Winnipeg, and will likely leave for there shortly.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

M. Jusserand, now at Copenhagen, will succeed M. Cambon at Washington.

Lord Rosslyn has sailed from Southampton on the St. Paul for New York.

Andrew Carnegie has made an offer of $25,000 to Dawson to supply a free library.

The Democrats of Ohio are determined to make Tom Johnson their nominee for President.

At Galt early Friday morning fire did damage amounting to $3,000 to the store of William Hall.

Beneficial rains have fallen over a greater part of New South Wales, and there have been light rains in portions of Queensland.

Admiral Von Diedrichs has resigned his post as chief of staff of the German navy. He has been succeeded by Vice-Admiral Buechsel.

Miss Lennie Scratch of Winnipeg has been appointed commercial teacher at the Woodstock Collegiate Institute. Her salary will be $850.

Rev. Mr. Hicks of Simcoe fell down stairs at the home of Rev. J. C. Farthing, Woodstock. He broke his little finger. He is recovering.

Mrs. Alvin Cronk, of Aylmer, while holding her horse when it was frightened by an automobile, had her ankle broken. The horse ran away.

William Hafner, a farmer of Trempealeau, Wis., who was passionately fond of green corn, Thursday consumed 50 ears of the delicacy and died in great agony.

The Sultan of Turkey has sent a friendly message to the United States Minister, John G. A. Leishman, assuring him that all pending claims would be settled.

Rev. R. W. Samwell, rector of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Ottawa, and secretary of the Anglican Mission Board, is lying at the point of death at St. Luke's hospital.

Mrs. John Cameron and Mrs. Ted McDonald, who were out picking berries at Spanish Mills, Ont., on Wednesday were drowned. It is not known how the accident happened.

A traveler who arrived in Toronto on Friday night reported that an inch of snow fell in Orangeville on Thursday evening. The officials at the Observatory discredit the report.

The Haytian Government on Friday seized as a contraband of war 250 tons of coal shipped from New York on the Cuban steamer Lanenburg for the rebel gun boat CretOe-a-Pieriot.

C. Jarrott, the automobilist, did a kilometre (about 1,093 yards), with a flying start in 28 1-5 seconds at Walbeck, Eng., breaking the record of 29 2-5 recently made by W. K. Vanderbilt in France.

The two bylaws voted on in Mount Forest on Friday resulted as follows. For carriage factory 300, against 29; for moulding factory, 290 against 28; loan to carriage factory, $20,000; loan to moulding factory, $12,000.

Charles D. Gates, St. Louis, Ky., is promoting a $25,000,000 trust to take in all the ax manufactories, handle manufactories and grindstone factories in the United States and Canada, the plants to be operated under one management.

An organization containing 3,500 men has just been completed in Montreal. Their charter was received Friday from Secretary-Treasurer Barter of the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' Association of Detroit.

A deputation from the Congregational Union of England and Wales left Liverpool Thursday on the Pretorian for Canada. The object of the visit is to consult with the Home Missionary Society in regard to more aggressive work in Canada.

At the Homer, Ill., fair Friday afternoon, 12,000 people saw the aeronaut, L. A. Sartell, of Fairwell, Mich., fall 1,260 feet. His feet were driven into the earth six inches, and there was a compound fracture of both limbs. He may recover.

A writ has been issued against William Schwigler, an hotelkeeper, of Port Arthur, on behalf of D. M. Davidson, for $5,000 damages, for slander. The defendant accused the plaintiff of burning down his building for the insurance.

The Montreal Detective Department arrested Friday Delphis Martin, one of the most dangerous counterfeiters in a small way. In his room was found over $100 of counterfeit Canadian 50-cent pieces and American one-dollar pieces. Martin was taken before the Police Magistrate, pleaded not guilty, and was remained till Thursday.

Bugler Robert Bedell, a Toronto soldier, was arrested Friday night for striking Mrs. Williams, who requested him and Arthur Nicholls and Charles Bedell, two other soldiers, to desist from destroying furniture on sale in her husband's shop. Nicholls assaulted John Williams, who came to his wife's rescue, and was also arrested, and the other Bedell was locked up with them on a charge of disorderly conduct.

"You Don't Care, Eh ?"

Well most folks do, and that is why

"SALADA"

Ceylon GREEN Tea is making Japan tea take a back seat, the people recognize "pure" tea. Sold in the same form as the celebrated "SALADA" black tea, in lead packets only.

THE NEW WOMAN

will not use antiquated Starches. She insists upon being supplied with

BEE STARCH

It is ready to use—prevents the iron from sticking, the linen from cracking. Gives a fine finish with very little ironing.

10 CENTS PER PACKAGE. Save the Coupons.

SNOWDON, FORBES & CO., Agts., 449 St. Paul St., Montreal. 18A

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE

BEECHAM'S PILLS

FOR ALL

BILIOUS AND NERVOUS DISORDERS,

Sick Headache, Constipation,

Wind and Pains in Stomach, Impaired Digestion,

Disordered Liver and Female Ailments.

The Sale now exceeds SIX MILLION Boxes per Annum.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helens, England.

Sold Everywhere in Canada and U. S. America.

In boxes, 25 cents.

For pure blood, a bright eye, a clear complexion, a keen appetite, a good digestion and refreshing sleep, TAKE

BRISTOL'S Sarsaparilla

It arouses the Liver, quickens the circulation, brightens the spirits and generally improves the health.

Sixty-eight years trial have proved it to be, the most reliable BLOOD purifier known.

All druggists sell "BRISTOL'S."

Corticelli

FOR dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many excellent qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk.

If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for "CORTICELLI"—the Dressmakers Favorite Spool Silk.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE

FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

New French Flannels

We have just received an advance shipment of Fine French Flannels for Early Fall wear, in beautiful Fancy Stripe Effects for Shirt Waists and Dressing Jackets, in shades Old Rose, Resida, Blue, Navy, Cardinal, Brown, Grey and Pink,

at 50c yard.

New Dress Goods

We have also just placed in stock an early shipment of New Fall Dress Materials, comprising all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this fall.

Please ask to see through our Dress Goods Department for the latest novelties.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements. words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT G. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 210 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

PUT THESE ON AND SEE THAT YOUR CHOCOLATES ARE STAMPED THUS GB

"G. B." Chocolates are ever increasing in popularity and favor with the chocolate eating public. Over eighty varieties of this famous brand made. They are "The finest in the land." 60c a lb. mixed.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up, $20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. C. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locals charged as less than twenty-five words.

Editorial and important local news on second page.

Mr. T. Blackburn's special sale announcement may be seen in another column.

Seven hours in Deseronto and return for twenty-five cents. Str. Aletha from Corby's wharf 8.30 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Picnic for benefit of St. Gregory's Church, Picton, Thursday, Aug. 28. Lacrosse match between Belleville and Marmora at 2.30. Games, races, etc., good music. Str. Niagara leaves Trenton 7.30, Belleville 8.45 a.m. Returning leaves Picton at 7. 50c from Belleville. 1t

Tabernacle Ladies' Aid excursion to Picton, Wednesday, Aug. 27th, per Steamer "Varuna." Boat leaves 8.30 a.m., giving four hours in Picton. Tickets, 25 cents. 23,25

For twenty-five cents you can spend 5 hours at the beautiful grounds of the True Blue Orphanage, or in Picton, visiting your friends, by patronizing the best value of the season, the Army's excursion per Str. Aletha from Corby's wharf, Tuesday, Aug. 26, at 8.30 a.m.

Miss Sidna H. Brown, late pupil of Miss Archer, of Toronto, will receive pupils in violin after Sept. 1st, at the residence of C. H. Vermilyea, Bridge St. Arrangements may be made with Miss Brown any time during August.

A.O.F. annual excursion to Summerville, Port of Rochester, per steamers North King and Caspian, on Saturday, Aug. 30 and Sunday, Aug. 31, leaving Belleville 11.38 p.m. Fare $1.50. Good to return any time up to Sept. 6th, $2.00. a9,16,23,26,28d&4tw

Miss Agnes Hanley, A. T. C. M., graduate of Toronto Conservatory of Music, Violin Department, is prepared to receive pupils at her residence, 75 Dunbar St., after Sept. 1st. a9,12,16,19,23,30,s2,13d&w1t

On receipt of our Company's cheque for a Matured Endowment, a well-known citizen writes: "I am certainly much pleased iwth the outcome of my policy. It indeed proved a profitable investment, in addition to carrying my risk." S. Burrows, Gen. Agt. The Mutual Life Co., of Canada.

Another Harvesters' Excursion will be run to Manitoba and the Canadian North West on Saturday, August 30, train leaving at 5.50 a.m. Parties desiring tickets for this excursion or for the General Conference Excursion to Winnipeg from August 26th to Sept. 18th, may secure them, good to start from Belleville station, at the office of S. Burrows, 359 Front St., Belleville.

Fifty-two islands have appeared (by aid of volcanic action) during the present century, and 19 have disappeared—been submerged. This makes a net gain to the earth of 33 islands.

GREAT ALTERATION SALE

For the last year we have been inconvenienced considerably for want of space to show our goods, that our business has grown no one will doubt, and in order to keep pace with its rapid growth we must have more room.

To-day the carpenters will remove our rear store and begin work in earnest. The plumbers are with us busy at their part of the job. We have had to remove all our goods in the rear of the cellar and the front part of our store is also to receive special up-to-date touches. What we ask is that the people of Belleville and vicinity will aid us in getting rid of our crowded stock, and for this end we will hold two weeks sale, goods will be sold so cheap that it will startle the whole community.

Come early. Goods sold out will not be replaced during alterations.

McINTOSH BROS.

COAL WILL BE PLENTIFUL

AND PRICES NOT HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR.

New York, Aug. 22.—This statement is made by W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, one of the greatest anthracite coal roads in Pennsylvania, and comes as welcome news:

"I think work at the mines will be resumed in time to produce plenty of coal for the fall demand. Many of the workmen want to come back to work now, and they will return just as soon as they feel they will be thoroughly protected. It has been decided by the anthracite producers not to advance the price of coal when it is rushed to market."

The coal roads have decided to sell coal at the same prices which prevailed a year ago. Prices vary according to the month in the scale of prices, which have been in vogue for some time past. Whatever price should prevail, according to this scale, when the strike ends, that price will be charged.

Mr. Truesdale added that there was no foundation to the rumor that the anthracite coal operators will make any concessions to the miners, in order to end the strike.

THEY TAKE WEEKS.

Ordinary remedies sometimes take weeks to even relieve cases that Catarrhozone cures at once

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes now and again and it cures a cold.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes every hour and we guarantee it will cure any case of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung or Throat Trouble, Deafness. It is very pleasant and convenient to use, quick to relieve, and certain as the hereafter to cure. Large size complete, price $1.00; small size, 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

The Fall Fairs

E. Hastings, Thrasher's, Sept. 25-26.
Kingston's big fair, Aug. 25-29.
Ottawa Central, Aug. 22-30.
Morrisburg, Aug. 27-29.
Sherbrooke, Aug. 30, Sept. 6.
Toronto Industrial, Sept. 1-13.
Frontenac, Harrowsmith, Sept. 4-5.
Iroquois, Sept. 8-10.
Peterboro, Central, Sept. 9-11.
Addington, Tamworth, Sept. 12-13.
London Western, Sept. 12-20.
Napanee, County, Sept. 16-17.
Newboro, Sept. 15-16.
Brockville, Sept. 16-18
Hamilton Central, Sept. 16-18.
Perth, County, Sept. 17-19.
Prescott, Sept. 23-25.
Hinchinbrooke, Parham, Sept 23-24.
Delta, Sept. 23-24.
Merrickville, County, Sept. 24-25.
Renfrew, Sept. 25-26.
Lombardy, Sept. 27.
Spencerville, Sept. 30, Oct. 1.
Beachburg, Oct. 2-3.
Lansdowne, Oct. 7-8.

Nourish The Weak Nerves, Build Up Wasted Tissue and Purify The Stagnant Blood in August.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

NATURE'S SUMMER MEDICINE USED BY THE WEALTHY AND HUMBLE, IS THE ONE GREAT HEALTH BUILDER.

Paine's Celery Compound supplies the needs of the weak, sickly and diseased in a way that no other medicine can do. It never fails to brace and strengthen the weakened nerves; it forms new tissue and quickly purifies the foul and stagnant blood, allowing it to course with freedom and life to every part of the body. Paine's Celery Compound is the great furnisher of nutriment for the weak and rundown nervous system.

The use of a few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound produces results that are astonishing and happy to the sick. The thin, emaciated body soon takes on solid flesh, the skin is clear, the eyes bright and sparkling, pain in the back is banished, the liver and kidneys work healthily, the digestive organs do duty with unfailing regularity, feelings of new energy and well-being take the place of nervousness, despondency and melancholia.

Nourishing the nerves, the formation of fresh tissue and cleansing of the blood by Paine's Celery Compound, means a new, vigorous and happy life. There can be no failures when Paine's Celery Compound is used; it truly "makes sick people well."

One of the largest meetings of creditors on record was held in Paris recently in connection with the failure of the Chinese Generale des Familles. The liquidator sent out 85,000 notices and he had to hire the Trocadero, one of the biggest halls in Paris, for the meeting.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co's.

Underpriced Soft Shirts

We have a few soft front shirts left after the season's trade—just odd lines, a few in each—which we desire to clear.

We are sure the gentlemen will recognize a bargain when we say these are of the best washable materials in newest stripes and figures and come from the most celebrated makers, having sold freely at from $1.00 to $1.25. These to clear............ 75c

NECKWEAR

Newest novelties in English Neckwear just opened. These are of knit silk and make very pretty and serviceable ties.

—Four-in-hand silk knit tie in Red, White, Black or mixed colors 35c

—Pure silk English string ties, ... 15c

—Black silk string tie, 50 inch, with large white old English initial, the very latest, ... 50c

RAIN COATS

WATERPROOF—For this showery weather a waterproof is just the right thing. Reliable makes can now be had at such moderate prices that it is the adverse of economy to be without one.

—Best English steam vulcanized waterproof coat, steel grey, with velvet collar, raglan cuffs, slip pockets, semi-fitting back, ventilated, a very stylish coat .. $7.00

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

EFFECTS OF CANADA WHISKY.

(Detroit Tribune.)

The Canada make of whisky has always been bragged up by those who have crossed over to wet their whistles with it; but it is doubtful, after all, it is much better than our own reliable cob-web cutter, while as a scene promoter the pictures it throws on the canvas are decidedly worse. A bottle recently picked up opposite Point Edward, by a fisherman, contained a piece of paper, on which was written the following.

"To whom it may concern; I am on the Manitoulan island, watched by three Indians, and I can't get away. For God's sake come and rescue me. Mr. W. Calvert. My home is in Petrolea, Ont."

There was a stout effluvia of untaxed colonial booze about the bottle which we are prone to believe stands for evidence of the psychological sequence to the drainage of the principal quantity. It is to be hoped that ere this a party has gone to the relief of "Mr. W. Calvert" for his own sake rather than that of the deity, with whom the Canada brand is not known to be a favorite.

THRO MURRAY CANAL BY MOONLIGHT.

Excursion, per Str. Aletha, by Grace Church, Trenton, from Belleville to Trenton, Twelve O'clock Point and Brighton, Monday, Aug. 25, leaving at 6 o'clock. Tickets 25 cents. 21-23

THE STYLE OF HAIR WORN

Is an important factor to produce a younger and refined face and a well shaped head for any lady or gentleman. Prof. Dorenwend, who will be at Hotel Quinte, Belleville, on Saturday, Aug. 30, until 4 p.m., can demonstrate this to anyone calling on him at his Show Rooms. He has Ladies' and Gents' Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches in every length and shade, that he will gladly adjust on any Lady's head free of charge to prove this. DON'T FAIL TO SEE HIM. It is his only visit to Belleville this season. a21-23d&w1t

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

"Ye Olde Fashioned Style"

We have of late purchased about forty dozen old fashioned Alhumbru Blue Cups and Saucers. They are of the style that was all the go some fifty years ago, and if you want a nice old fashioned cup and saucer, the very kind your grandmother used to use, now is your chance.

They are selling at 10c each or $1.10 a dozen and they shall go fast at the prices marked.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China, Silver Plate, Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1902. NO. 97

Roosevelt Is Called On

250,000 Workingmen Ask for Congress to End Strike.

President Mitchell, in Reply to the Public Alliance of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Said He Would Do Anything That was Honorable to Bring About an Adjustment.

New York, Aug. 25. — President Roosevelt will be asked to call a special session of Congress to take action to end the coal strike. This was decided at a meeting yesterday of the Central Federated Union, representing 250,000 workingmen.

Mitchell Is Conciliatory.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 25. — The Public Alliance of this city, which waited on Senators Quay and Penrose at Atlantic City last week and urged them to use their good offices to bring about arbitration in the coal strike, performed a like mission in this city yesterday, when they called on President Mitchell and requested him to co-operate with the Pennsylvania Senators in bringing about a settlement of the strike. Mr. Mitchell said he would do anything that was honorable to bring about an adjustment, and he furnished the committee with the statistics of the strike from the miners' point of view, which were forwarded to Senator Quay last night.

People's Alliance Moving.

Hazelton, Pa., Aug. 25.—D. J. McCarthy, chairman, and Matthew Long and Harry Silverman, members of the Executive Committee of the People's Alliance of Hazelton, went to New York, yesterday to endeavor to put into operation some plan looking to a termination of the strike.

Losses to Date.

At the beginning of the sixteenth week of the strike the losses and expenses are as follows:

Operators in price of coal	$35,700,000
Strikers in wages	19,900,000
Employes other than miners	4,500,000
Business men in coal region	12,120,000
Business men outside region	6,700,000
Maintaining coal and iron police	900,000
Maintaining non-union workers	400,000
Damage to mines and machinery	6,500,000
Maintaining troops in field	225,000
Total	$86,945,000

A Serious Situation.

New York, Aug. 25.—The Journal says: Not since the civil war has this country faced a more serious situation than that brought about by the coal strike.

The failure of the mines to produce coal, combined with the high price of meat, means a famine in New York this winter among the large proportion of the population whose earnings just pay for its daily sustenance.

The possibilities of suffering are appalling, and from one end of the country to the other the cry goes up that the strike must be ended at once.

State to Buy Coal Mines.

Rochester, Aug. 25.—Leonard Henkle of Rochester has a scheme which he is going to Harrisburg to-day to lay before Governor Stone, relative to the settlement of the coal miners' strike. He proposes that the State shall interfere and in time shall acquire the mines, paying for the property a price determined by a commission.

No Place Like Canada.

Mr. Jos. Brickman, who has spent the past three weeks visiting friends in this city and Prince Edward, after his return from South Africa, left on Saturday for Edmonton, N. W. T., where he expects to meet his father, E. H. Brickman, the well-known horse owner, formerly of Rednersville, and the rest of the family, who, after residing nine years in Texas and Indian territory, think Canada is the country, after all.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

One man can speak for another, but one woman can't talk for another with any degree of satisfaction.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Special Corset Sale

For this week's Corset selling we will clear One Hundred and Seventy Eight (178) pairs B. & C., Crompton's, B. & I. and E. T. Corsets, all this season's New Styles including Summer Nets, Fine Sateens, and French Coutills in Girdles, Medium and Full Lengths.

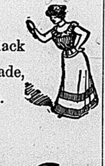
Here are the Prices at which these will sell.

All 50c and 75c Summer Corsets will sell for	35c
75c White Steel Filled Corsets will sell for	59c
60 pairs Straight Front $1.00 Corsets will sell for	69c
40 pairs of $1.25 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	95c
18 pairs of $1.50 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	$1.10

Sizes range from 18 to 30

Do You Want

A Fine Black Sateen Underskirt for 95c?



If you need a Skirt just look at the Fine Black Sateen Skirts as shown in our window, nicely made, full flounce and hemstitched for, Ninety Five Cents.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

YESTERDAY IN CITY CHURCHES

Notes of Services in Belleville's Different Places of Worship Yesterday

Bridge Street.

The services at this place of worship yesterday were largely attended, especially in the evening. In the morning the Pastor, Rev. Dr. Crothers, preached a special sermon to the boys and girls. In the evening the subject was "A Picture from an Old Gallery," having reference to the life of Paul. The text was from Acts, 20th chapter and 24th verse:

"But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God."

During the service the choir rendered the anthem, "Land of Pure Delight," the solos being taken by Miss Wheler. Mrs. Fraser sang "Beyond the Gates of Paradise," and a duet by Miss Wheler and Dr. Jessop, entitled "Love Divine, all Love Excelling," was sang with fine effect.

Holloway Street.

Rev. J. R. Real, pastor, conducted both services yesterday and preached two able discourses. In the evening the Rev. gentleman's text was from St. Matthew, 5th chapter, 3rd and 4th verses:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven.

"Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted."

John Street.

There were good congregations present at both services yesterday, and the discourses by the pastor, Rev. A. H. Drumm, were able efforts. In the evening the Rev. gentleman's text was from 1st Samuel, 2nd chapter and 25th verse:

"If one man sin against another, the judge shall judge him; but if a man sin against the Lord, who shall entreat for him? Notwithstanding they hearkened not unto the voice of their father, because the Lord would slay them."

During the service a solo was given by Mrs. James Grant.

Bleecker Street.

Rev. Dr. Galbraith occupied the pulpit of this church in the morning and preached an eloquent sermon. His discourse was based on a portion of the 30th verse of the 15th chapter of Romans:

"The love of the Spirit."

In the evening the Rev. W. Martin conducted the services and preached.

Emmanuel R. E. Church.

In the absence of the Rector yesterday, Prof. W. H. Gill, of Rockridge Hall, near Boston, who is spending his vacation at his home here, officiated at both services, his reading and preaching making an excellent impression on the congregations. The morning text was taken from Luke, XV., 31:

"And he said unto him, Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine."

In simple yet eloquent words the preacher drew from the parable of the Prodigal Son many lessons useful both to professing Christians and worldly people, notably the character of the elder brother, who stood aloof. The church of to-day contained, he said, too many elder brothers, who were far more ready to find fault than they were to give the right hand of fellowship to an erring fellow-being who was trying to mend his ways. The sermon was excellently thought out, and the service throughout was bright and attractive.

St. Andrew's.

The attendance at St. Andrew's church yesterday was good, and the sermons by the Pastor, Rev. M. W. Maclean, were, as usual, instructive. In the morning the Rev. gentleman's text was from 1st Timothy, 5th chapter and 21st verse:

"I charge thee before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels, that thou observe these things without preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality."

Christ Church.

Rev. W. Fleming, of Shannonville, yesterday conducted the services at this church in the absence of the Rector. In the evening the Rev. gentleman's subject was "The Joy of the Church," and the text was from the 122nd Psalm and 1st verse:

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

Tabernacle.

Rev. J. H. Locke, pastor, officiated at both services yesterday, preaching to good congregations. In the evening the Rev. gentleman's text was from Isaiah, 43rd chapter and 2nd verse:

"When thou passest through the waters I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned, neither shall the flame kindle upon thee."

Baptist.

In the absence of the pastor yesterday, the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Prof. Cross, LL.D., of McMaster University, Toronto, who preached two able sermons. In the evening his text was from St. Mark, 10th chapter, 38th verse:

"But Jesus said unto them, ye know not what ye ask; can ye drink of the cup that I drink of? and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?"

St. Thomas'.

The Rector, Rev. G. R. Beamish, yesterday conducted the services and preached. His discourses were pleasing to the large congregations. In the morning his subject was "The Cleansing of the Leper," and the text was from St. Matthew, 8th chapter and 3rd verse:

"And Jesus put forth his hand and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed."

St. John's.

Rev. Rural Dean Bogert officiated and preached at both services yesterday. In the evening the Rev. gentleman's text was taken from 2nd Kings, 7th chapter and 3rd verse:

"And there were four leprous men at the entering in of the gate; and they said one to another, why sit we here until we die?"

DIED IN ARIZONA

COL. C. C. HOWELL, A FORMER RESIDENT OF THIS CITY, HAS CROSSED THE BAR.

Residents of this city about twenty years ago will remember C. C. Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Howell, and cousin of R. S. Young and Walter Fanning, of this city. Mr. C. C. Howell was born close to Milltown, about nine miles from Belleville, where he lived for the early portion of his life. When about 17 years of age he went to Watertown, N. Y., eventually drifting to Knoxville, Tenn., where he rose high in the business world and became one of the most prominent men in his adopted city and a Colonel in the State militia. The Journal and Tribune, of Knoxville, gives him a four-column obituary notice, his death having recently occurred at Phoenix, Arizona, where he had gone in search of health. The late Mr. Howell was 54 years of age at the time of his death, and leaves a widow and two daughters in comfortable circumstances.

SPEEDY CURE FOR CRAMPS AND COLIC.

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

It Nourishes Infants.

No other baby food is as nourishing, wholesome or so universally used. It is a perfect substitute for mothers' milk.

Nestlé's Food

Sample (sufficient for eight meals) free.

LEEMING, MILES & CO., MONTREAL.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
City Council.
Public Library.
Camp Rob Roy, S.O.S.
Lydford Lodge, S.O.E.
Mizpah Lodge, I.O.O.F.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Light to moderate variable winds; fine and warm to-day and on Tuesday.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	65
12 m.	78
2 p.m.	81
3 p.m.	82

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

A BARN WITH ITS CONTENTS DESTROYED NEAR BLOOMFIELD.

On Friday afternoon a barn belonging to Mr. M. B. Burrows, of Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, was struck by lightning and destroyed with its contents. The barn contained some 40 tons of hay, 500 bushels of grain, some farming implements, etc., all of which were burned. The building was a large, substantial structure, and up-to-date in every respect. It was insured for $600 in the Liverpool, London & Globe. The contents were also partially insured.

Have License for Peddling

At the committee meeting on Friday evening some of the Aldermen referred to the fact that parties were peddling about the city, and it was understood that they had no license. The Chief of Police informs us that the parties referred to have licenses, having taken the same out on the 6th inst.

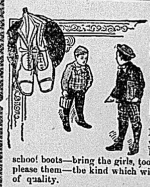
UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF CATARRH.

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then its catarrh. Use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily and readicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed membranes, clears nose, throat and air passages by one application. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping, and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists.

SATISFACTORY SCHOOL SHOES.

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE



SCHOOL SHOES FOR YOUR BOYS

Mothers bring the boys in with you and let us fit them with NEAT, DURABLE, EASY school boots—bring the girls, too—we have just the boots to please them—the kind which will come up to your standard of quality.

Boys' neat, durable lace boots, sizes 1 to 5—at $1.00, $1.25, and	$1 50
Youths' lace boots—strictly reliable, at 90c, $1.00, $1.25 and	$1 50

Boots For All the Children.

ESTABLISHED 1890. PHONE MAIN 4303.

W. F. DEVER & CO.,
STOCK AND BOND BROKERS.

WE EXECUTE ORDERS IN

Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel

on Boston Stock Exchange, over our private wire, for cash or margin.

BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

We solicit accounts for the purchase of listed stocks and bonds. 19 Wellington St. East, Toronto.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR

Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn
Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon
Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie
Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressinig, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

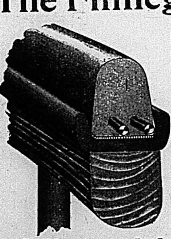
Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.
Est'd 1871
Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the people of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

SIR WILFRID IN FRANCE.

Our Premier Will Offer a Preference in Canadian Markets to the Extent of 15 Per Cent.

London Aug. 25.—It is reported that Premier Laurier proposes to treat France the same as England, and will reduce the tariff in favor of France by 15 per cent., Canadian products to secure the benefit of an entry into France at a minimum tariff.

The Times' correspondent also says that a result of the visit will be the establishment of an ocean service, with a subsidy of 800,000 francs from both countries. This scheme is said to be well advanced towards realization.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, had an interview with M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Saturday, lasting half an hour. W. S. Fielding, the Minister of Finance of Canada, and William Paterson, the Minister of Customs of the Dominion, accompanied the Premier. The conversation was mainly confined to an exchange of courtesies. Some reference was made to tariff concessions. It is understood that France is not adverse to certain reductions in return for equivalent concessions on the part of Canada.

The Canadian Premier will be received in audience by President Loubet to-day.

SIR WILFRID ON TRUSTS.

If Properly Managed They Are a Benefit to All.

Paris, Adg. 25.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has expressed the opinion to a prominent Parisian journalist that trusts, if properly managed, are great benefits to all concerned, and that "our age is dominated by a powerful concentration of interests, a vast grouping of forces and a unification of methods in all branches of industry."

Sir Wilfrid declined to express any opinion on the agitation in Brittany, although he traveled through some of the disaffected districts there, but he said that the republic was the only form of government under which modern France could live and prosper.

PREMIER ROSS HOME.

No Chance of Embargo Being Removed From Canadian Cattle.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Premier Ross arrived home on Saturday night after a ten weeks' absence in the old country. His trip has done him a lot of good. When he went away he was not in the best of health, and the hard campaign he had just gone through told on him somewhat. Now, however, he has greatly improved, and his rheumatism is not bothering him so much.

Premier Ross is as mum as the proverbial oyster, as far as the political situation of the province is concerned. He refuses to discuss it one way or the other. Since his absence in Europe he has had little or no news of the aftermath of the elections and makes that one of his reasons for declining to talk on the subject.

Mr. Ross, however, was more communicative on the subject of the cattle trade. In discussing it with the dealers at Liverpool, he was glad, he said, to hear from them that they thought the Canadian cattle had improved greatly in weight and quality during the last two or three years. He was sorry to think, however, that there was no chance of the embargo being removed from Canadian cattle, in the present state of opinion among the members of the Government, and, particularly with the Minister of Agricultural.

Cotton Along the Nile.

London, Aug. 25.—Major Count Gleichen, secretary to the Sirdar of the Egyptian forces, Major-Gen. Wingate, addressing the British Cotton Growers' Association at Manchester recently, said that experiments made on the banks of the Nile show that the quality of cotton grown there is equal to any in the world. Fifteen million acres of irrigated land is available there. The only difficulty is the labor supply, the Deverishes having depopulated the Soudan.

Maximum Depth of 19,600 Feet.

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 25.—The Aftonbladt says that the steamer Antartic, bearing the Nordenskjold Antartic expedition, returned to the Faulkland Islands, July 4, after having obtained the most satisfactory results. The great unknown ocean from the Faulklands to the South Georgia Islands has been scientifically examined, and large zoological collections have been made. The maximum depth measured was about 19,600 feet.

His Back Broken.

Lindsay, Aug. 26.—Richard Morton, a blacksmith in Omemee, was driving a spirited horse on Saturday and the animal ran away. He was thrown out of the buggy against the sidewalk, and when picked up was unconscious. On being taken to the office of a physician, it was discovered that his back was broken and that he had concussion of the brain.

Had $11,000 With Him.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25. — H. R. Forsythe, ex-mounted policeman, has been arrested at Medicine Hat charged with the robbery of Dixon Bros.' store at Maple Creek, Aug. 6. Forsythe has just been released from Stony Mountain penitentiary, where he served a term for cattle stealing. About $11,000 in cash was found on him when arrested.

Denies the Report.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—Charles M. Hays, who has just returned from Great Britain, denies the report circulated last week that he was to be made President of the Grand Trunk and that Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson would become chairman of the board. No changes are contemplated in the executive.

PROMINENT CANADIAN DEAD

Former Lieutenant-Governor of the N.W.T. Passes Away.

Hon. Joseph Royal Succumbs at Montreal While Under Treatment—The Close of an Active Career—One of the Foremost Figures in the History of Quebec and of the Prairie Province—Lawyer and Journalist.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—A well known figure has passed away. The Hon. Joseph Royal died Saturday night at the private hospital of Dr. Brodeur, where he had been under treatment for the past three weeks. He was operated upon, and seemed to be recovering, but congestion of the brain set in and he became unconscious on Thursday. He never rallied, but passed away calmly, surrounded by the members of his family. The funeral of the ex-Lieutenant Governor of the Northwest Territories will take place Tuesday morning at the Gesu.

Although a lawyer by profession, the late Joseph Royal devoted a great deal of his time to literary work. He began his journalist career on La Minerve in 1857, and took an active part in organizing the Papal Zouave Brigade, sent from Quebec in 1867-8. In 1870 he moved to Manitoba, and there established Le Metis, and became active at the bar, defending Lepine and Hand, who were tried for the murder of Thomas Scott by the provisional government of Louis Reil. He was elected in 1870 to the first legislature given to Manitoba, and remained a member of that body to 1879, when he was returned to the House of Commons. He was elected to fill the office of Speaker in Manitoba, and was successively Provincial Secretary, Attorney-General and Minister of Public Works, continuing to sit as a member till July 1, 1888, when he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories. He was awarded the Confederation medal by Lord Lansdowne in 1885, and elected to the Royal Society of Canada in 1893, in which year he ceased to be Lieutenant-Governor, and returning to Montreal, became editor-in-chief of La Minerve in succession to the late Hon. Joseph Tasse. He later occupied a similar position on Le Journal.

BASEBALL.

Saturday Games.

Eastern League.

Providence 3, Toronto 6.
Worcester 5, Montreal 0.
Worcester 2, Montreal 6.
Newark 4, Rochester 7.
Jersey City 8, Buffalo 1.

National League.

Pittsburg 8, Brooklyn, 9.
Cincinnati 7, Philadelphia 9.
Chicago 14, Boston 5.
St. Louis 3, New York 4.

American League.

Philadelphia 12, Cleveland 1.
Boston 1, St. Louis 0.
Washington 6, Detriot 2.
Baltimore 14, Chicago 8.

Sunday Games.

Eastern League.

Providence 1, Toronto 4.
Jersey City 6, Buffalo 0.

National League.

St. Louis 4, New York 3.
Chicago 2, Brooklyn 7.
Chicago 8, Brooklyn 5.
Cincinnati 6, Pittsburg 8.
Cincinnati 9, Pittsburg 4.

Eastern League Standing.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Toronto	66	33	.666
Buffalo	65	42	.607
Worcester	56	47	.543
Providence	54	50	.519
Jersey City	56	53	.514
Rochester	45	55	.450
Montreal	44	63	.410
Newark	31	74	.295

National League Record.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Pittsburg	76	26	.745
Brooklyn	59	49	.546
Boston	53	48	.525
Chicago	52	52	.500
Cincinnati	49	54	.476
St. Louis	47	58	.448
Philadelphia	42	62	.404
New York	37	66	.359

American League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Philadelphia	58	41	.586
Boston	57	46	.553
Chicago	55	46	.545
St. Louis	54	46	.540
Cleveland	51	54	.486
Washington	48	56	.462
Baltimore	44	59	.427
Detroit	40	59	.404

Nearly Caught Their Man.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Clayton Howard, a middle-aged man, who is wanted at Island Park, N. S., to answer a charge of stealing about $600 in cash belonging to the proprietor of the Pontiac Hotel there, came very near being run down in this city on Saturday morning. Howard successfully eluded an American officer, who traced him to Toronto, and his present whereabouts are unknown. Howard was employed in the Pontiac Hotel in the capacity of bookkeeper, and as such handled the cash. Manager Ward of the Arlington Hotel declined to discuss the case, except to say that Howard and a woman had registered there on Saturday morning as "Geo. Wallace" and wife of Montreal. The woman who accompanied Howard here did not make known her identity even to the officers, who interviewed her. She left for her home in Belleville on Sunday night.

Anticipated Great Earthquake.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The instruments at Oyaella in Hungary and at Strassburg in Alsace-Lorraine, registered several earthquake shocks on Friday evening. The direction was from east to south. At Strassburg they were felt at 4.10 p. m., 4.28 p.m. and 4.60 p.m. It is believed that a great earthquake has occurred in Eastern Asia, the Philippines and Japan.

Ship Trust After Collieries.

London, Aug. 25. — An American syndicate interested in shipping is negotiating to buy three Lancashire collieries whose daily output is a thousand tons.

CLARK WANTS BIG DAMAGES.

Sues Detective Cuddy For $5,000 For False Arrest and Assault.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—This morning at Osgoode Hall writs prepared by Messrs. Johnston & Falconbridge Saturday in which George Clark asks for five thousand dollars from Detective Alfred Cuddy for false arrest, will be served. As a cause of action the petition alleges that the officer arrested young Clark without a warrant, locked him in a cell without due process, where he was held some time before a complaint was prepared or a warrant issued. The claim is set up that the detective was guilty of assault, false imprisonment and persecution.

George Clark was arrested Aug. 22 as he was walking along the street. The charge against him was that of issuing checks without having funds in the bank at Lynn, Mass. Detective Cuddy had been detailed to accompany the officer from Pittsburg and arrest Clark. Detective Cuddy was alone when he met the young man and arrested him. Clark resisted and the officer handcuffed his prisoner.

Detective Cuddy is not worrying over the suit. Sunday evening he ridiculed the idea that he was liable civilly for his conduct in the case and asserted that the arrest was perfectly regular and was made in the manner not only prescribed by law in such cases but by custom the world over. "I did not have a Canadian warrant at the time of the arrest and it was not necessary. The American officer was with me or but a short distance away when the arrest was made. He came here with all the regular papers and the warrant from Governor Stone of Pennsylvania for his arrest and the requisition on which he was to have been taken from that State back to Massachusetts where the alleged crime was committed. Mr. Clark received the same treatment accorded to all prisoners in such cases. Every day everywhere fugitives are arrested on telegraphic information and held until proper papers are received.

These cases have been tested before. It is ridiculous to say that such arrests cannot be made without a warrant.

EVERYTHING LOVELY.

12,700 Eastern Harvesters Have Already Arrived at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Sunday was one of the hottest, brightest days of the year and has been of tremendous advantage to the crops. Harvesting, which is general, will be carried on in earnest to-day from daylight till dusk. Thousands of the men from the east will be at work.

Up to 8 o'clock last evening the total arrivals of harvester hands amounted to 12,700. There is a big demand from the country for hands and some farmers, fearing that they would be unable to obtain men, were in the city Saturday picking men, to whom they offered good wages.

First Harvester Hurt.

Port Arthur, Aug. 25.—The first accident to occur to any of the excursionists going to the west happened yesterday at Schrieber. A man named Martin of Wroxter, Huron County, aged 73 years, bound for Winnipeg, is thought to have walked off one of the trains in his sleep. He was picked up by a following train and brought to the hospital here. He is in a critical condition, a number of bones being fractured.

Last evening No. 2 ran into a Findland section man, working on the Black River section, and killed him. The man was on a handcar and the train coming round a curve ran into him. He was cut in two.

BOERS NOT CONTENT.

Article Credited to Kruger Denies Good Will to Britain.

The Hague, Aug. 25.—An article supposed to be dictated by former President Kruger and Dr. Leyds, appears in The Courant of Rotterdam. It says that the stories of good will between Boers and Britons are largely false, and adds:

"Though for the time being we are humiliated and gnash our teeth in impotent rage, the best plan is to become good friends with the British. By these means the Boers will be enabled to re-obtain before very long something very considerable to say in their own house."

Kaffirs May Cause Trouble.

Vienna, Aug. 24.—The Fremdemblatt Saturday publishes an interview with an Australian who traveled from South Africa to England on the steamer with the Boer Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey. The Australian is credited with saying that in the course of a conversation, General Botha said to him: "It is probable that England has no need to fear further trouble from the Boers, but the civilization of South Africa is threatened by the Kaffirs. Unless the English authorities display the greatest energy, the Kaffirs are likely to cause great trouble."

To Emancipate Catholicism.

London, Aug. 25.—In a despatch from Rome the correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says the Right Rev. Benjamin J. Kelly, bishop of Savannah, Ga., had an audience with the Pope prior to visiting other Italian cities, and took advantage of the occasion to urge upon the Pontiff the wishes of a large number of American bishops for the emancipation of American Catholicism from the jurisdiction of the Congregation of Propaganda, at Rome, on the ground that the congregation was only intended to supervise religious affairs in infidel regions.

Shot While Duck Shooting.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Cecil Hart, clerk of the Bank of Hamilton, at Indian Head, was fatally shot, while duck-shooting Saturday afternoon, near town, by a companion, Elwood Blakely. The unfortunate young man had not recovered consciousness and was slowly sinking Sunday night. He was a son of Mrs. D. H. Cole, and nephew of Lady Schultz, Winnipeg.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Lower on Saturday W Wheat and Corn Steady at Chicago —The Latest Quotations.

Saturday Evening, Aug. 23.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅝d [illegible] than yesterday, and corn ⅛d higher.

Wheat and corn were steady at Chica to-day, with corn firmer. September wh closed unchanged from yesterday, Septe ber corn at an advance of 1⅜c, and Se tember oats at decline of ⅜c.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at i portant wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	M
New York	....	75⅜	73	7
Chicago	72	71⅝	67⅜	6
Toledo	72¾	72¾	71⅜	7
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	72½	68½	65⅞	.

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKE

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 72	to $0 7
Wheat, white, bush	0 73	0 7
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	...
Wheat, goose, bush	0 75	...
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 2
Peas, bush.	0 84	...
Rye, bush.	0 50½	...
Barley, bush.	0 52	0 5
Oats, bush.	0 46	0 4
Oats, new, bush	0 33	...
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	...

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.
Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton	$9 75	to $10 0
Straw, baled, car lots, ton	5 00	5 7
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 16	0 1
Butter, tub, per lb.	0 15	0 1
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 19	0 2
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 19	0 2
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 1
Eggs, new-laid, doz.	0 15	0 1
Honey, per lb.	0 07½	0 0
Honey (sections), each	0 10	0 1

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected	$0 0
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected	0 0
Hides, No. 1, inspected	0 0
Hides, No. 2, inspected	0 0
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling	0 0
Calfskins, No. 1, selected	0 1
Calfskins, No. 2, selected	0 0
Deacons (dairies), each	0 0
Sheepskins, each	$0 70	to $0
Pelts, each	0 25	...
Lambskins, each	0 30	...
Wool, fleece, per lb.	0 13	...
Wool, unwashed, per lb.	0 07	...

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKE

East Buffalo, Aug. 23.—Cattle—Recei 100 head; good dry fed cattle steady; oth easier. Veals 25c lower; tops, $8 to $8, fair to good, $7.25 to $7.75; common light, $6 to $7.

Hogs—Receipts, 3100 head; active; hea $7.50 to $7.55; medium, $7.45 to $7.50; Yo ers, $7.40 to $7.45; light do., $7.30 to $7. pigs, $7.40 to $7.45; roughs, $5.75 to $6. stags, $5 to $5.25; grassers, $7.20 to $7.4

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3700 he sheep dull; lambs steady; top lambs, $ to $6.50; fair to good, $5.75 to $6.20; c to common, $4 to $5; yearlings, $4.25 $4.50; wethers, $4 to $4.25; ewes, $3.2 $3.50; sheep, top, mixed, $3.25 to $3.70; to good, $3 to $3.20; culls to common, $ to $2.75.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 23.—Beeves—Rece none; a few cows and heifers sold a per 100 lbs. Dressed beef steady; dressed native sides, 8½c to 12½c per Exports to-day, partly estimated, beeves, 105 sheep and 7450 quarters beef. Calves—No arrivals to be sold no trading; city dressed veals, 10c to per lb. Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3 sheep firm; lambs firm; one car of s unsold; sheep sold at $2.75 to $3.50 100 lbs.; one deck at $3.75; lambs at $ to $7; dressed mutton, 5c to 7c per dressed lambs, 8c to 11c. Hogs—Recei 141; nominally firm.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Cattle—Receipts, good to prime steers, nominal, $8 to $ poor to medium, $4.25 to $5.70; stoc and feeders, $2.50 to $5.25; cows, $1.5 $5.50; heifers, $2.25 to $6; canners, to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5; calves, $2. $7; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; we steers, $4.50 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts to-day, 13,000 head; day, 30,000 head; left over, 1000; stea 5c lower; mixed and butchers', $6.7 $7.45; good to choice, heavy, $7.25 to $ heavy, $6.50 to $7.10; light, $6.75 to $ bulk of sales, $7 to $7.30.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2000. S and lambs steady; good to choice wet $3.50 to $4; fair to choice, mixed, to $3.50; native lambs, $3.75 to $6.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 23.—Live cattle steady 12c to 13½c, dressed weight; refrige beef, 11½c to 12c per lb.

SCHENCK'S SON'S DEVELOP THE Possible to Avoid Degeneration by C ing Healthy Humanity.

Vienna, Aug. 24.—According statements made by friends of late Prof. Schenck, that eminent tor's theory of sex determination very largely developed by his researches. His latest theory m tained that mothers by persisten special diet could lay the founda of particular talents and capaciti their children. He hoped to ex this theory to the point w parents might not only gratify wish to have a son, but might a son who would become a tal musician, author or mathematici

Dr. Schenck was confident tha would be able eventually to ma possible for mankind to control entire mental and physical qua of its progeny, thus avoiding production of degenerate spec and inaugurating an era of he and vigorous humanity.

Two of Prof. Schenck's sons doctors. They intend to devote professional careers to devel their father's theory.

Prevent Disease by

POWLEY'S LIQUIFIED OZONE...

It makes the tissues healthy and destroys germ poison.

At your Druggists' 50c and $1.00.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.

Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER

Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte. may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—9 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.

Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.

Money to Loan—Private Funds, Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.

Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also mone to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian . . .	Est'd 1821
The North America, .	Est'd 1792
Quebec, ...	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.

R. W. ADAMS. Agent.

Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult

W. J. THOMSON,

who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oc4-d&w

THOS. STEWART,

Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire in Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned

can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.

Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.

Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.

Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville,
'Phone 168.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont,

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office,
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St,
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

His Off Day.

There were six or eight men talking about a dogfight when I entered the drugstore in a Dakota town and asked for epsom salts, and the druggist seemed deeply interested. He fussed around and put up a package and was giving no further heed to me when I asked:

"Did you put up salts or arsenic for me?"

"Salts, of course," he replied.

"You'd better be sure."

He opened the package, touched his tongue to the contents and said:

"Yes, it's arsenic, but I'll have the salts in a minute."

"I don't think I care for any."

"No? All right. Beg your pardon for the mistake, but, you see, we've just had a dogfight and my dog got licked, and I'm interested in learning if he had a fair show or if somebody kicked him as he had just got a good hold!"

Not For Him.

"I don't see the sense in paying $50 for a panama hat."

"No, of course not; you're a politician."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Well, the weave of a genuine panama is so exceedingly close it would be almost impossible to talk through it."—Philadelphia Press.

Suspicious.

Persistent Perkins—Better t'row me down dat dime, lady, or de neighbors'll t'ink we're doin' de Romeo an' Juliet act!—New York Journal.

Danish Procedure.

We learn from the Washington Post, which has made an especial study of this sort of thing, that the chances of our securing the Danish West Indies are bright. After the proposition has been broached by the landsthing, indorsed by the folkething and passed by the rigsdag all that is necessary is to submit it to the rigsret, secure the approval of the holesteret and have it finally signed, sealed and delivered by the statsraadet and there you are.

She Gained Eleven Pounds

AND WAS BROUGHT BACK FROM NERVOUS PROSTRATION TO HEALTH AND STRENGTH BY USING

There is no faith cure about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You do not need to imagine it is doing good. You can prove it by keeping a record of your weight. This food cure acts in a perfectly natural way. In fact, it is nature's own cure, and is composed of the most powerful restoratives and invigorators that science has yet discovered.

Take the case of Mrs. West, as described in her letter quoted below. She was pale, weak and run down in health. Her blood was thin and watery, and her nerves so starved and exhausted that she was prostrated. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured her, and added new, firm flesh to her body to the extent of eleven pounds. You will find her letter interesting.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Wellington County, Ont., writes: "About two years ago I got terribly run down and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of good results from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I used three boxes with great benefit. In a short time I gained eleven pounds, and as I was very thin when I began to use the remedy, I was very proud of the increase of weight.

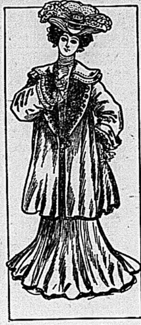
"Then the following spring I became rather poorly, and they again built me up, and gave me such a good appetite that I wanted to eat nearly half the time. I was so pleased with the cure the Nerve Food brought about that I recommended it to others, and they have told me of the benefits they had obtained from this preparation. You may use this testimonial in order that others may learn of the good there is in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

If you have been affected as Mrs. West has, if you are not feeling real strong and well, you will be surprised at the good that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do you. It puts color in the cheeks, rounds out angular and wasted forms, and brings new hopes, new confidence and new life to take the place of despondency, weakness and disease. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

WHAT TO WEAR IN BELTS.

The Shaped Kind Are Most Becoming to the Average Person.

High belts are still popular, but experience teaches that they must be made with care if they are to be worn with the straight front corset. The prettiest belts are made high at the back. The material is cut on the cross and is mounted on the bodice. The belt slopes gradually toward the front. Often the belt does not meet in front by a couple of inches, the intervening space being hidden by a tie of lace or a portion of the vest. For wearing with shirt waists a useful belt is made of crosscut glace or soft satin matching the color of the skirt. It is folded and stitched to a bone about four inches long at the back, and thence on either side the material slopes away to a point. The belt may be tied in a knot and the ends pinned up to the blouse, or it may be fixed with a buckle.



PONGEE DRIVING COAT.

The shaped belt is far more becoming to the figure than the ordinary straight kind. The object of employing crosscut material rather than ribbons is that the former when pulled tight fits so much closer to the figure.

The three-quarter driving cloak shown is of pongee, with a double caped collar and rounded revers of red silk outlined with ecru applique. The cuffs are of the crimson silk, also outlined with the applique.

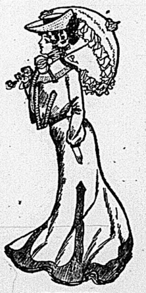
JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE CRAZE FOR WHITE.

Even Heavy Gowns Are Made of It. Some Novel Ideas.

The fondness for white this season extends even to tennis and outing suits. The white mohair ones are extremely smart and are accompanied by white shoes and white straw or taffeta hats. White storm serge is a favorite material with yachtswomen and trims up well with gold or silver braid and marine buttons. Anchors embroidered on the cuffs or collars add a bit to the jauntiness.

Touches of black velvet to set off a hat or gown are becoming almost indispensable. A bow tied loosely and set on the side of a hat of the palest blue or pink, with the ends hanging slightly over the brim, is extremely effective. Another pretty and novel idea is to wear one of these velvet knots at the nape of the neck on the slightly low neck dresses used for day wear.



OF WHITE LINEN.

A smart costume of white glace linen which is shown in the picture is made with an Eton jacket and a plain skirt trimmed with bands of pale blue linen. This is worn with a white muslin and insertion blouse and an outing hat of white linen stitched and trimmed with a bow and band of blue ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Quite Likely.

Tarantula Jim—What killed Stingaree Bill?

Alkali Ike—Acute pistolitis. I reckon that's what the doctors called it.—Judge.

MR. BOWSER'S LATEST

HE TAKES UP THE STUDY OF ENTOMOLOGY FOR A CHANGE.

It Was Very Interesting at First, but While Hunting For Grasshoppers the Amateur Entomologist Had a Narrow Escape.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

MR. BOWSER was half an hour late in reaching home the other evening, and Mrs. Bowser was wondering whether the police or kidnapers had got hold of him when he turned up with a bland expression of countenance and explained:

"I had a call from Professor Girdlestone just as I was ready to leave the office and was therefore detained for a few minutes."

"How much did he want to borrow?" innocently asked Mrs. Bowser.

"Borrow? Borrow? Who said he wanted to borrow?"

"No one, but I thought he might have heard of you and dropped in to ask a loan."

"What sort of talk is this?" demanded Mr. Bowser as he flushed up and grew belligerent. "Do you mean that Professor Girdlestone might have heard of me as a soft snap?"

THE HOPPER ROSE OUT OF THE BOX.

"But you do lend money, don't you?"

"Never! Never in this living world! I never loaned a red cent to any human being in all my life, and you know it."

"I thought you told me of about fifty different parties who had deadbeat you."

"Never! I never told you of one. No man has ever deadbeat me. The idea that a man like Professor Girdlestone cannot call on me without wanting to work me for a loan! I don't like such innuendoes, and I want no more of them."

THE MAN RUSHED AT HIM WITH UPLIFTED CLUB.

"I don't remember to have ever heard of Professor Girdlestone," quietly remarked Mrs. Bowser after a minute or two.

"Oh, you don't! Well, he is on earth just the same, and he happens to rank as one of the greatest entomologists of the age. I may further inform you that he called to see me professionally."

"About entomology?"

"Yes, about entomology. He wanted my assistance in a certain matter, and I promised to aid him all I could. You may not regard it as an honor to be professionally associated with the foremost man of his profession, but I do. I only wish I was so situated that I could drop everything else and take up the study of entomology. It is one of the most interesting things on earth."

Mrs. Bowser realized that Mr. Bowser had been "worked" again, but as to what direction and to what extent she must wait for his explanation. It was not long in coming. After walking up and down for three or four minutes he stopped and took a paper box from his pocket and said:

"I have here a grasshopper. I presume you have seen such an insect?"

"Yes."

"A question has arisen among entomologists in regard to his habits. Some contend that he sleeps during the hours of darkness; others that he requires no sleep at all. I am to observe him for two or three nights and report. Isn't he a fine specimen of his class? He is awake now, of course, but later on, when the house gets still, he may seek slumber. Let us study him for a moment as he is. Can you fathom nature's object in making his hind legs so long?"

Mrs. Bowser had no need to answer the question. Those hind legs gave a kick and the hopper rose out of the box and landed half way across the room, but hardly had he struck the floor when the cat leaped off the lounge and snapped him up.

"By thunder!" shouted Mr. Bowser as soon as he could get his breath. "By thunder and Saturn and Mars and the great hornspoon, but I'll have her life for that!"

He didn't get it, though. With the dead hopper in her mouth the cat made three circles of the room and then went out of an open window into the back yard, and the study of entomology was knocked into a cocked hat for the time being.

"But you can easily get another," suggested Mrs. Bowser in a consoling way.

"I shall get another, of course," replied Mr. Bowser, "and it is needless to add that a painful death awaits that cat tomorrow morning. She shall die by inches. I presume I shall have to walk a mile or so to find another hopper, but at the same time I may solve the question of whether he sleeps or not. There should be plenty of them in the suburbs."

"But you won't be so foolish as to go hunting grasshoppers at night," she protested.

"Certainly I will. I have promised to observe the insect and report, and I propose to do it. If I'm not back by 10 o'clock, you can go to bed. I may have opportunity to study the hopper on his native heath, and if so it would be much better."

Mrs. Bowser argued and protested, but without avail. Mr. Bowser felt that the scientific world awaited his decision, and he clapped on his hat and started off. The cat saw him depart and meowed mournfully, but conscience had been aroused too late. Mr. Bowser had walked fully a mile before he reached an expanse of vacant real estate on which he might hope to find grasshoppers resting after their hopful toil of the day. He turned aside and got down on his knees to search about, and he had been at work for ten minutes without making a discovery when a man came across the unfenced field with a club in his hand and called out:

"Now, then, what in blazes are you doing here?"

"I'm looking for grasshoppers," replied Mr. Bowser as he rose up.

"What? What's that? Say, you old bloke, don't try to guy me! I'm on to you bigger'n a house. You have buried stolen property here and are trying to find it."

"My dear sir, I"—

"Get out!"

"I want to say"—

But the man rushed at him with uplifted club, and Mr. Bowser had to put his best foot foremost to get away. He covered half a mile of highway before he stopped, and he had sat down to get his breath when two men and a dog came along. The men might have passed him, but the dog spotted him at once and rushed upon him with such violence that he was knocked over. His yells brought the men to him, and one of them piled on to him at once and shouted to his companion:

"Grab hold of his foot, Jim! We've got the thief who has been stealing our chickens! Lie still, you old skulk, or I'll knock the top of your head off!"

Mr. Bowser started in to explain, but he had only got as far as to give his name and address when the man gave him a wallop and cried out:

"You old liar, but don't think to deceive us! Where are your partners in this chicken business?"

A second explanation was attempted. This one included Professor Girdlestone and grasshoppers, but the assailants shouted their disbelief and rage and thumped Mr. Bowser on twenty-seven different portions of his anatomy. How he got to his feet, how he fought for his life, how he fled and fell over obstructions, but finally left even the dog behind, are matters that must be suppressed until Mr. Bowser is at rest and some other brain has solved the grasshopper question. He reached home at midnight. He was a human wreck. Mrs. Bowser and the cat were waiting his arrival, and they stood before him as he opened the door.

"About grasshoppers?" queried Mrs. Bowser after a long look at him.

He uttered no word in reply.

"Do they sleep at night, or do they remain awake to run folks all over the country and tear the clothes off their back?"

Mr. Bowser looked from her to the cat and back, scratched his head in a dazed way and then slowly climbed the stairs and disappeared.

M. QUAD.

His Own Coin.

Iceman—How much for this ham?

Shrewd Groceryman—Don't know exactly. Just bring in your ice scales and we'll weigh it.—New York Weekly.

A Sure Cure for Headaches. — Bilious headache, to which women are more subject than men, becomes so acute in some subjects that they are utterly prostrated. The stomach refuses food, and there is a constant and distressing effort to free the stomach from bile which has become unduly secreted there. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are a speedy alterative, and in neutralizing the effects of the intruding bile relieves the pressure on the nerves which cause the headache. Try them.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

Will be Found an Excellent Remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

The Well Known Strengthening Properties of IRON, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

Some persons have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhoea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking, and green fruit, is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer Complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed no further trouble will be experienced.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

For coughs, colds, bronchitis and all lung and throat troubles, there is no preparation of medicine can compare with Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It never fails to afford prompt and permanent relief. It removes all soreness, and heals the diseased parts. It immediately soothes the most troublesome cough, and by promoting expectoration, removes the mucus which stops up the air tubes which causes difficulty in breathing, thereby gives relief to that depressing tightness experienced in the chest. Public speakers and singers will find Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup of inestimable value, as it speedily and effectually allays all irritation, and huskiness in the throat and bronchial tubes, and gives power to the vocal cords, rendering the voice clear and sonorous. If parents wish to save the lives of their children, and themselves from much anxiety, trouble and expense, let them procure a bottle of "Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup," and whenever a child has taken cold, has a cough or hoarseness, give the Syrup according to directions.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

To Those of Sedentary Occupation. —Men who follow sedentary occupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to disorders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. The former will find in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills a restorative without question the most efficacious on the market. They are easily procurable, easily taken, act expeditiously, and they are surprisingly cheap considering their excellence.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

UNTOLD MISERY — WHAT A WELL-KNOWN COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER SUFFERED, AND HOW HE WAS CURED.—Gentlemen, About five years ago I began to be troubled with Dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time travelling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine and when the third bottle was finished, I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of Dyspepsia. (Signed), T. S. McINTEE.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

He Has Tried It.—Mr. John Anderson, Kimloss, writes: "I venture to say few, if any, have received greater benefit from the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, than I have. I have used it regularly for over ten years, and have recommended it to all sufferers I knew of, and they also found it of great virtue in cases of severe bronchitis and incipient consumption."

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

DESERONTO CAMP

DATES OF ARRIVAL OF THE VARIOUS CORPS.

Deseronto, August 23.—The guns for use in the Deseronto artillery camp have arrived from Kingston. Firing competition will take place from September 15th until the second week in October. The following are the dates of the arrival of the various corps:

September 15—11th and 16th field batteries, of Guelph.

September 16—4th field battery, of Hamilton, and 7th, of St. Catharines.

September 17—9th field battery, of Toronto, and 5th, of Deseronto.

September 18—8th field battery, of Gananoque, and 14th, of Port Hope.

September 13—"A" and "B" batteries, Kingston.

September 22—1st field battery, of Quebec, and 2nd, of Ottawa.

September 23—3rd field battery, of Montreal, and 10th, of Woodstock, N.B.

September 24—12th field battery, of Newcastle, N.B., and 13th, of Winnipeg, Man.

September 25—15th field battery, of Granby, Quebec.

September 26—Nos. 1 and 2 companies, R.C.G.A.

September 29—Nos. 1 and 2 companies, 2nd Regiment, C.A., of Montreal.

September 30—No. 3 company, 2nd Regiment, C.A., and the Cobourg company, garrison artillery.

October 1—Nos. 1 and 2 companies, 6th Regiment C.A., of Quebec.

October 2—Nos. 3 and 4 companies, 6th Regiment C.A.

EVER FELT THAT DEATH WOULD BE WELCOME?

Mrs. Margaret Smith often did until Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart gave her a new hope and cured her heart.

"I was for two years a great sufferer from heart trouble. At times I was confined to bed, at times my pain was so intense that I would have welcomed death with joy. I was attracted to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart by reading of some wonderful cures wrought by it. One dose gave me relief in 30 minutes. After using four bottles I can truly say I never felt better in my life."—Margaret Smith, Brussels, Ont. 59

Sold by D. M. Waters.

It's About Over

OUR SWEEP-OUT SHOE SALE

Of the season's remnants.

This week will likely bring it to a close. Some of the best Bargains for the last. Don't miss this opportunity.

J. J. HAINES

S HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

Sports and Pastimes.

FISHING.

Young Lady's Fine Catch.

Miss Clara Clarke of Avenue Road, Toronto, last week at Hay Bay captured and landed unaided a maskinonge weighing 11 lbs. on a Bristol club rod with light line. The same young lady caught the full legal number of 12 black bass weighing 29 lbs near Massassaga Park the other day and intends testing her tackle on some of the 40 lb. 'lunge said to be lurking in Mosquito Bay.

LACROSSE.

The Team for Picton.

The team that will go to Picton on Thursday to play lacrosse with Marmora will be chosen from the following: Patterson, Hitchon, Panter, Maguire, Burrell, Bogart, Ford Wallace, Allen, Cook, Burke, Broley, Hanley, Johnson, Forin and Fish. These players are requested to turn out on practice night this week.

SPORTING NOTES.

Toronto looks like a sure winner in the Eastern Baseball league. She is 52 points ahead of Buffalo in percentage, with only 29 more games to play. The Queen City scribes figure that if they can win half the games to be played they have the pennant cinched.

Lacrosse results on Saturday.—Toronto 4, Montreal Shamrocks 1; Brantford 14, Toronto Tecumsehs 2.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

Daily Intelligencer.

SIR WILFRID AND JOHN REDMOND ON REBELLION.

In one of Sir Wilfrid's oratorical displays in England, he declared that "in 1837 Canada was in a state "of turmoil and excitement. The "rebellion, in his mind, was quite "justified by the unworthy system "which then obtained, and by the "attempt to rule what ought to "have been a free people by methods "which were unsuited to them. But "in 1899, when Canada had the blessings of responsible government in "the same measure that they had in "England, at a time when the dominion of her late Majesty was "threatened in a distant quarter, the "very sons of the rebels of 1837 were "the first to come to the rescue." The effect of such utterances has been to give encouragement to the Redmondites, in their settled plan to dismember the Empire, if it lay in their power to do so. In the language of the Ottawa Free Press (Government organ): "Mr. John Redmond, M.P., has not been slow to "avail himself of the painted moral "which adorned Sir Wilfrid ~~Laurier~~'s "story, for at the meeting of the "Cork County Convention, in the "course of his speech he said:—

> "If Canada was justified—as, of course, she was—by the universal verdict of mankind—if Canada was justified in rebelling in 1837, Ireland to-day would be amply justified in rebelling by force of arms—(cheers)—if we had the means, against the system of government which oppresses and ruins our country. (Cheers.) We have not the means. It is not in our power to rebel by force of arms against the present system. But it is in our power, and we have the means if we have the resolution and the courage to use them, which, without taking the field by force of arms, will enable us to make the present system of government in this country, this ridiculous mixture of coercion and constitutionalism, absolutely impossible for any English Government in the future. (Cheers.)"

In this approval of rebellion in Canada, Redmond finds a justification, from no less a person than the Premier of the Dominion, who speaks as our representative, for rebellion in Ireland. Here is a lesson for the old loyalists of the past to ponder over.

TIMELY TOPICS.

A short talk with Lieut. D. Barrager, of the Fifteenth, who has recently returned from the Military School at London, Ont., brought out a few things in regard to the new infantry drill which will be of interest to many military men, past and present. Radical changes have been made, particularly in the manual, from which all showiness has been eliminated. But three positions are now left—the order, slope, and present. The time-honored shoulder arms is cut out, the present now being made from the slope. The changes in other things are quite as marked. The stand at ease without arms is done by taking a ten-inch pace to the left, resting the body evenly on both feet, at the same time clasping the hands behind the back. A radical change, that, surely. In the new drill every man takes up a space of thirty inches when on parade. In the commands for marching exercises, all the unnecessary verbiage has been eliminated, such as "Company will advance, by the left, quick march." The command now is, "Quick march," and the guide is always by the right, there being no front or rear.

• • •

It is expected that the new drill will be introduced in the Fifteenth this fall. The drill season opens again next week, and the new tactics should stimulate the interest of the men.

• • •

"Oh, dear," said a pretty "schoolmarm" last night, "I didn't realize till just this minute that I had to begin teaching again next week." And she smiled a sad, sweet smile. That's the worst of these vacations, the hind end always seems to be casting its shadows before.

• • •

Speaking of vacations calls to mind the fact that even at Wellington the beautiful summer resort on Lake Ontario, the old d.s.b.g. has been discussed. A prominent Front St. merchant and lawyer, after duly considering the matter, came to the conclusion that the best thing to do with the old place was to level off the greensward, mend some of the tombstones, bury the fragments, cut the grass, place benches throughout the grounds and make it a park for weary people to rest their bones in.

• • •

Great place for fish stories, Wellington! And the air! And you just ought to see the summer visitors eat! It would give a Belleville boarding house keeper heart failure to see those terrible appetites! By a judicious mixture of labor and rest one can build up his health greatly at Wellington. The Timely Topics man, with another friend who was fond of exercise, got a fine crop of sunburn and fresh air there during the week just past. It turned out that with the writer in the stern and the other party at the oars the boat balanced beautifully. The gentleman who rowed seemed to enjoy it, and the writer had not the heart to rob him of his innocent pleasure. Fish stories are out of order, so we will refrain, but really it's too bad to close without one tender reference to a 14-lb. pike and five beautiful black bass, which were caught trolling. Nice place, Wellington. If the inhabitants only had enterprise enough to spend a little money and provide a little more entertainment for summer visitors they would have one of the nicest places in Canada. At present there is nothing to do but eat and fish and eat again, and so on ad lib.

• • •

"I'm going away for a few weeks," said a city clergyman last night. "I hope there will be no funerals, but if any of you want to get married there are a number of my clerical brethren left in the city who will cheerfully perform the ceremony." And they say he gazed fixedly at one or two young couples in the congregation.

• • •

It is said that in the Danish press there is never to be found such a thing as a "social column." The reason given is both novel and amusing. It is that "Society is so small that everyone knows exactly who is who, and those who are not 'anyone' could not deceive anyone as to their position by being put in a paper.'" This reason would be applicable to more places than Denmark.

• • •

A good joke is related of a stout dowager who was at a gathering of "colonials and celebrities," as some facetiously called these functions, where there was a sprinkling of ecclesiastical dignitaries. Gazing through her pince-nez at a passing cleric, whose garb suggested a Bishopric, she was heard to demand of her companion: "Tell me, dear, do you think that that is a real Bishop or only a colonial?"

• • •

Sergeant Church, of the North-West Mounted Police, who went out to South Africa as adjutant of the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, has been promoted to a captaincy in the British army. Let us hope the snobs in the army, for there are some, will not make the position uncomfortable for him.

• • •

A Kansas paper calls the attention of its readers to the fact that there is a man in Missouri who is about celebrating his 104th birthday and that he is a model for the youth of Kansas to follow, as he neither "chews, smokes nor uses tobacco in any form." He gave them all up on his 100th birthday."

• • •

The members of the Halifax Board of Trade, propose to ask the Government to dismiss Judge Meagher, for the reason that he grossly insulted a member of the Board when they were in Cape Breton, and for ordering one of it's members under arrest for daring to remonstrate with him. Before the Board acts as foolishly as did the Judge boorishly, it should remember that a judge of the Superior Court cannot be removed from office except by parliamentary impeachment.

• • •

Weather prognosticators are predicting a warm September. They think the law of averages govern things.

• • •

WHERE HE FAILED.

(Toronto Star.)

The Paris newspaper that accuses Sir Wilfrid Laurier of pandering to British vanity to win applause, will please observe that he has not won much applause from the Toronto Mail, the Hamilton Spectator, and the Belleville Intelligencer.

• • •

Isn't it about time we were getting a few whiffs of a petroleum-scented breeze from over Melrose way?

• • •

The last half-holiday is approaching. And when he thinks of it the poor clerk feels almost as jolly as a school teacher.

Ease of access, accommodation and health-giving Waters all combine to make the MAGI Caledonia Springs an ideal resort for the invalid or healthy.

Why doesn't somebody get up a fresh air excursion and send the Aldermen out in the country? It's too bad to see a bunch of bright, handsome men like them sacrificing themselves on the altar of duty this hot weather. We move the suspension of the rules to admit of the Council camping for two weeks on Zwick's island.

• • •

King Edward is going to Ireland. If he lands at Cork of course there will be much popping of corks.

• • •

The coal strike to date has cost nearly eighty-seven millions. A big bill for the poor consumer to pay some day.

• • •

Hon. G. Washington Ross is home again. The telegraph says he is as "mum as the proverbial oyster." Perhaps that is because, like the oyster, he will soon be in the soup.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv

23,25,62,27

DECORATION DAY AT NAPANEE

REV. A. L. GEEN, OF THIS CITY, DELIVERS THE ORATION.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Napanee, August 25.

The Oddfellows of Napanee held their ceremony for the decoration of the graves of departed brethren yesterday. The weather was all that could be desired, being one of the most summer-like days of the year. Soon after dinner crowds of people made their way to the pretty resting place of the dead, and between two and three o'clock the members of the order formed up on Main street, each bearing all the flowers it was possible for him to manage. The turnout was very large, and presented a very fine appearance. The procession proceeded direct to the cemetery. As soon as all were in position a hymn was sung and a short prayer offered by the chaplain. The brethren, after listening to the reading of the names of departed brethren by Secretary J. E. Robinson, proceeded to the decoration. After this had been accomplished the brethren, with a great crowd of friends, gathered on the gentle sloping hillside, where another prayer was said, and the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung. Then the Past Grand Chaplain, Rev. Bro. Geen, of Belleville, delivered the oration, his clear voice being easily heard as he passed rapidly from "the occasion" to the practical Christian work (pure religion and undefiled), of the order, closing with a strong application of lessons, which he exhorted the brethren to carry away. After the benediction the numbers reformed and returned to the lodge room. A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Bro. Geen for his able and appropriate address.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A Successful Picnic

The picnic at Massassaga Park to-day, under the auspices of the G.T.R. employees, was largely attended. The weather was all that could have been desired for the outing.

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Tired Out Tired when you go to bed, tired when you get up, tired all the time. Why? Your blood is impure. Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and be quickly cured. If the bowels are constipated, take Ayer's Pills. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russsian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

No Skilled Labor

is required around the house to use

Ramsay's Paints

They are ready to use as soon as you open the can and stir the paint. It dries hard in eight hours and wears well. We have any color or shade you may desire and you will be sure to be satisfied with the quality of this paint.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

MANY PEOPLE

. . Are willing to sacrifice themselves and their children to the prejudice of "what people say."

The Foolish Prejudice Against the Use of Glasses

By children with defective Eyes often results in the greatest suffering — sometimes permanent disability of one who might otherwise become a power in the world.

ALEX. RAY.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

English Fruit Salt

—PLEASANT

—COOLING

—REFRESHING.

One large bottle - 40c

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Paint Paint

YOUR HOUSE inside or outside may need painting, and of course, you want the best. The S-W-P compared with Pure Lead and Linseed oil, will wear longer, look better and cover more surface per gallon, will not crack or rub off and costs you less. Every can imperial measure and guaranteed.

WATERS'

Relieve those Inflamed Eyes!

Pond's Extract

Reduced one-half with pure soft water, applied frequently with dropper or eye cup, the congestion will be removed and the pain and inflammation instantly relieved.

CAUTION!—Avoid dangerous, irritating Witch Hazel preparations represented to be "the same as" Pond's Extract which easily sour and generally contain "wood alcohol," a deadly poison.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y, STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 25.

Stock	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	93	93⅛	92½	93⅛
do. pref...	102½	102½	102	102½
C.P.R.	139⅜	139⅞	139⅜	139⅞
U. S. Steel ..	41¼	41½	41	41⅛
do. pref....	90⅛	90½	90⅛	90⅜
W. Union	96⅛	97	96⅛	96¼
Pa.	104¾	105	104½	104¾
Manhattan ..	135⅞	136⅜	135¼	135½
Erie	40⅞	41¼	40¼	41
do pref.....	70⅛	70¼	69¾	70
L. & N.	156	156	155¼	155⅝
Mo. P.	117⅛	117⅜	116¾	117¼
Nor.	72	72⅛	71⅞	72⅛
N. Y. C.	164⅛	164½	164	164½
Reading	68	68	67⅜	67⅜
do pref....	87	87	86¾	86¾
St. Paul	186	187¼	185½	186¾
South Pac. ..	77⅜	77⅜	76⅞	77½
Sou. Ry.....	40¼	40⅞	40¼	40½
Union. Pac. .	109¾	111⅞	109⅜	111⅞
Amn. Loco..	32⅜	33⅞	32⅜	32⅜
do. pref...	94½	....	....	....
Penna	161¼	162	161	162
B & O......	110½	115	110¼	114⅜
C. & O... ...	54½	56⅛	54¾	56⅛
Texas.......	53⅜	53⅜	52½	52½
H. V.	101	101½	....	...
Copper.....	66⅛	67¼	66⅛	67¼
S. F.	79¾	....	....	....

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS.

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 25.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers.
C. P. R.	139 7-8	139 3-4
Toronto Railway ...	122	121 7-8
Twin City	128 1-2	128 1-8
Con. Lake Superior..	27 1-4	27
Dom. Coal	141 1-2	141
Dom. Iron & Steel ...	78 1-2	78
Nova Scotia Steel ...	113	112 1-2
Sao Paulo	107 1-4	107 1-8

(Changed daily)

Monday, August 25, 1902.

Life's Story Without Fiction.

Your Milk Man.....

The many readers of this paper will remember that one frosty morning, nearly two years ago, a passenger train leaving Belleville on the wrong track ran down, on the G.T.R. bridge, two men on their way home from the night's work at the G.T.R. shops, one man losing his arm, the other losing one leg and a portion of the other foot, leaving him almost helpless for life. Strange to say, this latter man, some years previous, lost a portion of one hand.

His name is Mr. Louis Cook. He lives on College Hill—a respectable, industrious, honest man. He has made arrangements to go into the milk business, and through the kindness of Mr. Donald Bleecker, is being supplied with milk at the Bleecker farm, College Hill, for reasonable price. Although Mr. Bleecker could make more by sending his milk to the factory. The advantages are that he will have milk from the same cows, and right in the city, so there will be little or no churning, because of long drives. Mr. Cook's little daughter accompanies him to deliver the milk from wagon to home, he being unable to get in and out of the wagon easily.

Cleanliness in the handling of and delivery of milk will be one motto.

Pure milk another.

Good attention to customers another.

Regularity still another.

THE STORY IS TOLD.

Anyone wishing to patronize Mr. Cook, to help him along, to give him a trial, may leave orders or addresses at Scantlebury's Book Store, or drop a card to us, stating address, quantity required and when to call.

This little notice is unknown to Mr. Cook until he happens to read it, or is told of it.

We are not connected with his venture in any way, further than hoping for his success.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Paper Wholesale & Retail

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such a be arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Mr. Bert Smith is spending a week at Foxboro.

Miss Margaret Griffin is visiting in Toronto.

Miss Fannie Stinson, of Picton, was in town on Saturday.

Mr. Wm. McKeown is home from an outing at Croydon, Ont.

Miss Annie Young, of Kingston, is visiting Miss Lillie Rickett.

Mr. J. O. Elvins, of Toronto, is in the city visiting friends.

Mr. Frank Harden has returned from a visit to Syracuse, N.Y.

Miss Annie Large, Murney St., is visiting relatives in Deseronto.

Miss Gertrude Day, of Guelph, is visiting Miss Hazel Steele, Albert St.

Miss Norah Lake, of Napanee, is visiting Miss Eva Panter, of this city.

Dr. Harry Burdette, of St. Paul, is in the city renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Olive Cooper has returned home after a visit with relatives in Picton.

Mrs. C. J. Bowell and Miss C. Stewart have returned from Preston Springs.

Mr. Arch. McGinnis, of Marysville, was in the city yesterday visiting relatives.

Mr. Franklin Brennan, of Deseronto, spent Sunday in the city with relatives.

Mrs. Chas. Freed and children, of Canadaigua, N.Y., are visiting Mrs. Hale, Church St.

Mr. John Hanley is spending a few days at Buffalo and other places in New York State.

Mr and Mrs. W. J. Hayne and son Glencoe, of East Toronto, are in the city visiting relatives.

Mr. Alfred Wills returned to Toronto to-day, after a visit with relatives here.

Mrs. Wm. Vance and two children, of Buffalo, N.Y., are visiting at Mr. T. Downs', Dundas street.

Miss Isabel B. Stuart, Pittsburg, Pa., is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Orr, Yeomans St.

Mr. Michael Sheehan, of the G.T.R., and wife, and Miss Kenny, left yesterday afternoon for Chicago.

Mrs. Martin Harte and Miss Minnie Hudson, of Deseronto, spent Sunday with Mrs. William Harris, John St.

Miss Jennie Anderson, of Trenton, who has been in the city for some time, returned to her home to-day.

Mrs. J. F. Post and Hector Post left to-day for Toronto and Owen Sound, where they will spend a few weeks' holidays.

Miss Vera Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gordon, of this city, has returned from a two months' visit to Winnipeg.

Miss Mary Kane, of Toronto, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kane, Catharine St., returned home to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Spry, of Niagara, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Spry and son, of Boston, returned to their homes to-day after visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Gorham, George St., returned home Saturday from Midland, where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Ridley, for the past five weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Morden and family and Mrs. Morden's sister Mrs. S. Palmer, returned on Saturday from a delightful trip to Quebec, per str. Alexandria.

Sergeant E. T. Austin, who went to London with the Coronation Contingent and remained in England visiting relatives, returned to the city this morning.

Mrs. S. S. Russell returns on Monday to her home at St. Albans, and then will go on to spend two weeks at the seashore at New London, Conn., with her sister, Miss Aileen McKeown.

At the Quinte: H. Burdette, St. Paul; J. Gracey, Peterboro; H. P. Thompson, Merrickville; Mrs. E. Fown, Capt. G. Peene and wife, Mrs. W. H. Garrett, Mr. W. H. Garrett, Yonkers, N.Y.; Mrs. Garrett, Wellington; C. W. Perry, Buffalo; T. F. Seymour, T. C. Wallbridge, Madoc; J. T. Ayers, Lachute, Que.; R. C. Carter and wife, J. McCullough, Deseronto; Wm. Schumes, J. A. Ballory, A. J. Patterson, T. E. Sutton, Toronto; R. J. Knoulten, Jas. Robertson, M. E. Almer, J. H. McComb, J. E. Lyon, Toronto; W. B. Clark, Jackonville, Fla.

The Surest Remedy is

Allen's Lung Balsam

It never fails to cure a SIMPLE COLD, HEAVY COLD, and all BRONCHIAL TROUBLES.

Large Bottles $1.00. Medium Size 50c. Small or Trial Size 25c.

Endorsed by all who have tried it.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.

Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c ne.

Reading advertisements, 15c per line.

Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon casual or contract rates.

Minimum space, 10 lines.

Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion. Births, 25c each insertion.

Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.

All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.

Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

We want men to sell for us; salary or commission; paid weekly; outfit free. Good demand for stock now. We have 800 acres of choice fruit and ornamental trees.—Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto, Ont.

a14eod-d&w1m

FOR SALE.

Two steam barges, one 110 ft. long, 22 ft. beam; the other 97 ft. long, 16 ft. beam. Both in good running order. S. W. Marchment & Co., 103 Victoria St., Toronto.

19-6t

LOST.

On Front or East Bridge St., Tuesday, Aug. 19, a silk umbrella, silver mounted, with name "GILBERT CANNIFF." Please leave at this office.

1t

BELLEVILLE MARKETS,

Intelligencer Office.

Wednesday, Aug. 13.

The grain market at present is very quiet and dull. It is expected that within the next week new grain will be offered for sale, which will have the effect of toning up the market.

In produce there is no change to note in particular.

Our quotations are as follows;—

Fall Wheat—67c.
Spring Wheat—65c.
Goose Wheat—63c.
Barley—40c to 52c.
Feeding Barley—46c.
Oats—40c to 45c.
Rye—55c.
Peas, common—70c.
Buckwheat—50c.
Timothy—$3.50.
Clover—$4.50 to $5.00.
Butter—20 to 22c.
Eggs—13c to 15c.
Live Hogs—$6.60.
Dressed Beef, fores—5c to 6c.
Dressed Beef, hind—7c to 8c.
Shearlings—25c.
Spring lamb skins—35c.
Butchers' trimmed hides—$6 50.
Mutton—6c to 7c.
Horse Hides—$2.50.
Veal Hides—8c to 9c.
Deakins—50 to 55c.
Tallow, rough—2 1-2c to 3c.
Tallow rendered—5c to 5 1-2c.
Wool—12c to 13c.
New Potatoes—45 to 50c per bag.
Hay—$7.50 to $8.50.
Chickens—60c to $1.00.
Geese—50c to 75c.
Turkeys—10c to 12c per lb.
Ducks—50c to 75c per pair.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co's.

Strs. North King and Caspian
EXCURSION
TO KINGSTON FAIR
50c Wednesday, 27th
Thursday, 28th
Return tickets will be issued at
SINGLE FARE
Good going 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, returning until 30th Aug. inclusive.
U. E. THOMPSON, Ticket Agent. RATHBUN CO. Ticket Agent.

Last Excursion of the Season.
PER
Str. "NIAGARA"
To PICTON
Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 30.
Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2.30 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.
About 1½ hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.
Fare for the round trip 25 cents.
THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.
TIME TABLE.
Commencing April 10th, 1902,
Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee
Str. "ELLA ROSS"
Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 2 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.
Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY
Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leave Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.
Fare to New York, Single, $8.45; Return, $13.25
For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents.
J. F. CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
E. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA
A. HICKS, Captain.
Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y,
Str. ALEXANDRIA
Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.
Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec. (without change) and all way ports.
1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.
FARE.
$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth on route.
THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION
Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, 02
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $10,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Travel
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Back

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at The Intelligencer Office. tf

THE RED CAPE

By C. Langton Clarke

*

Copyright, 1901, by T. C. McClure

"Such an infernal nuisance!" said Jack Somerville as he sat in his easy chair nursing a sprained ankle and scowling at his friend, Dick Callender. "What did you let go of the ladder for?"

"Sorry, old man," said the other; "but it was as much your fault as mine."

"And I had promised my aunt to meet a girl, a cousin of mine, who is coming to stay with her. It's nearly traintime now. Look here! You will have to go instead of me."

"I?" cried Dick, aghast. "Why, I shouldn't know her if I saw her!"

"Neither should I," growled the other. "Haven't seen her for years; but she will be wearing a red cape, so my aunt says, and that ought to be enough to identify her—a tall, dark girl with a red cape. Now, don't stand gaping. You have no time to lose. Take her in a cab to my aunt's and then come back here."

He pulled out his watch again with an impatient gesture, and Dick, anxious to atone for his share in the accident, hurried away.

As he lounged about the platform waiting for the train to arrive he remembered that the young lady's name had not been mentioned, or, if it had, he had entirely forgotten it. "I'll stick to the red cape," he said to himself, "and I can't go far wrong."

When the train at last arrived, Dick moved slowly along the line of cars, keeping a watchful eye on the passengers as they alighted, and his vigilance was rewarded by the sight of a tall, dark young lady wearing a scarlet cape and carrying several parcels.

"I beg your pardon," Dick began, diffidently addressing her. "I have been commissioned to meet you and escort you to the house. Jack intended to come, but he has sprained his ankle."

The young lady looked greatly distressed. "Oh, I hope he is not much hurt!" she cried as she clasped her hands over her bundles. "Poor Jack! I suppose you are a great friend of his?"

"We are excellent friends," Dick replied. "My name is Richard Callender. It seems an absurd thing to say, but Jack quite forgot to mention your name to me."

"That's very odd," replied the girl. "And you say you are such a friend of his! My name is Mary Heatherstone. Do you mean to say you have never heard John speak of me?"

"Oh, of course! What a chump I am!" cried the young man, with the fatal readiness to avoid explanations which was one of his characteristics.

"Now, tell me all about Jack," Miss Heatherstone said after she had been comfortably established in a cab and the young man had seated himself by her side. "Does he seem quite happy?"

"First rate!" said Dick. "Particularly since he became engaged."

The young lady smiled and looked pleased. "He has had plenty of time to get used to that idea," she said.

"Oh, I don't know!" Dick replied. "Two weeks is not such a very long time, you know."

The smile faded from the girl's face. "Two weeks!" she cried. "Why, he has been engaged for two years!"

Dick laughed. "I suppose you are thinking of that other little affair," he said; "but, really, that never amounted to anything. This time it is for good and all. He met Gertie Gould for the first time two months ago, and it was all settled a fortnight ago at the tennis club ball. Good heavens! What's the matter?" The girl had caught him by the wrist, and her face was deadly pale.

"You are not deceiving me?" she cried. "No, I see that you are not. I must go home again. Tell the cabman to drive back to the station. Quick! Do as I tell you!"

She was fumbling with the handle of the door and was altogether in such an excited state that Dick, who was greatly taken aback to find himself face to face with a tragedy, complied with her instructions.

"Can I not help you in some way?" he said at last, being greatly moved by the sight of the girl's evident misery.

"What would you think," she asked, rousing herself, "of a man who would let the girl to whom he had been engaged for two years and who had left her home, all happiness, to be married to him, hear from the lips of a stranger that he had been false to his plighted word?"

"I should say that he was a cad!" replied Dick fiercely, and Miss Heatherstone smiled wanly through her tears at his vehemence.

As they were entering the vestibule of the railway station Dick felt his arm seized by his companion and, following the direction of her eyes, saw a young stranger of pleasing appearance approaching them.

"You will protect me from insult, won't you?" the girl asked breathlessly, and Dick felt that he would be quite equal to the occasion, though the other man was the heavier by many pounds.

The stranger advanced, smiling, until well within the range of Miss Heatherstone's stony gaze, when he stopped short, and his outstretched hand fell back to his side.

"Molly!" he said in great surprise. "What is the meaning of this welcome?"

"Let me pass," replied the girl in the tones of a tragedy queen. "I have discovered your perfidy, and I am going home."

She pushed on, and the young man, who had at first showed signs of an intention to block her progress, fell back.

"You are mad," he said, "and as for you, sir," addressing Dick, "I shall probably have a few words to say to you."

"When I have escorted this lady to the waiting room," replied Dick loftily, "I shall be happy to listen to anything you may have to say."

As soon as Dick and his charge had entered the waiting room Miss Heatherstone turned to him. "How nobly you ignored your former friendship!" she said. "You spoke to him as if he were beneath your notice and a complete stranger."

"Why, so he is," replied Dick, considerably mystified. "I never saw the fellow before."

"Am I going crazy?" the girl cried, sinking into a chair. "Didn't you tell me that he sent you to meet me; that he had sprained his ankle? A nice excuse, indeed!"

"Of whom are you speaking?" asked Dick, bewildered. "Of Jack?"

"Yes! Yes! That man! Jack—my Jack!"

"But that isn't my Jack. My friend is at home, as I told you, with a sprained ankle. I don't understand it at all. Mr. Somerville asked me"—

"Mr. Somerville!" cried Miss Heatherstone, sitting bolt upright. "Is that the name of the gentleman who sent you?"

"Of course it is," Dick answered, almost testily. "He told me to look out for a tall, dark girl with a red cape, his cousin, and—and"—

"And you mistook me for her? Oh, I see it all! Oh, Jack, Jack, how I have wronged you!" And, to Dick's consternation, the young lady immediately went off into a fit of hysterics, which necessitated the summoning of the attendant and the removal of the sufferer into an inner room for the application of restoratives.

While Miss Heatherstone wrestled with her attack of nerves Dick, horrified at the result of his mistake, hastened out into the vestibule in search of the other victim and found him leaning gloomily against a pillar. At first the outraged swain refused to listen to any explanation and seemed strongly inclined to make a personal assault upon the innocent cause of the mischief, but Dick's remorse and agitation finally disarmed him, and when they parted at the door of the waiting room they shook hands with expressions of mutual esteem and thankfulness that the error had been discovered in time.

When Dick entered the room where his friend was still nursing his ankle, the latter regarded him with considerable interest.

"What's the matter with you?" he asked. "You look as if you'd seen a ghost. Where is Mary?"

"I don't know," was the reply.

"Don't know!" shouted the other. "And you with her cape on your arm!"

Then Dick, looking down, found that he was still carrying the cape which Miss Heatherstone had handed to him in the waiting room.

"Isn't that the cape?" continued Jack Somerville angrily.

Dick burst into a laugh that was half hysterical.

"It's a red cape all right," he said, "but—but it was the wrong Mary that was in it."

He Set It All Right.

Bill Collector—You say you intend to pay this bill some time. Can't you set a certain day?

Lawyer Furst—Yes; judgment day.—Baltimore World.

Tame Dog Days.

Times are not what they used to be;
We miss those old and faithful friends.
The serpent terror of the sea
No more his billowy length extends.
No more the kissing bug so bold
Salutes, unintroduced, the fair.
Our summer joys have all grown cold,
And fancy flees we know not where.

Exhausted are those themes so rich
Which once employed our ablest pens.
No more we hear of hailstones which
In size outdo the eggs of hens.
No more we laud the honest dame
Who with quadruplets has been blest;
No dazzled frog steps into fame
Released from some big tree out west.

And, though we love the simple truth,
Our mighty nation must bewail
That fond companion of its youth,
The journalistic fairy tale.
And, though our power it may unfold
Until it touches every clime,
We'll miss those gentle yarns of old
Which soothed us so in summer time.
—Washington Star.

HIS EXPERIENCE

He scoffed at signs and tokens, a belief
In which, he said, was but proof of weakness
Which, manifested, gave him pain and grief,
But which he could not listen to with meekness.
In fact, he said, it always made him hot
To hear grown people talk such tommyrot.

Wherefore he took a contrary delight
The superstitious ones he met in shocking.
Things that would give most of us quite a fright
He spoke of in a manner worse than mocking.
He always made it one of his chief boasts
That he had never been afraid of ghosts.

When he spilled salt, he scorned to throw a pinch
(Bad luck averting) over his left shoulder.
To omens he would never yield an inch.
I'm very sure no person could be bolder.
In dressing there is very little doubt
He turned his hose if put on wrong side out.

But retribution followed, for one day
He broke a mirror. It was quite a large one.
I'd hate to pay the bill he had to pay.
You know how awfully sometimes they charge one.
He said with fervor that he had been "stuck"
And owned that time the breaking brought bad luck.

Then—this, I think, was also rather quaint—
That morning he walked underneath a ladder.
The man above upset a pot of paint,
Which, falling, made the man below much madder,
And (circumstances sometimes so combine)
The painter then was working on a sign.

Indoors he raised a fine umbrella next—
Bad luck, of course, but he'd show he despised it.
The name was on the inside, and, quite vexed,
The rightful owner saw and recognized it.
The thing was rather awkward to explain.
He'll pause when tempted to do that again.

Well, things like that just happened right along.
I did not say, I think, that day was Friday—
The worst of all the week. I may be wrong,
But I would never pick that day for my day.
He said at last—his pride had had its fall—
There might be something in it after all.
—Chicago Daily News.

Their Restraint.

Gussie (gleefully)—Bah Jove! All th' girls around here smile at me.

Tom—Well, that shows they have some manners. Anywhere else they would laugh outright.—Chicago News.

Discouraging Circumstances.

Tramp (in the country)—Yes, I once rode a bicycle, but I had ter give it up.

Cyclist—Why?

Tramp—Well, yer see, the owner wuz comin' down the road behind me, and the policeman had a rope stretched across the road in front.

Between Friends.

Ida—Listen to Erma reciting the "Wreck of the Hesperus." How terrible it must have been!

Mabel—Yes, and some people can make it more terrible than it was.—Chicago News.

High Art.

Sue Brette—She's got a new play for next season.

Polly Pinktites—That so? What is it?

Sue Brette—Musical comedy in three acts and nine new dresses.—Philadelphia Press.

Summer Angling.

He—Indeed, there's jolly good fishing about here. Miss Swift made a great catch when she was here last summer.

She—Yes; that old man was worth at least a million.—Pittsburg Press.

Seeing Is Believing.

"Do you know anything about hypnotism?" asked the girl in the pink waist.

"Well," replied the fluffy haired maid as she held up her left hand to display a sparkling solitaire to better advantage, "you can judge for yourself."—Chicago Daily News.

Nothing to Brag Of.

"Yes, Puffup asserts that he has always been accustomed to riding in a carriage. I suppose he started life that way?"

"Humph! Most of us did!"—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers
Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.
F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.
10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.
Farm Laborers' Excursions
Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, Southwest and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.
SECOND CLASS $10
One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.
Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."
For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.
A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902
Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at
SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.
Good going August 30th, 31st, and Sept. 1st, returning good until Sept. 2nd, 1902.
CANADA'S GREAT FAIR
TORONTO
September 1st to 13th.
Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.
Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75
All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.
SPECIAL TRAIN
Leaves Belleville at 3.00 a.m., Monday, Sept. 8th, arriving Toronto 6.50 a.m. Ask agents for official programme and time table.
U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

Jelly Crystals
One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.
Price 7c a package.
HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.

Wall Paper
If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.
Painting, Paper Hanging, Graining.
J. CORNELIUS.
Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

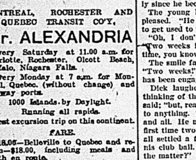
	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

For Pickling
XXX Cider
and White Wine Vinegars
Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES.
J. C. Hanley & Co.,
Telephone 214.

GOOD FISHING.
Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—
Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.
Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.
At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society
Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.
No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.
For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.
J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.



The force of oratory wrecked Rome and made Christianity rise.—Abraham Lincoln.
"FORCE"
A Nourishing Breakfast Food for Brain Workers.
Centerburg, Ohio, March 15, 1902.
"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.
Gentlemen.—Every Sunday I preach three times, attend two Sunday schools and one Epworth League. When I come in Sunday evenings, too exhausted to digest an ordinary meal, and yet needing something to give strength for the remaining duties of the day, I make my supper largely of "FORCE." It digests without reminding me that I have a stomach, and yet it so strengthens me that I close my last service no more weary than at supper time. It is the food for the weak stomach.
Yours very truly,
Name furnished on application

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—
"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves,"
"Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

"Oh, thank you!" Yolande responds, laughing, a little fluttered and confused by Dallas's addressing her in such gentle tones, and with such a soft wistful look in his eyes. "But I wasn't angling for a present, I assure you. Perhaps, after I had got the little dog, I shouldn't care so much for him."

"I am sure you wouldn't," declares Lord Glynne, breaking a crust of bread wito a vicious snap, an ugly, saturnine grin on his lean dark face. "You'd find him a bad bargain."

* * * * * *

Sir Gregory Parker, the eminent London physician, has arrived, and the Viscount has left the drawing room, and has gone to the Earl's chamber.

In the sitting room adjoining the old man's bedroom, the three doctors and Lord Glynne hold a social, semi-professional, and not unpleasant seance, mademoiselle occasionally finding a pretext for joining them. Sir Gregory Parker has dined well; but he does not refuse a glass of the choice old Burgundy which Viscount Glynne offers him, nor indeed do the other doctors.

They are all three very courteous and deferential to the man who will soon be an Earl, and the Viscount finds the evening much more enjoyable than one spent in the drawing room. There everyone is either silent or sulky except Lady Maria, who for one weary hour after dinner "exerts herself," as she says, and diverts the conversation with lugubrious "cheerfulness" to sick room topics, anecdotes of illnesses and sudden deaths, strange remedies and extraordinary recoveries, until her hearers are all limp and pallid with depression.

Joyce Murray yawns openly several times, and at last begs to be excused from sitting up any longer. Her mother, the Honorable Mrs. Murray, escapes from the consciousness of her troubles in a brief doze, until at last Lady Maria herself says "Good night," and the occupants of the drawing room immediately scatter.

The Honorable Mrs. Murray, with her stateliest air, rustles up to the door of the Earl's sitting room, and prepares to enter and assert her superiority over mademoiselle, if "the presuming creature" is there at this moment.

Finding she is there, and countenanced by the presence of the Viscount and the three doctors, Mrs. Murray is obliged to retire very meekly, after a few brief questions. Then she goes into her daughter's room to vent some of her displeasure and discuss some of her grievances.

But Joyce is already in bed, and, hearing her mother's footstep, and anticipating the usual maternal grumbling, pretends to be asleep. But, as the good lady feels she must find fault with something or somebody, to relieve her ruffled sensibility, she finds fault with Joyce's dressing case, and reproves her daughter crossly for leaving her jewels and money loosely thrown into an unlocked box.

"You are always losing your money or trinkets, or something!" she says complainingly. "Now here are your gold bracelets thrust into your necklet-case, and here is a ring-case, the very one you had with poor dear Lord Dunavon's ring, empty! I hope you have the ring safe, Joyce. Do you hear me, my dear? That ring is worth quite seventy or eighty pounds. Do you know where it is, Joyce—your beautiful diamond and sapphire ring, my dear?" Mrs. Murray asks anxiously.

"Yes, mamma, I know where it is," Joyce answers, sharply and suddenly, in a very wide-awake voice. "Please don't worry about it," she adds crossly, turning her face away from the light of the candle Mrs. Murray carries. "The ring is quite safe."

* * * * * *

Captain Dallas Glynne, sitting smoking in an easy chair by the fire in his own room, is asking himself over and over again why that cur, his cousin, was so rude to him at the dinner table.

"I wonder why Lyulph Glynne was so spiteful to me to-night," he muses. "Because the fellow will be Earl of Pentreath so soon, or because—of—Joyce Murray?"

There is a long silence. Captain Glynne's cigar goes out, and he throws it aside, and, leaning forward, with his elbows on his knees and his hands over his head, thinks and thinks, staring at the fire, until the fire goes out too.

And he is thinking of a young, fair, faithful wife whom in heart and soul he has wronged, of a pure, fond, true love, given to him freely, which he has cast aside as a worthless thing, of the mirage of a false fair woman's shallow selfish fancy, which has lured him almost beyond the border-line of honor and plighted troth.

He will never forget Yolande's face this evening, the proud anguish of the large dark eyes, the incredulous pain of the fair girlish face changing into such disdain of him and his falseness and his insulting neglect.

"My poor little wife! My poor pretty little dark-haired girl," he mutters, his heart throbbing fast in a sudden passion of fickle admiration. "I wish that Joyce and I had never met again. I wish I had not been fool enough to go off with her to-day and leave Yolande. She will never forget it or forgive it; and I wish," he mutters, lower still, "I had never given her my ring and taken—this."

He has taken a tiny object out of his waistcoat pocket, and it lies in the palm of his hand—a circlet of light glittering with points of fire—Joyce Murray's sapphire and diamond betrothal ring from her dead lover.

"I'll give it back again to Joyce," he says hurriedly, dropping it into his pocket again. "I hate the sight of the thing. She was false to me for the sake of this ring and a few gew-gaws like it. I hate it — and I hate her falseness and — sometimes I hate her! Besides, what if Yolande ever saw it or knew I had it? Poor little romantic soul! She doesn't imagine that there could be a woman who would barter the man she loved for 'gear an' gowd.' Poor little Yolande! I wish she didn't dread me and shun me as she does," he says, with a frown and a deep, quick sigh. "I wish I could see her now. I would try to atone for this day if I could!"

When a minute later, a gentle tap comes on the door between his room and Yolande's, it startles him like a mystical answer to his desire. He starts up eagerly — he is ashamed to feel how eagerly — and hurries to the door.

"Yes, yes!" he says, in quick unsteady tones. "Is that you, Yolande?"

"Yes," she replies, in a weary quiet voice, opening the door; and the pale young face, the wistful bright eyes, the slender silk-robed form appear in the dark portal; for the two candles on the toilet table utterly fail to light the huge cheerles room behind her. "I wanted to speak to you. I have been writing letters, and I wanted to speak to you for a minute to consult you—please."

Dallas takes the cold, little hand that is holding the door, and clasp it in both his.

"You want to speak to me, Yolande?" he asks huskily, trembling beneath the sudden passion of keen emotion that surges over it. "And I want to speak to you, my own little wife, my darling!"

"Captain Glynne," the unhappy young wife exclaims, trying to draw her quivering hand from his strong clasp, "it is needless — and it is cruel — I think — to use such pretences. I know quite well that — I am not your 'darling'!"

CHAPTER XX.

Dallas and Yolande — "man and wife together" by the laws of Church and State, but disunited and almost strangers in sad reality — stand now with clasped hands, gazing at each other in wistful silence, until the young wife's dark, mournful eyes are dim with unshed tears.

"What do you mean by saying that you are not my darling?" Dallas demands angrily, but in husky, unsteady tones. "No, I won't let you go until you tell me!"

Compared with his muscular strength, hers is slight, indeed; besides, the resistance she offers is not very strenuous. So, with both her ice-cold hands imprisoned in one of his, Captain Glynne draws his forlorn girl-wife close to his breast, and presses his face to hers.

"Oh, don't, don't! Let me go!" Yolande cries, sobbing miserably, but yielding in spite of herself, of her pride and anger, her jealousy and wretchedness. "You are cruel, cruel! Let me go, Captain Glynne!"

"What is the matter with you, my poor little woman?" he whispers, kissing her. "Don't cry so, Yolande, darling; you are bedewing me with your tears!"

He wipes the tear-stained face compassionately, and wonders rather vexedly how women can shed such floods of tears as they do.

"I beg your pardon," she says, in a resentful tone, and trying to thrust his hands away. "If you let me go, as I asked you, you will not be annoyed with my stupid tears!"

"I am not annoyed — I am grieved," Captain Glynne responds, not quite truthfully. "Let us shut this door, and come into my room. This big gloomy mausoleum of yours is enough to give you your death of cold! No wonder you are half frozen!"

He shuts the door, places her in an easy chair, and drawing the red embers of the fire carefully together, puts on them some paper, a handful of wax matches, and a little coal.

"See what a capital housemaid I am!" he says, laughing.

As Yolande watches him on his knees on the hearthrug, with the flickering firelight shining on his close-cropped, red-gold hair, on his low broad brow and thick curling hazel lashes, she wonders if there was ever anybody so handsome and winning and lovable!

"There, dear," he goes on, looking up with a gay smile, as he breaks up a cigar box to feed the blaze; then, dusting his fingers in his silk handkerchief, and, kneeling at her feet, he lays his fair handsome head gently upon her arm. "Give me a smile and a kiss, Yolande, for a reward!" he says coaxingly.

"You don't care for my smiles or my kisses either," Yolande answers, coldly, with a heaving breast, her heart aching with anguish.

His brow darkens sullenly at this, and he rises to his feet.

"Why don't you let bygones be bygones?" he cries resentfully.

"I did not think they were bygones," Yolande answers, rising also. "I have no reason to think so, you must admit."

"You allude to my having gone out with Miss Murray to-day, I suppose?" Dallas says, coloring, and twisting his moustache angrily. "I asked you, but you refused to come with me."

"Yes," Yolande admits curtly. "I knew I wasn't wanted."

"You are insulting me, Yolande!" he mutters, through his clenched teeth; and his eyes blaze with fierce anger.

"I am not," Yolande retorts, turning away with a haggard look of weariness. "I am only stating a simple fact—that you had chosen the company you preferred, and did not want mine."

"You are insulting me!" Dallas cries again, angrily reproachful. "You are accusing me, your lawful husband, of infidelity of heart and purpose toward you."

"There can't be infidelity where there never was fidelity," Yolande rejoins, in the same calm dreary fashion. "You never cared for me, even for one hour; your love was all given to some one else before I ever saw your face. How could you be faithful to me in heart, or mind, or feeling? I can't expect it."

"Don't say that!" Dallas exclaims hastily, his eyes softening. "You can expect it! My own little wife, why shouldn't your husband love you?"

"Love two women at the same time?" Yolande asks scornfully, staring at him through her tears. "No, thank you; I don't want a share in your affections."

"Yolande, I wish you wouldn't talk such horrible nonsense!" cries Dallas, incensed. "I wonder how you can stand there saying such cruel things to me," he adds reproachfully. "If I loved another woman before I married you, that is no reason why I should not learn to love you now, and why we should not live happily and comfortably together."

"Learn to love me!" Yolande repeats bitterly. "You need not give yourself the trouble! I have not the slightest intention of trying to learn to live happily and comfortably with you!"

"Do you intend then that we shall go on leading this cat-and-dog existence?" Dallas asks, his lips trembling with rage, but with a dull intangible pain at his heart. For, in some strange way, the love of this faithful passionate girl, whose heart he knows is truly his, even while she repulses his caresses and defies his authority, seems to have suddenly become a dearer and more desirable possession than Joyce Murray's fickle fondness.

"No," Yolande answers quietly. "I was coming to speak to you on that subject just now—to propose that we should part."

"Part!" he repeats, his face paling. "Certainly, if you desire it. No open scandal, you know! I won't permit that."

"You couldn't help permitting it if I were base and faithless to you, regardless of your feelings and of appearances!" retorts Yolande sharply and passionately.

"As I am to you, that means," Dallas says. "Very well. Since you think so badly of me, we had certainly better part. What do you intend doing—if I may inquire?"

"I wish to go back to Rutland Gardens, to aunt Keren, of course," Yolande answers, in a sad, half inaudible tone, her mind misgiving her, her conscience reproving her, her heart bewailing the last vanishing hope of her lost love. "I thought of going up to London to-morrow morning. I do not care to stay here. It — is — rather miserable for me, and — lonely."

There is a piteous quivering of the soft lips, and a tremor in the sorrowful voice, as Yolande turns her head away quickly.

Captain Glynne's eyes brighten with a smile.

"Poor little soul!" he tells himself. "She is trying dreadfully hard to steel herself against me."

"I must ask you to remain over to-morrow," he says, speaking in a different tone. "I cannot leave Pentreath as long as the Earl survives, for I have not seen him yet, though I believe he wishes to see me. So, as I must escort you, you see you must kindly defer your journey for two or three days longer."

"I can travel with Pitts," Yolande objects; but the voice is yielding and very unsteady, and the tip of her forefinger is most industriously tracing every curve and line of the carved chair back.

"No, you can't tavel with Pittsi" Captain Glynne responds shortly, his voice changing also, and the smile illumining his eyes growing brighter.

"I — I don't see why I cannot," Yolande says, with a last fierce mutinous effort.

"Because, whatever you think of me," he remarks gently, "I would not for the world offer you a public slight. We have not been married a month, Yolande, and, if I were to stay here and suffer you to go to London alone, it would publish our mutual unhappiness to everyone. You don't wish that, I am sure?"

Yolande shakes her head, and a smothered convulsive sob is his answer.

"You don't wish to punish me for my unfortunate involuntary wrongs towards you quite so severely, I hope?" he continues, with his hand laid on her arm — and a pretty arm it is, Dallas notices — a slim, girlish, pink-white arm, which he feels an almost irresistible longing to kiss. "If I met a woman before I met you, or heard of you, or saw you, and loved her first, you can scarcely lay it to my charge as a willful wrong, can you?"

"No," Yolande answers, listening only too gladly and eagerly to the dear voice which persuades her. "It was not that. I did not blame you for — for — loving her" — in a pitiful trembling whisper. "She is very pretty and elegant and attractive, I know well. But, if you had only told me the truth plainly and frankly! If you hadn't led me to believe that you cared for me!"

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

KING ABOUT TO VISIT IRISH

His Majesty Cruising in British Waters in Royal Yacht.

Off Wales Now and Stir at Cork Gives Impression of His Approach—He Might Spend an Hour, Ashore in Informal Visit—To Land at Velentia Island and See the Knight of Kerry—Nightly Orders Next Day's Course.

London, Aug. 25.—The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward and Queen Alexandra aboard, is now at Milford Haven, on the coast of Wales, opposite Queenstown, and only about one hundred and fifty miles from there. The yacht is expected to remain off Milford until to-day.

The impression is strong that the King will cruise along the south and west coast of Ireland, calling at Cork and other Irish ports.

No details regarding the cruise is known, as the King only orders the next day's course the night before.

The officials are preparing for a seemingly expected visit to Cork by making elaborate police arrangements.

Should the King land at Cork the visit will be informal, and he will drive from the quay to the exhibition returning within an hour.

The King is also expected to land on Valentia Island on a brief visit to the Knight of Kerry.

Tale of King's Double.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The Revue Hebdomadaire publishes a strange article in which it alleges that it is quite certain that King Edward did not go through the whole coronation ceremony personally, but that after the actual crowning a man who is the King's double and was clad in royal robes, personated Edward VII.

DROWNED LIKE RATS IN A TRAP.

Distressing Accident in the Josie Mine in British Columbia.

Rossland, B. C., Aug. 25.—Charles Hoskins and Josiah Lobb were drowned in the Josie Mine of the Le Roi No. 2 group Saturday morning, under circumstances that are rarely parallelod. The two men were at work in the bottom of the Josie shaft, 900 feet below the surface, where they were cutting a continuation of the shaft. In another section of the mine, a disused shaft is located, and this had filled with water until it contained many thousand gallons. The water broke through the wall of this section, penetrating through a seam of talc and greasy clay for a distance of 60 feet into the workings beneath. From the workings immediately beneath the water flowed in a cataract along the 300 foot level to the Josie shaft, where four men were at work. A shower of boulders was carried down in the cataract, and it was presumed that Hoskins and Lobb were stunned before being drowned. Their partners, Hocking and Thomas Strick, climbed the shaft through the falling water and escaped alive.

WITH HIS FAMILY GOD.

Marahajah of Jaipur Departs From England For His Home.

London. Aug. 25.—The departure of the Marahajah of Jaipur, the most important guest from India at the coronation, was an event redundant with odd and peculiar circumstances. The high priest walked in front of him muttering prayers, while four Hindoos carried the case and were surrounded by a personal escort. Other articles in the religious collection were half a dozen vessels resembling huge canteens, containing the sacred water of the Ganges. There were 150 members in the suite, and only a few of the members are empowered with the authority to touch these articles.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

A proclamation has been issued by the Ontario Government, officially setting apart Monday, Sept. 1, as a public holiday.

Ephraim Adair, of Blenheim, wanted on a serious charge, escaped from the county constables by jumping through a window.

Brown Mills, of Toronto Junction, a brakeman, fell off a car at Drumbo Saturday and broke his leg. It will not have to be amputated.

In a head-end collision between two cars on the Bay Shore Terminal Line at Norfolk, Va., Sunday afternoon, three people were killed and sixteen others badly injured.

William Brown, a young man, resident of Trail, B.C., who was on a visit to relatives at Sethbridge, N. W. T., was drowned while crossing Old Man's River at Kipp Saturday.

William McGill, nephew of J. McGill, Mimico, fell between the tender of the engine and a car whilst at Milton Saturday and had his leg broken in two places, between the knee and the foot.

Joseph Bergeron, a Montreal boy, was accidentally pushed into a tub of boiling water by his brother and was literally boiled alive. The child's back was so badly scalded that death came to his relief within an hour.

J. D. King, president of the J. D. King Company, boot and shoe manufacturers, Toronto, died on Saturday evening, after an illness of only a week. He came to Canada from Binghamton, N. Y., where he was born, over 40 years ago.

Suit Against the Government.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The suit which the Dominion Iron and Steel Company are bringing against the Dominion Government will begin at Sydney next Tuesday. Judge Burbridge of the Exchequer Court left Saturday by the Maritime Express, also Messrs. Aylesworth and Moss, who will represent the Government, while Messrs. Lash and Chysler will look after the interests of the company. The first session will be held in Sydney on Tuesday, after which the case will be adjourned to meet either in Montreal or Ottawa.

Big Removal Sale.

Next month we move into the store across the street now occupied by Mr. J. H. Mills, and from now until we start to move all cash purchases at the store will be subject to a good big discount.
CARPETS, CURTAINS, WALL PAPERS, PICTURES, ETC., at lower prices than you ever before bought similar goods. You can benefit by the sale if you are in need of anything this store contains.

T. P. BROWN
Carpets, Curtains, Wall Paper, Picture Framing.

Use Corticelli Skirt Protector.
Perfectly Straight Selvage
Firm and Even Textures
Peculiar Wearing Qualities.
When soiled a sponge or brush makes it clean again and no damage done.
CORTICELLI SKIRT PROTECTOR is a great favorite with careful dressers.

MISSIONARIES MURDERED.

Although Regarded as a Local Incident Murders Cause Uneasiness.

Shanghai, Aug. 23—A native evangelist, who has arrived here, confirms the reports of the murder of an Australian missionary named Bruce and an English missionary named Lewis at Chen-Chou, in Hu-Nan province. The missionaries disregarded the warnings of natives who foretold the outbreak. Although the murders are regarded in some quarters as being a local incident they are causing some uneasiness.

Edict Against Murderers.

Pekin, Aug. 24.—An edict has been issued ordering the murderers of an English missionary named Lewis and an Australian missionary named Bruce to be punished. The crimes were committed at Chen Chou, in Hu Nan Province. The Government expresses deep regret at the occurrence, and promises to make reparation.

Impaled on a Fork Handle.

Stratford, Aug. 25.—A frightful accident occurred at Ellice, as a result of which a young man named Peonkie lies in a critical condition. Peonkie was working on the farm of Mr. William Buck, near Wartburg, as a harvest hand. He had been building a load, and when he finished jumped off to the ground. He alighted on the handle of the fork, which had been stuck upright. The handle penetrated his body several inches. He was at once removed from the field to the house, and Dr. Paul of Sebringville summoned. The injury caused considerable internal bleeding.

Manchester Importer Ashore.

River Du Loup Wharf, Que., Aug. 25.—The Manchester Importer, outward bound, is ashore at White Island. She is said to have received considerable damage and is making water. The steamer is outward bound from Montreal to Manchester, and passed out at Quebec Friday evening. She has on board a general cargo and cattle. It is thought she went ashore during a fog, which is still very thick. Assistance has been asked for.

Bitten by a Rat.

Lindsay, Aug. 25. — Two little daughters of Mrs. Michael Houlihan were bitten by a large rat Saturday evening. Mary, a child of 8 summers, her younger sister, Annie, aged 4 years, and a baby, slept in one bed, and while enjoying their peaceful slumbers, a large rat became hungry and made good use of the opportunity by getting a taste of the children's blood. The countenances of the children will be disfigured for a few weeks, but serious results are not looked for.

Declares War on Pigeons.

Paris, Aug. 25.—An order has been issued to the troops in the department of the Hautes-Alpes to kill all pigeons crossing the frontier. This action has been taken by the Government because of the discovery of the fact that spies were utilizing pigeons to send reports from the country.

Veteran of War of 1812.

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 25. — Hiram Cronk is peacefully sleeping his life away. He is nearing his one hundred and third birthday, but it is doubtful whether he will live to celebrate it. He is the only living pensioner of the war of 1812.

Across Bering Strait.

Judge James Wickersham of Nome, Alaska, returned home a short time ago from a trip of scientific investigation. Standing on a piece of ice three miles from the shore at Cape Prince of Wales, Judge Wickersham could look across the Bering strait and view the continent of Asia.

TAFFETA COSTUMES.

All White Dresses of This Silk Very Smart.

There is a craze for taffeta petticoats of every description. They have almost entirely taken the place of the white cambric and muslin underskirts. The evening petticoats are most elaborate, some being made of peau de soie trimmed with lace and insertions, while the cut is quite as important as that of the outer skirt. When all is said, the taffeta skirt is not so much of a luxury as one would imagine, especially for the evening, when pale shades can be worn many times without their getting soiled. They save the hem of one's frock as well as the laundress' bill, for a lawn petticoat can seldom be worn twice without a visit to the washtub, which is likely to prove ex pensive, as the skirt of the hour i compounded of a multitude of fril and tucks.

WHITE VEILING DRESS.

In the picture there is a smart whit veiling gown. The waist has a tucke collar and short yoke; the rest of th fullness is laid in horizontal tucks an trimmed with three wide bands of lac applique. The sleeves are very fu and reach to the wrists. The ski clings about the hips and has tw gored ruffles around the bottom.

The hat which goes with this is scarlet geranium.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

His First Wish of Three.

"Now," said the good fairy, "I a going to grant you three wishes."

"Anything I mention I can have said the boy, who has been reared a modern business atmosphere.

"Anything."

"Well, to start with, I'd like to ha you guarantee several encores to ea wish."

One of Its Advantages.

His attempt to quiet the baby h necessitated a continuity of effort th was wearying.

"Well," he growled at last, "I c see one great advantage about the c dle of the deep."

"What is that?" she asked.

"It is an automatic rocker."

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

AUTUMN 1902

New Autumn Dress Goods.

We have received within the past few days a large shipment of

New Dress Materials

Direct from the fashion centres of Europe. They include all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this coming season.

In Broadcloths, Coverts, Vicunas, Zebelines,

Poplins, Homespuns, Friezes and Tweed Effects.

A word about the finish of all our Dress Goods this season—They are all finished in the celebrated "Ripley Finish." This particular finish is a perfect guarantee that the goods are thoroughly shrunk and will not spot.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

DIRECT IMPORTERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT G. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's Jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 216 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

"G. B." Chocolates are ever increasing in popularity and favor with the chocolate eating public. Over eighty varieties of this famous brand made. They are "The finest in the land." 60c a lb. mixed.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up.

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locals charged as less than twenty-five words.

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held this evening.

Prepare your children's feet to tread the path in search of knowledge by buying reliable school boots from Gorman's Shoe House.

Lewis Smith, of Murray, visited the city on Saturday and become intoxicated, causing his arrest. He contributed $2 to the city funds.

Since Saturday the police answered three calls, but no arrests were made.

Remember the D.S.B.G. and go on Luton's Excursion Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Glen Island and Glenora, per Aletha. a25-2t

The sound of the school bell will soon be heard in the land. Many mothers are purchasing reliable school boots for their children from Gorman's Shoe House.

Tabernacle Ladies' Aid excursion to Picton, Wednesday, Aug. 27th, per Steamer "Varuna." Boat leaves 8.30 a.m., giving four hours in Picton. Tickets, 25 cents. 23,25

Miss L. M. A. Thompson, Final Examination in Piano, also Harmony, Counterpoint and Musical Form, Toronto Conservatory of Music, will receive pupils after September 1st. Studio Front St., over Gorman's. Telephone 140. 4-11-18-25

The delivery rig of the Ritchie Co. came to grief on Victoria avenue on Saturday night. The horse, owing to the poor light, fell over some stones and broke the shafts of the rig. The waggon was given room in Ald. Chown's yard over Sunday.

A Belleville lady, who has travelled a great deal, said this morning: "I have been in many cities and have done much shopping, but I never received a greater bargain than that which I obtained when I bought a pair of kid low shoes at Gorman's Shoe House on Saturday for $1.00." "I made my selection from $2.00 and $1.50 low shoes, which Gorman's wish to clear out in order to make room for fall goods."

See Dr. M. Macklenburg about your eyes, no mistakes, no tiresome long tests, will tell you at a glance what the matter of the trouble is. Satisfaction guaranteed. Prices reasonable. M. Mecklenburg at McKeown's drug store, Monday to Saturday, Sept. 1 to 6 inclusive. 1t

EXTRA PANT VALUE.

The Oak Hall have just received two lines of men's trousers; one a dark tweed and the other a grey mixture, that are the best for $2.00 we ever offered. They are made in the latest cut, side and hip pockets and well finished. If you are needing a pair of odd trousers suppose you see these.

Many a man who appears to be a deep thinker merely has a new kind of pain and is wondering what caused it.

MAN WITH STOLEN MONEY WAS IN THE CITY

SHAVED OFF HIS MOUSTACHE AND TOOK A FEMALE COMPANION AWAY WITH HIM.

Mr. John Longway, a constable from Round Island Park, N.Y., was in the city on Saturday endeavoring to locate one Hilbert C. Howard, a steward in a hotel at the park who is wanted for the theft of $600. It appears that on Thursday last Howard went from the Island to Clayton, N.Y., to make a deposit of some cheques and money, and was also instructed to draw from the bank $600 for a millionaire who was a guest at the Park. Howard made the deposits all right and also secured the $600. This was the last seen of him.

From information the constable received he had reason to believe that Howard had come to this section of the country and such proved to be the case, as he arrived in this city on Friday, per steamer Corsican, and on Saturday morning left here on the early train for the west, taking with him a girl named May Simpson. Whilst in the city Howard is reported to have spent money very freely, and also disguised himself somewhat by having his moustache shaved off.

Howard is an unmarried man about 35 years of age, and is what is known as a "genuine sport." He is about 5 feet 10 inches in height and weighs about 140 pounds. A description of him has been furnished to the authorities along the line and every effort will be made to locate him.

HOWARD AT TORONTO.

It seems that an Island Park officer was sent after Howard when the hotel people learned they had been victimized. A despatch from Toronto says the officer learned that Howard got off at Belleville, remaining there until 4 o'clock on Saturday morning, when he boarded the train for Toronto, accompanied by a woman. The officer traced the pair to the Arlington Hotel in Toronto, arriving in Toronto yesterday morning. At the hotel he learned that the man and woman had reached the Arlington on Saturday, and were registered as "G. W. Wallace and wife, Montreal." They were still there when the Island Park officer arrived to arrest the man. If the latter had taken the precaution to notify the Toronto police that he was coming, Howard could not have escaped, but the American officer bungled things, with the result that his man got away.

Protected by Hotel People.

The officer said he saw Howard at the hotel, and waited outside his room for him to come out, but was ordered away by the hotel clerk, even being refused the use of the telephone to notify the detective department. He went to a store near-by and telephoned, but before Detectives Black and Porter arrived Howard, alias Wallace, had coolly walked out of the hotel, and all efforts to trace him have proved futile. The man went alone. The woman left shortly afterwards, and returned to Belleville last evening.

The officer said he left the hotel when told to go, being ignorant of Canadian law respecting such a case.

What the Hotel People Say.

Proprietor Ward, of the Arlington, said to The Mail and Empire last night that the statements of the American officer respecting his treatment at the hotel were exaggerated. But he declined to make a general statement of the facts of the case; that would, he said, be furnished the police by his lawyer, Mr. Mills, in the morning. He added that the arrest had not been permitted in the hotel because the officer had no right to make it. The officer himself had admitted this. He had not been put out, and Mr. Ward intimated that the action taken by the clerk was only the rightful protection due a guest at the hotel.

MR. THOMAS SULLIVAN ON TRADES UNIONS

TAKES ISSUE WITH A CORRESPONDENT WHO WROTE ON THE 16th INST.

Belleville, August 25th, 1902.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—There was a letter in The Intelligencer of Saturday the 16th inst. against trades unions, which affects the feelings of many of our fellow-citizens that are in favor of justice to laboring people, and I am asked by a good many to reply, and if you have no objections to giving me a little space for that purpose will proceed. I will say first that a letter signed "Employer" should not be noticed, because he hides his real name or signature, and would, if he could, make all good people that employ labor responsible for his letter and criticism. Now, sir, I employ labor sometimes, and when the word Employer is used as a signature it includes me also, and everybody knows that I am not in the habit of such tricks, and there are many employers that feel themselves liable to the suspicion of working people as being the employer that wrote that letter.

For the want of space I will not dwell any longer on this point. All I got to say is that if a writer's own signature is not good enough to sign he should have his name remodelled. 2nd. He takes his text from a sermon which he says Father O'Reilly, of Shenandoah, preached to his congregation, as to Mitchell and Fahey being organizers of unions, and caused the distress of the families of the strikers. If the good priest preached such a sermon, then I say what Father O'Reilly means, and what Mitchell and Fahey, and the unions are doing is just exactly the same thing, the relief of the poor families and the poor people.

From the moral education I got from Rev. Dr. Butler's Catechism, I should judge that a priest could not preach what the church does not teach. Ask any Separate School scholar what are the sins that cry to heaven for vengeance and you will be told: "Wilful murder and defrauding the poor."

If we had a Government at Ottawa or Washington that understands their responsibility there wouldn't be any strikes or unions. It's too bad that working people that help to make and fully pay to govern them, are obliged to provide a Government, through unions, to govern themselves.

THOS. SULLIVAN.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv. 23,25,62,27

Leak in the Main

There is a leak in the gas main which is carried over the upper bridge, and on Saturday night some person ignited the gas, which burned freely for some time. An employee of the gas company was called to the place to make the necessary repairs.

NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS AND EXHAUSTED.

Not sick enough to lay up, but you are out of sorts, blood is weak, nerves unstrung, kidneys deranged, vitality is low. You should take Ferrozone at once; it will enrich, strengthen and purify the blood, invigorate and pacify the nerves, and increase your energy, vitality and power. Ferrozone will renew your appetite and digestion, make you sleep soundly—in fact will make you well. Try Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50; at druggists, or J. S. McKeown's.

It is hard to believe that the good die young when you order lamb in a cheap restaurant.

Underpriced Soft Shirts

We have a few soft front shirts left after the season's trade—just odd lines, a few in each—which we desire to clear.

We are sure the gentlemen will recognize a bargain when we say these are of the best washable materials in newest stripes and figures and come from the most celebrated makers, having sold freely at from $1.00 to $1.25. These to clear.. 75c

NECKWEAR

Newest novelties in English Neckwear just opened. These are of knit silk and make very pretty and serviceable ties.

—Four-in-hand silk knit tie in Red, White, Black or mixed colors 35c

—Pure silk English string ties, ... 15c

—Black silk string tie, 50 inch, with large white old English initial, the very latest, ... 50c

RAIN COATS

WATERPROOF—For this showery weather a waterproof is just the right thing. Reliable makes can now be had at such moderate prices that it is the adverse of economy to be without one.

—Best English steam vulcanized waterproof coat, steel grey, with velvet collar, raglan cuffs, slip pockets, semi-fitting back, ventilated, a very stylish coat .. $7.00

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

Bargains in Ladies' Blouses

Any Colored, White or Fancy Stripe Blouse in the store at 75c, $1.00, $1.25 or $1.50 to clear in two days at

49c each

All Blouses at 50c will go at

29c each

AT—

McINTOSH BROS.

"Ye Olde Fashioned Style"

We have of late purchased about forty dozen old fashioned Alhumbru Blue Cups and Saucers. They are of the style that was all the go some fifty years ago, and if you want a nice old fashioned cup and saucer, the very kind your grandmother used to use, now is your chance.

They are selling at 10c each or $1.10 a dozen and they shall go fast at the prices marked.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1902. NO. 98

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents. GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE. Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

An Incorrigible Girl

A girl named Ina Norton was this morning sent by Magistrate Flint to the Industrial Refuge for girls, for an indefinite period. Ina is a daughter of Mr. Marshall Norton, of this city, and will not go to school or obey her parents. She is 13 years of age.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv

CITY COUNCIL WILL TAKE A HOLIDAY

Adjournment Last Night Was Made till Monday, September 22

Most of Last Night's Time Taken up in Discussing the Auditors' Account

Last night's session of the City Council was most harmonious. There was considerable oratory, principally with regard to the Auditors' account, which Ald. McFee wanted paid in full, while the remainder of the Council thought they should complete the work which they had been requested to do before their account was paid in full. It came out, in the course of the discussion, that, up to the time of the Butterfield trouble, the tax rolls had not been audited for thirty years. When the Council adjourned it did so for a month.

Those present when proceedings opened were: Mayor Graham, Ald. Panter, McFee, Sinclair, Galbraith, Sulman, Chown, Price and Cooper.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

Communications and Petitions.

From the Auditors, Messrs. Bird and Jeffers, stating that they would not accept the $100 each offered them for their services in auditing the receipts and expenditures of 1901. The letter set forth that the work remaining undone, which they were asked to complete, namely, to find the discrepancy in the rolls of 1899 and 1900, had never been before required of City auditors, and they did not think they should be asked to perform it. They therefore asked for the payment of their account in full, namely $125 each, and $17.50 for typewriting.—Laid on table.

The ladies of the W.C.A. wrote, asking the Council to pay $36.50 for the maintenance of the Babcock children.—Laid on table.

Certain ratepayers of Yeomans St. and Bridge St. west wrote asking that a culvert on the corner of Yeomans St. and Bridge St. west be deepened. —Laid on table.

An account of $1 from Jas. Malyea was laid on the table and passed.

Reports of Committees.

The reports of the various committees, as already published, were read, and Council went into Committee of the Whole on reports, Ald. Sinclair in the chair.

The report of the Executive Committee was passed without discussion.

The clause in the Public Works Committee's report which ordered the Street Surveyor to look into the matter of a drain on Burton St., asked for by Mr. N. Lazier, caused a long discussion.

The Street Surveyor said he had examined the property in question. It would cost about $85 to build the drain, in order to keep the water out of Mr. Lazier's cellar.

Ald. Chown thought they might better fill up some of the low land, then no drain would be needed, so far as the City's liability was concerned. They could not undertake to drain the water away from private cellars.

After some further discussion the matter was referred back to the Committee

The remainder of the Public Works Committee's report was adopted without discussion.

The petition of the Yeomans St. and Bridge St. ratepayers was discussed, and was finally referred to the Street Surveyor, he to report on it at the next meeting of the Public Works Committee.

The request of the W.C.A., re the Babcock children, was next taken up.

The Mayor said the children belonged to the City, and their parents were in durance or somewhere else. In the meantime the children could not be allowed to starve.

Ald. Chown moved that the amount asked by the W.C.A., $36.50, be ordered paid to them.

The motion carried.

The Auditors' Little Bill.

The letter from the Auditors was then taken up, and it was a good deal nearer midnight when the City Fathers had settled the matter to their satisfaction.

Ald. McFee thought the request of the Auditors should be granted, and their account paid in full. The city had wanted a thorough audit. He understood they had received one, and the Council should pay the Auditors a proper price for their work. He thought they had earned it.

The Mayor said the Auditors had not cleared up the discrepancy in the 1899 and 1900 rolls, which they were requested to do. The Auditors were mistaken in their statement as to the work on the 1899 and 1900 rolls being outside their regular duties. According to the agreement, they were to be paid whatever the Council deemed right. The understanding was that the City was to get a base audit, but they had not, in his opinion, received it yet, or there would be no discrepancy in the rolls of 1899 and 1900. His Worship explained how this discrepancy occurred, which, he said, was the outcome of more than one set of rolls being in a man's hands at one time. He thought, under the circumstances, the Auditors should be satisfied with the amount tendered them.

Ald. McFee said the Auditors' report had been before the Committee many times, and no exception had been taken to it.

The Mayor said he had stated in Committee that certain exceptions had been taken by him in regard to the report.

Ald. Panter pointed out that practically all the Auditors had done was to audit the receipts and expenditures of the city and the waterworks system for 1901. He did not think they were entitled to any large excess of pay over former auditors, who had received $60 and $75 respectively.

The Mayor said the Auditors had made a very careful audit, but the results, in his opinion, were no better than they usually received.

Ald. McFee said the audit had been accepted.

Ald. Galbraith said it had been accepted conditionally. When the conditions were complied with he thought the Auditors should receive a fair remuneration for their labors. At present the conditions had not been complied with, as the Auditors had not found the discrepancy, as they had been requested to do.

Ald. Cooper thought $100 was enough.

Ald. Wills came in.

The discussion raged for some time longer, Ald. McFee having the remainder of the Council against him, when at last the matter was settled by the following motion, which was moved by Ald. Galbraith, seconded by Ald. Sulman:

That the Auditors be paid their account of $125 each, providing they discover the discrepancy and straighten matters up on the rolls of 1899 and 1900, so that they can be returned to the City Treasurer.— Carried.

The committee rose and reported, the report being received and adopted.

Enquiries.

Ald. Panter asked if the Chairman of Fire, Water and Light had been notified by the Trenton Electric Company that lights on Sinclair and other streets had not been lit recently.

Ald. McFee said he had not, but he was keeping track of the lights in question.

Ald. Price asked if any steps had been taken to obtain damages for the loss of the street scraper, which had been burned some time ago.

The Solicitor was called in and said the Chairman of Public Works last year had made a settlement for $30, but the money had not been paid. He was instructed to take the necessary legal steps to recover the money.

Ald. Cooper asked why the weeds in the north end of Coleman Ward had not been cut down. Some of them were as high as his head. The weeds in all other parts of the city had been cut, why had Coleman Ward been neglected? It was a disgraceful state of affairs.

The Chairman of Public Works said the weeds grew very fast this year. He would see the City Surveyor about the matter.

Ald. McFee wanted to know when Pinnacle street would be cleaned.

Ald. Panter said he had urged the City Surveyor to go on with the work, and all the satisfaction he could get was that all the men were busy and it would be attended to as soon as possible.

The Mayor asked Ald. Sulman, who was Chairman of the Finance Committee in connection with the proposed Coronation Day demonstration, how matters stood with them financially after the recent fireworks exhibition.

Ald. Sulman said he had given his cheque for $85 to straighten the matter up.

Ald. Sinclair said Ald. Sulman was too modest. He had quietly shouldered the responsibility and paid the deficiency out of his own pocket. It was a shame that certain people who talked so loudly and shed crocodile tears should stand quietly by and see Ald. Sulman foot the bill. If there was a contingent fund or anything of that kind he thought they should reimburse Ald. Sulman.

The Mayor said they could deal with it under the head of motions.

Ald. Galbraith said two committees had once been appointed—one to investigate and report on a combined bridge and dam over the Moira at the north end of the City, and the other to see about revising the assessment of the city. Had those committees ever been called together?

Ald. Sinclair said that, as Chairman of the first Committee, he had addressed a communication to the County Council, asking that a committee from the latter body meet the Committee of which he was chairman, but as yet he had received no answer.

Ald. Chown, chairman of the Committee re revising the assessment, said his committee had not met because one of the members always seemed to be absent from the city at an opportune time.

Ald. Sulman said this was too important a matter to be allowed to die a natural death. He hoped to see the Committee meet and report to the Council.

Introduction of By-laws.

Ald. Chown introduced a by-law to provide for the building of a granolithic sidewalk on the south side of Bridge St., from Front St. to the Post office lane.

Ald. Panter and Sinclair went out to measure the sidewalk now on the south side of Bridge St., so as to get correct measurements for the new one, and while they were gone the Council talked in an informal way as to the advisability of appointing an Assessment Commission.

Ald. Price wondered if they could afford it.

Ald. Chown said a good man, if appointed, would easily save the City more than his salary.

Ald. McFee thought the time had arrived when the City should have a proper assessment, and by an Assessment Commissioner, who should be paid a proper salary, and whose account, when rendered, should not be disputed. After a proper assessment had been made the rolls could, for the next ten years, be copied again, but, in his opinion, they should have a proper assessment this year.

Ald. Panter and Sinclair returned, when the by-law for the granolithic sidewalk on Bridge St. was completed, passed through it various stages and numbered 1018.

Motions.

Ald. Chown moved that the Police Commissioners be requested to appoint one of the Police force as Sanitary Inspector, without additional salary or increase to the force. He had spoken to the Police Magistrate upon this subject, and Mr. Flint thought it was feasible.

The rules were suspended to admit of the introduction of Ald. Chown's motion, which was carried.

The Mayor gave notice that he intended to leave the city for a month. It would be necessary to appoint an acting-Mayor.

On motion of Ald. Sinclair, Ald. McFee was appointed acting-Mayor during the absence of Mayor Graham from the city.

Ald. Price moved, seconded by Ald Wills, that when the Council adjourns it stands adjourned till Monday, September 22, and that the Chairman of the Executive Committee be empowered to sign all necessary cheques in the interim, and that, during the absence of Ald. Chown from the city, Ald. Galbraith act as Chairman of the Executive Committee.—Carried.

The Mayor asked if anything was to be done in regard to reimbursing Ald. Sulman for the $85 he had advanced to cover the deficit of the Coronation Day Demonstration Committee.

Ald. Sulman desired that nothing be done till the report of the treasurer of the committee had been received.

Ald. Wills said something had been said about the Auditors next year having to check the tax rolls. He turned up the city by-laws and said the above was the duty of the City Treasurer. The Auditors simply had to audit the amounts received by the Tax Collector and Treasurer.

Ald. Galbraith said it was strange that they had Auditors and a City Treasurer and then occasionally had to hire a special man to complete the work.

Some further conversation ensued, and it was finally agreed that, if the Auditors declined to straighten out the discrepancy in the rolls of 1899 and 1900, the Chairman of the Executive be empowered to hire somebody to do the work, so that the rolls may be returned to the City Treasurer.

Council adjourned.

Two Hotel Keepers Fined

Messrs. Cooley and Ventress, two hotel-keepers of Trenton, were yesterday convicted of selling liquor during prohibited hours. Ventress was fined $20 and costs and Cooley, for a second offence, $40 and costs. Mr. P. J. M. Anderson acted for the prosecution.

UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF CATARRH.

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then its catarrh. Use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily and readicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed membranes, clears nose, throat and air passages by one application. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping, and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

R. T. of T.
Y. M. C. A.
A. O. U. W.
Public Library.
Moira Encampment.
Band Concert at Park.
Canadian Order of Foresters.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Light to moderate winds, fair and warm to-day and on Wednesday.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	67
12 m.	78
2 p.m.	81
3 p.m.	81

BAD RUNAWAY ACCIDENT ON SUNDAY EVENING

SEVERAL PERSONS INJURED, AND ONE OLD LADY MAY NOT RECOVER.

On Sunday evening a serious runaway accident occurred in the township of Sidney, whereby four persons were more or less injured. Mr. and Mrs. M. Shorey, Mrs. Lewis Phillips and Mrs. J. P. Sharp, all of Sidney, were visiting at the residence of Mr. Adam Parks, who resides near Wallbridge. In the evening the party were seated in a democrat wagon and had just left Mr. Parks' door when the horses became frightened and off they started at a lively gait through a lane. They had not proceeded far when all four occupants were thrown violently to the ground and the horses continued on their mad career, colliding with a buggy in which were seated Messrs. J. P. Sharp and L. Phillips. These gentlemen fortunately escaped with a few slight bruises, but the buggy was badly wrecked.

In the meantime Mr. Parks and family, having seen the occurrence, hastened to the scene and found their friends lying at the side of the lane. They were, as soon as possible, conveyed to the house and medical aid was summoned. Mrs. Sharp was the more seriously injured party, her shoulder blade being broken and her face and body badly bruised. She also complained of internal injuries. Being an aged lady (83 years) her injuries may prove fatal. The other members of the party also received severe bruises but no bones were broken.

Mrs. Sharp is the mother of Mr. Gilbert Sharp, of this city.

The frightened horses ran for a considerable distance before being stopped. The conveyance to which they were attached was wrecked.

NEARLY SWINDLED BY A SLICK STRANGER

SIDNEY FARMER NARROWLY ESCAPED THE FLIM-FLAM GAME.

One evening last week Mr. Ed. Vermilyea, a yeoman who resides in the township of Sidney, came near being taken in by a stranger. On the evening in question Mr. Vermilyea was driving towards the city when about a mile north of Albert College, on the Madoc road, he overtook a man who was walking towards town and carrying a valise. The stranger asked Mr. Vermilyea to give him a ride and he was accommodated. In the conversation which ensued the stranger referred to the horse behind which they were riding and said that he was desirous of purchasing a first-class pony. Mr. Vermilyea said he had such an animal and would dispose of it. This seemed to please the stranger and drawing a paper out of his pocket he commenced writing, and, handing it over to Mr. Vermilyea, asked him if he would write his name upon it. As it was nearly dark Mr. Vermilyea said he would when they came to the electric light which was near by. When the light was reached Mr. Vermilyea was about to sign his name when he noticed that it was a note he was asked to sign. The stranger seeing that his game was up jumped out of the vehicle and, taking his valise, made his escape.

SPEEDY CURE FOR CRAMPS AND COLIC.

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Special Corset Sale

For this week's Corset selling we will clear One Hundred and Seventy Eight (178) pairs B. & C., Crompton's, B. & I. and E. T. Corsets, all this season's New Styles including Summer Nets, Fine Sateens, and French Coutills in Girdles, Medium and Full Lengths

Here are the Prices at which these will sell.

All 50c and 75c Summer Corsets will sell for - - - 35c
75c White Steel Filled Corsets will sell for - - - 59c
60 pairs Straight Front $1.00 Corsets will sell for - - - 69c
40 pairs of $1.25 White and Drab Corsets will sell for - - - 95c
18 pairs of $1.50 White and Drab Corsets will sell for - - - $1.10

Sizes range from 18 to 30

Do You Want

A Fine Black Sateen Underskirt for 95c?

If you need a Skirt just look at the Fine Black Sateen Skirts as shown in our window, nicely made, full flounce and hemstitched for, Ninety Five Cents.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1902. NO. 9

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

An Incorrigible Girl

A girl named Ina Norten was this morning sent by Magistrate Flint to the Industrial Refuge for girls, for an indefinite period. Ina is a daughter of Mr. Marshall Norton, of this city, and will not go to school or obey her parents. She is 13 years of age.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv

CITY COUNCIL WILL TAKE A HOLIDAY

Adjournment Last Night Was Made till Monday, September 22

Most of Last Night's Time Taken up in Discussing the Auditors' Account

Last night's session of the City Council was most harmonious. There was considerable oratory, principally with regard to the Auditors' account, which Ald. McFee wanted paid in full, while the remainder of the Council thought they should complete the work which they had been requested to do before their account was paid in full. It came out, in the course of the discussion, that, up to the time of the Butterfield trouble, the tax rolls had not been audited for thirty years. When the Council adjourned it did so for a month.

Those present when proceedings opened were: Mayor Graham, Ald. Panter, McFee, Sinclair, Galbraith, Sulman, Chown, Price and Cooper.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

Communications and Petitions.

From the Auditors, Messrs. Bird and Jeffers, stating that they would not accept the $100 each offered them for their services in auditing the receipts and expenditures of 1901. The letter set forth that the work remaining undone, which they were asked to complete, namely, to find the discrepancy in the rolls of 1899 and 1900, had never been before required of City auditors, and they did not think they should be asked to perform it. They, therefore asked for the payment of their account in full, namely $125 each, and $17.50 for typewriting.—Laid on table.

The ladies of the W.C.A. wrote, asking the Council to pay $36.50 for the maintenance of the Babcock children.—Laid on table.

Certain ratepayers of Yeomans St. and Bridge St. west wrote asking that a culvert on the corner of Yeomans St. and Bridge St. west be deepened. —Laid on table.

An account of $1 from Jas. Malyea was laid on the table and passed.

Reports of Committees.

The reports of the various committees, as already published, were read, and Council went into Committee of the Whole on reports, Ald. Sinclair in the chair.

The report of the Executive Committee was passed without discussion.

The clause in the Public Works Committee's report which ordered the Street Surveyor to look into the matter of a drain on Burton St., asked for by Mr. N. Lazier, caused a long discussion.

The Street Surveyor said he had examined the property in question. It would cost about $85 to build the drain, in order to keep the water out of Mr. Lazier's cellar.

Ald. Chown thought they might better fill up some of the low land, then no drain would be needed, so far as the City's liability was concerned. They could not undertake to drain the water away from private cellars.

After some further discussion the matter was referred back to the Committee

The remainder of the Public Works Committee's report was adopted without discussion.

The petition of the Yeomans St. and Bridge St. ratepayers was discussed, and was finally referred to the Street Surveyor, he to report on it at the next meeting of the Public Works Committee.

The request of the W.C.A., re the Babcock children, was next taken up. The Mayor said the children belonged to the City, and their parents were in durance or somewhere else. In the meantime the children could not be allowed to starve.

Ald. Chown moved that the amount asked by the W.C.A., $36.50, be ordered paid to them.

The motion carried.

The Auditors' Little Bill.

The letter from the Auditors was then taken up, and it was a good deal nearer midnight when the City Fathers had settled the matter to their satisfaction.

Ald. McFee thought the request of the Auditors should be granted, and their account paid in full. The city had wanted a thorough audit. He understood they had received one, and the Council should pay the Auditors a proper price for their work. He thought they had earned it.

The Mayor said the Auditors had not cleared up the discrepancy in the 1899 and 1900 rolls, which they were requested to do. The Auditors were mistaken in their statement as to the work on the 1899 and 1900 rolls being outside their regular duties. According to the agreement, they were to be paid whatever the Council deemed right. The understanding was that the City was to get a bona audit, but they had not, in his opinion, received it yet, or there would be no discrepancy in the rolls of 1899 and 1900. His Worship explained how this discrepancy occurred, which, he said, was the outcome of more than one set of rolls being in a man's hands at one time. He thought, under the circumstances, the Auditors should be satisfied with the amount tendered them.

Ald. McFee said the Auditors' report had been before the Committee many times, and no exception had been taken to it.

The Mayor said he had stated in Committee that certain exceptions had been taken by him in regard to the report.

Ald. Panter pointed out that practically all the Auditors had done was to audit the receipts and expenditures of the city and the waterworks system for 1901. He did not think they were entitled to any large excess of pay over former auditors, who had received $60 and $75 respectively.

The Mayor said the Auditors had made a very careful audit, but the results, in his opinion, were no better than they usually received.

Ald. McFee said the audit had been accepted.

Ald. Galbraith said it had been accepted conditionally. When the conditions were complied with he thought the Auditors should receive a fair remuneration for their labors. At present the conditions had not been complied with, as the Auditors had not found the discrepancy, as they had been requested to do.

Ald. Cooper thought $100 was enough.

Ald. Wills came in.

The discussion raged for some time longer, Ald. McFee having the remainder of the Council against him, when at last the matter was settled by the following motion, which was moved by Ald. Galbraith, seconded by Ald. Sulman:

That the Auditors be paid their account of $125 each, providing they discover the discrepancy and straighten matters up on the rolls of 1899 and 1900, so that they can be returned to the City Treasurer.—Carried.

The committee rose and reported, the report being received and adopted.

Enquiries.

Ald. Panter asked if the Chairman of Fire, Water and Light had been notified by the Trenton Electric Company that lights on Sinclair and other streets had not been lit recently.

Ald. McFee said he had not, but he was keeping track of the lights in question.

Ald. Price asked if any steps had been taken to obtain damages for the loss of the street scraper, which had been burned some time ago.

The Solicitor was called in and said the Chairman of Public Works last year had made a settlement for $30, but the money had not been paid. He was instructed to take the necessary legal steps to recover the money.

Ald. Cooper asked why the weeds in the north end of Coleman Ward had not been cut down. Some of them were as high as his head. The weeds in all other parts of the city had been cut, why had Coleman Ward been neglected? It was a disgraceful state of affairs.

The Chairman of Public Works said the weeds grew very fast this year. He would see the City Surveyor about the matter.

Ald. McFee wanted to know when Pinnacle street would be cleaned.

Ald. Panter said he had urged the City Surveyor to go on with the work, and all the satisfaction he could get was that all the men were busy and it would be attended to as soon as possible.

The Mayor asked Ald. Sulman, who was Chairman of the Finance Committee in connection with the proposed Coronation Day demonstration, how matters stood with them financially after the recent fireworks exhibition.

Ald. Sulman said he had given his cheque for $85 to straighten the matter up.

Ald. Sinclair said Ald. Sulman was too modest. He had quietly shouldered the responsibility and paid the deficiency out of his own pocket. It was a shame that certain people who talked so loudly and shed crocodile tears should stand quietly by and see Ald. Sulman foot the bill. If there was a contingent fund or anything of that kind he thought they should reimburse Ald. Sulman.

The Mayor said they could deal with it under the head of motions.

Ald. Galbraith said two committees had once been appointed—one to investigate and report on a combined bridge and dam over the Moira at the north end of the City, and the other to see about revising the assessment of the city. Had those committees ever been called together?

Ald. Sinclair said that, as Chairman of the first Committee, he had addressed a communication to the County Council, asking that a committee from the latter body meet the Committee of which he was chairman, but as yet he had received no answer.

Ald. Chown, chairman of the Committee re revising the assessment, said his committee had not met because one of the members always seemed to be absent from the city at an opportune time.

Ald. Sulman said this was too important a matter to be allowed to die a natural death. He hoped to see the Committee meet and report to the Council.

Introduction of By-laws.

Ald. Chown introduced a by-law to provide for the building of a granolithic sidewalk on the south side of Bridge St., from Front St. to the Post office lane.

Ald. Panter and Sinclair went out to measure the sidewalk now on the south side of Bridge St., so as to get correct measurements for the new one, and while they were gone the Council talked in an informal way as to the advisability of appointing an Assessment Commission.

Ald. Price wondered if they could afford it.

Ald. Chown said a good man, if appointed, would easily save the City more than his salary.

Ald. McFee thought the time had arrived when the City should have a proper assessment, and by an Assessment Commissioner, who should be paid a proper salary, and whose account, when rendered, should not be disputed. After a proper assessment had been made the rolls could, for the next ten years, be copied again, but, in his opinion, they should have a proper assessment this year.

Ald. Panter and Sinclair returned, when the by-law for the granolithic sidewalk on Bridge St. was completed, passed through it various stages and numbered 1018

Motions.

Ald. Chown moved that the Police Commissioners be requested to appoint one of the Police force as Sanitary Inspector, without additional salary or increase to the force. He had spoken to the Police Magistrate upon this subject, and Mr. Flint thought it was feasible.

The rules were suspended to admit of the introduction of Ald. Chown's motion, which was carried.

The Mayor gave notice that he intended to leave the city for a month. It would be necessary to appoint an acting-Mayor.

On motion of Ald. Sinclair, Ald. McFee was appointed acting-Mayor during the absence of Mayor Graham from the city.

Ald. Price moved, seconded by Ald Wills, that when the Council adjourns it stands adjourned till Monday, September 22, and that the Chairman of the Executive Committee be empowered to sign all necessary cheques in the interim, and that, during the absence of Ald. Chown from the city, Ald. Galbraith act as Chairman of the Executive Committee.—Carried.

The Mayor asked if anything was to be done in regard to reimbursing Ald. Sulman for the $85 he had advanced to cover the deficit of the Coronation Day Demonstration Committee.

Ald. Sulman desired that nothing be done till the report of the treasurer of the committee had been received.

Ald. Wills said something had been said about the Auditors next year having to check the tax rolls. He turned up the city by-laws and said the above was the duty of the City Treasurer. The Auditors simply had to audit the amounts received by the Tax Collector and Treasurer.

Ald. Galbraith said it was strange that they had Auditors and a City Treasurer and then occasionally had to hire a special man to complete the work.

Some further conversation ensued, and it was finally agreed that, if the Auditors declined to straighten out the discrepancy in the rolls of 1899 and 1900, the Chairman of the Executive be empowered to hire somebody to do the work, so that the rolls may be returned to the City Treasurer.

Council adjourned.

Two Hotel Keepers Fined

Messrs. Cooley and Ventress, two hotel-keepers of Trenton, were yesterday convicted of selling liquor during prohibited hours. Ventress was fined $20 and costs and Cooley, for a second offence, $40 and costs. Mr. P. J. M. Anderson acted for the prosecution.

UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF CATARRH.

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then its catarrh. Use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily and readicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed membranes, clears nose, throat and air passages by one application. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping, and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

R. T. of T.
Y. M. C. A.
A. O. U. W.
Public Library.
Moira Encampment.
Band Concert at Park.
Canadian Order of Foresters.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Light to moderate winds, fair and warm to-day and on Wednesday.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	67
12 m.	78
2 p.m.	81
3 p.m.	81

BAD RUNAWAY ACCIDENT ON SUNDAY EVENING

SEVERAL PERSONS INJURED, AND ONE OLD LADY MAY NOT RECOVER.

On Sunday evening a serious runaway accident occurred in the township of Sidney, whereby four persons were more or less injured. Mr. and Mrs. M. Shorey, Mrs. Lewis Phillips and Mrs. J. P. Sharp, all of Sidney, were visiting at the residence of Mr. Adam Parks, who resides near Wallbridge. In the evening the party were seated in a democrat wagon and had just left Mr. Parks' door when the horses became frightened and off they started at a lively gait through a lane. They had not proceeded far when all four occupants were thrown violently to the ground and the horses continued on their mad career, colliding with a buggy in which were seated Messrs. J. P. Sharp and L. Phillips. These gentlemen fortunately escaped with a few slight bruises, but the buggy was badly wrecked.

In the meantime Mr. Parks and family, having seen the occurrence, hastened to the scene and found their friends lying at the side of the lane. They were, as soon as possible, conveyed to the house and medical aid was summoned. Mrs. Sharp was the more seriously injured party, her shoulder blade being broken and her face and body badly bruised. She also complained of internal injuries. Being an aged lady (83 years) her injuries may prove fatal. The other members of the party also received severe bruises but no bones were broken.

Mrs. Sharp is the mother of Mr. Gilbert Sharp, of this city.

The frightened horses ran for a considerable distance before being stopped. The conveyance to which they were attached was wrecked.

NEARLY SWINDLED BY A SLICK STRANGER

SIDNEY FARMER NARROWLY ESCAPED THE FLIM-FLAM GAME.

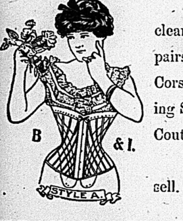
One evening last week Mr. Ed. Vermilyea, a yeoman who resides in the township of Sidney, came near being taken in by a stranger. On the evening in question Mr. Vermilyea was driving towards the city when about a mile north of Albert College, on the Madoc road, he overtook a man who was walking towards town and carrying a valise. The stranger asked Mr. Vermilyea to give him a ride and he was accommodated. In the conversation which ensued the stranger referred to the horse behind which they were riding and said that he was desirous of purchasing a first-class pony. Mr. Vermilyea said he had such an animal and would dispose of it. This seemed to please the stranger and drawing a paper out of his pocket he commenced writing, and, handing it over to Mr. Vermilyea, asked him if he would write his name upon it. As it was nearly dark Mr. Vermilyea said he would when they came to the electric light which was near by. When the light was reached Mr. Vermilyea was about to sign his name when he noticed that it was a note he was asked to sign. The stranger seeing that his game was up jumped out of the vehicle and, taking his valise, made his escape.

SPEEDY CURE FOR CRAMPS AND COLIC.

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Special Corset Sale



For this week's Corset selling we will clear One Hundred and Seventy Eight (178) pairs B. & C., Crompton's, B. & I. and E. T. Corsets, all this season's New Styles including Summer Nets, Fine Sateens, and French Coutills in Girdles, Medium and Full Lengths

Here are the Prices at which these will sell.

All 50c and 75c Summer Corsets will sell for	35c
75c White Steel Filled Corsets will sell for	59c
60 pairs Straight Front $1.00 Corsets will sell for	69c
40 pairs of $1.25 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	95c
18 pairs of $1.50 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	$1.10

Sizes range from 18 to 30

Do You Want

A Fine Black Sateen Underskirt for 95c?

If you need a Skirt just look at the Fine Black Sateen Skirts as shown in our window, nicely made, full flounce and hemstitched for, Ninety Five Cents.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

SURPRISE
STE. CROIX SOAP MFG CO.
ST. STEPHEN N.B.
SOAP.

You Can Buy
BEST FOR WASH DAY.
BEST FOR EVERY DAY.
of any Grocer

SATISFACTORY SCHOOL SHOES.

GORMAN'S
THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

SCHOOL SHOES FOR YOUR BOYS

Mothers bring the boys in with you and let us fit them with NEAT, DURABLE, EASY school boots—bring the girls, too—we have just the boots to please them—the kind which will come up to your standard of quality.

Boys' neat, durable lace boots, sizes 1 to 5—at $1.00, $1.25, and $1 50

Youths' lace boots—strictly reliable, at 90c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1 50

Boots For All the Children.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR
Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn
Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon
Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
P te de Foie
Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

☞ Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate ☜

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

☞ Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.
Est'd 1871
Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!
Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.
The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

$75,000 LOST IN TWO HOURS

Rossland, British Columbia, Visited by Serious Fire.

The Conflagration Eats Up 15 Stores and 30 Residences—Fortunately the Southwest Wind Changed, or the Tale Might Have Been the Complete Wiping Out of the City—Started in a Restaurant and Jumped the Street.

Rossland, B. C., Aug. 26.—In two hours, yesterday afternoon, fire did $75,000 damage in the business and residential sections of Rossland. Earlier in the day it was believed that the loss would be substantially greater than this, but close scrutiny of the facts indicates that the lesser estimate is as nearly accurate as can be obtained for several days.

The fire broke out at 3 o'clock in the establishment of P. Burns & Co., butchers, two doors south of First avenue on Spokane street, where a fire was in use for rendering lard. The blaze was not discovered until it had secured considerable headway, and by the time the alarm was turned in, flames were issuing from the roof. The department was on the ground quickly, and water was playing on the flames two minutes after the alarm sounded.

The Burns building was in the centre of a solid block of wooden buildings, and the strong breeze prevailing, speedily spread the flames to north and south, despite the torrents of water thrown by the firemen. In 20 minutes from the first outbreak, the fire had spread north into the Anaconda Saloon, west to the M. and M. Saloon, and south to the Coeur d'Alene Saloon, while Thompson's Restaurant, immediately adjoining the Burns block, was involved with the Burns place in the first outbreak.

Within the space of time indicated the fire had jumped to First avenue to some large three-storey buildings used as stores, and these were totally wiped out within an hour of the outbreak. The fire was spreading east rapidly, but the wind changed and wiped out half a dozen business houses on that side, together with all the residences in the block.

The fire started about the intersection of blocks 13, 16, 27 and 28 of the city town site. The burned areas comprise the north half of 13, the southwest corner of 16, the northeast corner of 27, and the northwest corner of 28. Adjoining the Coeur d'Alene Saloon, but separated by a 30-foot vacant lot, is the International Hotel, and Music Hall, an immense wooden structure. This was in imminent danger for an hour or more, and, at one juncture, was given up as doomed.

The sudden change in the wind saved the big building, and an important business section, as the burning of the Music Hall would have carried with it the whole of block 28, and run the damage into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The only casualty was an accident to Chief Guthrie, of the city brigade, who was struck on the cheek by a live wire, but it did not burn or render him unconscious. This led to a report that the chief had been killed, but he recovered immediately upon reaching the fire hall, and resumed direction of the brigade.

At one juncture it was believed that the buildings would have to be dynamited to save the city, and a considerable amount of giant powder was brought down from the War Eagle Mine, having been handed over by the company on request, which alternative was not resorted to, however. Ten constables were sworn in to preserve order and protect the thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise of every description scattered about the streets, where it had been hurriedly deposited in the first panic.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Monday.

Montreal 5, Toronto 4.
Newark 4, Providence 1.
Rochester 9, Buffalo 6.
Jersey City 13, Worcester 6.

National League, Monday.

Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 2.
Chicago 5, Boston 4.
Pittsburg 8, Brooklyn 6.

American League, Monday.

Baltimore 21, Chicago 6.
Philadelphia 7, Cleveland 3.
Boston 8, St. Louis 0.
Washington 8, Detroit 6.
Washington 10, Detroit 7.

Fred. Rice's Confession.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Crown Attorney Curry says that Fred Lee Rice confessed to him that he (Rice) had fired the shot which killed Constable Boyd. The confession was not used against him at the trial because the prisoner had not been given the usual warning.

It is also said that he had a lancet with which he could have committed suicide, but he gave it up to the officer of the law the day before he was hanged. This is supposed to be for love of his mother or because of his newly awakened religious convictions.

Two Killed by Sunstroke.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Alexander Martin, a boy, was killed while playing near his home in Brandon.

Miss Gardiner, 15 years of age, of Rapid City, received a fatal stroke while visiting friends at Pendennis.

May Lose His Life.

Woodstock, Aug. 26. — William Crawford, who formerly carried mail to Folden's Corners, was thrown from a horse yesterday and his skull was fractured. There are but slight hopes of his recovery.

At the King's Hands

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—It was learned here yesterday that Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, received the investiture of knighthood at the hands of His Majesty the King personally.

TRIED TO BLIND HUSBAND.

A Woman's Horrible Deed in Her Death Agonies.

Toronto, Aug. 26. — Mrs. Jennie Smith, 56 Walton street, died at 2.15 o'clock this morning at St. Michael's Hospital, from carbolic acid poisoning. The woman swallowed part of the contents of a four ounce bottle of poison and threw the balance over her husband because he had been drinking early in the evening with some friends in the house and had used bad language to her.

The couple, about 25 years of age each, have rooms in the Walton street house. It is understood both had been drinking. Shortly after midnight the landlady was awakened by cries, and, running to Smith's room, she beheld a pitiable sight. The woman was in bed suffering untold agony, while the husband was crying also with pain. Smith said that shortly after they had retired his wife suddenly swallowed a quantity of the acid, and threw the remainder of the bottle into his face.

FRENCH PREMIER TO RESIGN.

M. Combes Considers He Has Fulfilled Mission Entrusted to Him.

London, Aug. 26.—In a despatch from Paris the correspondent there of The Daily Chronicle, says M. Combes, the French premier, has announced his intention of resigning on the reopening of the Chamber of Deputies. M. Combes considers that he has fulfilled the mission entrusted to him by President Loubet in carrying out the law relating to unauthorized congregationalist schools, and, according to the correspondent, he will now advise the president to call M. Rouvier, Minister of Finance, or M. Waldeck-Rousseau, the former premier, to succeed him.

AN EMBASSY TO MORGAN.

Kaiser Sends a Royal Commission to Discuss Trade Matters.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—A royal commission, headed by Count Tiele-Winckler, an owner of mines and a leading financier of Germany, leaves here within a few days for the United States.

The Count will meet Mr. Morgan and discuss the subject of friendly relations with the German industrial and commercial interests.

The Count is commissioned by the Kaiser to make this trip. It is understood that the meeting of the capitalists will be an outcome of the interview between the Kaiser and Mr. Morgan at Kiel.

Coronation Soldiers Returned.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Seven satisfied soldiers who received the salute of the King as representatives of Canada, returned to this city yesterday. They were the majority of the second Canadian coronation contingent and although their second stay in England was only a short one, lasting but nine days, they all aver that it was a pleasurable continuation of the first. The decoration presented by the Prince of Wales for the coronation honor is a ribbon with a navy blue stripe in the centre, and a hairline white stripe on the outside of two blue stripes annexed to the red stripe.

Wanted to Hang Motorman.

New York, Aug. 26.—Because one of a party of 15 Italians was run over at Grove avenue and Potter place by a trolley car, the men in the party attacked the motorman. John O'Neill, pulled him off the car and beat him, and attempted to drag him to a tree with the intention of hanging him. Then the passengers of the crowded car interfered, and fighting ensued, but police reserves appeared, drove the crowd of 2,000 away, which took nearly an hour, and rescued O'Neill.

To Welcome Premier Barton.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The Board of Trade have arranged through the Hon. G. W. Ross for a banquet to be given to Sir Edmund Barton, Premier of the Commonwealth of Australia, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 3. Sir Edmund will be in Toronto from the 1st to the 4th of September, and his other engagements will include a visit to the Exhibition, and possibly attendance at the banquet on Sept. 1 to Lord Dundonald.

Earthquakes Across the Sea

London, Aug. 26.—Mount Alto, in Calabria, has been in eruption since last Friday and is emitting showers of stones and flames.

"Violent earthquakes were felt last Friday," cables the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, "at Andishan and Paviovsk, near St. Petersburg."

Mount Alto is in the extreme southwest of Italy, "the toe of the boot," near the town of Reggio.

"IRON-OX
TABLETS

are by far the most attractively put up remedy I have ever seen, and the immediate favor they have found with my customers surpasses anything in my experience. I can also speak most highly of the medicine itself.

I heartily wish you the success which I am sure you will have."—WM. H. GARDNER, Druggist, Bridgeport, Conn.

They Cure Constipation and Indigestion.
50 Tablets, 25 Cents.

HARVEST IS UNDER WAY

Much Cutting of Wheat Already Done in Manitoba.

Grain Yield Will Exceed Thirty Bushels to the Acre, With Fine Prospects—Employment For All Who Go—The Cutting in Many Parts of the Province Will Reach the Proportion of 15 Per Cent.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Weather for the past two days has been fair and clear, and every one interested in the Western Canadian harvest feels assured that this year's enormous crop will be safely garnered. Reports from all over the province and Territories indicate that cutting is well advanced. At some points it is completed, particularly in Southern Manitoba.

In the Regina district upwards of ten thousand acres, or 15 per cent. of the crop, are now cut. These are principally on the high and lighter land, but the binders have attacked the heavy lands and by Wednesday harvesting will be general.

The yield is heavy and is estimated to average 37 bushels, with some record-breakers. The quality, too, is splendid, and there has been no damage by lodging either by wind, rain or hail.

In Qu'Appelle district the wheat harvest starts this week and will be general by September 1. The estimate of 25 bushels per acre promises to be away below the mark—35 bushels per acre will be nearer the average.

Cutting the Largest Crops.

The cutting of the largest crop in the history of Moosejaw will begin this week. The last four days have been ideal weather for ripening.

At least 80 per cent. of the wheat in Emerson district is cut. Many farmers have all the grain cut and are stacking. Prospects are that the average yield in this district will be 27 bushels to the acre.

There is no scarcity of twine, and there is a sufficient number of farm hands here to handle the crop, the Galician settlement of Sturatburn giving ample supply.

Cutting around Brandon has begun on lighter land, but it will not be general until Thursday or Friday. Figures as to the probable yield of wheat vary greatly—between 25 and 30 bushels seems to be the safest estimate.

Yielding Thirty Bushels to Acre.

The crop around Mamiota, in Northwest Central district, promises a magnificent yield. The average in this district last year was 30 bushels to the acre, and it is anticipated this year the yield will be fully five bushels an acre larger. There are numerous fields which if safely harvested will yield from 40 to 50 bushels to the acre.

The recent rains, while retarding ripening to some extent, have been a benefit to the wheat.

Wheat cutting will not be general here until about the end of the week, although in odd places farmers have already commenced operations.

Good Demand For Help.

There is a good demand for farm help and no men need be idle from now until threshing is over.

Twenty per cent. of wheat is cut around Baldur, in Southern Manitoba. The farmers are all cutting and by Saturday 90 per cent. of the wheat will be cut. The yield of wheat is about 20 bushels. Hired help is scarce and Eastern farm hands are asking $50 a month. The oat crop is fair and barley and speltz are good.

Harvesters Help Themselves.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—A report from White Mouth, on the C.P.R., says the storekeepers there suffered considerably on Saturday night. A train load of harvesters arrived there, and, finding the store closed, forced their way inside and helped themselves.

Gone Across the Line.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26. —About one hundred of the Ontario farm laborers have gone to North Dakota. These left Saturday. Some have also driven across country from Deloraine. Interesting developments may follow for the Alien Labor Law may be invoked.

Record Wheat Crop.

Windsor, Aug. 26.—Frank Reaume, a Sandwich East farmer, harvested 2,400 bushels of wheat from a 70-acre field. This is believed to be a record for Essex County.

Tom Jones Lynched.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 26. — Tom Jones, a negro, has been lynched. He was caught by a posse of three, taken to Mrs. Smith's house and identified. He confessed his crime and gave up a razor he had stolen from his victim's husband. He was put in a barn to await the arrival of the sheriff, but ten men, disguised as negroes, took him out and hanged him.

An Independent Service.

London, Aug. 26.—Beginning Sept. 1, the postoffices of Great Britain will accept parcels for transmission to the United States. The various attempts of the British Government to conclude a parcel post arrangement with the United States have resulted in failure, the British Postal Department has arranged this independent service.

For the Referendum.

Hamilton, Aug. 26.—A meeting of persons in the liquor business—brewers, hotelkeepers and shop license holders—was held yesterday afternoon in connection with the referendum. Harry Maxey presided. It was decided to co-operate with the Ontario Licensed Victuallers' Association.

Opens on Sept. 4.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The royal commission appointed to enquire into the tobacco trade will open its sittings in Ottawa on Sept. 4.

You drink your Own Heatlh when you drink Abbey's Salt. Extracted from the juice of pure fruits, it is both a giver and preserver of health.
Abbey's Effervescent Salt
is recommended by physicians because it purifies the blood, cleanses the stomach, invigorates the liver and gently regulates the bowels. It keeps the head clear, the eyes bright and the complexion good.
Insist on "Abbey's."

France Was Ready to Fight.

Paris, Aug. 26.—A yellow book recently issued by the French Health Department, makes the revelation that at the time of the Fashoda dispute with Great Britain, in 1898, France, fearing war with Great Britain, concentrated thirty thousand troops at Cherbourg, where a serious outbreak of fever occurred among the soldiers. A thousand cases were reported and there were one hundred and twenty deaths.

Strike in Hemp Trade.

Manila, Aug. 26.—In spite of the arrest of the labor agitators who caused the recent strike among the cigarmakers, the Chinese and Filipinos engaged in the hemp industry are getting ready to strike. They demand an increase in their wages of 66 per cent.

The cholera epidemic in Manila is disappearing.

Atlantic Liner Disabled.

New York, Aug. 26.—The German tank steamer Diamant, from Shields for this port, while passing Fire Island yesterday afternoon signalled: "Passed disabled steamer Fuerst Bismarck with thrust shaft broken." No particulars were signalled.

Drops Christian Science.

Manila, Aug. 26.—Mrs. Chaffee, who has been ill for several months with dysentery and who has been taking the Christian Science treatment, has now agreed to call in physicians.

Strike in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Forty plumbers have gone out on strike in Ottawa. They want 25½ instead of 22½ cents per hour, and better regulations.

Gotti's Calling.

Rome, Aug. 26.—Cardinal Gotti, the new perfect of the Propaganda has convoked the congregation of the Propaganda for Sept. 1.

Adulterated Bread.

Oporto, Aug. 26.—Some bread analyzed here contained 53 per cent. China clay.

IS YOUR SUMMER LIFE MADE MISERABLE BY NERVOUS DEPRESSION, SLEEPLESSNESS AND A DREAD OF COMING DISEASE!

CARRY HOME A BOTTLE OF
PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND,
USE IT, AND NOTE ITS QUICK AND HAPPY EFFECTS.

If you are one of the summer unfortunates made miserable, unhappy and despondent through nervous depression, sleeplessness and general physical weakness, we sincerely urge you to carry home to-day a bottle of Dr. Phelps' marvellous discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, and test its health and strength-giving powers.

Paine's Celery Compound is a prompt and effective banisher of summer "blues." It rescues shaky, enfeebled nerves from prostration and wreck; it removes those deathly feelings of exhaustion so common in the hot weather; it gives energy and a new life to all weakened and nervous men and women. Mrs. J. H. Pierce, King St., St. John, N.B., writes thus:

"I consider it a duty to recommend your Paine's Celery Compound to suffering humanity. I suffered terribly from constipation, weakness, nervousness, kidney and liver troubles and was also subject to those tired, weary feelings, and had a slight touch of skin disease. The first dose of Paine's Celery Compound relieved me; and now, after having taken three bottles, I feel much better. I am not constipated, have no weak feelings, and I eat and sleep well. It is a grand remedy, and I hope all who read this may benefit by my recommendation.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—9 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT.
J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.,)
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE
At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian	Est'd 1821
The North America,	Est'd 1792
Quebec,	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS. Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life Insurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oct-d&w

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants' Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville,
'Phone 168.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont,

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office,
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St,
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

Some Very Old Pronunciations.

"Laylock," the pronunciation of lilac once very common, has now almost entirely passed away. It is hardly likely to be found in dictionaries or glossaries except such as profess to give provincial variations of spelling. Sixty years ago, however, it was by no means a provincialism or a mark of the uneducated. I well remember that Walter Savage Landor always spoke of "laylocks," as did my own mother and most people of that generation. It belonged to the age, now almost entirely passed away, which called Rome "Room," gold "goold," St. James "St. Jeames," with other variations of sound now deemed vulgar. I have heard my father say that George IV. always spoke of "my loyal city of Lunnon," while "obleeged" and "cowcumber" were heard from the most refined mouths.

I can distinctly remember on the first Sunday in Advent, 1825, hearing the officiating clergyman at St. Mary Woolnoth give out sonorously when reading the first lesson "like a lodge in a garden of cowcumbers," and my dear old rector, Julius Charles Hare, twenty years later adopted the same pronunciation, saying at table, "Obleege by passing the cowcumber." "Vilets," as a dissyllable for violets, was equally common among people of good education.

Merely Symptoms.

"Life is a failure," said the tired looking passenger in a grave and faraway voice. "Man is a fraud, woman a bore, happiness a delusion, friendship a humbug; love is a disease, beauty a deception, marriage a mistake, a wife a trial, a child a nuisance; good is merely hypocrisy; evil is detection. The whole system of existence—life, morality, society, humanity and all that—is a hollow sham. Our boasted wisdom is egotism; generosity is imbecility. There is nothing of any importance but money. Money is everything, and, after all, what is everything? Nothing. Ar-r-r-r-r!"

"Glad to meet you, sir," said the thin little man with the ginger hued whiskers, extending his hand cordially to the speaker. "I have the dyspepsia pretty bad at times myself."

Australia's Stony Desert.

The great stony desert of north Australia was discovered by Captain Sturt, an Australian explorer, in 1845-46. It is north of the river Darling and is about 300 miles long and 100 broad, consisting of sandy dunes or ridges. Its want of trees, except along the creeks, gives the country a sterile appearance. These ridges were probably formed by the joint effect of winds and a gradually retiring sea.

According to Captain Sturt, these waters were gradually lost by evaporation or carried to some undiscovered sea. The only vegetation, growing scantily, are prickly acacias in full bloom, all of stunted growth. Water is scarce except in the creeks which are sheltered, and this is generally brackish. Few travelers care to traverse this inhospitable desert.

Sucking Poisonous Wounds.

Among all people the sucking of the wound has ever been considered the most effective remedy of immediate application for snake bites. In Africa a cupping instrument is employed in emergencies of the kind to draw out the poisoned blood. The ancients followed the same methods, and when Cato made his famous expedition through the serpent infested African deserts he employed many savage snake charmers, called "psylli," to follow the army. They performed many mysterious rites over men who were bitten, but the efficacy of their treatment appears to have consisted in sucking the wounds.

Legs so Swelled He Couldn't Walk

KIDNEY AND URINARY TROUBLES WERE FOLLOWED BY DROPSY — A PERFECT CURE BY

The case of Mr. James Treneman, the well-known butcher, of 536 Adelaide St., London, Ont., is another proof that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are effective in the most severe and complicated diseases of the kidneys.

The double action which this famous prescription has on both the kidneys and liver is in a large measure responsible for its wonderful curative effects. When there are backache, frequent, difficult or painful urination, dropsical swellings, biliousness, constipation or stomach derangements, you may depend upon it that the kidneys are clogged and the liver sluggish.

It is at such times that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prove themselves prompt to give relief and certain to effect a cure. The evidence to prove this fact is simply overwhelming:—

Mr. James Treneman states: "Two years ago I was laid up with kidney disease and urinary troubles. Besides the pain and inconvenience caused by these troubles I became dropsical, and my legs would swell up so that I could scarcely go around at all. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I procured a box and continued the use of this valuable medicine until now I can say for a certainty that I am entirely cured. I never took any medicine that did me so much good, and am firmly convinced that if it had not been for this medicine I would not be working to-day."

As a family medicine of tested and known worth, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have never been approached. They act directly on the kidneys and liver, regulate the bowels and ensure the perfect action of the digestive and filtering systems. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

PAYING RED ALLIES.

INTERESTING CEREMONY WITNESSED AT ST. PETER'S RESERVE.

Great Annual Festival at "Tent Town" —A Motley Crowd—A Point of Especial Interest—The Dance—The Chief's Advice—A Pleasing Scene—Pupils of St. Paul's Industrial School in Exercises and Evolutions.

It is a charming excursion, all too short, from the Selkirk dock on a beautiful midsummer afternoon aboard the S. S. Premier to "Tent Town," as the treaty grounds at St. Peter's reserve are so aptly termed in local vernacular, says a writer in Winnipeg Free Press. The fresh breeze from the lake sweeps up the river, making the sultry sun enjoyable as the steamer threads its way between the forest-clad banks and through the murky waters of the Red, revealing at every turn a landscape of loveliness where every spot is surrounded by a halo of romance of the days of the voyageur and the pioneer.

After the confines of the reserve are passed the effects of civilization on the aborigines become at once apparent and impressive. The rich land of the reserve—for it is indeed a choice section of the country—is dotted with the comfortable, little, neat, white-washed log cabins each surrounded with its patch of corn and potatoes. They are strikingly different from the smoke-tanned tepee of the nomadic children of the prairie.

A trip of six miles through this interesting scenery brings the sightseer to "Tent Town" where the dusky wards of the nation and allies of the King are paid according to the stipulations of their treaty. Every man, woman and child born in legitimate wedlock is entitled to participate if he acknowledges the reserve as his home and is bound by ties of blood to the denizens thereof. The treaty grounds are beautifully situated on a gently undulating slope from the west bank of the river and are permanently marked by the presence of the council chamber, a building located some distance from the water. The sight those grounds present at treaty time is really picturesque to those to whom it is novel. The banks are lined with boats, canoes and big one, two or even three masted schooners built and sailed by the Indians of the upper lakes who have journeyed down to be present at the great tribal festival of this portion of the Crees. The grounds can be compared only with an exaggerated idea of a circus or the side-show portion of the county fair. A village of canvas springs up like a mushroom where the visiting population of several thousand souls are housed and accommodated; where the noisy trader who, like the circus fakir, seems to be everywhere and always intent on securing possession of the crisp new treaty bank notes from their guileless possessors in exchange for gaudy trinkets, showy prints, shopworn, shady dress goods and ready-made clothing from the bargain counters: circus lemonade, lunches, fruit and confectionary. It is a perfect pandemonium. The avaricious eyes of the sons of Abraham fairly glisten as they rake in the easy ducats for the "tiamonds" and "vatches."

It is a motley crowd that throngs the grounds. There is the old generation represented by one or two irreconcilable braves of bygone days who cling to the customs of youth tenaciously and scorn the finery and luxury of civilized clothes for a blanket, moccasins and a handful of feathers. The councillors, austere and reservedly sedate, are easily distinguishable by their plug hats and the airs of authority that they assume, one of them particularly so because of his striking resemblance to Sir John A. Macdonald in facial expression. The likeness is really remarkable. There are the fishermen from the upper lakes, cow-boys from the plains and young men and women fashionably attired. The last are the younger portion of the community who have experience the benefits of a training in the industrial schools. Many of them follow the trades or serve behind the counters and carry but faint traces of a dash of the Indian blood. Hundreds of children are running, crawling and yelling in all directions. Their number is equalled only by that of the dogs among which are many big capacious rapacious, voracious, mendacious huskies, the terror of the stranger and everyone they come in contact with. Untamable and irreconcilable brutes they are, useful only for the dog trains which supply the outposts of civilization in the long winters, or to bring in the harvest of fish. As predatory as their kinsmen the wolves, on the upper reserves a stranger takes great risk if he leaves his tent unaccompanied after nightfall. At Fort Alexander they have been known to kill large yearling cattle and Father Vassar's fine drove of pigs they regard as their legitimate prey.

Passing down the streets of tents by the busy traders to the centre of the grounds one comes to not the least interesting attraction of the whole—the dancing platform—where the dusky devotees of Terpsichore work off the exuberance of youth. It is partially covered with boughs to protect the "orchestra" from the rays of the sun, but the dancers seem to enjoy the heat, which without exertion, makes the pale face long for an icehouse. A wrinkled old half-breed, whose white locks curl from under his slouch felt hat and cluster around his face, bronzed by winter snows and summer suns, sat on an old packing case in the corner, dispensing music fast and fearsome from a squeaky old violin which he sawed with an industry worthy of a better cause. His moccasined foot beat ceaselessly on the floor and a continuous smile illumined his countenance, but whether it resulted from the contagion of happiness from the dancers who were tripping through the maze of a quadrille or from the joke he was perpetrating on "The Girl I Left Behind Me," may never be known.

There were two sets on the floor, a dudish young fellow acting as master of ceremonies and he was something of an artist too, for his "calling-off" was seldom allowed to get monotonous. As the violin tore off shreds of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," he started the ball rolling by shouting: "First couple to the right and balance four," "Pass right through and balance there and swing with the girl behind you." This last call was frequently varied by such expressions as "Swing the one with the big boots on," "Hurry up Sally or you won't get around." And Sally always hurried.

I watched them complete the change and then promenade to seats and the lemonade stands. A few moments afterwards the strains of the "Irish Washerwoman" rent the air and instantly the platform was the scene of phenomenal animation, for the real "Red River Jig," danced as only the Metis can dance it, was in fast and furious progress. As a boy I have often watched the buck dances on the plantations of the South, but seldom indeed have I seen the same amount of energy, enthusiasm and perspiration thrown into any form of diversion or dissipation of the kind as those tawny children of the prairie threw into that jig.

The loud voice of an orator, for he was worthy of the title, addressing a small assemblage of his people near the council chamber drew me away from this scene of merriment. It was Chief Prince, who has since been gathered to the happy hunting grounds of his fathers, a towering personality among his people, and a fine specimen of the full-blooded Indian, so seldom found either on or off the reserves, typical of his race before the white man's vices corrupted and demoralized it without any of the restraining influences of his virtues. Although he was speaking in the dialect of the Cree it was almost impossible to refrain from catching some of the enthusiasm which his words kindled in his people. His subject, so an old half-breed told me, was the advantages to be gained from adopting civilization and the religion of the white brethren, with a firm advice to them to be patriotically true to the Government and their treaty. These addresses were regular features of the program and were delivered with all the fervor that has made the Indian orator famous.

Inside the council chamber the business of the occasion was constantly in progress, as members of the treaty filed in and the inspector and his clerks after due investigation of each claim and making proper entries paid over the crisp new Dominion bank five dollar bills. It is a delicate task to perform to conduct the searching investigations sometimes necessary to protect the interest of the Government without giving offence to the supersensitive redmen.

Towards evening the strains of band music drew old and young to a pretty spot near the inspector's marque where the pupils of St. Paul's Industrial school were performing their calisthenic and military exercises and evolutions for the edification of their parents and visitors to the reserve. Scrupulously clean in their appearance, neatly dressed and showing a remarkable proficiency in their drill those scholars contrasted strikingly with the older generations or their less fortunate brethren who have never enjoyed the advantages offered by the Industrial. Every turn is applauded heartily by the dusky audience squatted around the arena and smiles of pleasure frequently illumine countenances that are usually as undemonstrative as the sphinx. Those pupils by their appearance and performance have done much to remove the prejudices of race and paganism, and each year make the securing of inmates for the industrials a task of ever decreasing difficulty. Herein is contained the secret of the only practical or efficacious means of reforming and Christianizing the noble redmen.

We were still watching this interesting spectacle when the coarse whistle of the excursion steamer called us hurriedly on board for the delightful return trip, leaving us all still wondering at the sights we had seen where civilization and the remnants of barbarism commingle.

Take to the Rifle Ranges.

Lord Dundonald, says The Mail and Empire, has emerged from the crucible of the Boer war a partizan of the rifle. In his opinion, a soldier's first duty is to learn how to shoot. Even cavalry must discard the cutting sword for the rifle. This is precisely in line with a layman's opinion. It would seem to the civilian that a weapon with which you can hit an enemy a mile away would be more effective than one which can only be used at close range. Certainly the well-covered riflemen seemed during the late war to be almost invincible unless his flank was turned by a superior force. The lesson for Canada is to take to the rifle ranges. With a population well practiced in the use of the rifle we will need nothing but patriotic spirit to make us a perpetually ready and powerful military aid to Great Britain.

Convincing.

Stableman (who has been reproved for his incorrect pronunciation)—Well miss, I don't know how you was taught to speak, but what I say is, is a haitch, an' a ho, an a har, 'an a hess, an' a hee don't spell 'orse, I'd like ter know what it do spell!—Moonshine.

A Source of Sadness.

The Gentle Optimist—Our delusions are the sweetest things in life.

The Cynic—How about the man who thinks he can sing?—Sketchy Bits.

She Took Him.

"He's a fine retriever, miss." —"But I don't want a hunting dog." —"Aw, he don't fetch birds. He retrieves ping-pong balls."—Pick-Me-Up.

THE OLD PIONEER.

With his axe and gun the pioneer came,
To the backwoods years agone,
With his bride of a day, sweet, winsome dame,
To hew them out a home.

Through toil and sweat a garden plot
Was brushed, and stumped, and cleared,
And joy was the sun of their happy lot,
As their cabin walls they reared.

And year by year as he tilled and cleared,
And the wider ranged his view,
The joy in the Settler's voice was heard,
As in prayer he praised anew.

Soon neighbors came from the dear Old Land,
From the home beyond the sea,
And labor lightened on every hand,
And joy knew company.

And the children came as the years drew on,
A handsome, sturdy brood,
And each knew a welcome, a happy one,
And the soil produced its food.

They grew apace in strength and grace,
Till the time of mating came,
When each in turn left the old loved place,
To seek for themselves a home.

And the Old Couple sat by their lone fireside,
And talked of the days now gone,
The sweet fond days, when as groom and bride,
They journeyed forth alone.

And their hearts grew sad, but the light of love
Still glorified the shrine,
So thus hand-in-hand to the Home above
They passed in the Father's time.

A stranger's hand now ploughs the land
Which the settler cleared of yore,
While within the glade last resting place,
Is the grave of the Old Pioneer.

—Albert Carman.

Stratford, 1902.

Salmoncholy.

Our cousins in Canada have had another good salmon season. They propose to eat all they can, and to can all they can't.—Punch.

OFFENSIVE FEET

MAY BE MADE SWEET AND WHOLESOME BY THE USE OF "FOOT ELM."

Many people of cleanly habits, who bathe their feet regularly are nevertheless mortified to find, despite all their care, that their feet emit an unpleasant odor. This is due to germs or bacteria which find the warmth and moisture of the feet a splendid place for their development. There is no treatment so effectual for destroying these germs, without injury to the feet, and removing the unpleasant odor as "Foot Elm." It keeps the feet sweet and clean, cool and comfortable.

Besides this, if your feet itch or ache, get tired or sore easily, blister or burn, swell or sweat, "Foot Elm" will readily remedy all these unpleasant conditions.

Price 25 cents a box at all druggists or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont. Do not take a substitute.

JEWELRY BY MAIL.

If there is a post office in your neighborhood and you have a jewelry want of any kind, we can supply it almost as well as if you visited us personally.

Write for our catalogue and thus have, practically, the finest stock of jewelry in Canada to choose from. Besides, our system of one price in plain figures and our guarantee as to quality mean so much to out-of-town buyers.

We prepay all delivery charges, and if what we send does not please you in every particular, return it, and by next mail we will cheerfully refund your money.

RYRIE BROS.,
Yonge and Adelaide Sts.,
TORONTO.

Females of All Ages find these Pills simply invaluable, as a few doses will restore free and regular conditions and effectually remove the causes of much suffering to the sex.

Beecham's Pills.

Sold Everywhere. In boxes, 25 cents.

Wilson's Fly Pad
POISON
Will clear your house of flies

THE PUBLIC should bear in mind that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has nothing in common with the impure, deteriorating class of so-called medicinal oils. It is eminently pure and really efficacious—relieving pain and lameness, stiffness of the joints and muscles, and sores or hurts, besides being an excellent specific for rheumatism, coughs and bronchial complaints.

Many beds have the appearance of comfort, but no amount of clothing can warm a cold heart.

A WONDERFUL CURE.—Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes; "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. About a year ago I took a very severe cough, had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one-half, the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done, it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the Vegetable Discovery, the billiousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Half fare on the railroad is the next best thing to a pass.

The Flagging Energies Revived.—Constant application to business is a tax upon the energies, and if there be not relaxation, lassitude and depression are sure to intervene. These comes from stomachic troubles. The want of exercise brings on nervous irregularities, and the stomach ceases to assimilate food properly. In this condition Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will be found a recuperative of rare powder, restoring the organs to healthful action, dispelling depression, and reviving the flagging energies.

The man who can keep his mouth shut has the best of the argument with all women.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is a speedy cure for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera, summer complaint, sea sickness and complaints incidental to children teething. It gives immediate relief to those suffering from the effects of indiscretion in eating unripe fruit, cucumbers, etc. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to conquer the disease. No one need fear cholera if they have a bottle of this medicine convenient.

Sometimes the most charitable view of others is that they ought to be in the insane asylum.

Sleeplessness.—When the nerves are unstrung and the whole body given up to wretchedness, when the mind is filled with gloom and dismal forebodings, the result of derangement of the digestive organs, sleeplessness comes to add to the distress. If only the subject could sleep, there would be the oblivion for a while and temporary relief. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will not only induce sleep, but will act so beneficially that the subject will wake refreshed and restored to happiness.

The wonder is there are not more kicking horses, since there are so many men who kick without discrimination.

These two desirable qualifications, pleasant to the taste and at the same time effectual, are to be found in Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, Children like it.

A peppery temper is not a thing to be sneezed at.

When all other preparations fail, try Holloway's Corn Cure. No pain whatever, and no inconvenience in using it.

People who sleep with sin will not be able to wash away the marks of it.

To get relief from indigestion, biliousness, constipation or torpid liver without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, take a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills, they will please you.

In the British Army 129 officers are qualified as interpreters in French, 106 in Russian, 81 in German, but only one in Dutch.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

Icebergs in the North Atlantic usually appear about February 15 and are seen more or less frequently until about June 15.

They make one feel as though life was worth living. Take one of Carter's Little Liver Pills after eating; it will relieve dyspepsia, aid digestion, give tone and vigor to the system.

Up to the present slower progress is being made with the construction of the Edward VII. than of any warship built at Davenport.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

Our Sentiments.

The following, taken from the "Clothier & Haberdasher," are our sentiments exactly. This store will not handle one dollar's worth of "sweat-shop" clothing.

Too many retailers buy a certain quantity of well-made clothing from a reputable manufacturer and then purchase a large quantity of "sweat-shop" goods, simply thrown together. They ask as much for these "sweat-shop" goods as for the genuine tailor-made goods, and even go so far as to claim they are tailor-made. They make a large profit for the time being, but such clothing is sure to harm their business and their reputation. This "sweat-shop" clothing looks well on the surface. It appears sightly as far as the "shell" is concerned, but the "oyster" is wanting. It has neither fit, finish or wear, and no clothier who caters to the better classes can build up a business by selling such stuff.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

Looking Over

The entire field of science, nowhere has there been such progress as in the Science of Optics and the Fitting of Glasses. Our success in this line is due, in a measure, to the fact that we embrace every meritorious idea. We constantly seek to originate new methods of excellence that will in any way aid us in the practice of Fitting Glasses.

ALEX. RAY.

The Bible tells us that the meek shall inherit the earth, but in these days the fellow who wants the earth isn't built on these lines.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

The undersigned have received instructions to sell at once the following properties in the City of Belleville.

1. Frame house, N. E. corner of Everett St. and Bridge St.
2. Small frame house, east side of Everett street, first house north of Bridge street.

All above houses are now occupied by monthly tenants. These properties can be purchased upon reasonable terms and low prices.

Other City properties to rent and to sell. Further particulars will be given upon application to

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Solicitors, 9 Campbell St.

June 28, 1902. jy4-8-13-12d

IT'S ABOUT NOW

That the SCHOOL SHOE question is a very important matter. The boys and girls must have

School Shoes.

Call on us for the largest and most complete variety of SCHOOL SHOES in this district.

The J. J. Haines

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

Daily Intelligencer.

INTERESTING TO FARMERS.

A contemporary gives the following interesting account of the injurious effect of the spread of white millet or sweet clover (melilotus alba) along the country roads of Ontario, and its rapid encroachment on farms and market gardens. This has become one of the most injurious weeds in some parts of Illinois and other States, and the work of eradicating it has cost large outlays in money and labor. The present year has been exceptionally favorable to its growth, and it is seen in abundance along the country roads and in the vacant lots of cities and towns, sometimes reaching a height of eight feet and more. Toronto's vacant lots have an exceptionally abundant crop. The pleasant odor of the plant when drying and the clover-like texture and appearance of its leaves are no doubt responsible for its common name, but it is regarded as a most injurious pest of both farm and garden. It will soon be in seed, and unless effective measures are taken at once the seeds will be widely distributed by the ordinary vehicular traffic and other agencies. The possibility of utilizing it is still in doubt. The toughness of its hard, round stems is a feature that is said to be fatal to its use as fodder, although some claim that both cattle and horses brought gradually to use it prefer it to cured hay. This has not yet been well authenticated.

It is claimed that the peculiar odor of the leaves will injuriously affect the milk of cows and will be persistent in butter. Beekeepers welcome the spread of sweet clover, as it is rich in honey that is easily gathered. The abundant store of honey in the common red clover is beyond the reach of the domestic bee, owing to the depth of the tubes, but the wild bee has a long probosis that enables it to gather red clover honey. Whatever use may be found for the sweet clover, it is already classed with the noxious weeds of the Province in bulletin No. 91, and may be brought within the provision of the statutes dealing with them. It is provided in the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1897, chap. 279, sec. 2, that every occupant of land must destroy all Canada thistles, ox-eye daisies, wild oats, tagweed and burdock, "and all other noxious weeds growing on his land, to which this Act may be extended by by-law of the municipality," in time to prevent the ripening of their seed. Overseers of highways are under similar obligations. With regard to sweet clover the matter rests with the municipal Councils. The experience of farmers elsewhere seems to point the wisdom of active and vigorous measures before this undesirable importation gets beyond control.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S BIRTHDAY.

Whatever may be thought of Goldwin Smith's political idiosyncracies, few will dissent from the following tribute paid by the Toronto Telegram to the man:

> "Gathering years cast no cloud upon the long life of Goldwin Smith.
>
> "Congratulations offered upon the addition of another year to a truly wonderful old age have not to be qualified by sorrow over the afflictions which so often darken the evening time of life.
>
> "Goldwin Smith is not afflicted. He enters upon his eightieth year with his enjoyment of life undisturbed by disease or pain. His intellectual powers are undimmed and his memory holds all the rich treasure of a great experience.
>
> "Every citizen is not a subject of that proud realm of English letters in which Goldwin Smith reigns as a king. Every citizen is a dweller in that city which Goldwin Smith has made his home. Toronto appreciates the liberality and public spirit which have adorned Golwin Smith's career as a citizen, rejoices that he has been spared to see another year, and wishes him many happy returns of his birthday."

TIMELY TOPICS.

Everybody will rejoice over the fact that the City Fathers have reluctantly consented to take a holiday. The thought of those noble men working themselves to death in the interests of their fellow-citizens lay on our chests like a ton of coal.

• • •

The Aldermen got within handshaking distance of a very important matter last night—the appointment of an Assessment Commissioner. But most of 'em handled the subject very gingerly.

• • •

That propective bridge and dam over the Moira, at the north end of the City, seems to hang fire about as bad as the celebrated Matthews pork factory. The bluff on the site on the bank of the river is not the only one in connection with the latter project.

• • •

Certainly the Council should see to it that Ald. Sulman is promptly reimbursed for the amount which he advanced to cover the deficit in connection with the Coronation Day demonstration, of mournful memory. It would be a disgrace to the City if a public-spirited gentleman like Ald. Sulman were allowed to bear the burden of a loss incurred in trying to advance the City's interests.

• • •

Only another week and Pat Meagher's duties will begin to make him round-shouldered.

• • •

Just think of it—four months from to-day and Christmas will be over!

• • •

We sincerely regret that nothing was said last night about the Rolling Mills starting soon. Perhaps the capitalists are waiting till the cool weather comes before they start.

• • •

But they needn't let the weather trouble them. There'll be a hot time in this old town when the mills do start.

• • •

Lest we forget, it may be as well to mention the fact that Mr. Luton's Bible class intends to do a little missionary work for the old d.s.b.g. to-morrow. Give them a hand, and perhaps you'll have one of the post holes in the new fence around it dedicated to you.

• • •

"The crusher stops on Tuesday night," said Ald. Panter gleefully at last night's Council meeting. Which will be crushing news to the people working there.

• • •

The fact that enough men cannot be got to harvest the crops in Manitoba is respectfully commended to the attention of our City Fathers who have a month's holiday.

• • •

A Yankee paper, the Indianapolis Sentinel, solemnly publishes a "scare head" item to the effect that King Edward has been forced to put Queen Alexandra's crown "up the spout" because the Royal Family are short of money. The next thing we will hear is that the Princess of Wales is taking in washing.

• • •

The Socialist members of the Reichstag in Germany do not seem to relish the conferring of titles, crown orders, snuff-boxes, etc., upon United States citizens, hence one of them proposes an amendment to the tariff providing for an import tax of $250 upon "all decorations conferred on German citizens by foreign sovereigns." The Speaker ruled the motion out of order.

• • •

Some of the more rabid of the Paris papers have been attacking Sir Wilfrid Laurier for being too Imperialistic and too British. This is a great injustice to Sir Wilfrid.

• • •

The Toronto Globe's London correspondent commenting upon the reduced majority by which one of Mr. Balfour's Ministers was re-elected, says: "The Government "press makes a brave effort to "draw sunbeams from cucumbers, "but it is evident that a few more "victories of this kind will leave "the Ministry dependent upon a "well-drilled majority in the Commons rather than popular support in the country." Apply this reasoning to the Ross Government, and where do we find it? If the return of an English Minister by a largely reduced majority is evidence of the unpopularity of the Government in the country, though it has over 100 majority in the House of Commons, what is the position of Mr. Ross with a majority of one in the House, and a popular majority of some 7000 against him in the country? Come, Globe, solve that problem.

• • •

Premier Tweedie of New Brunswick, is vowing vengeance against any attempt to reduce the number of representatives from his province in the House of Commons, declaring "that when the Provinces were admitted into the Union, it was generally understood that no matter what the population should be, the number of our members should not be decreased," and further "that the understanding must be adhered to, no matter what the Confederation Act says." This is childish nonsense. Does not Mr. Tweedie know that Tarte's organ declared before the census was taken that the provinces, other than Quebec, were to lose members, and that the taking of the census was manipulated accordingly? You will lose your members Mr. Tweedie, and Quebec will be the stronger, thereby.

• • •

"Compulsory arbitration is a quack nostrum." Such is the concluding sentence of an article which appeared in the Montreal Star, commenting upon labor troubles in the United States and elsewhere. The reason given for such a declaration is unanswerable. The law may compel the appointment of arbitrators and force an arbitration, but no law can compel employers—nor laborers—to accept the decision of the arbitrators. Yet politicians prate about settling labor disputes by force. Bah!

• • •

As evidence of the ignorance of certain Irish Home Rulers, Limerick Council has resolved to confer the freedom of the city on the Boer Generals, "as the greatest living champions of civil and religious liberty." The Limerickers' hatred of anything British is only excelled by their ignorance of the character of the Boers, who are fair types of ancient bigots and know not what civil and religious liberty means.

• • •

Premier Bond, of Newfoundland, has publicly avowed his preference for a treaty with the United States rather than a union with Canada. To those who have watched his political career such a declaration was not necessary. A treaty with the United States would leave him an important fish in a small pond. A union with Canada would reduce him to a minnow in a large lake, and as self with him is greater than patriotism, he prefers the pond.

• • •

"If I were to give you an orange," said a well-known Belleville lawyer, "I would simply say, I give you the orange," but should the transaction be entrusted to me as a lawyer to put in writing I would adopt this form: "I hereby give, grant and convey to you all my interest, right, title and advantage of and in the said orange, together with its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pips, and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite." And then present you with an account for $10.

• • •

It turns out that the man Howard, who ran away with $600 from the Pontiac Hotel at Round Island, N. Y., as related in yesterday's Intelligencer, was only saved from arrest in Toronto by the perverseness of a hotel clerk. Howard had agreed to go back with the officer, but the hotel clerk ordered the latter out of the hotel, nor would he permit the telephone to be used for communication with the Toronto police. The consequence was that the thief escaped, and now the hotel clerk may be prosecuted for aiding a criminal to evade justice, and if the above statement is true, as alleged by the Toronto News, he certainly deserves whatever punishment may be coming to him.

• • •

Just fancy the Francais, of Paris, calling Sir Wilfrid Laurier an "evil-minded stranger." Perhaps, if they knew him as well as we do, they might call him a worse name than that.

• • •

Oom Paul has stepped down and out as leader of the Boer people. The old rascal has had his day, and a long one it was.

• • •

It now turns out that Fred Lee Rice made a confession before he died. It's just as well, perhaps, though confessions don't cut much ice after Radcliffe gets through with a man.

• • •

The peasants of Galicia, who get nine cents a day, are rioting and demanding more pay. The wretches! What do they want? Ten cents a day?

• • •

Ald. McFee will soon be acting Mayor. Just getting his hand in, as it were.

• • •

Prof. V. P. Hunt sends us a copy of the programme used by the "Gordon Highlanders of Belleville, Ont.," in their tour through the States. Belleville is getting some great advertising. The company, of course, is that under the management of Mr. Cameron Brown.

• • •

Would it not be evidence of sensible economy, if the Chairman of Public Works would, instead of filling up the excavations made on Bridge Street to allow of the cleaning of the sewer, construct a "man-hole," so as to avoid in future the digging up of the street whenever the sewer has to be examined?

• • •

Does the Street Surveyor know that there is a broken plank in the sidewalk on the west side of Charles Street? If not, he can easily find one, if he looks for it. There might be a skinned shin and a law-suit.

SAVED HER CHILD

The great majority of mothers are now convinced that Lactated Food is the safest and most nourishing for babies in summer time. Mrs. L. P. Smith, Truro, N.S., says:—

"When my baby was three months old he was seriously ill and weighed only ten pounds. I gave him Lactated Food, and now, at the age of ten months, he is well and hearty and weighs twenty-five pounds." Lactated Food is recommended by over twenty thousand physicians.

GENTLEMEN, IF YOU ARE BALD, See Prof. Dorenwend's Art Coverings in Wigs and Toupees, worn on thousands of heads. They are a protection against Colds, Catarrh, etc., and give a most natural and younger appearance to the face.

Trying on and demonstrating the superior art of these goods free of charge.

He will be at Hotel Quinte on Saturday, Aug. 30th, until 4 p.m.

a19-3td&1w

OVERCOATS.

We are selling overcoats early at the Oak Hall. In fact this is not unusual with us at this season. Men going to the North West or tourists from the States want to buy a heavy coat and like to take advantage of our low prices. Overcoats and ulsters ready to show now, also winter underwear and top shirts.

Ease of access, accommodation and health-giving Waters all combine to make the MAGI Caledonia Springs an ideal resort for the invalid or healthy.

Dark Hair We mean all that rich, dark color your hair used to have. If it's gray now, no matter; for Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. And often it makes the hair grow very heavy.

$1. All druggists.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russsian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

No Skilled Labor

is required around the house to use

Ramsay's Paints

They are ready to use as soon as you open the can and stir the paint. It dries hard in eight hours and wears well. We have any color or shade you may desire and you will be sure to be satisfied with the quality of this paint.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Shoe Bargains

Men's Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.25
Boys' Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.00
Men's Fine Lace Boots	$1.15
Boys' Fine Lace Boots	.85
Men's Canvas Boots or Low Shoes	$1.00
Men's Dongola Kid Congress	$1.20
Men's Patent leather lace Boots	$2.00
Children's Button Boots or Slippers	.25

A. W. Vermilyea & Son

The Time To Use Perfume

is all the time, if it is the right kind. So delightful and delicate an odor as Lorna is never out of place and its use cannot but prove pleasing to refined people. We'll consider it a favor if you will ask us to show you Lorna whether you want to buy or not. Some time you'll want it and then you'll be glad you learned about Lorna.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Paint Paint

YOUR HOUSE inside or outside may need painting, and of course, you want the best. The S-W-P compared with Pure Lead and Linseed oil, will wear longer, look better and cover more surface per gallon, will not crack or rub off and costs you less. Every can imperial measure and guaranteed.

WATERS'

"OH, THE AGONY OF IT!"

Has been many a poor Rheumatic's wail until he does as Mr. Eades did, gives South American Rheumatic Cure a "faithful trial"—it never fails.

Fred E. Eades, 424 Sully Street, Toronto, says: "I think South American Rheumatic Cure is the greatest God-send that sufferers from rheumatism have ever had put within their reach. I suffered so in my wrists and ankles that in two years I was only able to do three months' work. I took hospital treatment for nine months without relief, but a faithful trial of South American Rheumatic Cure permanently cured me." Relief at once. 60

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

(Changed daily)

Tuesday, August 26, 1902.

Baby Needs

A carriage. We have only a few left, about a half dozen from a stock of about half a gross. This last half dozen goes without profit to us—the profit all for the baby's comfort. Of course if you wish a large selection we can give you the choice of over one hundred carriages, of the very best makes, at remarkably low figures. During the past fifteen years this house has sold in Belleville about one thousand carriages or more. They would make a great procession. The handling of these carriages has taught us many lessons as to values, gearing, durability, etc. Our knowledge of carriages is at your command.

TOILET PAPER—

A big shipment, both in the roll and flat, just to hand. This is our first shipment of toilet papers. The price tempted us, and we offer at all at 5c package, 6 packages for 25c. It has no equal.

PURSES AND POCKET BOOKS—

Our line is mammoth, our prices very low, everything you want.

PICTURE FRAMING—

We haven't been advertising framing lately, simply because our head framer was away on holidays. He is now back, feeling well enough to turn out the best framing in Canada, he says. He certainly has the ability, the plant, the mouldings, and, yes, the trade, too. All these, coupled with the energy and vim begot of a month's fishing and holidaying on the St. Lawrence, should be produtcive of all sort of satisfaction for our framing customers.

WALL PAPER AND DECORATING—

In all its branches, do you know, we are doing all the better class of decorating in this city. Pleasing, did you say—well, we certainly are pleasing everybody for whom we are doing. Come, ask our decorator to show you around town where we have been doing justice to the term—decorating.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Paper Wholesale & Retail

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE ... 25c. is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Across the Continent And Back Again

(Written for The Intelligencer by Mrs. James Boldrick, of Corbyville.)

"Do tell us all about your trip." So often have I heard this remark that I thought I would answer all at once. As I did not keep a diary I will write all I can remember of our journey to Oregon, and back again.

Two o'clock, on the afternoon of May 26, 1902, the express for Toronto steamed out of Belleville with a party of three on board, namely, Mr. W. Milburn, of Belleville, Mr. Jas. Boldrick and wife (myself), of Corbyville.

No need to describe our journey to Toronto, as so many have passed over that part of the Grand Trunk line. Occasional glimpses of the pretty Bay of Quinte, then Lake Ontario, with its many boats and steamers, to the south, and lovely farms, with neat buildings and orchards all in bloom, towns and villages, all bathed in the afternoon sunshine to the north of us, it was all very pretty, indeed, never did we see anything to compare with it again, though we crossed the continent twice.

We steamed into Toronto at half-past 4 o'clock. We were shown to the C.P.R. waiting rooms. Let me say right here, though we stopped at a great many stations on our way, we saw none to compare with the Canada Pacific station at Toronto.

After getting our tickets signed at the C.P.R. office, we boarded our train (C.P.R.) at seven o'clock for Windsor. So little daylight remained we saw but little of western Ontario. We reached Windsor about midnight and the train was ferried across the Detroit river to that city. Although it was dark it was very pretty, the disappearing light of Windsor, the lights of the boats on the river, the bright lights of Detroit, it was a sight not soon to be forgotten.

We found our train, the Wabash, awaiting us, and in a few minutes we were off.

At daybreak, May 27th, found us in the southern part of Michigan, travelling through low, flat country, a few, scattered farms, with old-looking buildings, very few orchards, everything seemed to be so backward compared with Ontario. Lots of places the crops were under water. We afterwards learned that it had been raining steadily for nine days. The only excitement we had on this road was a burning station we passed shortly after daylight.

About 7 o'clock we reached Montpelier, Ohio, where we changed cars for Chicago. We crossed the northern part of Indiana, the greater part of this road lay through low, marshy land, very flat, nothing to be seen worth mentioning, until we came near Chicago. Then for miles before we reached the city we passed through marshy ground, interlaced with railroads, running in every direction. Shortly we came in view of the great dynamite works, the largest of the kind in the world. Then more railroads, more mills, then manufacturing establishments of every kind. We reached the eastern suburb of Chicago, low flats, here and there little frame houses, sitting in pools of green water, with lots of youngsters playing around the doors. I wonder they live at all. Then the houses became thicker and of a better quality, the streets better, the railroads thicker, the noise greater, and in a few minutes we were in the city.

We had to transfer by bus to the Union Depot, where we arrived about eleven o'clock, only to find our train had gone, and we had to wait till six in the evening before we could go out.

At first I was glad, to think we would have so much time to spend in Chicago, but as the day wore on I grew tired of deafening noise, and clatter of the street, the like of which I never heard before. Everyone seemed to be going with a rush, they didn't take time to walk, some would look at us so strangely as we walked along slowly, and some more curious than others would ask "What are you looking for?" "What do you want?" And then they would look at us so funny when we would tell them, nothing, nobody. We saw only a small part of the city's large buildings, but what struck me as the greatest piece of work was her navigation. First, there was the overhead, double track, electric railway, then the street double track, electric railway, then the Chicago river, with its barges and tugs, and under all the double track electric railway again, four deep, and all rushing, rushing. Oh, the clatter, the rush and noise! I was so glad when six o'clock came, and we boarded our train, and left the noisy city behind. The western suburbs of Chicago are very different from the east, here beautiful residences, pretty grounds, lovely parks.

When the sun set and darkness set in we were passing through some of the prettiest farming land in Illinois. We were now on the Chicago and North Western line. It was so dark when we crossed the Mississippi that we saw nothing of it. About four o'clock we reached Ames, where we changed cars for Des Moines, Iowa, where we intended spending the day. It was a lovely ride of about thirty-five miles, the loveliest prairie land, and nice farm buildings. Here the crops looked well, great fields of corn, which looked so pretty in the morning light.

(To be continued.)

Auction Sale!

We have decided to place before the residents of Belleville and surrounding country one of the greatest opportunities ever presented of securing first-class goods at their own price.

Ten Thousand Dollars

WATCHES, CHAINS, RINGS, BROOCHES, PINS, STUDS AND OTHER JEWELERY, STERLING SILVER, CUT GLASS, SILVER-PLATED WARE, CLOCKS, FANCY CHINA, BRIC-A-BRAC, &C.

For some time we have been anticipating a move; our present quarters being too small. We have leased for a number of years the store lately occupied by Mr. T. P. Brown, as a carpet and curtain store, but before leaving our present quarters, have decided on holding an immense Auction Sale. We take this method of selling our present stock so we can enter our new store next month, "September," with an entire new line of goods.

SALE TO OPEN ON

Thursday, August 28th,

AT 2.30 IN THE AFTERNOON

And to be continued every day—afternoon and evening—until further notice. Mr. J. H. Havill, of Hamilton, known as the "Prince of Jewelry Auctioneers," has been engaged to conduct the sale. Sale at 2.30 and 7.30 each day. Ladies are especially invited to attend. We will endeavor to make them comfortable.

T. BLACKBURN,

JEWELLER & OPTICIAN.

NEXT TO DOMINION BANK, BELLEVILLE, ONT.

We expect to open our New Store about Sept. 25th—Remember T. P. Brown's old stand, opposite Campbell street.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y, STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 26.

STOCK	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	93⅜	95¾	93¼	94⅞
do. pref.	103⅛	103⅜	103	103
C.P.R.	140	140	138⅞	139½
U. S. Steel	41¼	41½	41⅛	41¼
do. pref.	90½	90½	90¼	90¼
W. Union	96¼	97½	94⅝	95⅝
Pe	104¼	105	104⅛	104¾
Manhattan	135⅞	136	135¼	135½
Erie	41¼	41½	41	41¼
do pref.	70⅞	70⅞	70⅛	70⅛
L. & N.	156⅛	156⅛	155¼	154¾
Mo. P.	117⅛	118½	117	117½
Nor.	72¼	72¼	71¼	71½
N. Y. C.	165	165¼	164	164
Reading	68¼	68⅞	68⅛	68½
do pref.	87¼	87½	87⅛	87¼
St. Paul	187	187¼	185⅞	186¼
South Pac.	77½	77½	76⅜	76¾
Sou. Ry.	40¼	40¼	40⅛	40⅜
Union. Pac.	112¼	113¼	111¼	111⅝
Amn. Loco.	33	33⅛	33	33⅛
do. pref.	95	95¼	94⅛	94⅞
O. & W.	35⅞	36½	35¾	36
Penna	162¼	162⅜	162	162¼
Alton	43⅞	43⅞	43¼	43¼
C. & O.	56	56¼	55	55¼
Ills. Cent.	169⅛	171¼	169¼	170
Sugar	133½	133½	132¾	132¾
B & O.	115¾	115¾	113⅞	114¼

Sept. wheat opened at 72 3-8, closed at 71 5-8.

Sept. corn opened at 59 1-2, closed at 58 1-4.

DON'T WAIT

Like Mr. Micawber

"For Something To Turn Up"

Go and turn it up for yourself.

Likewise—don't wait for chance or Accident to discover to you the merits of

Hudson's Dry Soap

Phone or send to the grocer and get a packet now.

Easiest to use, most thorough in results and the original Dry Soap. Unsuccessfully imitated all over the world.

New York's Society Palmist

Miss Ellen Francis

Wonderful, Marvellous, Astonishing are Her Readings.

Gives Advice on all Affairs of Life, Unites the Separated.

When Others Fail She Succeeds.

If you are in trouble of any kind, discontented, unhappy, not satisfied in life, having business, love or domestic troubles, you will be told how to overcome all.

"Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor."—Prov. iii., 16.

PARLORS KYLE HOUSE.

Hours: 10 to 9. Satisfaction guaranteed. Maid in attendance. 26-6t

---

The Fall Fairs

E. Hastings, Thrasher's, Sept. 25-26.
Kingston's big fair, Aug. 25-29.
Ottawa Central, Aug. 22-30.
Morrisburg, Aug. 27-29.
Sherbrooke, Aug. 30, Sept. 6.
Toronto Industrial, Sept. 1-13.
Frontenac, Harrowsmith, Sept. 4-5.
Iroquois, Sept. 8-10.
Peterboro, Central, Sept. 9-11.
Addington, Tamworth, Sept. 12-13.
London Western, Sept. 12-20.
Napanee, County, Sept. 16-17.
Newboro, Sept. 15-16.
Brockville, Sept. 16-18
Hamilton Central, Sept. 16-18.
Perth, County, Sept. 17-19.
Prescott, Sept. 23-25.
Hinchinbrooke, Parham, Sept 23-24,
Delta, Sept. 23-24.
Merrickville, County, Sept. 24-25.

Strs. North King and Caspian
EXCURSION
TO KINGSTON FAIR
50c Wednesday, 27th
Thursday, 28th
Return tickets will be issued at
SINGLE FARE
Good going 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, returning until 30th Aug. inclusive.
U. E. THOMPSON, Ticket Agent.
RATHBUN CO. Ticket Agent.

Last Excursion of the Season.
PER
Str. "NIAGARA"
To PICTON
Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 30.
Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2.30 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.
About 1½ hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.
Fare for the round trip 25 cents.
THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.
TIME TABLE.
Commencing April 10th, 1902,
Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee
Str. "ELLA ROSS"
Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.
Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY
Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.
Fare to New York, Single, $3.40; Return, $5.25
For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents
J. F CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA
A. HICKS, Captain.
Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y,
Str. ALEXANDRIA
Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.
Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.
1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.
FARE.
$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.
THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont,
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION
Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, '02
NEW BUILDINGS,
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Trav
Consult Your Station Agent Regardi g
Fare to Toronto and Bac

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at the Intelligencer Office. tf

PLACE OF BIRTH DECIDES.

The Alien Labor Law in the Toronto Police Court.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—F. B. Hayes, Secretary-Treasurer of the Toronto Carpet Company, was convicted yesterday morning at the Police Court on one of two charges laid against him of committing a breach of the alien labor law.

The employes of the Carpet Company have for some time past been on strike, and Mr. Hayes was alleged to have brought two men named Pierre and Frederick Derocher from Lowell, Massachusetts, to work here. The evidence showed that in engaging the men Mr. Hayes had technically contracted with them for their work here, and also that he had endeavored to obtain French-Canadians, former residents of Canada. These persons, in the opinion of the Magistrate, could not be termed aliens under the act, and had both men been Canadian born no conviction could have been registered. Twenty-seven years ago Pierre Derocher and his parents left Canada for the States, where his brother Frederick was born. The court held, therefore, that Pierre was not an alien, but that his brother was. A conviction was then registered in the second case, namely, that of bringing Frederick Derocher to the city under contract to work, he being an alien. He imposed the minimum fine of $50 and costs or 30 days in jail. The fine, if paid, goes to the Carpet Weavers' Union as informers.

"THE EVIL-MINDED STRANGER."

What a Parisian Journal Thinks of Our Sir Wilfrid.

Paris, Aug. 26.—There is a distinct change visible in the attitude of a portion of the Paris press towards Sir Wilfrid Laurier since his last visit. Then he was extolled as the greatest British colonial statesman and his French origin was proudly referred to. Now when the same statesman openly glories in the fact that he is a British subject and asserts his loyalty to the Crown, he is represented as "accommodating himself to Anglo-Saxon conquests."

The Francais says in its issue of last evening: "Imagine fifty years hence the premier of Alsace-Lorraine, if these provinces are then still German, thinking it to praise the German Emperor and insult the old Fatherland. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is such a man, therefore let him leave our midst like the evil-minded stranger he has become to our eyes."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir William Mulock, and Hon. W. S. Fielding will lunch with President Loubet today. In the evening they will dine with M. Delcasse. The Canadian colony in Paris will banquet the Dominion premier on September 1.

TO SWIM WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS.

Carlisle D. Graham Anxious to Risk His Life August 31.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 26. — Carlisle D. Graham, the Philadelphia cooper, who on July 11, 1886, startled the world by making a successful trip through the Whirlpool Rapids of Niagara in a barrel, and who has several times since accomplished daring feats at the same place, says that on Sunday, Aug. 31, he will try to do what Capt. Webb failed to do on July 24, 1883, and that is to swim the Whirlpool Rapids of Niagara, between the bridge and the whirlpool. Graham's friends will try to coax him to be satisfied with swimming from the whirlpool to Lewiston, a feat performed successfully on September 7 last, the day his companion in adventure, Maude Willard, lost her life in Graham's barrel in the maelstrom of Niagara. ...

Wireless Telephoning.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—Experiments in wireless telephoning were successfully conducted Sunday between Sassnitz and Kolberg, Germany, a distance of 105 miles.

Sir William Preece announced to the British Association in September 1900, that the experiments in wireless telephoning which he has been conducting since 1894 had finally been successful. His feat was that of telephoning without wires across Loch Ness, a distance of a mile and a half.

Jailed For Libel.

Manila, Aug. 26.—Frederick Dorr, proprietor, and Edward O'Brien, editor of Freedom, have each been sentenced to six months in Bilibid prison and fined $1,000 each for libelling Benito Legardo, a native member of the civil commission by publishing a certain article in Freedom. Both Dorr and O'Brien have also been convicted of sedition, but have not yet been sentenced on this count.

Canada Very Much Alive.

London, Aug. 26.—Speaking at a meeting of the Milford Docks Company in London yesterday, the chairman, Mr. Newborn, said he had reason to hope that Milford would become the terminal port of the Anglo-Canadian fast mail service. America was showing Great Britain that she must wake up, and Canada in this matter was much awake.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

THE MARKETS.

Grain Prices All Higher—Prices [illegible] Corn and Oats Advanced on S[illegible]day—The Latest Quotations.

Monday Evening, Aug. 25.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ½d to ¾d higher to-day and corn futures partly 1⅛d higher.

At Chicago to-day September wheat closed ⅜c higher than Saturday; Sept. corn ⅜c higher, and Sept. oats ½c higher.

VISIBLE SUPPLY.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has increased 425,000 bushels; corn decreased 2,015,000 bushels; oats increased 640,000 bushels. Following is a To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States together with that afloat to Europe is 45,-530,000 bushels, against 44,344,000 bushels a week ago, and 63,791,000 bushels a year ago.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	76⅜	75⅜	75¾
Chicago	....	72½	68⅜	70¼
Toledo	73¾	73¾	72¾	73¾
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	73½	69½	....	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—
Wheat, red, bush	$0 73 to	$....
Wheat, white, bush	0 73	....
Wheat, spring, bush.....	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush......	0 75	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush.	0 50½	....
Barley, bush.	0 52	0 52½
Oats, bush.	0 46	0 47
Oats, new, bush.........	0 33	....
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.
Hay, baled, car lots, ton...	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton..	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls.....	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb........	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes...	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub.......	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz.......	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb............	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each....	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected.....	$0 08½
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected......	0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected.............	0 07¾
Hides, No. 2, inspected.............	0 06¾
Hides, No. 1 cured, selling.........	0 08
Calfskins, No. 1, selected..........	0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected..........	0 08
Deacons (dairies), each...........	0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 25	....
Lambskins, each	0 30	....
Wool, fleece, per lb..........	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb....	0 07	....

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—Flour—Receipts, 400 bbls.; market quiet.

Flour quotations—Patent winter, $3.80 to $4; patent spring, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; extra, none; superfine, none; strong bakers, $3.50 to $3.70; Ontario bags, $1.70 to $1.80.

Grain—Wheat, No. 2 Manitoba hard, 78c to 80c. Corn, 68c to 70c. Peas, 85c to [illegible]. Oats, 44c to 45c. Barley, 51c to 53c. Rye, 65c to 67c. Buckwheat, 62c to 64c. Oatmeal, $2.30 to $2.40. Cornmeal, $1.50 to $1.60.

Provisions—Pork, $24 to $25. Lard, 9c to 10c. Bacon, 14c to 15c. Hams, 13c to 14c.

Produce—Cheese, 9c to 10c. Butter, townships, 18c to 19c; western, 15c to 16c. Eggs, 12c to 14c.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—There were about 750 head of butchers' cattle, 400 calves and 1500 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, but the supplies being in excess of the demand, prices had a downward tendency all round. A few prime cattle were sold at about 4½c per lb.; medium stock brought from 3½c to 4¼c, and the common animals from 2½c to 3¼c, while canning stuff sold at from 1½c to 2c per lb. A considerable number of cattle will not be sold to-day. Calves sold at from $2.50 to $10 each, or from 3c to 4½c per lb. Sheep sold at from 2¾c to 3½c per lb. Lambs, at from 3¾c to 4½c per lb. Good lots of fat hogs sold at from 6¾c to 7c per lb., weighed off the cars.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Aug. 25.—Cattle—Receipts, 4800; fairly active, generally 10c to 15c lower; prime steers, $8 to $8.25; 1200 to 1300 lb. steers, $6.75 to $7.25; fair to good, $5.75 to $6.50; choice, $10 to $11.50; steers, $5.75 to $6.50; fair to good, $5 to $5.50; choice heifers, $5.75 to $6.50; fair to good, $4.25 to $5.50; light to fair, $3 to $4; best fat cows, $4.50 to $5; fair to good, $3 to $4.25; canners to common, $1.50 to $2.75; export bulls, $4.25 to $4.75; butchers' bulls, $3.75 to $4.20; sausage do., $3.25 to $3.75; choice cows and springs, steady; good to choice, $45 to $60; medium to good, $30 to $40; common, $20 to $28; stockers and feeders, good, steady; others, 10c to 15c lower; feeders, $4.35 to $5; stockers, $3.75 to $4.50; stock heifers, $3.25 to $3.75. Veals—Receipts, 525 head; steady; tops, $8 to $8.25; fair to good, $7.25 to $7.75; common to light, $6 to $7.

Hogs—Receipts, 10,200 head, active, 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $7.60 to $7.85; few, $7.70; mixed, $7.50 to $7.60; Yorkers, $7.45 to $7.50; light, do., $7.40 to $7.45; pigs, $7.45 to $7.50; roughs, $5.75 to $6.25; stags, $5 to $5.50; grassers, $7.20 to $7.40.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 11,500 head, steady; top lambs, $6.25 to $6.40; fair to good, $5.75 to $6.20; culls to common, $4 to $5; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; wethers, $4 to $4.25; ewes, $3.25 to $3.50; sheep, top mixed, $3.50 to $3.70; fair to good, $2.25 to $3.40; culls to common, $1.75 to $2.75.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 25.—Beeves—Receipts, 4200; market slow; steers, 20c to 40c lower; some sales 50c lower; bulls and cows, 10c to 15c off; steers, $4.05 to $7.10; oxen, $3.25 to $5.50; bulls, $2.85 to $4.25; cows, $2 to $4. Calves—Receipts, 4016; veals, steady; grassers and buttermilks, 25c to 50c off; veals, $5 to $8.50; little calves, $4; grassers and buttermilks, $3.50 to $4; few extra, $4.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 17,537; sheep, slow; lambs, opened firm, closed 25c off, except for choice; sheep, $2.25 to $3.90; choice and extra, $3.55 to $4; culls, $2; lambs, $4.75 to $6.90; culls, $4 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 4581; market, 15c to 25c higher; some sales, 35c higher; state hogs, $6.50 to $6.80; mixed western, $7.15; skips, $6.50.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Cattle—Receipts, 19,000, including 11,000 westerns; choice, higher; others, slow; good to prime steers, $8 to $8.75; poor to medium, $4 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $1.25 to $5.50; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5.25; calves, $2.75 to $7; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $1 to $5.90.

Hogs—Receipts, 22,000, 10c to 15c higher; mixed and butchers', $6.90 to $7.65; good to choice, heavy, $7.40 to $7.42½; rough, heavy, $6.85 to $7.30; light, $6.90 to $7.50; [illegible]

Sheep—Receipts, 20,000, steady; lambs, lower; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $4; fair to choice mixed, $2.50 to $3.75; western sheep, $2.50 to $3.85; native lambs, $3.50 to $6; western lambs, $4.50 to $5.75.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 25.—Live cattle steady at 12c to 13½c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 11½c to 12c per lb.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Lindsay, Aug. 25.—Lindsay Cheese Board met here to-day. Buyers: Flavelle, Fitzgerald, Hogg and Gillespie, present; 1770 boxes were boarded, and sold at 9 5-16c. Mr. Flavelle took 800, Mr. Fitzgerald, for Hodgson of Montreal, 700, and Mr. Hogg the balance.

C.P.R. Earnings.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—The C. P. R. traffic for the week ending Aug. 21 was $791,000; for the same period last year it was $699,000.

THE KING NO FISHERMAN.

When His Majesty Was in Canada He Was Unskilful.

Among the mass of anecdotal matter recalled by the recent coronation of King Edward VII., Canadian sportsmen are interesting themselves in reminiscences of the lack of skill as an angler displayed by the King when, in the course of his progress through the Dominion in 1860 as Prince of Wales, he visited some of the best fishing waters of Canada.

The late Senator Price took the Prince on a trip up the Saguenay to Ste. Marguerite River, the present preserve of the Ste. Marguerite Salmon Club, and then, as now, noted for the abundance of its salmon and trout. A few small trout were, however, all that the whole party could boast of. Mr. Price hooked a large salmon for the Prince and gave it to him to land, but his attempt was not successful. The Prince had not had sufficient practice in salmon-fishing to enable him to kill a large fish.

The official historian of the tour notes that "it was not for the want of advice; there was plenty of that. Everyone called out what to do, and, as a matter of course, everyone suggested a different mode from everybody else, so that His Highness was bewildered, and the salmon proved the truth of the old proverb that 'in a multitude of counsellors there is safety,' and, breaking the line, got clear away."

King Edward has occasionally angled for coarse fish in Scotland, but has never made any reputation as an angler, though it was recently stated on the authority of Lord Knollys that upon one occasion he really did kill a 21-pound salmon in the Tweed. He has a reputation as a successful hunter, especially of large game, but he is almost the only member of the British royal family who is not also an enthusiastic and fortunate angler.

Many Canadian fishermen can testify from personal observation on the Restigouche and Cascapedia Rivers to the clever angling of the present Prince of Wales, and of his aunt, the Princess Louise, Marchioness of Lorne, now Duchess of Argyll, the favorite sister of the King. The cottage built for her on the banks of the Cascapedia is still standing, and the pool in which she killed her largest salmon still bears her name.

It was while visiting her in Canada that the present Prince of Wales and his late brother, the Duke of Clarence, proved to the Canadian anglers their skill, with the fly rod. The Prince of Wales has, indeed, been called the angler-in-chief of the royal family, and both in dexterity and luck he recalls his late uncle, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Queen Alexandra is well known as a keen disciple of Izaak Walton, and often fishes for salmon in Scotland with her daughter, the Princess Victoria. The Alexandra fly, which has been called after her, is so deadly a killer on some of the Old Country streams that its use on many of them has been absolutely forbidden. This remarkable fly was not, as sometimes supposed, invented by the Queen, but by Dr. Hobbs. It was originally known as the Lady of the Lake, and this name was abandoned for its present one because of the success obtained with it by the then Princess Alexandra. In America it is less known as a salmon fly than as a successful lure for large trout.

In fact, it may not properly be called an artificial fly at all, being intended as a vague imitation of a minnow, and it was originally intended to be cast and played minnow fashion just below the surface of the water. Its coarse, green hackles partly enclose a bright, silvery body, glimpses of which are given to the fish by allowing the line to run with the current and then drawing it up stream by short, sudden jerks, which open and close the hackles. In this country, where salmon are not taken in fresh water by minnows or other live bait, as in the British Isles, this imitation is not so much affected by salmon fishermen.

King Edward's daughter, the Duchess of Fife, is devoted to angling, and spends much of her time at the sport, accompanied by her daughters, while the Duke is away deer-stalking. Fishing is the favorite amusement, too, of the little sons of the Prince of Wales, and they were recently quite proud of their ability to send a brace of trout of their own killing to the King, and another brace to their own parents.

Humility is the best proof of true dignity.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers
Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.
F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY
10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.
Farm Laborers' Excursions
Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, South-west and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.
SECOND CLASS $10
One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.
Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."
For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.
A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902
Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at
SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.
Good going August 30th, 31st, and Sept. 1st, returning good until Sept. 2nd, 1902.
CANADA'S GREAT FAIR
TORONTO
September 1st to 13th.
Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.
Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75
All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.
SPECIAL TRAIN
Leaves Belleville at 3.00 a.m., Monday, Sept. 8th, arriving Toronto 6.50 a.m. Ask agents for official programme and time table.
U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

Jelly Crystals
One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.
Price 7c a package.
HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.

Wall Paper
If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.
Painting, Paper Hanging, Graining.
J. CORNELIUS.
Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,
Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail......	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed......	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed......	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail......	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed......	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed......	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed......	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed......	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

GOOD FISHING.
Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—
Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.
Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.
At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

For Pickling
XXX Cider
and White Wine
Vinegars
Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES
J. C. Hanley & Co.,
Telephone 214.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society
Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.
No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.
For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.
J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

"FORCE"
ASK THE GROCER
THE PROPER FOOD FOR HANDWORKERS—SATISFYING, TOO.

West 58th St., New York City,
March 28, 1902.
"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.
Gentlemen,—It gives me great pleasure to testify to all the good qualities of "FORCE."
It is economic, as it makes a satisfying substitute for expensive meat.
It is healthful—for the weakest invalid can enjoy it.
It is attractive, being a most delicious food, appreciated by those who usually do not like cereals.
Yours very truly, Dr. —— ——
Name furnished on application.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

"But I did care for you, Yolande!" he declares, smiling, and slipping his arm around her waist. "I shouldn't have married you, if I had not thought you were a sweet, lovable, ladylike girl whom I felt proud and pleased to call my wife, and with whom I hoped to spend many happy years."

Captain Glynne's fair, handsome head is resting on hers, with its coils of silken brown hair, and his right hand meets his left amongst the laces and ribbons at Yolande's waist. It is rather dull, this wooing of one's own wife; but it is an experience by no means lacking in pleasantness or piquancy, Dallas admits.

"But if my wife's pride is going to punish me for another woman's falsehood," he continues softly, pressing his lips to her forehead — "going to condemn me to loneliness and desolation for the rest of my days — married and divorced, with a wife and no wife — why, I must only endure it as best I can!"

"Oh, Dallas, oh, Dallas!" Yolande cries with a convulsive sob, quite heart-wrung by this mournful picture of a solitary joyless life. "Oh, no, oh, no, my darling! Oh, my darling, I'll stay with you and comfort you as much as I can!"

"You'll not forsake me then, love?" Captain Glynne asks plaintively, as they sit side by side opposite the now blazing fire; and his young wife's arms are round his neck, and she is clinging to him in a passion of tender protectiveness, as if to save him from the horrible fate that menaces him.

"You won't leave me alone in misery and temptation, dearest, will you?" he murmurs, pressing a kiss on Yolande's cheek; and he smiles to himself to think how easy and complete, after all, has been his victory over his little rebel wife.

"I should have taken this tone with her from the first," he thinks, blaming himself. "I should have had a pleasanter honeymoon, I dare say, and so would she if I had humored her a little. She is easy enough to manage, poor little girl!"

"No, no!" Yolande says, in answer to his question, her slender arms tightening their hold on him. "I'll stay, I'll stay! I won't leave you, my darling. You won't stay very long here, will you?"

For Joyce Murray's fair, winsome face, with her curling lip and sarcastic smile, rises before her like a vision of evil. A chill comes over her in the warm glow of her freshly-kindled hopes and happiness, and a heavy sigh rises to the lips her husband kisses. He has loved Joyce Murray — nay, he loves her now, though he tries, because he is married, to quell his love. Nothing can undo that or alter it. Joyce Murray has his first, best love — that is an irrevocable fact.

"Not very long, I suppose, in any case," Dallas replies. "Until after the poor old Earl is gone, you know, dear."

And Yolande wonders vaguely, with the selfish hopefulness of youth, how long it will be ere the last sands of the old man's life will have run out; and Dallas, trembling between hope and fear, wonders whether the Earl has put his name down in his will for a lump sum, as well as for the regular allowance which is paid to him from the estate, as it was to his father before him.

He has a good many debts, which, though not individually very serious, are hampering him somewhat, and of which he is most unwilling that the existence should come to the knowledge of Yolande or her trustees. The small sum of two hundred a year, which is his allowance for pocket money under his marriage settlement until Yolande inherits her uncle's and aunt's fortunes, will be forestalled for years to clear off these debts, unless the Earl has remembered him with a stray thousand pounds or so.

"Dallas, you won't be angry, will you, if I say something?" Yolande whispers falteringly, flushing and creeping closer to him.

"No, dear; I hope not," Dallas answers, guessing what is coming.

"You won't make me so miserable again as I have been to-day, will you?" she pleads humbly and tenderly, caressing his hand, but not venturing to look up into his face. "I have been so unhappy to-day — oh, so unhappy, dear!"

"Jealous?" — and Dallas smiles, as he chucks her under the chin. "No, dear, I'll give you no real cause for unhappiness on that score. I can't answer for imaginary causes, you know."

"I shall not make unhappiness for myself without a real cause, Dallas," Yolande says, with a sigh.

"You shall have no real cause, my darling!" Dallas assures her affectionately, but wondering at the same time, with grim amusement, how he could contrive to keep Yolande and Joyce on good terms with him and each other while they all remain under the same roof.

"I almost wish, upon my word, that Yolande would go up to London in the morning," he thinks. "I have a presentiment that mischief will come of her visit here. I have felt it all along."

"Well, I won't worry you about imaginary grievances, my dearest," jealous Yolande says fondly, her pale face lighting up anew with happy hope, as she dutifully kisses her lord's hand in gratitude for his goodness to her. As she does so, she misses one well known gewgaw from the slender fingers.

"Where is that beautiful red cameo ring, Dallas," she asks — "that one I admire so much? You haven't lost it, I hope?"

"No, oh, no!" Dallas answers quickly, with rather overdone carelessness of tone; and involuntarily, as he is startled into remembrance, he puts his hand into his vest pocket to feel if the other ring is safe.

"Is it there?" Yolande asks, smiling, nestling closer, and playfully twining her fingers within his, as she thinks how she will take the ring from him, put it on his finger formally, repeat a passage from the marriage service over it, and say—"Now Dallas, we are married over again."

"Don't!" he says irritably and sharply, pushing her hand away. "No, no! It isn't here!" And he is so startled to find that Joyce's ring is not in his vest pocket, where he thought he had placed it, that he loses his presence of mind.

He looks about on the carpet eagerly, then thrusts his fingers into the pocket on the right side of his vest, and, getting somewhat distracted, jerks the ring up for a moment into the light, as he gropes after it.

The diamonds, catching the firelight, emit a scintillating ray, and Yolande sees it.

"Oh, Dallas, what is that?" she asks, with open-eyed amazement. "A diamond ring! Oh, it is a splendid one, I know! Do let me see it dear! It's yours, isn't it?"

"No—that is—it isn't mine— it's only a friend's—lent it to me — at least, to take to the jeweler's when I go up to town. Something's the matter with the setting of one of the stones," Dallas stammers confusedly, as he starts up and walks over to his dressing-case.

"Even so, why may I not look at it for a moment?" Yolande asks very quietly, a strange benumbed feeling creeping over her.

For, as by a lightning flash, all is revealed to her, as she stands there, her angered spirit clearly perceives what her husband is trying to conceal from her. An icy shudder of wrath and excitement shakes her from head to foot.

"You might let me see it?" she persists in a cold, quiet voice, following him.

"Well, there!" he says, handing it to her in sullen desperation; and Yolande examines the ring attentively in silence.

"It is a beautiful ring," she remarks at length, handing it back to him — "a beautiful ring, and I should think a valuable one. You got that to-day in exchange for yours. I saw your red cameo ring on at breakfast time. This is a pledge of future fidelity from your lady love, I suppose?"

There is not a trace of anger or excitement in her voice; she even laughs — a cold, mirthless laugh — though a grayish pallor like that of death overspreads her face to the very lips.

Dallas, in his mortification and regret, can not find a word to say. He is ashamed of himself, angry with Yolande, and humbled before her, who has trusted and loved him only too well.

And Yolande, seeing that he has not a word to say in his own defence, turns away, with a disdainful smile and shrug of the shoulders.

"Rather a hopeless thing for poor Miss Murray, if she is waiting for my death!" she says deliberately. "We are both rather young, you see, and she is five years older than I. Thank you for a pleasant visit!"

She laughs as she turns the handle of the door of her room; and Dallas, who has been standing stock-still, now starts forward, panting with excitement.

"Come back!" he cries hurriedly. "Yolande, do you hear me? Come back, I tell you!"

"No, thank you," she replies, with a slight, scornful laugh, closing the door. But the next moment it is snatched back from her hand, and her husband stands in the doorway, his eyes lurid with rage and excitement.

"Yolande," he says slowly, "if you leave me now in anger and jealousy, refusing any explanation or any apology for — for — what has annoyed you, and attributing the worst motives to me, I tell you once and for all it is the last time that you and I shall be more than strangers to each other! You have had your innings and have treated me with unwifely disobedience and injustice since the day we were married — it is my turn now! I have pleaded with you for your affection and for forgiveness for the trouble I caused you; now I tell you I will put up with your disdain and coldness, your airs and tempers, no longer — I am tired of them!"

"And I am tired of putting up with your neglect and unkindness, and your insulting admiration and preference for another woman — vaunted before my face, and carried to the utmost lengths behind my back!" retorts Yolande, reckless and desperate.

Dallas bits his lip to prevent his uttering stronger words than hers.

"You have heard what I said, Yolande," he says, speaking quietly, but with difficulty. "If you leave my room now, you shall never enter it again with my permission; you and I shall be strangers to the end of our lives, unless you come back to me now as my submissive wife."

"I am to be your 'submissive wife' and Joyce Murray your beloved 'sweetheart!'" Yolande sneers, though it appears to her she is thrusting a knife into her own heart as she utters the taunting words. "No, not if you went down on your knees to me!"

"I have not the slightest intention of going down on my knees to you," Dallas rejoins. "This is final, then. Good night, and — good-bye!"

"Good-bye!" Yolande says, very bravely, shutting the door and locking it with a decisive click.

CHAPTER XXI.

Yolande shuts the door behind her husband and herself, and stands defiant, palpitating, smiling, flushed from her miserable victory, for the space of five minutes. Then she shivers as she looks all around the big, cold, gloomy room — her "mausoleum," as Dallas called it — and sighs — a weary, despairing sigh that is almost a moan.

"I am so wretched!" she murmurs, and bursts into tears.

She is standing close to the door still, and, laying her head against the wall, she sobs aloud. Dallas is sure to hear her, and sure, of course, to knock at the door to ask her what is the matter.

Five minutes later, Yolande is exhausted by her fit of weeping, and is shivering violently; but no notice is taken of her misery. Then she sits down and listens for a time. She can hear Captain Glynne moving about his room; by-and-by there is silence, and she can see the warm glow of the firelight through the keyhole and beneath the door. He is in bed and sleeping comfortably; and everyone in the house has retired, for it is close upon midnight, and there is not a sound to be heard but the mournful wailing of the wind and the passionate beat of the rain in gusts against the windows, while in a distant stable-yard a house-dog howls loud and long.

Yolande begins to think of the old Earl on his death-bed, and to wonder whether the fading life will flicker out before the dawning of the next day, and how he will look when he is dead and lying in solemn state in his coffin, until superstitious terrors begin to creep over her, and the shadowy corners of her large room seem filled with misty shapes of horror.

Oh to see Dallas now! Oh to hear his voice and feel the warm clasp of his dear hand! He is her wedded husband, her very own, and not Joyce Murray's; and she will seek him humbly, meekly, dutifully—his "submissive wife" — as he has told her she shall be.

"So I will," she says, abandoning all her high and haughty resolves, her coldness and disdain, without a second thought, all other feelings overborne by and submerged in her sudden passionate yearning for a sight of her husband's face. "Let him be angry with me, or blame, or punish me if he likes! He has a right, the best right in the world to make me obey him, my own, dear, married love!" she whispers to herself, trembling in mingled hope and fear.

She will confess all her faults to him most humbly, she resolves; she will ask his forgiveness, if she has wronged him—ay, on her knees, if he bids her; she will conquer his anger and his coldness by the meekness of her obedience, the warmth of her love; she will ask him to kiss her and tell him she cannot know sleep or rest estranged so cruelly from him.

So she softly knocks at his door, and, finding there is no response—ah, cruel Dallas, to have fallen placidly to sleep while she is in such unrest and wretchedness!—gently turns the key in the lock, and tries to open the door.

Even the sound of his voice will comfort her; even to hear him say, "Good-night, Yolande," in pleasant tones will be happiness.

She tries to open the door, but it is bolted on the inside, and the lock, being an old one, rattles.

"Who is there?" Dallas calls sharply, in a half-awake and very cross voice.

Yolande's first impulse is to fly from the door and be silent; then comes over her again the renewed longing to speak to him.

"It is I, dear—Yolande," she answers in very unsteady, husky tones; and she is terrified to hear him leap out of bed, muttering angrily, and pushing the chairs about as he searches for his dressing-gown.

"Oh, it's no matter—never mind! Oh, please don't disturb yourself, dear!" Yolande calls in subdued tones, in an agony of regret and shame and vexation at her own sentimental folly.

(To be continued.)

YOUR HOME JOY

WILL BE FULL WHEN YOU BECOME A REGULAR USER OF

Malt Breakfast Food

IT IS THE CEREAL FOOD THAT PEOPLE TALK ABOUT EVERYWHERE

THERE ARE POOR IMITATIONS BUT NOTHING TO EQUAL IT AS A STRENGTH AND HEALTH-GIVER.

The joys of home life are not fully attained until your breakfast becomes a relish and pleasure. When you become a regular user of Malt Breakfast Food at the morning meal, you truly begin to enjoy life, because this marvellously delicious food keeps digestion perfect, adds to physical strength and keeps up vitality. It is the food that people talk about everywhere. There are poor imitations; avoid them and insist upon having Malt Breakfast Food. Your Grocer can supply you.

BOTHA SUCCEEDS KRUGER

Result of Conferences Between the Boer Leaders.

The Parties to the Conferences Were Former President Kruger and Generals Dewet, Botha and Delarey—Rumors That After Dr. Leyds Is Disposed of Ex-State Secretary Rietz Will Try to Influence Europe to Assist the Boer Irreconcilables.

London, Aug. 26.—Cabling from Brussels the correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says he hears that as a result of the conferences between Former President Kruger and the Boer generals, Dewet, Botha and Delarey, Mr. Kruger is to resign the leadership of the Boer people. General Botha, adds the correspondent, was unanimously designated future leader of the Boers.

Leyds Asked to Quit.

Brussels, Aug. 26.—The Boer generals have notified the employes of the Transvaal legation that their services will no longer be required after the end of September, when the legation will be abolished.

When they conferred with Dr. Leyds last week the generals suggested the desirableness of his surrender of his position as representative of the former Transvaal republic.

On the disappearance of Dr. Leyds it is thought probable that ex-State Secretary Reitz will become leader of the irreconcilables and attempt to organize an anti-British campaign in Europe.

Boers Sail Away.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Aug. 26.—The British transport Staffordshire sailed yesterday for Cape Town with 1,060 Boers who had been prisoners in the detention camps on these islands.

Across the House.

Cape Town, Aug. 25.—On Friday Sir John Gordon Sprigg and members of his Ministry voted with the Afrikander Bund by crossing the House.

WORKED A SMOOTH CON. GAME.

St. Catharines Farmer Thought He Bought $1,000,000 Building Cheap.

Buffalo, Aug. 26.—Gordon Pearsall, a farmer living near St. Catharines, Ont., has purchased the mammoth Ellicott square building for $1,200. The fake deal was put through by a confidence man who secured $600 down and then lit out while the unsuspecting farmer went home to get the balance of the money. The swindle was perpetrated a week ago yesterday and has just leaked out. Pearsall came to Buffalo to deposit $600 and wandered into the Ellicott square, where he met the confidence man, who introduced himself as J. Milton McCormick, the reaper manufacturer. He was shown through the building by McCormick, who gave orders to the employes and had the air of a man of wealth. Pearsall confided in him and finally a bargain was struck.

Railway Directors Elected.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The provisional directors of the Ottawa, Brockville and St. Lawrence Railway Company met here yesterday and elected the following directors: J. Carling Kelly, Ottawa; W. Douglas Dales, London, Eng.; Dr. A. T. Shillington, Ottawa; Capt. John Hutt, Liverpool, N.S.; Capt. J. T. Curry, Toronto; John Bingham and Frank O'Reilly, Ottawa. The road will connect with the G.T.R. at Brockville, and give that system direct connection with the Capital for its Toronto and western traffic.

Pacific Cable's Progress.

London, Aug. 26.—A cable which is to connect Canada with Australia across the Pacific, now being laid at the joint expense of the United Kingdom, Canada and the Australian Commonwealth, has already been completed from Vancouver, B.C., to Fanning Island, just south of the Hawaiian Islands, and it is expected the entire line will be completed by the end of the present year.

Shot Policeman and Escaped.

Buffalo, Aug. 26.—About 11.45 o'clock last night while Policeman Shickler was guarding three prisoners in a patrol wagon one of the men pulled a gun and shot Shickler through the head. As soon as the shot was fired all three prisoners made their escape. The names of the prisoners are not known. Shickler will likely die.

Picked Up Unconscious.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—A man was picked up unconscious on the C. P. R. track near Ottawa yesterday morning. His skull was fractured and an arm broken. He was brought to St. Luke's Hospital and is lying there in a critical condition. Nothing is known about him, but the name Barland is tattooed on his arm.

Millionaire Commits Suicide.

Honolulu, Aug. 16, via San Francisco, Aug. 25.—A. G. Mitchell, reputed to be a millionaire from Michigan, a passenger on the steamer Coptic, committed suicide Aug. 12, when the vessel was three days out from San Francisco by jumping overboard. His mind, it is thought, was unhinged by illness.

The Magistrate Removed.

Pekin, Aug. 25.—The Government has removed the magistrate in whose jurisdiction the missionaries Lewis and Bruce—the former an Englishman and the latter an Australian—were killed at Chen-Chou, in Hunan Province, and has sent troops there to restore order.

Stabbed in the Eye.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Fred Burr was stabbed in the eye at Delhi, a fishing resort on Lake Manitoba, by Baptiste De Fowe. All were engaged in the fish business.

IT REALLY COSTS LESS

than Japan Tea, because it goes much farther.

"SALADA"

Ceylon GREEN Tea for strength, flavor and purity is superior to the finest Japan tea grown. It is as far ahead of Japan tea as "SALADA" black is ahead of all other teas. Lead packets only, 25c & 40c per lb. By all grocers.

DR. MECKLENBURG,

M. A. D. O. S.,

Eyesight Specialist & Practical Optician,

OF MONTREAL, CAN., WILL BE AT

McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville,

MONDAY UNTIL SATURDAY NIGHT,

Sept. 1 to 6 inclusive.

Eyes examined by the best, latest and most scientific methods The Shadow Test (Skiascopy) is the only absolutely safe and reliable method, mathematically correct and accurate, no guess work nor costly mistakes. Tells at a glance what the nature of the trouble is. Satisfaction guaranteed.

CHARGES MODERATE

Hours—10 a.m. to 1 p.m., 2 to 6.30 p.m.

Prof. Dorenwend

Of Toronto, the Famous HAIR GOODS ARTIST, IS COMING. HE WILL BE AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELLEVILLE, ON SAT., AUG. 30, UNTIL 4 P.M. With every kind and style of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches of all long hair in every length and shade.

His Art Styles are known and worn by all classes everywhere.

Be sure to visit his Show Rooms at the Hotel and see his new designs. He will, free of charge, demonstrate by fitting you what is the most suitable and becoming to you.

Their use adds Health, Comfort and Younger Appearance.

Gentlemen who are Bald should investigate and see his Feather Weight Toupees and Wigs, worn on over 55,000 heads.

Please Remember Day and Date

Saturday, Aug. 30 until 4 p.m.

A HEAVY IRONING

can be done with less labor and worry when you use

BEE STARCH

Try it and prove for all time our assertion. The iron cannot stick to the linen—nor will the latter crack when BEE STARCH is used.

10 CENTS PER PACKAGE. Save the Coupons.

SNOWDON, FORBES & CO., Agts., 449 St. Paul St., Montreal. 19A

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.

Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

This Label

is an absolute guarantee of purity and quality

NOTICE DECANT CAREFULLY WITHOUT SHAKING
CARLING'S AMBER ALE

For sale by Wesley Mullen.

FOR TWENTY YEARS

we have successfully conducted a brokerage business, in

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

This concern was established in 1890; since then, transacting business at the same address. Experience counts, when selecting your Broker. "Up to Date, modern methods"—the motto of our house. Every facility supplied and all news effecting markets, promptly posted, at all of our offices, for benefit of our customers. We execute orders for large or small amounts, either for cash or upon exceedingly moderate margins.

Issued free, our 400 page, clothbound illustrated "Guide to Investors." and "Daily Market Letter."

These two are factors of moment—They will aid you to success,

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

373 Front St., - Belleville, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

AUTUMN 1902

New Autumn Dress Goods.

We have received within the past few days a large shipment of

New Dress Materials

Direct from the fashion centres of Europe. They include all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this coming season.

In Broadcloths, Coverts, Vicunas, Zebelines,

Poplins, Homespuns, Friezes and Tweed Effects.

A word about the finish of all our Dress Coods this season—They are all finished in the celebrated "Ripley Finish." This particular finish is a perfect guarantee that the goods are thoroughly shrunk and will not spot.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

DIRECT IMPORTERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT J. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's Jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 310 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

PUT THESE ON AND SEE THAT YOUR CHOCOLATES ARE STAMPED THUS
GB

"G. B." Chocolates are ever increasing in popularity and favor with the chocolate eating public. Over eighty varieties of this famous brand made. They are "The finest in the land." 60c a lb. mixed.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up.

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD: subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locs charged as less than twenty-five words.

Weather permitting, the band will play on the park to-night.

There was no business for the Police Magistrate to-day.

A large excursion party from Thurlow went down the bay to-day.

The proposed Labor Day demonstration which was to have been held at Deseronto, has been called off.

Mr. Jas. Wallace reports to the police that a drill was recently stolen from off his premises.

Remember the D.S.B.G. and go on Luton's Excursion Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Glen Island and Glenora, per Aletha. a25-2t

By a typographical error in the Council Committee report in Saturday's paper the remark: "It was a sharp trick, anyway," was credited to Ald. Wills instead of to Ald. Sinclair.

Take either the Niagara or Alexandria for Rochester, Saturday, August 30. Tickets good until Monday eve. Alexandria leaves Belleville 11 a.m.; Niagara leaves Belleville 10.30 p.m. Fare $1.50. See bills for full particulars. a26-3td

Mrs. A. A. Campbell is prepared to take music pupils at her residence in the Metropolitan Block, Campbell St., after the 1st September. Telephone 90. 9,12,19,26,28,30.

Miss Sidna H. Brown, late pupil of Miss Archer, of Toronto, will receive pupils in violin after Sept. 1st, at the residence of C. H. Vermilyea, Bridge St. Arrangements may be made with Miss Brown any time during August.

A.O.F. annual excursion to Summerville, Port of Rochester, per steamers North King and Caspian, on Saturday, Aug. 30 and Sunday, Aug. 31, leaving Belleville 11.38 p.m. Fare $1.50. Good to return any time up to Sept. 6th, $2.00. a9,16,23,26,28d&4tw

On receipt of our Company's cheque for a Matured Endowment, a well-known citizen writes: "I am certainly much pleased iwth the outcome of my policy. It indeed proved a profitable investment, in addition to carrying my risk." S. Burrows, Gen. Agt. The Mutual Life Co., of Canada.

THE BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Write for Catalogue.

Departments.

1. Bookkeeping and Commercial Usages—up-to-date in every respect. 2. Shorthand and Typewriting—Thorough office practice. 3. Telegraphing—Special attention given to Railroad work. Students may enter any day. A few dollars invested in a good business education will yield large profits.—J. FRITH JEFFERS, M.A., Principal.

Bargains in Ladies' Blouses

Any Colored, White or Fancy Stripe Blouse in the store at 75c, $1.00, $1.25 or $1.50 to clear in two days at

49c each

All Blouses at 50c will go at

29c each

AT—

McINTOSH BROS.

THE MELROSE OIL WELL

IT IS EXPECTED THAT DRILLING WILL BE RECOMMENCED BY FRIDAY NEXT.

It will be remembered that it was stated in these columns not long ago that the contract had been let for a continuation of the drilling at the Melrose oil well. The contract was given to a firm named Peat, of Petrolea, and to-day the necessary machinery is being placed in position, Mr. Peat, the head of the firm, himself being supervisor of the operations. It is expected that by Thursday evening the hole drilled some time ago will be pumped out, and that the drilling proper will recommence on Friday. Mr Rosenzi and many of the inhabitants of Melrose are quite sanguine as to the result.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Mrs. Wm. Cross, of Madoc, spent to-day in the city.

Miss Chase, of New York, is visiting Mrs. C. Hudson, William St.

Mr. Wm. Lattimer is spending a few days in the country with friends.

Mrs. C. Hudson has returned home, after a six weeks' stay at Preston Springs.

Miss Carrie E. Crawford, of Syracuse, is visiting her sister, Mrs. John A. Vickens.

Mr. Richard Jose Ferrer, the Spanish violinist, well known here, has settled in Toronto.

Mrs. Terrill, Octavia St., returned yesterday from a month's outing at Mount Julien, Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sager, of Rochester, N.Y., are spending a few days in the city. Mr. Sager is an old Belleville boy.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Armistead and family, who have been visiting friends and relatives at Toronto, St. Catharines, Listowel and London, returned home last night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton and son, Earl, who have been visiting at Belleville, Madoc and Campbellford for the past two months, have returned to their home in Strathroy.

At the Quinte: C. W. Henderson, A. Bevis, W. E. Dobbs, C. Jeffrey, J. Lowden, F. Thayer, I. Barrington, J. Paton, F. V. Clisdell, W. J. Shannon, Toronto; A. Riddell, Gilmour; T. Hardy, E. Parker, F. L. Smith, H. J. Fisher, Montreal; L. Wright, Picton; C. A. Sawyer and wife, Rochester; C. M. Wallbridge, Mrs. W. Cross, Madoc; Miss H. Jackson, Simcoe; V. Pistane and daughter, Sydney, N.S.; S. C. MacGowan, Saratoga, N.Y.

NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS AND EXHAUSTED.

Not sick enough to lay up, but you are out of sorts, blood is weak, nerves unstrung, kidneys deranged, vitality is low. You should take Ferrozone at once; it will enrich, strengthen and purify the blood, invigorate and pacify the nerves, and increase your energy, vitality and power. Ferrozone will renew your appetite and digestion, make you sleep soundly—in fact will make you well. Try Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50; at druggists, or J. S. McKeown's.

Fire at Trenton

A double frame dwelling belonging to Mrs. Thomas Burton, of Trenton, was yesterday afternoon badly damaged by fire. Mrs. Burton occupied one portion of the building and Mrs. E. Wicks the other. Loss on building and contents partially covered by insurance.

Wedded at Kingston

Miss Ida LaRue, of Detroit, Mich., and Mr. John O'Neil, of Picton, were married at Kingston yesterday by the Rev. Eber Crummey. The bride is a daughter of Mrs Paul LaRue, a former resident of this city.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv.

23,25,62,27

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

When a girl gets an engagement ring she becomes very much habituated to feeling to find out if the back of her hair is fixed right.

What a miserable fool is the man who says "there is no God." Is it not as likely that there is an eternal God as there is an eternal substance?

Black Dress Goods

Our line of Black Dress Goods is now complete with the newest things in plain and fancy weaves consisting of Broadclohes, Zebelines, Canvas Cloth, Cashmere, Venetian, etc. Also a very fine range of Black Cheviots which is probably the most serviceable suit or skirt material to be had.

—50 inch All Wool Black Cheviots, a fine suiting .... 60c.

Colored Lustre

The newest material for blouses and light dresses.

These makes are fine as silk, but much more serviceabe, in Cream, Blue, Green and Pink, 48" wide 95c

Flannels

Our new French Flannels are now in. We think them much the prettiest ever shown here. In colorings of Old Rose, Blue, Green and Red, mostly with borders for trimming 50c

Belts

At our centre you will always find what is newest in Belts. Here are some.

—Gilded Belts with fancy buckle 25c

—Black Moire shaped Belts, satin bound 65c

Kid Gloves

We are agents for Perrin's celebrated Kid Glove which are guaranteed, from $1 per pair up.

See our Adonis, what we consider the best Glove on the market, for $1 00

Flannelettes

Our English Flannelettes have arrived, these are the best to wash and wear.

—32 inch heavy flette 5c
—32 inch English 10c
—36 inch English, notice the width 15c

Silk Gloves

We now have the elbow and full length Silk Gloves.

—Elbow Glove, fine quality, White or Cream 50c
—Full length Black or White 75c

Handkerchiefs

Children's Colored Bordered Handkerchiefs 1c
White Lawn Handkerchief, suitable for school, ... 3c and 4c
Fine White Lawn Handkerchief, open work border and hem, very pretty 5c

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

Fell From a Scaffold

Mr. George Pearson, a painter, yesterday afternoon fell from a scaffold whilst at work at St. Thomas' Church Rectory. Although no bones were broken Mr. Pearson was badly shaken up and rendered unconscious for some time.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness, Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

When a girl begins to find fault with the fit of a young man's clothing he had about as well go and get the marriage license.

The Imperial Life of Canada was the first Company in Canada to place its entire policy reserves on a 3 1-2 per cent. interest basis, and its Government deposit is larger than that of any other Canadian Life Insurance Co. It has $168 for every $100 liabilities to policy holders. Its profits to policy holders are larger, thus decreasing the cost of Life Insurance to such an extent that premiums are merely a moderate interest. Hunt & Jeffers, opposite the Post Office represent the Imperial.

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE—For Artistic Work

"MARVELLOUS"

Big value—That's what they are—we refer to our sale of Rockingham Tea pots. They were bought cheap—They are to be sold cheaper as we wish to clear them out at ouce.

Tea Pots that were 15c now going at - - -	11c
Tea Pots that were 18c now going at - - -	12c
Tea Pots that were 20c now going at - - -	14c
Tea Pots that were 25c now going at - - -	16c
Tea Pots that were 30c now going at - - -	20c
Tea Pots that were 35c now going at - - -	22c

If you want a good serviceable teapot now is your chance, you'll make by buying now

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1902. NO. 99

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents. Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

"No Reasonable Man expects to cure a neglected cold in a day. But time and Allen's Lung Balsam will overcome the cold and stave off consumption. Cough will cease and lungs be sound as a new dollar.

Oh! Listen to the Binder

Wheat Cutting is Now General in the Prairie Province.

Thirty Bushels to the Acre of No. 1 Hard Manitoba Wheat is the Average—New Elevators Absolutely Needed—Efforts of Railroads Centred Around the Transportation.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—The following is a synopsis of the crop report of the Canadian Northern Railway for the week ending August 23. What it contains may generally be offered as representing other sections:

Emo—Wheat cutting is general. The estimate of yield of wheat is 22 bushels; oats and barley, 37 bushels.

Steinbach—Oats and barley nearly all harvested. About half of the wheat crop cut.

St. Anne—Several farmers have cut their wheat and oats and are threshing. Average yield of wheat 25 to 30 bushels.

Eli—Harvesting is general. Wheat average 22 bushels.

Oakville—Harvesting is general. Wheat 25 to 30 bushels.

Portage la Prairie—Wheat cutting will be general next week.

Beaver—Cutting general on Monday; average 25.

Gladstone—Wheat cutting will be general next week.

Plumas—Cutting will be general next week; 23 bushels per acre.

Makinak—Harvesting will be general on Monday; wheat 20 to 25 bushels.

Ochre River—Harvesting will be general next week.

Cutting is General.

Dauphin—Harvesting began Monday.

Ethelbert—Cutting begins in a week.

Mintona's cutting will be finished next week.

Swan River—Harvesting will be general next week.

Gilbert Place—Cutting has started and will be general next week.

At St. Agatne, Morris, St. Jean. Letellier and Emerson—Cutting general.

In Full Swing.

Roland—Harvesting is in full swing; yield very heavy.

Rosebank—Cutting general.

Miami—Harvesting is general.

Somerset—All grains are ready to cut; wheat will average 30 bushels to acre.

Swan Lake—Cutting is general.

Baldur—Harvesting in full swing.

Belmont—Wheat cutting in full swing.

Hilton—About 10 per cent. of wheat cut.

Wawanesa—Wheat cutting will be general in a day or two.

Methuen Junction—Cutting will be general the first of the week.

By the End of the Week.

Rounthwaite—Cutting will be general by the end of next week.

Brandon—Cutting will be general in a week.

Minette—Cutting is general.

Dunrea—Cutting will be general next week.

Margaret—Cutting is becoming general.

Minto—Cutting is general.

Elgin—Cutting has commenced.

Hartney—Cutting will be general the middle of next week.

Sperling—Harvesting is well under way.

Homewood—Cutting is general.

Carman—Cutting general.

The yield, generally, from nearly all points is reported at from 25 to 30 bushels an acre.

No frost or damage of any kind. Some papers thru the West predict a grain blockade this fall, claiming there is not sufficient rolling stock to take care of the harvest products. The railway companies, however, have some hundreds of box cars under construction, and are making big efforts to be ready for it.

Threshing has commenced in Morden district on the farm of Mr. Dick, south of the town. A sample was extra No. 1 hard, and averaged over 30 bushels per acre. Wheat will all be cut around Morden by Saturday night. Threshing has also commenced at St. Anne, east of Winnipeg.

This season C. C. Casell, warehouse commissioner, issued permission for the erection of 157 elevators in Manitoba and Northwest Territories, with a total capacity of 4,500,000 bushels. All will be ready to receive this season's crop.

Will Want 20,000 Men.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Hugh McKellar, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Manitoba, wired the Manitoba Government's office in this city yesterday morning, as follows: Harvest on with a rush; men all picked up on arrival. Will want full complement of 20,000 men, as announced.

Getting down to figures, Mr. Hartney said that official figures showed that up till Monday 8800 harvesters had passed North Bay from Ontario and the East. Since then an excursion of 43 coaches has gone thru, and Mr. Hartney estimates that 2200 persons were carried on it. Further, there was an excursion from Quebec, which he estimated would include at least 1000 souls.

This would bring the total to 13,200.

BLAZE AT THE STATION YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

OLD WAREHOUSE, OWNED BY THE G.T.R., COMPLETELY DESTROYED.

A spark from a passing engine on the Grand Trunk Railway yesterday afternoon set fire to an old stone warehouse situated in the company's yard, just east of the station here. When discovered the roof was blazing freely and the flames, fanned by a good breeze, spread rapidly, and in a few minutes the structure was doomed. The Fire Brigade at the station were soon upon the scene, an alarm was sounded in the city and the local brigade responded with alacrity. Owing to a number of buildings being in close proximity to the burning warehouse the firemen had to work hard to keep the flames from spreading, and in this they were successful. The roof of a large storehouse used by Mr. Thos. Watkin for storing cheese was on fire a number of times, but the blaze was soon put out, and the structure saved. Mr. Watkin reports that he sustained no loss.

The storehouse burned was the property of the Grand Trunk Company and was insured. It was occasionally used for storing cheese, but there was none in at the present time. The destroyed building had been on fire a number of times of late years, but prompt action saved it. There was in the building some material belonging to the Railway Company, which was destroyed.

BIG SALE OF BOW TIES.

Starting to-morrow (Thursday) morning the Oak Hall will offer one of the greatest bargains in neckwear ever shown in Belleville. The choice of just 50 dozen strap bow ties, pure silk and each tie worth 25c., while the sale lasts, just 3 for 25c. Notice it now, 3 silk bow ties for 25c. Display in north window.

GENERAL CONFERENCE OF METHODIST CHURCH

BRIDGE ST. CHURCH WILL SEND THREE REPRESENTATIVES.

The General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada will open next week in the city of Winnipeg, and will be in session for at least two weeks. The delegates from this city are Rev. Dr. Crothers, Ald. Chown and Mr. Wm. Johnson. Bridge St. Church is the only church in the Dominion which will have three representatives at this important gathering.

Waterproof Coat Stolen

Mr. W. Herrington, who is an employee of Mr. Walter Lambert, reports that some time last night a waterproof coat was taken from Mr. Lambert's premises, which belonged to him. The police are endeavoring to locate the thief.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

P. E. Co. Farmer's Terrible Death

HORSES RAN AWAY AND DRIVER WAS CAUGHT IN A BINDER AND GASHED BY THE KNIVES.

A distressing and fatal accident occurred yesterday afternoon upon the farm of the late Mr. C. Wannamaker, 4th concession of Ameliasburg township. The farm was being worked by Mr. Robert Darling, who is a nephew of Mrs. Wannamaker. Yesterday he was engaged in driving a binder to which were attached three horses.

It appears that one of the outside animals did not have a bit in its mouth, and during the afternoon became restive on account of flies bothering it and Mr. Darling could not manage it properly. The action of this animal caused the other two to become frightened and off the three started at a lively gait across the field.

In his endeavor to get off the binder Mr. Darling was caught in some part of the machine and was dragged for some distance. When the animals were finally stopped and the unfortunate man rescued he presented a terrible appearance. His body had come in contact with the knives, cutting him severely, in fact his left arm was severed near the elbow and found on the machine after the accident. In addition to this Mr. Darling's legs were cut and there were gashes upon his face and head.

The unfortunate man was still alive and after being taken to the house, two physicians were summoned as quickly as possible, but he expired whilst they were dressing the wounds.

Mr. Darling was about 30 years of age and leaves a young widow, but no family. He had been married less than three years. Deceased was popular with all who knew him, and his untimely death has cast a gloom over the neighborhood. The remains will be interred to-morrow.

GRITS ARE GOING FROM BAD TO WORSE

OPENLY HINT AT USING SPEAKERSHIP AS A BRIBE TO BUY POWER.

Referring to the Government scheme to save the situation by purchasing a Conservative legislator with the Speakership, the Toronto Mail and Empire says: "The Speakership is one of the prizes carrying with it certain emoluments and honors. A member elected to support the Opposition is never named for it. To appoint a Conservative would be throwing the children's meat to the dogs. But Mr. Ross is quite willing to give this position, and all that goes with it to one of the Uitlanders in order to effect a change of two votes in the House, and to save himself. The machine press regards the idea as excellent. One paper describes it as a masterly manoeuvre, and hints that no member elected by the people to put this Government out, and to destroy its machine would refuse to accept so liberal a reward for the violation of his trust." Another organ, the Dundas Banner, declares in language more forcible than elegant, that "for one of the "Opposition to accept office at this "juncture would be a black eye to "the whole Tory party, and would "give Mr. Whitney the spasms." The movement looking to the rescue of the Ministry by this process of purchase has taken shape; and the Government has received the rebuffs which its invitation to treason to the public interests deserves. The Conservatives approached have intimated that they were sent to the Legislature to put an end to corrupt rule, and that nothing can induce them to be unfaithful to their mandate. That the utilization of the Speakership should be discussed in the Government press and in terms which imply that corrupt manoeuvring is a virtue, would be extraordinary were it not that we have had something of this nature before. When the ballot-box stuffing was exposed, the Ministers conceived the idea of weakening the Opposition. A first attempt was made upon Mr. Foy, that gentleman being offered a judgeship as a reward for abandoning political life. Mr. Foy, be it said to his honor, spurned the suggestion, and stood by the people. Worthy as he is to occupy a position on the bench, he declined to desert the province at a time when the efforts of its best men are needed to restore to it popular rule, and to bring about the complete reform of its various departments. This case involved a traffic in judgeships. The new expedient is an attempt to buy with the Speakership. It seems to be the opinion of the present Ontario Ministers that they have inherent in themselves the authority to rule. If the people are disposed to object, the right to shuffle the constituencies can be exercised. When the gerrymander fails, the stuffing of ballot-boxes is in order. If the ballot-boxes are not stuffed with sufficient skill and liberality to make the Government safe, then, as a last resort, a member or so can be purchased with an office. We have in the Ontario Government the most grasping and immoral combination that has ever disgraced any province. It will do anything to thwart the people, and to hold on. A shocking feature of the situation is the fact that a portion of the public press, issued in the name of Liberalism, is as ready to applaud attempt corruption in the Legislature as to defend the stuffing of the ballot-boxes and the bribing of electors. The Dundas Banner, for example, looks upon the proposal to use the Speakership corruptly as a clever trick to out-manoeuvre the people, and as worthy of the Ross Government."

Where there is a Baby, there should be Nestlé's Food

For more than 35 years Nestlé's Food has been the favorite of the intelligent physician, and a household word the world over.

Nestlé's Food makes vigorous, healthy children and keeps them so. No other food is so readily digested and assimilated.

Nestlé's Food is purity itself and requires the addition of water only (no milk) to prepare it for use.

Sample free to any address.

LEEMING MILES & CO., MONTREAL.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Quinte Encampment.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Midweek Services Protestant Churches.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Fine and warm to-day and on Thursday.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	67
12 m.	77
2 p.m.	81
3 p.m.	81

TORONTO FAIR EXCELS ITSELF.

The arrangements for Toronto Exhibition, which will be opened on Monday, September 1, (Labor Day), by the Earl of Dundonald, are now complete, and it can confidently be asserted that they will be found on a greater and grander scale than in any previous year. The entries in all classes, and especially in live stock, are in excess of anything ever known in Toronto, and consequently at any fair on this continent, whether it be dignified by the term "World's" or held annually. Not only in live stock will the Exhibition, which will be open from Monday, September 1, (Opening Day), to September 12 (Review Day), excel records previously made, but in every other department the number of exhibits will be larger, while the territory covered is phenomenal, taking in Ontario, British Columbia, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, Ohio, Missouri, Quebec, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New York State, Michigan, New Ontario, Guiana and the West Indies, and Great Britain. As in exhibits, so in attractions all former efforts will be well beaten. No fewer than 30 bands, comprising 1,000 musicians, have been engaged to supply music. And to crown all, there are the new Dairy Building (with an area of space, covered by products of the dairy), in which demonstrations and competitions conducted by learned professors will take place, and the new Art Gallery, in which will be on view the best work of Canada's artists, with some famous pictures from the States, and a grand display of photography. Arrangements have been made with all railways and steamboat lines for a single fare during the entire period of the Fair, and for three one-cent-a-mile excursions the first week, and two the second.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Special Corset Sale

For this week's Corset selling we will clear One Hundred and Seventy Eight (178) pairs B. & C., Crompton's, B. & I. and E. T. Corsets, all this season's New Styles including Summer Nets, Fine Sateens, and French Coutills in Girdles, Medium and Full Lengths

Here are the Prices at which these will sell.

All 50c and 75c Summer Corsets will sell for	35c
75c White Steel Filled Corsets will sell for	59c
60 pairs Straight Front $1.00 Corsets will sell for	69c
40 pairs of $1.25 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	95c
18 pairs of $1.50 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	$1.10

Sizes range from 18 to 30

Do You Want

A Fine Black Sateen Underskirt for 95c?

If you need a Skirt just look at the Fine Black Sateen Skirts as shown in our window, nicely made, full flounce and hemstitched, for Ninety Five Cents.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

A pure hard Soap

SURPRISE SOAP

MAKES CHILD'S PLAY OF WASH DAY.

SATISFACTORY SCHOOL SHOES.

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

SCHOOL SHOES FOR YOUR BOYS

Mothers bring the boys in with you and let us fit them with NEAT, DURABLE, EASY school boots—bring the girls, too—we have just the boots to please them—the kind which will come up to your standard of quality.

Boys' neat, durable lace boots, sizes 1 to 5—at $1.00. $1.25, and $1 50

Youths' lace boots—strictly reliable, at 90c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1 50

Boots For All the Children.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's. At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

SUPPLIES FOR

Picnic and Camp.

Wallbridge and Clarke offer a fine assortment of Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Fish, Table Delicacies, Sugar-Cured Hams and Bacon. Fancy Cheese, Fine Biscuits, etc., for Campers, Yachtsmen, Fishing and Picnic Parties.

Canned Meats—ready to serve—best quality.

Whole Ox Tongues
Lunch Tongues
Lambs Tongues
Pigs Feet
English Brawn

Cambridge Sausages
Vienna Sausages
Eng. Lunch Sausages
Veal Loaf
Lunch Bacon

Boned Chicken
Boned Turkey
Boned Duck
Jellied Tenderloin
Pate de Foie

Chipped Dried Beef
Corned Beef
Lunch Beef
Chicken Tamales
Sandwich Meats

PORK AND BEANS—Plain—or in Tomato Sauce—or in Chili Sauce.
EXTRACTS OF BEEF—Bovril, Bovril Cordial, Johnston's Fluid Beef Cordial, etc.
FISH—Ready to serve—best quality.
Deviled Crabs, Lobster, Carabus, Shrimps, Sardines, Salmon, Clams, Mackerel, Herrings, Finnan Haddies, Oysters, Tunny Fish.
Crosse & Blackwell's Anchovy, Bloater and Sardine Paste in glass jars.

Crosse & Blackwell's, Campbell's and Van Camp's Concentrated Soups.
Plain and Fancy Biscuits and Crackers.
Finest Sugar-Cured Hams and and Bacon. Light Summer Breakfast Foods.

A fine assortment of English (Crosse & Blackwell's) and Canadian and American Pickles, Olives, Capers, Sauces, Relishes, Catsups, etc.
Preserved Fruits in tins and glass. Preserved Domestic Vegetables of all kinds. Imported French Peas, Mushrooms and Haricots Verts (green beans) in tins.
Fine Old Cheddar and Stilton Cheese, MacLaren's Imperial Cream Cheese (in crocks). Roquefort Cheese (in crocks).
Extract of Coffee, Condensed Milk, St. Charles Cream.
Lime Juice, Raspberry Vinegar, Maple Syrup, etc.

Delicious Teas, Coffee, Cocoas and Chocolate

Supplies of all kinds for Summer Season:

Durkee's Salad Dressing, Crosse & Blackwell's finest Lucca Olive Oil, English Malt Vinegar, Chilli Vinegar, Tarragon Vinegar, English and French Mustard, Currie Powder, Genuine Cayenne Pepper, Celery Salt, etc.

Orders for out of town carefully packed. Close Prices. Prompt delivery.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

Bridge St. Stores
Telephone 139.
Est'd 1871
Front St. Store
Telephone 157.

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE

FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

THE TAIL-TWISTER'S CHANCE

Roosevelt, However, May Not See as Did Grover Cleveland.

United States Is Warned—London Mail Declares Europe Can No Longer Permit Piracy in West Indies—Venezuela Must Be Taught Lesson—Ciandid Bolivar Held by Revolutionists and Bombarded by 600 shells.

London, Aug. 26.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial article on Venezuela's defiance of European powers in maintaining a blockade and seizing Dutch vessels, declares it to be impossible for Europe to allow a piratical and predatory government of this type to disturb the commerce of the West Indies and the security of the Caribbean Sea.

"This time Venezuela must be taught a lesson," says the paper. After inveighing against the Monroe doctrine the editorial concludes: "America should keep her disorderly states in order and chastise them when, relying on their weakness and her protection, they offend against international law."

Taken No Official Form.

Washington, Aug. 26.—In view of cable reports from Europe indicating that a movement is on foot to have the United States join Germany, France and other powers with a view to suppressing the disorder in Venezuela, it is learned at the State Department that no such movement as the one suggested has taken official form.

3,000 Britons Abandoned.

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 26.—Ciaudad Bolivar is still in the power of the revolutionists. The town was fired upon day and night by the gunboats Bolivar and Restaurador, which attempted to land forces to re-occupy the place. About 600 shells were fired into the city. When the ammunition of the Restaurador was exhausted she left for La Guayra to obtain additional supplies, after which the bombardment will be resumed.

There are no foreign warships in the Orinoco River to protect the interests of the powers, and the British government is being blamed in certain quarters for abandoning the 3,000 subjects of Great Britain who reside in the district of Claudad Bolivar.

Blockade Not Recognized.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Aug. 26.—The Dutch government has notified Venezuela that it refuses to recognize the blockade of Venezuelan ports, as being non-effective.

A Twelve Hour's Fight.

Cape Haytien, Aug. 26.—The village of Limbe, 82 miles north of Port au Prince, has been attacked and recaptured by troops of the provisional government. Limbe was in the possession of Firminite soldiers from the Artobonite district. The fighting was severe, and lasted from midnight last night to midday to-day. Many men on both sides were killed. The town was completely destroyed by fire.

DECLINE IN WAGES BILL.

Tendency to Conciliation Noted in Industrial Life in England.

London, Aug. 27.—The annual report of the Labor Department of the Board of Trade records a decline in the wages bill of the United Kingdom for the first time since 1895. The decrease was mostly in miners' wages, no less than 625,000 miners being affected during the first half of 1902. The report says it is satisfactory to note the increased tendency to settle changes of wages by conciliation or arbitration. Only 2 per cent. of the workers whose wages were reduced in 1901 engaged in disputes on this account.

FELL TWENTY FEET.

William Vansickle, Aged 67, May Die From Injuries.

St. Thomas, Aug. 26.—William Vansickle, a farmer, residing at Dexter, was the victim of a very serious accident yesterday afternoon, which may yet cost him his life. Mr. Vansickle was in the act of shingling a barn when he lost his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. Medical aid was immediately summoned, and the discovery made that the unfortunate man's shoulder had been fractured and several ribs broken, one of the ribs puncturing his lung.

Mr. Vansickle's advanced age—67 years—will be a great handicap to his chances for recovery.

Fight on Millionaire's Yacht.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 26. — George W. Childs Drexel's yacht Alcedo, which sailed for Philadelphia to-night, was the scene this afternoon of a fight between several Halifax policemen and crew.

Several of the crew had been drinking heavily and there were three fights on board. The captain told the chief of police that fittings on the yacht worth $50 had been destroyed.

The captain afterward came up and paid the men off. They will be arraigned before the police magistrate to-morrow.

Mr. Drexel and a party of friends who are cruising with him were ashore during the fight at the residence of Geoffrey Morrow.

Where Rates Are Reduced.

Berlin, Aug. 27.—The Prussian railroad administration has reduced freight rates on exports of iron, including wire, locomotives, cars, cranes and pig iron, in response to an appeal from the western manufacturers.

Historian Lecky Gives Up.

London, Aug. 27.—Mr. William Edward Hartpole Lecky, the historian Unionist member of the House of Commons from Dublin University, will retire from Parliament at the end of next October.

Death of a Former Fenian.

Lawrence, Mass., Aug. 27.—James Cahill, a member of the famous band of Fenians, of which Allen, Larken and O'Brien were hanged in 1867, is dead.

Grand Master Attended.

Owen Sound, Aug. 27.—Grand Master Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., was here yesterday, attending the funeral of Thomas McDowall.

ANOTHER ANGLO-AMERICAN LINK.

Details of New Arrangement Concerning Mailing Parcels.

London, Aug. 17.—By the latest arrangement the British postoffice will mail parcels to the United States. The Cunard and White Star lines will convey the parcels to the United States and the American Express Company will deliver them in that country. The charges will be 24 cents for packages weighing from 7 to 11 pounds, to principal points in the United States, with an additional charge of 24 cents for a British Customs clearance fee. The United States Customs fees will also be added. A similar parcels post service is to be inaugurated from the United States to Great Britain.

The weight and size limitations of parcels accepted under this service will be the same as those now controlling the British inland parcels post, namely, a maximum weight of 11 pounds and maximum length of 6 feet for length and girth combined.

The morning papers warmly welcome the arrangement for a parcel post service between Great Britain and the United States as another link which draws the two countries together.

SOUTH AFRICAN SERVICE.

Terms of Contract Entered Into by the Dominion Government.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—The full text of the contract between the Imperial and Canadian Governments and the Allan, Elder-Dempster and Furness lines for the South African service was received yesterday by the agents of the line interested. The vessels must be under the British flag, have cold storage accommodation and to be furnished with electric light. The contract is for five years; the vessels to carry the mails between Canada and South Africa. The vessels may coal at another Canadian port. No preference is to be given against shippers of Canadian goods, and goods are to be shipped in priority according to the time received.

The total subsidy is £30,000, not £45,000, as before reported. Canada contributes two-thirds.

It is announced by the agents that the rates will be higher than the New York cut rate, but lower than the combine rates. The steamers are to run once a month. The rates are subject to the approval of the Government.

TROLLEY STRIKE PROBABLE.

Chicago Lines May Be Tied Up—President Mahon Offended.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Grave possibilities of a strike that may tie up all the street railway lines on the north and west sides of this city confront the officials of the Union Traction Company. Yesterday, by an overwhelming vote, the local union of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employes refused to accept the proposition made by President Roach several days ago. An agreement between the union and the railway company exists whereby disagreement shall be settled by arbitration. William Mahon, international president of the street car men, tried to exert his influence to avert the strike action and to urge that the union live up to the laws. A rupture, however, occurred, between the local officials and President Mahon, and he left their meeting with a statement that if the men struck without trying arbitration the general union would not support them in the issue.

LUNCHED WITH LOUBET.

President of France Entertains the First Minister of the Dominion.

Paris, Aug. 27.—The Premier of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the Canadian Minister of Finance, Hon. W. S. Fielding, visited President Loubet, at Rambouillet yesterday and remained there to luncheon, at which the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, and Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, the French Deputy and diplomat, who recently visited the United States, were also present.

When in Rome.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it is expected, when in Rome, will discuss with the Italian Government a commercial agreement with Canada. He will also endeavor to arrive at an understanding with regard to Italian emigrants sent to the Dominion.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson yesterday interviewed the director of the Commercial Department of the Foreign Office concerning interchange of trade with Canada.

Railway Bonus Voted Down.

Windsor, Aug. 27.—To the surprise of many people, the property holders of Sandwich West voted down the by-law to grant a bonus of $5,000 to the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway Company to extend its line to Amherstburg. The property-owners believed that the railway people would extend the line to Amherstburg whether they got a bonus or not.

Royal Russian Betrothal.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—It is reported that Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, 24, heir to the Russian throne, is engaged to marry the second daughter of the Grand Duchess Anatisa of Meklenburg-Schwerin, 17, the Duchess Cecile Augustine Marie.

Famous Polish Painter Dead.

Berlin, Aug. 27. — The Berliner Tageblatt announces the death of Henri Siemiradzki, a celebrated Polish historical painter, whose picture "The Living Torches of Nero," was one of the sensations of Rome in 1876. He was born in 1843.

Fell to Her Death.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Mrs. Samuel Mitchell, aged 62, fell downstairs Monday night and sustained injuries which resulted fatally yesterday morning. She was passing from one room to another without a lamp and tripped.

SUING FOR THE BOUNTIES

Some of the Ins and Outs of the Suit Against Government.

Dominion Iron and Steel Company After Payment of $196,976.15—Is Metal in Molten shape Pig Iron?—The Question at Issue Between the Parties Within the Meaning of the Statute—Witnesses Examined.

Halifax, Aug. 26.—The suit of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company v. the Dominion government, an action to recover the sum of $196,967.15, alleged to be due the company, for bounties, was commenced in the Exchequer Court to-day before Judge Burbidge. Mr. Chrysler, K.C., for plaintiff, stated that their claims were based on the statutes, which provided for the payment of bounties on all steel ingot manufactured in Canada, for a certain period after June 30, 1901, from ingredients not less than 50 per cent. of which consisted of pigiron, manufactured in Canada, and for the payment of bounties in the pigiron manufactured in Canada during the same period.

Mr. Aylesworth, K.C., representing the government, stated that the metal in molten state, was pigiron, and that the product of the blast furnace is all known as pigiron, whether cast in pigs or not. The suppliants were not content with the single bounty, but put in a double claim by refraining from solidifying the molten metal into pigs.

The suppliants effected a considerable saving in the manufacture of steel, as compared with the manufacturer who bought the pigs. The government intended the suppliant to receive the same bounty as the manufacturer, who independently manufactured pigiron or steel.

The process of transforming the metal into a molten state was not in use or contemplated in Canada when the statute on the question was passed. The whole question at issue is whether or not the metal in a molten state was pigiron or not, in the meaning of the statute.

The witnesses examined to-day were David Baker, manager of the company, Graham Fraser of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, and C. A. Meissner. The case was adjourned until to-morrow.

CABINET WAS IN SESSION.

Certificates Granted to Teachers of Domestic Science.

Toronto, Aug. 27. — The Ontario Cabinet was in session a couple of hours yesterday afternoon, doubtless discussing matters pertaining to the political situation. Premier Ross and Hon. Messrs. Davis, Dryden, Gibson and Stratton were in attendance.

Among other matters of business transacted was the granting of certificates to teach domestic science to the following candidates:

Ontario Normal School of Domestic Science, Hamilton— Mary C. MacPherson, A. C. Sutherland, Lilian M. Burke, Helen Holland, Bertha C. Copland.

The Guild, Toronto.—Miss McPhedran, Olive Patterson, Meta Macbeth, Carrie Worster, Jessie Spafford, and Hanna Bustim.

Toronto School of Domestic Science—V. Miranda Akes, Roberto M. Christie, M. Maude Fanquier, L. Gray, G. Kingsmill, Violet McGully, S. A. Morris, Annie Morrison, Gladys Sutherland, L. B. Thomson.

AMERICANS COMING TO CANADA.

Building Hatcheries on the Pacific Coast—British Laws Permit.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 26.—American salmon canners are establishing hatcheries on the Fraser River, in British Columbia. The canners asked the government to become partners in these hatcheries with them. The government replied that, if they built hatcheries they would not want any partners in the concern.

Puget Sound canners realized, however, that unless hatcheries were built, the salmon would become exterminated, and, as the nurseries of the salmon, which were caught in Puget Sound traps, were the Fraser River streams and tributaries, and hatcheries must be built on the Fraser, they inquired into British laws, and found that they could build American hatcheries in Canada, if they wanted to, in spite of British sentiment.

As a result, John Crawford, representing the Pacific Coast canneries, is here, negotiating for the erection of hatcheries on the Canadian side of the line.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Tuesday.

Montreal 0, Toronto 2.
Rochester 0, Buffalo 10.
Newark 5, Providence 6.
Newark 4, Providence 10
Jersey City 3, Worcester 12.

National League, Tuesday.

Pittsburg 8, Boston 1.
Pittsburg 3, Boston 0.
Cincinnati 0, New York 6.

American League, Tuesday.

Baltimore 0, Chicago 10.
Boston 13, St. Louis 2.
Washington 8, Detroit 7.
Philadelphia 13, Cleveland 2.

Rich Iron Veins in Norway.

Christiania, Aug. 27.—A despatch to The Aftenposten from Vadso, Northern Norway, says great veins of iron have been discovered in that neighborhood. Experts regard the deposits as incomparably rich, there being veins of from 70 to 200 metres covering a field of 15 square kilometres. It is stated that a great part of the ore which has been tested contained from 50 to 60 per cent. of iron.

Twenty-Three Train Wreckers Arrested.

London, Aug. 27.—In a despatch from Geneva the correspondent of The Daily Mail reports the arrest of twenty-three Italians, supposed to be Anarchists, in connection with alleged plot to derail the train bearing King Victor Emmanuel to Berlin.

Havana's Strike Over.

Havana, Aug. 27.—The dock laborers and others, who have been out on strike since Aug. 20, resumed work yesterday.

In Bowmanville To-Day.

London, Aug. 27.—Hon. J. Israel Tarte left for Bowmanville last night to speak at a political picnic there to-day.

COLONIAL AUXILIARY FORCE.

Officers Recommended to Receive the Decoration—List Just Issued.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The undermentioned officers of the Canadian forces will be recommended to have conferred upon them the Colonial Auxiliary Force officers' decoration:

Lieutenant-Colonel—G. Baker, 59th; Beaudreau, 76th; W. Bingham, 94th; L. Desjardines, 17th; G. S. Goodwillie, 20th; G. T. Kaulback, 75th; H. T. Lawrence, 78th; F. W. MacDonald, 19th; J. MacKay, 42nd; J. R. Wilkinson, 21st.

Surgeon-Major and Hon. Surgeon—Lieut.-Col. C. R. MacLean, 31st; Lieut.-Col. J. Pelletier, 7th.

Major and Brevet—Lieut.-Col. W. P. Appelbe, 20th; Lieut.-Col. C. N. Spooner, 47th.

Major—H. R. Cland, 31st; L. B. Doakin, 93rd; T. W. Fox, 20th; J. A. Hawley, 60th; W. Loveys, 22nd; W. Marshall, 22nd Dragoons; J. O. Martineau, 6th Regiment C. A.; W. W. Pope, 15th Regiment.

Surgeon-Major—W. McCrimmon, 20th; A. D. McGillivray, 94th; J. H. Richardson, 10th.

P. M. and Honorary Major—J. R. Barber, 20th; C. C. Clapham, 6th D.C.R.C. Hussars; J. Harrison, 93rd Regiment; J. Henderson, 32nd; J. McPhail, 82nd; C. A. Patterson, 34th; J. H. Pouliot, 89th; J. H. Rogers, 37th; F. X. Roy, 76th.

Captain and Brevet Major—J. Barwell, 44th; P. R. A. Belanger, 61st; W. Panton, 20th; E. F. Purdy, 82nd; J. Rutledge, 34th; W. W. Weyland, 58th; J. Wilson, S. S. Marie Artillery.

Captain—G. H. Black, 93rd; G. Downie, 63rd; T. H. Drinkwater, 25th; J. A. Gordon, Picton G. A.; J. W. Gray, 46th; T. J. Johnston, 46th; T. Langevin, 64th; F. H. McCallum, 25th; W. H. Nash, 95th; H. M. Phinney, 72nd; J. Pollock, 11th; G. Price, 30th; J. Rogers, 11th; D. Sutherland, 78th; J. T. Sutherland, 78th.

Quartermaster and Honorary Captains—J. Byrne, 47th; R. Dillon, 34th; H. J. Harris, 1st Regiment C. A.; W. Pollock, 11th Regiment.

Quartermaster—W. H. O'Regan, 52nd.

Lieutenant—J. R. Davies, Picton G. A.

Fifth R. R. For Halifax.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 26.—The Militia Office has been officially notified by the Imperial authorities that the Fifth Royal Regiment, now at Aldershot, will replace the Third Canadian Regiment at Halifax. It is probable that the Canadian regiment will be disbanded.

TO URGE A STARTLING REFORM.

Lawyer William S. Forrest Would Stop Murder Trials By Papers.

London, Aug. 26.—William S. Forrest, the well-known criminal lawyer, will propose a startling reform on his return to Chicago in September. Mr. Forrest says that he will lay before the Illinois bar a proposal to make it contempt of court for a newspaper to publish the details of a crime in advance of the trial.

The proposal aims to stop all newspaper investigation into crime and was suggested to Mr. Forrest by the recent charge of Justice Willis to a Midlands jury advising them to convict a newspaper for having published supposed details of a murder previous to a trial.

Mr. Forrest thinks the statute on which this charge was based a most excellent device and believes that if a similar law were in effect in Illinois the work of the prosecution and defense would be unhampered by "newspaper trials." He says that it was Judge Holdom who first called his attention to the British method.

The newspapers of New Zealand are already subjected to governmental supervision in this particular: When a person is arrested or arraigned for any crime the newspapers are prohibited from "trying his case," making any comment referring to his crime, or stating that he has committed the crime. Such a police case is sub judice until the jury has rendered the verdict. Very severe penalties and fines, ranging from $500 to $100, would be inflicted for a breach of this law. The idea is to give the man justice, and not have his case prejudiced in the public mind, or the man's reputation ruined before he has been proven guilty by a jury of twelve men.

MINERS ESCORTED BY SOLDIERS.

Great Excitement Prevails in the Mining Towns in Coal Region.

Summit Hill, Pa., Aug. 26.—Excitement prevails thruout the Panther Creek Valley to-day. At daybreak the strikers assembled to prevent non-union men from going to work. Anticipating trouble, Major Gearhart sent two companies of soldiers in trolley cars from the camp in Manila Park to this place, and their presence prevented a possible outbreak.

Several non-unionists had been attacked and the town was in a turmoil. The soldiers escorted the workmen thru the mob which had collected and placed them in safety on the cars, which carried them to their work.

Danger in the Hazleton District.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 26.—Suspecting that another attempt would be made to resume operations at No. 40 colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company to-day, the strikers had pickets stationed along all of the approaches to the mine. Most of the non-union men who attempted to reach the colliery were turned back, but no serious trouble occurred.

Three strikers who, it is alleged, participated in yesterday's riot at No. 40 colliery, are under arrest. Other arrests are expected.

O.R.A. Annual Matches.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—The city of tents at the Long Branch Rifle Range will be peopled to-day with an enthusiastic crowd. It is the first day of the Ontario Rifle Association's matches for 1902. The stretch of green is in splendid shape, and everything is contributing to make the occasion a success. The entries are the largest in the history of the organization. Four thousand dollars in cash prizes are offered.

Destroy Disease Germs and eliminate their poison from the body

WITH

Powley's Liquified Ozone

and you'll keep well all summer.

Ask your druggist. Ozone is 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—9 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont,
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian	Est'd 1821
The North America,	Est'd 1752
Quebec,	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS. Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life Insurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oct-d&w

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Scottish Union & Nations' Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned

can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.

Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville,
'Phone 168.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont,

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office,
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St.
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403, Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

The Irish Curate.

The Irish curate has undergone of late a notable transformation. He is a more cultured man than his predecessors of fifty, or even twenty years ago, but then his mental qualities and requirements are more on a plane. These irregular sallies of originality, those sudden strokes of raw wit and talent, than once quickened the wit of the clergy, are far more rare now than they formerly were. Native talent among the clergy does not seem to have grown with the growth of literary culture, says a writer in Donahue's Magazine. There are many writers of high order among the Irish clergy of to-day, but few licensed travelers in the field of politics and polemics. The Irish curate has taken to learned essays and refined ecclettics. He is an expert and a diletante in the matter of criticism. Biblical and Liturgical. He is a well-known name in high-class magazines. For he is no longer an enthusiast, a humorist, or what used to be called a college cant a "genius." Neither is he what students of yore used to dub a certain loud-mouthed and lazy class of their college mates—"a general man." Nor, indeed, does he covet that doubtful compliment. He adopts specialties and he excels in them. In all this he is wise and suits himself to his times. The days of the theological bludgeon (and of the theological rapier likewise) are over and done with.

The Late Sultan of Zanzibar.

Hamud bin Mohamad bin Said, the Sultan of Zanzibar, who has just died at the age of 49, succeeded his cousin in 1896. His throne, however, had been disputed, another member of the family, Said Khaled, had seized the palace, and proclaimed himself Sultan. The usurper was induced to leave by a bombardment from the British warships in the harbor. During his reign, Sultan Hamud has done much for his country, one of his reforms being the abolition of slavery in 1897. A previous Sultan, who had been in England, was deeply enamored of Brighton, and was only prevented by sudden death from establishing in his own dominions a replica of that watering-place. The work, however, was completed by Sultan Hamud, and Chwaka is now the Brighton of East Africa. The late Sultan was almost European in his enlightenment, and decided upon a Western education for his son and heir.

The late Sultan was represented in London for the Coronation by Said Ali, his young son, who, it is believed, will succeed to the throne. The wishes of His Majesty's Government in the matter are not likely to be contested. Said Ali was educated at Harrow.

Choice of Evils.

As Mabel promenades these days
'Tis hard to make election
If she shall fade her parasol
Or freckle her complexion.

AN AFFLICTION TO MANY WOMEN.

ITCHING OF THE SKIN AND ITCHING PILES THE SOURCE OF MUCH ACUTE SUFFERING — WOMEN ARE ENTHUSIASTIC IN PRAISE OF

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Piles or hemorrhoids are small tumors which form in and about the orifice of the rectum. They are caused by an enlarged and inflamed condition of the veins, which are very numerous in this part of the body. As any obstruction of these veins induces piles, it is very common for women during the expectant period to suffer keenly from piles and itching of the skin. To all such we can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment with every confidence that it will prove of prompt and lasting benefit.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks Ave., Kingston, Ont., states:—"I suffered agony with itching piles. In fact, I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I have endured. I had tried many remedies and almost despaired of ever being cured, when my husband brought me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The first application brought relief, and after using half a box I can truthfully say that I was entirely cured. I give this recommendation in hope that it will be the means of bringing comfort and cure to other women suffering as I did."

Mr. James Elliott, Gananoque, Ont., states: "My wife was greatly troubled with piles, and put in an awful time of it. She could not get relief from the terrible itching and burning sensations. I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and on the application she obtained relief. After using the one box she was cured of piles, and I can fully and heartily recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to all who suffer from piles."

If we could only make known the virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment there would not be a family but would keep it constantly on hand. It is the greatest healer that the world has ever known, and acts like magic in relieving itching and burning of the skin. 60 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Whole Story
in a letter:

Pain-Killer
(PERRY DAVIS')

From Capt. F. Love, Police Station No. 5, Montreal:—"We frequently use Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for pains in the stomach, rheumatism, stiffness, frost bites, chilblains, cramps, and all afflictions which befall men in our position. I have no hesitation in saying that Pain-Killer is the best remedy to have near at hand."
Used Internally and Externally.
Two Sizes, 25c. and 50c. bottles.

IN THE PRESENT NOW

THE LIVING MINUTE IS THE MOST IMPORTANT ONE.

DO ONLY THE DUTY NEXT TO YOU

"Take No Thought of the Morrow" For "Sufficient Unto the Day Is the Evil Thereof"—Bible and Common Sense Alike Teach That Meeting Trouble Half-way Is Meeting It Twice.

Entered According to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1902, by William Baily, of Toronto, at the Dep't of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The common disposition to meet trouble is shown to be unwise and un-Christian in this discourse by Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage on the text Matthew vi, 34, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

Christ is giving counsel, which recalls the advice the dying man once gave to his children. After calling his sons and daughters to his bedside the dying father said: "My children, I have seen a lot of troubles in my time. I have seen so many troubles that they have completely worn me out, and that is the reason that I am now dying, when I ought to be in my physical and mental prime. But the saddest part of it is that most of my troubles have been imaginary troubles. They have been unnecessary troubles. They have not been troubles of the imminent to-day, but the visionary to-morrow. They have been troubles which would never have bothered me unless I had gone forth and hunted them out of their lairs and troubled them. The things that have given me most concern have been the things that never happened. So I charge you, my dear children, if you would serve God with your best physical, mental and spiritual powers, always obey the words which Christ spake in his famous sermon: 'Take, therefore, no thought for the morrow, for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.'"

My glorious text teaches almost exactly the same lesson that Mr. Beecher once presented when he said: "All time is divided into three parts—the past, the present and the future. The past belongs to gratitude and regret, the present to contentment and work, the future should belong to only hope and trust." It teaches that a dread of future evil is dishonoring to God, because it implies a doubt whether the good God will be true to the trust we have place in him and whether he will really keep the promises he has made to his people. It teaches that after a Christian has done his best, his level and conscientious best, he should then joyfully and confidently leave the future in God's hands, and in God's hands alone. It teaches that no matter how hopeless, humanly speaking, may be the outlook, if we know and trust God we should let our gospel faith chase away all the doubts and worries and fears that fret and tease and tantalize us in reference to the future, even as the rising sun scatters the darkness and the impenetrable gloom of the night. It teaches that no matter how dark and threatening may be the shrieking tornadoes of trouble the gospel rainbows should be big enough to arch the widest of horizons and bright enough to smile through even a shower of falling tears.

Anticipated troubles rarely happen. By this statement I do not mean that if a man would cease to worry he could get a divine passport which would protect him forever from the rough hand of trouble. The cup of sorrow must be pressed against every human lip. The old eyes, as well as the young eyes, must become fountains of tears. Death angel as well as birth angel must flap the wing over a Pharaoh's palace as well as over the poor man's hut. The village church bell, which can throb for joy in a wedding chime and swing its clapper to ring out a Christmas carol, is the same bell that can toll out a slow, melancholy dirge. The house of feasting must become the house of mourning. The orange blossoms and cypress must grow side by side. It is by troubles that God trains his children to do the work for which they were intended. It is by the broken heart that he is able to make his songsters and songstresses sing their sweetest music.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the troubles which did you the most serious damage were those troubles which, as a tiger, leaped upon you unexpectedly from ambush, not the troubles that lay crouching and glaring and threatening you in broad daylight in the open pathway just ahead. Those serious troubles came to you as the little pygmy was supposed to have come to the king of old. When they pygmy asked the great monarch for permission to rule over all the lands which his little, short limbs could cover in three steps, the royal consent was derisively given. Then the insignificant dwarf immediately sprang up into the stature of a huge giant. With one stride the giant stepped across the land; with another stride the giant stepped across the seas, and with a third stride the giant lifted his sledge hammer fist and swept the trembling king off his throne. Your troubles, to use a familiar comparison, came like a clap of thunder and a stroke of lightning out of a clear sky. They came as a thief, not by day, but by night, in a way and at a time you did not expect them.

Let me illustrate how your troubles came in an unexpected way. Two of your three children were born physically strong. Every movement of their limbs, every smile of their red lips, every look of their dancing eyes, bespoke perfect health. They could run up the mountain side as swiftly as a gazelle chased by the dogs. They would climb a tree almost as quickly as a squirrel would seek his nest in the old orchard trunk. Then those children would sit laughing and singing and swinging upon one of the branches. But, though two of your children were born physically well, the third was born a poor, helpless invalid. You, the mother, worried about that third child from the day when she was born. For years not a night passed in which you did not arise two or three times to go to the crib and give the necessary medicines. Did your worrying about that child do you any good? Did your troubles come in the way you expected? To-day your two children who were once strong are dead. Diphtheria in one week slew them both. Your invalid daughter, about whom you worried, has overcome her invalidism and grown into young womanhood. She is now married and has children of her own. Your troubles came, but the panther leaped upon you from the rear and did not lie crouching in the open pathway ahead.

As a business man you have often worried about this, that and the other thing. You have worried about whether the firm that failed would be able to pay for the goods they bought. You have worried about the tariff laws and the elections. You have worried about the rival concern which settled on the next block. You never thought that a worse trouble could come to you than the loss of your store. You never thought that your own health could break down and that you would have to resign from the firm and sell out. Troubles came into your life, but they invariably came in the way and at the time you did not expect.

If this premise is true, is it not time for you to stop your useless fretting? Is it not a senseless occupation to be worrying about certain troubles which in all probability—judged by the past—will never afflict your life? Do you not feel that the old English proverb is right which declares, "You must not cross the bridge until you come to it?" In the journey of life you will find many bridges down. You will discover that the spring freshets have swept away the embankments upon which countless abutments were placed. But in all probability the bridge you worry most about will be firm enough and strong enough to bear you over its stream, although you may have to wade into other angry waters a little farther on.

Anticipating troubles is a sin, because the present duties of life tax almost every man's physical and mental resources to the utmost limit. We read with sorrow and admiration about the pathetic struggle Sir Walter Scott made in his old age to pay off his debts. By a foolish investment he became responsible for something like $600,000. With his magic pen he went to work. He worked during the day. He worked during the night. He worked while he lay in bed. He worked when walking upon the street. He lived and worked for the one purpose, that of being able to say he owed no man a penny. But while he worked he so worried over this debt that one day his physician came to him and said, "Sir Walter, if you do not cease worrying you will die." With that the magician of Abbotsford looked up and gave a wan smile as he said: "Why, doctor, as long as that debt is hanging over my head I cannot help worrying. I know the worrying is killing me. But you might as well go and tell my cook to order the water in the kettle not to boil as to command my brain not to worry."

But Sir Walter Scott, toiling to pay off his debts by the use of his pen, did not have to work any harder than thousands and hundreds of thousands of men and women have to work to meet the responsibilities of the present time. Take, for illustration, the ministers of our generation. Last week I received a message from a so called gentleman which politely informed me that "the preachers of our time, as a rule, lead an idle and an unoccupied existence and that there is nothing for them to do." Nothing for the average preacher to do? Why, the average preacher to-day is working as hard as ever beast of burden worked under driver's lash. He is working so hard that from Monday morning to Sunday night he is mentally and physically on the strain all the time. I tell you that the preparation of two sermons and the meeting of the many duties of the pastorate combine to make a herculean task, a task which gives but little time for the sleep and recreation that are necessary for physical well being, but the average preacher has no more demands made upon his time than the average doctor, lawyer, editor, merchant, clerk, wife or mother. Almost without exception all people are working up to their physical and mental limit, yet, strange to say, though most people are working very hard, comparatively few break down from overwork. God gives to all of us strength enough to meet the duties of the present day, but God does not give to any one strength enough to meet the duties of the present day and those of to-morrow at the same time. So most people when they break down do not break down from overwork, but, like Sir Walter Scott, from worry, and from worry alone.

As worry racks the physical frame so that the tired mind is unable to think clearly; as it overtaxes the nervous system until the ganglia or nerve centres have imperfect connection, or complete disconnection, like the telephone when the wires have become broken or crossed; as worry paralyzes the digestive organs until they refuse properly to assimilate the food upon which the human body is dependent for the sustenance of life; as it is the forerunner of all the fatal diseases by which the human race is invalided and destroyed, so it is an awful sin for you to fret and worry about the future and destroy your life's usefulness and influence. Can you not as true Christian men and women go forth to meet the duties of the present day and leave the visionary future in God's hands? Worry is not a harmless gadfly, an insectile annoyance, a buzzing irritant, a haphazard playful habit. It is a sin which has destroyed more victims than have ever been slain upon the field of battle or ground to pieces between the upper and the nether millstones of persecution and slander. Beware how you allow its fatal poison to enter your sinful heart.

Anticipating trouble is a form of intellectual and spiritual sin by which some men are blinded to the appreciation or enjoyment of present blessings. Because of this sin they cannot thank God for their loving wives and devoted children. They cannot thank God for the food they eat and the clothing they wear. They cannot thank him for their opportunities of usefulness and for health and life. They are always thinking of something they might have had; of something that might be taken away. They have no gratitude in their hearts to God for anything. Every kiss has in it for them the sting of a scorpion. Every sunbeam is eclipsed by a dark cloud. Every song has in it the echo of a requiem and a death rattle. Every moment is for them a pallbearer clothed in black walking by the casket of a stenchful corpse.

In order to overcome this sin of worry I want you to try an experiment. Every hour of every day try to think of the blessings God has given to you instead of trying to remember all your troubles. If you have a poor memory, I want you to take a long sheet of paper and write those blessings down as you think of them, and then every little while take up this paper and read over the list. You are going to be surprised, overwhelmingly surprised, at the great number of blessings you can put down.

Troubles cannot be rightly anticipated because we cannot rightly anticipate the grace God will give to his believing children, by means of which we shall be able to overcome our troubles when they arrive. For proof of the abundant grace and strength that are given when most needed, let me point you to the many wonderful, glorious and triumphant Christian death-bed scenes that have been recorded. When Dr. Donne was dying, he said, in answer to a question: "I am as happy on earth as I can be, and as sure of glory as if I were in it. I have nothing to do but step out of this bed into heaven." When Senator Foote of Vermont was dying, he looked, at the last and cried: "I see it! I see it! The gates are wide open! Beautiful! Beautiful!" As Dr. Sewall, of Washington city lay dying he cried out: "Oh, if I had a voice that would reach from pole to pole, I would proclaim it to all the world! Victory! Victory, through the blood of the Lamb!" But when we hear of such wonderful deathbed scenes we are apt to say to ourselves: "I do not see how anybody could be happy because he is going away, while those who are near and dear to him are clinging to his side."

But, friend, the reason you cannot understand the glorious triumph of the dying Christian is because you cannot understand the infinite amount of divine re-enforcement which is given to God's children at the time the death angel comes. You cannot understand how that divine re-enforcement is able to let them look straight through the dark clouds of mystery into the face of Jesus, whose parting lips tell them all is well. When your future troubles come, and they must come, God's grace, if you are a believing child, will be sufficient for you. God's grace, the infinite amount of which you cannot now estimate, will go with you down into the depths of sorrow, "though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof."

Anticipating trouble is a sin, because it exhibits a lack of gospel faith to the unbelievers around you, who might otherwise be willing to believe in the atoning, saving, inspiring and recreating power of the blood of the Lamb. Talk as we may, we cannot get away from the overwhelming fact that every professing Christian is as a city set upon a hill for all unbelievers to look at and to be guided by. It has been said that no cook or chambermaid or butler or other employe ever entered the house of Philip Brooks but he or she became a Christian, if not already one, through the influence of that great and good gospel minister of Boston. So our Christian lights cannot be hidden under a bushel. If they are false lights, the world will see that they are false and will despise them; if they are true lights, the world will follow those lights. What we say and do will influence others in reference to what they say and do for or against Christ. If by a true, simple faith, we can trust Christ in reference to the future both temporarily and eternally, then others will say: "That religion which makes him so happy is good enough for me. I will trust Christ also because that man has an inspiring faith which I lack." But if, by worrying and fretting about the future, we show that we do not trust Christ, then others will say: "His faith does not stand the test. That professing Christian is no better off than I am. I shall not try to seek a Christ whom that man cannot trust."

But no man can safely let the future take care of itself unless he deals rightly with the present, and no man can deal rightly with the present unless he deals rightly with God, or, rather, let God deal rightly with him. Are you and I in touch with Jesus Christ so that Christ can and will take charge of our future for us? If we are, we are eternally all right. If we are not in touch with Christ, we are eternally all wrong. But, my brother, if your present relationship with Christ is not all right, then I beg of you not to stand still until you can press against the loving heart of the forgiving Saviour. Will you draw close to Christ's bleeding, wounding side? Will you, as a little child, encouraged by Christ's love and the strength he gives you, look up into the face of your Heavenly Father and say, "Thy will, O Lord, and not mine be done?" Will you believe him? Will you trust him? Will you commit your present and therefore your to-morrow into his care?

The man who prevails with God will not fail with men.

THE PUBLIC should bear in mind that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has nothing in common with the impure, deteriorating class of so-called medicinal oils. It is eminently pure and really efficacious—relieving pain and lameness, stiffness of the joints and muscles, and sores or hurts, besides being an excellent specific for rheumatism, coughs and bronchial complaints.

Many beds have the appearance of comfort, but no amount of clothing can warm a cold heart.

A WONDERFUL CURE.—Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes; "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. About a year ago I took a very severe cough, had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one-half, the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done, it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very billious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the Vegetable Discovery, the billiousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 68 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Half fare on the railroad is the next best thing to a pass.

The Flagging Energies Revived.—Constant application to business is a tax upon the energies, and if there be not relaxation, lassitude and depression are sure to intervene. These comes from stomachic troubles. The want of exercise brings on nervous irregularities, and the stomach ceases to assimilate food properly. In this condition Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will be found a recuperative of rare powder, restoring the organs to healthful action, dispelling depression, and reviving the flagging energies.

The man who can keep his mouth shut has the best of the argument with all women.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is a speedy cure for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera, summer complaint, sea sickness and complaints incidental to children teething. It gives immediate relief to those suffering from the effects of indiscretion in eating unripe fruit, cucumbers, etc. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to conquer the disease. No one need fear cholera if they have a bottle of this medicine convenient.

Sometimes the most charitable view of others is that they ought to be in the insane asylum.

Sleeplessness.—When the nerves are unstrung and the whole body given up to wretchedness, when the mind is filled with gloom and dismal forebodings, the result of derangement of the digestive organs, sleeplessness comes to add to the distress. If only the subject could sleep, there would be the oblivion for a while and temporary relief. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will not only induce sleep, but will act so beneficially that the subject will wake refreshed and restored to happiness.

The wonder is there are not more kicking horses, since there are so many men who kick without discrimination.

These two desirable qualifications, pleasant to the taste and at the same time effectual, are to be found in Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, Children like it.

A peppery temper is not a thing to be sneezed at.

When all other preparations fail, try Holloway's Corn Cure. No pain whatever, and no inconvenience in using it.

People who sleep with sin will not be able to wash away the marks of it.

To get relief from indigestion, billousness, constipation or torpid liver without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, take a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills, they will please you.

In the British Army 129 officers are qualified as interpreters in French, 106 in Russian, 81 in German, but only one in Dutch.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

Icebergs in the North Atlantic usually appear about February 15 and are seen more or less frequently until about June 15.

They make one feel as though life was worth living. Take one of Carter's Little Liver Pills after eating; it will relieve dyspepsia, aid digestion, give tone and vigor to the system.

Up to the present slower progress is being made with the construction of the Edward VII. than of any warship built at Davenport.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

THE TRAVELLER'S OVERCOAT.

This is the season of the year for travelling. Excursion rates will be on, and thousands of people will go from this district to attend the different fairs.

What we want to say is this:—You must have a nice light overcoat to travel with, and we have exactly the right thing in our new raglan waterproof and light overcoat combined. This coat we have had made especially for us, and it is right up-to-date in every particular. Two colors, dark grey and fawn, and lined throughout. These coats are nice and soft and guaranteed to stay so, should one go hard, we will refund the price in full. The price on this best coat is only $10.

Should you want a cheaper one, see what we are offering at $2.50, $3.00 and $5.00.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

WOLFE ISLAND.

Ruin and desolation mark the track of the terrible storm that struck here early Thursday morning. Thunder and lightning, rain and hail made sad havoc with the grain crops. The grain is fairly beaten down and threshed on the ground. The loss will be a terrible one to the farmers of Wolfe Island. Very few houses escaped from having broken windows.

The members of Trinity church, Marysville, held their annual garden party Wednesday night at the residence of Mrs. Cox. The affair was a grand success in every way. A large number of people from Kingston and Garden Island attended the party.

The summer resorts are well filled by people from the United States. Fishing is the order of the day.

TUFTSVILLE.

We hear with deep regret of the sudden death of Mrs. James McMullen, of Halloway, which occurred at 9 o'clock on Sunday evening, at her home. Mrs. McMullen was 51 years of age and leaves a husband and four children to mourn their loss.

Mr. S. Carson of the "Times" office, Kingston, was visiting in our village last week.

Miss Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Eggleton, of Madoc, passed Sunday with Mrs. A. W. Andrews.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clarke was captured by about sixty of the friends and neighbors of P. F. Le Riche on the evening of the 21st. The women had well-filled baskets and the men were all smiles. At about 10 o'clock Mr. Le Riche was called to the centre of the spacious parlor, where an address was read by Rev. Mr. Harris. Arthur Andrews presented him with a gold watch. Mr. Le Riche made a suitable reply. Mr. Le Riche who has lived in this village for 20 years is to take up his residence in Toronto.

Sometimes the most charitable view of others is that they ought to be in the insane asylum.

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto,

Dr. Chase's Ointment

IT'S ABOUT NOW

That the SCHOOL SHOE question is a very important matter. The boys and girls must have

School Shoes.

Call on us for the largest and most complete variety of SCHOOL SHOES in this district.

The J. J. Haines

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton.

Daily Intelligencer.

SIR WILFRID IN FRANCE.

A good deal is being said and written just now about the attention given to Sir Wilfrid in France, the comments of the French press and what Sir Wilfrid is trying to accomplish in the line of increasing trade with that country.

That he is receiving marked attention from his countrymen is beyond doubt. Some are lionizing him on account of his being French, others are condemning him on the ground of being too English and too Imperialistic. Of this charge most people in Canada will acquit him.

The London Times' Paris correspondent says "the interest aroused "in the Canadian Premier's second "visit to the country is due partly "to the pride the French people pos-"sess in the thought that he is the "most distinguished French-Cana-"dian living." "This," irreverently adds the Times' Paris representative is "an absurd impression." What will La Patrie say to this? Nothing less than a demand for the dismissal of such an heterodox writer from the staff of the Times, will satisfy the Tarte organ. Other of the French journals says this correspondent "are "insulting the Canadian Prime Min-"ister, whom they look upon as too "loyal a man of French origin, and "says that 'you cannot teach poli-"tical geography to the cafe chant-"ant patriots.'"

Other French journals accuse "Sir "Wilfrid of making as his life work "the slow, relentless destruction of "French influence in Canada." This will be news to Canadians. The trouble is these journals do not know him.

That which interests Canadians most are his and his colleagues' negotiations for extending trade between the French Republic and Canada. "It is reported," says the Times "that Pre-"mier Laurier proposes to treat "France the same as England and "will reduce the tariff in favor of "France by 15 per cent. Canadian "products to secure a benefit of an "entry to France at a minimum "tariff.

This, the correspondent seems to think, is something new in the commercial policy of the present Canadian Government. Such a preferential provision is on the Statute book at present. One clause in the tariff gives a preference in trade to any country that will reduce its tariff to a level with that of Canada's. Hence the boasted loyalty of the Liberals that they give Great Britain an exclusive preference over other countries is the veriest subterfuge.

The London Daily News in commenting upon this rumored proposition to offer preferential treatment to France by the Canadian Premier, pertinently asks: "What would Col-"onial Secretary Chamberlain have "said if the Transvaal "attempted a similar deal "under convention without "consulting him?" and adds: "It is "a trifle odd that the sequel to a "private conference at Downing "street should be sort of announced "from Paris." This will not surprise the News after a little more study of Laurier's political character. It is also stated "that a result of "the visit will be the establishment "of an ocean service, with a subsidy "of 800,000 francs($160,000) from "both countries. This scheme is "said to be well advanced towards "realization and is profoundly in-"teresting to Parisian industrial and "financial circles."

Any scheme which will increase the trade of the country, if too great a price is not paid for it, would receive the sanction and approval of Canadians of all shades of politics.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, one of the City Auditors, thinks a mistaken impression is abroad in regard to the relations between the City Council and the Auditors, and asks The Intelligencer to publish in full the letter addressed by them to the City Clerk, which was read on Monday evening last. Here is the letter:

Belleville, Ont., July 31, 1902.

D. B. Robertson, Esq., City Clerk,—

Dear Sir,—We beg to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 28th inst, in the matter of our account as City Auditors.

We cannot accept the amount of $100 each "in full" of said account. We shall be glad if the Board of Aldermen will pass the account as presented, and beg respectfully to remind them that the work of discovering "the discrepancies in the 1899 and 1900 rolls" is entirely extra to the work allotted us at the time of our appointment, as it is a re-examination of the work of former auditors, which the City Council had already accepted and acted upon.

Yours very truly,
J. FRITH JEFFERS,
E. H. BIRD, Auditors.

• • •

As this seems to be a vexed question between the Aldermen and the Auditors, a summing-up of the matter will be of interest: The Auditors, when appointed, refused to set any fixed price on their work. Their remuneration was to be whatever, in the opinion of the Council, was just and right. When the Auditors' report was presented to the Council it was found that they had not cleared up certain discrepancies which existed in the rolls of 1899 and 1900, the said discrepancies being due to circumstances which arose at the time Mr. J. W. Butterfield left the city. The Council wanted this matter cleared up, so that the rolls of 1899 and 1900 might be returned to the City Treasurer. They requested the Auditors to straighten out the matter in question, at the same time offering them $100 each in payment for their services. The Auditors demanded $125 each, with $17.50 extra for typewriting. As the case stands at present, the Council offers to pay the Auditors $125 each if they will find and straighten out the discrepancies in the rolls of 1899 and 1900. The Auditors' letter explains itself. What the outcome will be time will tell.

• • •

It is expected that the coal strike will soon be over. Assurances have come from the big companies in the United States that the coal famine will not be so serious after all. When a settlement is made the companies will put on extra shifts day and night in order to get out coal for the clamoring consumers. They say that coal will be rushed out at such a speed that people will have all they need to keep them going until the present scarcity is overcome.

• • •

A title has no more chance of getting away from a Canadian democrat than a drink of whiskey has of escaping the raging thirst of a Kentucky Colonel.

• • •

A genial shower of $5 bills in the bye-elections, remarks an incorrigible, is expected to stimulate the growth of the G. W. Ross Majority of One.

• • •

Summer is on its last legs—the sky pilots are coming back from their vacations.

• • •

A fellow on Coleman St. says the new granolithic sidewalk there can be used as a dam to keep the water back in the spring.

• • •

The latest slang word for "boss" is "Mike." The question, Who will be Belleville's Mike next year, in place of Mayor Graham, is already getting to be a burning one. Two or three candidates are already "in the hands of their friends."

• • •

Up to date Kingston people have not advertised the sea serpent as an attraction at their fair.

• • •

But a man who goes down there and drinks the conventional beverages is liable to see serpents.

• • •

This is the afternoon the clerks are making the most of—the last one of the half-holiday season.

• • •

Newfoundland has a population of about 250,000 and a debt of about $30,000,000; only $120 per head. They will want to federate soon.

• • •

The fact that every paper you pick up contains a notice of a "great fall fair" to be held somewhere or other recalls the fact that Belleville used to have a fall fair once upon a time. Why not now?

• • •

All signs point to the fact that there is liable to be another provincial general election this fall. And unless all the signs fail there will be a heavy fall for Hon. Mr. Ross and his friends.

• • •

Some of the lights on the back streets look as though a glow worm had perched on top of the pole and gone to sleep with his light burning. A tallow candle inside a beer bottle would give about as good a light. Is there any possibility of having the incandescent street lights improved? On every hand people are complaining. The most some of them do is to make drakness visible.

• • •

Speaking of light, too, many church people complained of the insufficient pressure given by the Gas Company for the past few Sunday evenings. Surely it can't be frost in the pipes that's causing the trouble just at present.

• • •

The lamb won't follow Mary to school next Tuesday, because a fellow who boards up on the East hill says he had some of the lamb for dinner last Sunday.

• • •

President Roosevelt is an ardent advocate of publicity. "The full light of day is a great discourager of evil," he says. This, it will be noted, is not exactly the opinion of the 2 x 4 Star Chamber people who love to indulge in diatribes at newspaper men who are always on the look-out for news, but it is the opinion of ninety-nine out of every hundred people in the world. Publicity may not cure the evils of the world, but it will help to diagnose the case, and it won't be long before somebody writes the prescription.

• • •

The management of the Kingston Locomotive works brought a lot of Scotch machinists out from the Old Country to take the place of strikers. The Scotchmen didn't know what kind of a place Kingston was when they agreed to go there. But they have learned, and now they are deserting their jobs and fleeing to the States. They draw the line at Kingston.

• • •

IN BELLEVILLE, TOO.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

If a man got out on the street at night in Ottawa and howled loud and long enough to wake the whole neighborhood he would be arrested for creating a disturbance. But a dog can do the same thing with impunity, even if he doesn't pay as much taxes as the man.

• • •

"What's new about the Rolling Mills?" said a boisterous citizen to a newspaper man to-day; "when are they going to start?"

"You can search me," said the cheerful knight of the pencil.

"Don't you know anything about it?" said the man who wanted information.

"Not a word," was the reply.

"Well," said the other, "if there is anything going on you fellows ought to know it. It is a matter in which the general public is tremendously interested, and the only way they can find these things out is through the newspapers. I don't believe in all this secrecy and mystery. If the mills are going to start why don't the Council let us know, and if they are not—well, we won't be any worse off than we are at present."

"Patience is a virtue," said the scribe.

"Rats!" said the other fellow.

• • •

The Intelligencer had a line on its bulletin to-day, "Grits going from bad to worse." A gentleman of Liberal proclivities read the line and slapped his knee with laughter as a bright idea struck him. "I'd like to borrow that board," he said, "and take it down in front of the Grit office. It would create a sensation there. Your readers are used to that kind of talk, but if the Yellow Fellow down by the market got on the penitent bench, well—" and he walked away, overcome by the thought.

• • •

The Canadian arch in London sold for twenty pounds, which was a very fair price. None of the Canadian "statesmen" over there would have brought thirty cents in the open market.

• • •

Two ladies were talking on the street. "It will take $14 to fit my boys out in boots and books ready for school again," said one. "Those dreadful school books," said the other, "I did hope Mr. Whitney would get into power, so that there might be a change!" And a listener thought he understood one reason why there were 7000 more Conservative votes polled than there were Grit in the recent election.

• • •

Tarte speaks at a political picnic at Bowmanville to-day. They'll give him an extra piece of pie and he'll promise them a million dollars.

• • •

Mr. Luton's Bible class are whooping things up for the old d.s.b.g. this afternoon. Success to them. May they make a barrel of money and help remove what has been for years an eyesore to Belleville.

• • •

The Montreal Star says:—"There has been no rain for some twenty-four hours or so and the great unwashed is breathing its limestone breath upon us once more. The chalk we macadamize our streets with is a quick-acting dust producer, but this year it has principally been utilized for making mud with." It appears from the foregoing that Belleville is not alone in macadamizing her street in the spring with soft limestone, and carting it off in the fall in mud. Montreal should not complain. Belleville has been doing it for the past 50 years, and has not yet learned better.

• • •

A Syracuse (United States) gentleman has become "a British subject"; and, when asked why he had done so, said that "there is a larger measure of individual freedom in England than there is in America." This statement may not please the average citizen of the United States, but it is true, nevertheless.

• • •

President Roosevelt has been visiting different places in the United States. At Providence, where he remained over night, the house in which he slept was guarded by soldiers and policemen. Our neighbors are in the habit of sneering at the insecurity of crowned heads. They have learned that a President's life is no safer in a Republic than a King's in Europe.

THIS WILL REMIND YOU that the pain of strains, bruises and sprains, common incidents of active out-door life is drawn from aching bodies by Perry Davis' Painkiller, as a magnet draws bits of iron from sand.

Ease of access, accommodation and health-giving Waters all combine to make the MAGI Caledonia Springs an ideal resort for the invalid or healthy.

Health Pure and rich blood carries new life to every part of the body. You are invigorated, strengthened, refreshed. That's what Ayer's Sarsaparilla will do for you. Take Ayer's Pills for constipation or biliousness.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Summer Specialties

AT

QUICK & ROBERTSON'S

Each season brings particular wants which this store anticipates and meets you with a prompt readiness that's missing otherwheres. As summer introduces you to hot weather, we stand at your elbow with the numerous specialties that go to make life worth living, good form, good quality, good fashions, good selection, and good values unite here. When you buy here there's never any uneasiness. No one disputes the high standard of our goods, but some people think our prices must be high, because of this unerring quality. It's a mistake. We keep on the low level of ordinary prices all the time. The only difference between this and other stores is that here you get better selections and better value for your money.

KEEP COOL GENTLEMEN

A short visit here will show you how easily its done.

Black and Grey Alapaca Coats from $1.00 up.

Linen Coats from 75c up.

Navy and black Serge and Flannel Unlined Coat from $1.25 up.

Flannel Suit, "Coat and Trousers," $2.25 to $7.50.

Crash, Flannel and White Duck Trousers from $1.00 up.

Boys' Clothing For Summer

For the little man of 3 to the young man of 19 there's nothing missing. There's Kilt Suits, Russian Blouse Suits, Sailor Suits, Double-breasted Suits and the very extremes in fashionable attire for the particular young men, There's Bicycle Suits and Thin Coats, Seperate Trousers, Fancy Vests, and Waists and Blouses. Nothing lacking to make the boy handsome and happy and gives the parents "That comfortable feeling that goes with best values."

Buying here keeps you on good terms with your pocket-book.

Quick & Robertson.

CASH AND ONE PRICE.

SHINON

is the name of the best silver and all kinds of metal paste and polish ever put on sale.

It cleans the article perfectly without scratching it up in the least by taking the dirt off and leaving it on the cloth so that you have a chance to polish the article that has been cleaned.

When you are cleaning your silverware again be sure and try it and see for yourself if it does not do all we claim for it and more too.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Two Ways

Of getting Glasses. One is to let some slick-tongued fakir who peddles through the country come into your home and sell you a pair, and run the risk of ruining your sight. This is easily done, for they know how to fit a glass that makes one see splendidly today, but it is an unnatural glass and the Eye cannot stand up under it, and you find that to-morrow you cannot stand to wear them at all. Then you turn to your peddler—he is gone.

We are Here to Stay

ALEX. RAY.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

The Time To Use Perfume

is all the time, if it is the right kind. So delightful and delicate an odor as Lorna is never out of place and its use cannot but prove pleasing to refined people. We'll consider it a favor if you will ask us to show you Lorna whether you want to buy or not. Some time you'll want it and then you'll be glad you learned about Lorna.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

Paint Paint

YOUR HOUSE inside or outside may need painting, and of course, you want the best. The S-W-P compared with Pure Lead and Linseed oil, will wear longer, look better and cover more surface per gallon, will not crack or rub off and costs you less. Every can imperial measure and guaranteed.

WATERS'

"No Mess"

Let a woman forget the mess and trouble of the old-fashioned powder home dyes and go right out to-day and buy a cake of that famous English Home Dye of highest quality, Maypole Soap. It washes and dyes at the same time. Clean, quick, easy, sure. Brilliant colorings and fadeless when she uses......

Maypole Soap Dyes

Sold everywhere. 10c. for Colors. 15c. for Black.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y, STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 27.

Stock	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	95¼	95¼	93⅞	94¼
do. pref.	103½	103½	103	103¼
C.P.R.	139¼	140	139	139
Twin City	128	....	....	....
U. S. Steel	41⅛	41⅛	41⅛	41½
do. pref.	90½	90½	90	90¼
W. Union	95⅛	95⅛	94¼	94¼
Pc	104¼	....	....	....
Manhattan	135¼	135⅝	135	135
Erie	41½	42¼	41¼	41½
do pref.	70⅞	71¼	70½	70¾
L. & N.	154½	154⅞	153	153⅞
Mo. P.	117¼	118	116⅜	117
Nor.	71¾	72	71⅛	71½
N. Y. C.	164¼	165	163¼	163¼
Reading	68⅛	70⅛	67¼	68½
do pref.	87⅝	88	86½	86⅜
St. Paul	187	187⅛	185⅞	186
South Pac.	77	77½	76⅜	77
Sou. Ry.	40½	40¾	39¾	40⅛
Union. Pac.	111⅞	112⅝	111	111⅛
Amn. Loco.	33¼	34⅜	33¼	33½
do. pref.	95¼	96	95¼	96
Penna	162⅜	163¼	161¼	162¼
B & O.	114¼	115	113¼	113¼
C. & O.	55⅜	55⅞	54⅞	55
H. V.	99⅞	100¼	99⅞	100½
Texas	53	53¼	52¼	52¼
O. & W.	36	36⅜	35⅝	35⅝
Sugar	132⅜	133	132⅛	132½

Sept. wheat opened at 71 1-4, closed at 70 7-8.

Sept. corn opened at 57 3-4, closed at 57 1-2.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS.

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 27.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Sellers.	Buyers
C. P. R.	139 1-2	139 3-8
Toronto Railway	122 1-4	121 3-4
Twin City	128	127 7-8
Con. Lake Superior	27	26 7-8
Dom. Coal	143	142 1-4
Dom. Iron & Steel	76 1-4	76 1-8
Sao Paulo	108	107 1-2

(Changed daily)

Wednesday, August 27, 1902.

At Hanging Cost

5c per roll for hanging wall papers. You've been paying 10c, 12c and 15c per roll, but we purpose hanging all our wall papers at the cost of hanging. We believe more people will buy when not having to pay mammoth prices for hanging. So many of our customers say "Well the paper is cheap, dear knows, but it costs as much to hang it as the paper costs."

Then, too, it is ridiculous to be charged as much for hanging good 50c papers as for hanging cheap 5c papers providing both are hung properly. The better the paper the easier to hang it, consequently our scale of price for hanging will be according to price. 5c per roll for hanging 25c, 35c and 50c papers; 6c per roll for hanging 15c and 20c papers; 7c per roll for hanging 10c and 12 1-2c papers; 8c per roll for hanging 7c and 8c papers; 9c per roll for hanging 5c and 6c papers.

Don't that price schedule appeal to you as reasonable?

YOU MAY DEPEND

Our work will be excellent, far superior to the work you have been getting, the very best in paper hanging. Nothing will be better than we give you. Our hanging will equal our values for hanging, and the prices of our wall paper correspondingly low. Our wall paper prices are always the lowest to be found anywhere—our goods the best.

PAINTING—

In connection with our paper hanging we do all kind of interior painting and decorating, and we offer our ideas, suggestions, which will prove of value, you will find.

THE STUDY OF COLOR

As applied to interior decorations has been our decorator's study for many years. His suggestions are inexpensive, not so expensive as the ordinary things of decorating, much more pleasing and lasting.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Paper Wholesale & Retail

Across the Continent And Back Again

(Written for The Intelligencer by Mrs. James Boldrick, of Corbyville.)

(Continued.)

About seven o'clock, the morning of the 28th, we reached the quiet city of Des Moines. It seemed so different from noisy Chicago. It is built on a side hill, and has quite a few very fine buildings, several of which we visited. The morning of the 29th we travelled over prairie land so level one could see for miles. One would fancy it well-wooded, but in reality the trees we saw was only wind brakes, which had been set out by farmers to protect their stock and homes from the winter winds. About five o'clock in the evening we reached Council Bluffs, and crossed the Missouri river to Omaha. The Missouri was very high and very broad, and looked to me like a huge mud-hole. All the rivers we crossed were just the same, not one as clear as old Moira.

All the rest of that evening was travelled by the side of the Platte river, Nebraska. It is muddy, like the rest; here the land did not appear as good, the farms were not as well cared for and were further apart. We found the western trains very comfortable, and negro porters very plentiful and very pompous. Some little trouble had arisen about our tickets, and one little curly-headed fellow had overheard us talking about it, and, stepping up to me and stretching himself to his full height, tossing back his black, curly head, and showing his white, even teeth, he said; "Why didn't you tell me where you wanted to go? If you had I could have arranged it for you. Now, it's too late." Leaving us to regret we hadn't spoken to him, in place of the conductor.

About midnight we reached Julesburg, where we changed cars for Denver, Colorado. When the morning of the 30th dawned we were travelling through the worst bit of country we had yet struck. Here we saw the first irrigating, the land looked so barren and desolate, we would go for miles and miles without seeing a single human habitation, nothing but level plains, now and then a ridge of sand, with prairie dogs sitting all over them, looking at us, and some that were sitting too close to us would get frightened and dodge into their holes.

We would occasionally pass a settlement, where there would be a few sod houses, a little enclosure, where a few cows would be feeding, some Government ditches, that were trying to take the place of rain, a few green fields the result, then on again, through more sand and prairie dogs. They call this "beautiful grazing country." Oh! About six o'clock we came in sight of the first mountains, the great snow range of the Rockies. At first they looked like thunder heads in the low west, but they grew more and more beautiful as we neared Denver, which place we reached about nine o'clock. Here we changed again, our train was waiting, so did not stop at Denver. We saw nothing at all of the city. We soon came into the mountains after leaving Denver, it was very pretty scenery, the low, rugged hills getting higher and higher the further back they went, and then behind and above all was Pike's Peak, with its great, snowy summit rising high above all the rest. It could be seen for miles and miles along the road. Not long after we passed Colorado Springs we came to a very bad washout, where they had a cloud burst two or three days before. I never thought to see anything so dreadful. A large frame depot, that had stood on one side of the track, had been lifted up and carried bodily over the track, and set down on the other side, apparently little injured. You could see where houses had been, nothing left but the foundation, with sometimes a stove lying in the cellar, not a sign of the house anywhere to be seen. Large trees had been uprooted and washed hundreds of yards away. The track had been completely washed away, the rails torn up and twisted all shapes, and in some places hung in the branches of big trees that had stood the awful flood. The road had to be built all over new, our train was the first one to cross the new road. A lady who had witnessed the fearful storms was trying to describe it to me, and she said if one would take a pail of water and dash it with all their might to the ground they would see a cloudburst on a small scale. All along the road to Pueblo we could see where the water had washed the land away, and that city had been flooded with it, too. We reached Pueblo at noon and stopped about half an hour. We were glad to leave, it was very hot, we didn't see much of the city, it seemed to be very low. Here they put on another locomotive, and as soon as we left the city we started to climb the mountains.

(To be continued.)

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

We want men to sell for us; salary or commission; paid weekly; outfit free. Good demand for stock now. We have 800 acres of choice fruit and ornamental trees.—Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto, Ont.

a14eod-d&w1m

UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF CATARRH.

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then its catarrh. Use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily and readicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed membranes, clears nose, throat and air passages by one application. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping, and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists.

Half fare on the railroad is the next best thing to a pass.

PILL POINTS

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are a purely Vegetable Compound. A scientifically studied Formula. The after-effects of the medicine have been given as much consideration as the immediate results.

Not so with many of the Ancient Formulas—Painful Purgers and no healing powers. Think of these points.

If you must use medicine, look for the most pleasant, safest and surest to take. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are supreme in cases of Sick Headache, Bilousness, Sallow Skin, Constipation, etc. 40 doses, 10 cents; 100 doses, 25 cents. 6a

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

HEADQUARTERS

—FOR—

School Supplies.

A beautiful clean stock of everything that is required for school . . .

Pens, Inks, Pencils, Pencil Boxes, Scribblers

AT PRICES THAT CANNOT BE COMPARED.

2nd Reader 15c

History 25c

3rd Reader 25c.

Copy Books—5c.

EVERY CHILD WILL RECEIVE A QUANTITY OF CANDY WITH THEIR PURCHASE, NO MATTER HOW SMALL IT MAY BE . . . . .

Examine our windows and you will be convinced that this is the place to get special value.

NOTHING OVER 25 CENTS IN THIS STORE.

5 & 10c Store. J. C. WOOD'S 15 & 25c Store.

Strs. North King and Caspian
EXCURSION
TO
KINGSTON FAIR
50c Wednesday, 27th Thursday, 28th
Return tickets will be issued at
SINGLE FARE
Good going 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, returning until 30th Aug. inclusive.
U. E. THOMPSON, Ticket Agent. RATHBUN CO. Ticket Agent.

Last Excursion of the Season.
PER
Str. "NIAGARA"
To PICTON
Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 30.
Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2.30 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.
About 1½ hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.
Fare for the round trip 25 cents.
THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.
TIME TABLE
Commencing April 10th, 1902,
Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee
Str. "ELLA ROSS"
Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.
Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY
Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leave Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.
Fare to New York, Single, $8.45; Return, $13.25
For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents
J. F. CHAPMAN. Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA
A. HICKS, Captain.
Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.
Str. ALEXANDRIA
Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.
Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.
1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.
FARE.
$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.
THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION
Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, 02
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Trav
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Bac

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at the Intelligencer Office. tf

BRITISH TO ANNEX SWAZILAND.

A Strong Force Dispatched to Western Border of Transvaal.

Johannesburg, Aug. 26.—A strong force of British troops has been despatched to the western border of the Transvaal, ostensibly to relieve troops ordered to India, but it is currently reported that this step is taken owing to disturbances among the natives. Rumors are also current here of an intention to annex or establish a protectorate in Swaziland where a strong force of constabulary is now posted.

Boer Refugees Killed.

Bloemfontein, Orange River Colony, Aug. 26.—A shunting engine crashed into a train conveying refugees to Johannesburg yesterday. The front cars were wrecked, and a number of women and children were killed.

50 Tons Fell 30 Fatal Feet.

Whitehall, N.Y., Aug. 27.—William Flannery and Patrick Shields were buried in a gravel pit here yesterday. Nearly 50 tons of rock and earth fell 30 feet, covering them. Shields was taken out alive, but Flannery was instantly killed.

Fearful Spanish Cyclone.

Barcelona, Spain, Aug. 26. -- News has reached here of a fearful cyclone at Felanitix, on the Island of Majorica. Enormous damage is reported to have been done; houses have been destroyed and lives have been lost.

Kaiser to Be King's Guest.

Berlin, Aug. 27.—It is definitely arranged that Kaiser William will visit King Edward on Nov. 5 next, and will remain several days.

The Kaiser will be present at the celebration of the King's birthday, Nov. 9, at Sandringham, when King Edward will be 61 years old.

Canadian Arch Sold.

London, Aug. 27.—The Canadian arch at Whitehall, which cost over £1,000 to erect, has been dismantled and sold for £20 to an Ealing merchant, who will use the material for building purposes. The timber used in the construction of the arch weighed 40 tons.

When Ministers Sail.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Sir William Mulock sails for Canada via New York, on the Campania on Saturday. Sir F. Borden and Messrs. Fielding and Paterson will sail by Tunisian for Montreal on Sept. 11.

Spanish Steamer Founders.

London, Aug. 27.—Lloyd's Gijon, Spain correspondent yesterday wired that the Spanish steamer Ballesteros [illegible] foundered on a rock off [illegible]. Part of the crew were drowned.

British Epigrams.

The following notable sentences appeared in speeches very recently:

"In South Africa the British people have the makings of a new America."—Lord Kitchener.

"We desire that the Boers should preserve all the best characteristics of their race."—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain.

"There is no reason why the Boers should leave the Transvaal.—Gen. French.

"The Boers nearly always did the right thing."—Gen. Buller.

"The result of the battles of the future, so far as we can now see, will depend on skillful sharpshooting."—Earl Roberts.

"The complacency of schoolmasters must begin to be affected by the accumulating evidence of the serious shortcomings of English education."—Canon Bull, Master of Marlborough College.

The New Scotland Yard.

New Scotland Yard is connected by means of a tunnel with Westminster Bridge District railway station. An annual rent is paid for it to the railway company by the home office, and in case of any riot or civil disturbance great bodies of police could be drafted speedily from various parts of London and marched through the tunnel unperceived by the rioters.

New Scotland Yard is the key of the situation so far as central locality is concerned, inasmuch as it is adjacent to the Houses of Parliament, and close to Whitehall and all the Government offices. If any great civil disturbance occurred, it is more than likely that it would take place within this area.—London Globe.

Perfect Bacon-Producing Food.

On well-known authority, who has great faith in the value of skim milk as a food for pigs, lays it down that "it is much better to make good pork than bad butter out of the surplus milk of the farm." Milk, as we all are aware, is one of the very best of all foods for the production of the highest quality of bacon, and wherever it can be procured in any quantity at a moderate price a point should be made to include it in the food rations of the animals. There is no better bacon-producing food known than a mash made of barley meal, a few boiled potatoes and some fresh skim milk.

THE COOKBOOK.

In making any sauce put the flour and butter in together, and your sauce will not be lumpy.

A heavy salad is always out of place in an elaborate dinner. Mayonnaise is permissible, but French dressing is better.

If corned beef is very red, which means it is very salt, put it to cook in cold water. This draws out a portion of the salt.

When croquette mixtures are too wet to mold and shape, put in more chopped meat or fish or in a desperate case finely pounded breadcrumbs.

In making custard for lemon pies it is better to partly bake the crust before adding the mixture so that it may not be absorbed by the paste.

Gingerbread is improved by adding to it, when mixing, a cupful of chopped prunes. Use the juice of the prunes instead of water and mix the dough a little stiffer.

Fried breakfast bacon is much improved if cooked in some of the bacon fat saved from the previous day. There should be just enough for the bacon to float in, and it must be hot before the rashers are added. Cook three minutes.

"Stonewall" Jackson's Baptism.

Robert E. Lee and Thomas Jonathan ("Stonewall") Jackson were once stationed at Fort Hamilton, New York harbor, the former while it was being built. Jackson was baptized at old St. John's church at Fort Hamilton, and the records contain the following entry: "On Sunday, 29th of April, 1849, I baptized Thomas Jonathan Jackson, major in the United States army; sponsors, Colonels Taylor and Dimmick, also of the army." The baptismal font used for this ceremony is still preserved

No Excuse.

A member of a volunteer fire brigade did not appear on the scene of the conflagration until after the fire was under control. He was severely taken to account by the chief for thus neglecting his duty.

"I could not help it," replied the fireman. "I live a long way from the fire."

"That's no excuse," snapped the chief. "You must move nearer the next fire."—London Answers.

Two Aspects.

Benham—I believe a woman can love two men at the same time.

Mrs. Benham—If she is a married woman, she has to try to.

Benham—What do you mean?

Mrs. Benham—She has to try to love her husband, and he isn't the same man when they have company that he is when they haven't any.

Pay Your Debts.

"No, sir," declared Gazzan as he warmed up to his subject, "you'll never be happy so long as you are in debt. Pay your debts, Swayback; pay your debts."

"But I have no money," said Swayback.

"Then borrow it."—Detroit Free Press.

The Invalid's Resort.

"Going away for the summer?"

"No," answered the man who complains. "I'm not feeling strong enough to face the brass bands and merry go rounds at a summer resort. The doctor says I'll have to stay at home and rest."—Washington Star.

Glad of the Chance.

"Did the old man seem to hesitate when you asked him for Laura?"

"Not a bit of it. He said the caterer and the florist owed him a lot of money, and it would be a good way to get even with them."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fruits.

"I suppose your political career has taught you to value the fruits of wisdom."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "especially when they take the form of political plums."—Washington Star.

Splitting Hairs.

"You may trim my whiskers a little," the customer remarked, taking his seat in the chair.

"Yes, sir," replied the Boston barber. "Shall I do anything to your beard, sir?"—Chicago Tribune.

Second Appearance.

"This meat," protested the boarder, "is overdone."

"Not exactly it ain't," replied the new waitress; "it's done over. This is the same meat you had yesterday."—Philadelphia Press.

Too Bad!

"I think it was a shame for the Indians to bury their hatchets!"

"Why?"

"Just think how lovely they would be for decorative purposes."—Detroit Free Press.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Nary Bite.

Down th' crick; line an' pole;
Makin' fer sunfish hole.

Bait th' line; throw it in;
Ort tew bite jes' like sin.

Home ag'in long to'rds night;
Didn't git gol ding'd bite.

Easy Proposal.

"If I only had an embassador at the court of love!" sighed the bashful swain.

"A minister would be good enough for me," replied the demure maiden.

"Arabella!"

"Herbert!"

And so they were married.

The Single Eye.

She—You old bachelors seem to know a lot about women.

He—Of course. If we didn't, we would probably not be old bachelors.—Chicago News.

Another Fond Hope Shattered.

They tell us faithful old dog Tray,
Who used to pose as true,
Is but a myth. One can't be tray
And yet be faithful too.

When He Was a Boy.

"Pa, when you was a boy did you always fight somebody of your size?"

"Yes, my son; before I got married I was afraid of nothing."

BY CANOE THROUGH THE CANYONS

Two Vancouverites Made the Trip Past the Precipitous Gorges.

The distinction of being the first white men to ascend the Capilano by canoe through the canyons is likely to belong undisputedly to Mr. Thomas M. Scott and Mr. Leonard Campbell, of British Columbia, says The Province. Mr. Scott is a photographer, and secured some magnificent pictures of the gorges. Mr. Campbell is a teacher in the manual training department of the East End school.

Both gentlemen left Vancouver on Monday morning last on their perilous trip. They safely passed the first canyon, and then ventured beyond through a succession of narrow gorges. In speaking of the trip, Mr. Scott stated that they had but little difficulty in passing through the canyons, as where the steep cliffs narrow, the depth of water is so great that but little currant is felt. Where the cliffs part and the water becomes shallower the current increases, but by keeping close to shore and wading at times, there is little danger in making the trip.

Mr. Scott states that he never in his life saw scenery to equal that of the Capilano canyons, and his photographs prove the truth of his assertion. Mr. Scott claims the camera cannot do justice to the beauty and grandeur of the heretofore thought to be inaccessible depths of the gorges.

On their return their canoe was punctured by a collision with a stick of timber.

Less Crime in Canada.

The annual report of the criminal statistics in the Dominion for the year ending September 30, 1901, shows that the number of charges for indictable offences was 128 less than in 1900. The convictions in 1901 numbered 5,638, or 130 less than in 1900. There is a decrease in the percentage of convictions to charges. In 1901 there were 2,532 acquittals, compared with 2,576 in 1900. There is a slight increase in the detentions for lunacy, which agrees with the findings of the last census.

There has been a decrease in Canada as a whole in the number of convictions compared with the population. This is due to a decreased ratio of crime to population in Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Manitoba, Ontario, Yukon, and British Columbia. The Territories showed considerable increase, and Nova Scotia and Quebec a small increase. The decrease in the Yukon is from 35 to 14 per cent. Crime among the agricultural, commercial, and domestic classes has decreased. It has increased among the industrial classes while the professional and laboring classes show decreases. The proportion of females among the criminal classes is steadily decreasing.

The Cat Column

One of the features in which English periodicals for women differ from American magazines of the same class is in the "cat column." There is a section devoted to cat gossip in many of them, in which well known catteries are described, the good points of their inmates and the methods of their owners set forth and the troubles of correspondents discussed, all with an unconscious gravity and a dignity of style which approach the humorous in our eyes. The illness and consequent absence from a show of a famous cat are thus gravely chronicled in a recent publication: "She was prevented from appearing at Edinburgh by an unfortunate accident, having got a fish bone firmly fixed in her nose while eating her supper. She has got well over the effects, barring a slight weakness of the eyes, which will no doubt pass off in a day or two."

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers
Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.
F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.
10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.
Farm Laborers' Excursions
Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, Southwest and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.
SECOND CLASS $10
One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.
Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."
For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.
A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS.
Pond's Extract
Over fifty years a household remedy for Burns, Sprains, Wounds, Bruises Coughs, Colds and all accidents liable to occur in every home.
CAUTION—There is only one Pond's Extract. Be sure you get the genuine, sold only in sealed bottles in buff wrappers.

Jelly Crystals
One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.
Price 7c a package.
HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.

Allen's Lung Balsam
The best Cough Medicine.
ABSOLUTE SAFETY
should be the first thought and must be rigorously insisted upon when buying medicine, for upon its safety depends one's life. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM contains no opium in any form and is safe, sure, and prompt in cases of Croup, Colds, deep-seated Coughs.
Try it now, and be convinced.

Wall Paper
If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.
Painting, Paper Hanging, Graining.
J. CORNELIUS.
Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 6—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 8—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,

Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

GOOD FISHING.
Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—
Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.
Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.
At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

For Pickling
XXX Cider and White Wine Vinegars
Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES
J. C. Hanley & Co.
Telephone 214.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society
Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.
No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.
For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.
J. P. C. PHILLIPS, Manager.
tf

A Wheat-Malt Cereal that Tickles Taste and Steadies Nerve.

Canastota, N. Y., March 20, 1902.
"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.
Dear Sirs,—I have used a number of packages of "FORCE" since it was first introduced here. My husband and I use a package every two days. Every spoonful is an aggravation for more.
My husband is an engineer, and he takes a whole bowlful to his engine and eats it with one quart of milk. He says it makes him feel like a "young colt." I have a nursing baby—my first child—and I find it gives nourishment in abundance for both myself and baby.
We eat it by the wholesale, and I would like to buy it by the wholesale.
Mrs. ——
Name given on application.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

But her exclamation only has the effect of making Captain Glynne execrate first his slippers, then the fender, as he strikes his foot against it. Limping violently across the room, he unbolts the door with ill-tempered haste.

"What on earth's the matter?" he demands. "What is wrong? Yolande, what o'clock is it? What do you want?"

"Nothing, dear," Yolande says deprecatingly, wishing almost that the ground might open and swallow her up. "Only I did not know you were asleep, Dallas, dear. I would not have disturbed you if I had thought you were asleep."

"What is it? What is the matter, for heaven's sake?" Dallas cries irately, shivering. "Just as I was in my first sleep, too! What are you sitting up for until this hour?" he asks more crossly, as he perceives that she is still wearing her dinner-dress, with her warm vicuna shawl wrapped around her.

"Because I could not go to sleep, Dallas," Yolande replies tenderly, laying her little ice-cold fingers on his hand, glowing with life and warmth, "until I asked you to forgive me if I wronged you, and to be friends with me—oh, my darling!"

"Good gracious!" Dallas exclaims, in wrathful accents. "Is it possible you woke me up in the dead of night and disturbed me in this manner for such infernal nonsense! I wish to goodness you had one ounce of common-sense! You behaved most improperly to me last night—to-night—whatever time it is—and I told you that your conduct would make our separation final if you did not alter it! You didn't choose to alter it, so you must take the consequences!"—and he yawns violently and shivers again, being, in fact, in that sleepy condition of mental confusion and irritability in which a member of the nobler sex can not reasonably be expected to be saintly in word or deed, having been unduly disturbed by the wife of his bosom.

"Oh, Dallas," Yolande pleads, with a stifled cry, clinging to him, "don't speak so cruelly to me! Oh, my love, I could bear it no longer—I grew so miserable and desolate and nervous, thinking of the poor old Earl's death; and I thought I should like to speak to you for a minute, not knowing you were asleep, dear."

"If you are nervous, why didn't you have your maid to sleep in your room?" Dallas asks curtly, freeing himself from the clasp of her arms. "I can ring for her now if you wish. It is past twelve, I see, and of course in a country household like this everybody was asleep long ago; but that doesn't matter, I suppose."

"No, no. I don't want Pitts! I would not disturb her on any account," Yolande says hurriedly, shrinking away, but gazing at him pitifully.

"I wish you had been as considerate for me," Dallas rejoins harshly. "You should have gone to bed long ago, and not have sat up giving way to superstitious fancies!"

He tells himself that it is only right to reprove her sternly for such childish behaviour, and to give her a smart reminder that she has forfeited her right to worry and disturb him, since, by the decree of her fierce, foolish jealousy, they are to be strangers.

And then, although he feels a pang of misgiving at the sight of the wan young face, the large, dark, piteous eyes gazing longingly after him from the gloomy background of the huge dimly-lit room, he shuts the door, and leaves her alone—alone, to weep through the live-long night, to sit there in the cold and darkness, when the candles burn out about two o'clock. The desolate, timid girl, a stranger amongst strangers, sick and faint with nervous terrors, apart from her other misery, crouches in an arm-chair wrapped in her shawl.

Then, to preserve appearances, Yolande takes off her pretty black-lace and amber-satin dress, which she put on with such innocent pleasure and vanity, and wrapping herself in a warm flannel dressing-gown, creeps shudderingly into the snowy depths of the huge ice-cold bed.

There, in spite of cold and misery, she falls into a deep sleep of exhaustion. Pitts wakes her at half-past eight.

"I have caught a bad cold, I think, and don't feel well enough to go down this morning, Pitts," she tells the maid, who acquiesces, with a glance at her young mistress's swollen eye-lids. "And, after breakfast, you must pack my trunks, Pitts," Yolande continues, with a vain attempt to speak clearly and pleasantly. "I shall return to London to-day."

"I thought you would," Pitts says to herself.

"Captain Glynne and I arranged it last night," she goes on, in a business-like tone, "and decided that it was better I should go back to Rutland Gardens, and stay there until he can leave Pentreath."

"I wonder when that will be," Pitts thinks indignantly. "When that Miss Murray goes, I suppose! Oh, the falseness of men! And she hasn't a bit of spirit, poor little thing, to stand up for herself! Catch me puttin' up with a husband like that!"

After breakfast comes an ordeal which Yolande dreads and shrinks from, but to which she is obliged to submit in her helplessness and friendlessness—a visit from mademoiselle, the meek dependent, who, while ostensibly Lady Maria's nurse and companion, is in reality the mistress of the house and every one in it. She glides in, in her pale-gray gown and her Puritan bands and kerchief, with a set bright smile and sweet words of sympathy.

With downcast eyelids, she hears all Yolande has to say, acquiesces meekly, and arranges everything for her immediate departure without one unpleasant comment or question.

Indeed, Yolande wishes vexedly more than once that Mademoiselle Isabelle, as she is called in the Pentreath household, would evince some little natural surprise and inquisitiveness on the subject of this sudden journey, this parting of a newly wedded pair; but mademoiselle seems possessed only with the idea that Yolande has caught a [illegible] influenza cold and is obliged to go post-haste to London to nurse herself.

"And of course, no matter what poor Captain Glynne's feelings may be at having to part with you, cherie, your health and comfort are his first consideration," mademoiselle says, with a solemn shake of the head and a plaintive smile, which to Yolande appears like a sardonic grin. "We must try to keep him from feeling lonely, dear," she adds softly, "though I don't suppose any of us could succeed in doing that"—with another serious shake of the head.

"I couldn't resist that one small joke at her expense," mademoiselle says to herself, laughing heartily, "when I fully expect and intend that he and Joyce Murray will flirt to their hearts' content all day long and every day, now that 'the green-eyed monster'—poor Yolande—is out of the way!"

She smooths the way, explaining and arranging everything so deftly that, when Yolande is dressed, she has nothing to do but to say "Good-bye" to every one, including her husband.

Lady Maria is very kind and full of sympathy for Yolande's evident illness, and urges her, when in London, to see a favorite "specialist" of hers—Doctor Sutheley Smith.

Yolande then hurries down to the hall, where the carriage is waiting.

"Please tell Captain Glynne I am going now," she says to one of the footmen.

He has gone to the stables, and the message does not reach him for some little time. He is utterly confounded, but incredulous until he sees the carriage actually piled with luggage and his wife and her maid sitting inside. His face pales visibly, and his eyes glitter as he comes forward and puts his hand upon the carriage door. But he smiles quite pleasantly, though coldly.

"I did not think you intended going until the afternoon," he says carelessly. "Williams, fetch my overcoat!"

"You—you are not coming?" Yolande asks, flushing and frowning, and trying to speak very coldly, whilst her heart is bounding with joy.

"I am going to the station with you, of course," he answers, his eyes flashing. "I can't escort you all the way, as I explained to you last night, you know!"

"Oh, yes, very well!" Yolande replies, in an indifferent tone. "Will you have room, or shall Pitt go outside?"

"Plenty of room," he says curtly, detaining Pitts, who is alighting with an armful of small luggage.

A few words more, about the time of the trains and so forth, they speak; but not a tone or glance is exchanged that might not pass between utter strangers until the station is reached.

When she is seated in the railway carriage, there is a few minutes' grace; and Yolande hopes for even a few words of reproach in her husband's farewell.

But Captain Glynne is deeply offended, and betrays it only in his icily-polite attention to his wife's comfort. He buys her books and papers, sees that she has a foot-warmer, and fees the guard handsomely to be attentive. Then he strolls to and tro until the last bell rings, when he steps into the carriage, and, as Pitt is looking on, puts his arm round his wife's waist, and just brushes her cheek with his moustache in a cold semblance of a kiss.

"Good-bye — take care of yourself!" he says, stepping out on to the platform. "Good-bye, Pitts."

The whistle sounds, and he smiles pleasantly, raising his hat as he turns on his heel.

Yolande, as she gazes wildly after his retreating figure, and the train glides swiftly on, feels now, when it is all too late, in a spasm of agony that seems to suffocate her, that it is by her own act and deed that she is thus divorced from her newly wedded husband — her love whom she loves but too well — it may be for long, desolate years, it may be forever!

CHAPTER XXII.

Captain Glynne walks away from the platform without so much as casting a farewell glance at his young wife; but he sends the carriage home without him, and, lighting a cigar, walks slowly back the mile and a half to Pentreath.

"It has been 'a slight mistake' — that is all," he says, smiling bitterly — "like a good many other marriages. I thought she was a gentle, patient girl, but she is not. She thought I was a tame, sentimental fool, and is disgusted to find I am not. I thought I was getting a wife to love me and comfort me; instead of that, I have bound myself for life to a jealous young termagant, who treats me to a furious scene from a melodrama on any and every occasion."

He stops to think for a moment here in his angry reverie, and conscience, by no means deadened, reminds him of the impassioned clasp of loving arms, of the love light in her dark, passionate eyes, the truth and tenderness of her cry of devotion, and the promise never to leave him which she sealed with the kisses of her pure lips. His eyes soften, his face flushes faintly with a glow of pleasant emotion.

"She is a jealous young termagant, though!" he mutters, half laughing. "But I will say this — I don't believe I should easily tire of Yolande, even if everything went smoothly with us; and I do believe she loves me desperately, poor little girl!"

He is nearly back at Pentreath Place now, and, with a curious, desolate sense of loss, he frowns as he looks at it. Jealous, loving, angry, tender Yolande is not there to smile or to frown at him; and a pang seems to go through his very heart as he thinks how she would have met him — with dark eyes and soft, tremulous lips of rapturous delight — if he had not driven her and her love away.

"But there is one thing I will not endure," he tells himself, his brow clouding again; "and that is, Yolande doing just as she pleases in everything, in direct defiance of me and my wishes, and leading this highly independent life because of her girlish whim. I will follow her to London as soon as all this is over, and insist on her obedience and on her living with me as other docile wives live with their husbands, when once I get those confounded debts paid and things on a proper footing," Dallas decides firmly. "I will not allow my little lady any more of this free and untrammelled existence. She has married me, and she must learn to obey me! The Earl would never be so shabby as not to leave me at least a thousand," he muses uneasily, "and, mean and grasping as Lyulph is, he could never grudge me a paltry sum like that — rich as a Jew as he is, too! I must have a talk, a serious talk — and a large slice of 'humble pie' along with it, I suppose — with Lyulph this very evening," he muses. "He is not all bad, I dare say, though I have never heard any good of him. I will tell him frankly how I stand, and how, when I have given up soldiering and sent in my papers, I am not going to settle down to spend the rest of my days in idleness. He and old Dormer between them ought to be able to put me up to something good in the City or out of it;" and he goes indoors feeling so ready to have that "serious talk" and that "humble pie" repast that it is with surprise and satisfaction that he receives a message from the Viscount, who wishes to see Captain Glynne in his private room.

"I don't think I have ever been favored by an invitation to walk into your parlor before, Viscount," he observes, with a glance around the small dingy room, which is lumbered and crammed with a huge heavy old escritoire and book-case, and a marble-topped table supporting a massive lamp, which is pushed untidily back against a screen that leans against the wall, having no room to stand properly.

"No?" the Viscount says, with a sour contortion of his face and a glimmer of an evil smile in his eyes. "Why that quotation, I should like to know? I certainly shouldn't bother to play spider to you!"

The words are sufficiently insulting; the tone is worse.

"What do you want of me?" Dallas asks coldly and curtly, forgetting the "humble pie" altogether.

"I want to ask you what you mean by offering an insult to my guests?" the Viscount demands, with a snarl. "If you and your wife can't agree together, you might—at least, while you remained in my house—have refrained from letting your admiration of another lady be so marked as to be an insult to that lady—yes, an insult to her! I repeat it, sir!" the Viscount says sternly, confronting Dallas with a severe judicial aspect.

Dallas, fairly paralysed with rage and astonishment, stands gazing at him in silence.

"Your conduct has driven your wife to leave Pentreath this morning," the Viscount resumes, with a menacing tone and an ugly, lowering frown; "and, as you know quite well, a step like that on the part of a wife means deadly injury to a young girl's reputation—her spotless reputation, sir," the Viscount adds fiercely, raising his voice, "which you would sacrifice to your vanity!"

"Don't you think, Lord Glynne, you have gone far enough?" Dallas says slowly; and his lordship fancies, from the look in his cousin's eyes, that he has gone far enough; but he knows — though he is afraid —that he must go farther.

(To be continued.)

Just the thing for Children.

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is remarkably effective with delicate children. They like it and take it readily when they cannot be induced to take Cod-liver Oil. It is an excellent tonic and just what the little ones need. It makes them eat better, sleep better, and gain in weight, strength and color. Give it to the children if they have a cough or cold; if they are pale and thin; if they are scrofulous or rikety; if their food does not digest or their bowels are out of order. It is pleasant to take.

All druggists sell it.

ANGIER CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS

THE MARKETS.

Lower Prices All Round at Chicago—Liverpool Wheat Futures Unchanged—The Latest Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 26.

Liverpool—Wheat futures closed unchanged to-day, and corn futures, ¼d to ½d higher.

Unfavorable cables and good weather brought lower prices at Chicago to-day. Sept. wheat closed ⅝c below yesterday; Sept. corn, ½c lower, and Sept. oats, ⅜c lower.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	75½	72⅞	74½
Chicago	....	71⅜	67⅞	70⅛
Toledo	72½	72½	71½	72¾
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	72⅛	69⅞	65½	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 70 to	$....
Wheat, white, bush	0 72½	....
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	....
Wheat, goose, bush	0 75	....
Beans, bush	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush	0 84	....
Rye, bush	0 50½	....
Barley, bush	0 47	0 48
Oats, bush	0 46	0 47
Oats, new, bush	0 36½	....
Buckwheat, bush	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected	$0 09
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected	0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected	0 08
Hides, No. 2, inspected	0 07
Hides, No. 1, cured, selling	0 08½
Calfskins, No. 1, selected	0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected	0 08
Deacons (dairies), each	0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 30	0 40
Lambskins, each	0 30	0 40
Wool, fleece, per lb	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb	0 07	....

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock were: 78 carloads, all told, composed of 1386 cattle, 500 hogs, 1075 sheep and lambs, with about 30 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $5.75; medium exporters, $5 to $5.40 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $4.50 to $5; light export bulls, $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $4.65 to $5.25; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1035 lbs. each, sold at $4.40 to $5 per cwt.; loads of good butchers' sold at $4 to $4.50; loads of medium butchers', $3.75 to $4; common butchers' cows, at $2.75 to $3 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.25 to $4.75 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $25 to $45 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.40 to $3.60 per cwt. for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs. nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.25 per cwt.; lights at $7, and fats at $7 per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags $3.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Cattle—Receipts, 50 head; nothing doing; tendency lower. Veals—Receipts light; 25c lower; tops, $7.75 to $8; fair to good, $7 to $7.50; common to light, $6 to $6.75. Hogs—Receipts, 4000 head; active, 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $7.70 to $7.75; mixed, $7.60 to $7.70; Yorkers, $7.50 to $7.60; light do., $7.45 to $7.55; pigs, $7.40 to $7.50; roughs, $6 to $6.40; stags, $5 to $5.25; grassers, $7.30 to $7.50; closing strong. Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2500 head; sheep, slow; lambs, 25c lower; top lambs, $6 to $6.15; fair to good, $5.75 to $5.95; culls to common, $4 to $5; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; wethers, $4 to $4.25; sheep, top, mixed, $3.50 to $3.70; fair to good, $3.25 to $3.40; culls to common, $1.75 to $2.75; ewes, $3.25 to $3.50.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Aug. 26.—Beeves—Receipts, 283. Dressed beef, steady; exports to-day, 100 cattle. Calves—Receipts, 106; dull; reported sales of veals were at $8.25 to $8.50 per 100 pounds. Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 7519. Sheep—Steady; lambs, slow; sales averaged lower than yesterday's; lambs, $5 to $6.75; one deck at $7; culls, $4.25 to $4.75. Dressed mutton, general sales, 5c to 7c per pound; dressed lambs, 8c to 11c. Hogs—Receipts, 1092, firm; a deck of mixed western hogs sold at $7.35 per 100 pounds.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Cattle—Receipts, 5500, including 2000 westerns; slow; good to prime steers, $7.75 to $8.75; poor to medium, $4 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.25; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.50 to $4.50; calves, $2.75 to $7.25; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $4 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 11,000; 10c to 20c higher; mixed and butchers', $7.25 to $7.80; good to choice heavy, $7.60 to $7.95; rough heavy, $7 to $7.55; light, $7.25 to $7.80; bulk of sales, $7.40 to $7.65.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 18,000; steady; lambs, strong; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $4; fair to choice mixed, $2.50 to $3.75; native lambs, $3.50 to $6.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 26.—Live cattle, higher, at 13c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 11½c per lb.

Registry Office Returns.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Donald Guthrie, inspector of registry offices, has issued his report for 1901. Compared with the previous year it shows the following regestries: Number of instruments registered in 1901, 128,193; 1900, 119,941; increase, 9,252; total fees earned, gross, 1901, $195,596.30; 1900, $184,326.12; increase, $11,268.91; the net fees are as follows: For 1901, $107,466.11; for 1900, $104,365.26; increase, $3,100.86.

Lost Whole Season's Crop.

Clinton, Aug. 27.—James Snell, the well-known breeder of thoroughbred stock, had the misfortune to lose all his barns Monday night by fire, together with their contents, which represented his entire crop for this year. He also lost a thoroughbred bull in the flames. Insurance about $3,000.

Smallest Since 1898.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—The total salmon pack on the Fraser River for this present season is 262,000 cases. This is the smallest since 1898.

Big Removal Sale.

Next month we move into the store across the street now occupied by Mr. J. H. Mills, and from now until we start to move all cash purchases at the store will be subject to a good big discount.

CARPETS, CURTAINS, WALL PAPERS, PICTURES, ETC., at lower prices than you ever before bought similar goods. You can benefit by the sale if you are in need of anything this store contains.

T. P. BROWN
Carpets, Curtains, Wall Paper, Picture Framing.

ESTABLISHED 1890. PHONE MAIN 4303.

W. F. DEVER & CO.,
STOCK AND BOND BROKERS.

WE EXECUTE ORDERS IN
Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel
on Boston Stock Exchange, over our private wire, for cash or margin.
BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

We solicit accounts for the purchase of listed stocks and bonds.
19 Wellington St. East, Toronto.

For Torpid Liver, Flatulence, Constipation, Biliousness and Sick Headache, TAKE

BRISTOL'S Pills

Safe, Mild, Quick-acting, Painless, do not weaken, and always give satisfaction.

A most reliable Household Medicine, can be taken at any season, by Adults or Children.

All druggists sell "BRISTOL'S."

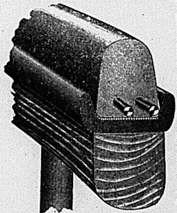
Corticelli B & A

WASH SILKS are the embroidery silks of particular folks. Colored and tinted by Asiatic dyes — absolutely fast colors.

Exquisite true art shades; stronger to the number than any other work silk in existence; mounted in our patent holders, which provide for single or double needlefuls in a jiffy. No tangling, kinking or knotting possible.

Put your faith in Corticelli B. & A. Wash Silk and be safe.

Corticelli B & A



The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.

Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

Specially adapted for children, on account of its absolute purity.

Baby's Own Soap

is used by young and old alike and commands an immense sale.

Dont trifle with imitations.

ALBERT TOILET SOAP CO., Mfrs. MONTREAL. 6-2

Wedding Stationery at The Intelligencer Job Office. tf

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at

SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.

Good going August 30th, 31st, and Sept. 1st, returning good until Sept. 2nd, 1902.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR
TORONTO
September 1st to 13th.

Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.

Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75

All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Leaves Belleville at 3.00 a.m., Monday, Sept. 8th, arriving Toronto 6.50 a.m. Ask agents for official programme and time table.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.

T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

AUTUMN 1902

New Autumn Dress Goods.

We have received within the past few days a large shipment of

New Dress Materials

Direct from the fashion centres of Europe. They include all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this coming season.

In Broadcloths, Coverts, Vicunas, Zebelines,

Poplins, Homespuns, Friezes and Tweed Effects.

A word about the finish of all our Dress Goods this season—They are all finished in the celebrated "Ripley Finish." This particular finish is a perfect guarantee that the goods are thoroughly shrunk and will not spot.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

DIRECT IMPORTERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT

J. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 210 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

PUT THESE ON AND SEE THAT YOUR CHOCOLATES ARE STAMPED THUS G.B.

"G. B." Chocolates are ever increasing in popularity and favor with the chocolate eating public. Over eighty varieties of this famous brand made. They are "The finest in the land." 60c a lb. mixed.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up.

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. C. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locs charged as less than twenty-five words.

The police court record was a blank to-day.

The last Wednesday half-holiday was well observed, nearly all places of business being closed.

Two excursions left the city to-day by steamers, and both were largely attended.

Owing to the inclement weather last evening there was no band concert at the park.

Save your eyes by consulting Dr. Mecklenburg, the optical expert, about them. His methods are by far the best, for he is using the shadow test (Retinascopy), whereby he can see the defect in the eyes as it really is. No guess work; no mistakes. At McKeown's drug store, Belleville, Monday to Saturday night, Sept. 1 to 6th. 1td&w

For speed, safety, comfort, the reliable Strs. North King and Caspian, with popular A.O.F. excursion, Sat. Aug. 30, 31st, leaving Belleville 11.28. Tickets $1.50. Good for 1 week $2.00. a27-3t

Take either the Niagara or Alexandria for Rochester, Saturday, August 30. Tickets good until Monday eve. Alexandria leaves Belleville 11 a.m.; Niagara leaves Belleville 10.30 p.m. Fare $1.50. See bills for full particulars. a26-3td

Consternation prevailed in the lower portion of the city last evening over the reported disappearance of an old lady named Mrs. Fortune. It appears that she went to Picton on an excursion and was left at that town. Later in the night she was brought safely home.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv.

23,25,62,27

DATE OF T. BLACKBURN'S SALE CHANGED.

By the telegram below, which was received this morning you will notice that we regret have been obliged to change date of sale to Saturday, Aug. 30.:

New York, Aug. 26, 1902.

T. Blackburn,

Belleville, Ont.

Jeweller.

Impossible to open Sale Thursday; apologize to the good people. Saturday, sure. J. H. HAVILL.

50c EXCURSION TO KINGSTON FAIR.

On Wednesday, 27th, and Thursday, 28th August, per steamers North King and Caspian. About six hours in the Limestone City. See adv.

23,25,62,27

Bargains in Ladies' Blouses

Any Colored, White or Fancy Stripe Blouse in the store at 75c, $1.00, $1.25 or $1.50 to clear in two days at

49c each

All Blouses at 50c will go at

29c each

AT—

McINTOSH BROS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Miss Estella Barber is visiting friends in Ottawa.

Mr. A. Wensley will leave to-morrow for Boston, Mass.

Mr. S. E. Lennox was in Marmora yesterday on business.

Mrs. V. Wensley leaves to-morrow for Portland, Me., to join her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Crawford Dixon, of Boston, Mass., are visiting in town.

Mr. J. B. Hendrick has gone to visit his sons in different parts of New York State.

Mrs. J. W. Barlow, McDonald Ave., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Montgomery, of Hungerford.

Mrs. S. A. Lockwood is exhibiting in the ladies' department of fancy work at the Kingston fair.

Rev. W. J. and Mrs. Gilliland returned to the city last night, after a restful two weeks' visit to Wellington.

Rev. W. B. and Mrs. Heeney have returned to the city, after a pleasant holiday spent at Danford Lake, near Ottawa.

Mr. H. Biggar, Mr. O. Mowat Biggar and Mr. Crotts, of Toronto, left on the yacht Iolanthe yesterday for a week's cruise.

Miss Blanche Swayze, of New York, who has been spending a few days here, left this afternoon for Toronto and other places in the west to visit relatives.

Kingston Whig: F. E. O'Flynn, a prominent Belleville lawyer, accompanied by Miss Susie and Master Jack O'Flynn, arrived in the city to-day on the yacht Allendale, from Glen Island. After spending a few hours in the city, they left again on a cruise as far west as Toronto.

At the Quinte;—J. Marshall, G. Bilton, R. G. Wright, J. Engels, W. B. Fowler, W. A. Wesson, F. McConkey, V. Lyon, Toronto; J. S. Hogan, Hamilton; J. Anns, E. P. Romeril, G. Ramsden, Montreal; W. P. Lamb and wife, F. P. Shaw, Rochester; F. E. Fairburn, Brockville; T. G. Holmes, Port Hope; J. Castanet, Paris, France; E. J. Powell, Quebec; C. L. G. Lampe, A. L. F. Mayot, W. E. Barker, New York; R. C. Carter, Deseronto.

SPEEDY CURE FOR CRAMPS AND COLIC.

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

NOW PLAYING HIS LAST PART

MR. S. SINFIELD, FULL OF YEARS, DIED AT NOON TO-DAY.

Mr. Samuel Sinfield, who was well known in this city and vicinity, died at noon to-day at the family residence, Sidney, just west of the city limits. Mr. Sinfield had been ill for some time. Deceased was born at London, England, 82 years ago. Some 40 years ago he came out to this country and since that time has made his home in this community, following the occupation of a gardener. Mr. Sinfield had a great liking for the stage, having been in Harry Lindley's Company years ago, and took part in many amateur productions in this city. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Samuel P. and Geo. R., who reside at home, and one daughter, Mrs. John Phillips, of Sidney Crossing. Mr. Sinfield was a member of the Methodist Church. His demise will be regretted by all who knew him.

The Fall Fairs

E. Hastings, Thrasher's, Sept. 25-26.
Kingston's big fair, Aug. 25-29.
Ottawa Central, Aug. 22-30.
Morrisburg, Aug. 27-29.
Sherbrooke, Aug. 30, Sept. 6.
Toronto Industrial, Sept. 1-13.
Frontenac, Harrowsmith, Sept. 4-5.
Iroquois, Sept. 8-10.
Peterboro, Central, Sept. 9-11.
Addington, Tamworth, Sept. 12-13.
London Western, Sept. 12-20.
Napanee, County, Sept. 16-17.
Newboro, Sept. 15-16.
Brockville, Sept. 16-18
Hamilton Central, Sept. 16-18.
Perth, County, Sept. 17-19.
Prescott, Sept. 23-25.
Hinchinbrooke, Parham, Sept 23-24.
Delta, Sept. 23-24.
Merrickville, County, Sept. 24-25.
Renfrew, Sept. 25-26.
Lombardy, Sept. 27.
Spencerville, Sept. 30, Oct. 1.
Beachburg, Oct. 2-3.
Lansdowne, Oct. 7-8.

NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS AND EXHAUSTED.

Not sick enough to lay up, but you are out of sorts, blood is weak, nerves unstrung, kidneys deranged, vitality is low. You should take Ferrozone at once; it will enrich, strengthen and purify the blood, invigorate and pacify the nerves, and increase your energy, vitality and power. Ferrozone will renew your appetite and digestion, make you sleep soundly—in fact will make you well. Try Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50; at druggists, or J. S. McKeown's.

Black Dress Goods

Our line of Black Dress Goods is now complete with the newest things in plain and fancy weaves consisting of Broadclothes, Zebelines, Canvas Cloth, Cashmere, Venetian, etc. Also a very fine range of Black Cheviots which is probably the most serviceable suit or skirt material to be had.

—50 inch All Wool Black Cheviots, a fine suiting .... 60c.

Colored Lustre

The newest material for blouses and light dresses.

These makes are fine as silk, but much more serviceable, in Cream, Blue, Green and Pink, 48" wide 95c

Flannels

Our new French Flannels are now in. We think them much the prettiest ever shown here. In colorings of Old Rose, Blue, Green and Red, mostly with borders for trimming 50c

Belts

At our centre you will always find what is newest in Belts. Here are some.

—Gilded Belts with fancy buckle 25c

—Black Moire shaped Belts, satin bound 65c

Kid Gloves

We are agents for Perrin's celebrated Kid Glove which are guaranteed, from $1 per pair up.

See our Adonis, what we consider the best Glove on the market, for $1.00

Flannelettes

Our English Flannelettes have arrived, these are the best to wash and wear.

—32 inch heavy flette 5c
—32 inch English 10c
—36 inch English, notice the width 15c

Silk Gloves

We now have the elbow and full length Silk Gloves.

—Elbow Glove, fine quality, White or Cream 50c
—Full length Black or White 75c

Handkerchiefs

Children's Colored Bordered Handkerchiefs 1c
White Lawn Handkerchief, suitable for school, ... 3c and 4c
Fine White Lawn Handkerchief, open work border and hem, very pretty 5c

The RITCHIE COMPANY

Limited.

New York's Society Palmist

Miss Ellen Francis

Wonderful, Marvellous, Astonishing are Her Readings.
Gives Advice on all Affairs of Life.
Unites the Separated.
When Others Fail She Succeeds.

If you are in trouble of any kind, discontented, unhappy, not satisfied in life, having business, love or domestic troubles, you will be told how to overcome all.

"Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor."—Prov. iii., 16.

PARLORS KYLE HOUSE.

Hours: 10 to 9. Satisfaction guaranteed. Maid in attendance.

26-6t

Literary Notes

Of timely interest in the Methodist Magazine and Review, for September are an illustrated character-study of Lord Salisbury, by Norman W. Cragg, and an article on Hatfield House, the home of the Cecils for three hundred years, with engravings. Also a study, with portrait, of Mr. Balfour, the new Premier. Other striking illustrated articles, with Coronation Echoes, William Watson's and McLean Watts' Coronation Odes, etc., make up a strong number. Toronto; William Briggs. Montreal; C. W. Coates. Halifax; S. F. Huestis. $2.00 a year; $1.00 for six months.

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

"MARVELLOUS"

Big value—That's what they are---we refer to our sale of Rockingham Tea pots. They were bought cheap—They are to be sold cheaper as we wish to clear them out at once.

Tea Pots that were 15c now going at - - - 11c
Tea Pots that were 18c now going at - - - 12c
Tea Pots that were 20c now going at - - - 14c
Tea Pots that were 25c now going at - - - 16c
Tea Pots that were 30c now going at - - - 20c
Tea Pots that were 35c now going at - - - 22c

If you want a good serviceable teapot now is your chance, you'll make by buying now

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1902. NO. 100

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Slocum is Free

Ex-Detective Sidney A. Slocum, who was on November 10th, 1898, sentenced at Toronto to four years in the Kingston penitentiary on the charge of inciting a witness to commit perjury, was in the city to-day. In conversation with an Intelligencer reporter the ex-detective stated that he received from the Department of Justice an absolute pardon, and was released on Tuesday last. The ex-detective will in a few days take up his residence in the North-West Territory.

ARNOTT WHITE STILL TRAVELLING

IS VERY NERVOUS, AND THINKS TORONTO POLICE ARE TRACKING HIM.

Toronto, August 28. — More about the movements of young Arnott White, who skipped out on a freight train with another youth named Ridley on August 11th, reached Toronto when George Kendrick, whose parents live in the rear of 120 Portland street, came back after being on the road with White for a week.

Ridley, it will be remembered, parted with White at Thornton, and came back to Toronto. A day or so after that, according to what Kendrick is alleged to have told the police, Kendrick met White at Toronto Junction and they set out together. They beat their way on trains from town to town and sometimes walked. They went as far as Detroit, and then returned to Glencoe. Near there one night they stretched themselves out under a tree to sleep. When Kendrick woke up, White had deserted him, and Kendrick does not know where White went.

White, he said, never talked about the mysteries at the Evans warehouse. He was very nervous, and seemed to think the Toronto police were tracking him, which as a matter of fact, is not the case.

It is generally believed Arnott White can cast much light on the warehouse mystery if he desires. While it is improbable that he knows aught of the mysterious deaths, he is suspected of knowing the author of some of the other things that have disturbed the employes of Evans & Sons during the past two months.

BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS.

The Oak Hall have a splendid assortment of boys' school suits. We recommend, for good hard wear, those good homespun suits made by the Sanford Mfg. Co., $2, $2.50 and $3, in two pieces; $3.50, $4 and $5 in the three-piece suits. Have the boy looking well when he starts for school.

TWO FINE EXCURSIONS

LADIES' AID OF THE TABERNACLE AND MR. LUTON'S BIBLE CLASS HAVE PLEASANT OUTINGS.

The excursion yesterday under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Tabernacle church was well attended. The steamer Varuna conveyed the excursionists to the town of Picton, where the day was spent in sightseeing and recreation. A number of the party visited the Sand Banks. The excursionists arrived home at a seasonable hour and reported having had a most enjoyable outing.

The excursion to Glen Island and Glenora, under the auspices of Mr. Luton's Bible Class of Bridge St. Church Sunday School, attracted an unusually large crowd yesterday afternoon. The sail was a delightful one, and the boat arrived back at a seasonable hour. The profits of this excursion will be devoted to the repairs of the old Dundas St. burying ground.

A Quiet Wedding

Mr. James Henry Hanna and Miss Elizabeth Way, both of the township of Mayo, were married in this city yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Bodie.

UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF CATARRH.

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then its catarrh. Use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily and readicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed membranes, clears nose, throat and air passages by one application. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping, and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size, 25c. Druggists.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Special Corset Sale

For this week's Corset selling we will clear One Hundred and Seventy Eight (178) pairs B. & C., Crompton's, B. & I. and E. T. Corsets, all this season's New Styles including Summer Nets, Fine Sateens, and French Coutills in Girdles, Medium and Full Lengths

Here are the Prices at which these will sell.

All 50c and 75c Summer Corsets will sell for	35c
75c White Steel Filled Corsets will sell for	59c
60 pairs Straight Front $1.00 Corsets will sell for	69c
40 pairs of $1.25 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	95c
18 pairs of $1.50 White and Drab Corsets will sell for	$1.10

Sizes range from 18 to 30

Do You Want

A Fine Black Sateen Underskirt for 95c?

If you need a Skirt just look at the Fine Black Sateen Skirts as shown in our window, nicely made, full flounce and hemstitched, for Ninety Five Cents.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

BUREAU OF MINES REPORT

INTERESTING RESUME OF WHAT HAS BEEN DONE IN THE PROVINCE DURING THE PAST YEAR.

There is no department of trade or industry in this province which has made greater progress during the last few years than that of mining and its dependent manufacturing activities. The great advances made latterly in this respect can best be realized from the statistics and facts published in the report of Mr. Thos. W. Gibson, Director of the Bureau of Mines, for the year 1901, which has just been received. It is a comprehensive document dealing with every phase of the subject and showing the exact status of each branch of the industry.

A noticeable feature is the relative increase of metallic as compared with other materials produced. The latter formerly furnished the great bulk of the mineral output, but this is no longer the case. The total production of minerals of all kinds in 1901 was valued at $11,831,086, of which $5,016,734 or 42 per cent. were metallic. In 1900 the total production was $9,298,624, of which $2,565,286 or 28 per cent. were metallic. Of the total metalliferous yield copper-nickel and pig iron together form 81 per cent., the product of gold and silver being but small in comparison.

The lead is taken by the nickel-copper industry. The yield of nickel ore for the year amounted to 8,882,000 pounds, or 4,441 tons, valued in the matte at $1,859,970. This is an increase in quantity of 25 per cent. and in value of 145 per cent. as compared with 1900. The copper contents of the matte were 4,197 tons, valued at $589,080, as compared with 3,364 tons, worth $319,681 in 1900. An instructive table is given, showing the rapid progress made by the industry during the 5 years embraced between 1897 and 1901. In the former year 93,155 tons of ore were raised and 96,093 tons smelted, yielding nickel to the value of $359,651, and copper worth $200,067. Last year the number of tons raised was 326,945, number smelted 270,380, while the nickel product was valued at $1,859,970 and the yield of copper at $589,000. The rate of increase is being fully maintained this year, as indicated by the returns for the first quarter, which show a gain over the corresponding period of 1901 of $354,498 in nickel and $121,545 in copper. This is largely due to an improvement in the smelting process.

The iron industry occupies the second place in importance and its progress has been very marked. This is principally owing to the extensive development of the Helen mine, from which most of the ore now raised is taken. Last year the total amount of ore produced was 273,532 tons, worth $174,428, which is over three times the quantity mined in 1900, the figures for that year being 90,303 tons, valued at $111,805. The output of pig iron has been largely augmented both in value and quantity. In 1900 62,386 tons were got out, valued at $936,066, while last year the output was 116,370 tons of the value of $1,701,703. It is satisfactory to note that 57 per cent. of the ore used came from Ontario mines, as against 23 per cent. in 1900. The rapid growth of the steel-making industry is indicated by the production of 14,471 tons of this metal, valued at $347,280, as against 2,819 tons, worth $46,380 in 1900. Iron and steel manufacture last year employed 580 men, the wages paid being $274,554.

There is a continuous decrease in the gold product. Only 9 mines were producing gold as against 18 the previous year. Their output was 14,293 ounces, worth $244,443, as compared with 18,767 ounces, valued at $297,861, in 1900. An encouraging feature of the situation, however, is that during the first three months of the present year the gold output showed an increase of $22,548 over the yield in the corresponding period of 1901.

The silver mines yielded a product of 151,400 ounces, valued at $84,830, as against 160,162, valued at $96,367, the year previous. There was a gain of $4,954 in the production of January-March, 1902. The only zinc mine in operation yielded $15,000 worth of ore or 1,600 tons.

The changes in the quantity and value of the non-metallic products are much less marked than in the case of the metals. Petroleum products show a decline, the yield of last year having a value of $1,467,940. Common brick was produced to the value of $1,530,460 and lime yielded $550,000 and Portland and natural rock cement $670,880. Iron pyrites has been added to the list with an output of the value of $17,500, and corundum yielded $53,115.

In addition to the statistical information the volume comprises an account of the Ontario mining exhibit at the Pan-American by Frank N. Speller, a report of the work of the Provincial Assay Office by J. Walter Wells, a report as to Summer Mining Schools by Dr. W. L. Goodwin and a paper by Prof. A. B. Willmott on the mining and metallurgical industries of Sault Ste. Marie. There are also reports by Profs. Coleman and Miller of the extensive geological explorations and researches undertaken under the auspices of the Bureau, with the object of enlarging the field for mineral exploitation, besides other matters of interest.

A cross old bachelor says the proper way to bring up children is to keep them down on all possible occasions.

FISHING LAWS WORKED WELL

GOOD CATCHES MADE IN EASTERN ONTARIO AS A CONSEQUENCE.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Jeremiah Hurley, ex-M.P., whose duty it is to see that the fisheries regulations are observed throughout the eastern half of Ontario is in Ottawa to-day. He says that the fishing has been excellent all through his district this season. Excellent catches have been made all season along the St. Lawrence and lake ports, and in the Rideau and other lakes which attract sportsmen from all over the province, and in many cases from the United States.

Mr. Hurley attributes the good fishing to the regulations enforced these two seasons past against netting in July and August. He says the law of the Ontario Fisheries Department, limiting a day's catch of fish to 20 pounds, or ten fish per individual, has worked well, and put an end to the shipping across to New York State of large quantities that so-called sportsmen took in our waters.

SPEEDY CURE FOR CRAMPS AND COLIC.

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Light to moderate winds, fine and warm. Friday, fine and warm.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	61
12 m.	76
2 p.m.	83
3 p.m.	85

If a jailbird doesn't fly it isn't his fault.

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY ONLY!

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

YES! HERE ARE GREATER BARGAINS THAN EVER.

Friday and Saturday will be BUSY DAYS AT THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE—they will be the two last business days in August—and we purpose closing the month and our special clearing sale by recording the largest sales of August on these two last days.

Come in when out shopping—we'll be pleased to serve you—you'll find that

WE DO AS WE ADVERTISE.

JUST THINK THESE OVER:

Ladies' fine vici kid lace boots—very stylish and easy fitting—some with light, some with heavy soles—sizes 3, 4, 5, 5½, 6 and 7—regular price $4.00, now special for 2 days at	$3 25
Ladies' fine English enamel lace boots—heavy, slightly extended sole—round full toe—square cap—Cuban heel—regular price $3.50, now special for two days at	$2 98
Ladies' fine vici kid dress lace boots—light sole, Athen's toe—square kid tip—standard heel—regular price $3.00, now special for two days at	$2 45
Ladies' fine vici kid lace boots—nobby—durable—easy, having heavy extension sole—round full toe—square kid tip—military heel—regular price $3.00, now special for two days at	$2 15

LOW SHOES $1.00

There are still a few ladies' fine kid low shoes left, regular $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 qualities, your choice per pair.... $1.00

FOR THE CHILDREN

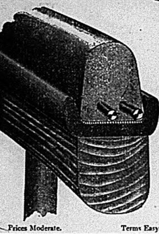
Mothers! do not let this chance pass—Friday and Saturday ALL children's boots and slip- in the store WILL BE GREATLY REDUCED IN PRICE—Bring the children with you!

WE DO AS WE ADVERTISE.

SURPRISE is SOAP

Pure Hard Soap.

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the people of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

Prof. Dorenwend

Of Toronto, the Famous HAIR GOODS ARTIST, IS COMING. HE WILL BE AT HOTEL QUINTE, BELLEVILLE, ON SAT., AUG. 30, UNTIL 4 P.M. With every kind and style of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Wigs, Toupees, Bangs, Wavy and Plain Fronts, Switches of all long hair in every length and shade.

His Art Styles are known and worn by all classes everywhere.

Be sure to visit his Show Rooms at the Hotel and see his new designs. He will, free of charge, demonstrate by fitting you what is the most suitable and becoming to you.

Their use adds Health, Comfort and Younger Appearance.

Gentlemen who are Bald should investigate and see his Feather Weight Toupees and Wigs, worn on over 55,000 heads.

Please Remember Day and Date

Saturday, Aug. 30 until 4 p.m.

ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION

The sticking of the iron—the scorching of the linen and the troubles and worries of washing day are things of the past if you use

BEE STARCH

No worry—little work and absolute satisfaction. Try it.

10 CENTS PER PACKAGE. Save the Coupons.

SNOWDON, FORBES & CO., Agts., 449 St. Paul St., Montreal. 21A

Genuine Scranton COAL!

Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.

The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

Wall St. Interests are most entertainingly and plainly portrayed in our 400 page, clothbound, illustrated

"Guide to Investors,"

it is most exhaustive and complete, in dealing with the subject: its statistics are absolutely reliable and correct. The best methods for successful speculation are fully discussed and presented, by writers of long experience. The work contains highest and lowest prices for from 10 to 30 years; complete reports of every security, dealt in upon the Exchanges, together, with maps of the various Railways. We issue it free for the asking. Shall we mail you a copy? If you are an investor in trade or stocks, our will prove of interest to you. Mailed free, every afternoon. We solicit orders both large or small for purchase or sale, for cash or on moderate margin.

"Daily Market Letter"

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

373 Front St., - Belleville, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

BOOK BINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

At Your Door.

Our handsomely illustrated 100 page Catalogue will be sent you on application.

This will place the largest and choicest jewelry stock in Canada at your disposal.

We are doing business on the closest possible margin of profit, guarantee safe delivery of goods and cheerfully refund money if you are not thoroughly satisfied.

Ryrie Bros.,

Yonge and Adelaide Sts.,

DIAMOND HALL, TORONTO.

Established 1854.

Wedding Stationery at The Intelligencer Job Office. tf

FRENCH INVITED TO CANADA

The Dominion Premier in the Home of His Ancestors.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Tendered a Banquet at Lille Exhibition Wednesday Night—Hopes For Open French Market For Canadian Products—In Industry There Is No Sentiment Other Than That Inspired by Best Market.

Lille, France, Aug. 28.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, inspected the exposition here yesterday. A banquet was given him last evening, and, in responding to a toast to his health, Sir Wilfrid referred to the sympathies existing between France and Canada, and expressed a hope for freer commercial relations between the two countries, and that France would become an open market for Canadian products, which, the speaker continued, could be supplied under exceptional conditions.

"In industry there is no sentiment other than that inspired by the best market," said the Prime Minister, and, in conclusion, he invited Frenchmen to settle in Canada, where, he said, they would be heartily welcomed.

FINEST QUALITY WHEAT.

From Samples Cut in Manitoba It Looks as If 80 Per Cent. Will Grade No. 1 Hard.

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—From the appearance of the samples of wheat already cut it looks as if about 80 per cent. will grade No. 1 hard.

It is understood that the railway companies have decided not to sell any more large tracts of land to syndicates. Their intention is to handle their land by an extended system of agencies, and thus reap the benefit of increasing values.

The weather will keep fine, and farmers are taking full advantage of it in gathering the harvest.

By Saturday night half of Manitoba wheat crop will be cut. Wheat threshing commenced on the farm of Peter Herbert in Gretna district yesterday. Yield was 27 bushels of fine quality.

A dozen machines will start in Mennonite district to-day, where cutting has finished.

Special train of harvesters arrived from Quebec yesterday with 600 on board, making 12,000 who have arrived to date.

Big Wheat Yield in Essex.

Toronto, Aug. 28. — The Ontario Department of Agriculture has received a report from Essex County, in the neighborhood of Kingsville, of an actual yield from 13 acres of 520 bushels of wheat, an average of about 40 bushels an acre. Eight acres yielded an average of 50 bushels. This was on the farm of Herbert Wigle, and is considered a big crop.

COAL FROM WALES.

6,000 Tons Shipped For Canada, But Will Not Affect Situation.

London, Aug. 28. — Six thousand tons of Welsh anthracite coal is being loaded for Canada at Swansea, the largest cargo ever shipped from that port. A further large shipment is being arranged.

Mr. Jardine, the Canadian trade commissioner in South Africa, has been interviewed at Johannesburg. He predicts large sales of Canadian furniture and boots and shoes, especially miners' boots.

Toronto Should Have 200,000 Tons.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 28.— Elias Rogers, interviewed, said this shipment would have no effect on the market here. It would be impossible to send it to Toronto and sell it even above present rates at a profit. Some of this coal is selling at $7 a ton in Montreal. It would have to sell for $8 here.

Mr. Burns of P. Burns & Co., said that it would be a good thing if some of this Welsh coal did reach Toronto.

"I don't think there's enough coal here for the people. There ought to be 200,000 tons anyway, and there isn't anything like that."

MORE TROOPS CALLED OUT.

Serious Disturbances Feared in the Coal Strike Regions.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—The second troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, was last evening ordered by Governor Stone to report to General Gobin at Shenandoah for duty in the anthracite coal regions. The troop will take the place of the Governor's troop of Harrisburg, which was sent by General Gobin from Shenandoah to Lansford, where there had been serious disturbances. The request for the city troop was made by General Gobin.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Wednesday.

Montreal 2, Toronto 16.
Jersey City 6, Worcester 5.
Newark 0, Providence 2.
Rochester-Buffalo. Wet grounds. No game.

National League, Wednesday.

Pittsburg 7, Boston 2.
Cincinnati 6, New York 4.
St. Louis 1, Philadelphia 5.

American League, Wednesday.

Cleveland 2, Philadelphia 1.

Death Rate on Increase.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The report of the Provincial Board of Health for the month of July shows a total number of deaths of 2,015, as compared with 1,946 for the same month last year. Only 706 out of a total of 777 municipalities have reported as against 740 for July, 1901. Deaths from contagious diseases were much fewer. This year the number from all causes was 193, while last year it was 263. Tuberculosis carried off 144, a decrease of 38.

ALL EYES ON THE BULL'S-EYE

Opening Day of Ontario Rifle Association Matches.

First Shot Fired by Color-Sergeant Phillips of the Royal Grenadiers—Wind and Haze Not Favorable to High Scores—Attendance Slightly Greater Than Last Year—Scores in Matches Shot on Wednesday.

Toronto, Aug. 28. — With a stiff wind and a haze in the air that rendered accurate work difficult, the Ontario Rifle Association opened the three days' work at the Long Branch ranges yesterday. The attendance was excellent and much enthusiasm was displayed, but the general average of shooting was not up to former days.

The reconstructed range presents a very satisfactory appearance and evokes much comment. Firing tickets have been issued to 226 men, as against 225 in 1901. About a dozen more are expected to arrive today. In the Canada Company's contest there is a slight falling off in the entries. In former years the entries in this match reached 80. This year it is 52.

Every province is represented and the Pacific Coast furnishes a number of men for team work.

The first shot was fired by Color-Sergt. Phillips of the Royal Grenadiers at 8.15. He scored an inner in the extra series at 600. The work was kept up rapidly until the "cease firing" gun was discharged at 5.40.

Canada Company Match.

The following is the score of the Canada Company match, the first event, showing name, division, score and prize:

Canada Company match—Sergt. R. Surpliss, 10th R.G., 47, $8; Pte. W. Lawrason, 77th, 46, $7; Corp. E. A. Beckett, 13th, 45, $5; Pte. A. H. Armstrong, Q.O.R., 44, $5; Pte. B. W. English, 37th, 43, $5; Pte. F. Haues, 77th, 43, $5; S.-Sergt. D. Cunnanon, 45th, 42, $4; Pte. J. Rickard, 7th, 42, $4; Pte. F. B. Tacke, 29th, 41, $4; Major J. E. Cahoe 44th, 41, $4; Pte. W. Russell, 37th, 40, $4; Sergt. A. E. Jackson, 57th, 40, $4; Sergt.-Major N. J. Denuln, 1st Hussars, 40, $4; Corp. C. Wilson, 7th, 39, $4; Lt. W. D. Allan, Q.O.R., 39, $4; Pte. C. Collins, 77th, 39, $4; Pte. F. Bibby, 77th, 39, $4; Pte. J. E. Virtue, 10th R.G., 39, $4; Pte. F. A. Stock, 33rd, 39, $3; Lt. M. L. Gordon, R.O., R.M.C., 39, $3; Pte. C. B. Almas, 37th, 38, $3; Sergt.-Major C. H. Vandersluys, 44th, 38, $3; Pte. T. Ackin, 33th, 37, $3; Pte. John Hume, 10th G.R., 36, $3; Corp. K. McGregor, 77th, 36, $3; L.-Corp. G. K. Thompson, 10th R.G., 36, $3; Corp. S. McDonnell, 7th, 35, $3; J. A. Tracey, 20th, 34, $3; Lt. K. D. Panton, 20th, 34, $3; Pte. William Pickell, 27th, 34, $3; Sergt. A. J. Cook, 10th RG., 34, $3; Lt. A. T. Hunter, 12th, 33, $3; Pte. Thomas Halliburton, 48th Highlanders, 33, $3; Capt. W. F. Gibson, 44th, 32, $3; Corp. G. Stewart, 10th R.G., 31, $3; Pte. Bradden, 7th, 30, $3; Sergt. T. Scully, Q.O.R., 30, $3; Pte. E. E. Wells, Q.O.R., 30, $3; Sergt. T. W. Davidson 48th, 30, $3; Pte. W. H. Donaghy, 7th, 29, $3; Pte. O. Prevost, Q.O.R., 28, $3; L.-Corp. J. A. Edwards, 7th, 26, $3; Pte. J. Brown, 46th, 24, $3; Pte. A. Pront Grenadiers, 22, $3; Pte. F. C. Downey, Q.O.R., 16, $3.

The Canadian Club match—Lieut R A Robertson, 13th, individual prize, $25; Lt R A Robertson, 13th, 47, $20; Arm Sergt T S Bayles, Grenadiers, 47, $15; Pte Jas Gibson, 57th, 46, $12; Sergt-Maj S J Higgins, 13th, 45, $10; Corp E A Beckett, 13th, 45, $5; Lt-Col A Bertram, 77th, 45, $5; Capt C N Mitchell, R O, 45, $5; Pte J H Bertram, 77th, 45, $5; Capt Thos Mitchell, N L, 45, $5; Lt W L Ross, 13th, 45, $5; Sergt W Swaine, 14th P W O R, 44, $5; Q M S D Craig, Grenadiers, 44, $5; Sergt M F Richardson, 5th C A, 44, $5; Major W Henderson, Highlanders, 44, $5; Pte Jos Reid, 77th, 44, $5; S Sergt A Graham, Highlanders, 44, $5; S Sergt C R Crowe, 1st B F A, 44, $5; Col Sergt J Moscrop, 6th D C O, 44, $5; Sergt R Stewart, 4th C A, 43, $5; Gr A Brayshaw, 5th C A, 43, $4; Col-Sergt W Hernshaw, Grenadiers, 43, $4; Arm-Sergt H Marris, 13th, 43, $4; Capt W C King, 46th, 43, $4; Q M S J McVittie, Highlanders, 43, $4; Pte J W Smith, 21st, 43, $4; Pte J Johnston, 30th, 42, $4; Pte R McGregor, G G F G, 42, $4; Sergt H Kerr, Highlanders, 42, $4; Pte G Moulle, Highlanders, 42, $4; Sergt G Mortimer, Grenadiers, 42, $4; Q M S E E Collins, 30th, 42, $4; Pte J C Smith, Highlanders, 41, $4; Sergt-Major N J Dineen, 1st Hussars, 41, $4; Sergt A S Kimmerley, 15th, 41, $4; Pte Geo Milligan, 77th, 41, $4; Capt T W Bradley, 77th, 41, $4; Major R H Sylvester, 45th, 41, $4; Sergt P Nisbet, 29th, 41, $4; Capt F W Brown, 12th, 41, $4; Capt Elliott, 12th, 41, $4; Pte N Smith, 21st, 40, $4; Q R-Sergt J Phillips, Grenadiers, 40, $4; Sergt W Will, 13th, 40, $4; Pte A Scheurer, Q O R, 40, $4; Capt D J C Munro, 44th, 40, $4; Pte C S Scott, 43rd, 40, $4; Pte P Armstrong, Grenadiers, 40, $4; Corp John Caven, 5th C A, 40, $4; Pte R Doherty, Q O R, 40, $3; Pte W F Moore, 77th, 40, $3; Corp R Dillon, 34th, 40, $3; Capt Duff-Stuart, 6th D C O R, 40, $3; Surg-Major J Ross, 77th, 40, $3; Corp J P White, Q O R, 40, $3; Pte D Wanless, 30th, 40, $3; Corp T A Fletcher, 13th, 40, $3; Lt John Ogg, 1st C F A, 39, $3; Pte George Fitzgerald, 57th, 39, $3; Pte W Lumsey, 21st, 39, $3; Pte J M Buck, 20th, 39, $3; Pte R McLaren, 48th, 39, $3; Corp Wm Jenkins, 30th, 39, $3; Lt J W Gilchrist, 1st B F A, 39, $3; Capt J Blackley, 22nd, 39, $3; Sergt R Surplis, Grenadiers, 38, $3; Pte Ben English 37th, 37, $3; Pte W Lawrason, 77th, 37, $3; Sergt-Major C H Vandersluys, 44th, 37, $3; Corp S McDonnell, 7th, 37, $3; Pte W Russell, 37th, 36, $3; Pte F B Fach, 29th, 36, $3; Pte T Halliburton, Highlanders, 36, $3; Pte F A Stock, 33rd, 35, $3; Major J E Cohoe, 44th, 35, $3; J A Tracey, 20th, 35, $3; Pte A H Armstrong, Q O R, 35, $3; Sergt A Jackson, 57th, 35, $3; Corp K McGregor, 77th, 35, $3; Pte C B Almas, 37th, 34, $3.

Last score .. .... 2 3 3 5 2 3 2 4 4 4—34

Canadian Club match, team prize—13th Regiment, score, 211.

Canada Company match, team prizes—First prize, 77th Regiment, score, 223; amount $25. Second prize, Grenadiers, score 192; amount $20. Third prize, 7th Regiment, score 174; amount $15.

The Duke of Cornwall and York Match. The first 30 competitors are eligible for the second stage—Capt C N Mitchell, RO, 34; Pte R Doherty, QOR, 34; Sgt W Swaine, 14th PWOR, 34; Capt J Crowe, 34th, 34; Sgt G W Russell, GGFG, 33; Major A S Trom, RL, 32; QM-Sgt D Craig, Grenadiers, 32; Pte John T Peddie, 7th RS, 32; Pte F Bibby, 77th, 32; Lt M Merasson, 77th, 32; Capt W Brewster, 29th, 31; S Sgt A Graham, Highlanders, 31; Sgt R Corrigan, 52th, 31; Lt W L Ross, 13th, 31; Lt R A Robertson, 13th, 31; Sgt R Stewart, 4th CA, 31; Capt H C Blair, 78th, 31; Pte A Boynton, 13th, 31; Sgt H Kerr, Highlanders, 31; Sgt A Galbraith, 7th, 31; Capt W C Van Loon, 37th, 31; Pte A McLaren, Highlanders, 31; Pte George Brooks, Highlanders, 31; Q M-Sgt J McVittie, Highlanders, 31; Sgt.-Major F Richardson, 5th CA, 30; Capt A Elliott, 12th, 30; Corp W J Cook, Grenadiers, 30; Sgt A E Jackson, 57th, 30; Lieut T J Murphy, 7th, 30; Gr A Brayshaw, 5th CA, 30; Pte W J Jeffries, Highlanders, 30, $4; Q.M.-S. E Collins, 30th, 30, $4; Sgt A S Kimmerley, 15th, 30, $4; Major H Jekill, 11th, 30, $4; Pte J H Bertram, 77th, 30, $4; Arm-Sgt T S Bayles, Grenadiers, 30, $4; Major R A Holmes, 43rd, 30, $4; Sgt W Wills, 13th, 30, $4; Capt J Lumpert, 29th, 30, $4; Pte W A Elliott, 48th, 30, $4; Surgeon-Major J Ross, 77th, 30, $4; Col-Sgt J Moscrop, 6th DCOR, 30, $4; Pte George Fitzgerald, 57th, 30, $4; Pte J M Buck, 20th, 30, $4; Capt G A McNicking, RL, 30, $4; Lieut J W Gilchrist, 1st BFA, 30, $4; Lieut John Ogg, 1st BFA, 30, $4; Pte R McGregor, GGFG, 29, $4; Capt B A Griffith, 37th, 29, $4; Capt M S Mercer, QOR, 29, $4; Capt R Dillon, 34th, 29, $4; Pte L Schatz, 29th, 29, $4; S-Sgt C R Crowe, 1st BFA, 29, $4; Capt Duff Stuart, 6th DCOR, 29, $4; Lieut-Col A Bertram, 77th, 29, $4; Corp John Caven, 5th CA, 29, $4; Capt W C King, 46th, 29, $4; Pte A Scheurer, QOR, 29, $4; S-Sgt W H Whiteley, RL, 29, $3; Pte W G Fowler, Grenadiers, 29, $3; Sgt W Robson, 7th, 29, $3; Pte W Anderson, 27th, 28, $3; Capt A Wilson, 33rd, 28, $3; Pte W Lawrason, 77th, 28, $3; Pte T Halliburton, Haliburton, 28, $3; Pte Joseph Gibson, 57th, 28, $3; Sgt R Surplis, Grenadiers, 28, $3; Pte D Cameron, 57th, 28, $3; Pte C Collins, 77th, 28, $3; Major D Henderson, Highlanders, 28, $3; Capt J A Williamson, 45th 28, $3; Capt W S Russell, RL, 28, $3; Pte F B Tach, 29th, 28, $3; Pte E R Crockett, QOR, 28, $3; Pte J K Burr, 27th, 28, $3; Pte P Armstrong, Grenadiers, 28, $3; Major G W Hayes, 7th, 27, $3; Pte H Tyres, Grenadiers, 27, $3; Capt T W Bradlet, 77th, 27, $3; Corp T A Fletcher, 13th, 27, $3; Sgt G Mortimer, Grenadiers, 27, $3; S-Sgt W Ashall, QOR, 27, $3; S-Sgt W D Davidson, Highlanders, 27, $3; Pte George Milligan, 77th, 27, $3; Corp K McGregor, 77th, 27, $3; Sgt H Hayden, 30th, 27, $3; L-Corp C A Connor, Grenadiers, 27, $3; Mr W H Wall, BC Rifle Association, 27, $3; Pte G S Scott, 43rd, 27, $3; Pte C B Oliver, 21st, 27, $3; Capt D J C Munro, 44th, 27, $3; Sgt I V H G Williams, 6th DCOR, 26, $3; Col-Sgt C Armstrong, Grenadiers, 26, $3; S-Sgt T H Hayhurst, 13th, 26, $3; Pte W Lamey, 21st, 26, $3; Pte J P White, QOR, 26, $3; S-Sgt P G Pilkie, 45th, 26, $3; Capt Thomas Mitchell, NL, 26, $3; Pte J Johnston, 30th, 26, $3; Sgt-Major S J Higgins, 13th, 26, $3; Pte D Wanless, 30th, 26, $3; QR-Sgt J Phillips, RG, 26, $3; Major W P Moore, 20th, 26, $3; Corp E A Beckett, 12th, 26, $3; Pte R Fraser, 7th, 26, $3; Pte R H Stone, 13th, 26, $3; Pte J C Smith, Highlanders, 26, $3. Last score in 5, 2, 4, 4, 2, 5, 4—26. Three scores of 23 counted out.

Tyros—S-Sgt D Cinnamon, 45th, 26, $5; Pte F A Steck, 93rd, 25, $3; Pte A H Armstrong, QOR, 25, $3; L-Corp G K Thompson, Grenadiers, 25, $3; Sgt A J Cook, Grenadiers, 25, $3; Pte Ben English, 37th, 25, $3; Corp S McDonnell, 7th, 25, $3; Pte W Russell, 37th, 24, $3; Capt D H McLaren, GGFG, 24, $3; Lieut M L Gordon, RO, RMC, 24, $3; Sgt-Major N J Dineen, 1st Hussars, 24, $3; Lieut K D Panton, 20th, 24, $3; Capt C Wilson, 7th Fusiliers, 24, $3; Sgt-Major C H Vandersluys, 44th, 23, $3; Mr I S Rowat, Simcoe Rifle Association, 23, $3. Last score in 2, 4, 5, 4, 2, 3, 3,—23. One 23 counted out.

LEYD'S DEPOSITION.

Boer Doctor Would Not Account For Shortage From Exchequer—To Lead a Home Rule Agitation.

London, Aug. 28.—In a despatch from The Hague, the correspondent of The Daily Mail declares that Dr. Leyds, who was the European representative of the former Transvaal Republic, has been deposed because he refused to account for a large sum of money missing from the Boer exchequer.

The Boer cause, continues the correspondent, will now be agitated through the length and breadth of South Africa on the model of the Home Rule campaign in Ireland, and this agitation will call for all the foresight and firmness of which British statesmanship is capable. The first move in the game will be the proposals the Boer generals will make to the British Government as the price of their assistance in the conciliation and resettlement of South Africa.

From Chicago to Kruger.

The Hague, Aug. 28.—Robert H. Van Schaack, treasurer of the Holland Society of Chicago, has arrived here to visit former President Kruger and the Boer generals.

Adjourned Till Sept. 8.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 28.—The suit of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company was resumed yesterday. Judge Burbidge and the counsel interested visited the works, and then heard the evidence of A. J. Moxham, the former manager of the Steel Company, and Mr. Means, the manager of the blast furnaces. The court then adjourned to meet on Sept. 8 at Ottawa.

Moseley's Generosity.

London, Aug. 28.—Alfred Moseley, the diamond merchant, invited several British Trades Unionists and representatives of staple industries in the United Kingdom yesterday to visit the United States as his guests, for the purpose of examining into its industrial situation and progress, with reference to their effect on the position and prospects of the workingmen.

Railway Manager Resigns.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—"I leave the road with the best possible feeling towards all connected with it," was the statement made Tuesday evening by ex-Manager Russell of the I.C.R. The official car of the I.C.R. was attached to the Maritime express last evening, Mr. Russell being sent through to Buffalo by the management of the Government railway.

Pockets Filled With Stones.

Lindsay, Aug. 28.—Norman McMurchy, a lawyer here for some years past, has been missing from town since last Friday. Yesterday a small boy found his body floating in the river near the pump-house. His pockets were filled with stones. Suicide is thought to be the cause of his untimely end.

"In perfection of make-up

IRON-OX TABLETS

ARE ABSOLUTELY UNIQUE

From the first they have sold as readily as the oldest established remedies. My customers are delighted with them."
—H. A. DUPEE, Druggist ::: Bridgeport, Conn.

A TONIC LAXATIVE
Price 25 Cents

For Fattening Chickens.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—T. C. Hare of the Department of Agriculture has returned from the Maritime Provinces, where he has established six stations for fattening chickens of P. E. I. There will also be one in Cape Breton, one in Nova Scotia and one in New Brunswick.

Died From Injuries.

Belleville, Aug. 28.—Robert Darling, a farmer of Ameliasburg, was driving a binder Tuesday afternoon when the horses became frightened and ran away. The unfortunate man was thrown on the knives and so badly cut and mutilated that he died.

Tide Catches Four Persons.

London, Aug. 28. — Four persons who were spending a holiday at Kirtenskeldyke, Lincolnshire, yesterday were drowned. The party were strolling on the sand and before they were aware of their dangerous position were cut off by the tide.

A Pure Invention.

Ottawa, Aug. 28. — Immigration Commissioner Pedley has investigated the report that a movement was on foot to settle 20,000 Pennsylvania miners in the Canadian west, and finds the story to be a pure invention.

Unions Must Be Responsible.

Pittsburg, Aug. 28.—Justice Shiras says: "Incorporation of all labor unions is the primary step toward the passage of an arbitration law. The unions must be responsible for the carrying out of an agreement, and until they are there is little hope for compulsory arbitration of labor troubles."

One French School Re-Opened.

Brest, France, Aug. 28.—The sisters who were recently expelled from Landerneau discovered a decree dated 1828, which removes them from the scope of the association law, and they have resumed possession of their school. A crowd of people accorded them an ovation when they returned.

Workman Stabs Fellow Workman.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 28. — William Michaels killed William Robins yesterday at the Roberts Chemical Works, where both men were employed. Michaels accused Robins of tampering with his locker. A quarrel ensued, during which Michaels drew a large pocket knife and stabbed Robins.

Will Submit Bonus Bylaw.

Guelph, Aug. 28.—The City Council will submit a bylaw to grant a bonus of $40,000 and a free site of ten acres to a Montreal pipe company.

A London View.

London, Aug. 28.—The Times says Roosevelt will win in 1904 if intrigue and wealth do not defeat him.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickles

Crosse & Blackwell's Mixed Pickles.
" " Chow Chow.
" " White Onions.
" " Girkins.
" " Walnuts.
" " Soho Pickles.
" " Chutneys, etc.

Heintz's Sweet Midget Gherkins.
" Sweet Pickles.
" Sweet Mixed Pickles.
" Mixed Pickles.

Williams Bros. Sweet Gherkins.
Bow Park Pickles, etc., etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickling Vinegars Finest Quality

Pure White Wine Vinegar.
Pure Cider Vinegar.
Pure English Malt Vinegar, etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickling Spices Pure & Fresh

WHOLE OR GROUND SPICES of the finest quality.
Also Garlic, Turmeric, Bay Leaves Celery Seed, Mustard Seed, Currie Powder, etc., etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Flour

HIGH GRADE BREAD AND PASTRY FLOUR. . . . .
Rathbun's Crown Jewel.
" Diadem.
" Family.
And Other Popular Brands at Lowest Prices.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,
Office—9 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT.
J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds, Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.,
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE
At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, - - Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian . . .	Est'd 1821
The North America, .	Est'd 1792
Quebec, . . .	Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS, Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life insurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE.
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St.

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire in Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies. Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville.
'Phone 168.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office.
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St.
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403 Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

Envy and Jealousy, of Course.

Tourist—I seem to meet millionaires wherever I go. They're very common in this country, aren't they?

Merritt—Yes, most of them.

The Thermometer.

These figures play us sorry tricks.
The summer would be fine
If it were only 66
Instead of 99.

Professional Inquiries.

The Physician—Do you practice what you preach, parson?

The Parson—Hem! Do you take your own medicine, doctor?

Tired Indeed.

Nodd—Wasn't your wife tired last night?

Todd—Oh, very! Why, she could hardly keep her mouth open.

Contrast.

Mary bought a bathing suit;
'Twas disappointing very—
While in the shop it looked quite cute;
It was a sight on Mary.

Trouble.

Roan—What's the matter with the mare?

Sorrel—She's mad because she thinks her hat isn't on straight

Fast, but Sure.

Bacon—Can he tell where he is running with that automobile of his?

Egbert—Oh, yes; he knows he's running in debt.

Nothing For Him.

"Just change the rest," said Dr. Strange.
I put it to the test.
Hotel men got most all my change;
The waiters got the rest.

A Change.

"He's an intelligent dog, isn't he?"

"Yes. It's a great relief to get home to him after I've been to a swell dinner or some other social function."

When It Is Needed.

Mike—Shure, Pat, health is a good thing to have.

Pat—Yis, Moike, especially when you is ill.—Chums.

Pale, Nervous, Wild With Pain

FROM A SKELETON OF SKIN AND BONE MRS. EDWARDS WAS BUILT UP TO HEALTH AND STRENGTH BY

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street, Brantford, Ont., describes her case as follows:

"For five years I have suffered more than words can tell from nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia and exhaustion. The pains in my head would at times almost drive me crazy. I could not sleep nights, but would walk the floor in agony, until I fell exhausted and unconscious, and my husband would have to carry me back to bed.

"Sometimes I could take no food for four days, and experienced terrible gnawing sensations in the stomach, had bad taste in the mouth and coated tongue. I was pale, nervous, irritable, easily exhausted, was reduced to a mere skeleton of skin and bone, and my heart would palpitate as though it was about to stop beating. My greatest suffering was caused by the dreadful pains in my head, neck and back, and all this was in spite of the best efforts of three leading doctors of this city.

"For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and for a considerable time I have not experienced a headache or any of the symptoms mentioned above. From a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight, until now I am strong and well, do my own housework, walk out for two hours without feeling tired and am thoroughly restored to health. Is it any wonder that words fail to express my gratitude for this remarkable cure? You can use this testimonial for the benefit of other sufferers."

It would be impossible, we believe, to produce stronger evidence to prove the wonderful power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a system-builder. It contains the very essence of the most potent restoratives of nature, and is certain to be of benefit to you. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Curse OF DRINK

CURED BY

COLONIAL REMEDY.

No taste. No Odor. Can be given in glass of water, tea, or coffee without patient's knowledge.

Colonial Remedy will cure or destroy the diseased appetite for alcoholic stimulants, whether the patient is a confirmed inebriate, "tippler," social drinker or drunkard. Impossible for anyone to have an appetite for alcoholic liquors after using Colonial Remedy.

Indorsed by Members of the W.C.T.U.

Mrs. Moore, Superintendent of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Ventura, Cal., writes: "I have tested Colonial Remedy on very obstinate drunkards, and the cures have been many. In many cases the Remedy was given secretly. I cheerfully recommend and endorse Colonial Remedy. Members of our Union are delighted to find a practical and economical treatment to aid us in our temperance work."

Sold by druggists everywhere and by mail. Price $1. Trial package free by writing or calling on Mrs. M. A. Cowan (for years member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union), 2204 St. Catherine St., Montreal.

Sold in Belleville by F. Chas. Clarke, Front St. and D. M. Waters, Bridge St.

NEWSPAPER MEN IN OFFICE.

Have Won Rewards in the Shape of Official Positions at Ottawa.

There is a popular opinion that the civil service, either inside or out, is the ultimate home of the political newspaper men. To a certain extent this idea is founded on fact, for there are many men to-day filling political appointments in the outside service as a reward for having for many years been consistent supporters of the party to which they belonged, and who were either editors or owners of party papers.

In the inside service there are not so many, yet there are a goodly number of old newspaper men in the ranks of the service. Of these a large proportion have not passed the necessary qualifying examinations, a number having been appointed as possessors of university degrees, which are accepted, instead of the examination, and some for "special qualification." A newspaper man who has for some years followed his profession in the Capital, especially if he has been a member of the Press Gallery of the House of Commons for any length of time, possesses a very keen insight into the work of the departments, and as a rule could pass more than the qualifying examination without being plucked.

Amongst the private secretaries at the present time are a small band of newspaper men, and it would be impossible to find a better school for training private secretaries than an up-to-date newspaper office. The long habit of working at all hours, and as many hours at a stretch as the occasion demands, the being all things to all men that a newspaper man early acquires, the practice in mastering the contents of papers or the details of intricate questions are all of them attributes of the successful private secretary. The private secretaries at present in office are gathered from the four winds of heaven—from the north, south, east and west. One received his training in the United States newspaper school; another in Scotland, and still retains a delightful burr of the auld pronunciation in his speech. The others are mostly gathered from the Canadian provinces, where they graduated in politics before entering on the real school at Ottawa.

A gentleman who for many years sent out from Ottawa as much news daily as it falls to most men to gather in a week, may now be met with in every part of His Majesty's Dominion of Canada, by land and water, day and night, endeavoring to instil into the minds of erstwhile lawbreakers the old adage that "honesty is the best policy." After having spent many years in obtaining information surreptitiously, he is now devoting his energies to the putting down of the habit of obtaining liquor by any other modes than those recognized by the Customs and Revenue Acts of Parliament.

In a quiet, well arranged little room in one of the buildings there works one who for many years was the editor-in-chief of one of the largest political dailies in Canada, and who in his term as editor probably did more to elevate and enlighten the Ontario press than any other living man. Now he reigns as head over one of the most important branches of the service, and whilst serving his country still continues to serve his day and generation by periodical papers on books and other matters. His writings form no small part of the attractions of one of the weeklies and are looked for eagerly by many competent judges of things literary and journalistic.

In the next room, separated by a stone wall, and reached by another entrance, works an old laborer in the French-Canadian newspaper world, and who, from having been a writer of politics and a friend and confidant of the leaders of his party and nationality, now serves his countrymen by supervising their interests in the department committed to his charge. For many years one of the confidential councillors of one of Quebec's most gifted and ambitious sons, his memory holds a vast amount of unwritten details, which, if ever published, will throw vivid lights and well defined shades on many pages of the history of Quebec politics since Confederation.

Another old newspaper man who for many years occupied a confidential and prominent place in the political world, though never of it, occupies the position of head of a department from which information flows, and which annually issues a book without which no well-assorted library is complete. Retired from politics and the hurry and bustle of active life amongst men fighting for an existence, he, from his sheltered place of ease sends forth many times a year articles which are read by many who never heard his name and who do not even know that he exists.

A quiet conversationally inclined gentleman, well up in years, presides over a branch of public work from which Canada has expected great things and from which she may get them in the fullness of time. Well read, and well stocked with anecdotes he years ago shone as a light in Ontario newspaperdom. Since then, he has been in the employ of more than one Government. Now he is struggling with untried surroundings to meet the demands of an eager public.

In every department the newspaper man is to be found, and in almost every case he is in a position of trust and is doing work that will tell in the course of years to come, though oftimes undervalued at the time of doing.—Yelme Dene, in Montreal Star.

Same Old Excuse

Tommy—I asked der boss ter let me off 'coss me aunt was dead. Billy—An' wot did he say? Tommy—He said: "Who's goin' ter bat at her funeral?"—Comic Cuts.

Extraordinary.

"I have noticed," said Willie Spanker, "that a felt slipper is not felt so much as one which is not felt at all."—Judge.

FASHIONABLE GOWNS.

Many Are Made of Filet Lace—Boleros Still Popular.

Filet lace is much used for summer gowns. It is frequently trimmed with bands of pongee or silk. The foundation of this lace is a square meshed lace on which a pattern is worked in darned fashion. It has rather the effect of an old sampler. Gold or silver tinsel on black or brown is exquisite with a touch of color.

The bolero, like the blouse, has apparently come to stay. Chiffon and mousseline are appliqued with heavy textures or bits of silk, and the bolero in this fashion is fitted loosely and is fastened with bows of colored velvet set on in the front.

GRAY VEILING.

So far there is little change in the fashion of skirts, but short ones are in the minority and are rarely seen except for athletic sports.

A costume of gray veiling is shown in the cut. Both waist and skirt are laid in wide bias tucks. The skirt has three tucked ruffles. The waist is collarless and is trimmed with a yoke and undersleeves of white chiffon. Bands of white silk applique also aid in trimming the waist and skirt.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FANCY COLLARS AND TIES.

Silk Mull Fichus, Wash Collars, and Stocks.

Bertha collars of embroidered batiste appear on very many of the new gowns. Another fashionable mode for linen dresses shows a short, oddly shaped bolero with stole ends of lace and edged around the sides with narrow bands of stitched linen. The bolero is worn over a tucked blouse of embroidered batiste.

Pretty little silk mull fichus are edged with flower passementerie.

OF OLD ROSE LINEN.

Thin white wash goods and net make equally effective fichus. A flower bordered fichu is as dainty a piece of apparel as one could wish for.

In the wash ties and neckbands fashion still clings to the pique stocks of white, with narrow colored ties. The knot seems to be superseding the bow, and many of the new stocks have the ties simply crossed over and fastened with a fancy pin.

Many collars are made of insertion and featherstitching. They fasten in the back and taper down into points in the front.

The picture shows a gown of old rose linen. The blouse waist has a tucked collar cut in points and edged with square lace applique. The skirt is also tucked and has a wide gored ruffle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Thomas B. Reed on Fame.

Here is a definition of fame given by ex-Speaker Reed at the Bowdoin college commencement dinner: "Fame is largely a matter of accident. Being in the right place at the right time and doing the right thing, or, better still, making people think you are doing the right thing, is about all there is to fame." This definition gains much in effectiveness when "fame" is pronounced with the ex-speaker's well known drawl.

CANADA AT C ORK.

Excellent Display Made by the Dominion at the Irish City—A Striking Beautiful Pavilion.

The Canadian Government has building of its own, which is one of the most striking and beautiful on the grounds, and is placed on the choicest site at the entrance to the western grounds, facing the river Lee, says the Cork (Ireland) Constitution. The pavilion (which covers an area of 5,000 square feet) is rectangular in plan, and is flanked by two towers at each end, which give it a very imposing and dignified effect, their proportions and symmetry being particularly striking. The main entrance is very effectively dealt with by a massive arch in fibrous plaster, over which appears in plain black letters, the word "Canada."

The first object to claim attention on entering is an immense case containing a great variety of leading brands of Canadian food products, consisting of meat, fruit and vegetables, such as chicken, turkey, goose, duck, corn, beef, pigs' feet, ox and lunch tongues, potted meats, sausage, roast meats, etc.; raspberries, strawberries, cherries, damson plums, greengages, currants, Bartlett pears, Crawford peaches, egg plums, apples, etc., wax string beans, petit pois, tomatoes, sweet corn, cauliflower, beets, baked beans, tomato catsup, etc. These cases also contain pyramids of "Radnor" mineral water, and Canada's "Club" Rye Whiskey, as well as Imperial cheese, honey, beaver oats, and Swiss food. Behind this is a small case containing flour, oatmeal, peas, etc.

The whole of the eastern side of the building is devoted to agriculture, and one is struck with admiration at the beautiful display of cereals, both grain in straw and in bottles, the former being elaborately set up in arches, pyramids, sheaves, and bunches, festooned and wreathed in many varied and artistic forms. It also forms the frames of a series of oil paintings which appeal strongly to the imagination, showing such scenes as seed-time, harvest and threshing operations in the Canadian Northwest. Between these paintings, on small stands erected for the purpose, as well as round each pillar, are hundreds of bottles of all shapes and sizes, containing specimens of wheat, oats, barley, rye, Italian corn, peas, flax, millet, buckwheat, of grain, grasses, and fodder which and, in fact, all the leading varieties grow to such perfection in Canada. The collection contains thousands of samples, comprising over 500 different varieties, and the exhibit is undoubtedly the best of the kind ever seen in this country. It cannot fail to impress everyone who sees it with the fact that Canada is a country rich in agricultural resources of almost endless variety.

Returning to the centre we find immediately behind the large case already referred to, a display of Canada's varied luscious fruit. These are preserved in antiseptics in glass bottles, and comprise several varieties of grapes, plums, raspberries, blueberries, cherries, etc., also some samples of peas, string beans, Windsor beans, etc. Around these are placed about 150 plates (containing specimens in their natural condition) of about 35 varieties of Canadian apples, picked last October, and which have since been preserved in cold storage. Adjoining this is the cold storage chamber which is kept at a temperature of about 31 degrees, and in which are to be found Canadian cheese, both white and colored, butter, eggs, apples in cases, dressed poultry, maple sugar, honey, etc.

The western side is devoted to timber and minerals. The timber exhibit shows all the leading varieties of wood, especially those most suitable for export, such as pine (white, yellow and red), spruce, birch, oak, ash, elm, and numerous other varieties which it is needless for us to mention here, as Canada's production of this article is already sufficiently well known to need further comment, but we cannot leave this section without making a reference to the fine display of photographs showing the various trees, each photograph being framed in the wood of the tree represented. There is also a very fine series of photographs illustrating lumbering operations.

Passing on to the minerals, we have specimens of almost every known mineral in existence, with the exception of tin, as Canada can produce a larger variety of minerals than any other country in the world. The list is almost too varied to attempt to enumerate it. We will, therefore, content ourselves with saying there are silver ores, gold ores, quartz, felspar, mica, asbestos and corundum, the latter being one of the minerals which is, so far, to be found in no other country. Nickel and nickel productions, manganese and mineral paint, are also in evidence, and what will no doubt appeal most to the average visitor will be the display of gold nuggets from the Klondike, the exhibit representing pulp forests, rafts, and lumbering scenes generally, as well as waterfalls, hunting and river scenes.

The Canadian pavilion and exhibit is unquestionably one of the most striking and picturesque of many attractive features in the Western grounds. Though its opening has been delayed until the present advanced stage of the exhibition, it is now introduced in very complete and interesting form. Canada has been represented at a number of exhibitions both in these countries, and the continent, during recent years, and many advantages have thereby been gained by the progressive and prospering portion of the King's dominions. A visit to the Canadian Pavilion will astonish and please, for herein are shown the great resources and wonderful possibilities of development of the Dominion. The Canadian Government have employed the most experienced and competent men to superintend these exhibitions, and in the case of Cork, Mr. James Brodie, the secretary, has shown his experience and skill with most happy effect.

THE PUBLIC should bear in mind that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has nothing in common with the impure, deteriorating class of so-called medicinal oils. It is eminently pure and really efficacious—relieving pain and lameness, stiffness of the joints and muscles, and sores or hurts, besides ing an excellent specific for rheu ben. m, coughs and bronchial com matic plaints.

ds have the appearance of Many b no amount of clothing comfort bu old heart. can warm a L CURE.—Mr. David

A WONDERFU nt., writes: "For Smith, Coe Hill, O I wish to say the benefit of others up & Lyman's few words about North t a year Vegetable Discovery. Abo gh, had ago I took a very severe co s bad a virulent sore on my lips, w with dyspepsia, constipation and eral debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one-half, the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done, it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the Vegetable Discovery, the biliousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Half fare on the railroad is the next best thing to a pass.

The Flagging Energies Revived.—Constant application to business is a tax upon the energies, and if there be not relaxation, lassitude and depression are sure to intervene. These come from stomachic troubles. The want of exercise brings on nervous irregularities, and the stomach ceases to assimilate food properly. In this condition Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will be found a recuperative of rare powder, restoring the organs to healthful action, dispelling depression, and reviving the flagging energies.

The man who can keep his mouth shut has the best of the argument with all women.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is a speedy cure for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera, summer complaint, sea sickness and complaints incidental to children teething. It gives immediate relief to those suffering from the effects of indiscretion in eating unripe fruit, cucumbers, etc. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to conquer the disease. No one need fear cholera if they have a bottle of this medicine convenient.

Sometimes the most charitable view of others is that they ought to be in the insane asylum.

Sleeplessness.—When the nerves are unstrung and the whole body gives up to wretchedness, when the mind is filled with gloom and dismal forebodings, the result of derangement of the digestive organs, sleeplessness comes to add to the distress. If only the subject could sleep, there would be the oblivion for a while and temporary relief. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will not only induce sleep, but will act so beneficially that the subject will wake refreshed and restored to happiness.

The wonder is there are not more kicking horses, since there are so many men who kick without discrimination.

These two desirable qualifications, pleasant to the taste and at the same time effectual, are to be found in Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. Children like it.

A peppery temper is not a thing to be sneezed at.

When all other preparations fail, try Holloway's Corn Cure. No pain whatever, and no inconvenience in using it.

People who sleep with sin will not be able to wash away the marks of it.

To get relief from indigestion, biliousness, constipation or torpid liver without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, take a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills, they will please you.

In the British Army 129 officers are qualified as interpreters in French, 106 in Russian, 81 in German, but only one in Dutch.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

Icebergs in the North Atlantic usually appear about February 15 and are seen more or less frequently until about June 15.

They make one feel as though life was worth living. Take one of Carter's Little Liver Pills after eating; it will relieve dyspepsia, aid digestion, give tone and vigor to the system.

Up to the present slower progress is being made with the construction of the Edward VII. than of any warship built at Davenport.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

THE TRAVELLER'S OVERCOAT.

This is the season of the year for travelling. Excursion rates will be on, and thousands of people will go from this district to attend the different fairs.

What we want to say is this:—You must have a nice light overcoat to travel with, and we have exactly the right thing in our new raglan waterproof and light overcoat combined. This coat we have had made especially for us, and it is right up-to-date in every particular. Two colors, dark grey and fawn, and lined throughout. These coats are nice and soft and guaranteed to stay so, should one go hard, we will refund the price in full. The price on this best coat is only $10.

Should you want a cheaper one, see what we are offering at $2.50, $3.00 and $5.00.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

A Pleasant Trip

The last trip of the Varuna for this season to the 1000 Islands Park was made last Saturday under the auspices of the Belleville North circuit. The weather was the finest of the season for the three successive days. The park was most attractive, the Sunday services greatly enjoyed by all, the company most happy, the captain and crew all smiles. An enjoyable programme was rendered in singing, recitations and speeches. A most pleasing feature was at the Belleville dock, where three cheers were given for captain and crew of the Varuna. We hope she may be fortunate in all her future.—Com.

A Plain Question: Do you really get the only Painkiller—Perry Davis'—when you ask for it? Better be sure than sorry. It has not, in 60 years, failed to stop looseness and pain in the bowels.

When you pay your money you should have what you pay for. Take Fire Insurance, what is the sense of buying policies in companies that reduce premiums, expecting to recoup themselves by sending sharp adjusters and squeezing the party insured at a time when it is vitally necessary that he should have funds? You cannot fight an Insurance Company in court.

The Sun Insurance Co., of London, and the Home Insurance Co., of New York, have never resorted to such methods, or they would not be represented by Hunt and Jeffers.

Ease of access, accommodation and health-giving Waters all combine to make the MAGI Caledonia Springs an ideal resort for the invalid or healthy.

IT'S ABOUT NOW

That the SCHOOL SHOE question is a very important matter. The boys and girls must have School Shoes.

Call on us for the largest and most complete variety of SCHOOL SHOES in this district.

The J. J. Haines

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton

Daily Intelligencer.

TARTE — THE TARIFF — AND THE GRIT PRESS.

The declaration of the Hon. Joseph Israel Tarte, in his Halifax speech at the banquet given to the members of the Manufacturers' Association, that though he belonged to a free trade government, he was opposed to free trade, had the courage of his convictions, and would stand or fall by them; and that these convictions were, that Canada must have a tariff sufficiently high to prevent the annihilation of her industries by the United States manufacturers dumping their surplus goods into Canada, has brought down upon his protectionist head the anathemas of the Grit press from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and a demand for his expulsion from the Government, if not directly made, is hinted at by Fielding's organ in Halifax, which says "his," Tarte's, place is obviously at Mr. Borden's side in the House of Commons. Here are the Halifax Chronicle's comments:

> Mr. Tarte, we are told by the reporters, evoked "loud applause" by declaring that "this country must be protected by a strong Canadian tariff." "Strong" being picturesque Tartese for "high" it is to be understood that "this country" must be "protected" by establishing what the Government of which Mr. Tarte is a member was elected to protect it by removing. Was not this rather a striking proposition to emanate even from Mr. Tarte, even after Mr. Tarte had dined? What we should like to know is whether Mr. Tarte really occupies with reference to the Government and the Liberal party a position similar to that taken up by "Mr. Punch's" solitary Irish juryman towards the other "eliven obstinate gintlemen" of the panel, or whether he will see things quite differently "in the morning by the bright light"—the cold political "bright light." Because, if Mr. Tarte was in earnest in what he said from his place beside Mr. Borden at the Manufacturers' dining table, his place is obviously at Mr. Borden's side in the House of Commons.

Having received this hint to attack Tarte the Grit press generally takes up the cry, and falls foul of the Minister of Public Works; speaking, no doubt, for other Ministers. The Montreal Herald, Hon. Mr. Fisher's mouthpiece, gives utterance to its views, and says:

> "It is now proposed, after agriculture has made the whole country prosper, to put extra burdens upon it, just because it is seen to be able to bear a few more. We may be confident that, in view of the results obtained during the past five years under a tariff which favors the production of exportable commodities, a reversion to the old and opposite plan will not be accomplished without a struggle."

The Winnipeg Free Press, which speaks for the Hon. Mr. Sifton, informs Mr. Tarte that—

> "The Liberal party is not yet ready to commit hari-kari and disappear from public life in Canada, which would be the probably result of the somersault it is now asked to make. It seems plain that a deliberate attempt is afoot to capture the Liberal party in the interests of the protectionist cause; and it behooves its members to make it perfectly clear that they stand now where they always did, unyielding in their antagonism to the policy of the spoliation of the many for the enrichment of the few. Let us accept this issue which the Manufacturers' Association has made. If the tariff question is to be opened, well and good. But let the manufacturers not be surprised if the outcome is disastrous to them. This is the time for the Liberal newspapers of Canada to set forth their opinions on this question in unequivocal language to the end that the manufacturers—and others—may learn that the Liberal party of to-day stands where it has always stood and has no intention of listening to the siren voices that would lure it from the plain path of honor and duty."

The Hamilton Times, the most outspoken and most honest of all the Ministerial press, upon the question of free trade and protection, tells Mr. Tarte that the tariff war cry must be—

> "Less tariff, not more, is what Canada needs. Give the masses a chance; the classes can always take care of themselves."

The equanimity of the Globe staff has also been sadly disturbed by this speech of the outspoken protectionist member of the professed free trade Government, the result of which has been a number of long and labored editorials, attempting to prove that the tariff is just what is required, as it is neither free trade nor protection.

The extreme Rouge press of the Province of Quebec, backed by a number of the Rouge members of the Commons from that Province, have for the past five years been cabaling and conspiring to get Tarte out of the Cabinet, but have failed. He knows too much, hence Laurier dare not send him adrift. If we mistake not Tarte will show them that he is still Master of the situation, and will dragoon them into line.

After all, what an exhibition the world has of this burlesquing of Responsible Government. Shades of Baldwin and Lafontaine, how their followers, what are left of them, must chafe under the setting at naught of the great principle for which they so long battled. The position is humiliating, but they have to grin and bear it, however unpalatable it may be to be thus humiliated by a renegade Tory.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Texas editors are original fellows. One of them is publishing the Bible as a serial in his paper, and the other day another came across the Ten Commandments and thought they were so good that he published them under the head of "Gems of Current Thought."

• • •

For the next ten months Wednesday will look just like any other day of the week to the clerks. The half-holidays are over, they have been a source of pleasure and profit to many people and a source of loss to nobody. Fresh air and sunshine are very necessary things, and no employer who enjoyed the holidays himself and gave them to his employees will be any the poorer for it when he balances his books at the end of the year. A Front St. merchant told us last night that he had to stay in his store yesterday afternoon, owing to workmen making repairs, and the door was tried only twice—by a man and a boy—both City people. He is satisfied that the Wednesday half-holiday is an unmixed blessing, and hopes to see it continued from year to year. And there are many others.

• • •

Here is a touching item from the Elgin, Man., Banner: "The Elgin Brass Band have disbanded until after harvesting and threshing.

• • •

A local butcher got in a good one on a customer recently. "I think," said the customer, "you give me rather short weight for my money." "I am sure, madam," said the butcher, "you give me long wait for mine." And he cut her a porter house steak off the fore quarter.

• • •

"Do you think there will be another election this fall?" said a Grit gentleman to a newspaper man yesterday.

"I shouldn't be surprised," was the reply.

"My goodness," said the other fellow, "it will be a terrible nuisance if there is."

"It can't make much difference to you," said the scribe; "its only the newspaper men who have the hard work."

"Can't make much difference to me!" said the Grit, "much difference to me! And me with a Tory wife!" Thus do the skeletons bob up in many family closets.

• • •

Some people are actually beginning to grumble at the band in connection with the concerts—or lack of concerts—on the park. The band's engagement, they say, called for two concerts a week. Having been made first, it should, in their opinion, have taken precedence over all others. Some unreasonable people seem to think the band has been treating the citizens rather cavalierly, and this feeling is causing discord among their admirers. The first thing you know the frost will be on the pumpkin, and then people will want to hug the stove rather than listen to concerts in the open air. It's hard to please some people.

• • •

"Popularity in Belleville," said the ex-Alderman, "is a fleeting and uncertain thing. There is no accounting for how you gain it or how you lose it."

"Something like hay fever," suggested a listener.

The ex-A. did not notice the interruption.

"Now, there's Ald. So-and-so," he went on. "I never could see where he got his popularity. I sat in the Council with him, and he supported the things the rest of us were condemned for. Yet at the next election we were turned down and he got a fine majority."

"Do you think the Municipal Reform Association will do business at the old stand this fall?" he was asked.

"Mark my words," said the ex-A. solemnly. "If the Municipal Reform Association puts a ticket in the field next January they will get smashed worse than the tombstones in the old d.s.b.g."

And he walked off, leaving the listener shuddering with horror.

• • •

Americans are gradually buying up the town of Cobourg, Ont., which in summer time is thronged with wealthy Yankees. Fully a hundred United Statesers own property there at present, and the number is increasing rapidly.

• • •

Manitoba farmers and Kingston old maids are singing the same song these days: "Send us men!"

• • •

Things are looking brighter for the old d.s.b.g. Yesterday Mr. Luten's class gathered in many dollars with which to help the good work along. First thing you know the eyesore will become a beauty spot. And the change cannot take place too suddenly.

• • •

Hon. Mr. Tarte, speaking at Bowmanville yesterday, said:

"Six years ago many thought the country would go to h—l under Liberal rule."

Without stopping to deprecate the heated character of Mr. Tarte's remarks, it may be pointed out that, had the Grits kept their ante-election promises, the country would undoubtedly have gone to the bow-wows, even though Hon. J. Israel had not got his whiskers singed. And how were Conservatives to know that Mr. Tarte and his friends were going to forswear themselves and swallow, body and bones, a policy they had been condemning for eighteen years?

• • •

Of course Conservatives have old-fashioned ideas about ante-election promises being as sacred as any other kind, but Grits and renegades like Mr. Tarte had no such squeamish scruples. Doing their utmost to deceive the people, they heaped falsehood upon falsehood. Conservatives are loyal enough and patriotic enough to be thankful the Grits did not keep their word. Had they done so there would have been bitter misery and biting want in Canada.

• • •

It looks odd, though, to see alleged statesmen touring the country confessing that their success lies in the fact that they copied the policy of their opponents, and are now glorying in the fact that they deliberately deceived the people who put them in power!

• • •

Guelph is the latest place to be approached with a bonus proposition—$40,000 for an iron pipe factory. Belleville has no use for pipe stories of the $40,000 kind.

• • •

DOES ANYBODY KNOW

When the corner stone of the W.C.T.U. fountain is going to be laid?

When the damaged span of the bay bridge is going to be replaced?

When the Fifteenth's new colors are going to be presented?

Whether people will be able to sit down and see hockey matches next winter?

What amusement there will be for Belleville people on Labor Day?

When the Council is going to appoint an Assessment Commissioner?

How many more capitalists are going to come and look at the Rolling Mills before they open?

Whether the missing rolls have been returned yet?

Friday and Saturday will be the last business days in August. They will also be the closing days of Gorman's Special Shoe Sale.

In order to record the largest sales of the month on the two last days Gorman's have put on sale several lines of ladies' fall lace boots at greatly reduced prices. The prices are for two days only. See their ad.

THE W. C. T. U. FOUNTAIN

WORK ON IT WILL BE COMMENCED IN A FEW DAYS.

The presence of a number of ladies on the corner of Front and McAnnany streets this morning caused a representative of The Intelligencer to pause and enquire what was to be done. He learned that it was a delegation from the W.C.T.U., and the location of the proposed drinking fountain was being discussed and settled.

The fountain will be placed on the south-west corner of McAnnany St. near Front St. and near the City Treasurer's office. The work on the foundation will be commenced at once, and in a few days the promised fountain will be a reality.

NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS AND EXHAUSTED.

Not sick enough to lay up, but you are out of sorts, blood is weak, nerves unstrung, kidneys deranged, vitality is low. You should take Ferrozone at once; it will enrich, strengthen and purify the blood, invigorate and pacify the nerves, and increase your energy, vitality and power. Ferrozone will renew your appetite and digestion, make you sleep soundly—in fact will make you well. Try Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50; at druggists, or J. S. McKeown's.

Sports and Pastimes.

LACROSSE.

Playing for a Trophy.

A team representing the local lacrosse club went to Picton to-day, where they played a match with the Marmora team for the possession of a trophy. As the Belleville team beat the Marmora lads quite handily before, it is a good bet that the trophy will come to this beautiful city.

TROTTING.

Races at Kingston.

Kingston, Aug. 27.—The horse races here resulted thusly;—

2.25 class.—Billy Patterson, P. Clow, Sydenham; Prince Charlie, T. Stewart, Deseronto; Lord Russel, G. W. Bell, Kingston; Babeline, Dr. Abbott, Kingston.

2.50 class—Lord Ansell, Charles Hart, Kingston; Sphinx H., Wm. Baillie, Kingston; Billy M., Sam Metcalf, Kingston; Maggie S., D. Lake, Napanee.

Sensational Racing at Providence.

Providence, R.I., Aug. 27.—Sensations continue to develop at the Grand Circuit meeting at Narragansett Park, and if the record lasts, Dan Patch will probably break the world's record next Friday. It was the Roger Williams $10,000 trotting stake to-day that smashed all precedent. It is still unfinished, with five heat winners, and all have broken the records. Old-time horsemen say it is the grandest race they ever saw. The first four heats all broke the stake record of 2.09 1-2, and the slowest time in the record of the fastest horse in the race. About 10,000 people were loth to leave when darkness necessitated postponement until to-morrow morning.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE... 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanantly cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

My Lungs

Perhaps they are sore and weak from constant coughing. How is this? Have you forgotten about the cough medicine your grandmother gave you 50 years ago,—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral?

25c., 50c., $1.00.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

BOYS' SCHOOL CLOTHING

CAN WE PLEASE YOU

Is that the problem you are trying to solve? If it is let us help you. No question about it—the very liberality of this store's assortments and the certainty of the Quick & Robertson quality makes that certain. The choice we give you cannot be improved upon. Whatever's newest, stylish or right you'll find it here. This store has earned for itself the title "The Satisfaction Store." If you should happen to get a poor garment for your money (and that by the way is a rare occurence), your money is yours again.

We must sell reliable clothing and none other, or if, perchance, you are not suited with your purchase, you may bring the goods back and your money is yours again, without questioning or without coaxing to take something else. Why shouldn't we please you? To-day we make special mention of

Boys' Double-Breasted Two-Piece Suits

At $2.00 and $2.75.

Made in colors that won't show soil for tree climbers, fence-boosters and any rough out-door play treatment. The cloth closely woven and will wear like leather. The linings in keeping with the high quality of the goods, every seam sewn with silk or linen thread, and so remote from competitors in price.

For Large Boys Age 10 to 17 years

Three-piece Suits, single or double-breasted coats, and at all prices from $2 25 to $8,00 will let you select the prettiest. These are all the newest weaves and latest colorings.

Don't misunderstand us, we don't say ours is the only clothing, what we claim is this, and we think we can convince you of it if you give us a chance, ours is the best for the money. Come and see.

Quick & Robertson.

Exclusive Agents for Johnston's Famous Make of Clothing

SHINON

is the name of the best silver and all kinds of metal paste and polish ever put on sale.

It cleans the article perfectly without scratching it up in the least by taking the dirt off and, leaving it on the cloth so that you have a chance to polish the article that has been cleaned.

When you are cleaning your silverware again be sure and try it and see for yourself if it does not do all we claim for it and more too.

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Two Ways

Of getting Glasses. One is to let some slick-tongued fakir who peddles through the country come into your home and sell you a pair, and run the risk of ruining your sight. This is easily done, for they know how to fit a glass that makes one see splendidly to-day, but it is an unnatural glass and the Eye cannot stand up under it, and you find that to-morrow you cannot stand to wear them at all. Then you turn to your peddler—he is gone.

We are Here to Stay

ALEX. RAY.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

The Time To Use Perfume

is all the time if it is the right kind. So delightful and delicate an odor as Lorna is never out of place and its use cannot but prove pleasing to refined people. We'll consider it a favor if you will ask us to show you Lorna whether you want to buy or not. Some time you'll want it and then you'll be glad you learned about Lorna.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

Paint Paint

YOUR HOUSE inside or outside may need painting, and of course, you want the best. The S-W-P compared with Pure Lead and Linseed oil, will wear longer, look better and cover more surface per gallon, will not crack or rub off and costs you less. Every can imperial measure and guaranteed.

WATERS'

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

The Great Freethinker HUME

Was never so badly puzzled for an answer as when a lady of Bath Peremptorily asked him whether he would choose his confidential domestics from among those who thought as he did or those who conscientiously believed in a hereafter.

Thousands of worthy housekeepers to-day would be sadly put to, to tell why they are fighting and worrying with common soap when an Uncommon soap like HUDSON'S DRY SOAP is at their hand, ready to lighten their labor, save their strength and give the most pleasing results.

Merit, age, and the number of users determine its value. It is three generations old and is used by Millions. Discover its merits for yourself.

It is but natural that the boarding school girl would rather board than keep house after she is married.

If a pessimist happens to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth he naturally expects it to choke him sooner or later.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

As Furnished to The Intelligencer by Haight & Freese Co'y, Stock Brokers, New York, through Their Local Agency.

New York, August 28.

Stock	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	94½	94¼	93⅝	94
do. pref...	103⅜	103½	103	103¼
C.P.R.	139⅞	141⅛	139¼	140⅛
Twin City....	128	129	128	128½
U. S. Steel ..	41⅛	41⅛	40⅞	40⅞
do. pref....	90	90	89⅞	90
W. Union	94½	95	94	95
Pc	104¼	104½	103¾	103¾
Manhattan ..	135	135¼	134¾	135
Erie	41⅛	41⅜	41⅛	41½
do pref.	70¼	70¾	70¼	70¼
L. & N	154⅛	154⅜	153¼	153⅜
Mo. P.	117	117	116¼	116⅝
Nor.	71½	72⅜	71¼	72⅛
N. Y. C.....	163⅜	163¼	163¼	163¾
Reading	68¾	68⅞	68⅜	68¾
do pref....	86	86½	86	86½
St. Paul ...	186¼	186⅜	185	186
South Pac. ..	76⅞	77¼	76½	76⅝
Sou. Ry.	40	40⅛	39⅞	39⅞
Union. Pac. .	111¼	112	111⅜	111⅜
Amn. Loco..	34⅜	34½	33¾	33⅜
do. pref..	95¾	96	95⅞	96
Penna	62⅜	162⅝	161¾	162
O. & W.	35⅞	35¼	35½	35½
Sugar	132½	132⅛	131⅞	132
S. F........	79½	79½	79	79½
D.S	23¼	23¼	22½	22½
B & O.......	113⅜	11.⅛	112⅝	113⅜
Texas.... ...	52½	52½	52⅛	52½

Sept. wheat opened at 70 3-8, closed at 69 7-8.

Sept. corn opened at 57, closed at 56 3-8.

LATEST TORONTO STOCK QUOTATIONS.

(Through Fenwick & Co., Brokers.)

Toronto, August 28.

Toronto Stocks Close.

	Buyers.	Sellers.
C. P. R.	140 1-2	140 3-4
Toronto Railway ...	121 3-4	122 3-4
Twin City	127 3-4	128 1-4
Con. Lake Superior..	26	26 3-4
Dom. Coal	141 1-2	143
Dom. Iron & Steel ...	76 1-8	76 3-4
Nova Scotia Steel	112 1-2	113
Sao Paulo	107	107 1-4

(Changed daily)

Thursday, August 18 1902.

At Hanging Cost

5c per roll for hanging wall papers. You've been paying 10c, 12c and 15c per roll, but we purpose hanging all our wall papers at the cost of hanging. We believe more people will buy when not having to pay mammoth prices for hanging.

So many of our customers say "Well the paper is cheap, dear knows, but it costs as much to hang it as the paper costs."

Then, too, it is ridiculous to be charged as much for hanging good 50c papers as for hanging cheap 5c papers providing both are hung properly. The better the paper the easier to hang it, consequently our scale of price for hanging will be according to price. 5c per roll for hanging 25c, 35c and 50c papers; 6c per roll for hanging 15c and 20c papers; 7c per roll for hanging 10c and 12 1-2c papers; 8c per roll for hanging 7c and 8c papers; 9c per roll for hanging 5c and 6c papers.

Don't that price schedule appeal to you as reasonable?

YOU MAY DEPEND

Our work will be excellent, far superior to the work you have been getting. the very best in paper hanging. Nothing will be better than we give you. Our hanging will equal our values for hanging, and the prices of our wall paper correspondingly low. Our wall paper prices are always the lowest to be found anywhere—our goods the best.

PAINTING—

In connection with our paper hanging we do all kind of interior painting and decorating, and we offer our ideas, suggestions, which will prove of value, you will find.

THE STUDY OF COLOR

As applied to interior decorations has been our decorator's study for many years. His suggestions are inexpensive, not so expensive as the ordinary things of decorating, much more pleasing and lasting.

C. B. Scantlebury

Wall Paper Wholesale & Retail

METHODIST CHURCH HAS MADE PROGRESS

BIG INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP, AND VALUE OF CHURCH PROPERTY.

In the past four years, according to statistics prepared for the Methodist General Conference by Statistician Geo. H. Cornish, the total membership of the Church increased by 11,356. There were increases in all conferences except Nova Scotia and Bay of Quinte, where the decreases were 40 and 1,126 respectively. In Toronto Conference the increase was 2,266. In 1898 there were 2,031 ministers and probationers. The figures for 1902 are 2,030. The total value of Church property is $16,802,438, an increase of $1,372,484 over 1896. During the quadrennium 217 churches, valued at $705,024, were erected, and 112 parsonages, valued at $172,069. The value of college and school property is $2,168,164, and of the book and publishing houses $443,361.

HAROLD HAPPENINGS

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO A FARMER —WEDDING BELLS.

Harold, Aug. 27.

Miss McCrodan, of Belleville, spent a few pleasant weeks with friends in Harold and vicinity.

Mr. Harvey McConnell, assistant postmaster at Springbrook, is confined to his bed with typhoid fever.

Mr. Sandy Johnston, who has been a terrible sufferer from the effects of cancer, is unable to leave his bed. His demise is anticipated at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Latchford stopped over Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Welsh, in Thomasburg.

One of Harold's fair damsels, Miss Dora McDonald, took unto herself a husband in the person of Mr. Sylsan Neil, of Springbrook.

Mr. Harry Nugent, well and favorably known here, he having lived here until two years ago, met with a very serious accident recently. His horses became frightened while attached to a binder, and tried to run away. Harry caught his team by the head, when they reared and threw him under their feet the whole binder passing over him, breaking one leg in two places and otherwise injuring him. We hope for his speedy recovery.

YOU SHOULD USE Malt Breakfast Food

IS THE ONLY PERFECTLY HEALTH FOOD FOR ALL AGES

IT FORTIFIES WEAK DIGESTION AND GIVES FORCE, VIGOR AND STRENGTH TO THE PUNY AND FRAIL.

You should use Malt Breakfast Food because the Malt in it gives to the gluten wheat granules from which the food is made a most delicate and appetizing flavor, very different from that of the insipid flat foods now so common. The Malt adds its strengthening and tonic properties, and makes Malt Breakfast Food the most valuable cereal food on the market. It is specially adapted for invalids and people with weak digestion. It is good for the strong and weak, for the child and the strongest athlete. Ask your Grocer for it.

Many a joke that is enjoyed to-day has been considered funny for thousands of years.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

A middle-aged lady to act as housekeeper in a family of four. Apply personally at No. 157 Charles St.

a28-3td&1w

TO-LET

The brick residence, formerly occupied by T. C. Lazier, on Charles St. Modern improvements and thoroughly renovated. Apply at The Intelligencer Office.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

The undersigned have received instructions to sell at once the following properties in the City of Belleville.

1. Frame house, N. E. corner of Everett St. and Bridge St.
2. Small frame house, east side of Everett street, first house north of Bridge street.

All above houses are now occupied by monthly tenants. These properties can be purchased upon reasonable terms and low prices.

Other City properties to rent and to sell. Further particulars will be given upon application to

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Solicitors, 9 Campbell St.

June 28, 1902. jy4-8-10-12d

Shoe Bargains

Men's Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.25
Boys' Dongola Kid Lace Boots	$1.00
Men's Fine Lace Boots..	$1.15
Boys' Fine Lace Boots ..	.85
Men's Canvas Boots or Low Shoes	$1.00
Men's Dongola Kid Congress	$1.20
Men's Patent leather lace Boots	$2.00
Children's Button Boots or Slippers	.25

A. W. Vermilyea & Son

Pleased With their Treatment

The following communication has been received:

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Sir,—We, the undersigned, on behalf of the excursionists to the 1000 Island Park Saturday, Aug. 23rd, the Young People's Societies, desire to place on record our very high appreciation of the kindness and cordiality of Capt. Roys and crew of the steamer Aletha from start to finish. Everything that could be done for the comfort, safety and well being of everybody was done; no people, on land or sea, ever fared better than we, and everyone was enthusiastically demonstrative in their praises for all connected with the boat and excursion.

Signed;—Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, E. Birks, Joseph Bigelow, P. D. Meyers, J. A. Crews; A. C. Bell, Glen Ross; A. Bailey, F. J. Knight, E. J. Ketcheson, John Dench, W. Clayton Orser and scores of others.

HEADQUARTERS

—FOR—

School Supplies.

A beautiful clean stock of everything that is required for school . . . .

Pens, Inks, Pencils, Pencil Boxes, Scribblers

AT PRICES THAT CANNOT BE COMPARED.

2nd Reader	History	3rd Reader
15c	25c	25c.

Copy Books—5c.

EVERY CHILD WILL RECEIVE A QUANTITY OF CANDY WITH THEIR PURCHASE, NO MATTER HOW SMALL IT MAY BE . . . . .

Examine our windows and you will be convinced that this is the place to get special value.

NOTHING OVER 25 CENTS IN THIS STORE.

5 & 10c Store. J. C. WOOD'S 15 & 25c Store.

Strs. North King and Caspian

EXCURSION

TO

KINGSTON FAIR

50c Wednesday, 27th
Thursday, 28th

Return tickets will be issued at

SINGLE FARE

Good going 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, returning until 30th Aug. inclusive.

U. E. THOMPSON, Ticket Agent. RATHBUN CO. Ticket Agent.

Last Excursion of the Season.

PER

Str. "NIAGARA"

To PICTON

Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 30.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2.30 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.

About 1½ hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902,

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leave Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $8.40;
Return, $13.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.

R. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.

Running all rapids.

Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.

A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, '02

NEW BUILDINGS

NEW FEATURES

NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums

$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

All the Resources of Our Glorious Country

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE

THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

Reduced Rates on Every Line of Trav

Consult Your Station Agent Regarding

Fare to Toronto and Bac

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at the Intelligencer Office. tf

THE MARKETS.

Grain Prices Are Easier—Wheat and Corn Lacked Support at Chicago—The Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 27.

Liverpool wheat futures closed quoted ¼d to ⅜d lower than yesterday and corn futures ⅜d to ½d lower.

Continued ease in cables brought lower prices at Chicago again to-day. September wheat closed ⅜c lower than yesterday; Sept. corn ½c lower, and Sept. oats ⅜c lower.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	75	72⅞	74½
Chicago	....	70⅞	67⅛	69¼
Toledo	71⅜	71⅛	71⅛	72⅞
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	70⅜	67⅜	65¼	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 70 to	$....
Wheat, white, bush	0 72½	....
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	0 79½
Wheat, goose, bush.......	0 75	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush.	0 50½	....
Barley, bush	0 4[illegible]	0 48
Oats, bush.	0 46	0 47
Oats, new, bush	0 [illegible]½	0 39½
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton...	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton..	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls.....	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb.......	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes....	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub.......	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz........	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb............	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each....	0 10	0 15

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Flour—Receipts, 300 barrels; market quiet.

Flour quotations—Patent winter, $3.20 to $4; patent spring, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.70; Ontario bags, $1.70 to $1.80.

Grain—Wheat, No. 2 Manitoba Northern, 78c to 80c; corn, 68c to 70c; peas, 82c to 85c; oats, 44c to 45c; barley, 51c to 53c; Rye, 66c to 67c; buckwheat, 62c to 64c; oatmeal, $2.30 to $2.40; cornmeal, $1.30 to $1.40.

Provisions—Pork, $24 to $25; lard, 9c to 10c; bacon, 14c to 15c; hams, 13c to 14c.

Produce—Cheese, 9c to 10c; butter, townships, 18c to 19c; western, 15c to 16c; eggs, 12c to 14c.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Aug. 27.—Cattle—Receipts, 75 head; good cattle steady; common to light grades, 10c to 15c lower; prime steers, $8 to $8.25; fair to choice, $4.75 to $7.75; heifers, $3 to $4.50; cows, $3 to $5; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $3 to $4.75; feeders, $1.25 to $5; stockers, $3 to $4.45; stockers, heifers, $3 to $3.75. Veals—Slow, tops, $7.75 to $8; fair to good, $7 to $7.50; common to light, $5.75 to $6.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 1700 head; fairly active, 10c to 15c higher; heavy, $7.85 to $7.90; mixed, $7.75 to $7.85; Yorkers, $7.65 to $7.75; light, do., $7.50 to $7.65; pigs, $7.50 to $7.60; roughs, $6 to $6.50; stags, $5 to $5.50; grassers, $7.50 to $7.50, closing steady.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3350 head; sheep, slow; lambs, dull, 15c to 25c lower; top lambs, $5.75 to $5.85; fair to good, $5.25 to $5.50; culls to common, $3.75 to $4; yearlings, $4 to $4.50; wethers, $4 to $4.25; ewes, $3 to $3.50; sheep, top, mixed, $3.50 to $3.70; fair to good, $3.25 to $3.40; culls to common, $1.75 to $2.75.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Cattle—Receipts, 17,-500, including 500 Texans and 6000 Westerns; steady; good to prime steers, $8 to $9; poor to medium, $4 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.25; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5.25; calves, $2.75 to $7.25; Texans, $3 to $5; western steers, $4.50 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 21,000; opened steady, 10c to 15c lower; mixed and butchers', $7.35 to $7.90; good to choice heavy, $7.60 to $7.95; rough heavy, $7.25 to $7.60; light, $7.35 to $7.75; bulk of sales, $7.50 to $7.75.

Sheep—Receipts, 22,000; sheep, 10c lower; lambs, 15c to 25c lower; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $3.75; fair to choice mixed, $2.50 to $3.50; native lambs, $3.75 to $6.10.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 27.—Live cattle, steady, at 13c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 11½c per lb.

Cut Cords of Hand.

Brussels, Aug. 28.—Mr. Daniel Shines, a farmer, residing about five miles from Brussels, met with a painful accident yesterday. His right hand was badly lacerated, while assisting in feeding a threshing machine. He was receiving the sheaves. While the binding cords were being cut, the knife was drawn across the back of his right hand, severing the cords which will in all probability render his hand useless.

OUR NEW G.O.C.

Lord Dundonald and His Record—Sketch of His Career and the Establishment of Which He is Now Commander.

Lord Dundonald, who succeeds Major-General O'Grady-Haly in the command of the Canadian Militia, has reached Canada, and assumed the duties of his new office.

The general belongs to one of the most ancient families in Great Britain. Tradition has it that the Cochranes were derived from Scandinavian rovers, who settled at a remote age on lands in Renfrew and Ayr.

The newly-appointed commander to Canada, is the twelfth earl of Dundonald, and is the grandson of the famous Admiral Lord Cochrane, tenth earl of Dundonald, whose brilliant naval career attracted the eyes of the whole world — his service to his country in destroying Napoleon's fleet in the Basque Roads in 1809, is a matter of history, as is the aid he rendered to Chili in its war of independence in 1820, and to Peru and Greece.

The admiral was a scientist and inventor. He directed a great deal of energy to improving the engines of steam boats, and kept the advantages of such continually before the Admiralty.

At the time of the war with Russia, some fifty years ago, he laid a scheme before the Government, the secrets of which have never been made public, in which he claimed, by some chemical discovery, to have the power to reduce all the Russian strongholds bordering on the sea.

The ninth earl gave the chief energies of his long life to scientific research, to the considerable advantage of his nation. It was through his labors that the art of extracting tar from coal was discovered, and aided much in the manufacture of gas. His knowledge also gave an impetus to the production of glass at that time.

The present Earl has some of the inventive ability of his progenitors, having designed and perfected a "galloping carriage" for machine guns, a weapon on which he is an enthusiast.

He is now 50 years of age, having been born in 1852. He was educated at Eton, and entered the Second Life Guards in 1870.

During the Nile campaign of '84-'85 he served with his regiment, being mentioned in despatches for distinguished services, and receiving consequent promotion. The command of the camel transport was his in Sir Donald Stewart's famous desert march.

He was colonel of the Second Life Guards during 1895-99, and had retired on half-pay, but went into active service at the opening of the war, commanding the mounted troops that cleared the Natal district.

The Earl is a typical, dashing, cavalry leader, highly popular with both rank and file, and having led volunteers and colonials, does not look down upon them, as a few regular officers have been inclined to do.

It was his handling of these mounted troops that proved their effectiveness and utility as a mobile and quick-moving body for rapid machines against the evasive Boers, and led to the adoption of the general flying column scheme.

At the relief of Ladysmith he was the first man to enter at the head of a relieving column.

Lord Dundonald did some effective operating in the Transvaal, and was promoted to Major-General in 1900 for distinguished service.

On the death of his father in 1885, he succeeded to the earldom, and is married to Winnifred, daughter of Robert B. Hesketh, of Gwyich Castle, North Wales.

The army of regulars and volunteers that the Earl will command is one of which Canada may be justly proud. Although the history of Canada and her military forces is comparatively short, the efficiency of the soldiery has stood the test of many a hard fought field. The traditions of the British army have been nobly sustained by the offshoot on this side of the pond. True, the opportunities that have been afforded the Canadian militia to distinguish itself on the Canadian field of battle have fortunately not been very numerous, but at all times and under any circumstances has it been found perfectly fit and competent to discharge the duty required of it, as evidenced by the deeds of 1812, '37, '66 and '85, to say nothing about the fighting the Empire's battles in distant parts of the world. In this latter connection, it is interesting to note the list of Imperial war services credited to officers of the Canadian forces. Most prominent among these of course, is the late South African war, in which about 175 officers, and 6,500 men of Canada were engaged. Canadian officers also served in the Egyptian expeditions, Nigerian campaigns, the Soudan, China, etc.

In the Canadian militia to-day is represented nearly every arm of the British war service. The following list shows the authorized total establishment of the active militia in Canada.

Regulars.

	Officers and men	Horses
Cavalry	109	80
Mounted Rifles	60	41
Artillery	455	98
Infantry	397	7

Trained Militia.

	Officers and men	Horses
Cavalry	2,876	2,593
Artillery	2,847	851
Engineers	323	.....
Mounted Rifles .. .	597	586
Infantry	29,766	336
Army Service Corps	140	76
Bearer Companies .	311	.....
Field Hospitals . .	192	.....
	28,690	4,422

Total active militia, officers and men, 39,111; horses, 4,618.

Ducky.

Servant—You brought the wrong medicine for missus, yesterday, and it nearly killed her. Doctor's Boy—Ker ain't she lucky, 'cos I tuk 'er medicine to another old gal, and she's dead.—Coloured Comic.

Such Language.

When brilliant writers wield the pen,
The very strongest thoughts they think
Are never writ; they're uttered when
They stick the paste brush in the ink.

Likely to Be.

"His story sounds like a romance."

"Perhaps it is one. It's all about himself, isn't it?"

Inevitable.

Mary had a little foot,
She wore a tiny shoe,
And everywhere that Mary went
The people saw it too!
—Chicago Record-Herald.

FLOWER FRAGRANCE.

A Mysterious Sympathy Between the Essence and the Bloom.

One of the leading manufacturers of perfumery declares that he is quite certain that flowers possess souls. The fragrance of a flower is actually its soul, and it exists when the flower itself has perished. This is not a poetical fancy, he maintains, but is fact.

Certainly the fragrance of a flower is not a dead thing. This seems to be a curious statement to make, but it is a fact that when certain conditions are fulfilled a part of the life of a flower never seems to die.

Although the fragrance of flowers dead years ago may have undergone all sorts of manufacturing processes to extract it and to fix it, yet it never dies. When the flowers of the kind it was extracted from bloom, it exhibits a marvelous sympathy.

Take, as an example, the case of jonquils. At the end of the year the smell of the perfume is constant, but in spring a change appears. In May, when the jonquils are in full flower, the colorless liquid has its scent exalted to a surprisingly high degree.

When the flowers are in bloom, the bottled essence is very perceptibly stronger in odor. As the flowers droop, so does the perfume lose its potency in strict agreement. This mysterious sympathy between flower and essence never dies, but ever responds to the proper seasons.

A Church Lottery Ticket.

George Washington, says the Philadelphia Record, conducted the Mountain Road lottery, building a public highway, with the profits, and in an anteroom of St. Peter's church, at Third and Pine streets, there hangs in a frame on the wall a ticket from a lottery that the church itself conducted. The ticket is dated 1765 and reads: "St. Peter's Lottery. No. 11,759. This ticket entitles bearer to such prizes as may be drawn against its number, if demanded in nine months after the drawing is finished, subject to such deduction as is mentioned in the scheme."

The slip of paper is two inches square and printed, but the signature, which is that of Henry Harrison, is written. The amount of the lottery prize, cost of the tickets and the good use to which the profits were to be put are subjects of which the verger of St. Peter's is in ignorance.

The Box Tortoise.

Though the tortoise is slow of foot, it is quick to make the best of all its available modes of defense. The box tortoise possesses a singular defensive apparatus. The plastron or shell covering the under part of the body is so formed that its front segment can be drawn upward to protect the animal's head, the head meanwhile being drawn back under the carapace or shell on the back of the tortoise.

The upper and under shells then meet in front, forming a kind of box in which the creature is unassailable. When the danger is passed, the reptile relaxes a muscle, and the raised part of the plastron falls, allowing the head and fore feet to come forth. This movable plate is fastened to the plastron by a strong hinge of elastic ligament.

Jekyll and Hyde Indians.

It is said that the Seri Indians are a tribe of Jekylls and Hydes. They spend a portion of the year in the neighborhood of the boundary line between northern and Lower California, when they dedicate themselves to peaceful pursuits and evidently adopt civilized customs, frequently working as farm hands on the haciendas. When the crops are in, however, they experience a remarkable change, like any of the lower animals with a change of season. It is then that they have a wild longing for a savage life and emigrate to Tiburon island, where they lead a barbarous existence, even indulging in cannibalism, it is averred.

One Better.

Mike—It's mesilf that wishes every day was Saturday.

Pat—And for whoy, Mike?

"Shure, and shouldn't I just take me wages ivery day?"

"Begorra, I wish every day was Sunday."

"Ye do? And for what raison?"

"Shure, and shouldn't I get a holiday ivery day and draw me wages the day before?"

Half Mourning.

"That's Mrs. Giltedge-Bonds, the prominent society leader," said the man in the crowd who knew.

"What's she in half mourning for?" inquired several voices.

"Three of her six former husbands are dead," said the man, whereupon the crowd expressed great admiration for her delicacy of feeling.

Promoted His "Trust."

"How in the world did he manage to get so much on credit?"

"Oh he's a trust-promoter."

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC R'Y

10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, Southwest and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.

SECOND CLASS $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.

Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."

For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.

A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.

S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at

SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.

Good going August 30th, 31st, and Sept. 1st, returning good until Sept. 2nd, 1902.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR

TORONTO

September 1st to 13th.

Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.

Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75

All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Leaves Belleville at 3.00 a.m., Monday, Sept. 8th, arriving Toronto 6.50 a.m. Ask agents for official programme and time table.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.

T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c, a package.

HITCHON BROS

Front St. Phone 91.

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting, Pape Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.

No. 8.—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.

No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.

No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.

No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.

No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.

No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.

No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,
Belleville and Peterboro,

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail......	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed......	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed......	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail......	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc,

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed......	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed......	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed......	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed......	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.

CHAS. N. SULMAN.

For Pickling

XXX Cider
and White Wine
Vinegars

Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.

ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.,

Telephone 214.

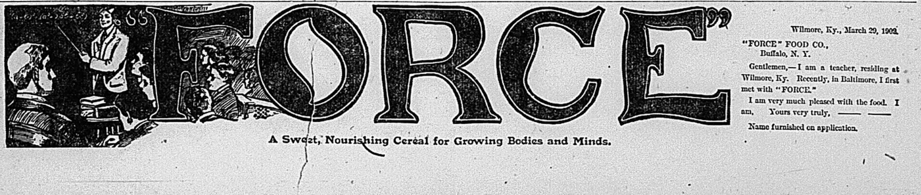
Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.

No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.



Wilmore, Ky., March 29, 1902.

"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—I am a teacher, residing at Wilmore, Ky. Recently, in Baltimore, I first met with "FORCE."

I am very much pleased with the food. I am, Yours very truly, —— ——

Name furnished on application.

A Sweet, Nourishing Cereal for Growing Bodies and Minds.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

"I have not spoken without reason—without strong reason," he resumes, rather blusteringly. "Mrs. Murray and her daughter have no resource but to leave the house at once. Lady Maria is indignant beyond measure about it, and naturally feels very strongly on Joyce's behalf; she feels also that, but for her being unhappily an invalid, this might never have happened. In her proper place as hostess she could have protected poor Joyce."

"Don't you think," Dallas repeats, coming a step nearer, his eyes gleaming with anger, "that you have said enough? Not that I should dream of resenting your malice and hatred," he adds, with galling contempt; "you can't help your nature. But I won't listen to your championing Joyce against me! It is as needless as it is impertinent. Joyce Murray knows her good name is as dear to me as my life or honor. Joyce knows me and trusts me!" he finishes excitedly.

"Why don't you say at once that she loves you madly and means to be faithful to you forever?" Viscount Glynne asks, with a venomous sneer. "I shouldn't be surprised at any assertion of the kind from you."

"Wouldn't you prefer proof?" Dallas asks mockingly, suffering himself to be betrayed into an indiscretion in his raging contempt.

The Viscount's pallid face grows livid.

"Not even your wretched vanity could trump up a proof!" he says huskily.

"Couldn't it?" Dallas rejoins, smiling; and the smile is like the red flag of the torero to the infuriated bull.

"I don't wonder at your wife leaving you!" the Viscount says furiously.

"Nonsense!" Dallas responds airily. "My wife hasn't left me. You've been swallowing slander wholesale. I'm afraid, Viscount. My wife loves me, and — I love her," he adds, a little unsteadily, "and I am going up to town to rejoin her this afternoon, unless the Earl wishes me to stay."

"The Earl has expressed no wish about you, sir!" Lord Glynne retorts, his sunken eyes flaming still. "If he were able to express a wish, I have no doubt it would coincide with mine."

"Thank you—for your courtesy and hospitality both," Dallas responds, smiling coldly. "I shall never forget either," and he quits the room, and half an hour later quits Pentreath, never to enter it again.

When Dallas departs, Lord Glynne locks his door carefully against intruders, and from behind the screen which is leaning untidily against the wall and masking the second small door peep out the dark glossy curled head and sparkling eyes of Mademoiselle Bella Glover.

"Well," she says, laughing softly, "you said listeners would hear no good of themselves. That meant I should hear ill; but you see he never said one word against me, never suspecting I had the tip of my finger in the pie, poor young man!"

"I don't know what good you have done for yourself or anybody by putting your finger in the pie," the the Viscount says gruffly. "You're too clever by half, Bella!"

"Oh, no, I'm not!" she retorts coolly. "I have to be very clever—poor little I! — in order to carry out my employer's wishes. You wanted to get rid of Dallas Glynne, didn't you? Well, you have got rid of him. Do be a little bit grateful to me sometimes!"

"Yes, I have got rid of him. I hope," he admits savagely. "Confound him and his impudence!"

"If you'd like to use a stronger expression than that to relieve your feelings, I won't object," says mademoiselle politely. "That remark of his anent that quite too universally charming young lady seems to have riled you considerably, my lord. Do you want the 'proof' he hinted at? If so, and if it's to be had, and not a figment of his imagination, I'll get it for you."

"I wish you would," the Viscount says sullenly. "It is too bad for a fellow like that to be able to slander an innocent girl with impunity."

"Oh," Miss Glover rejoins, her lip curling, "I don't think it was exactly slander, do you know! But I'll find out for you, never fear! There's plenty to discover, I have no doubt."

And Viscount Glynne, turning over some papers, makes no reply to this friendly assurance beyond a savagely-muttered imprecation.

"Haven't you anything better than that to say to me," Miss Bella murmurs plaintively, "your poor little friend who is devoted to your interests?"

"I don't know why the deuce you wanted me to invite that fellow here," growls the Viscount. "I did it to please you. I hate the sight of him."

"Never mind — I had my reasons — good reasons," his "little friend" says soothingly. "And I promised you I would soon get rid of him for good and all, out of your way, and I have kept my promise, you see."

The scheming woman speaks but the truth. Dallas Glynne has left Pentreath, never to re-enter it during its master's lifetime; for two days later Lyulph Glynne is Earl of Pentreath, and, when the old Earl's will is read, not only is Dallas Glynne's name not even mentioned, but there is no allusion to the sum of five hundred pounds which has been paid yearly from the estate to the Honorable Percival Glynne and afterwards to his son, Dallas. Dallas Glynne has therefore now no surety as to its future payment; and can only trust to the generosity of his cousin, the new Earl, who never offers him, or ever intended to offer him, one shilling from all his newly-acquired wealth.

CHAPTER XXIII.

"I declare solemnly," poor old Miss Dormer says, with feverish earnestness, thrusting her gray bands of hair off her temples and pushing her cap awry, "one would actually think that the floors of this house were washed with milk and the walls painted with eggs and butter, to see the weekly bills that come in! Here is a bill, of one pound eight and seven-pence-three-farthings from the dairyman for one week, and no company or anything extra — only dear Lolie at home. The expenses of this house are something really awful!" the poor old lady declares, with tragic emphasis. "I can't enjoy the blessed Sabbath services or sleep in my bed on Sunday nights, thinking of that tyrannical-looking cook marching up to me at eleven next morning with her pile of little red books."

"Let me settle with the cook, aunt," Yolande says quietly, "and look after the housekeeping for you. It is wearing you out."

"You may well say that," Miss Dormer responds irritably; "but there's no use in you offering to do it, child. I must get some one as a housekeeper, I suppose, and increase the immense expenses still more!"

"Why, aunt?" Yolande inquires, with a faint smile. "I am not going to ask any salary from you. And it is absurd," she adds, "to have another servant in the house when there are seven already, including Pitts. I'll be housekeeper, aunt. It will be nice employment for me."

"My dear, there is no use in talking that way," Miss Dormer says, looking scandalized. "You know your husband would not like it or allow it. Just fancy," the innocent old lady goes on, with a futile attempt at a woman-of-the-world voice, "if your mother-in-law, Lady Nora, or your cousins by marriage, the Earl and Countess of Pentreath, were to call on you and find you down stairs worrying with the cook!"

This grand speech is all uttered for the benefit of Mrs. Sarjent, who has come in to pay a somewhat early visit at the primitive hour of eleven o'clock; and Mrs. Sarjent resents the speech accordingly.

"No, that would never do, Yolande," she says. "Since you've married among such grand people, you'll have to live accordingly. 'Cut your coat according to your cloth,' as the sayin' is! Well, when did you see your mother-in-law — Lady Flora, or Dora, or whatever her name is?"

"Not since my wedding, aunt Sarjent," Yolande answers composedly; but Mrs. Sarjent sees the color rising in her face, and scents some secret which Yolande is endeavoring to conceal, and which therefore it behooves her to ferret out immediately.

"Never been to see you since the Earl's death!" she exclaims.

"Lady Nora is not in England, aunt Sarjent," Yolande replies, the color deepening a little. "Besides," she adds, smiling carelessly, "I didn't marry Lady Nora when I married Captain Glynne. She isn't bound to love, honor, and obey me!"

Aunt Keren laughs at the mild little joke; but Mrs. Sarjent, who fancies that Yolande is trying to avoid giving her any information, throws herself back in her chair, crosses her arms, puts one knee over the other, and turns her eyes on young Mrs. Glynne.

"She seemed a very stiff, cold-mannered, affected woman that morning at your wedding breakfast," she observes decisively; "and what a present she gave you — a bit of a silver egg basket! It never cost a penny more than five pounds!"

"But I think five pounds was quite enough for Lady Nora to give for a present, aunt Sarjent," Yolande says coldly. "She is not at all well off, you know, though she is an earl's daughter and the widow of an earl's son."

"Goodness me!" Mrs. Sarjent exclaims, her face getting redder than usual in an outbreak of Radical emotion. "I hope you haven't many more of these grand beggarly aristocrats without a penny in their pockets in the family you've got into, Yolande, child! They'll all hang on to you and sponge on you frightfully, if you don't take care!"

She laughs and nods as she utters this pleasant prophecy; and Yolande looks at her in grave displeasure, the color rising from chin to brow.

"I should never dream of considering that my husband's mother was asking too much from me if she came and lived with me whenever she liked," Yolande says, with a subdued passionateness of manner; "she should have the best welcome I could give her, for his sake."

"Oh, my!" Mrs. Sarjent exclaims resentfully, with a sarcastic laugh. "You'd better tell Lady Nora that — she'll take you at your word, never fear! You're just the daughter-in-law that will suit her, I should think!"

"I hope so," Yolande rejoins briefly; and Mrs. Sarjent abandons the topic in despair of rousing Yolande into "a proper spirit" towards her aristocratic connections. She turns to Miss Dormer, however, and harasses the poor old lady into an actual fit of temper by her assertions and declarations and her ridicule of poor aunt Keren's nervous dread of her servants.

"You pay 'em high wages, and you feed 'em on the fat of the land, and then you say you're afraid to make 'em do their business!" she says scornfully. "You should take a leaf out o' my book, aunt Keren! My servants are as meek as mice, and my cook knows that her bills are to be so much and no more; and, if there's a shilling one week more than another in my dairyman's bill, I know the reason why!"

"Well, I can't do that with mine," aunt Keren says crossly. "My cook gave me notice because I spoke of the immense quantity of parsley she had from the greengrocer's, and asked her what on earth she used it for, as I never saw a bit on the table!"

"And you didn't take her notice, of course?" Mrs. Sarjent questions, with a smile of superiority.

"No — oh, no!" poor aunt Keren replies, red and trembling at the bare remembrance. "She is a very bad-tempered woman, and I only said, 'I don't want to displease you, cook; I only asked a question;' and so she said she'd stay."

"And what you should have done, and what I'd have done, aunt Keren, and what I'd have done, aunt Keren," Mrs. Sarjent says, in the tone of an amiable instructress of the ignorant, "was to pay her a month's wages and turn her out of the house there and then! Your other servants would have seen you weren't afraid of them, and they'd have been tame enough for awhile. I'll engage! Let your servants see you're not afraid of them, and they'll soon learn to be afraid of you. And do you mind what I'm saying, Yolande," she adds sharply, making it a point to be very unceremonious with Mrs. Dallas Glynne, lest she should get "stuck up" on account of her aristocratic marriage. "You'll find the wisdom of my words, no matter how grand an establishment you're goin' to keep up!"

"I am not going to keep up any grand establishment, aunt Sarjent," Yolande says steadily. "Aunt Keren thinks that I — that we might as well stay here, unless Captain Glynne wishes me to go abroad with him."

"Well, but I suppose you know which you are going to do, don't you?" she asks sharply. "Bless my soul! You sentimental girls think that matrimony is to be all spooning and mooning and soft speeches and romantic rubbish! You'll find out your mistake, my dear," Mrs. Sarjent predicts, "you'll find it's house rent and taxes and bills and babies and worry and bother and anxiety, and your husband as cross as two sticks if your cook spoils the dinner, or if you want any extra pin-money, and staying out at night until two in the morning, and coming home smelling of cigars and brandy, and talking thick — though I'm happy to say Sarjent never did that but twice in his life, from the day he was married to the day he died," interpolates Mrs. Sarjent. "He knew I wouldn't stand those games. Oh, you've got it all to learn, my dear!"

"No, I think not," Yolande says icily, with a red spot flaming on each cheek. "Thanks to you, aunt Sarjent, I have learned it already."

"Oh, that's nothing!" Mrs. Sarjent rejoins, with a loud laugh. "It's a hundred times worse than that, Yolande, though, of course, you wouldn't believe a word against your darling What's-his-name now. Wait till your married a year and a day, my dear, and you will. By-the-bye, where is your husband, Yolande?"

"He is staying with some friends — at least, he has gone to stay a few days with a brother officer at Portsmouth," Yolande replies, flushing again; for it is a fact that at present she does not know where Captain Glynne really is. She had one brief letter —curt and cold — to tell her he had left Pentreath, and giving her Colonel Majilton's address, near Portsmouth, if she "wished" to write to him, as he would probably stay there "for a day or two." That was nine days since; and whether he has returned to Pentreath for the old Earl's funeral, or has stayed on with his friend Colonel Majilton, or gone elsewhere, Yolande is utterly uncer-

(To be continued.)

SWEATING OF THE FEET

"FOOT ELM" CHECKS THE EXCESSIVE PERSPIRATION AND DESTROYS THE DISAGREEABLE ODORS.

A good many people suffer from excessive perspiration of the feet, armpits and other parts of the body. Not only is the perspiration an inconvenience in itself, but on account of the musty and sour odor that results, it is a source of great distress and discomfort.

"Foot Elm" dusted in the shoes or wherever the perspiration is troublesome, allays the excessive activity of the sweat glands, prevents disagreeable odors—cools, soothes and sweetens.

Price 25 cents a box at all druggists or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont. Do not take a substitute.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

TARTE BRINGS A MESSAGE

A Racy Talk by Minister of Public Works at Bowmanville.

Says All Must Live in Peace If Canada Is to Become a Great Country—Talk to West Durham Liberals on the Celebration of Their Victory in the Recent Election—Hon. J. H. Stratton Also Present at the Gathering.

Bowmanville, Aug. 28.—The West Durham Liberal Association celebrated their victory in the recent elections by a picnic in Pollard's Grove, five miles northeast of this town. Everything passed off well, and after speeches by Mr. W. Pickard, M.P.P., Newcastle, and Hon. Mr. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, the orator of the day, Hon. Mr. Tarte, who had arrived late owing to train detention, was heard.

Mr. Tarte Well Received.

Hon. Mr. Tarte, as he appeared on the stand, was greeted with a hearty cheer. After a word of introduction by the chairman, the honorable gentleman said: "I have the reputation of getting there on time, but I am sorry to say that my star went back on me to-day, as, owing to a delay on the railway, I could not get here sooner. It is a great pleasure for me to be in this very fine part of Ontario. I have a fancy for the people of Ontario. It is not because they do not abuse me, but because I think they are ready to listen to reason. I think it is of the greatest national interest that the two great provinces of the Dominion should understand each other, and it was for that reason that I accepted the invitation to be here to-day. You are doing right by meeting here as you do to discuss public questions. We have the finest country under the sun, and the trouble is that we do not know our country as well as we should. Let us admit it frankly that we have been a little slow in the past. Our population has not increased as rapidly as we expected, but with the opening of the new century, our country has entered a new era. (Applause.) Our country has never been so progressive. Some might say that no credit is due to the Government for it, but I do not think that the fact that we are in power has stopped Providence from smiling upon us. The national sentiment, too, is more genuine than ever. We are beginning to feel that we are bound to be a nation. French-Canadians, Irishmen, Englishmen, Protestants and Roman Catholics, have all come to the conclusion that we must agree for the excellent reason that we are to live on the same soil and under the same flag.

Loyalty of the French.

"In my humble opinion there are two great questions we have to face if we make up our minds to be a nation. Let me say at the outset that I came from a province that is, perhaps, more essentially Canadian than you are in Ontario. It may seem peculiar to you to hear me speak as I do, but I will say that if you have heard that the French-Canadians are not loyal, there is no more damnable lie told. Of course such lies are told for party purposes. We are not all fools in Quebec; we are pretty sensible fellows. (Applause.) We know that the future of the French-Canadian is intimately bound with the future and destiny of our English citizens. Are we not happy? I am sorry you do not come more often to see us. We look like decent citizens and are happy, and do not desire any change. Speaking on my responsibility, I say without fear of contradiction that the French-Canadians have more interest than you have in remaining loyal. You could be annexed to the United States to-morrow, and you would be with your own Englishmen; I would be swamped — would be nowhere. I have been accused of saying that business is business, and I will add to it that it is the business of the French-Canadians to remain under the British flag. (Applause.)

Develop Our Country.

"If we make up our minds to remain Canadians we must develop our country on Canadian lines. In my recent trip through the lakes, I saw Americans carrying on all sorts of trade. They have ships running nearly as large as those seen on the Atlantic Ocean. Where are we in that trade? Where is our navy on the lakes? We are strong enough and wealthy enough to hold and handle our own trade if we make up our mind to do it. When I had the pleasure of meeting representative Americans not so long ago, I took pleasure in telling them, 'you are an energetic nation; you have accomplished wonders, but there is one thing you cannot do, and that is displace the lakes or the St. Lawrence.' The most effective means of development is to establish a system of transportation, and allow the east to trade with the west. I do not understand those who say we cannot produce everything we want ourselves. I am anti-American—not in an unfriendly way, but from a national standpoint. I want to know if we cannot teach them a lesson. Americans are coming to this country, taking our raw material and shipping back the finished product. I would say, 'by the living jingo can't I do that myself.' I for one am ready for a more determined policy to provide for the manufacture of ships. The safest way to keep this colony under the British flag is to build a nation and build up our trade.

Man Must Go Straight Ahead.

"I do not boast as a man of great virtue; I am simply an ordinary Christian, but to be a successful minister in my mind, a man has got to go straight ahead, forgetting the little differences of the past, and to do his best for the interest of his country. Six years ago many thought the country would go to hell under Liberal rule. But what has been the result? Prosperity has increased in leaps and bounds since then. As I said before, we must try and understand each other better. When we appear before the Almighty we will not be asked if our father or mother were French or English or Catholic or Protestant—but simply if we have been good citizens and good Christians. For God's sake let us realize that we are bound to go on living together, and let us forget all prejudices. When I heard the King, when Prince of Wales, address a banquet, I was convinced that at the head of the British nation was a noble man, not only in sentiment, but that he is a safe man, and it is such rulers that we want. (Applause.)

Hon. Mr. Tarte referred once more to the greatness of Canada, and as he resumed his seat was given three cheers.

This brought the speaking to a close, and cheers were given for the King and Liberal party.

IT REALLY COSTS LESS

than Japan Tea, because it goes much farther.

"SALADA"

Ceylon GREEN Tea for strength, flavor and purity is superior to the finest Japan tea grown. It is as far ahead of Japan tea as "SALADA" black is ahead of all other teas. Lead packets only, 25c & 40c per lb. By all grocers.

FOR

Bilious and Nervous Disorders

Sick Headache and Constipation,

TAKE

BEECHAM'S PILLS.

They cure Giddiness, Fullness and Swelling after meals, Dizziness and Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, etc. The First Dose will give relief in twenty minutes. This is no fiction. For a Weak Stomach, Disordered Liver and Impaired Digestion they act like "Magic". Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try a Box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be WITHOUT A RIVAL.

BEECHAM'S PILLS taken as directed, will quickly restore females to complete health. They promptly remove any obstruction or irregularity of the system.

Sold by all Druggists in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes, 25 cents.

DOVER WILL NOT BEG.

Council Rejects Petition to Ask Carnegie's Aid For a Library—Pacific Cable by Christmas.

Russia's industries are in bad shape, and many failures are reported.

A London boy named Harry Clark fell off Kensington bridge and was very seriously injured.

Mr. James Kent states that the Pacific cable will be working between Canada and Australia by Christmas.

The Corporation of Dover, Eng., rejected a proposal to approach Mr. Carnegie for assistance for a public library.

Henry Hall, Emo, Ont., deckhand on D. L. Mathers' tug, was drowned off Coney Island, Rat Portage, Wednesday afternoon. He was 19.

George Mabee, an employe in the wholesale hardware house of James Robertson, Winnipeg, was accidentally killed in the elevator Wednesday afternoon.

Four people were thrown out of a carriage in Sydney Township by the horses running away. Mrs. J. P. Sharp, a lady 83 years old, was probably fatally injured.

The C.P.R. express from Montreal was delayed on Wednesday morning for three hours. The delay was caused by the derailing of three cars of a freight train east of Myrtle.

J. W. Tyrrell has returned from the Klondike to Hamilton. He has been away a little over a year, his time being spent in surveying and looking after the mining interests of his brother.

Claus Spreckels, sugar refiner, was in Montreal on Wednesday, and it is said forwarded the papers to Ottawa for the formation of a $6,000,000 company to refine sugar by his new process in Canada.

George Jacques, a seaman on the schooner F. B. Wade, of Halifax, fell from the topmast to the deck, a distance of 70 feet, Wednesday afternoon, and the only injury he sustained was a broken nose.

At Nice Lopez Garcia was arrested on Wednesday yesterday after a violent struggle with the police. He arrived at Nice yesterday from Spain. The police received warning that he was a dangerous Anarchist who had been selected to kill some European ruler, supposed to be Emperor William.

TOOK THE WRONG BOTTLE.

Mr. Alexander Hunter of Brussels Meets With a Sad Death.

Brussels, Aug. 28.—A sad accident resulted in the death of Mr. Alex. Hunter, Tuesday night. Mr. Hunter was about to prepare a bird for stuffing and had for this purpose a mixture of carbolic acid and other poisons, which he left amongst other bottles containing medicine. When going to the shelf to take some medicine he got the bottle containing the poison and swallowed the greater portion of it before realizing his mistake. He at once ran to Dr. McNaughton's office, where he died soon after. Mr. Hunter was 53 years of age and had lived here for the past twenty-three years, having occupied the position of Division Court Clerk for that period.

A TEA SWINDLE.

An Unusual Attempt at Fraud at the Port of Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Some time ago the 366 half chests, supposed to contain tea, were received in Toronto. They were consigned to C. W. Irwin, the well known customs broker. A few days afterwards the collector, John Small, received notice from the broker that the tea was unfit for use owing to having been damaged by water in the hold of a vessel while in transit from China to New York, a voyage of three months. Instead of destroying the packages Mr. Small and Inspector Douglas ordered that they be opened to satisfy themselves that the goods were as represented. All the tea found in the 366 packages did not amount to over a pound. In place of the tea was a miscellaneous collection of rubbish. The U. S. customs authorities are trying to unearth the swindle.

Three Tons of Dynamite Exploded.

Dinorwic, Aug. 28.—The dynamite house at Dinorwic, containing three tons of dynamite, was blown up at 8.30 yesterday. The explosion was terrific. Doors were blown off their hinges and plaster badly damaged, and most all the windows in the town were shattered. Two men, who were near the magazine, noticed it was on fire and escaped by jumping in the river.

Overcome by Well Gas.

Strathcona, N.W.T., Aug. 28.—Thos. [illegible] of this place was overcome by gas in his well yesterday. He went down to repair a leak in the piping, and shortly after fell helpless against the curbing. The gas was so powerful that it was impossible to render assistance for almost an hour, when life was extinct.

Killed by a Binder.

Virden, Man., Aug. 28.—The four-year-old son of Thomas Dyson got in front of a binder his father was driving, and the knives cut his leg off at the knee. His father drove him eight miles to a doctor, but the child died

Will Spend a Million.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Mr. Tarte proposes to spend gradually [illegible] on the port of Quebec. He will build a wall of [illegible] feet on one side and 410 feet on the other.

If its Quality you want CARLING'S is the Ale

ALL DEALERS

For sale by Wesley Mullen.

WILSON'S FLY PAD POISON

THE BEST FLY KILLER

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

AUTUMN 1902

New Autumn Dress Goods.

We have received within the past few days a large shipment of

New Dress Materials

Direct from the fashion centres of Europe. They include all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this coming season.

In Broadcloths, Coverts, Vicunas, Zebelines,

Poplins, Homespuns, Friezes and Tweed Effects.

A word about the finish of all our Dress Goods this season—They are all finished in the celebrated "Ripley Finish." This particular finish is a perfect guarantee that the goods are thoroughly shrunk and will not spot.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

DIRECT IMPORTERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT J. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's Jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the Books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 210 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

PUT THESE ON AND SEE THAT YOUR CHOCOLATES ARE STAMPED THUS G.B.

"G. B." Chocolates are ever increasing in popularity and favor with the chocolate eating public. Over eighty varieties of this famous brand made. They are "The finest in the land." 60c a lb. mixed.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up,

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD: subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locals charged as less than twenty-five words.

No police court to-day.

Pinnacle street was being scraped to-day, which added much to the cleanliness of its appearance.

Ladies' new fall lace boots selling at reduced prices on Friday and Saturday only at Gorman's Shoe House.

The police last evening answered a call to John St., it being reported that a tramp was loitering about. Upon investigation it was found there was nothing in the story.

Special rates by the R. & O. Liners to Toronto Exhibition. Rathbun Co. for further particulars. 28-tf

All children's boots and slippers will be reduced in price for Friday and Saturday only at Gorman's Shoe House.

For speed, safety, comfort, the reliable Strs. North King and Caspian, with popular A.O.F. excursion, Sat. Aug. 30, 31st, leaving Belleville 11.38. Tickets $1.50. Good for 1 week $2.00. a27-3t

Take either the Niagara or Alexandria for Rochester, Saturday, August 30. Tickets good until Monday eve. Alexandria leaves Belleville 11 a.m.; Niagara leaves Belleville 10.30 p.m. Fare $1.50. See bills for full particulars. a26-3td

"A Million Lies" is the subject at the Tent to-night. Come and hear Dr. Lee's practical address. These meetings have done much good, although the attendance has not been large on account of rain and damp weather. We hope the warm, dry weather will aid a larger attendance. Our object is to do good where most needed. Come each night at 8.—Com.

Miss Sidna H. Brown, late pupil of Miss Archer, of Toronto, will receive pupils in violin after Sept. 1st, at the residence of C. H. Vermilyea, Bridge St. Arrangements may be made with Miss Brown any time during August.

A.O.F. annual excursion to Summerville, Port of Rochester, per steamers North King and Caspian, on Saturday, Aug. 30 and Sunday, Aug. 31, leaving Belleville 11.38 p.m. Fare $1.50. Good to return any time up to Sept. 6th, $2.00. a9,16,23,26,28d&4tw

Mrs. A. A. Campbell is prepared to take music pupils at her residence in the Metropolitan Block, Campbell St., after the 1st September. Telephone 90. 9,12,19,26,28,30.

One way to teach children to be good is to set an example.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

Bargains in Ladies' Blouses

Any Colored, White or Fancy Stripe Blouse in the store at 75c, $1.00, $1.25 or $1.50 to clear in two days at

49c each

All Blouses at 50c will go at

29c each

AT—

McINTOSH BROS.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Mrs. S. Eustace is visiting in Toronto.

Mr. W. Watts, late of Buffalo, is visiting in the city.

Ex-Mayor J. W. Johnson has returned to the city from Muskoka.

Mr. Edward Lafferty, of Rutland, Vt., is in the city visiting friends.

Mrs. L. W. Yeomans returned today from a five weeks' stay at Twelve O'clock Point.

Misses Dollie Good and Jessie Tuite have returned from a visit to Stirling.

Miss Mae Donald, of Valleyfield, Que., is visiting her friend, Mrs. Emmons, Albert St.

Mrs. Terrill is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Forster, at the Asylum for Insane, at Mimico, Ont.

Mr. W. L. Linniger left yesterday for Toronto, where he will remain until the close of the exhibition.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell left this morning for a trip through Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

Major W. W. Pope, of the Fifteenth, has been recommended for the Colonial Auxiliary Forces Officers' decoration.

Mr. R. J. Garbutt, Front of Thurlow, has been selected as one of the judges of swine at the Toronto exhibition.

Miss Helen Carpenter, Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Grace Roblin, Watertown, N.Y., are visiting Mrs. Fish, William St.

Mrs. J. F. Barker, Miss Vera L., Master Howard, of Grand Rapids, Mich., are in the city, after an absence of several years, visiting Mrs. Barker's mother, Mrs. Annas Abraham, corner Yeomans and Elmer Sts.

At the Quinte;—H. R. Flett, G. W. Woodland, J. W. Williamson, J. G. Stead, F. W. Ewan, F. J. Fox, H. Edmonds, C. J. Campbell, J. Owen, W. J. Shannon, Toronto; C. Maund, T. J. Doak, Hamilton; J. O. Hutton, Kingston; A. W. Robertson, Cascades; J. J. Powers and wife, New York; H. M. Stanway, T. Pearson, Montreal; H. T. Hopkins, Picton; E. M. Wessels, Wooler; C. A. Sager and wife, Rochester; W. P. McLean, Peterboro; V. R. Marshall and wife, Brockville; E. D. O'Flynn, Madoc; W. O'Flynn, Vancouver; A. Riddell, Gilmour; M. Thaite, Oshawa; W. D. Inglis, Sherbrooke; A. T. Hicks, Trenton.

The London fashion papers devote much space to descriptions of the gowns worn by those who were lucky enough to secure places of vantage in Westminster Abbey on the now historical 9th of August. Among those so described are two which will interest Canadians: Lady Tupper—Black chantilly lace encrusted with designs in silver paillettes and diamantes appliques, over an underskirt of white and silver tulle. The corsage was crossed with narrow bands of iridescent embroidery, and finished with entredeux of chantilly lace and a berthe en suite with a large chou of pastel blue panne. Lady Strathcona and Mount Royal—White duchesse satin front, skirt entirely covered with the finest Brussels point de Gaze lace with narrow lace to match for sleeves and front of bodice.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

MR. JOHN KERR PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON IN HIS 81st YEAR.

After three weeks' illness, Mr. John Kerr, a well-known resident of the city, died yesterday afternoon, in his 81st year. Deceased was born in the County of Tyrone, Ireland, and when a young man came out to this country. For over 40 years Mr. Kerr had resided in the city and vicinity. For some years he was in the lumbering business, conducting what was known as the old Red Mill, on the bay shore, in Sidney, just west of the City limits. Mr. Kerr was for some time Tax Collector for the city. Of late years the deceased has lived a retired life. Mr. Kerr was married, but had no family. Mrs. Kerr died a number of years ago. Deceased was a member of John St. Presbyterian church, and a Conservative in politics. He was also a member of Moira Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and the funeral will be held under the auspices of the Masonic Order.

DEATHS.

SINFIELD—In Sidney, on Wednesday, Aug. 27, 1902, Samuel Sinfield, aged 82 years.

The funeral will take place on Friday, August 29, at 1.30 p.m., to Centenary Church, where service will be held at 2 o'clock, thence to Belleville cemetery.

A man isn't necessarily an angel because he flies high.

Falling in love is painless; it's the falling out again that hurts.

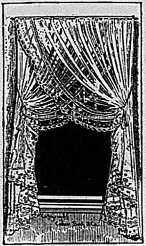
If a man has nothing else to spend he can spend his vacation at home.

LACE CURTAINS.

We have just received a large shipment of Nottingham Lace Curtains. These our buyer goes direct to Nottingham for, and buying for cash we can afford to give this best make at the most moderate prices.

In all lines of house furnishing you will find many economical helps on our third floor.

Full range of patterns, 2 yds. long, at......	39c
3 yd. Nottingham Curtain...............	75c
Better ones from $1 00 to	$5.00



A full assortment of Bobinett Curtains in the newest styles always kept in stock. These make the very prettiest window drapery and are widely used in London, Paris and New York.

CUSHIONS

We have now all sizes and qualities in Cushion molds. These are the celebrated Alaska Brand and are filled with best quality down or wool.

Wool filled Alaska cushion,	18x18........	35c
Fine Wool filled	~~18x18~~........	50c
Alaska Down Cushion	18x18........	75c
Best Quality Down Cushion,	24x24	$1.50

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

New York's Society Palmist

Miss Ellen Francis

Wonderful, Marvellous, Astonishing are Her Readings.
Gives Advice on all Affairs of Life.
Unites the Separated.
When Others Fail She Succeeds.

If you are in trouble of any kind, discontented, unhappy, not satisfied in life, having business, love or domestic troubles, you will be told how to overcome all.

"Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor."—Prov. iii., 16.

PARLORS KYLE HOUSE.

Hours: 10 to 9. Satisfaction guaranteed. Maid in attendance. 26-6t

THE BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Write for Catalogue.

Departments.

1. Bookkeeping and Commercial Usages—up-to-date in every respect. 2. Shorthand and Typewriting—Thorough office practice. 3. Telegraphing—Special attention given to Railroad work. Students may enter any day. A few dollars invested in a good business education will yield large profits.—J. FRITH JEFFERS, M.A., Principal.

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

"MARVELLOUS"

Big value—That's what they are—we refer to our sale of Rockingham Tea pots. They were bought cheap—They are to be sold cheaper as we wish to clear them out at once.

Tea Pots that were 15c now going at - - -	11c
Tea Pots that were 18c now going at - - -	12c
Tea Pots that were 20c now going at. - - -	14c
Tea Pots that were 25c now going at - - -	16c
Tea Pots that were 30c now going at - - -	20c
Tea Pots that were 35c now going at - - -	22c

If you want a good serviceable teapot now is your chance, you'll make by buying now

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1902. NO. 101

Save the Baby

Nestlé's Food will so strengthen an infant that it can withstand the enervating effects of hot weather. It is a preventive of Cholera Infantum. Your physician will recommend it.

Nestlé's Food

Sample (sufficient for eight meals) Free.
LEEMING, MILES & CO., MONTREAL.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

ROLLING MILLS DEAL SEEMS TO BE A GO

Chairman of Industries Received a Very Encouraging Letter This Morning.

"No Doubt of Success," Says the Writer—Other Features May be Added.

A broad smile was chasing itself round Ald. Sinclair's expressive features when the newspaper man dropped in to see him this morning.

"Anything new?" he said, in answer to a query, "well, I got a very gratifying letter this morning, and if you like I'll read it to you."

Just then the cash messenger came up. It was opened and a $1 bill dropped out. "We won't use these $1 bills at all when the Rolling Mills open," said the Alderman, laughingly; nothing less than ten dollar bills then. Now, then, let's see. How much of this is it best to give out. Well, I'll tell you all about it and read the letter, and then you can use your own judgment. Have you got your judgment with you?"

The newspaper man neatly proved the possession and quality of his judgment by pointing to an article of clothing he was wearing which had been purchased in the Alderman's store, and the tale went on.

"Well," said the Chairman of Industries, "this letter is from the of the parties who came here last week to look at the Rolling Mills. The City Council gave them an exclusive option on the mills for thirty days, and offered them the same terms that were offered to Mr. Kirkwood. Everybody pretty well remembers what they were. This morning I received this letter from Mr. G. F. Whistler, of Youngstown, Ohio, one of the gentlemen who were here last week," and he read the letter, which set forth that, after leaving Belleville, the writer and his companion had had an all-day conference with the Trust & Guarantee people, in Toronto, and had arrived at satisfactory terms with them. Then they had returned home and at once started to make arrangements for the monetary part of the deal, "of the success of which," said the letter, "there is no doubt." In conclusion the epistle stated that, in all probability, some of the parties interested would be in Belleville next week, when it was hoped the matter would be closed in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

Though the writer of the letter does not belong to the fair sex, his epistle bears a strong resemblance to one written by a lady, inasmuch as the most interesting part of it lay in the postscript, which set forth that matters were so well advanced and things looked so favorable that there was now no objection to Ald. Sinclair giving information in regard to the project to the Belleville papers. The parties who are interested in the scheme are: H. G. Hamilton, formerly of the Hamilton, Ont., Rolling Mills; Hon. F. L. Brown, Mayor; Hugh Wick, of the National Steel Company; and G. F. Whistler, all of Youngstown, Ohio. "You can tell your papers," said the postscript, "that if the deal is successful it is the intention of the parties interested to add a sheet mill, furnace and other up-to-date improvements; also to at once provide dockage accommodation."

"Things look favorable," said the newspaper man; "these people seem to mean business."

"It's up to them to do it at once," said the Chairman of Industries, "for I'm getting enquiries and applications for the mills by every mail." He pointed to a stack of letters about four inches high. "All Rolling Mills correspondence," he said. Pulling open a drawer he waved his hand at about fifty letters, more or less. "The same thing. Come around some time and look them over. They make interesting reading."

Just then Ald. Panter came in. "I hear you have heard from the Youngstown people," he said.

The letter was read to him. "I congratulate you, Ald. Sinclair," he said, "I really believe something good is coming out of this."

And the newspaper man added his congratulations as he took his leave.

MR. L. BENMORE DIED ON THE 18th AUGUST

DEMISE OF A WHOLE-SOULED GENTLEMAN, WHO HAD MANY FRIENDS IN THIS CITY.

Word was received here to-day, by Mr. J. T. Osborne, Sec. of Mizpah Lodge, I.O.O.F., of the death of Mr. Louis Benmore, formerly of this city, which occurred on the 18th inst., at Falmouth, Cornwall, Eng., whither he had gone a few weeks ago from his old home at Chacombe, Oxfordshire.

It will be remembered that Mr. Benmore carried on a grocery business here for several years but had to give it up on account of failing health in 1896. In November of that year he left here for Riverside, Cal., in the hope of securing better health, but that hope was not realized. He continued to get worse at times, and his late wife and little daughter, Gladys, left in January, 1897, to wait upon him there. That Mrs. Benmore proved to be all that a loving wife could be there is no doubt, for, and to relate, she contracted the dread disease, came back home and died March 2, 1899, in the 25th year of her age. Mr. Benmore, not improving any in the west, decided to return to his home in England, and left this city on June 6th, 1899, after a week's visit with relatives and friends.

The late Mr. Benmore was married here on February 1st, 1893, to his now departed wife, formerly Miss Emma Ross. He leaves a little eight-year-old daughter, Gladys, who is staying with her uncle, Harrison Ross, of Thurlow, to whom sincere sympathy is extended. Mr. Benmore was a member of Mizpah Lodge, No. 127, I.O.O.F., of this city, and they have faithfully attended to him during his long siege of sickness which was borne with Christian patience. He was also a member of the Masonic fraternity. The funeral took place on the 21st inst., at Falmouth.

RELIABLE BOYS' CLOTHING.

The motto of the Oak Hall as regards boys' clothing, and all other clothing, is not "how cheap" but "how good." You never yet had a suit for your boy at our store that did not give satisfaction. We won't buy any but the most reliable and from the most reliable houses. We are sole agents for Sanford's celebrated clothing.

FIRE IN TYENDINAGA

A DWELLING WITH THE GREATER PORTION OF ITS CONTENTS DESTROYED.

On Wednesday afternoon the residence of Mr. James Parks, 6th concession of the township of Tyendinaga, was destroyed by fire. The building, being of frame, burned rapidly and it was difficult to save even some of the furniture. There was an insurance of $225 on the house in the Western Mutual, but the contents were not insured. A spark from a chimney is given as the cause of the fire.

A $2,000,000 Slander Suit

One of the biggest actions ever taken out in Ontario was entered in Toronto, recently, by Mr. Taylor McVeity in the High Court of Justice on behalf of the Sapphire Corundum Company, Limited, against Mr. B. A. Craig, of Toronto, for slander and libel. Damages to the extent of $2,000,000 are asked.

The Sapphire Corundum Company is a concern organized within the past year in London, England. It has an authorized capital of $1,000,000, and some of the best financiers in England are said to be interested. The capital has been mostly subscribed. The mines to be worked are in Peterboro county, Ontario, north of Stoney Lake.

B. A. Craig, against whom the suit is directed, is the manager of the Canada Corundum Company.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

MR. BORDEN'S TOUR

MEETINGS TO BE HELD IN MANY WESTERN CITIES.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug 28.—All arrangements have been completed for the tour through British Columbia of Mr. R. L. Borden, K.C., M.P., leader of the Liberal-Conservative party. Mr. Borden and party will arrive in Vancouver on Sunday, September 7th. A big meeting will be held in Victoria on Monday evening, September 8th, at which Mr. Borden will for the first time be introduced to a British Columbia audience. He will speak at Vancouver on Tuesday night and at New Westminster on Wednesday. After that he will proceed to Revelstoke, where the Liberal-Conservative convention will be in session during the 12th and 13th.

Nelson and Rossland will be covered on the way east, and meetings will be held at these centres.

This visit is to be made the occasion of a great Liberal-Conservative revival in British Columbia.

SPEEDY CURE FOR CRAMPS AND COLIC.

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Choir Practice.
Band Concert at Park.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Light to moderate winds, fine and warm. Saturday, fine and warm.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m.	60
12 m.	80
2 p.m.	86
3 p.m.	88

Bicycle Stolen

Mr. Earl Caldwell reports to the police that last evening he left his bicycle standing outside of Dr. Goldsmith's office, and when he came out the wheel was gone. All efforts to locate it have thus far proved futile.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Saturday Night Sale

Here are some of the special attractions we offer for our Saturday Night Sale:

900 yards of best 10c Flannellette, 34 inches wide, in Pink, Blue and Cardinal, Plain Colors, will sell for - - - - - - - - - 8c yard
9 doz. Ladies' Fine Black Sateen Underskirts, nicely tucked and hemstitched, will sell for 95c each.
12 doz. Ladies' Black Cotton Hose from 25c to 35c will sell for - - 19c pair
Your choice of 18 Ladies' Fine White Cambric Night Gowns, from $1.00 to $1.50, for - - - - - - - - - - 85c each
6 Skeins of Superior Shetland Floss will sell for - - - - - 25c
24 Ladies' White Pique Dress Skirts will sell at - - - - Half Price
All 50c and 75c Summer Corsets will sell for - - - - - 35c pair
75c White Steel Filled Corsets will sell for - - - - - - - 59c pair
$1.00 Erect Form Corsets, best makes, will sell for - - - 69c pair
1.25 White and Drab Corsets, best makes, will sell for - - - 95c pair
$1.50 White and Drab Corsets, best makes, will sell for - - $1.10 pair

Sizes range from 18 to 30 inch.

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department

We are now showing in this department the very newest styles in Ladies' Fall Costumes, Ladies' Dress Skirts and Ladies' Silk Waists.

Our store will be closed on Labor Day.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY ONLY!

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

YES! HERE ARE GREATER BARGAINS THAN EVER.

Friday and Saturday will be BUSY DAYS AT THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE—they will be the two last business days in August—and we purpose closing the month and our special clearing sale by recording the largest sales of August on these two last days.

Come in when out shopping—we'll be pleased to serve you—you'll find that

WE DO AS WE ADVERTISE.

JUST THINK THESE OVER:

Ladies' fine vici kid lace boots—very stylish and easy fitting—some with light, some with heavy soles—sizes 3, 4, 5, 5½, 6 and 7—regular price $4.00, now special for 2 days at........ $3 25

Ladies' fine English enamel lace boots—heavy, slightly extended sole—round full toe—square cap—Cuban heel—regular price $3.50, now special for two days at $2 98

Ladies' fine vici kid dress lace boots—light sole, Athen's toe—square kid tip—standard heel—regular price $3.00, now special for two days at........ $2 45

Ladies' fine vici kid lace boots—nobby—durable—easy, having heavy extension sole—round full toe—square kid tip—military heel—regular price $3.00, now special for two days at........ $2 15

LOW SHOES $1.00

There are still a few ladies' fine kid low shoes left, regular $2.00, $1.50 and $1.25 qualities, your choice per pair........ $1.00

FOR THE CHILDREN

Mothers! do not let this chance pass—Friday and Saturday ALL children's boots and slippers in the store WILL BE GREATLY REDUCED IN PRICE—Bring the children with you!

WE DO AS WE ADVERTISE.

HEADQUARTERS
—FOR—
School Supplies.

A beautiful clean stock of everything that is required for school . . . .

Pens, Inks, Pencils, Pencil Boxes, Scribblers
AT PRICES THAT CANNOT BE COMPARED.

2nd Reader 15c	History 25c	3rd Reader 25c.

Copy Books—5c.

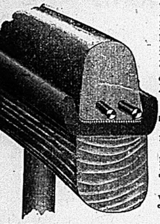
EVERY CHILD WILL RECEIVE A QUANTITY OF CANDY WITH THEIR PURCHASE, NO MATTER HOW SMALL IT MAY BE . . . . .

Examine our windows and you will be convinced that this is the place to get special value.

NOTHING OVER 25 CENTS IN THIS STORE.

5 & 10c Store. J. G. WOOD'S 15 & 25c Store.

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.

First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.

We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire-rigs.

A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.

The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.

Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

ESTABLISHED 1890. PHONE MAIN 4303.
W. F. DEVER & CO.,
STOCK AND BOND BROKERS.
WE EXECUTE ORDERS IN
Dominion Coal and Dominion Steel
on Boston Stock Exchange, over our private wire, for cash or margin.
BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.
We solicit accounts for the purchase of listed stocks and bonds.
19 Wellington St. East, Toronto.

Big Removal Sale.

Next month we move into the store across the street now occupied by Mr. J. H. Mills, and from now until we start to move all cash purchases at the store will be subject to a good big discount.

CARPETS, CURTAINS, WALL PAPERS, PICTURES, ETC., at lower prices than you ever before bought similar goods. You can benefit by the sale if you are in need of anything this store contains.

T. P. BROWN
Carpets, Curtains, Wall Paper, Picture Framing.

Genuine Scranton COAL!
Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.
The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

Across the Continent And Back Again

(Written for The Intelligencer by Mrs. James Boldrick, of Corbyville.)

(Continued.)

How can I describe the Rockies? I couldn't call them beautiful, they were awful. Great masses ofrocks, piled up and up, into all the most fantastic shapes, no color but the dead grey of the stone, only where one would rise above the rest, and so high that the snow never left its summit. Scarcely any green to break the hard outline of the grey boulders, very few trees of any kind, a bright sun shining all the time, it was very trying to the eyes. It was wonderful, though, to think, in spite of all efforts nature had made, to keep this bit of the earth's surface to itself, man had conquered it, and by the aid of swing bridges and spookish-looking trestle work, one was able to ride over this wilderness with the greatest of ease. There were very few tunnels over the snow range, but there were very sharp curves. I had a kodac with me, and several times when taking a snap of some awful peak or chasm ahead the locomotive would be taken, too. One thing that seemed so peculiar to me, we were following up the Arkansas river, although we were going up a steep grade, and the water went boiling past us, we appeared to be going down hill, and the water rushing up hill with all its might. It caused a great deal of amusement through the car when I said that the water was running up hill, but when they looked for themselves they all said it appeared the same to them. Another thing would look so strange, we were going through the wildest of scenery, where you wouldn't think a rabbit could live, when the name of some station would be called out and in a few minutes we would be in the midst of bustle and life, cabs, busses, street cars, electric lights, all the noise of city life, you would wonder what they were doing there, how they got there. Of course they were mostly mining towns, but it all looked so out of place. Then we would be off, and in a few minutes all would be as wild again.

In the evening, just before the sun went down, one of the train hands, knowing I wanted to see everything, came to me and told me to watch a high peak that could be seen away to the right, and told me not to take my eyes off another peak that was appearing behind it. I did so, and in a few minutes we rounded a sharp curve, and we came in full sight of the Mt. of the Holy Cross. For a few minutes only we could see it, away up near its summit a pure white cross could be seen. Of course, it must have been hundreds of feet long, it looked but an inch or two from where we were.

By this time we had passed the divide, where the Arkansas river had dwindled down to a little brook and then disappeared, and the Grand river, a branch of the Colorado river, had began to trinkle down the rocks, just a little brook, then slowly growing larger and larger. By the time darkness set in it was a rushing torrent, by the side of which we were going down, down, with terrific speed. It was a dreadful sight to look out of the window and see how we were dashing down these steep mountain sides, to see the track so far below and know we were dashing down to it. If anything should give away it would be certain death. The western slope of the mountains was far prettier than the eastern, they were quite green with ferns, there was lots of timber. Here and there up the mountain side could be seen little black specks, the glass would reveal a large hole, with heaps of broken stone just outside, and near by a little log hut. They were gold miners' homes, and lonely enough they looked.

We had just entered Rock Creek Canyon when night set in, and we saw but little of its high wall, which, I was told, was many hundreds of feet high.

The morning of the 31st of May dawned bright and clear, but no trace of the mountains could be seen. We had left them far behind. We were travelling through what looked to me to be, great clay flats, with huge cracks, that looked as though great floods in days gone by had washed it out, but it looked so dry and hot, with nothing green but sage brush, and not much of that. Talk about desolation, not a bird to be seen. We had travelled many miles before we saw any sign of human habitation; then only a little hut and stable and a few acres of alfalfa, a horse and some cows, and lots of children playing around, not a tree, in fact nothing more but what I have mentioned. What they lived on I don't know.

About eight o'clock the scenery began to change, but I can't say for the better, small hills of the same white clay, then larger and larger ones, with great gulches washed in them, they were minus the sage brush the valley had. At last we began to climb the Walsatch mountains, and then the scenery changed. These mountains are noted for their coal, and we passed several large mines. Here we had another climb, but not such a long one as we had up the snow range. A large snow shed crowned the summit, where we dropped our extra engine, that had helped us up, and we started down the northern slope of these beautiful mountains, to the beautiful Salt Lake valley. It was ten o'clock when we reached Provo, a beautiful city nestling at the foot of the loveliest green mountains, with snowy crests. How can I describe the beauty of it all? with its narrow valley, laid out with pretty farms and neat buildings, lovely, well-kept gardens, and nice orchards, cows and sheep were pasturing up the mountain side, where beautiful streams of clear water came washing down from the melting snow above, and over all this lovely scenery a clear, blue sky, with the bright morning sun shining down upon it, and warming up the mountain breeze. Oh, it was all so beautiful! From Provo the valley widened out, until the mountains to the left disappeared altogether. But all along the farms were well-kept, and showed signs of prosperity.

At eleven o'clock we steamed into the great Salt Lake City. Here we found street cars, busses and cabs, the same as any city, but it differed from other cities, it was so well laid out. Every street and block was straight and well-proportioned. It was very clean looking, with pretty trees on either side of the streets. One thing looked so old-fashioned, a very few of the residences had more than two stories and a great number only one, and nearly all were built of a red stone, brought down from the mountains. The streets were all oval and paved with stone, and on either side pure streams of water were rushing along, which was so different from any other city I had ever seen. After securing a hotel, we visited the great Mormon temple, of course we were not allowed inside, but it was a beautiful building outside, all built of gray granite. A few feet from it sits a little house built of sun-dried brick, about fifteen feet square, the first meeting house they had when they came to the valley.

At two o'clock in the afternoon we took the first excursion train of the season to Salt Lake, which is about ten miles from the city. Here again I was disappointed. In the place of huge rocks and high shores I expected to see, everything was just the opposite, not a stone to be seen and no shore at all. Talk about bleak-looking places, you would think as you neared the lake, that they had a dreadful snowstorm, everything was white with salt. Here they had gathered up great heaps of salt. I don't know what use they make of it. As we near the lake, the railroad was built on piling, that at one time had been nearly covered with water, but the lake is drying up so fast that a beautiful pavilion that was built far out in the lake now stands close to shore. It was very comical to see the bathers first scoop a hole in the wet sand and then wait till it filled in with water before they were able to bathe. The pavilion at the lake is a beautiful building, every amusement imaginable, a large dancing hall, where the band was playing all the time, restaurants and booths, and all sorts of amusements, provided for the pleasure seekers. Late in the afternoon we returned to the city, and after strolling about the city and buying a few curiosities, we went to see Brigham Young's monument decorated, the following day (Sunday) was his birthday.

(To be continued.)

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness, Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

For The Intelligencer.

St. John's Eve

In a recent copy of The Intelligencer I read a selection with the above heading. Perhaps a short account of some of the practices observed on that festival in parts of Ireland and France, as well as their origin, may not be uninteresting to your readers.

In Brittany on St. John's Eve fires are lighted all over the country, until it is a blaze of illumination. The first one in a district sometimes being lighted by the priest, and sometimes by an angel, which is made to descend from the church spire, apply the torch, then, amid great applause, fly back again. The younger portion of the rejoicing peasantry dance most frantically around these fires, believing, we are told, that if they dance around nine before midnight they will be married during the year. Torches lit at these midsummer illuminations are carried around the cornfields, and their fragments religiously preserved as charms against lightning and nervous diseases.

Charlotte Elizabeth, in "Personal Recollections," describes a scene in Ireland, of which she was a witness. "On that great festival of the Irish peasantry, St. John's Eve, it is the custom, at sunset on that evening, to kindle immense fires throughout the country, built, like our fires, to a great height, the pile being composed of turf, logwood and such other combustible substances as they can gather. The turf yields a steady, substantial body of fire, the bogwood a most brilliant flame, and the effect of these great beacons blazing on every hill, sending up volumes of smoke from every point of the horizon, is very remarkable.

"Early in the evening the peasants began to assemble, all habited in their array, glowing with health, every countenance full of that sparkling animation and excess of enjoyment, that characterize the enthusiastic people of the land. I had never seen anything resembling it. * * *

"The fire being kindled, a splendid blaze shot up. * * *

"After a short pause, the ground was cleared in front of an old, blind piper, the very beau ideal of energy, drollery and shrewdness, who, seated on a low chair, with a well-plenished jug within his reach, screwed his pipes to the liveliest tunes, and the endless jig began.

"But something was to follow that puzzled me not a little. When the fire burned for some hours and got low, an indispensable part of the ceremony commenced. Everyone present of the peasantry passed through it, and several children were thrown across the sparkling embers, while a wooden frame of some eight feet long, with a horse's head fixed to one end, and a large, white sheet thrown over it, concealing the wood, and the man on whose head it was carried made its appearance. This was greeted with loud shouts as the 'white horse'; and having been safely carried, by the skill of its bearer, several times through the fire with a bold leap, it pursued the people, who ran screaming in every direction. I asked what the horse was meant for, and was told it represented 'all cattle'."

Does not this remind the reader of grim Moloch's votaries passing through the fire, as well as making their children do the same? Are not these practices relics of the worldwide system of idolatry that originated in Chaldea, and carried by the scattered people of Shinar into every part of the earth, and incorporated into every religion, outside of the revealed. What is the "T." to form which "young maidens place their slippers at right angles" on this eve, but the initial letter of Tammuz, the lamented one, identified as the founder of this great Babylonian apostasy, whose worship can be traced in the Druidism of the British Isles, and the far distant Aztec and other systems of America, as well as in nearly every other religion of heathendom, this same initial "T," becoming the type of the Roman gibbet on which our blessed Lord was crucified.

But whence came these undoubtedly Pagan rites to be connected with the name of the forerunner of Christ? How came Paganism to be engrafted on a system that taught its followers to have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness?

The enquiry is a curious and a sad one, and opens up a terrible chapter in the history of human depravity.

DEE.

NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS AND EXHAUSTED.

Not sick enough to lay up, but you are out of sorts, blood is weak, nerves unstrung, kidneys deranged, vitality is low. You should take Ferrozone at once; it will enrich, strengthen and purify the blood, invigorate and pacify the nerves, and increase your energy, vitality and power. Ferrozone will renew your appetite and digestion, make you sleep soundly—in fact will make you well. Try Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50; at druggists, or J. S. McKeown's.

Missionaries Told to Go.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 29.—Letters received in Hendricks County from Everett Morgan and wife, missionaries at Cotovci, Mexico say that the natives have warned them to leave the city by Sept. 17 on pain of being put to death.

The letters say they are not the only ones whose lives are in peril. They have appealed to the authorities at Washington, but expect to leave Cotovci.

TO FIGHT SHIP TRUST.

British Government Completes Plan Against Morgan.

London, Aug. 29.—The Daily Mail yesterday morning said it believed the Government's plan for meeting the Morgan shipping combination is now completed and that the Government departments are discussing and working on the details. The plan is in charge of the Colonial Office, says the paper, which fact is an augury for thoroughness and efficiency.

Steel Trust International.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The combination of American and English steel and iron exporting interests continues to supply food for discussion.

The announcement is made by way of prelude that the English, American, Belgian and German steel mills have arrived at an agreement to export steel rails to Canada, of which the United States and English works supply 116,660 tons and the German and Belgian works 58,000 tons.

Proud of His Origin.

London, Aug. 29.—"It is useless," Sir Wilfrid Laurier said Wednesday, "to speculate what might have been had Canada continued under the French regime. It was under the eyes of England that French-Canadians had cultivated a worship of France, and if France had inspired that worship Canadians had preserved it and Great Britain had respected it."

The Candian Premier added that though a British subject he was proud of his origin and everything concerning France interested him.

Fails to Swim the Channel.

Dover, Aug. 29.—Montagu Holbein, the English swimmer, who set out Wednesday from the French shore for the third time, in an attempt to swim across the English Channel, failed. He was taken out of the water when a mile from Dover. Holbein had to be helped out of the water, being too exhausted to struggle any longer against the westward tide. He stayed in the water twenty-two hours and twenty-one minutes. He says he will not try again.

Third Arbitrator Chosen.

Hamilton, Aug. 29.—Yesterday morning William Bell and W. G. Reid, the arbitrators chosen respectively by the Cataract Power Company and the Electrical Workers' Union, to arbitrate on the question of hours and wages, agreed on H. N. Kittson, the third arbitrator. He has consented to act. The arbitrators will not meet to consider the questions before them till next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Girls Work in the Fields.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Miss Carlyle, inspector of factories where female labor is employed, has returned from a trip through Western Ontario, and reports that all the factories she visited were exceedingly busy. In many places farmers' daughters were employed, and these, having been taken home during the past few weeks to work at the harvest, has caused a marked scarcity of hands in the factories.

SOLDIERS AND MINERS CLASH

Five Prisoners in the Guard House at 12 Regiment Camps.

Matters Commencing to Look More Serious Than Expected—Two Mine Guards and Two Strikers Killed in a Battle at Crane Creek—Situation Very Acute at New River Strike District, West Va.

Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 29.—The first clash between the striking miners and the troops occurred yesterday morning, and, as a result, five prisoners are in the guard house at the 12th Regiment camp, and Capt. J. Beaver Gearhardt of Company F, 12th Regiment, is suffering from a wound in the shoulder, made by a stone thrown by a striker.

Two Strikers Killed.

Roanoke, Va., Aug. 29.—Advices received at the general offices of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company from the coal fields say that two mine guards and two strikers, were killed in a battle on Crane Creek, in Mercer County, W. Va. yesterday morning. ...

Situation Acute.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 29.—The troops ordered to the New River strike district yesterday by Governor White arrived there during the afternoon, and established headquarters at Thurmond. The situation is very acute.

TENDERS TO BE ASKED.

For First 50 Miles of Temiskaming Railway to Be Completed by Dec. 31, 1903.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The Temiskaming Railway Commission met Thursday afternoon. Specifications for tenders were gone over, and it was decided to advertise for tenders for the construction of the road. They will be advertised for up to Sept. 28, the conditions being that the first fifty miles will be completed by Dec. 31, 1903, and the whole road finished by Dec. 31, 1904.

The route has been decided on in accordance with the report of the engineer, Mr. Russell, which was approved by the report of G. A. Mountain of Ottawa, the consulting engineer.

The exact location of the tracks for the first three miles out of North Bay was left in abeyance, however, until the commissioners pay a visit to the town in order to be convinced themselves as to the best point of entrance. Under the circumstances it is not known yet whether the construction work will be started from North Bay or Nipissing Junction, some five or six miles north.

The whole length of the projected route is 110 miles.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickles

Crosse & Blackwell's Mixed Pickles,
" " Chow Chow.
" " White Onions.
" " Girkins.
" " Walnuts.
" " Soho Pickles.
" " Chutneys, etc.

Heintz's Sweet Midget Gherkins.
" Sweet Pickles.
" Sweet Mixed Pickles.
" Mixed Pickles.

Williams Bros. Sweet Gherkins.
Bow Park Pickles, etc., etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickling Vinegars Finest Quality

Pure White Wine Vinegar.
Pure Cider Vinegar.
Pure English Malt Vinegar, etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickling Spices Pure & Fresh

WHOLE OR GROUND SPICES of the finest quality.
Also Garlic, Turmeric, Bay Leaves Celery Seed, Mustard Seed, Currie Powder, etc., etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Flour

HIGH GRADE BREAD AND PASTRY FLOUR. . . . .

Rathbun's Crown Jewel.
" Diadem.
" Family.
And Other Popular Brands at Lowest Prices.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.
Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER
Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte.
may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville;
Office—8 Campbell Street.
MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,
Barrister, &c.
Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.,
Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St, Belleville, Ont.
'Phone 87.
E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.
Money to Loan—Private Funds, Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,
(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.,
Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.
Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE
At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.
JAMES A. CHISHOLM,
Office Ashley Block, • Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.
Guardian . . . Est'd 1821
The North America, . Est'd 1792
Quebec, . . . Est'd 1818
City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.
R. W. ADAMS, Agent.
Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life Insurance cannot do better than consult
W. J. THOMSON,
who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:
ROYAL. ALLIANCE.
OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE
Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. ocs-d&w

THOS. STEWART,
Insurance and Commission Agent.
Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.
BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned
can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.
The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co
The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.
The Equity Fire Ins. Co.
Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.
Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.
H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.
Liverpool & London & Globe of England.
Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,
Lloyd's Plate Glass.
Home Life Association, Toronto,
North British & Mercantile.
Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.
W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville,
'Phone 168.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont,

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,
Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office,
Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St,
Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited), by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403 Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

The World's Greatest Choir.

Russia boasts of the world's greatest choir. It is in the cathedral of Alexander Nevski in St. Petersburg and is attached to a convent erected in honor of the patron saint of Russia. Its members are all monks chosen from the best voices in all the Russian monasteries. When a fine singer appears among the novitiates, he is sent to the monastery of Alexander Nevski, where he is trained as carefully as an opera singer and remains there, doing nothing except assisting at the music at mass in the morning and vespers in the afternoon until he becomes aged, when he retires on a pension. Some of the voices are of marvelous strength and sweetness, and it is said that some members of the choir can shatter a thin glass into fragments by singing into it, so powerful are the vibrations of their tones. The monks are all vegetarians. They never eat meat. The rules of the church forbid them to shave, and their hair is worn like a woman's.

The Jellyfish.

The bay of Naples abounds in meduse or jellyfish, often growing as large as two feet in diameter and weighing fifty and sixty pounds. Some of them shine at night with a greenish light and are known as "noctiluca" (night lanterns) by the natives. The jellyfish sometimes make migrations in great groups, sometimes so large and so thick as to impede the navigation of vessels, like the floating plants in the Sargasso sea of the tropics. These shoals of medusæ, as they are called, may be so dense that a piece of timber plunged in among them will be held upright as if stuck in the mud, and ordinary rowboats cannot force their way through them. Their migrations have never been explained. They are irregular and occur at no particular season of the year and under no particular influences.

What Some Names Mean.

The following gives the meaning of the names of the principal highland clans in Scotland:

McIntosh, the son of the First.
McDonald, the son of Brown Eyes.
McDougall, the son of Black Eyes.
McConnechy or Duncan, the son of Brown Head.
McGregor, the son of a Greek man.
McCuithbert, the son of the Arch Druid.
McKay, son of the Prophet.
Campbell, Crooked Mouth.
Cameron, Crooked Nose.
Stewart, His Stay or Support.

A Correction.

When President Blanco's administration in Venezuela was overturned, that official, who, report said, had accumulated great wealth while in office, went to Paris. He was strolling in a boulevard in the French capital when a passing pedestrian arrested the pace of his companion and said: "See that man? He stole $3,000,000 when his government was overthrown." Quick as a flash Senor Blanco turned. "Beg pardon, sir," he said icily, "but it was $5,000,000."

The Real Thing.

"Is this your writing?" asked the merchant as he glanced over a written list of goods wanted.

"No," replied Mr. Meeker; "my wife wrote the list."

"Well, she certainly knows how to handle a pen," said the merchant. "Her diction is absolutely perfect."

"Yes, I suppose her diction's all right," replied Meeker, with a deep sigh, "but it's nothing when compared with her contradiction."

Rough Diamonds.

There is a popular notion to the effect that rough diamonds are not bright, but this is a mistake. Even in that condition they are very bright, with a peculiar "adamantine luster," as it is called, which no other substance possesses. However, the crude diamond crystal is not transparent. One cannot see through it.

That Was What Annoyed Him.

Mrs. Homeleigh—There is one thing about our girls—they are always self possessed.

Papa Homeleigh (grimly)—Yes, they are too self possessed. I wish they'd get some one else to possess them.—Stray Stories.

They Retused Free Medicine.

AVOIDED THE LUMBERMAN'S HOSPITAL AND CURED THEMSELVES BY USING

Lumbermen prove their confidence in Dr. Chase by buying his remedies and using them instead of the hospital treatment supplied them without cost. An interesting letter.

Mr. John L. Hickey, now caretaker of the Public and High Schools, Trenton, Ont., stated;—"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and found them the greatest medicine I ever tried. I used them when in the lumber camps and believe by keeping the kidneys and bowels regular and the general health good that they protect a person from catching contagious diseases which are so common in the camps.

"I have seen hundreds of men using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the lumber camps. They buy them by the dozen when going in, and to show how much faith they have in them they buy them when they could get their medicine for nothing by going to the hospital camp. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills keep my liver, kidneys and bowels regular and my health good. I would not think of being without them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

FRUIT CANNING.

Easy Home Methods—Going by Measure Rather Than Weight.

Many housekeepers prefer to go by measure rather than by weight when canning fruit for winter. In some instances indeed this is a matter of compulsion rather than preference, as not every kitchen can boast of a pair of scales among its furnishings. Most of the recipes given for preparing fruit require one or more of the ingredients to be weighed, but the directions reproduced here from Table Talk are restricted to measures as much as possible.

Blackberries and blueberries require one teacupful each of water and sugar to every quart of fruit by actual measurement. Make a thin sirup of the water and one-half the sugar. When it boils, skim and add the fruit. Let it simmer gently for five minutes, add the rest of the sugar, let it come to a boil again, can and seal at once. Press the berries gently under the sirup while cooking, but do not break or mash them. Add the juice of a lemon to every three quarts of blueberries. Can elderberries exactly as directed for blueberries, only omitting half the amount of water.

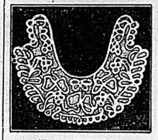
Damsons, green gages and yellow gages require a cupful and a half of sugar to each quart of fruit. Puncture each plum two or three times with a darning needle, place in layers with the sugar and let stand over night. In the morning bring slowly to the boiling point and let simmer until the fruit is tender, but not broken; skim and seal.

Peaches should be thinly pared or skinned in boiling water, halved, stoned and thrown into cold water. For every four quarts of peaches make a sirup with two cupfuls of sugar and four cupfuls of water. When it boils, drain the peaches from the cold water, put them in the sirup, bring it quickly to the boiling point, then remove to the back of the range and let simmer very gently until tender, but not soft. Seal at once.

In canning pears use the same proportions of fruit, sugar and water as directed for peaches. Pare and halve the pears and cook them in boiling water until tender, then drain and add them to the boiling sirup. Let simmer for five minutes and seal.

An Easily Made Lace Collar.

For summer use turndown and broad, flat collars have become quite fashionable. A design for one which is particularly of interest to the novice in lacemaking because it gives a pretty effect without much work is reproduced from Good Housekeeping.



NET AND POINT COLLAR.

The net should be carefully basted on the pattern. Then follow the pattern carefully with the braid, basting first. Use 200 thread and a short, fine needle to sew the braid on with. Use extreme care in sewing the braids on the net, as the slightest drawing or puckering ruins the work instantly. Should more elaborate work be required cobwebs around the border, cutting the web from under the stitches, produce a lovely effect.

Piano Drudgery.

The practice of scales, arpeggios and five finger exercises is counted drudgery by most young students of the piano, and because they hate exercises and neglect their practice we have many unfinished pianists whose playing might give more pleasure to themselves and others if they could learn to make this drudgery a pleasure.

Young people, you should put love in all that you do. "How can I love what I hate and despise?" you ask. This seems a paradox, yet it is not impossible. By doing everything as well as it can be done or at least as well as it is possible for you to do it at that time you will gradually learn to love your task.

The reason of this is not hard to find. When we aim at perfection, we aspire. Aspiration is the attitude in which we should live, and it brings us rewards that others never know. Many would like to do great things well, but not many are willing to try to do small things well, which alone makes it possible to do great things well.—Etude.

Cream Filling For Chocolate Cake.

For a delightful chocolate creme filling for layer cake try the following: One and a quarter squares of chocolate, one cupful of sugar, three-quarters of a cupful of flour, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of milk, two eggs and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Melt the chocolate in a double boiler; mix the sugar and flour, salt and milk, and add the two eggs slightly beaten. Cook the mixture fifteen minutes in a double boiler, then add the chocolate and one teaspoonful of vanilla. When cold, spread between the layers of cake.

Blackberry Jam.

Allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of berries. Put the berries in a preserving kettle, mash them until enough juice flows to prevent burning, then heat slowly and mash until all are broken. Cook twenty minutes, then add the sugar and cook ten minutes longer. Put into small jars or tumblers and seal.

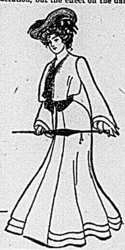
GOWNS OF THE DAY.

SMART COSTUMES WORN BY RIVER, HILL AND SHORE.

Markedly New Points In the Latest Frocks—The Narrowest of Plain Fronts.—Elaboration at the Hem. The Multiplication of Skirts.

Gowns more or less on the sailor model for the river and the shore loom up among the important fashions of the day. The toilet in special demand must be a smart one, which will bear at once the scrutiny of critical eyes and the chance exigencies of the weather.

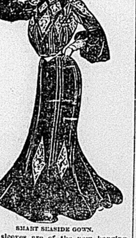
Bearing these latter in mind, experience dictates wool as the principal factor. Silk, linen or cotton or mixtures of any of them are perfectly charming where neither crushing nor splashes have to be taken into consideration, but the effect on the daintiest toilet of either after some hours of a somewhat cramped posture in a boat or the mildest impromptu shower bath has been encountered is distinctly uninviting. Also wisdom advises the adoption of some form of bolero or coat worn over the thinnest of silk slips, for sudden chills or unexpected winds are apt to come up.



LATEST THING IN A PLAIN GOWN.

Two marked features in the latest gowns are evident to the observant eye. The first is the prevalence of the narrowest of plain front gores in skirts, elaboration at the hem in the shape of flounces, strappings, embroideries or, newest of all, an apparent multiplication of underskirts, starting from either side of it. The second is the rage for little inner vests to open coats of all descriptions, these latter sometimes taking the form of practically a straight, narrow slip, almost after the fashion of an officer's mess jacket, sometimes formed practically into a cravat.

Very charming is the effect of the accompanying sketch, which shows both these details carried out in white serge or cloth with the knotted cravat vest in pale blue silk spotted with white and a corselet band of the same and one which, while keeping on lines of almost utilitarian simplicity, yet strikes a note of reasonable smartness. The skirt has its plain unbroken front gore cut to spread gracefully at the feet and forms at the sides and back two simulated underskirts. The back is absolutely plain at the waist, falling into a narrow fold either side of the center some six inches down. The coat is the smartest of sack boleros, guiltless of color, as indeed are most of the up to date coats, and fits slightly into the figure at the back to fall in undulating folds in the front.



SMART SEASIDE GOWN.

The sleeves are of the new hanging shape, with simulated undersleeves to correspond with the skirt.

Less on the tailor made and workaday order is the seaside gown of the second cut, which is by no means limited to the sphere of usefulness indicated by its name. Its diamond lace and narrow velvet ribbon garniture illustrate two very favorite items of fashion in general.

This gown is of geranium red veiling, etamine or foulard, lined with white taffeta and set off with spaced set of tucks and graduated diamond lozenges. Uncommon three-quarter sleeves fit tight from shoulder to elbow and fall very full down to the long kid gloves. The pointed belt is of white moire to harmonize in color with the lace.

PIKE AND MUSKELLUNGE.

How You May Easily Tell Them Apart by Their Markings.

In the muskellunge the upper half of cheek and gill cover is scaled, the lower half being naked. The pike has a gill cover scaled like the 'lunge's, but the entire cheek is scaled. The eastern and grass pickerel have cheek and gill covers scaled all over. Hence, if only the upper half of the fish's cheek is scaled, it is a 'lunge; if the entire cheek and half the gill cover show scales, the specimen is a great northern pike.

Young muskellunge are distinctly spotted with blackish on a greenish or grayish ground. The mature fish shows less distinct markings, although they usually are discernible in the region of the tail. I have, however, seen big, old fish upon which the eye could detect no spot, the general color being grayish green, with a few dim reflections. Again I have seen fine fish of a nondescript tint, as like that of an old, dry rubber boot as anything I can think of.

The young and old of the great northern pike have the sides marked with oval whitish or yellowish spots several shades lighter than the ground color; hence a fish with spots darker than the ground color is a 'lunge; with lighter spots, a northern pike.

The Oldest British Game.

In one form or another football, the oldest British game, has existed for centuries. Some see it in the game "harpaston," played by the Greeks, the name of which, they say, by derivation, suggests that the ball might be seized and carried into goal. No trace of the game, as now understood, is found outside of Britain, but in England it has flourished for centuries. Shrove Tuesday, in olden times, was the great annual football day, when the fun was fast and furious, shops and houses being closed for fear of damage and both sexes and all ages taking part.

Fitzstephen in his "History of London, 1175," makes the earliest mention of the game in England. He tells us of young men of the city annually going into the fields after dinner to play at the well known game of ball on Shrove Tuesday. Traditions of Chester and Derby bear this out, where it was long the custom to do the same, Chester's first ball being the head of a Dane.

What He Wanted to Know.

It may not be generally known, but a certain prominent resident belongs to a family in which he is one of twenty-four brothers and sisters, sixteen of whom are now living. There were two mothers in the family, the first having eleven children and the second thirteen. The man in question belongs to the second group. One of his sisters grew to maturity, married, had seven children and died before he was born. He was an uncle before birth and a great-uncle at five years of age. It is said that when the latter event came to pass and the youngster was informed that he was now really and truly a great-uncle he who had been an uncle for five long years cocked his features into an expression of sadness and replied, "That may be all right, but when am I going to be a gran'pa?".

An Insinuation.

It was a warm Sunday morning in church. Fans were fluttering, hymnals flopping, handkerchiefs mopping streaming faces, and the minister thought his audience a little lax in attention. Finally he led up to a rebuke for its lack of consideration for sacred and important things. Said he:

"People are prone to attend to the unimportant things of life.".

And he gave a few examples to illustrate his idea. Presently he made his pertinent application.

"Now," said he, "you are attentive to your own comfort this morning, to the sinful neglect of the holy word. Take no thought for the heat," he said dramatically, "for you may be dead tomorrow."

Influence of Chess.

If a Scottish scientist is to be believed, the people of those countries in which chess is most frequently played are invariably more civilized than those who inhabit countries in which little attention is paid to this great game.

The best chess players in the world, he points out, were to be found in Spain during the period of its splendor and in Italy during the renaissance, whereas today there are few persons in those countries who care for the game.

Noisy Fish.

Many fish can produce musical sounds. The red gurnard has earned the name of seacock from the crowing noise which it makes, while another species is called the piper. Others, notably two species of ophidium, have sound producing apparatus, consisting of small movable bones, which can be made to produce a sharp rattle. The curious "drumming" made by the Mediterranean fish known as the maigre can be heard from a depth of thirty fathoms.

The Bee's Market Basket.

Every bee carries his market basket around his hind legs. Any one examining the body of a bee through a microscope will observe that on the hind legs of a bee there is a fringe of stiff hairs on the surface, the hairs approaching each other at the tips so as to form a sort of cage. This is the bee's basket.

There is nothing more expensive than experience and nothing of which there is more sold.

There are 25,000 pores in the hand of man.

THE PUBLIC should bear in mind that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has nothing in common with the impure, deteriorating class of so-called medicinal oils. It is eminently pure and really efficacious—relieving pain and lameness, stiffness of the joints and muscles, and sores or hurts, besides being an excellent specific for rheumatism, coughs and bronchial complaints.

Many beds have the appearance of comfort, but no amount of clothing can warm a cold heart.

A WONDERFUL CURE.—Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes; "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. About a year ago I took a very severe cough, had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one-half, the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done, it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the Vegetable Discovery, the biliousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Half fare on the railroad is the next best thing to a pass.

The Flagging Energies Revived.—Constant application to business is a tax upon the energies, and if there be not relaxation, lassitude and depression are sure to intervene. These come from stomachic troubles. The want of exercise brings on nervous irregularities, and the stomach ceases to assimilate food properly. In this condition Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will be found a recuperative of rare powder, restoring the organs to healthful action, dispelling depression, and reviving the flagging energies.

The man who can keep his mouth shut has the best of the argument with all women.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is a speedy cure for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera, summer complaint, sea sickness and complaints incidental to children teething. It gives immediate relief to those suffering from the effects of indiscretion in eating unripe fruit, cucumbers, etc. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to conquer the disease. No one need fear cholera if they have a bottle of this medicine convenient.

Sometimes the most charitable view of others is that they ought to be in the insane asylum.

Sleeplessness.—When the nerves are unstrung and the whole body gives up to wretchedness, when the mind is filled with gloom and dismal forebodings, the result of derangement of the digestive organs, sleeplessness comes to add to the distress. If only the subject could sleep, there would be the oblivion for a while and temporary relief. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will not only induce sleep, but will act so beneficially that the subject will wake refreshed and restored to happiness.

The wonder is there are not more kicking horses, since there are so many men who kick without discrimination.

These two desirable qualifications, pleasant to the taste and at the same time effectual, are to be found in Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, Children like it.

A peppery temper is not a thing to be sneezed at.

When all other preparations fail, try Holloway's Corn Cure. No pain whatever, and no inconvenience in using it.

People who sleep with sin will not be able to wash away the marks of it.

To get relief from indigestion, biliousness, constipation or torpid liver without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, take a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills, they will please you.

In the British Army 129 officers are qualified as interpreters in French, 106 in Russian, 81 in German, but only one in Dutch.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

Icebergs in the North Atlantic usually appear about February 15 and are seen more or less frequently until about June 15.

They make one feel as though life was worth living. Take one of Carter's Little Liver Pills after eating; it will relieve dyspepsia, aid digestion, give tone and vigor to the system.

Up to the present slower progress is being made with the construction of the Edward VII. than of any warship built at Davenport.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Wedding and Funeral
FLOWERS
At COLLIP'S.

THE TRAVELLER'S OVERCOAT.

This is the season of the year for travelling. Excursion rates will be on, and thousands of people will go from this district to attend the different fairs.

What we want to say is this:—You must have a nice light overcoat to travel with, and we have exactly the right thing in our new raglan waterproof and light overcoat combined. This coat we have had made especially for us, and it is right up-to-date in every particular. Two colors, dark grey and fawn, and lined throughout. These coats are nice and soft and guaranteed to stay so, should one go hard, we will refund the price in full. The price on this best coat is only $10.

Should you want a cheaper one, see what we are offering at $2.50, $3.00 and $5.00.

OAK HALL,
THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR
Opens Sept. 1st, closes 13th.
Holiday seekers will find full lines of Trunks and Travelling Bags
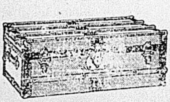
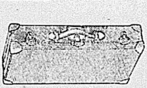
AT LOWEST PRICES
AT OUR STORE . . . .



Basket Trunks
Steamer Trunks
Round and
Flat Top Trunks
Bags, Telescope Valises, Shawl Straps
Address Tags, Suit Cases
AT ALL PRICES.

THE BAGGAGE SMASHER
They started for an outing,
They traveled night and day
In mountains, vales and cities
As long as they could stay.

But when their journey ended
The baggage man looked blue,
Because that trunk they bought from us
Was just as good as new.



The J. J. HAINES
SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton

Daily Intelligencer.

CANADIAN AUSTRALIAN CABLE

TO BE COMPLETED CHRISTMAS.

The following important statement appeared in the Montreal Star of the 26th August:

"By Christmas people in Great Britain will be able to send their holiday greetings to their kith and kin at the Antipodes—to the Australian and New Zealand colonies, and vice versa," is the important announcement made to-day by Mr. James Kent, manager of the C.P.R. telegraphs. Mr. R. E. Peake, the electrician of the Canadian-Australian cable, is expected here next week and will proceed at once to the coast to superintend the landing of the cable at Bamfield, B. C., on Vancouver Island. This section of over 3,000 nautical miles from Fanning Island will then be completed. The cable steamer, Colonia, left London on the 5th of August, via the Suez Canal, with the balance of the unlaid sections, and it is hoped to have the Canadian end landed at Bamfield by the time the Colonia arrives. The connection from Brisbane, Suva, has been completed and is now in operation, the rate between these points being 36 cents a word. The cable steamer Anglia, laid the section from Brisbane to Norfolk Island, from which point the deep sea cable was stretched in the ocean bed to New Zealand, thence to Suva, Fiji. The Colonia brings about 4,000 miles of cable and at once commences paying out to Fanning Island, where the other end will be brought by the Anglia. The total length of the cable is 8,000 nautical miles, allowing ten per cent. for slack. The longest stretch is from Klep Island, to Fanning Island, about 3500 miles, and the shortest sections from Fanning Island to Suva, Fiji, 2,093 miles, from Fiji to Norfolk, 963 miles, Norfolk to near Brisbane, Australia, 834 miles, and from Norfolk to the northern end of New Zealand, 537 miles.

All the receiving and sending instruments have arrived. The messages will be received on the siphon recorder and mirror instrument invented by Lord Kelvin, which is the most sensitive in the world. The duplex system of Dr. A. Muirhead, by which two messages, one from each end pass through the wire at once, will be employed on the southern section at least. Two repairing ships will be maintained constantly, as there is fear of damage by earthquakes on landslips in the vicinity of Fiji. One stationed at the Canadian end and the other near Fiji.

The Canadian Pacific telegraphs will handle the business from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

GOLDWIN SMITH ON CONTINENTAL TRADE.

Goldwin Smith, alias Bystander, is again preaching the policy of commercial and political union with the United States; and declares that "nature, common-sense, "and the real "interest of our whole people unmis-"ably point to the removal of the "Customs line between Canada and "the rest of the continent," and then he adds: "Canada needs liberty to "send her rich natural products to "the market which yearns for them "at the door, and to buy her manu-"factures in the market where, manu-"facturing being carried on upon the "largest scale, the goods are likely to "be the cheapest and the best."

This is but a re-vamping of the doctrine preached by Laurier and Cartwright for years, but, when they attained power, with the mandate of the people to test their professed principle, they proved not to have the courage of their professed conviction, hence we find Smith returning to the old cry.

Adopt this policy of sending all raw material out of the country—buy all required manufactured articles in the United States, and Canada would soon be minus all her manufacturing industries. Is that what Canada wants?

TIMELY TOPICS.

A BREEZY VISITOR.

"Hain't you got nothin' to do only look at papers? Say, I want you to ask the Council how much this City owes. There ain't a darned one of the Aldermen knows. Everybody knows, you say? Don't you believe it, sir. There ain't anybody knows. I know, and I've got the papers to prove it, too. I want you to ask 'em what become of the bonus to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Junction. I tell you this town is rotten, sir, just rotten, and it never will amount to anything till we get the right kind of people to run its affairs. Look at the Council we've got now. I put five of them in there, and I'm mortally ashamed of it. Said they'd run the town's business like they did their own. Why, if they run their business like they do the town's they'd be in the poorhouse in two years. Don't tell me. I know all about it, don't you know. I'll get after these fellows some day and put all their pictures and records in the Utica Globe. Now, there's Ald. Brown. He's a good enough man, but Lord, he's got no head for figures. The Mayor's all right. He means well, and I've helped him quite a bit, but the most of 'em are no good at all, no good at all. Why don't I run for Mayor myself? I'm going to, sir. I'm going to. And you just watch the fur fly when I get there."

And he went out leaving the newspaper man stunned and speechless.

• • •

Now that the fountain site has been picked out it will soon be time to pick out the Sir Gilbert Parker library site. And perhaps, by-and-by, the north end bridge and dam—or rather, dam and bridge site.

• • •

Many of our readers will peruse with interest the article on the schools of seventy years ago, by Mr. G. Orr, which appears in another column. The lot of a pedagogue in those days was not an ideal one—not by several jugsful.

• • •

New York police raided a church fair at the Church of the Guardian Angel, Coney Island, on Sunday, seized a wheel of fortune and arrested those running it. Isn't it sad to see church work interrupted in this shocking manner!

• • •

A curious fact is pointed out by a writer in the New York Tribune. In a Brooklyn school a number of the scholars have only half a day in school, owing to the school being crowded, and the ones who have the half day make quite as good progress as those who have the full day. This is simply another demonstration that long hours in school, especially in the case of young children, will often do more harm than good. How then, about those children who, after putting in a full day at school, are compelled to take lessons home with them to study at night?

Some educators are beginning to advance the idea that the scholars would gain quite as much in intellectual development, and a great deal more in physical health, if the school season began on the 1st of October, instead of the 1st of September, thus throwing into the vacation what is often the hottest and most enervating month of all.

• • •

Have you noticed how many accidents with binders there have been lately? The Grim Reaper seems to work in conjunction with the binder.

• • •

These are the days when the school teachers are gazing tearfully at the calendar. It must be awful to have to work again after eight weeks loaf!

• • •

Claus Spreckels, with $6,000,000, is going to start a sugar refinery in Montreal. That's a sweet story for the people in Canada's metropolis. He'll be a regular Santa Claus for them.

• • •

"Poor Louis Benmore," said a well-known society man this morning. "He was a gentleman, and everybody who knew him will regret to hear of his death. His case, by the way, furnishes an excellent argument in favor of fraternal and benefit societies. The local lodge to which he belonged has paid him over a thousand dollars since his illness. Yes, sir, nowadays it is the duty of every man to join a fraternal and benefit society of some kind. It's the best kind of way to provide for a rainy day."

• • •

It really looks as though the tide has turned in connection with the Rolling Mills. The letter from Mr. Whistler, which Ald. Sinclair received this morning, has the right ring. The old city has held its own for a long time, in the face of many adverse circumstances. It really looks as though a good time was coming. Let's all hope so. It will be a feather in the cap of the industrious Chairman of Industries.

• • •

Love never dies. Dr. Treadgold, a prominent physician, now a resident of Albion, Mich., and once a Methodist minister, has telegraphed from Toronto to his friends in Albion, the announcement of his marriage. Behind this fact lies a pretty romance. Mrs. Treadgold died some time ago. Her death became known in Canada, where Mr. and Mrs. Treadgold lived in their early married life. One evening about three months ago a rap was heard at the doctor's office door and a lady heavily veiled came in, calling him by his first name. She appeared astonished at his not knowing her and introduced herself as a sweetheart of his of over forty years ago. The old love was rekindled and the wedding is the sequel.

• • •

The London Express says: "A postcard written by Mr. John Davis, St. Leonards-on-Sea, and bearing the local postmark of February 8, 1875, was only delivered to Messrs. Manders and Co., Dublin, to whom it was addressed, on July 17 last. The Post office may be slow, but it prides itself on getting there—even if it is twenty-seven years doing it. No doubt, if there had been an extra fee for express delivery the postcard would have arrived a year or two sooner." This is quite equal to the despatch of business in the Belleville post office.

• • •

The extent to which the coal strikers in Pennsylvania are punishing the owners of mines is well put by the Charleston News. It says "The alleged loss to the operators of $27,000,000 cannot be figured out. Since no coal has been mined for eleven weeks past there have been no operating expenses to pay. Meantime the trust is selling its stock on hand of about 10,000,000 tons at an extra profit of at least $2 a ton, thus netting a $20,000,000 rake-off on account of the strike. The coal barons are not suffering." But the wives and children of the strikers are.

• • •

If asked to describe the most miserable man in the world one would point to him with plenty of money and nothing to do; no place to fill, no mission to serve; and his only object to gratify his own selfishness. Yet there are scores who would willingly be made miserable under such circumstances.

• • •

When the men now in power were in Opposition their stock in trade was a defence of provincial autonomy, and denunciation of the then Government for what they alleged was an encroachment on what they termed rights. Now they are disallowing provincial acts without the slightest regard to provincial autonomy. The result is Japan is vigorously protesting, and another British Columbian Act, is to be beheaded.

Ease of access, accommodation and health-giving Waters all combine to make the MAGI Caledonia Springs an ideal resort for the invalid or healthy.

• • •

DOES ANYBODY KNOW

Where on this earth you can find nicer weather than we are having at present?

How many people are going to run for Mayor next January?

When the fall concert season is going to open?

How many tons of hay the caretaker of the park has cut this season?

Why some of the sports don't have a road race on Labor Day?

If there will be a flagstaff on top of the new fountain?

What the P.M. does with all the fish he catches?

Where our old friend Fred Adams is?

Any other place which has so many useless mongrel dogs as Belleville?

What pleasure people find in catching fish two inches long off Queen Victoria Park?

How many ringers played on the Marmora Lacrosse team?

Why some of the young ladies who wear decollete dresses aren't afraid of getting consumption?

Where little boys who steal apples go to?

If the excursion boats have ever had a better season than the present has been?

UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF CATARRH.

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then its catarrh. Use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily and readicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed membranes, clears nose, throat and air passages by one application. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping, and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists.

Sports and Pastimes.

LACROSSE.

Marmora Defeats the Local Team.

The lacrosse match yesterday at Picton between the local team and a team representing Marmora village was hotly contested and resulted in a victory for the Marmora boys by a score of 5 to 2. In the early part of the match, Patterson, one of Belleville's best players, was compelled to retire, owing to a broken finger, caused by being struck heavily over the hand by a stick. A number of the players on both sides received some bad bruises, as the game at times was rather rough. There was a good crowd of spectators present to witness the contes. The local players were as follows: Goal, H. A. Fish; point, W. Hitchon; cover point, Patterson; defence field, I. Wallace, W. Cook and P. Allen; centre, J. A. McFee; home field, E. Ford, H. Burrell and "Bud" Bogart; outside home, Broley; inside home, H. McGuire; field captain, F. Panter.

The Last Sad Rites

The funeral of the late Mr. John Kerr, which took place this afternoon, was largely attended. A large number of the members of the Masonic fraternity were present to pay the last tribute of respect to their departed brother. Services were conducted at the house by the Rev. A. H. Drumm, pastor of the John Street Presbyterian church. The bearers were as follows: Messrs. J. McKeown, W. Webster, J. Cook, T. Walters, A. G. Northrup and N. Allen.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

Your Hair Perhaps your mother had thin hair, but that is no reason why you must go through life with half-starved hair. If you want long, thick, dark and heavy hair, feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. $1. All druggists. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

BOYS' SCHOOL CLOTHING

CAN WE PLEASE YOU

Is that the problem you are trying to solve? If it is let us help you. No question about it—the very liberality of this store's assortments and the certainty of the Quick & Robertson quality makes that certain. The choice we give you cannot be improved upon. Whatever's newest, stylish or right you'll find it here. This store has earned for itself the title "The Satisfaction Store." If you should happen to get a poor garment for your money (and that by the way is a rare occurrence), your money is yours again.

We must sell reliable clothing and none other, or if, perchance, you are not suited with your purchase, you may bring the goods back and your money is yours again, without questioning or without coaxing to take something else. Why shouldn't we please you? To-day we make special mention of Boys' Double-Breasted Two-Piece Suits At $2.00 and $2.75.

Made in colors that won't show soil for tree climbers, fence-boosters and any rough out-door play treatment. The cloth closely woven and will wear like leather. The linings in keeping with the high quality of the goods, every seam sewn with silk or linen thread, and so remote from competitors in price.

For Large Boys Age 10 to 17 years

Three-piece Suits, single or double-breasted coats, and at all prices from $2.25 to $8,00 will let you select the prettiest. These are all the newest weaves and latest colorings.

Don't misunderstand us, we don't say ours is the only clothing, what we claim is this, and we think we can convince you of it if you give us a chance, ours is the best for the money. Come and see.

Quick & Robertson.

Exclusive Agents for Johnston's Famous Make of Clothing

Charcoal

Charcoal Charcoal

Another shipment just to hand of the best grade hardwood charcoal, conveniently put up in paper sacks which we sell at

15 cents each or 25 cents for two

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Spectacles.

THEY'RE EYE HELPS IF RIGHT. EYE HURTERS AND HEADACHE-MAKERS, IF WRONG. . . . . .

Who but yourself can prevent your having them wrong if you don't get them at the right place? Not the average spectacle seller. His mission seems to be to get your nose harnessed with a pair that strikes your fancy and opens your purse.

It is by knowing the optical business thoroughly and attending to it properly that we hope to build and to keep a reputation.

ALEX. RAY.

Don't begin to smoke cigarettes and you will never have to quit it.

The Time To Use Perfume

is all the time, if it is the right kind. So delightful and delicate an odor as Lorna is never out of place and its use cannot but prove pleasing to refined people. We'll consider it a favor if you will ask us to show you Lorna whether you want to buy or not. Some time you'll want it and then you'll be glad you learned about Lorna.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

A Few Houses Painted With S-W-P

Bell Telephone Office, Bridge St.
Col. W. N. Ponton's, Trent Road.
J. T. Osborne's, Moira Street.
Charles Wallis', Moira Street.
Alf. Mathews', Geddes Street.
Jas. A. Rose's, Geddes Street.
E. G. Porter's, Dunbar Street.
Bert Frederick's, Everett Street.
James Hodge's, Everett Street.
Mrs. Abraham's, Elmer Street

Let us paint yours this Fall.

WATERS'

The meanest man living is the skilled hypocrite who uses religion to successfully work out his designs upon honest and simple-minded people.

It is claimed that the automobile will soon be put in the reach of all. It might be better to put everybody out of reach of the automobile.

There are small men in high places the world over.

A glutton is no better than a drunkard.

A woman will pray over what a man will swear at.

LATEST NEW YORK STOCK QUOTATIONS

AS FURNISHED TO THE INTELLIGENCER BY HAIGHT & FREESE CO'Y. STOCK BROKERS, NEW YORK, THROUGH THEIR LOCAL AGENCY.

New York, August 29.

STOCK	Op'g	H'st	L'st	Close.
Atchison	94⅜	95¼	94⅞	95¼
do. pref....	103½	105	103½	104⅞
C.P. R.	141¼	143	140⅞	142¾
U. S. Steel ..	41	41½	41	41½
do. pref....	90	90¼	89⅞	90¼
W. Union	94¼	95½	94¼	95¼
Pa	104¼	104½	101⅜	104⅜
Manhattan ..	135¼	136¼	135¼	135½
Erie	41½	41⅜	41¼	41½
do pref.	71	71	70¼	70¼
L. & N	153⅜	154¾	153⅜	154¼
Mo. P.	116½	117¼	116½	116¼
Nor.	72	73¾	72	73¼
N. Y. C.....	163½	164¼	163¾	163½
Reading	68⅞	70½	68⅜	69¾
do pref....	86⅞	86⅞	86½	86½
St. Paul ...	185	187	185¾	185⅜
South Pac. ..	77	77¼	70⅞	77¼
Sou. Ry.....	39⅞	40	39¼	39⅞
Union. Pac. .	112¼	113	112¼	112⅞
Amn. Loco..	33¼	34	33	33¼
do. pref...	95¼	95¾	95½	95½
Penna	162	162¾	161⅞	162¼
O. & W.	35¼	35⅞	35⅜	35⅞
Sugar	131⅛	132	131½	131¼
D.S	23	23	22½	22½
B & O......	114⅜	114¾	113¾	114½
Texas......	52½	53¼	52½	53⅛

Sept. wheat opened at 69 3-4, closed at 70 3-8.

Sept. corn opened at 56, closed at 57 1-8.

(Changed daily)

Friday, August 29, 1902.

SCHOOL BOOKS

And we are in the very front ranks with a splendid army of ENGLISH School Books, every book up to the standard size and quality, and WE'RE SURE TO WIN THE BATTLE. (We have never lost a School Book battle yet, don't mean to start losing now.

OUR ARMY

Is composed of an excellent staff of clerks—the students of all Public Schools in the city, students of High School and Albert College pupils from all rural schools, and the fathers and mothers of this vast throng.

OUR WEAPONS

Are the very best books printed, the best supplies, cut prices, and 1000 pounds of cream candy to be given away to School Book buyers. Pencil Boxes and Rulers free also.

AS TO CUT PRICES.

All 7c Copy Books for 5c.
20c 2nd Readers for 15c.
30c 3rd Readers for 15c.
30c Histories for 25c.
ALL 5c DRAWING BOOKS FOR 4c.
A BAG OF CANDY
With a 25c purchase.
TWO BAGS CANDY
With $1 purchase.
FIVE CANDIES
With 5c purchase.
ONE CANDY
With 1c purchase.

We don't want to miss anyone. All together, now.

A PROBLEM IN ARITHMETIC—

How many bags of candies will we give away during school opening week?

THERE WERE 612 PROMOTIONS.

THERE ARE ABOUT 1,400 SCHOLARS IN CITY SCHOOLS.

From these figures you can estimate, and with every 25c purchase you can have registered with us an estimate. The 5 correct or 5 nearest correct will receive the following prizes:

1st prize—$5 gold piece.
2nd prize—$4 fountain pen.
3rd prize—$3 fountain pen.
4th prize—$2 fountain pen.
5th prize—$1.50 fountain pen.
Every 25c purchase 1 estimate.
Every $1 purchase 4 estimates.

No guessing, estimate carefully.

C. B. Scantlebury

Headquarters for School Books

The brilliancy of a society leader depends largely on her jewel box.

Many a self-possessed girl would like to be possessed by someone else.

Five Little Minutes are all the time Perry Davis' Painkiller needs to stop a stomachache, even when it is sharp enough to make a strong man groan. Don't be fooled by imitations. 25c and 50c.

Some people would rather chew the rag than swallow their pride.

TEACHING SCHOOL WAS NO SNAP IN A. D. 1832

REMINISCENCES OF EARLY SCHOOL LIFE IN A COUNTRY SCHOOL SEVENTY YEARS AGO.

(For The Daily Intelligencer.)

In the year 1832 the first school house was built in the second concession of the township of Thurlow, 1 3-4 miles east of the G.T.R. station. It was built of unhewn logs and finished in the most primitive fashion. Writing desks around the sides, with long benches for the children to sit on. This house served as a school house, meeting house and the place where all the public business of the neighborhood was transacted, until the year 1858, when the brick school house was erected directly across the road. I have a vivid recollection of all the early school teachers and their varied peculiarities. Each one had his own method, and generally repudiated the methods of his predecessors. The teachers were generally engaged for three months. The neighborhood could at that time raise from 12 to 15 children of sufficient age to attend school. The teacher received from $1.50 to $2.00 per quarter of a year for each child subscribed for; so it will be seen that the teacher's salary amounted to about, say from $6 to $8 per month and board. Each family boarded the teacher one week for each child subscribed for. The studies consisted of reading, writing and arithmetic.

Spelling was greatly in vogue, and we had spelling school one evening each week. Sides were chosen, leaders having been appointed. The word proposed by the teacher passed from side to side until properly spelled, the party failing dropped out. Visitors were invited and took part in the contest. Jaw-breakers (excuse the slang) were in requisition. Then, we had what was called capping contests. Sides were chosen as in the spelling contests. Words of two or more sylables commencing with a particular letter was used for the time being. The children had to depend on memory to find words, and it was surprising what a number of the children were so well prepared, and equal to the occasion. If a word was used that had already been used or if mispelled the party took their seat. We had some fairly good, industrious teachers, and others who had hobbies of their own manufacture. There was Mr. D—— who had such unbounded faith in the "rule of three," as a solvent of the most abstruse problems. It was said he undertook to "Square the Circle" by that three cornered rule, but that he failed; that he did not succeed, I am inclined to think was true. Then we had a Mr. A——, who represented himself as an ex-soldier, who served under Bonaparte in his last campaign, and was engaged at Waterloo. He said he was born a British subject, but how he came to enlist under "Bony" he did not explain. He took no interest in teaching. His principal business in life appeared to be to see that he got something good to eat, and a good deal of it. In boarding from house to house he did not at all times fare alike. He was continually grumbling and complaining. His reputation in this respect soon become the property and gossip of the neighborhood. One of the neighbors declared that when he came to his his place to board they would try and be prepared for him, and would give him a fair opportunity to commit suicide if he felt so inclined. Well, come he did; they did not "kill the fatted calf," but instead a fine, fat sheep. And now our teacher went in for business with a will during that week. Well, when the week was ended what had happened; was it a suicide? Well, no; but he had just cleaned out that establishment, swept the board, and come off as plump as a partridge. Innocent people, surely to imagine that with such ammunition, they could "knock out" the invulnerable veteran of Waterloo. Our lives are made up of sunshine and shadow, so it was with our hero. He has enjoyed a week of sunshine. Now for the shadow. A dark cloud is already far above the horizon. The family where he was destined to board the following week had decided on pursuing a very different course, as the sequel will show. Towards the close of the next week the teacher on his way to school met a neighboring man, who saluted him with "Good morning Mr. A——, how goes it? I hear you are boarding at Mr. L——'s this week; I understand they live well there." This salutation well nigh took away the teacher's breath. "Live well?" gasped the excited teacher, "live well, eh! Buttermilk pop and buttermilk pop to it, do you call that good living? If you do, I don't." It was quite apparent that the failing process had set in; his system was drawing on the surplus energy accumulated during the previous week. However, he struggled on, and with his remaining strength tickled the backs of the children, especially the innocent offspring of the Pop family, as he called them, with liberal applications of that "Magic wand" the rod of correction, in order to dissipate that inborn foolishness bound up in their hearts, a pastime strongly recommended by Israel's king. He, however, completed his engagement and took the road in search of pastures new. Not many years afterward we learned he had departed this life; peace to his ashes. Now, might not this man have had some kindly feelings hidden deep beneath the outer crust; perhaps he had—let us be charitable. The inhabitants of that neighborhood living at that time, have almost passed away, young and old; the survivors at the present day can be numbered by the fingers on one hand. A proverb says,

"All things shall pass away,"
Like human life, when clay returns to clay;
All being therefore, under nature's rule,
Leaves no exception for the old log school.
When the first log was measured on the ground,
Where it's foundation at this day is found;
There was I then, and with a childish joy,
Saw it's log walls advancing toward the sky.
And when the roof upon its walls was spread,
To shade the tutor's and the pupil's head;
I went there too, and never will forget,
My first acquaintance with my alphabet.
Oh! those were days of happiness and joy;
The world looked lovely when I was a boy.
Suppose some morning in the month of May,
As brilliant Phoebus rides on cloudless day
The opening leaves diffuse the breath of Spring,
And on the branches happy warblers sing
Meanwhile is heard among the clustered trees,
The soft sweet murmurs of the fanning breeze.
And now, yourself, spectator of the whole,
Could you stand by, unmoved in heart and soul?
I never could, I always felt when there
That Nature was a Being wondrous fair;
Adieu to thee! oh thou decaying wall;
Thou sufferest only what's the fate of all;
Thy fairer daughter, too, shall have her day,
And when 'tis gone, behold! she'll pass away;
This pondrous globe shall be dissolved at last,
The time God's trumpet gives the final blast;
When the Archangel stands on land and sea,
And swears by Heaven that time no more shall be.

Belleville, Aug. 28, 1902. G. ORR.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.
Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c ne.
Reading advertisements, 15c per line.
Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon usual or contract rates.
Minimum space, 10 lines.
Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion
Births, 25c each insertion.

Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.

All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.

Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

At Hotel Quinte, two servants, women, for kitchen and general work. a29-4td

Competent general, also a nurse, to go to Toronto. Apply to Mrs. C. S. Laidlaw, at Mr. Corby's residence, between 2 and 3 and 8 and 9 p.m. a29-2t

A middle-aged lady to act as housekeeper in a family of four. Apply personally at No. 157 Charles St. a28-3td&1w

We want men to sell for us; salary or commission; paid weekly; outfit free. Good demand for stock now. We have 800 acres of choice fruit and ornamental trees.—Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto, Ont. a14eod-d&w1m

TO-LET

The brick residence, formerly occupied by T. C. Lazier, on Charles St. Modern improvements and thoroughly renovated. Apply at The Intelligencer Office.

NATURE REVOLTS

Because the Kidneys were overworked and weakened and could not do their whole duty. South American Kidney Cure cleared away the impurities—healed the diseased parts—made a sick-to-death man well.

One of the happiest men in the County of Huron to-day, is Mr. James McBrine, of Jamestown. He was suddenly attacked with most severe Kidney disease which culminated in a complication of bladder troubles. He tried the best physicians in the County without avail. Attracted by testimony of most marvellous cures by South American Kidney Cure he procured it, and before he had used one bottle was completely cured. 6a

Sold by D. M. Waters.

DATES TO BE NOTED.

Dr. M. Mecklenburg, eyesight specialist, of Montreal, who has had New York experience and fifteen years of steady practice, will visit Belleville, at McKeown's drug store, Monday to Saturday night, Sept. 1 to 6. He is provided with a dark room to scientifically fit glasses. His prices are very low for glasses and for examinations. Difficult cases he makes a specialty of, and satisfaction is guaranteed. Read his advertisement.

The man who does not know right from wrong invariably does wrong.

On an average more than three thousand people on the earth die every hour. Just at a thought it seems like it is dangerous to live.

Piles To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and absolute cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles, the manufacturers have guaranteed it. See testimonials in the daily press and ask your neighbors what they think of it. You can use it and get your money back if not cured. 60c a box, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

I. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leave Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Monday) at 11.30 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester at 3.25 a.m. daily (except Monday) and leave for Bay of Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to

U. E. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

Last Excursion of the Season.

PER

Str. "NIAGARA"

To PICTON

Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 30.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2.30 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.

About 1½ hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.

Fare for the round trip 25 cents.

THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.

TIME TABLE.

Commencing April 10th, 1902,

Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee

Str. "ELLA ROSS"

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leave Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $3.45; Return, $13.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents

J. F. CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
E. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA

A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents. Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec, (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.

Running all rapids.

Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.

$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.

THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, 02

NEW BUILDINGS

NEW FEATURES

NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums

$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

All the Resources of Our Glorious Country

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE

THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

Reduced Rates on Every Line of Trav

Consult Your Station Agent Regardi g Fare to Toronto and Bac

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at Intelligencer Office. tf

MILLIONS OF MEN INVOLVED

Greatest Labor Movement in American Annals Planned.

Railway Unions of the United States and Canada, Which Include All Trainmen, Are to Unite in a Demand For Higher Pay on All Lines—No Threats Are Made, But a Ruinous Strike May Result.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 29.—By Sept. 15 the large railway systems of the country will be confronted with a demand by 100,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for an increase in wages, which will mean an additional outlay of $1,000,000 a month for wages by railroads in the country or the alternative of a strike, which will eclipse all previous strikes, including the demonstration of the American Railway Union in 1894.

The demands, which have been formulated here, but not yet presented, are for an increase of 20 per cent. in wages.

Millions of Men Involved.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The Record-Herald says: Operating employes of every railway system in the United States and Canada are planning the greatest labor movement in the history of their organizations, and as a result the railway managers of the entire country will soon be facing the most serious problem of the kind presented in many years.

The movement which is well under way, is one of concerted action for higher wages for every class of workmen employed in the operation of trains. It includes engineers, conductors, trainmen or brakemen, firemen, car men and switchmen. Back of the movement will be a solid phalanx of between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 workingmen bent upon forcing the railroads to give them what they deem to be a just share of the proceeds of the phenomenal prosperity that has come to the companies. It is understood that the demands will range between 10 and 20 per cent. higher than the present scale of wages, and that the demands will be made upon certain groups of roads by the middle of September.

The demands will not be accompanied by threats to strike, but of course the strike spectre will from now on be constantly behind the chair of every general manager in the country. Should a strike result it will be the greatest in the history of railroads, and will paralyze the transportation facilities from one end of the country to the other.

A Denial by Morrissey.

Patrick H. Morrissey, Grand Master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, passed through Chicago Tuesday. In regard to the movement of the trainmen for increased wages "all along the line," he said that no concerted action was being taken so far as he was aware, adding that the trainmen's organization was growing rapidly and making new agreements with railroads constantly.

The Canadian End of It.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—For some time past the local branches of the Railway Brotherhood have been discussing the proposal as outlined in the above despatch. The details have not as yet been given to the Toronto members, the working out having been left to the Executive Boards of the Brotherhood.

FARMER SHOT BY A BOY.

Some Mystery About a Case Near Ashton, Near Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—A shooting affair occurred near Ashton, which may have a fatal termination. The victim is Jas. Emery, a farmer, residing about two miles from the village. The weapon was in the hands of an orphan lad who was working for Emery. The latter made the remark, "That revolver can't shoot," and the boy answered, "It can shoot sparrows; it'll shoot you." The neighbors believe, despite the boast, that the shooting was accidental. Emery and the lad were in the barn at the time, and Emery received a ball in his breast about an inch and a half below the left nipple. Dr. Gorrell was called, but was unable to locate the ball. Emery lies in a dangerous condition. At the request of Crown Attorney Ritchie, Chief Hamilton of the county police left for the scene to investigate the affair and take Emery's deposition.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Thursday.

Toronto 5, Montreal 10.
Buffalo 5, Rochester 2.
Newark 1, Worcester 4.
Jersey City 3, Providence 1.

National League, Thursday.

Pittsburg 11, Chicago 3.

American League, Thursday.

Chicago 4, Philadelphia 1.
Chicago 4, Philadelphia 5.
St. Louis 1, Baltimore 0.
Cleveland 5, Washington 3.
Detroit 4, Boston 0.

Protest in Lisgar.

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—The prothonotary, acting as master under the Election Act, has given notice of trial of the petition presented against the election of D. A. Stewart as member for Lisgar. The trial will be held Sept. 23 at Manitou.

Wilson Found Guilty.

Guelph, Aug. 29.—George Wilson, the man arrested about ten days ago at the Grand Trunk station and charged with attempted burglary, was found guilty, but sentence was deferred by Judge Jamieson until Saturday.

Despair Turned to Hope.

London, Aug. 29.—"The beneficial rains of the past week," cables the correspondent of The Daily Mail at Simla, India, "have changed despair into hope for millions of Indian cultivators."

A Lad's Fatal Turn.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—A little son of W. H. Pierce, was killed yesterday afternoon. He was riding a bicycle, and he was pitched from his wheel, and thrown by the impetus of this fall underneath a car. The wheels struck his left leg and broke it, and his body was pinned underneath the motor, the chest being crushed in.

Spanish Sugar Trust.

London, Aug. 29.—Cabling from Madrid, the correspondent of The Standard, says financial papers of that city announce that preparations are far advanced for the creation of a Spanish sugar trust. This idea, however, is strongly censured by the press, and it will be criticised in the Cortes.

For International Peace.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—King Victor of Italy made his state entry into Berlin yesterday morning. The Burgomaster presented an address saying the whole of Germany saw in King Victor Emmanuel's visit new proof of his intent to maintain the Dreibund and international peace.

Old Correspondent Dead.

London, Aug. 29.—The death is announced of Sir Campbell Clarke, resident correspondent in Paris of The London Daily Telegraph. He was born in 1835, and had been resident in the French capital since 1872 in the service of that paper. He received a knighthood in 1897.

THE MARKETS.

Grain Moves Still Lower in Chicago—Liverpool Cables Weak Thursday—The Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 28.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅝d to ½d lower to-day and corn futures ½d to 1¼d lower.

At Chicago to-day Sept. wheat declined ⅜c; Sept. corn, 1⅛c, but Sept. oats advanced ½c.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	74⅝	72¾	74¾
Chicago	....	69⅝	69¼	[illegible]
Toledo	71	71	70⅝	72⅞
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	70½	67	65	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 74 to	$0 75
Wheat, white, bush	0 76	0 79
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	0 79½
Wheat, goose, bush	0 70½	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush.	0 50½	....
Barley, bush	0 47	0 48
Oats, bush.	0 46	0 47
Oats, new, bush	0 40½	....
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton...	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton..	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls.....	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb.........	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes...	0 19	0 20
Butter, bakers', tub.........	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz.........	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb...............	0 07½	0 08
Honey (sections), each.....	0 10	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected....	$0 09
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected......	0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected............	0 08
Hides, No. 2, inspected	0 07
Hides, No. 1, cured, selling.......	0 08½
Calfskins, No. 1, selected..........	0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected..........	0 08
Deacons (dairies), each............	0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 30	0 40
Lambskins, each	0 30	0 40
Wool, fleece, per lb.........	0 13	....

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

The run of live stock was fairly large, 88 car loads all told, composed of 1512 cattle, 1216 hogs, 1397 sheep and lambs, with 20 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $5.75; medium exporters $5 to $5.40 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $4.50 to $5; light export bulls $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $4.65 to $5.25; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1055 lbs. each, sold at $4.40 to $5 per cwt.; loads of good butchers' sold at $4 to $4.50, loads of medium butchers', $3.75 to $4; common butchers' cows, at $2.75 to $3 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.25 to $5 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $25 to $45 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4 to $4.40 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.40 to $3.55 per cwt. for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs. nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.25 per cwt. lights at $7, and fats at $7 per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags $3.00.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—The receipts of cattle at the east end abattoir this morning were 300 head of cattle, 75 calves and 1100 sheep and 800 lambs. The attendance of buyers was fairly large and the following prices were well maintained: Cattle, good sold at from 4¼c to 4½c per lb.; lower grade, from 2¾c to 3¾c per lb. Calves were sold from $3 to $10 each. Sheep brought from 3c to 3½c per lb. Lambs were sold from 3½c to 4c per lb. Hogs brought from 6c to 7c per lb.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Aug. 28.—Cattle—Receipts light; no demand; asking steady prices. Veals, steady; tops, $7.75 to $8; fair to good, $7 to $7.50; common to light, $5.75 to $6.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 2500 head; slow; heavy, $7.80 to $7.85; 3 decks, at $7.95; mixed, $7.70 to $7.80; Yorkers, $7.60 to $7.70; light, do., $7.35 to $7.60; pigs, $7.40 to $7.50; roughs, $6 to $6.50; stags, $5 to $5.50; grassers, $7.40 to $7.65. Closing weak.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4500 head; dull, 10c to 25c lower; top lambs, $5.65 to $5.75; one load, $5.90; fair to good, $5.25 to $5.50; culls to common, $3.75 to $4; yearlings, $4 to $4.25; wethers, $3.75 to $4; sheep, top, mixed, $3.25 to $3.50; fair to good, $3 to $3.25; culls to common, $1.75 to $2.75; ewes, $3.25 to $3.50.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Cattle—Receipts, 8500, including 3000 westerns; steady; good to prime steers, $8 to $8.75; poor to medium, $4 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.25; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.25 to $5.50; calves, $2.55 to $7.25; Texas fed steers, $3 to $5; western steers, $4 to $5.85. Hogs, receipts, 1800; slow, closing lower; mixed butchers, $7.35 to $7.85; good to choice, $7.60 to $7.90; rough heavy, $7.25 to $7.55; light, $7.35 to $7.70; bulk of sales, $7.45 to $7.65. Sheep, receipts, 20,000; sheep and lambs, 10c lower; goods to choice wethers, $3.50 to $4; fair to choice, mixed, $2.50 to $3.50; native lambs, $4.50 to $5.60.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 28.—Live cattle, steady, at 13c to 14c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 11½c per lb.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Vankleek Hill, Ont., Aug. 28.—At the Cheese Board to-day 1243 cheese were boarded; highest bid 9¼c. At this price Weagar got 114, Gibson 494, Bennett 103, Fraser 38, McRae 327, Welsh 50; balance unsold.

Tweed, Ont., Aug. 28.—Eight hundred cheese boarded; all sold at 9 5-16c. Watkins & Magrath buyers.

CUTTING NEARLY ALL OVER.

By End of Week Crop Will Be Ready For Threshing.

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—Already wheat cutting is over in several districts in Manitoba, and threshing begun in at least one place, so that by the end of this week the great crop will be ready for stacking or threshing from the stock.

The weather continues settled, bright and warm. The last of the first series of harvest excursions arrived Wednesday, and the men were rushed out yesterday to their destinations. Fully 10,000 more will be required when threshing is in full swing.

A dozen machines will start up in this district to-day.

Drowned While Shooting.

Prince Albert, Aug. 29.—Alex Macdonald, principal East Prince Albert School, was drowned while out shooting. He came from Merrickville, Ont.

The Home of England's Wealth.

The Bank of England generally contains sufficient gold in sixteen pound bars to make 20,000,000 sovereigns. The bank, which stands in three parishes, covers three acres of ground, and, as the current price of land in the vicinity works out at £1,000,000 an acre, it is easy to form an idea of the money value of England's wealth. The ratable value is about £1,000 a week. The bank employs about 1,000 people, pays a quarter of a million a year in wages and £35,000 a year in pensions. There are £25,000,000 worth of notes in circulation which have been handed over the bank's counter.—London Globe.

Starting the Conversation.

"I don't know what the trouble is," said the hostess in a tone of great annoyance. "My guests seem very distant and unsocial. I wish I could think of some way to start them talking to one another."

"That's very easily done," answered Miss Cayenne. "Is there a musician present?"

"Yes."

"Get him to play or sing something."

The Lapse of Time.

When two married men who haven't seen each other for some time meet, one of them always says before they separate, "Let's see—how old is your oldest now?" And then, after he gets the answer, he adds, "It is astonishing, isn't it, how time does fly?"

A Soft Answer.

"Keep yer temper, laddie. Never quarrel wi' an angry person, especially a woman. Mind ye, a soft answer's ye best. It's commanded, and, forbye, it makes them far madder than onything else ye could say."—London Tit-Bits.

Counterbalanced.

Mr. Brown—Darling, your butcher gives you short weight for your money.

Mrs. Brown—But consider, my dear, the long wait you give him for his.—Illustrated Bits.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY

10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.

Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, Southwest and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.

SECOND CLASS $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.

Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."

For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.

A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East, Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticker Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at

SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.

Good going August 30th, 31st, and Sept. 1st, returning good until Sept. 2nd, 1902.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR
TORONTO
September 1st to 13th.

Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.

Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75

All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Leaves Belleville at 3.60 a.m., Monday, Sept. 8th, arriving Toronto 6.50 a.m. Ask agents for official programme and time table.

U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.

HITCHON BROS

Front St. Phone 91.

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting, Paper Hanging, Graining.

J. CORNELIUS.

Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.
No. 8—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.
No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.
No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.
No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.
No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.
No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.
No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.
No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY,

Belleville and Peterboro,

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail......	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed......	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed......	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail......	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc,

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed......	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed......	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed......	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed......	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

GOOD FISHING.

Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—

Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.

Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.

At The Beehive.

CHAS. N. SULMAN.

For Pickling

XXX Cider and White Wine Vinegars

Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.

ALL VARIETIES

J. C. Hanley & Co.

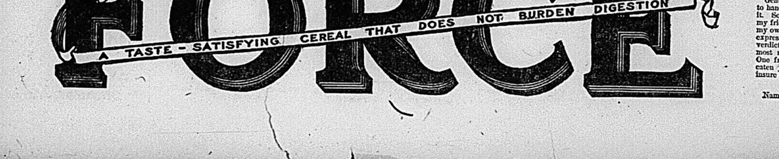
Telephone 214.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society

Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates. No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.

For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 46 Bridge Street.

J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
Manager.
tf



"FORCE"
A TASTE - SATISFYING CEREAL THAT DOES NOT BURDEN DIGESTION

Providence, R. I., Nov. 6, 1901.

"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—The "FORCE" came safely to hand. I am greatly indebted to you for it. Some of the packages have been given to my friends and the others have been used in my own household. I hear but one opinion expressed concerning the new food. The verdict seems to be that "FORCE" is the most nutritious of all the cereal products. One friend tells me that a small quantity eaten just before retiring seems always to insure him a good night's sleep.

Yours very truly, —— ——

Name furnished on application.

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

"Well," Mrs. Sarjent exclaims, with unpleasant emphasis, rising to take her departure, "that wasn't the way of the world when I was married. Of course we weren't titled people or aristocratic people, still we did think a young couple just married shouldn't go visiting about without each other. Times are changed now, I suppose. Well, I must run off. I see your Pacific Salvage shares are going down, aunt Keren. I suppose you know?"

"No; I don't understand the ups and downs of shares and things of that kind," Miss Dormer answers. "I leave that to clever people like you."

Mrs. Sarjent modestly accepts what is but her just due.

"I wish to goodness," she remarks, with a sniff of self-satisfaction, "that uncle Silas had been clever enough not to meddle with Viscount Glynne, or Lord Glynne, or whatever he is, or his Pacific Salvage Company either. He'll lose plenty of money over it, or my name's not Wilmot Sarjent. Well, good-bye, aunt Keren. You be stiff and determined with servants, my dear, and you'll be able to manage them then. Good-bye, Yolande. You write for that naughty, stay-away husband of yours at once — mind, I tell you, my dear!"—and Mrs. Sarjent emphasizes her warning with a kiss which Yolande shrinks from; and then the good lady goes away, leaving behind her a sensation of being stung with nettles or scratched with briars.

"I wish some one not a thousand miles off would stay away!" Yolande mutters, with her hands clenched in a passionate gesture.

"I wish Wilmot Sarjent would not talk to me about the way to manage servants," Miss Keren says testily; "I managed servants before she was born. I don't think," the old lady adds, with the intensity of her displeasure, "that she has a nice mi-end!"

There is silence for a little while, and then Yolande says, in a hurried, unsteady voice—

"I wish, aunt, you would let me do as I said—be the housekeeper. I should like it very much. It will — will keep my mind employed."

"What's the good of your taking it up only to drop it again?" responds Miss Dormer, still irritated. "As soon as Captain Glynne, your husband, came here, you'd have to give it up. He wouldn't like it."

"I want to learn to be useful, aunt," Yolande urges, turning away her head.

"Well, there is no harm in that," the old lady admits. "When is he coming back to you, my dear?"

"I don't quite know," Yolande replies, in a low tone. "I hope—soon."

"I hope so, too," Miss Dormer says drily, and a little resentfully. "I think, as Wilmot Sarjent said, young couples, newly married, oughtn't to let anything separate them, except through duty or necessity."

Yolande feels the blood rushing hotly through her veins with angry pride at hearing Dallas blamed.

"He will be here soon," she says suddenly. "I dare say"—with lips that smile tremulously—"he will be here — this is Tuesday — well on Friday or Saturday, aunt Keren, at the very latest. I am going to write to him this afternoon."

This means that she is going to rush upstairs to her own room, to lock the door against all interruptions, to get out her prettiest writing-paper from the new box which came home only last night, with its dainty mourning border and gray and silver monogram, and then pour out the pleading and tenderness, the truth and humility of her love straight from her heart in appeal to her husband's heart.

"I am a wicked girl not to have done it before," she tells herself, fitting in a fresh nib and getting fresh ink so that her letter may be in all ways pleasing to his eyes who will read it; "but I was sure — so sure that he would come or send to me long before this!"

Tears of joy and pain together gather thickly in her eyes and fall, blurring out "My dear Dallas," which she has written. So Yolande takes another sheet, and makes such a hopeless muddle of spelling "anxiously" that she has to throw that aside. But she perseveres, though her hands are trembling, her cheeks tears welling up every few minutes. burning with excitement, and the hot

Then the first letter is by far too incoherent, the second too tender, and Dallas may not like it — she has called him "My darling" twice—the third too cold, and not explicit enough. But after an hour's hard work Yolande's letter of love to her absentee bridegroom is written—not at all to her satisfaction, but as well as she can write it if she were to try for hours. It is as follows'

"My dear Dallas—I have been anxiously expecting to hear from you every day. Did you go back to Pentreath for the Earl's funeral? Was it very grand? When are you coming back to town? Dearest, will you forgive me all the past, and, because I love you so much, will you — will you — oh, my darling! — love me a little and be kind to me, and I will be— what you asked me to be — your own most faithful, submissive, and loving wife, Yolande Glynne."

Then it is addressed successfully after four envelopes have been spoiled, and Yolande goes out herself and posts it, and wishes, the moment it has fallen into the box, that she had it back again, to say more in it and to say it better.

Surely he cannot be angry with her for meekly laying both at his feet! He will come without writing, most likely — just send a telegram a few hours ahead. She may look out for that about six hours after she knows the post has reached Portsmouth.

But no telegram, no letter comes. Then she tells herself he has of course gone back to Pentreath—and to Joyce Murray, alas!—and her letter will be forwarded to him.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday pass away; Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday follow; and, in desperation, Yolande writes to Colonel Majilton to know if Captain Glynne has gone back to Pentreath, as she is very anxious at not hearing from him "for several days past."

Ah, poor Yolande! She knows it is eighteen days since Dallas wrote her those few, cold, careless lines commencing "Dear Yolande," and ending "Yours sincerely, D. Glynne."

But neither to this letter to Colonel Majilton does she receive any reply. Long afterwards Yolande learns that Colonel Majilton left England for Bermuda, two days before her letter to him was written.

And the days and the weeks roll by, and Yolande lives through them as one lives through days which, when past, one looks back at with shuddering wonder at one's power of endurance; and at last she knows that her husband has deserted her.

CHAPTER XXIV.

The month of May, with its nipping east winds and its chestnut blossoms and its bright, cold sunshine, has lapsed into June, sweet, placid, odorous June, with all its bright colored blossoms and its perfumes and its balmy south winds, stirring the fresh green leaves and the flowering grasses; and the grand old crimson peonies, in gorgeous clumps beneath the sycamores, are all growing and nodding their royal heads and sending forth their faint, sweet honey scents to the warm breeze.

And Yolande Glynne, wandering about the sycamores and past the clumps of peonies, and the old-fashioned lilac bushes and golden pendants of laburnum blossoms which hedge about the lawn and gardens at Fair View, feels on this fair June morning that her heart is gladsome for a brief space, that smiles come to her face unforced; and even some words of an old, half-forgotten song ripple over her lips.

"It's a hundred times nicer here than in London; don't you think so, aunt Keren?" Yolande says brightly.

"Yes, my dear," aunt Keren replies dolefully.

"I hope you are not fretting and troubling about all that grand furniture in London, aunt," Yolande says soothingly. "I am sure you needn't. The Taylors will use it well, seeing how fresh and handsome it is."

"Use it well!" aunt Keren repeats irefully. "If the way they have treated the furniture here is a sample of good usage, I don't expect one of those carpets nor a bit of that splendid olive satin furniture in the drawing room will be worth looking at! They'll wear it out more in six months than we should do in six years, unless we had" — with an accession of ire and bitterness at the retrospect — "a few housemaids like that last horrid creature who never put a tea leaf on the floors when she swept them and told me not to bother her with dusting covers!"

"She was a very impertinent girl," Yolande says, trying to soothe her aunt, and wishing wearily that she would leave the troubles of her London house in her London house, seventy-five miles away, and not bring her anxieties about fine furniture and careless tenants and saucy housemaids into this June morning, with the scents of the lilacs and peonies floating subtly sweet, and the shadows falling across the warm sunlit paths.

Riches have wrought an unpleasing effect in poor Miss Dormer's nature, as in many another's. She has grown fussy, anxious, irritable with the weight of added cares. Her grand house in Rutland Gardens, her grand furniture, her servants, are all portions of a long nightmare which presses upon her waking hours as well as upon her sleeping ones. Between the nightmare and the east wind she has broken down in a sharp fit of illness — her second this year, from which she has scarcely recovered at the present time. Her doctor ordered change of air, and it so came very opportunely that the tenants to whom Fair View was let furnished wanted to come to London, and delightedly exchanged the old-fashioned, small country house for the large, new-fashioned and rather gorgeous town house; and poor Miss Kerenhappuch Dormer was thus restored to her familiar, well-beloved household gods, desecrated though she grieves to find them by careless servants, uncleanly children, and an easy-tempered master and mistress.

She grieves quietly though deeply about Yolande's unhappy marriage, which is to her a distressing mystery that she is seldom able to forget — never indeed for hours after one of Mrs. Sarjent's visits, as that excellent lady is up in arms , with zeal and indignation, curiosity and excitement on the subject of Captain Glynne's "abominable behavior."

"He's done something horrid — that's why she won't live with him," she remarks, with a nod of assurance. "She found it out during her honeymoon. I saw a change in her look and manner the very first minute I laid my eyes on her. He has run away with some woman." Mrs. Sarjent adds, in a sepulchral whisper, up in poor old Miss Dormer's bed-room, where she lies ill and helpless, and fevered with the suggestions her visitor pours into her ears. "And she was in the right!" Mrs. Sarjent says determinedly, believing her own story thoroughly. "Shows a proper spirit in the girl not to put up with such conduct from any husband, no matter how high and mighty and well-born he was!"

Silas Dormer, too, frets about his niece, and his niece's husband, immersed in business, in money making and money losing though he is, and, man-like, he relieves the discomfort of his mind by being very cross and low spirited at home — it would not do to wear such a face in the City as he wears amongst the gooseberry bushes at Fair View. After one serious remonstrance with his niece, and a request that she will allow him to interfere and "bring Captain Glynne to book," which Yolande refuses with earnest tears, Mr. Dormer desists from further interference.

"My husband and I have agreed to part for awhile, uncle. It was my wish. It is no fault of his that we are not living together," she says, and hopes she is saying only the truth. "We did not care much for each other after we were married, and we are better apart. He will come to see me soon, I dare say, and then you can talk to him, uncle, if you wish."

"I don't understand that sort o' talk!" Mr. Dormer rejoins gruffly, his provincial accent coming out strongly. "When young folks are married, it's their duty, Yolande, to care for each other."

Back again in dear old Fair View, with its lack of anything like a view, and its peaceful walls and homely doors and flower scented gardens, as in the old peaceful days, ere love and misery made themselves her acquaintances, Yolande does not feel sad, neglected, and lonely as in London.

Yolande has written again, not to Dallas, but to Lady Nora, telling her in as gentle and delicate terms as she can employ, that Dallas and she are parted through a misunderstanding, "in which I own I was much to blame," writes poor Yolande humbly; "but the grief I have suffered since has been, I think, punishment enough for my fault, and Dallas knows how truly I love him."

She blushes at the sentence as it stands written; it looks so much like a miserable confession of "unreciprocated affection" — it looks so much like what it really is, though it is written concerning the men who is her lawful husband, and written to his mother. But on the writing and despatch of that letter Yolande has sown a grain of hope which has sprung up like the prophet's gourd-vine, blossoming fair and high above her head in the course of a single day and night.

It was on the day before yesterday she wrote that letter; but it is quite possible, she thinks, that she may have a reply from Lady Nora this forenoon.

"And I feel somehow that I shall have an answer very soon," Yolande says to herself with a dreamy smile, wandering away from aunt Keren in her techy mood amongst the lilacs and acacias that grow in clumps near the garden gate. "I feel sure there is some news for me, as if something very good were going to happen to me."

Perhaps — oh, joyful "perhaps"!—Lady Nora has written to her son, enclosing his poor little wife's letter, and Dallas himself is at this moment speeding towards her as fast as steam can carry him. She trembles, and the tears rise to her eyes with ecstasy at the thought. She will give him unstinted and absolute forgiveness for every wrong against her, she will lavish devotion on him, strive to serve him and please him, as if he were a god, if only he will not leave her desolate again!

Nothing very good happens, however, though the morning hours slip on into noon; and Yolande, after listening to her aunt Keren's complaints, now of the hot sunshine, now of the dull breeze, now of the shadows of the leaves flickering over the page of her book, now of the glare of the noonday light, gravely entreats her to come indoors

(To be continued.)

HAVE YOU TRIED

Malt Breakfast Food

It is an Absolutely Perfect Cereal Food

IT IS THE MOST NUTRITIOUS AND MOST ECONOMICAL FOR FAMILY USE.

If you are not yet a user of Malt Breakfast Food, give it a trial at once; it will give you new thoughts and ideas about cereal foods. Malt Breakfast Food is an absolutely perfect form of nourishment for body and brain, and the most economical for the family. One package makes twenty-five meals; it is as cheap as the commonest oatmeal and far more healthful. Do not be induced to buy foods simply because you are offered a bulky package. If you study true economy and the health of your family, Malt Breakfast Food must be your choice. Grocers everywhere.

SECOND DAY AT THE RANGES

Some Fine Scores Made at Long Branch on Thursday.

Competitors Favored With Delightful Weather—Many Possible Scores With Some Bull's-Eyes—Considerable Enthusiasm Manifested—The Attendance Slightly Better Than on Wednesday—Scores at the Ranges on Thursday.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—It was a clear atmosphere, but a brisk wind that greeted the crack shots of Canada at the Long Branch rifle ranges yesterday. The second day's work was much more accurate as a result of the absence of the haze of Wednesday. The little white circle with the black dot in the centre, indicating a bulls-eye, was kept bobbing up and down incessantly, and there was considerable enthusiasm manifested. The attendance was slightly better than the day before.

The semi-annual meeting of the association, better known as the "Kickers' Club," held an animated session in the afternoon. The attendance was large, and the points were brought out on several subjects that elicited much attention.

$400 presented by the corporation of the City of Toronto and $240 added by the association, open to members, to competed for in two stages. First stage, 500 and 600 yards; second stage, 800 yards, open to the highest to be competed for in two stages First places of the 50 competitors will be decided by their aggregate scores in the two stages.

Number of rounds at each range—Seven at 500 yards, ten at 600 yards, and seven at 800 yards.

Ranges and positions, 500, 600 and 800 yards, prone.

First stage, 500 and 600 yards—Pte. John T. Peddie, 5th R.S., 82; Major W. P. Moore, 20th, 82; Pte. H Tyres, Grenadiers, 81; Staff-Sergt G R Crowe, 1st B.F.A., 81; Sergt R Corrigan, 59th, 80; Sergt George Mortimer, Grenadiers, 79; Pte J C Smith, 48th, 78; Pte N Smith, 21st, 78; Staff-Sergt T H Hayhurst, G.M., 13th, 77; Lieut G W Gilchrist, 1st B.F.A., 77; Capt W C VanLoon, 37th, 77; Pte J H Bertram, 77th, 77; Lieut R A Robertson, 13th, 77; Sergt H Kerr, Highlanders, 77; Capt G A McMicking, R.L., 77; Sergt R Stewart, 4th C.A., 77; Capt A Wilson, 23rd, 77; Mr J A Clare, 7th Rifle Association, 76; S Sergt A Graham, Highlanders, 76; Sur.-Maj J Ross, 77th, 76; Q M Sergt D Craig, Grenadiers, 76; Pte R Doherty, Q.O.R., 76; Pte F N Allan, 7th, 75; Pte George Fitzgerald, 57th, 75; O R S. J H Simpson, Grenadiers, 75; Capt J Limpert, 29th, 75; Major G W Hays, 70th, 75; Pte A H Stone, 13th, 75; Sergt W Swayne, 14th P.W.O.R., 75; Capt T Mitchell, R.L., 75; Sergt.-Major F Richardson, 5th C.A., 75; O.R. Sergt J Phillips, R.G., 74; Capt Dug Stewart, 6th D.C.O.R., 74; Corp W Sutherland, 7th, 74; Pte P Armstrong, R.G., 74; Lieut. N Macpherson, 77th, 74; W H Wall, B.C. Rifle Association, 74; Capt A J Williams, 45th, 74; Col-Sergt C Armstrong, Grenadiers, 74; Capt D J C Munro, 44th, 74; Lieut John Ogg, 1st B.F.A., 74; Major W Henderson, Highlanders, 73; Pte R McGregor, G. G.F.G., 73; Pte G A Boult, 6th D.C.O. R., 73; Pte C S Scott, 43rd, 73; Capt H C Blair, 78th, 73; Capt. M S Mercer, Q.O.R., 73.

Those scoring $4 prizes—Capt A Elliott, 12th, 72; Sergt G W Russell, G.G.F.G., 72; Major H Jekill, 11th, 72; Capt. B A Griffith, 37th, 72; Sergt R Surplis, Grenadiers, 72; Pte C B Oliver, 21st, 72; L Corp W J Cook, Grenadiers, 72; Pte R Fraser, 7th, 72; Pte Joseph Reid, 77th, 72; Pte D Mitchell, 13th, 72; Capt J Crowe, 30th, 72; Capt W F Moore, 77th, 72; Capt William Gould, 20th, 72; Q.M. Sergt J McVittie, Highlanders, 71; Sergt P Nisbet, 29th, 71; Sergt A S Kimmerley, 15th, 71; Capt W Brewster, 23th, 71; Pte R McLaren, Highlanders, 71; Pte J W Smith, 21st, 71; Lieut.-Col. A Bertram, 77th, 71; Staff-Sergt. T Mitchell, 13th, 71; Q.M.-Sergt E E Collins, 39th, 71; Pte S Warnock, 21st, 70; Lieut.-Col W L Ross, 13th, 70; Pte J K Burr, 27th, 70; Lieut A Pain, 13th, 70; Pte W G Jeffries, 48th, 70; Corp J P White, Q.O.R., 70; Arm.-Sergt T S Bayles, Grenadiers, 70; Col.-Sergt W Hornshaw, Grenadiers, 70; Mr H Mallory, Peel R.A. 70; Major R A Holmer, 43rd, 69; Pte W Anderson, 37th, 69; Pte F Hanes, 77th, 69; Pte George Milligan, 77th, 69; Lieut T J Murphy, 7th, 69; Pte C Collins, 77th, 69.

Those scoring $3 prizes—Capt F W Brown, 12th, 69; Pte L Chats, 29th, 69; Capt A D Cartwright, Grenadiers, 69; Capt J M Davison, Q.O.R., 69; T C Deane, Peel Rifle Association, 68; Capt D S Gibson, 38th, 68; Corp F F Ruddick, 1st P.W.O.R., 68; Pte F B Tache, 29th, 68; Corp John Caven, 5th C.A., 68; Pte W A Elliott, Highlanders, 68; Pte D Cameron, 37th, 68; Pte W D Spinks, Grenadiers, 67; Pte Jos. Gibson, 57th, 67; Pte E R Crockett, Q.O.R., 67; Capt C N Mitchell, R.O., 67; Pte W Nickell, 27th, 67; Sergt W Robson, 7th, 67; Capt D Dillon, 34th, 67; Corp F S Morrison, 13th, 67; Arm.-Sergt H Marris, 13th, 67; Pte George Brooks, Highlanders, 67; Col.-Sergt J Moscrop, 6th D.C.O.R., 67; Pte S B Holler, 30th, 66; S Sergt F G Pilkie, 45th, 66; J A Tracey, 20th, 66; Sergt.-Major H J Gibson, 1st Hussars, 66; Pte S Dixon, Q.O.R., 66; Pte K McVittie, 12th, 66; Capt W S Russell, R.L., 66; Pte D Wanless, 36th, 66; Corp E O Beckett, 13th, 66; Pte W Lawrence, 77th, 65; Pte J E Virtue, Grenadiers, 64; Corp S McDonnell, 7th, 63; Lieut K D Panton, 20th, 62; Lance-Corp C K Thompson, Grenadiers, 62; Pte D English, 37th, 62; Pte A H Armstrong, QO.R., 62; Sergt A E Jackson, 57th, 62; Sergt-Major C H Vandersluys, 44th, 61; Pte J Rickert, 7th, 61; Pte W Russell, 37th, 61; Lieut A T Hunter, 12th, 60; Staff-Sergt D Cinnamon, 43rd, 60; Capt D H McLean, G.G.F.G., 60.

Second stage—Pte John Tweddle, 5th R.S., 116, gold medal and $25; Sergt R Corrigan, 59th, 113, $23; S. Sergt C R Crowe, 1st B.F.A., 113, $20; Maj W F Moore, 20th, 113, $15; Surg.-Major J Ross, 77th, 111; $12; Sergt R Stewart, 4th C.A., 111, $10; Capt A Nilson, 23rd, 111, $8; Pte J C Smith, Highlanders, 111, $7; Sergt Mortimer, Grenadiers, 111, $7; Sergt-Major Richardson, 5th C.A., 110, $7; Capt G A McNicking, R.L., 110, $7; Pte H Tyres, Grenadiers, 110, $7; Mr F H Wall, B. C. Rifles Association, 109, $7; Q.M. Sergt Craig, Grenadiers, 109, $7; Lieut R A Robertson, 13th, 109, $7; Major G W Hayes, 7th, 108, $7; Sergt W Swaine, 14th, 108, $7; Capt T Mitchell, U.L., 108, $6; Lieut J W Gilchrist, 1st B.F.A., 108, $6; S. Sergt T H Hayhurst, C.M., 13th, 108, $6; Pte G A Boult, 6th D.C.O.R., 107, $6; Capt Duff Stuart, 6th D.C.O.R., 107, $6; Capt D J C Munro, 44th, 107, $6; Pte George Fitzgerald, 57th, 107, $6; Pte A. McGregor, G.G.F.G., 106, $6; Pte A Doherty, Q.O.R., 106, $6; Pte H Smith, 21st, 106, $6; Sergt G W Russell, G.G.F.G., 105, $6; Mr J A Clare, 7th R.A., 105, $6; S. Sergt A Graham, Highlanders, 104, $6; Capt. Elliott, 12th, 103, $6; Capt H C Blair, 78th, 103, $6; Col.-Sergt Armstrong, Grenadiers, 103, $5; O R Sergt Phillips, Grenadiers, 103, $5; Capt W C VanLoon, 57th, 103, $5; Pte J H Bertram, 77th, 103, $5; Corp. W Sutherland, 7th, 102, $5; Sergt H Kerr, Highlanders, 102, $5; Major Henderson, Highlanders, 101,$5; Capt M S Mercer, Q.O.R., 101, $5; Pte F M Allan, 7th, 101, $5; Pte A H Stone, 13th, 101, $5; Pte P Armstrong, Grenadiers, 100, $5; Pte C S Scott, 43rd, 96, $5; Capt J Limpert, 29th, 96, $5; O R Sergt Simpson, Grenadiers, 96, $5; Capt J A Williamson, 45th, 94, $5; Lieut M McPherson, 77th, 92, $5; Lieut John Ogg, 1st B.F.A., 91, $5; Lance-Corporal T A Connor, Grenadiers, 90, $5.

—City of Toronto Match.—

Team prizes:

First prize, Ladies' Challenge Cup and $30—Guelph Rifle Association, score 375. Second prize, $25—Royal Grenadiers' first team, score 374. Third prize, $20—Highlanders, score 367. Fourth prize, $15—77th Regiment, score 367. Fifth prize, $10—Royal Grenadiers' second team, score 361.

—The Osler Match.—

In uniform; $100 presented by E. B. Osler, M.P., president of the association, and $158 added by the association. The use of slings, orthoptics and all aids to sight other than clear glass spectacles; verniers, temporary lines, or painted sights, other than plain black, is prohibited. Number of rounds, seven; range and position, 500 yards, prone:

Pte N Smith, 21st, 34, $10; Capt G A McNicking, R.L., 33, $8; Lieut T J Murphy, 7th, 33, $6; Sergt H Kerr, Highlanders, 33, $5.50; Sergt C Mortimer, Grenadiers, 33, $5.50; Capt Duff Stuart, D.C.O.R., 33, $5; Sergt.-Major F Richardson, 5th C. A., 33, $5; Capt T Mitchell, U.L., 32, $5; Pte G A Boult, 6th D.C.O.R., 32, $5; Capt W S Russell, R.L., 32, $5; Capt H C Blair, 78th, 32, $5; Sergt T H Hayhurst, G.M., 13th, 31, $5; Sergt R Stewart, 4th C.A., 31, $5; Capt W C King, 30th, 31, $5; Capt J A Williamson, 45th, 31, $4; S-Sergt W Ashall, Q.O.R., 31, $4; Sergt-Major N J Dineen, 1st Hussars, 31, $4; Pte F C Bailey, Grenadiers, 31, $4; S-Sergt W H Whitely, R.L., 31, $4; Sergt W Robson, 7th, 31, $4; Arm-Sergt H Harris, 13th, 31, $4; Capt Elliott, 12th, 31, $4; Pte L Schatz, 29th, 31, $4; Major R A Helmer, 43rd, 31, $4; L-Corp T A Connor, Grenadiers, 31, $4; Pte J F E Dixon, Q.O.R., 31, $4; Pte R Doherty, Q.O.R., 31, $4; O-R-Sergt J Phillips, Grenadiers, 31, $4; Capt J Crowe, 30th, 31 ,$4; Pte W Lumley, 21st, 31, $4; Col-Sergt J D Jacobs, 7th, 31, $4; Q M-Sergt J McVittie, Highlanders, 31, $4; Pte J H Bertram, 77th, 30, $4; Sergt H Hayden, 30th, 30, $4; Pte D Wanless, 36th, 30, $4; Pte D English, 37th, 30, $4; Major R H Sylvester, 45th, 30, $4; Pte W Lawrason, 77th, 30, $4; Capt D J C Munro, 44th, 30, $4; Corp John Caven, 5th C.A., 30, $3; S Sergt C R Crowe, 1st B.F.A., 30, $3; Pte W F Moore, 77th, 30, $3; Pte C S Scott, 43rd, 30, $3; Pte G Milligan, 77th, 30, $3; Pte G Fitzgerald, 57th, 30, $3; Ar-Sergt T S Bayles, Grenadiers, 30, $3; Sergt R Corrigan, 59th, 30, $3; Sergt W Will, 13th, 30, $3; Major G W Hayes, 7th, 29, $3; Lieut W L Ross, 13th, 29, $3; Sergt W Swaine, 14th, 29, $3; Lieut A Pain, 13th, 29, $3; S-Sergt W D Davidson, Highlanders, 29, $3; Pte A Baynton, 13th, 29, $3;Sergt G W Russell, G.G.F.G., 29, $3; Capt D S Gibson, 38th, 29, $3; Sergt-Major S J Huggins, 13th, 29, $3; Capt J Buckley, 32nd, 29, $3; Sergt I V Williams, 6th D.C.O.R., 29, $3; Pte W Anderson, 37th, 29, $3; Pte Joseph Reid, 77th, 29, $3; Pte E R Crockett, Q.O.R., 29, $3; Pte H B Heller, 30th, 29, $3; Corp J P White, Q.O.R., 29, $3; L-Corp D J Cook, Grenadiers, 29, $3. Last score in—3 5 5 2 4 5 5—29. Three scores of 29 counted out.

—The Duke of Cornwall and York.—

In commemoration of the visit of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York; open to members; to be competed for in two stages—first stage—600 yards; second stage—900 yards, open to the highest 30 competitors in the first stage; the places of the 30 competitors will be decided by their aggregate scores in the two stages. Number of rounds—Seven at 600 yards, seven at 900 yards. Positions—600 yards, prone; 900 yards, any:

—Second Stage—

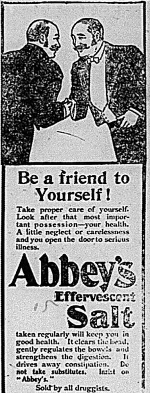
Sergt W Swaine, 14th P.W.C.R., 66, Capt C E Mitchell, R.O., 66 (tie), $22.50 each; Pte A Boynton, 13th, 65, $15; Q M-Sergt J McVittie, Highlanders, 65, $10; Capt H C Blair, 78th, 63, $10; Pte F Bibby, 77th, 63, $7; Sergt G W Russell, G.G.F.G., 63, $7; Pte R Doherty, Q.O.R., 63, $5; Capt J Crowe, 30th, 63, $5; Lieut W L Ross, 13th, 62, $5; Sergt R Stewart, 4th C.A., 62, $5; Sergt R Corrigan, 59th, 62, $5; Sergt-Major F Richardson, 5th C.A., 60, $5; Pte R McLaren, Highlanders, 60, $5; L-Corp W J Cook, Grenadiers, 59, $5; Lieut M McPherson, 77th, 59, $5; Pte John Peddie, 5th R.S., 59, $5; S-Sergt A Graham, Highlanders, 58, $4; Sergt A Galbraith, 7th, 58, $4; Sergt H Kerr, Highlanders, 58, $4; Q M-Sergt D Craig, Grenadiers, 58, $4; Pte W A Elliott, Highlanders, 56, $4; Lieut T J Murphy, 7th, 55, $4; Major J S Thom, R.L., 55, $4; Capt W C Van Loon ,57th, 54, $4; Sergt A A E Jackson, 57th, 53, $4; Lieut R A Robertson, 13th, 52, $4; Capt Brewster, 20th, 51, $4; Gr A Brayshaw, 5th C.A., 47, $4; Pte George Brooks, Highlanders, 42, $4.

—The Macdontld.—

Named after the late Judge A. Macdonald of Guelph, ex-president of the association; open to members; range and position—500 yards, prone; number of rounds—seven; no sighting shot; entrance fee—80c, including ammunition:

Pte C Fitzgerald, 57th, 34, $11.66; Pte W F Moore, 77th, 34, $11.66; Sergt W Swaine, 14th, 34, $11.66; Lieut M McPherron, 77th, 33, $7; Capt A D Cartwright, Grenadiers, 32, $5.50; S-Sergt T Mitchell, 13th, 32, $5.50; Pte J W Smith, 21st, 32, $5.50; Capt Duff-Stuart, 6th D.C.O.R., 32, $5.50; Pte R McGregor, G.G.F.G., 31, $5; Pte E McLaren, Highlanders, 31, $5; Sergt-Major F Richardson, 5th C.A., 31, $5; Pte F Smith, 21st, 31, $5; Pte J H Hutchinson, R.L., 30, $5; Lieut W L Ross, 13th, 30, $5; Sergt P Corrigan, 59th, 30, $4.25; Capt A Elliott, 12th, 30, $4.25; Pte H Jekill, 11th, 30, $4.25; Sergt G S Russell, G.G.F.G., 30, $4.25; Sergt George Cliff, Q.O.R., 29, $4; Pte F C Bailey, Grenadiers, 29, $4; Sergt W R Clarke, Ret., 29, $4; S-Sergt C R Crowe, 1st B.F.A., 29, $4; Surg-Major J Ross, 77th, 29, $4; Sergt Williams, 6th D.C.O.R., 29, $4; Pte C A Boult, 6th D.C.O.R., 29, $4; L-Corp T A Connor, Grenadiers, 29, $4; L-Corp W J Cook, Grenadiers, 29, $4; Pte B English, 37th, 29, $4; Capt A J Oliver, 29th, 28, $4; Lieut J C Chamberlain, R.L., 28, $4; Pte W Mason, 37th, 28, $4; Capt T Mitchell, U.L., 28, $4; L-Corp G K Thompson, Grenadiers, 28, $4; Pte W Lumley 21st 28, $4; Pte H Tyres, Grenadiers, 28, $4; Capt H C Blair, 78th, 28, $3; Lieut R A Robertson, 13th, 28, $3; Pte J M Buck, 20th, 28, $3; Pte Peddie, 5th R.S., 27, $3; Sergt G Pellow, Grenadiers, 27, $3; Pte W G Jeffries, Highlanders, 27, $3; Pte W G Fowler, Grenadiers, 27, $3; Pte G Milligan, 77th, 27, $3; Corp F W Ruddick, 1st P.W.O.R., 27, $3; Pte C S Scott, 43rd, 27, $3; Major W Henderson, Highlanders, 27, $3; Corp A Beckett, 13th, 27, $3; Corp John Caven, 5th C.A., 26, $3; Pte J C Smith, Highlanders, 26, $3; Capt F W Brown, 12th, 26, 60c; Sergt W D Davidson, Highlanders, 26, 60c; Major R A Helmer, 43rd, 26, 60c; Capt R Holton, 30th, 26, 60c; Q M-Sergt J McVittie, Highlanders, 26, 60c. Last score in 5 5 4 4 3 3 2—26. Six scores of 26 counted out.

Tyros: L-Corp J A Edwards, 7th, 26, $3; Pte F Bibby, 77th, 26, $3; Pte F Hanes, 77th, 25, $3; Pte C B Almas, 37th, 25, $3; Pte W Lawrason, 77th, 25, $3; Pte Braddon, 7th, 24, $3; Sergt N J Dineen, 1st Hussars, 23, $3; Corp J K McGregor, 77th, 23, $3; Sergt-Major C H Vandersluys, 44th, 23, $3; Pte A H Armstrong, Q.O.R., 23, $3; Lieut M L Gordon, R.M.C., 22, $3; Capt W F Gibson, 44th, 22, $3; Mr H Mallory, Peel R. A., 22, $3; Sergt R Surplis, Grenadiers, 22, $3; Pte T Halliburton, Highlanders, 21, $3. Last score in 5 4 4 3 3 2 0—21. One score of 21 counted out.



Be a friend to Yourself!

Take proper care of yourself. Look after that most important possession—your health. A little neglect or carelessness and you open the door to serious illness.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

taken regularly will keep you in good health. It clears the head, gently regulates the bowels and strengthens the digestion. It drives away constipation. Do not take substitutes. Insist on "Abbey's."

Sold by all druggists.

MANY ACCIDENTS.

Quite a Number of Persons Seriously Injured on Thursday—Arrest of High Officials at Lisbon.

General Booth, the chief of the Salvation Army, contemplates a visit to Canada about the beginning of October.

George Hammond, while holding a pry, at Petrolea, Ont., was thrown twenty feet into the air. He came down on his hands, breaking both wrists.

Wilmot Crawford of Folden's Corners, Ont., died at 10.20 Wednesday night from the injuries which he received on Saturday by being thrown from a horse.

Milton Shouldice, of Chesley, 10-years-old, severed an artery in his instep by stepping on glass while at school. He nearly bled to death before he could get home.

—A great sensation has been caused in Lisbon, Portugal, by the arrest of several high officials, charged with defrauding the State to the extent of $400,000, and with accepting bribes.

An unknown woman dressed in black and about 25 years of age, jumped off the Dominion Atlantic Express Thursday afternoon while on the way from Yarmouth to Halifax, N.S.

Premier Barton, now in New York, wired Premier Ross Thursday night that he accepts the invitation to the Toronto Board of Trade banquet, to be given at the Toronto Club on the evening of Sept. 3, but regrets his inability to be present at Lord Dundonald's reception on Sept. 1.

The Spreckles Sugar Co.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—Application was yesterday made for the incorporation of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, Limited, and the next issue of The Canada Gazette will contain the announcement that incorporation has been granted. Charles A. Spreckles, the millionaire sugar man who has figured so prominently in connection with Hawaiian affairs, is behind the application. His name appears at the head of the list of incorporators. The capital will be $6,000,000 divided into sixty thousand shares of $100 each.

Five Were Drowned.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 29.—Five members of a boating party of six employes of the Battle Creek Sanitarium were drowned Wednesday night in Lake Cognac. Their rowboat was run down by the steamer Welcome. The drowned are: Mabel Richard, stenographer, Traverse City, Mich.; Lizzie Brady, nurse, residence unknown; Bella Dorsey, nurse, Allegheny, Pa.; Fannie Willis, nurse, and C. F. Pennett, male nurse, Dallas, Texas. Carry Brock, the other occupant, was rescued.

Briton Wants Naval Station.

London, Aug. 29.—Private advices from Paris say it is reported there that Sir James Lyle Mackay is "trying to secure from the Viceroys of the Yang-tse Valley a concession for a permanent British naval station at the mouth of the Yang-tse-Kiang, but that it is not likely that it will be granted as the other powers will certainly object."

Nothing confirmatory of this statement has thus far been obtained in London.

Wedding Stationery at The Intelligencer Job Office. tf

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

AUTUMN 1902

New Autumn Dress Goods.

We have received within the past few days a large shipment of

New Dress Materials

Direct from the fashion centres of Europe. They include all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this coming season.

In Broadcloths, Coverts, Vicunas, Zebelines,

Poplins, Homespuns, Friezes and Tweed Effects.

A word about the finish of all our Dress Goods this season—They are all finished in the celebrated "Ripley Finish." This particular finish is a perfect guarantee that the goods are thoroughly shrunk and will not spot.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

DIRECT IMPORTERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT J. W. Lendon's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not,

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 310 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

"G. B." Chocolates are ever increasing in popularity and favor with the chocolate eating public. Over eighty varieties of this famous brand made. They are "The finest in the land." 60c a lb. mixed.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up,

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD: subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No local charged as less than twenty-five words.

Across the Continent and Back Again, on page 2.

The band will give a selected programme at the park this evening.

The police cells have not contained a prisoner for one week.

Some boys were last evening acting in a disorderly manner around the Bank of Montreal building.

All children's boots and slippers will be reduced in price for Friday and Saturday only at Gorman's Shoe House.

Special rates by the R. & O. Liners to Toronto Exhibition. Rathbun Co. for further particulars. 28-tf

For speed, safety, comfort, the reliable Strs. North King and Caspian, with popular A.O.F. excursion, Sat. Aug. 30, 31st, leaving Belleville 11.38. Tickets $1.50. Good for 1 week $2.00. a27-3t

Ladies' new fall lace boots selling at reduced prices on Friday and Saturday only at Gorman's Shoe House.

A.O.F. annual excursion to Summerville, Port of Rochester, per steamers North King and Caspian, on Saturday, Aug. 30 and Sunday, Aug. 31, leaving Belleville 11.38 p.m. Fare $1.50. Good to return any time up to Sept. 6th, $2.00. a9,16,23,26,28d&4tw

Steamers "North King" and "Caspian" leave Belleville daily (except Monday) for Kingston and 1000 Islands at 3.25 a.m., and for Rochester, N.Y., at 11.38 p.m., after June 28th. me13-d&wtf

A Beautiful Plant

A night blooming cereus was in bloom last evening at the residence of ex-Ald. Grills, Holloway street, and it was viewed by many of the neighbors and friends. The fragrance from the flower filled the house.

Harbor Notes

The steamer Varuna this morning took an excursion from Gilead Sunday School down to Massassaga Park.

The steamer Ella Ross brought a large number to the city to-day from Picton and other bay ports.

A large number of excursionists from Canifton and Corbyville were taken to Massassaga Park to-day, where an enjoyable outing was held.

GENTLEMEN, IF YOU ARE BALD, See Prof. Dorenwend's Art Coverings in Wigs and Toupees, worn on thousands of heads. They are a protection against Colds, Catarrh, etc., and give a most natural and younger appearance to the face.

Trying on and demonstrating the superior art of these goods free of charge.

He will be at Hotel Quinte on Saturday, Aug. 30th, until 4 p.m. a19-3td&1w

---

SCHOOL BOOK SALE

In Order to give every parent and child an opportunity to purchase school supplies at prices never before offered at in Belleville, we contemplate holding a MONSTER SCHOOL BOOK SALE on SATURDAY, AUGUST 30th, and continuing for ten days. The prices are as follows.

Readers—Part I.	8c each.	Physiology and Temperance	19c.
Readers—Part II.	11c each.	History	23c.
Second Readers	14c each.	All Copy Books	5c each.
Third Readers	21c each.	Dictionary, clear type	12c.
Arithmetic Books	19c each.	Best Ink, per bottle	3c.
Grammars	19c each.	H. B. Pencils, 6 for	5c.
Practical Spellers	19c each.	Pencil Boxes, with Key	4c.

PENCILS GIVEN AWAY WITH EVERY PURCHASE.

AT—

McINTOSH BROS.

YOUNG ENGINEERS FEEL RATHER SORE

THINK THEIR BROTHERHOOD IS IN THE HANDS OF OLD MEN NOT IN ACTIVE SERVICE.

Toronto, August 23.—There is some little friction in the ranks of the Canadian Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, especially in the Toronto section.

There is, according to railway men's gossip at York and Toronto, any amount of dissatisfaction with the way the local affairs are being managed. The younger men of the Brotherhood are up in arms against the old members, and say that it is old men who are not engaged in the railway service who are running the business. These men, it is claimed, are only in it for the insurance feature, and therefore cannot have any sympathy for those who are engaged in active service

"They don't know our wants, or if they do they ignore us," declared one of the young men. "We cannot attend our meetings regularly, and these old fellows run things to please themselves; but a time is coming when these gentlemen will be up against it. We have a committee in Montreal at present conferring with the management, and if they don't get something for us—well, there won't be any local Brotherhood of Engineers."

"What will the young men do then? Won't they be outside of organization?" he was asked.

"Not much," was the reply. "You will find them all in with the firemen."

"It is evident," said an older member of the Brotherhood, "that some one has been getting hurt or disappointed, and when he cools off the Brotherhood will still exist and so will he."

The Brotherhood's agreement with the Grand Trunk terminates in September, and the committee at present in Montreal conferring with the management expects to adjust matters with the company satisfactorily to all parties.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such as the arrival or departure of guests, the movements of well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Miss Robinson, of Napanee, is in the city visiting relatives.

Mr. Ernest Lang, of Montreal, is visiting his parents in the city.

Mrs. and Miss Weller are home from Twelve O'clock Point.

Mrs. J. J. Goodman, of Colorado, is visiting friends in the city.

Master Morris Stork, who has been at Massassaga park for a month, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Brock and daughter, of California, formerly of this city, are visiting Mrs. Henry Canniff.

Miss Beatrice Moon left this morning for a visit to Dewart, Ill., with her uncle, Mr. D. Johnston.

Mr. Bert Record, North Front St., left yesterday for Niagara, where he has secured a position.

Mrs. C. M. Stork returned home from Twelve O'clock Point yesterday, after spending a month there.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sager, of Rochester, N.Y., returned home last evening, after spending a few days in the city.

Mr. E. Hayne is visiting friends at Ottawa, and will also spend a few days at Montreal before returning home.

Mr. J. F. Barker, Grand Rapids, Mich., is spending a few days with his family, the guest of his brother-in-law, N. M. Ostrom, Moira St.

Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn, who, with her family, is camping at Glen Island, had the misfortune to sprain her ankle, and, in consequence, will be laid up for some time.

Mrs. D. M. Waters and children have returned from Twelve O'clock Point, after a two weeks' stay. Mrs. Taylor and Miss Helen Masson came down with them.

Miss R. Glickler and the Misses Snowden, who have been visiting Mr. A. Glickler, North Front St., for some time, returned this morning to their home in Montreal.

Ald. Chown and Mr. J. T. Holgate, Warden of the County, leave to-morrow for Winnipeg, to attend the General Conference of the Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Meacham of 317 Jarvis street, Toronto, announce that the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ethel Meacham, to Dr. Arthur Ridder, of Buffalo, will take place the latter part of September. Mr. and Mrs. Meacham and the prospective bride are well known in this city, where they resided for some time.

At the Quinte: T. A. Brady, A. E. Dargess, W. Hamilton, J. C. Brown, R. C. Windeyer, J. Himmelreich, P. D. Taylor, J. Engal, C. F. Hill, W. E. Whitehall, Toronto; H. A. Stephens, Port Elgin; G. W. Morgan, Peterboro; W. E. Stearn, New York; J. E. Halliwell, Stirling; Geo. Sloan, Berlin; T. Pearson, H. Zimphey, A. H. Dutton, Montreal; A. Riddell, Gilmour; E. B. Hallatt, A. E. Scott, Clyde, N.Y.; H. C. Spencer, Boston; A. W. Robertson, Cascades; D. H. McDermid, London; A. Wright, Napanee; W. Boulter, Picton.

Friday and Saturday will be the last business days in August. They will also be the closing days of Gorman's Special Shoe Sale.

In order to record the largest sales of the month on the two last days Gorman's have put on sale several lines of ladies' fall lace boots at greatly reduced prices. The prices are for two days only. See their ad.

SATURDAY SALE

Here are a few lines of goods we desire to clear on Saturday. The quantities are limited so you had best come early to get a good choice.

WASH SKIRTS

The balance of our Colored Duck Skirts at $1.00

7 Gore flare skirt of fine Navy and White Duck, trimmed with 3 bias folds, inverted plait back, regular $2.00 skirt, Saturday $1.00

WHITE PIQUE SKIRTS HALF PRICE.

7 Gore skirt of fine quality white pique, trimmed with embroidery insertion, regular $3.00, for $1.50

Balance of Linen Crash Skirts to clear at .... .50

BLOUSES

All our White and Colored Blouses at .... HALF PRICE

—Fine White India Linen Blouse, plaited back, front of allover embroidery trimmed with insertion in Bolero effect, special value at $1.00, Saturday 50c

—Fine White Linen Lawn Blouse, hemstitched cuffs, back trimmed with tucks and hemstitching, front of embroidery insertion and bias tucks, $2.00, for $1.00

—Linen Batiste Blouse, newest cut, front cuffs and collar heavily embroidered in white, back with rows of tucks, a very pretty blouse, regular $3.65, for $1.38

—Fine Linen Colored Lawn Blouse, full front, with open work and embroidery, regular $2.90, for $1.45

HOSE

A few pairs ladies' and children's fancy hosiery, stainless, regular 25 and 30c, to clear at 15c

SAILORS

Ladies' Sailors going at less than HALF PRICE.

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

New York's Society Palmist

Miss Ellen Francis

Wonderful, Marvellous, Astonishing are Her Readings.

Gives Advice on all Affairs of Life.

Unites the Separated.

When Others Fail She Succeeds.

If you are in trouble of any kind, discontented, unhappy, not satisfied in life, having business, love or domestic troubles, you will be told how to overcome all.

"Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor."—Prov. iii., 16.

PARLORS KYLE HOUSE.

Hours: 10 to 9. Satisfaction guaranteed. Maid in attendance. 26-6t

---

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

Utopian Art Ware.

We have secured four handsome Jardinieres of the celebrated Utopian Art Ware, which is now on exhibit in one of our north windows. A single piece of Utopian pottery is an art education in itself. To take a piece in your hand and to feel its velvet softness, to look lovingly on the happy blending of painting and glaze is suggestive of symphony—the music of some half forgotten dream. This most wonderful ceramic production received the highest honors conferred on this class of goods at both Paris and Chicago.

You should make it a point to call and examine these Jardinieres.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery

The Daily Intelligencer.

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL — LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL — CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 36. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1902. NO. 102

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's

Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

GENUINE MUST HAVE SIGNATURE.

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

On an average more than three thousand people on the earth die every hour. Just at a thought it seems like it is dangerous to live.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE ... 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Fred Arnott's Narrow Escape

CAVE-IN IN JOHN ST. SEWER NEARLY PUT AN END TO HIS LIFE.

A very close call, indeed, was that which befel Mr. Fred Arnott, of this city, a man employed by the Corporation, yesterday afternoon. He can thank his lucky stars that he didn't stop growing any sooner, or there might be one man less alive in Belleville to-day.

Yesterday afternoon, about 4.30 o'clock. Mr. Arnott and two others were working, excavating, in the opening which is being made up John street for the sewer which is to be constructed there. The men were working at a point between Queen and Bridge streets. Two other men were up above, the soil the men were working in being mixed with quicksand. Knowing the soil was treacherous, the men above kept a sharp look-out. Suddenly one of the men up above saw the ground crack, and, knowing it must soon fall, he shouted lustily to those below to clear out. Two of them ran for their lives and got clear, but the other, Fred Arnott, was not quick enough, and the heavy sodden mass, with a rush, was on top of him, enveloping him completely. The lookers-on were horrified, but were greatly relieved the next minute to see Arnott's head emerge from the sand, his height, 6 ft. 1 inch, making it possible for him to surmount what would have smothered a shorter man. Boards were at once let down and the bank propped up, willing hands at once setting to work to dig him out. The depth at which the men had been working was 10 feet 4 inches below the street level. It took about half an hour to release Arnott from his perilous position, and not until the sand had been cleared away below his knees was he able to wriggle himself clear and crawl out to light and liberty. Beyond the shock and consequent fright the entombed man sustained no injuries, but it would take a large sum to get him to repeat the experience.

Earlier in the day a man named James Boyle was also caught in a cave-in, which, though not burying him higher than the waist, still bruised and hurt him even worse than Arnott.

The men who are digging John St. sewer will not be sorry when the excavating job is done. There is too much excitement about it for comfort.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

ARE NATURE'S CURE FOR CHILDREN'S AILMENTS.

Medicines containing opiates should never be given to children—little or big. When you use Baby's Own Tablets for your little ones you have a positive guarantee that they contain neither opiate nor harmful drug. They are good for all children from the smallest, weakest infant to the well grown child. These Tablets quickly relieve and positively cure all stomach and bowel troubles, simple fevers, troubles while teething, etc. They always do good and can never do the slightest harm. For very small infants crush the Tablets to a powder. Mrs. P. J. Latham, Chatham, Ont., says:—"My baby took very sick. His tongue was coated, his breath offensive and he could not retain food on his stomach. He also had diarrhoea for four or five days and grew very thin and pale. We gave him medicine but nothing helped him until we gave him Baby's Own Tablets. After giving him the first dose he began to improve, and in three days he was quite well. He began to gain flesh and is now a fat, healthy boy. I am more than pleased with the Tablets as I think they saved my baby's life."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

LOOKED EVERY INCH A KING AND QUEEN

How the Great Coronation Procession Impressed a Former Belleville Boy.

Lieut. Gordon B. Johnson Writes of the Doings on the 9th of August.

The following letter, written by Lieut. Gordon B. Johnson, son of ex-Mayor Johnson, shows how the great Coronation procession and the attendant ceremonies impressed a Belleville boy, who seems to have inherited the gift of language and description which belongs to his father and uncle:

Colchester, Aug. 12, 1902.

My dear father,—I think in my last letter I told you I did not expect to see the Coronation. I changed my mind, however, and, having got leave, went up to London on Friday, the 8th. Uncle J. was stopping at Craven St., Charing Cross, that night, to avoid having to come all the way from Highgate early in the morning. I stayed in Torrington Square (Bill knows the place).

That afternoon I went in a brake around the route of the procession. The traffic and crowds of people, which at any time in London are immense, were to-day simply appalling. Three or four rows of cabs, carriages and busses, etc., going each way, packed together, and halting frequently, made the whole of the street, as far as one could see, a solid mass of vehicles. The pavements of course were overflowing. The decorations along the line of route were very good, although perhaps not as striking as six weeks ago. St. James street, which always rises to the occasion, was, as a street, the best. But the most magnificent decoration of all, and the most talked of and admired feature of Coronation London, was the fine Canadian arch in Whitehall. It was an eye-opener, and object lesson to the hundreds of thousands who saw it, not as a decoration so much as proof of Canada's ability to supply little Britain with all the grain needed by her, as well as many other things which the average Englishman never believed possible. Besides being a magnificent triumphal arch, it was an unobstrusive advertisement of Canada's boundless wealth and resources, and a gentle hint to Englishmen and the world generally, that Canada is not the frozen-up region which the majority of people here have thought her. Around the arch the traffic and crowds were thickest, and hundreds of street hawkers were making their fortunes selling trophies of the Canadian arch. "'Ere y' are, sir, picture of the Canydian h'arch, one penny." "Pocket handkerchiefs with a picture of the "h'arch, one penny." "Official programme, two pence," etc. Pall Mall looked well, especially the fine club buildings. Even the dingy old War Office was hidden beneath numerous flags, one of the most conspicuous being a "Stars and Stripes." They are very generous here with the American flag, quite rightly, too, and it figured in nearly all the decorations.

The next day I was up and had had breakfast before 6.30. The day was fine and sunny, but clouded after a time. The guns from the Tower and Hyde Park awoke me at 5 a.m. I was down in Whitehall by 7. I chose this position for several reasons. I could here see the procession both going to and returning from the Abbey, this being the only street twice traversed. I wanted to be near the Abbey, which is only a short distance away, and the Canadian arch being an attraction for me settled the matter. When I got to Whitehall the pavements were already nearly full, the streets having been cleared by the police at 5, and no vehicular traffic being allowed except what was necessary to take people to the Abbey. No person was allowed inside the lines of police, lining the edges of the pavements, without a permit. As I said, the pavements were nearly full already, some people having stayed up all night sitting on the curb to get a front place. The numerous stands began to fill up now with people, who had paid not less than three guineas for a seat. Now, the troops to line the streets began to arrive, the Naval Brigade on their way from Victoria station, headed by their band, passed, about 1,000 of them, and got a great reception from the crowd. They looked well, indeed, in their straw hats and yellow leggings, the officers wearing cocked hats and tail coats. The troops in front of me were Indians and Colonials (see Graphic). Just about this time I saw uncle walking down in the middle of the street in his frock coat and silk hat, on his way to the Abbey, a new ticket of course having been sent him. There was no mistaking, as there was no one else inside the line of troops just then. Carriages now commenced to come down the street towards the Abbey. Georgeous coaches, drawn by several horses, with powdered coachmen and footmen, would come along, and inside you could see a peer and peeress in their robes and wearing their coronets. The crowd would laugh, "There we go. What ho! There's 'air." The Lord Mayor came along in his official coach, a good deal like the King's, with a half-dozen horses and mounted grooms, etc., a simply gorgeous turnout. He was greeted with laughter and cheers. "'Ello," said someone, "what blokes is these?" "My word, I wonder if he sleeps in that." "Look out, don't fall off, Charles," to the footman sitting on the box beside the coachman. There is nothing to approach a London crowd for good behavior, joking and fun and good nature. An Alderman, perhaps, would come along, dressed in his robes, and absurd-looking hat, a fat, red face, perhaps, and a general look of the 16th century about him. Cheers and laughter would greet him the whole length of the street. A London crowd does not look upon such figures, suited more to the times of the middle ages, with awe and reverence, as Americans probably think a British crowd would, nor with contempt and pity, as perhaps Americans would, but being the most cosmopolitan and free people on earth, without exception, they look upon such figures and sights with good-humored tolerance and amusement. One chap, probably a laborer, about 5 feet high, seemed to make more noise than anybody. His chin rested on the back of the man in front, and the back of his head against the man behind. He must have been nearly suffocated, and I don't suppose he saw anything. He went to sleep several times, and his knees evidently gave way, but he couldn't fall, and this always woke him up. One chap would try to light a cigarette, but couldn't get a match out of his pocket owing to the squeeze, and even if he did, he couldn't scratch it, unless it was passed along to the nearest lamp post. To show what the pressure was like, I will simply say that all the streets leading off the line of route were filled with people 100 yards deep. Sometimes the front row, by an imperceptible movement, would step off the pavement, then a policeman would tell them to try and get on again. They would try, but the crowd was like a rubber ball, press in here and it would squeeze out somewhere else. Then a mounted policeman would have a try. Their horses are trained to go in a side motion along a crowd and push back back by their own weight. All this sort of thing, with selections by bands nearby, enlivened the proceedings until about 10.45.

(Continued on Page 2.)

SPEEDY CURE FOR CRAMPS AND COLIC.

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

The Market

To-day's market was well attended. Prices as a rule were well up, especially for poultry and dairy products. Butter sold at 23c to 25c, eggs 15c per dozen, chickens 60c to $1 per pair. Fruit was plentiful and sold reasonably, apples selling at 10c per peck, gages 10c per quart and potatoes 50c to 60c per bag.

A Plain Question: Do you really get the only Painkiller—Perry Davis'—when you ask for it? Better be sure than sorry. It has not, in 60 years, failed to stop looseness and pain in the bowels.

THE ILLS OF WOMEN ARE TOO OFTEN WRONGLY DIAGNOSED BY OUR PHYSICIANS.

A LADY WHO WOULD NOT SUBMIT TO AN OPERATION IS CURED BY

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

It will prove interesting and comforting to thousands of women to know that almost all their troubles and diseases are due to a poor condition of the nervous system.

The ills, irregularities and diseases peculiar to women, such as nervous headache, nervous prostration, anaemia, loss of memory, irregular and supressed periods, hysteria, bearing down pains, poor and watery blood, neuralgia, general weakness and other troubles, can only be cured by a specially compounded medicine like Paine's Celery Compound.

This wondrous medicine of nature, popular with tens of thousands of our women, carries its rich nutriment and healing virtues to the blood, nerves and tissues, giving power and new life to inactive and diseased organs. No other medicine can so quickly banish and permanently cure painful and obdurate feminine ills; no other medicine ever devised can so truly keep the nervous system, blood and bodily organs in a healthy condition to fulfil their important duties. Mrs. A. Saunders, Brancondale, Ont., says;

"I was a great sufferer from severe attacks of neuralgia in the left ovary. At times the attacks were so acute that I thought I would lose my reason. Several doctors treated me, and I was a patient in the hospital. I obtained no relief from medical treatment. The doctors said unless I had the ovary taken away I could not be cured. Instead of submitting to the operation, I used Paine's Celery Compound, and I am thankful your valuable medicine cured me. I feel like a new woman, and would like all to know what your medicine has done for me."

Sydney Farmer Dead

Mr. Barnabas Wartman Lane died last evening at the family residence, 4th concession of Sidney. Deceased was born in Kingston in 1826, and came to Sidney when quite young, where he has since resided. Mr. Lane was married 55 years ago. He was a class leader and a local preacher of the Methodist Church for nearly 50 years. Deceased leaves, besides the widow, two sons to mourn his loss; also a brother, David Lane, living in Texas. Funeral 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, at Stone Church, 4th concession of Sidney.

NERVOUS, SLEEPLESS AND EXHAUSTED.

Not sick enough to lay up, but you are out of sorts, blood is weak, nerves unstrung, kidneys deranged, vitality is low. You should take Ferrozone at once; it will enrich, strengthen and purify the blood, invigorate and pacify the nerves, and increase your energy, vitality and power. Ferrozone will renew your appetite and digestion, make you sleep soundly—in fact will make you well. Try Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50; at druggists, or J. S. McKeown's.

SINCLAIR'S AD. SINCLAIR'S AD.

Saturday Night Sale

Here are some of the special attractions we offer for our Saturday Night Sale:

900 yards of best 10c Flannellette, 34 inches wide, in Pink, Blue and Cardinal, Plain Colors, will sell for	8c yard
9 doz. Ladies' Fine Black Sateen Underskirts, nicely tucked and hemstitched, will sell for 95c each.
12 doz. Ladies' Black Cotton Hose from 25c to 35c will sell for	19c pair
Your choice of 18 Ladies' Fine White Cambric Night Gowns, from $1.00 to $1.50, for	85c each
6 Skeins of Superior Shetland Floss will sell for	25c
24 Ladies' White Pique Dress Skirts will sell at	Half Price
All 50c and 75c Summer Corsets will sell for	35c pair
75c White Steel Filled Corsets will sell for	59c pair
$1.00 Erect Form Corsets, best makes, will sell for	69c pair
1.25 White and Drab Corsets, best makes, will sell for	95c pair
$1.50 White and Drab Corsets, best makes, will sell for	$1.10 pair

Sizes range from 18 to 30 inch.

Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department

We are now showing in this department the very newest styles in Ladies' Fall Costumes, Ladies' Dress Skirts and Ladies' Silk Waists.

Our store will be closed on Labor Day.

D. V. Sinclair & Co.

Store Closed Monday LABOR DAY

GORMAN'S

THE CORNER SHOE HOUSE

SHOES FOR ALL THE CHILDREN IN TOWN

Mothers! bring the children in to-night and let us fit them with neat—stylish—easy—durable boots—AT LITTLE COST.

All Children's boots and slippers are reduced in price for to-day only—come! let us serve you.

Children's fine kid button and lace boots—having substantial sole—round toe—square cap—sizes 11 to 2, regular $1 50, to-night only.............................. $1.25

Children's neat—superior kid button boots—solid sole—patent leather cap, sizes 8 to 10½—regular $1 25, to-night only.............. $1.00

Daily Intelligencer.

LUCKY AND UNLUCKY MINISTERS.

People will draw inferences, notwithstanding the fact that friends of the now wealthy members of the Laurier Government have an explanation to offer for the sudden and unexpected enrichment of the lucky ones. Their pecuniary aggrandizement is said to be due to fortunate speculations. Their positions as Cabinet Ministers, we are told, enable them to get inside information of a valuable nature. The knowledge so gained has been used in a masterly way and opulence has come to those possessed of it. It is a curious fact, however, that the four men in Ottawa who are generally credited with having speculated to most advantage, are the heads of the four spending departments. Hon. Clifford Sifton, Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. J. Israel Tarte and Hon. F. W. Borden are good examples of men whose advent to power was followed by business successes. Perhaps their handling of large sums of money and their extensive transactions have fitted them for their money making ventures. Hon. R. W. Scott, Hon. David Mills, Sir Louis Davies, Hon. Wm. Patterson and others, have been no doubt as eager to become wealthy as their fellow ministers. They have had access to the same sources of information as those who succeeded, but curiously enough they are not known to have made fortunes, and two of them, Sir Louis Davies and Mr. Justice Mills, have voluntarily retired to the Supreme Court bench and removed themselves from the hope of sharing in knowledge which begets cash in abundance. Of course none of those in the poor class had the same opportunities of learning the value of money, as their successful friends who were handling enormous sums each year. Really, wealth and its attainment are curious problems; very curious.

THE FARMER AND FREE TRADE.

When the Liberal Government came into power, we were to have many things that are evidently still on the road. We were to have Free Trade—the freest measure of Free Trade—and the farmer was to be the beneficiary of a policy, which if we were inclined to be visionary, might almost lead us to the belief that under its benign influence farms would look after themselves. At any rate anything needed by the farmer was to go on the free list. The time for action, notwithstanding the Government's promises, has evidently not arrived yet. In looking over the list of articles transferred to the free list since 1897, we do not find included in it one, that the farmer has any use for. The records show that hundreds of articles have been excused from paying duty, so that there was certainly a chance to slip in an odd and end for the tiller of the soil. The farmer who has waited for the day of Free Trade must be really restless. It is time for him to open his eyes to the emptyness of the whole Government policy.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Lady fainted on the market this morning. Probably when she heard the price asked for poultry and butter.

• • •

HEARD AT THE BAND CONCERT.

"The Belleville band will open the Toronto people's eyes when they go to the Exhibition."

"Yes, he'd make a good enough official, but no man can be elected in Belleville when the Grit paper supports him. People wonder what's behind it."

"Want to keep the children home from school till the 1st of October! What do they want to do? Drive their mothers crazy altogether?"

"Simthson is going to the Toronto exhibition. Humph! Might better stay home and pay his debts."

"You can't thrown a brick without hitting a music teacher nowadays."

"Perhaps its the fresh air around the Park that makes the boys so fresh."

"I think this will be the finest fall we've seen since Tom Downs slipped on a banana peel."

"Why don't they put the band in the caretaker's punt and let them drift round the harbor while they play?"

"What are you going to do on Labor day?" "Run the lawn mower while I'm resting myself."

Looked Every Inch A King and Queen

(Concluded From Page 1)

The procession was in three parts, the Prince of Wales being in one of the first two. He got a good reception, then a wait of perhaps 10 or 15 minutes, then guns began to boom from Hyde Park and the Tower, the signal that the King had left Buckingham Palace. Then in the distance towards the Palace one could hear a sort of muffled roar; this was the cheering in the Mall; this became more and more distinct, and more like a cheer as it approached, and finally it came right along and we found ourselves cheering as the word came along that "Kitchener" was coming. He passed in a minute, amid loud cheers, but without a look or movement to show whether he appreciated it. A few minutes later little "Bobs" came along with his Field Marshal's baton in his hand. He was cheered to the echo. Then the roar which we had heard before, marking the progress of the King, gradually spread through the Horse Guard's parade into Whitehall. We could see over the heads of the crowd the top of the coach moving slowly along, amid deafening cheers, then through the arch, until it came fully into view. Everyone simply let himself go, and ear-splitting cheer after cheer broke forth, the King and Queen continually bowing, and plainly visible through the glass coach, the crowd surging back and forth in their effort to cheer and get a better view. It passed slowly along and the roar of cheers passed, too, the bands playing the National Anthem being hardly heard. I tried to grasp the full significance of the whole thing just then as the coach went on. "There goes the King down historic old Whitehall to Westminster Abbey to be crowned," I said to myself, and no doubt thousands of others were thinking the same.

A tedious wait now ensued, which everyone expected to last two hours. The troops stood "easy" and sat down, and people commenced to eat for lunch what they had left over from breakfast (those who had been there all night). Then at 12.45 a crash from the chimes from the Abbey announced to the world that Their Majesties were crowned, followed at once by the guns from the Tower and Hyde Park. Everyone became very quiet, and then from away down the street near the Abbey we would hear a subdued "God Save the King" being sung, the guns and chimes still going. This was gradually taken up by the whole of Whitehall, and in perfect time and tune, fully 50,000 people were singing. It was most impressive. Lots of people were crying. Then when the verse was finished tremendous cheering broke out, then when the cheering ceased you could hear the crowd up in Trafalgar Square half way through "God Save the King," which when through was followed by repeated cheers, and was then taken up again at different points, followed each time by great cheers. It was the most wonderful singing I ever heard. Another long wait followed and it was fully 2.30 when the chimes and the guns told that the King was leaving the Abbey. The procession this time was merged into one, and in different order. The burst of cheers which greeted the King this time was, if possible, greater than before, and when he came opposite I saw he had on his crown; he was continually bowing. The Queen was on the far side. They looked every inch a King and Queen. I had them in view for fully one minute at close range. Leading a fresh cheer and waving my hat with energy, the King looked over towards my direction and bowed repeatedly; he seemed to be looking at me. When they reached the arch they stopped for half a minute, and then went on. After that the procession was soon over. I can imagine a more brilliant procession such as that of June 26th or 27th would have been, probably, but not a more impressive one. Every detail will be indelibly imprinted on my memory for life.

The illuminations at night were very fine, the Canadian arch, as usual, being the finest of the lot. The streets were filled from wall to wall with a solid mass of people, one stream moving one way, and one the other, absolutely well-behaved and orderly. No vehicular traffic was allowed. On my way home, after looking at the arch, I walked up Whitehall to Trafalgar Square, along Pall Mall, up the Haymarket to Coventry St., through Piccadilly Circus, up Regent St., along Oxford and up Tottenham Court Road, so I saw most of the illuminations except those in Piccadilly and in the "city," that is, the Bank Mansion House, etc.

I saw uncle that afternoon and evening. He will describe the Abbey in a letter, I expect. He says he does not want to see any more shows. This was the culminating point in the line of shows. I have the same feeling with regard to processions, having reached the climax on Saturday.

"Billy" Scott, who lives at that place, 4 Craven St., where uncle was staying, and where I have often been, is the man who arranges the Canadian exhibits in the exhibitions recently held in Paris and Glasgow and now in Wolverhampton and Cork. He is a fine fellow, with a big, round, good-natured face and very funny. He and "Freddie" Trouton, the Australian, who does the same job for Australia as Scott does for Canada, are great friends and live to-gether. They were both in the Canadian arch for the procession, and they were standing outside of the door of the arch entrance when the King's carriage stopped for half a minute, as I mentioned. They had them all to themselves for that space of time, and cheered for all they were worth. They got a bow all to themselves.

Take Angier's Emulsion in the Summer.

If you have weak lungs or consumption make your fight against the disease during the summer. Physicians advocate fresh air, moderate exercise, and plenty of nutritious food. A valuable adjunct to this treatment, is Angier's Petroleum Emulsion. It promotes a healthy appetite, puts the digestive organs in a condition to digest and assimilate food—thus greatly improving nutrition. It keeps the bowels in a normal condition so that pills and aperients are unnecessary. It is pleasant to take, agrees with the stomach, restores health and vitality.

All druggists sell it.

ANGIER CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

The Educational Department of the Province of Ontario having fixed the price of the authorized School Books, the undersigned have decided to sell the books at the prices fixed by the Government.

J. W. LONDON,
C. B. SCANTLEBURY,
McINTOSH BROS.
C. N. SULMAN,
WOOD'S FAIR.

PERSONAL ...AND... SOCIAL.

The Intelligencer invites all its readers to contribute to this column all items of a personal nature, such a the arrival or departure of guests, the movements o well-known people, business men, etc. All that is required is to send a post card to or telephone The Intelligencer.

Miss Daisy Carre, nurse-in-training at St. Lubie's Hospital, Ottawa, arrived home to-day for her vacation.

Mrs. Craddock, Miss Emily and Master John Craddock, left on the Alexandria to-day for Rochester.

Master Frank Evans has returned to his home at Brantford after having spent some weeks here with relatives.

Messrs. H. Corby and party are still enjoying themselves in London. They will sail for home on September 6th.

Mr. Wm Johnson will leave on Monday for Winnipeg, to attend the General Conference of the Methodist church.

Miss Elleda Perley, soloist of Sydenham street church, Kingston, well known in Belleville, has been engaged as musical instructor of Whitby Ladies' College.

The Rev. Warren Rothwell, of Manitoba, a former student of Albert College, is in the city and is receiving a cordial welcome back by many friends.

Professor V. P. Hunt has returned to the city. During his absence the organ of Bridge St. Church was in charge of Miss Laura Lavoie and Mr. Walter Hungerford. Their services were much appreciated by Bridge St. Church.

DESERONTO DOINGS

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM THE HUSTLING TOWN DOWN THE BAY.

Deseronto, August 29.

The annual Flower Show of the Deseronto Horticultural Society will be held on Sept. 17. J. D. Collip, of Belleville, has accepted an appointment as judge.

On Labor Day a baseball match will be played on the Driving Park. Deseronto vs. Napanee.

The convention of the Presbyterian Union, which is to be held in the Presbyterian Church on Monday next, promises to be very interesting and helpful.

Thomas Dowling, Napanee Road, was the victim of an accident on Tuesday evening. He was driving a team of horses across the railway track, near the Terra Cotta works, when a train came along and smashed his wagon. His right leg was broken in two places. He had a narrow escape.

Another Unfortunate

Percy Maracle, a young Indian, aged 15 years, was yesterday placed in jail as a dangerous lunatic. The unfortunate young man is a member of the Mohawk tribe, on the Tyendinaga Reservation.

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Sept. wheat opened at 70 3-8, closed at 70 5-8.

Dec. wheat opened at 67 1-8, closed at 67 3-8.

Sept. corn opened at 57, closed at 57.

Dec. corn opened at 42 5-8, closed at 42 3-4.

Real Estate is moving slowly. Hunt & Jeffers are anxious to dispose of some residences nicely situated in town, and have a 50 acre fruit farm in Prince Edward for sale. They have brick and stone residences in convenient localities to rent. Should any party desire a nice country residence on the Bay of Quinte, with four acres of land and fruit trees a short distance from the city, they can be accommodated.

If a pessimist happens to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth he naturally expects it to choke him sooner or later.

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locals charged as less than twenty-five words.

The police court record was a blank again to-day.

Come to the tent meeting to-night. Dr. Lee speaks to-morrow night. Come.

The World's Fair at Shannonville will be held on Saturday, Sept. 27.

The John St. Kindergarten will re-open Tuesday, Sept. 9th.

A lady fainted upon the market this morning, but soon after revived.

Monday being Labor Day, and a Dominion holiday, The Intelligencer will not be issued.

There are two boards on the foot-bridge walk which are partially loose, causing much annoyance to many pedestrians.

Two young men were acting in a disorderly manner in an up-town hotel last evening, but made good their escape when the police were telephoned for.

Postponed excursion to Napanee until Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 3rd. Remember date and come. Boat leaves Rathbun dock at 3 sharp. One hour in Napanee, calling at Deseronto. a30,s2

On Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 2nd and 3rd, the household furniture of the late Mrs. L. M. Lent will be sold by private sale at Lattimer's Terrace, 210 Church St. 30,2

One-way Excursions will be run during the months of September and October to points in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Montana, Utah, Colorado, Washington and British Columbia. For fuller particulars and tickets good to start from Belleville station, call at the office of S. Burrows, 359 Front St., Belleville.

The High and Public schools re-open next Tuesday at 9 a.m., when it is expected that all pupils will be present to begin the work of the term. The Madoc Model school begins the work of the session next Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Having no one else to pay profits to but the policy-holders you can save money by insuring your life in the Mutual Life Assurance of Canada, no matter what others may tell you to the contrary. S. Burrows, General agent.

Napanee Beaver;—The best catch of black bass we have heard of this season was made at Hastings on Tuesday and Wednesday last by Messrs. Hart, Lapum, W. A. Daly, E. Francisco and E. VanAlstine. They brought home a hundred, the largest weighing five pounds, and lots of three and four pounders sprinkled through the box.

They were really beautiful those night-blooming cereus at Mrs. Henry Creber's, on Hillside street, last night. There will be more out to-night. What a pity it is that those brilliant flowers are not more lasting. They are superb.—Com.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

BRIDGE ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

11. a.m. Sermon—Rev. Joseph H. Locke.

2.30—Sunday School.

7 p.m. Sermon—Rev. E. A. Tonkin.

Special music in the evening by the choir under the direction of Professor V. P. Hunt, and vocal solo by Mr. Chambers, of New York.

Strangers in the city, students at Ontario Business College, Belleville Business College, and all other visitors welcomed.

JOHN ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Corner of Victoria Avenue and John Street.

Morning subject — "Nehushtan." Evening subject—"The Uplifted Serpent, and the Uplifted Saviour."

Mrs. French, of New York, will sing a solo at the evening service.

THE TABERNACLE METHODIST CHURCH.

Church St.

Joseph H. Locke, Pastor.

Service at 11 a.m. by Evangelist Vermilyea. Service at 7 p.m. by the Pastor.

Mrs. (Dr.) MacColl, Choir leader and organist.

Sunday school and Bible Classes at 2.30.

Obliging ushers will extend a cordial welcome to all strangers and visitors.

VICTORIA AVE BAPTIST CHURCH,

Cor. Victoria Ave. and Pinnacle St

REV. O. C. ELLIOTT, Pastor.

Mr. R. W. Osborne will preach at both services to-morrow.

Young People's meeting Monday evening at 8.00. Prayer and praise service every wednesday at 8.00.

Seats free; all welcome.

BELLEVILLE NORTH (BLEECKER AVE) METHODIST CHURCH.

10.30 Fellowship meeting. 11 & 7, preaching by the Pastor, Rev. M. J. Bates. 4.15 and 8.30 p.m. Tent meeting and each week night at 8 until further notice. Good speaking by various ministers and laymen. 2.30 Sunday School.

Kingston Road—Rev. M. J. Bates 2.30.

Centre St.—Supplied.

A NAGGING COUGH drives sleep and comfort away. You can conquer it with Allen's Lung Balsam, which relieves hard breathing, pain in the chest and irritation of the throat. Give it freely to the children.

NO FROST IN MANITOBA YET

Temperature at Calgary, However, Was Quite Low.

The Alarmist Rumors Were, Fortunately, Unfounded—New Wheat Arrives in Winnipeg—An Immense Quantity of Grain Is Cut, and Threshing Proceeds Merrily—Shortage of Harvesters—Toronto Station Says No Frost Is Indicated.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—The weather conditions yesterday were again of a very favorable character for the growing crops in most sections of the province.

Here and there light showers fell, and the weather was cool and cloudy in many places, but not near the frost point, and from no quarter has your correspondent upon inquiry heard of frost in Manitoba.

The temperature was quite low at Calgary Thursday night, and it was thought a cold wave might come this way, but at midnight last night there was no sign of frost. However, the temperature is probably the lowest of the week.

Threshing has commenced in many sections, and a carload of wheat arrived yesterday — a magnificent sample. An immense quantity of grain is cut and frost or no frost, it seems a certainty that the great bulk of the crop is safe.

There is no frost up to date, and local weather prophets say the warm spell will continue for several days yet.

There is a decided shortage of harvesters.

No Frost Indicated.

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Aug. 29, 8 p.m.—Fine weather everywhere prevails. In the Northwest Calgary and Medicine Hat reported light frosts last night, but to-night the outlook is very favorable, with no frost indicated.

TERRIFIED BY WOLVES.

Residents Near Ottawa Losing Stock Every Night From This Source.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Residents of the Township of Buckingham are being terrified these days owing to the appearance of wolves. Every night they are awakened by the howl of the savage and dreaded animals. Last Sunday Patrick Cosgrove and his neighbor, a Mrs. Kelly, had twelve lambs devoured by the savage beasts, and on Tuesday the slaughter was renewed. So great has become the alarm in the neighborhood that the people have got together and detailed a nightly guard, armed with rifles. Since that time the wolves cries have been heard, but so far none of them have come out very near to the village.

BASEBALL.

Eastern League, Friday.

Toronto 1, Montreal 5.
Newark 3, Worcester 1.
Buffalo 10, Rochester 3.
Buffalo 3, Rochester 5.
Jersey City 5, Providence 6.

National League, Friday.

Pittsburg 3, Chicago 9.
Boston 4, Brooklyn 0.
Philadelphia 6, New York 2.
Cincinnati 10, St. Louis 1.

American League, Friday.

Cleveland 4, Washington 2.
Detroit 1, Boston 6.
Chicago 6, Philadelphia 10.
St. Louis 7, Baltimore 1.
St. Louis 4, Baltimore 2.

Judges For Fall Fairs.

Toronto, Aug. 30. — The Ontario Department of Agriculture has appointed the following judges for the fall fairs: Division 1—Horses.— W. F. Kidd, Simcoe; dairy cattle and sheep, Mr. Cumming, Guelph; beef cattle and swine, G. B. Hood, Guelph. Division 2.—Horses—H. G. Reed, Georgetown; beef cattle and sheep, John Campbell, Woodville; dairy cattle and swine, ———. Division 3.—Horses and beef cattle, E. W. Charlton, Duncrief; dairy cattle, R. S. Stevenson, Ancaster; sheep and swine, Andrew Elliott, Galt. Division 4—Horses, J. M. Gardhouse, Highfield; beef cattle and sheep, A. W. Smith, Maple Lodge; dairy cattle and swine, William Jones, Zenda. Division 5—Horses, George Gray, Newcastle; dairy cattel and sheep, D. C. Hanmer, Mount Vernon; beef cattle and swine, J. E. Brethour, Burford, and Peter Christie, Manchester.

Toronto Woman Loses $150.

Hamilton, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Maggie Clifford, 162 Bay street, Toronto, reported to the police in this city last night that while she was coming up from Toronto on the 5.30 Grand Trunk train her satchel, containing $150, was stolen from her. She had a ticket for London, whither she was going to pay for a monument to mark her late husband's grave, but on the discovery of her loss she left the train in this city. Acting Chief Prentice arranged for her railway fare back to Toronto, and she returned on the 9.25 G.T.R. train.

Exiled French Nuns Coming.

Rat Portage, Ont., Aug. 30.—Rev. Father Gendreau has stated in an interview that a number of the nurses who were recently expelled from France are coming to Rat Portage to start a hospital. St. Joseph's Academy has been taken over on behalf of the Oblate Order, at the request of Archbishop Langevin. Father Gendreau states that the hospital will be non-sectarian in character. It is expected that the nurses will arrive in a few days.

Hundreds Die by Landslide.

Calcutta, Aug. 30.—A great disaster is reported from the native State of Nepal. The Rivers Baghmati and Vishumati overflowed their banks and caused serious landslides in the Khatmandu Valley. The cities of Bhatgaon and Batna were greatly damaged and several hundred persons were killed.

Daily Intelligencer.

TO-DAY AND TO-NIGHT.

Y. M. C. A.
Public Library.
Conservative Auxiliary Rooms.
Foresters (Catholic) Reading Room.
Bridge Street Church Free Reading Room.

THE WEATHER.

To-day's Probs—

Light to moderate winds, fine and warm. Sunday, fair and warm, a few local thunderstorms.

To-day's Temperature

As Registered by The Intelligencer's Guaranteed Thermometer:

8 a.m. 63
12 m. 80
2 p.m. 85

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

The deliveries of live stock were light, 45 loads, composed of 586 cattle, 1200 hogs, 1006 sheep and lambs, and 20 calves.

Export Cattle—Choice loads of heavy shippers sold at $5.75; medium exporters, $5 to $5.40 per cwt.

Export Bulls—Choice heavy export bulls sold at $4.50 to $5; light export bulls, $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Export Cows—Export cows sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle, equal in quality to best exporters, 1075 to 1150 lbs. each, sold at $4.65 to $5.25; choice picked lots of butchers' heifers and steers, 950 to 1065 lbs. each, sold at $4.40 to $5 per cwt.; loads of good butchers' sold at $4 to $4.50; loads of medium butchers', $3.75 to $4; common butchers' cows, at $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Exporters and Butchers, mixed—Loads of mixed butchers and exporters sold at $4.50 to $4.75 per cwt.

Feeders—Feeders, 1050 to 1100 lbs each, are worth $4.50 to $4.75 and light feeders, 850 to 900 lbs. each, $3.75 to $4 per cwt.

Stockers—Stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, of good quality, are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.; off colors and poor quality of the same weights are worth $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows—Milch cows and springers sold at $35 to $45 each.

Calves—Calves sold at $3 to $10 each, or from $3.50 to $5 per cwt.

Spring Lambs—Spring lambs are worth $4 to $4.40 per cwt.

Sheep—Prices, $3.40 to $3.55 per cwt. for ewes, and bucks at $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs—Best select bacon hogs, not less than 160 lbs. nor more than 200 lbs. each, off cars, sold at $7.25 per cwt.; lights at $7, and fats at $7 per cwt.; sows, $4.50 to $5 per cwt., and stags [illegible]

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Aug. 29.—Cattle—Receipts, 150 head; good to choice steers and good butchers', steady; common to medium butchers', slow to 10c lower; female grades, steady. Veals—Receipts, 200; strong, 50c higher; tops, $8.25 to $8.50; fair to good, $7 to $8; common to light, $5.75 to $6.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 3500 head; slow, steady on heavy; others, 5c to 10c lower; heavy, $7.75 to $7.80; fancy mixed, $7.36; mixed, $7.65 to $7.75; Yorkers, $7.50 to $7.60; light, do., $7.35 to $7.45; pigs, $7.25 to $7.35; roughs, $6 to $620; stags, $5 to $5.60; grassers, $7.20 to $7.60; closing, weak.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 7300 head; sheep, easier; lambs, dull; top lambs, $5.50 to $5.75; few at $5.90; fair to good, $5 to $5.35; culls to common, $3.75 to $4.50; yearlings, $4 to $5.25; wethers, $3.75 to $4; sheep, top mixed, $3.25 to $3.50; fair to good, $3 to $3.20; culls to common, $1.75 to $2.75; ewes, $3.25 to $3.50; closing, lambs, 25c lower; sheep, steady.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Cattle—Receipts, 2000, including 200 Texans, 500 Westerns; steady to weak; good to prime steers, normal, $8 to $8.75; poor to medium, $4 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.25; cows, $1.50 to $5.50; heifers, $2.50 to $6; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; bulls, $2.50 to $5; calves, $2.75 to $7.25; Texas-fed steers, $3 to $5; Western steers, $4 to $5.35.

Hogs—Receipts, 20,000; slow, closing 10c to 15c lower; mixed butchers', $7.10 to $7.45; good to choice, heavy, $7.40 to $7.65; rough, heavy, $6.95 to $7.30; light, $7 to $7.45; bulk of sales, $7.25 to $7.40.

Sheep—Rec'ts, 4000; sheep, dull; lambs, dull; good to choice wethers, $3.50 to $3.75; fair to choice, mixed, $2.50 to $3.50; native lambs, $2.50 to $6.10.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Aug. 29.—Live cattle, easier, at 12c to 13½c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef, 11½c to 12c per lb.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Kemptville, Aug. 29.—Cheese sold here to-day at 9¾c. The offerings were 770 colored and 85 white, of which 315 boxes were sold on the board. The buyers present were: Ferguson, Howe, Bissell and Webster.

South Finch, Aug. 29.—The regular meeting of Finch Cheese Board was held this evening. There were 2151 cheese—1400 colored, balance white; price offered, 9 7-16c. Buyers present: Weir, Pruner, Birdsell, Logan and Keenan.

To Divide $7,000,000.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Letters received here state that John Loftus, Ottawa; Nicholas Loftus, Perth, and Patrick Loftus, New York, nephews of the late Sir Francis Loftus of Mount Loftus, Kilkenny, Ireland, are the sole beneficiaries of the estate, which is valued at $7,000,000. The three nephews, it is said, have jointly retained Hon. Edward Blake to take out letters of administration, Sir Francis having died intestate.

MANY A PROVERB

long accepted and often quoted, fails to stand investigation. How frequently is it said "You cannot have too much of a good thing." But what about medicine? You know the medicine is good, but you seldom wish the dose were larger; you generally wish it were smaller.

IRON-OX TABLETS

are exceedingly small, but they are also exceedingly effective. They are a gentle laxative. They are a nerve tonic. They cure indigestion.

Fifty Tiny Tablets—so Easy to Take Twenty-five Cents

BUSINESS DIRECTORY

MEDICAL.

JOHN J. FARLEY, M.D., C.M., M.R. C.S., England.

Office and Residence — Corner of Bridge and George Streets — three streets East of Post Office.

DR. J. F. MATHER

Has removed his office to Pinnacle St., three doors north of Hotel Quinte. may29-6mw

LEGAL.

WILLS & WRIGHT,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notary Public, &c., Belleville,

Office—9 Campbell Street.

MALCOLM WRIGHT. J. FRANKLIN WILLS.

Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

W. C. MIKEL, B.C.L.,

Barrister, &c.

Office—Metropolitan Block, Corner Front and Campbell Streets.

PORTER & CARNEW,

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc.

Offices — Robertson Block, East Front St., Belleville, Ont.

'Phone 87.

E. G. PORTER. WM. CARNEW.

WILLIAM N. PONTON,

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer. Office over Express and Telegraph Office, Bridge Street, Belleville.

Money to Loan—Private Funds. Solicitor Hastings Loan and Investment Society.

FRANCIS S. WALLBRIDGE,

(Successor to Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C.)

Barrister, Solicitor, Conveyancer, Etc. Office, McAnnany Building, corner Front and Bridge Sts., Belleville, Ont. Private and Company money to loan at 6 per cent., on easy terms upon good land security.

Charges moderate.

INSURANCE.

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT INSURANCE

At Lowest Rates The Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society and Perth Mutual on farm and city property. Also money to loan at 4½ per cent. upwards.

JAMES A. CHISHOLM,

Office Ashley Block, • Front st., Belleville.

Fire Insurance.

Guardian . . . Est'd 1821

The North America, . Est'd 1792

Quebec, . . . Est'd 1818

City, Town and Village Property insure at lowest rates.

R. W. ADAMS. Agent.

Office opposite Post Office.

PERSONS desiring Life Insurance cannot do better than consult

W. J. THOMSON,

who is the Agent for the following well-known and old established Assurance Companies:

ROYAL. ALLIANCE.

OCEAN ACCIDENT. STANDARD LIFE

Office at Rathbun Co., Bridge St. oc5-d&w

THOS. STEWART,

Insurance and Commission Agent.

Agent for the Norwich Union Fire Ins. Society and Scottish Union & National Ins. Co.

BRIDGE ST.

Money Saved is Money Earned

can earn you money by saving it for you in your Fire Insurance.

The Anglo-American Fire Ins. Co

The Merchants Fire Ins. Co.

The Equity Fire Ins. Co.

Are all strong Canadian stock companies and insure Farm and City Property at lower rate than other stock companies Call and see me before placing your fire insurance.

Office—Bridge St., same entrance Quinte Laundry, Belleville.

H. FREEMAN KETCHESON.

Fire, Life & Plate Glass Insurance.

Liverpool & London & Globe of England.

Waterloo Mutual, of Waterloo, Ont,

Lloyd's Plate Glass.

Home Life Association, Toronto,

North British & Mercantile.

Farm and City Property insured in First-class Reliable Companies and at lowest current rates. Losses promptly settled. Land valuation, and transact general Real Estate business and sale or purchase and renting of property. Appraiser for the Hastings Loan & Investment Society. Money to Loan.

W. P. HUDSON, Office above Rathbun's office, cor. Bridge and Pinnacle Sts., opposite Postoffice and Hotel Quinte, Belleville,

'Phone 168.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. G. NORTHRUP,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses, Shire Hall, Belleville, Ont.

CHAUNCEY ASHLEY,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,

Private Office, Bridge St., Belleville, opposite the Post Office,

Residence, first house east of W. W. Chown's Mfg. Co., Station St.

Appointments made.

THE INTELLIGENCER is printed and published for The Intelligencer Printing and Publishing House (Limited) by CHARLES JAMES BOWELL, of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Province of Ontario, at their Office, No. 403 Front Street, Belleville, Ont.

While every effort will be made to change advertisements, no matter at what time received, it must in all cases be understood that, to ensure change, copy should be handed in on the evening previous.

THE MARKETS.

A Firmer Tone in Grain at Chicago—Liverpool Cables Irregular—The Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, Aug. 29.

Liverpool closed wheat unchanged to ⅜d lower to-day and corn ⅛d lower to ⅛d higher.

At Chicago to-day Sept. wheat advanced ⅜c and Sept. corn ⅜c.

LEADING WHEAT MARKETS.

Following are closing quotations at important wheat centres to-day:

	Cash.	Sept.	Dec.	May.
New York	....	74¼	72⅝	74½
Chicago	....	70⅜	67⅛	69⅛
Toledo	71⅛	71⅛	71⅛	72⅝
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	69½	67⅛	65⅛	....

TORONTO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Grain—

Wheat, red, bush	$0 74 to	$0 75
Wheat, white, bush	0 75 to	0 80
Wheat, spring, bush	0 78	0 79½
Wheat, goose, bush	0 67	....
Beans, bush.	1 00	1 25
Peas, bush.	0 84	....
Rye, bush	0 51½	....
Barley, bush	0 47½	....
Oats, bush	0 49	....
Oats, new, bush	0 35	0 36
Buckwheat, bush.	0 55	....

TORONTO FARM PRODUCE.

Wholesale.

Hay, baled, car lots, ton...	$9 75 to	$10 00
Straw, baled, car lots, ton..	5 00	5 75
Butter, dairy, lb. rolls.....	0 16	0 17
Butter, tub, per lb.........	0 15	0 16
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 19	0 21
Butter, creamery, boxes ..	0 18	0 19
Butter, bakers', tub........	0 13	0 14
Eggs, new-laid, doz.........	0 15	0 15½
Honey, per lb	0 08	0 09
Honey (sections), each	0 12½	0 15

TORONTO HIDES AND WOOL.

Hides, No. 1 steers, inspected....		$0 09
Hides, No. 2 steers, inspected....		0 08
Hides, No. 1, inspected...........		0 08
Hides, No. 2, inspected		0 07
Hides, No. 1, cured, selling......		0 08½
Calfskins, No. 1, selected...........		0 10
Calfskins, No. 2, selected...........		0 08
Deacons (dairies), each.............		0 60
Sheepskins, each	$0 70 to	$0 90
Pelts, each	0 30	0 40
Lambskins, each	0 30	0 40
Wool, fleece, per lb........	0 13	....
Wool, unwashed, per lb ..	0 07	....

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—Flour—Receipts, 600 barrels; market quiet

Flour quotations—Patent winter, $3.20 to $4; patent spring, $4 to $4.10; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70; strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.70; Ontario bags, $1.70 to $1.80.

Grain—Wheat, No. 2 Manitoba Northern, 78c to 80c; corn, 68c to 70c; peas, 82c to 85c; oats, 44c to 45c; barley, 51c to 52c; Rye, 56c to 58c; buckwheat, 62c to 64c; oatmeal, $2.30 to $2.40; cornmeal, $1.50 to $1.60.

Provisions—Pork, $24 to $25; lard, 9c to 10c; bacon, 14c to 15c; hams, 13c to 14c.

Produce—Cheese, 9c to 10c; butter, townships, 18c to 19c; western, 15c to 16c; eggs, 12c to 14c.

Moonshiner Sentenced.

Tillsonburg, Aug. 30. — Albert Smith was fined $100 for having an illicit still. Besides he must spend 30 days in the county jail.

Thoughtful.

"Well, he's a very thoughtful and good hearted fellow anyway."

"I can't see it. I was at his home yesterday, and it never occurred to him to ask me to stay to dinner."

"That's just the point his wife is taking cooking lessons."

Willie's Query.

Little Willie—Say, pa, this book says nature never wastes anything.

Pa—I guess that's right, my son.

Willie—Then what's the use of a cow having two horns when she can't even play on one?

The first shipment of wheat from Chicago via the lakes was made in 1838. The shipment consisted of seventy-eight bushels.

Half honesty won't answer. You must be honest all the way through or your little tricks will be accepted as downright dishonesty.—Atchison Globe.

Life hath no blessing like a prudent friend.

Remarkable Recovery From Nervous Collapse

A METHODIST MINISTER TELLS HOW HE WAS RESCUED FROM A HELPLESS CONDITION BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

That Dr. Chase's Nerve Food possesses unusual control over the nerves and rekindles nervous energy when all other means fail is well illustrated in the case described below. Mr. Brown was forced to give up his ministerial work, and so far exhausted that for a time he was positively helpless. Doctors were consulted and many remedies were resorted to in vain. Every effort to build up the system seemed in vain, and it is little wonder that the sufferer was losing hope of recovery, when he began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Rev. T. Brown, Methodist minister, of Omemee, and late of Bethany, Ont., writes;—"A year ago last November I was overtaken with nervous exhaustion. For six months I did no work, and during that time I had to be waited on, not being able to help myself. Nervous collapse was complete, and though I was in the physician's hands for months, I did not seem to improve. At any little exertion my strength would leave me, and I would tremble with nervousness.

"From the first I used a great many nerve medicines, but they seemed to have no effect in my case. I had almost lost hope of recovery, when I heard of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and began to use it. As my system became stronger, I began to do a little work, and have gradually increased in nerve force and vigor, until now I am about in my normal condition again. I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the best medicine I ever used. Not only has it proven its wonderful restorative powers in my own case, but also in several others where I have recommended it."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

Hay Fever Misery.

"I can safely say that Powley's Liquified Ozone is the best thing I have ever tried for hay fever. It has cured me and I have suffered terribly." Mrs. Wm. Whalen, Box 87, Penetang—

We have many letters like the above and we will send you a copy of them if you would care to investigate them or study the different phases of the disease as they indicate. Hay fever is one sign of a run-down constitution. Powley's Liquified Ozone will renew your vitality; make your system so vigorously healthy you will not be able to catch hay fever.

Price 50c and $1.00 a bottle at all druggists. The Ozone Co. of Toronto, Limited, Toronto and Chicago.

GULF STREAM MARKS.

The Course of the Flow Through the Ocean Plainly Indicated.

The color of the stream is perceptibly deeper blue than that of the neighboring sea, this blueness forming one of the standard references of the nautical novelists. The depth of color is due to the high percentage of salt contained as compared with the cold green water of higher latitudes, observation having shown that the more salt held in solution by sea water the more intensely blue is its color. Thus even in extratropical latitudes we sometimes observe water of a beautiful blue color, as for instance, in the Mediterranean and in other nearly landlocked basins, where the influx of fresher water, being more or less impeded, the percentage of salt contained is raised by evaporation above the average, says the National Geographic Magazine.

Another important fact in connection with the stream is its almost tropical temperature, due to the fact that its high velocity enables it to reach the middle latitudes with very little loss of heat. Upon entering its limits the temperature of the sea water frequently shows a rise of ten degrees and even fifteen degrees. It was this fact that gave to the stream in the later years of the eighteenth century and the earlier years of the nineteenth an importance in the minds of navigators that it no longer possesses. In those days the chronometer, invented by Harrison in 1765, was still an experiment. Instruments were crude and nautical tables often at fault.

The result was that the determination of the longitude was largely a matter of guesswork, a vessel after a voyage from the channel to America often being out of her reckoning by degrees instead of by minutes. The idea, first suggested by Benjamin Franklin, that the master of a vessel, by observing the temperature of the surface water, could tell the moment of his entry into the gulf stream and could hence fix his position to within a few miles was hailed with delight.

The method was published in 1790 by Jonathan Williams in a work lengthily entitled "Thermometrical Navigation: Being a series of experiments and observations tending to prove that by ascertaining the relative heat of the sea water from time to time the passage of a ship through the gulf stream and from deep water into soundings may be discovered in time to avoid danger." In this work he makes a patriotic comparison of the gulf stream to a streak of red, white and blue, painted upon the surface of the sea for the guidance of American navigators.

Don't Be a Second Class Man.

You can hardly imagine a boy saying: "I am going to be a second class man. I don't want to be first class and get the good jobs, the high pay. Second class jobs are good enough for me." Such a boy would be regarded as lacking in good sense if not in sanity. You can get to be a second class man, however, by not trying to be a first class one. Thousands do that all the time, so that second class men are a drug on the market, remarks Success.

Second class things are only wanted when first class can't be had. You wear first class clothes if you can pay for them, eat first class butter, first class meat and first class bread, or, if you don't, you wish you could. Second class men are no more wanted than any other second class commodity. They are taken and used when the better article is scarce or is too high priced for the occasion. For work that really amounts to anything first class men are wanted.

The Usual Kind.

Nodd—What do you mean by saying that my baby is just an ordinary baby?

Todd—Why, he is precocious and beautiful and the best that ever lived, isn't he?—Life.

INFAMY'S SUCCESS.

Bit of Buccaneer History Connected With a Havana Theater.

The Tacon theater in Havana, one of the largest and most famous in the western hemisphere, was built by an old reprobate, Marti, who was a notorious pirate in his day and obtained immunity for himself by betraying his comrades into the hands of the Spanish authorities. One dark and rainy night Marti slipped by the sentry guarding the palace in Havana and entered the apartments of the captain general, who was writing at a table. When the governor general raised his eyes and saw the cloaked figure before him, he reached for the bell.

"Stop, your excellency!" cried the stranger. "I am here on a desperate enterprise. I have come to deliver into your hands every pirate on the Cuban coast upon one condition—a pardon for myself."

"You shall have it," was the answer. "But who are you?"

"I am Marti, and I rely upon the promise you have given me."

Preparatory to this interview Marti had appointed a rendezvous for the different bands, to which he conducted the Spanish force, and every pirate was captured and righteously garroted. As for Marti, he was not only pardoned, but was given a monopoly of the sale of fish in Havana, which made him a rich and thus eminently respected citizen, who ended his days in the odor of sanctity.

The Old Surf Bath.

It is not so many years ago when surf bathing of a very primitive kind prevailed at the eastern end of Long Island and, for aught I know, at other points. Every Saturday morning or afternoon, as the tide willed, throughout the summer big farm wagons trundled down to the beach and were swung around abreast of the line of breakers. Old fishhouses served the purpose of modern bathing pavilions, and the sea costumes were those of last year's village street. A long rope was drawn from under the seats and hitched to the wheel, and then some sturdy ex-whaler or life crew man, in red flannel shirt and old trousers tied at the ankles, slipped his wrist through the loop at the end of this primitive lifeline and, wading out, kept it as taut as circumstances permitted, while the women and children hung to it and reveled and wallowed and shrieked, rejoicing in their "Saturday tub."—Outing.

Legs That Hear.

One of the strangest and most unexpected of the uses to which we could imagine a leg as being put is that of an organ of hearing. Yet such seems to be one at least of the functions of the fore legs in the cricket. On the outer side of the tibia a small oval space may be seen, in which the strong armature which covers the rest of the body is reduced to a thin and membranous condition, making thus a sort of window or drumhead. Communicating with this, inside the leg, are the ends of a nerve, and it can hardly be doubted therefore that the whole apparatus constitutes an auditory organ.

All He Wanted to Know.

"My dear," he said softly.

"Well?" she returned, with some asperity.

"There is just one thing I desire to know in order to be contented with my lot."

"What is it?" she asked.

"Will you hold me up as a model to your third husband as you now hold your first husband up to me?"

Artificial Flymaking.

The trade of artificial flymaking is the lightest fingered business in the world, and it is not one man or woman out of 5,000 who can learn to tie flies. These tyers are remarkable for the beauty and delicacy of their hands, and only the cleverest of fingers can deal with the "niggling" work of knotting hairs that can hardly be seen.

Pure, Fragrant and Cleansing.

BABY'S OWN SOAP

IS UNRIVALLED FOR NURSERY AND TOILET USE.

Don't risk imitations on Baby's delicate skin.

ALBERT TOILET SOAP CO., Mfrs. MONTREAL. 6-2

After Work or Exercise

POND'S EXTRACT

Soothes tired muscles, removes soreness and stiffness and gives the body a feeling of comfort and strength.

Don't take the weak, watery witch hazel preparations represented to be "the same as" Pond's Extract, which easily sour and generally contain "wood alcohol," a deadly poison.

THE PUBLIC should bear in mind that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has nothing in common with the impure, deteriorating class of so-called medicinal oils. It is eminently pure and really efficacious—relieving pain and lameness, stiffness of the joints and muscles, and sores or hurts, besides being an excellent specific for rheumatism, coughs and bronchial complaints.

Many beds have the appearance of comfort, but no amount of clothing can warm a cold heart.

A WONDERFUL CURE.—Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes; "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. About a year ago I took a very severe cough, had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one-half, the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done, it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little effect. But since using 3 bottles of the Vegetable Discovery, the biliousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know."

Half fare on the railroad is the next best thing to a pass.

The Flagging Energies Revived.—Constant application to business is a tax upon the energies, and if there be not relaxation, lassitude and depression are sure to intervene. These comes from stomachic troubles. The want of exercise brings on nervous irregularities, and the stomach ceases to assimilate food properly. In this condition Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will be found a recuperative of rare powder, restoring the organs to healthful action, dispelling depression, and reviving the flagging energies.

The man who can keep his mouth shut has the best of the argument with all women.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is a speedy cure for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera, summer complaint, sea sickness and complaints incidental to children teething. It gives immediate relief to those suffering from the effects of indiscretion in eating unripe fruit, cucumbers, etc. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to conquer the disease. No one need fear cholera if they have a bottle of this medicine convenient.

Sometimes the most charitable view of others is that they ought to be in the insane asylum.

Sleeplessness.—When the nerves are unstrung and the whole body given up to wretchedness, when the mind is filled with gloom and dismal forebodings, the result of derangement of the digestive organs, sleeplessness comes to add to the distress. If only the subject could sleep, there would be the oblivion for a while and temporary relief. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will not only induce sleep, but will act so beneficially that the subject will wake refreshed and restored to happiness.

The wonder is there are not more kicking horses, since there are so many men who kick without discrimination.

These two desirable qualifications, pleasant to the taste and at the same time effectual, are to be found in Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. Children like it.

A peppery temper is not a thing to be sneezed at.

When all other preparations fail, try Holloway's Corn Cure. No pain whatever, and no inconvenience in using it.

People who sleep with sin will not be able to wash away the marks of it.

To get relief from indigestion, biliousness, constipation or torpid liver without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, take a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills, they will please you.

In the British Army 129 officers are qualified as interpreters in French, 106 in Russian, 81 in German, but only one in Dutch.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

Icebergs in the North Atlantic usually appear about February 15 and are seen more or less frequently until about June 15.

They make one feel as though life was worth living. Take one of Carter's Little Liver Pills after eating; it will relieve dyspepsia, aid digestion, give tone and vigor to the system.

Up to the present slower progress is being made with the construction of the Edward VII. than of any warship built at Davenport.

Nothing so suddenly obstructs the perspiration as sudden transitions from heat to cold. Heat rarifies the blood, quickens the circulation and increases the perspiration, but when these are suddenly checked the consequences must be bad. The most common cause of disease is obstructed perspiration, or what commonly goes by the name of catching cold. Coughs, colds, sore throat, etc., if attended to in time are easily subdued, but if allowed to run their own course generally prove the fore-runner of more dangerous diseases. Nine-tenths of the consumptives date their afflictions from a neglected cold, and the diseases that are caused by wet feet, damp clothes, or exposure are more numerous than are generally supposed. One of the most efficacious medicines for all diseases of the throat and lungs is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which frees the lungs from viscid phlegm by changing the secretions from a diseased to a healthy state.

Wedding and Funeral

FLOWERS

At COLLIP'S.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Time of departure from Belleville station.

Going East.

No. 16—Local, for Brockville, 7 a.m., arrives back from Brockville, 8 p.m.

No. 8—12.45 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.

No. 2—1.45 a.m., Express, daily.

No. 6—11.40 a.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

No. 4—12.22 p.m., International Limited, daily.

No. 12—5.55 p.m., Local Passenger, daily, except Sunday.

Going West.

No. 5—3 a.m., Mail and Express, daily except Monday.

No. 3—4.10 a.m., Limited Express, d'ly.

No. 9—5.50 a.m., Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 11—11.22 a.m., Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 1—1.50 p.m., International Limited daily.

No. 7—5.10 p.m., Mail and Express, daily, except Sunday.

Taking effect 12.01 o'clock, Sunday, June 15, 1902.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.

Belleville and Peterboro.

Going West.

	Leave	Arr. Peterboro
Mail......	5.40 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Mixed......	5.55 p.m	9.05 p.m.

Going East.

	Arr.	L've Peterboro
Mixed......	11.20 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Mail......	4.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.

Belleville and Madoc.

Going North.

	L've	Arr. Madoc.
Mixed......	11.50 a.m.	1.20 p.m.
Mixed......	6.30 p.m.	7.40 p.m.

Going South.

	Arr.	L've Madoc.
Mixed......	9.10 a.m.	7.30 a.m.
Mixed......	5.00 p.m.	3.45 p.m.

None of the above trains run on Sunday.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickles

Crosse & Blackwell's Mixed Pickles,

" " Chow Chow,

" " White Onions,

" " Girkins.

" " Walnuts.

" " Soho Pickles,

" " Chutneys, etc,

Heintz's Sweet Midget Gherkins,

" Sweet Pickles.

" Sweet Mixed Pickles.

" Mixed Pickles.

Williams Bros. Sweet Gherkins.

Bow Park Pickles, etc., etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's,

Pickling Vinegars Finest Quality

Pure White Wine Vinegar,

Pure Cider Vinegar.

Pure English Malt Vinegar, etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Pickling Spices Pure & Fresh

WHOLE OR GROUND SPICES of the finest quality.

Also Garlic, Turmeric, Bay Leaves Celery Seed, Mustard Seed, Currie Powder, etc., etc.

At Wallbridge & Clarke's.

Flour

HIGH GRADE BREAD AND PASTRY FLOUR. . . .

Rathbun's Crown Jewel.

" Diadem.

" Family.

And Other Popular Brands at Lowest Prices.

WALLBRIDGE & CLARKE

MARKET MOVEMENTS

carefully analyzed and presented in our

"Daily Market Letter"

in such manner as to be of valuable assistance to the operator, aiding him to so trade as to obtain the best results. Mailed free, also our handsome 400 page, clothbound, illustrated

"Guide to Investors".

Orders solicited to any amount for purchase or sale.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

373 Front St., - Belleville, Ont.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES.

Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Worcester, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Newark, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany, Poughkeepsie, Montreal, Toronto, Reading, Atlantic City, Cincinnati, Toledo, Columbus, Detroit, Providence, Lowell, Hartford, Springfield.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

THE TRAVELLER'S OVERCOAT.

This is the season of the year for travelling. Excursion rates will be on, and thousands of people will go from this district to attend the different fairs.

What we want to say is this:— You must have a nice light overcoat to travel with, and we have exactly the right thing in our new raglan waterproof and light overcoat combined. This coat we have had made especially for us, and it is right up-to-date in every particular. Two colors, dark grey and fawn, and lined throughout. These coats are nice and soft and guaranteed to stay so, should one go hard, we will refund the price in full. The price on this best coat is only $10.

Should you want a cheaper one, see what we are offering at $2.50, $3.00 and $5.00.

OAK HALL,

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR

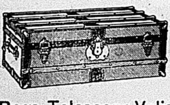
Opens Sept. 1st, closes 13th.

Holiday seekers will find full lines of

Trunks and Travelling Bags

AT LOWEST PRICES

AT OUR STORE....



Basket Trunks

Steamer Trunks

Round and Flat Top Trunks

Bags, Telescope Valises, Shawl Straps

Address Tags, Suit Cases

AT ALL PRICES.

THE BAGGAGE SMASHER

They started for an outing,
They traveled night and day
In mountains, vales and cities
As long as they could stay.

But when their journey ended
The baggage man looked blue,
Because that trunk they bought from us
Was just as good as new.

The J. J. HAINES

SHOE HOUSES at Belleville, Napanee and Trenton

The Warden Remembered

On Thursday evening the home of Mr. John T. Holgate, of Sidney, who is the Warden of the County, was invaded by a large number of his friends and an evening of rare enjoyment followed. During the evening a complimentary address was presented to His Honor, accompanying which was a suitable testimonial. The address referred not only to his municipal career, but also to his active work in the church. The recipient, although taken by surprise, made a suitable reply, expressing his gratitude to the friends for so kindly remembering him.

UNMISTAKABLE SIGNS OF CATARRH.

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then its catarrh. Use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily and readicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed membranes, clears nose, throat and air passages by one application. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping, and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists.

DEATHS.

LANE—In Sidney, on Friday, Aug. 29, 1902, Barnabas Wartman Lane, aged 76 years.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 31. Service in the Stone Church, 4th concession Sidney at 2 o'clock.

FAIRLY CONE MAD!

Is a modest way of telling of the torture that thousands of people have suffered from Skin Diseases—before they learned of that wonderful healer Dr. Agnews Ointment.

But "gone wild with joy" only faintly expresses the deep meaning in the thankful hearts that have been relieved from skin tortures by this greatest of skin healers. Have you Piles? Salt Rheum? Eczema? Ring-worm? Pimples? Has baby got Scald Head? Have you any eruption of the skin? One application of Dr. Agnew's Ointment will help—a few will cure—it never fails. 35 cts. 63

SOLD BY D. M. WATERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Monday being Labor Day and a holiday, everybody ought to be at church twice to-morrow. We can all do our resting the next day.

• • •

They say all the Kingston old maids get off the street cars backwards, hoping the men will catch them when they fall.

• • •

CONDITIONAL WELCOME.

(Ottawa Journal.)

Sir Wilfrid Laurier extends an invitation to Frenchmen to come to Canada, where they will be heartily welcome. Certainly they will. But let us hope that Parisian journalists who come over will take to farming.

• • •

Many of our esteemed fellow-citizens will spend parts of next week in Toronto, and to such we would say Remember you get the cash to feed yourself and the little ones in the beautiful city of Belleville. Don't spend more than you can help in another place of what you earned at home. Do unto others as you'd like to be done by, then shall gladness and the knowledge of having done your duty, fill your heart. It's better to help put your own friends and neighbors on Easy St. by spending your money at home than to deliberately shove them into Queer St. by handing your money to strangers. And that's no idle band concert joke.

• • •

"We're all glad to see there's a prospect of the Rolling Mills starting again," says an observant citizen, "but what we would really like to see here is an agricultural implement factory. Just think of the market there is in this district for a concern of that kind!"

• • •

What kind of a thing is a sheet mill, anyhow? Will it manufacture sheet steel or sheet music?

• • •

Oysters will soon be in season, but if this weather keeps up the ice cream will easily exceed the bivalves in popularity.

• • •

Up to the hour of going to press the contract had not been let for building a new fence around the old dabg.

• • •

Looks as though the summer resorters had come home a few minutes too soon.

• • •

By to-night all the Manitoba grain will be cut, which is where it has the advantage of Belleville's weeds.

• • •

The Hamilton editors are fighting about water now, trying to make their readers believe they know something about it.

• • •

Kingston News: The new industry which is coming to Kingston will help the place, provided the scheme is not knifed in its infancy by some jealous individual, who does not want to see the city go ahead.

If one can believe what he hears, there are other places besides Kingston which have suffered from jealous individuals and "grafters." Let us hope Belleville may steer clear of them in the present Rolling Mills negotiations.

• • •

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, talking to the Review of Reviews in London, made use of some queer language for a man who, when occasion demands it, is always ready to prate about his loyalty to the Motherland. Being asked by the interviewer — presumably the pro-Boer, W. T. Stead —if Canada had not committed herself to Imperial defence by sending her contingents to the South African war, Sir Wilfrid made use of the following remarkable language: "No, we sent the contingents, it is true, but if you will refer to the speech which I delivered in Parliament when the First Contingent was sent, you will find that I laid it down in the strongest possible terms that their despatch was in no way to be regarded as a constitutional precedent or the fulfilment of an obligation. Canada reserved her liberty—in any future war in which the Empire might be involved—to decide whether she would stand aloof."

• • •

Many people thought that Tarte was responsible for the "no precedent" proviso which caused humiliation to so many loyal Canadians when the First Contingent was sent; now we find out that Laurier was the man. The Premier's words have a different ring to those which were uttered by the men of Australia and the other British colonies. But Laurier never was a loyal man. He has openly expressed the desire to see Canada break away from the Empire and become an independent nation. When expediency demands it he can wave the Union Jack—in Ontario—but his utterances deceive nobody. He is simply a shallow time-server, who is all things to all men. True Britons can be thankful that British connection does not lie at the mercy of Laurier and Tarte.

• • •

Mr. E. A. Macdonald, once Mayor of Toronto, has been suffering from nervous prostration ever since he occupied the Mayor's chair. A warning for Belleville people who aspire to the gold chain of office.

• • •

France proposes to tax all bachelors over 30. This would be a good scheme to boost Belleville's finances.

• • •

Victims of hay fever may get a grain of comfort out of the following, from a medical journal. A simple preventive is the rubbing with surgical cotton twice daily of as much of the inner nasal surface, or mucous membrane, as can be reached. The massage hardens the membrane, lessening its over-sensitiveness.

• • •

The ratio between the sailor and engineer branches respectively in the British navy is as four to one. There is an urgent call in some quarters to increase the engineer staff still further. But the Admiralty have set their faces against it. It is argued, however, in the Engineering Magazine for September that when everything is done on shipboard by mechanical means except to fight the guns and keep the ship clean, the proportion of four sailors to one engineer should be reduced.

Editorial and important local news on second page.

Literary Notes

WILSHIRE'S FOR SEPTEMBER.

Wilshire's Magazine for September is fully up to the standard held by that unique publication for the past year. There are many timely and instructive, as well as interesting articles from men of all shades of political belief upon the great industrial and social questions of the hour, notable among which are: "The True Joy of Life," "Two World Conquerers" and "Lady Florence Dixie's Elixir of Youth," by the editor; "Schopenhauer on Death," a criticism, by Adolph Hepner; "Socialism and its Programme," by John S. Pyle, LL.B., M. D., professor of anatomy in the Toledo, O., medical college; "Our Industrial Position," by Henry Gannett; "America Undermining Europe," by H. M. Hyndman, the English sociologist and lecturer; "The White Child-Slaves," by Lucinda B. Chandler, wherein the author condemns child labor of southern factories. An intelligent selection of miscellany, correspondence and poetry fill out an exceeding well edited number of the magazine.

OUR NATIONAL GAME.

Why is lacrosse our national game? So few people know the true reason, which lies in the fact that the game was made by Canadians. In a crude form it was played by the Indians, but a few whites, among whom was the late Dr. W. George Beers, of Montreal, adapted the game so that it was made suitable for white players. The story of its rise and growth and of the men who have made it a popular game is told by two writers in the September Canadian Magazine. One of the most interesting of the many photographs is that of the Canadian Team which toured Great Britain and Ireland in 1883. No lacrosse enthusiast can afford to miss all the information contained in this issue.

We have recently received a book entitled "Home Nursing," published by the Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., Montreal. This publication contains practical instructions for the performance of all offices pertaining to the sick. It tells what to do in case of accidents, treats with nearly all the diseases to which human flesh is heir to, as well as containing many recipes for preparing solid and liquid food for the sick. No home should be without a copy of it. It is a very attractive book, of about 50 pages, and can be obtained upon application to the publishers, Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., Montreal, enclosing to them 5c in stamps to cover the expense of mailing, etc.

The Fall Fairs

E. Hastings, Thrasher's, Sept. 25-26.
Sherbrooke, Aug. 30, Sept. 6.
Toronto Industrial, Sept. 1-13.
Frontenac, Harrowsmith, Sept. 4-5.
Iroquois, Sept. 8-10.
Peterboro, Central, Sept. 9-11.
Addington, Tamworth, Sept. 12-13.
London Western, Sept. 12-20.
Napanee, County, Sept. 16-17.
Newboro, Sept. 15-16.
Brockville, Sept. 16-18
Hamilton Central, Sept. 16-18.
Perth, County, Sept. 17-19.
Prescott, Sept. 23-25.
Hinchinbrooke, Parhum, Sept 23-24.
Delta, Sept. 23-24.
Merrickville, County, Sept. 24-25.
Renfrew, Sept. 25-26.
Lombardy, Sept. 27.
Spencerville, Sept. 30, Oct. 1.
Beachburg, Oct. 2-3.
Lansdowne, Oct. 7-8.

There are nine kilted regiments in the British army.

Coughs Probably you know of cough medicines that relieve little coughs, all coughs, except deep ones! The medicine that cures the worst of deep coughs is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. In use 60 years. 25c., 50c., $1.00. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

FROM DEATH'S DOOR

THE TIMELY RESCUE OF A BRIGHT LITTLE GIRL.

Was on the Verge of Complete Nervous Prostration and Her Parents Thought Death Would Claim Her.

When growing girls or boys are ailing, too many parents experiment with doubtful medicines, which only touch upon the symptoms of the trouble, leaving it to return later in a more aggravated form. When you use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, you are not experimenting—they go directly to the root of the trouble by making new, rich, red blood, and building up weak nerves—in this way they cure, and the trouble does not return. It is because these Pills always cure when given a fair trial, that they have the largest sale of any medicine in the world. They are not an experiment—most other medicines are. Mrs. Wilson Johnson, Hemford, N.S., gives the following strong corroboration. She says:—"At the age of nine, our daughter, Albertha, began to decline in health. The color left her cheeks; her appetite failed and she complained of headaches and a weakness of the limbs. Her health grew so bad that we were forced to take her from school. We tried several remedies, but they did not help her, and she kept growing weaker all the time. She was very pale, had almost constant headaches, and was on the verge of complete nervous prostration. In fact we feared that death would take her from us. One day I saw an account in a newspaper of a girl who had been cured of a similar trouble through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We decided to try these, and before three boxes were used, there was a decided improvement in Albertha's condition. We continued giving her the pills for probably two months, by which time she was as healthy as any girl of her age. Her appetite had returned, the headaches had disappeared, and her cheeks had regained their rosy color. It is now nearly two years since she took the pills and she has not had a sick day since. We are very grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for her, and would advise all parents whose daughters are ailing to give them a fair trial and not experiment with other medicines."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure all troubles that arise from poverty of the blood or weak nerves. Among such troubles, may be classed anaemia, headache, neuralgia, erysipelas, rheumatism, heart ailments, dyspepsia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, and the ailments that render miserable the lives of so many women. Be sure you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers, or sent by mail, post paid, at 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

The Trouble With Poets.

"Trouble 'bout these here poets," said the Georgia farmer, "they none of 'em make good field hands."

"Ever tried 'em?"

"Of course. They're dead set ag'in plowin' for fear they'll hurt a wild flower, an' they won't beat an' swear at a mule for fear he's got a soul."

"That's strange."

"No, it ain't. 'Twixt you an' me an' the gatepost it's downright inherited laziness."

"FOOT ELM" TOUGHENS TENDER FEET

RENDERS THEM CAPABLE OF BEARING THE BURDEN OF THE BODY WITHOUT PLAYING OUT QUICKLY.

There are quite a few people whose feet are tender, get sore, ache and tire easily. Feet like that are a great source of discomfort and even suffering.

To get the feet in condition so that they can carry their owner with comfort, all that is needed is the persistent use of "Foot Elm" for a short time. It prevents the excessive sweating, eases the aching and tiredness, tones up and strengthens the muscles of the feet, and puts them in such condition that they do not tire or play out easily.

Always ask for "Foot Elm" and refuse imitations and substitutes, which may do injury to the feet. Price 25 cents a box of 18 powders at all druggists, or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont. Do not accept a substitute.

Ease of access, accommodation and health-giving Waters all combine to make the MAGI Caledonia Springs an ideal resort for the invalid or healthy.

BOYS' SCHOOL CLOTHING

CAN WE PLEASE YOU

Is that the problem you are trying to solve? If it is let us help you. No question about it—the very liberality of this store's assortments and the certainty of the Quick & Robertson quality makes that certain. The choice we give you cannot be improved upon. Whatever's newest, stylish or right you'll find it here. This store has earned for itself the title "The Satisfaction Store." If you should happen to get a poor garment for your money (and that by the way is a rare occurrence), your money is yours again.

We must sell reliable clothing and none other, or if, perchance, you are not suited with your purchase, you may bring the goods back and your money is yours again, without questioning or without coaxing to take something else. Why shouldn't we please you? To-day we make special mention of Boys' Double-Breasted Two-Piece Suits At $2.00 and $2.75.

Made in colors that won't show soil for tree climbers, fence-boosters and any rough out-door play treatment. The cloth closely woven and will wear like leather. The linings in keeping with the high quality of the goods, every seam sewn with silk or linen thread, and so remote from competitors in price.

For Large Boys Age 10 to 17 years

Three-piece Suits, single or double-breasted coats, and at all prices from $2 25 to $8,00 will let you select the prettiest. These are all the newest weaves and latest colorings.

Don't misunderstand us, we don't say ours is the only clothing, what we claim is this, and we think we can convince you of it if you give us a chance, ours is the best for the money. Come and see.

Quick & Robertson.

Exclusive Agents for Johnston's Famous Make of Clothing

Charcoal

Charcoal Charcoal

Another shipment just to hand of the best grade hardwood charcoal, conveniently put up in paper sacks which we sell at

15 cents each or 25 cents for two

The W. W. CHOWN Company, Limited.

Greenleaf & Son.

GENERAL REPAIR SHOP

Any work entrusted to us will have our most careful attention.

Don't forget our special bargains in WHEELS

Spectacles.

THEY'RE EYE HELPS IF RIGHT. EYE HURTERS AND HEADACHE MAKERS, IF WRONG. . . . . .

Who but yourself can prevent your having them wrong if you don't get them at the right place? Not the average spectacle seller. His mission seems to be to get your nose harnessed with a pair that strikes your fancy and opens your purse.

It is by knowing the optical business thoroughly and attending to it properly that we hope to build and to keep a reputation.

ALEX. RAY.

Don't begin to smoke cigarettes and you will never have to quit it.

The Time To Use Perfume

is all the time, if it is the right kind. So delightful and delicate an odor as Lorna is never out of place and its use cannot but prove pleasing to refined people. We'll consider it a favor if you will ask us to show you Lorna whether you want to buy or not. Some time you'll want it and then you'll be glad you learned about Lorna.

McKeown's DRUG STORE.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how nice a volume can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines, or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books, with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first-class. THE INTELLIGENCER, Belleville.

A Few Houses Painted With S=W=P

Bell Telephone Office, Bridge St.
Col. W. N. Ponton's, Trent Road.
J. T. Osborne's, Moira Street.
Charles Wallis', Moira Street.
Alf. Mathews', Geddes Street.
Jas. A. Rose's, Geddes Street.
E. G. Porter's, Dunbar Street.
Bert Frederick's, Everett Street.
James Hodge's, Everett Street.
Mrs. Abraham's, Elmer Street
Let us paint yours this Fall.

WATERS'

The meanest man living is the skilled hypocrite who uses religion to successfully work out his designs upon honest and simple-minded people.

It is claimed that the automobile will soon be put in the reach of all. It might be better to put everybody out of reach of the automobile.

There are small men in high places the world over.

A glutton is no better than a drunkard.

A woman will pray over what a man will swear at.

The Best of Everything in

SCHOOL BOOKS

And School Supplies at Scantlebury's.

Boys' School Boots

BOYS' COARSE LACE BOOTS, 85, 75 and 50c. Sizes 11 to 13 and 1 to 5.

BOYS' FINE LACE BOOTS, $1.00; Sizes 1 to 5.

BOYS' EXTRA STRONG LACE Boots at $1.75, $1.50 and $1.25.

Girls' School Boots

GIRLS' HEAVY LACE BOOTS, 75, 65 and 50c.

GIRLS' FINE LACE AND BUTTON Boots, 85, 90c and $1.00.

GIRLS' BOX CALF LACE BOOTS, $1.25. Extra Good Wear.

We have a Complete Line of Little Gents' Lace Boots, sizes 8 to 10 1-2.

A. W. Vermilyea & Son

The Best for the Least Money is the simplest way to tell the merits of HUDSON'S DRY SOAP.

The testimony of the public—that portion of the public who know from hard experience, the housewives. MILLIONS of them—three generations of them—is unanimous that it is "THE BEST."

The results from using it are more thorough and lasting and its saving of time, patience, money and the strength of the user, makes it economical. "The Best for the Money."

So much more proof—

For particular work where common soap is very objectionable, such as the cleansing of jewelery, silver, dishes, cut-glass and kitchenware, it is the ideal dirt and grease remover.

Everywhere about the house its use is marked by purity and thorough cleanliness.

Across the Continent.

(Concluded from Page 8.)

as near as possible as nature made it. They had made lovely drives and fountains. There was lovely flowers and all kinds of birds and animals.

There is a splendid view of Portland at its feet and away in the distance, making a beautiful background is Mt. Hood, some sixty miles away.

I spent part of my time at University park, proposed site of the exposition which is to take place in 1905.

One day my friends took me for a picnic up the Willamette river, to Oregon City, which is situated at the foot of the Willamette falls. It was a very pretty sail up the river, and after a hard climb of two or three hundred feet up a steep bank, we had our tea where we could look down on the falls.

Another day we went up to the Columbia river as far as Cascade Locks. Here I was able to see from the boat what I could not see from the train, huge rocks rising straight up from the water's edge, some hundreds of feet, some thousands, and all clothed in beautiful green and brown. With the exception of a few showers, it was a delightful day, and I enjoyed it very much. I was at the park the night of the great Portland fire, and although I was four or five miles away, it was a beautiful sight, but so disastrous. I thought, and I believe a great many others do, that Portland is situated on the Columbia river, but it is on the Willamette river, about eight miles above where it empties into the Columbia. It is a sea port, and many large ocean vessels are to be seen there at any time. There are also a great many foreigners here, the half you see are strangers, the most conspicuous is the Chinese, whole families of them, the ladies look so comical, their dress is made the same as the men, but of black silk, and they wear white embroidered slippers, and their hair, which is black, is coiled up on top of their heads, and have long, black pins with gold heads, sticking through, you never see them wear any other head dress. There are a great many things I would like to speak of, but I'm afraid of taking up too much room. After spending several days in Portland and vicinity, I went back to Forest Grove, when a few days later Mr. Boldrick and myself started for the coast. We left F. G. about nine o'clock in the morning for Corvallis, where we arrived about noon, after passing through some very nice farming land. At one o'clock we started over the coast range. So little is mentioned of the coast range in the geography, that one would suppose they did not amount to much, but late as it was in the year, there were a great many mountains peaks that had snow on them.

(To be continued.)

SAVED HER CHILD

The great majority of mothers are now convinced that Lactated Food is the safest and most nourishing for babies in summer time. Mrs. L. P. Smith, Truro, N.S., says;—

"When my baby was three months old he was seriously ill and weighed only ten pounds. I gave him Lactated Food, and now, at the age of ten months, he is well and hearty and weighs twenty-five pounds." Lactated Food is recommended by over twenty thousand physicians.

THE BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE, LIMITED.

Write for Catalogue.

Departments.

1. Bookkeeping and Commercial Usages—up-to-date in every respect. 2. Shorthand and Typewriting—Thorough office practice. 3. Telegraphing—Special attention given to Railroad work. Students may enter any day. A few dollars invested in a good business education will yield large profits.—J. FRITH JEFFERS, M.A., Principal.

PROTECT YOUR EYES.

By consulting Dr. Mecklenburg, a reliable man, who has made the eye a special life study, and who has fitted successfully hundreds of thousands in the past 15 years of his practice after others had entirely failed. Do not delay, consult him at once at McKeown's drug store, Front St. Belleville, the week of Sept. 1 to 6, 1902. Monday till Saturday night.

Spiders usually live for two or three years.

The moon is said to move 3,333 feet per second.

Ten per cent. of the population of India are widows.

When an artist's wife poses for him he makes her stand around.

There are over 9,000 brass bands in the Salvation Army.

It is better to have a light purse than a heavy heart, but more comfortable to have neither.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at R. Templeton & Co.'s.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Measurement Nonpareil—12 lines to the inch.

Display advertisements, 10c per line.
Subsequent consecutive insertions, 5c line.
Reading advertisements, 15c per line.
Preferred position, 20 per cent. advance upon casual or contract rates.
Minimum space, 10 lines.
Marriages and deaths, 50c each insertion.
Births, 25c each insertion.

Rates for Condensed Advertisement will be found in 1st column of 2nd page.

All advertisements are subject to the approval of the Publisher of the Intelligencer.

Address all communications to the Intelligencer Printing & Publishing House Limited, or to Charles J. Bowell, Managing Director and Treasurer.

CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS.

Situations Wanted, Help Wanted, Lost or Found, For Sale or To Rent, &c

(Auction Sales not included in this list)

TERMS.—Twenty-five words or less, 25c first insertion; two insertions, 50c; four insertions, 75c; one week, $1.00, two weeks, $1.75, three weeks, $2.25; one month, $2.50. Strictly cash in advance.

WANTED.

At Hotel Quinte, two servants, women, for kitchen and general work.
a29-4td

Competent general, also a nurse, to go to Toronto. Apply to Mrs. C. S. Laidlaw, at Mr. Corby's residence, between 2 and 3 and 8 and 9 p.m.
a29-2t

A middle-aged lady to act as housekeeper in a family of four. Apply personally at No. 157 Charles St.
a28-3td&1w

TO-LET

The brick residence, formerly occupied by T. C. Lazier, on Charles St. Modern improvements and thoroughly renovated. Apply at The Intelligencer Office.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.

Mrs. Wallbridge's residence on William St. Will be renovated to suit tenant. Apply to F. S. Wallbridge, Belleville, or to Mrs. Wallbridge, 20 Madison Ave., Toronto. a30-6t

---

HOUSES FOR SALE.

The undersigned have received instructions to sell at once the following properties in the City of Belleville.

1. Frame house, N. E. corner of Everett St. and Bridge St.

2. Small frame house, east side of Everett street, first house north of Bridge street.

All above houses are now occupied by monthly tenants. These properties can be purchased upon reasonable terms and low prices.

Other City properties to rent and to sell. Further particulars will be given upon application to

WILLS & WRIGHT,
Solicitors, 9 Campbell St.
June 28, 1902. jy4-8-10-12d

CITY OF BELLEVILLE

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS IN ARREARS FOR TAXES.

City of Belleville, Province of Ontario, to wit.:

By virtue of a warrant issued by the Mayor, under the Corporate seal of the City of Belleville, to me directed, bearing date the twenty-third day of August, 1902, commanding me to levy upon the land in arrears for taxes, with the costs. Said lists of lands for sale in the municipality for taxes has been prepared, and copies may be had in my office, and the said advertisement empowering such list is being published in the Ontario Gazette, on August 30th and September 6, 13, 20th.

I hereby give notice that unless such arrears and all costs are sooner paid I shall proceed to sell the said land, or so much thereof as may be necessary for payment of the taxes and costs thereon, at the City Hall, in the said City of Belleville, on TUESDAY, THE 2nd DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1902, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

City Treasurer's Office, Belleville, August 23rd, 1902.

J. P. THOMPSON, City Treasurer.

Dye It!

A thousand and one things about the house besides your dresses, ribbons, feathers, laces, etc., will dye prettily if Maypole Soap is used for the purpose. "No mess, no trouble." Quick, easy, safe, sure. The colors are brilliant and fadeless. It dyes to any tint.

Maypole Soap. Sold everywhere

10c. for colors. 15c. for black.

RUPTURE

MY EXPERIENCE WITH TRUSSES

First truss, bought in Hamilton, cost	2 50
Second truss, bought in Toronto, cost	5 00
Third truss, bought in Toronto, cost	7 00
Fourth (special truss) ...	10 00
Six others at different times	68 00
Total cost of failures ...	92 50

Last, best and only one that was satisfactory made for me by AUTHORS & COX, 135 Church St., Toronto, cost $7. This truss cured me in less than 12 months.

S. B. ALTON, Appleby, Ont.
a14-3tw&d23,30

SANTAL-MIDY

Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhœa and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

MIDY

L. O. & B. of Q. Stb. Co'y. Limited

BELLEVILLE — ROCHESTER—1000 ISLANDS.

Strs. North King and Caspian

Commencing June 28th, will leav Belleville for Summerville, N.Y. (Por of Rochester, N.Y.) daily (except Monday(at 11.30 p.m.

Returning, steamer will arrive from Rochester ar 3.25 a.m. daily (except Monday)-and leave for Bay o Quinte ports, Kingston, Gananoque and 1000 Islands.

For further information apply to
U. E. THOMPSON,
RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents, Belleville.
H. H. GILDERSLEEVE,
General Manager,
Kingston.

Last Excursion of the Season.
PER
Str. "NIAGARA"
To PICTON
Saturday Afternoon, Aug. 30.

Boat leaves Rathbun's wharf at 2.30 sharp, stopping at Deseronto both ways.
About 1½ hours in Picton, arriving home about 10 p.m.
Fare for the round trip 25 cents.
THOS. STEWART,
Manager at Belleville.

The Deseronto Navigaion Co.
TIME TABLE.
Commencing April 10th, 1902,
Belleville, Trenton, Picton & Napanee
Str. "ELLA ROSS

Leaves Belleville for Trenton at 10 a. m., daily, Sundays Excepted, returning leaves Trenton at 1 p. m., leaving Belleville at 3 p.m. for Deseronto, Napanee and Picton.

Quick and Superior Service to NEW YORK CITY

Steamers RESOLUTE and RELIANCE will leav Deseronto for Oswego after arrival of Str. Ella Ross connecting at Oswego with the New York, Ontario Western Ry.

Fare to New York, Single, $8.40;
Return, $13.25

For further particulars apply to THE RATHBUN CO., Local Agents
J. F. CHAPMAN,
Asst. Gen. Frt. & Pass. Agt., Deseronto.
R. C. CARTER General Manager Deseronto.

Str. VARUNA
A. HICKS, Captain.

Will leave Trenton every morning (Sundays excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Rednersville and all points between the head of the bay and Picton, leaving Belleville at 8.30 a.m., Deseronto at 10.20 a.m. Will connect at Picton with stage for Sand Banks. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see Captain Hicks on board. Will leave Picton at 1 p.m. on return for head of the bay; Deseronto, 2.30 p.m.; Belleville at 4.30 p.m., and Trenton at 6. Omnibuses in waiting at Picton and Belleville. The Rathbun Co., agents, Belleville and Deseronto. J. W. Hepburn, agent, Picton.

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER AND QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.
Str. ALEXANDRIA

Every Saturday at 11.00 a.m. for Charlotte, Rochester, Olcott Beach, Buffalo, Niagara Falls.

Every Monday at 7 a.m. for Montreal, Quebec. (without change) and all way ports.

1000 Islands by Daylight.
Running all rapids.
Finest excursion trip on this continent.

FARE.
$18.00—Belleville to Quebec and return—$18.00, including meals and berth en route.
THE RATHBUN COMPANY,
Agents,
Belleville, Ont.
A. W. HEPBURN,
General Manager,
Picton, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION
Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th, '02
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
All the Resources of Our Glorious Country
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
Reduced Rates on Every Line of Trav
Consult Your Station Agent Regarding
Fare to Toronto and Bac

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM
Cures
Deep-seated Colds
Coughs Croup Bronchitis LARGE BOTTLES $1.00
MEDIUM 50c TRIAL SIZE 25c

A good illustration unconsciously conveys the idea that the article advertised is a good one.

There are 38 letters in the Russian alphabet.

ORDERED TO SHOOT AND KILL

Brig.-Gen. Gobin Bent on Bloodshed in the Coal Strike Regions.

Bayonets and Butts For Any Mob That Resists the Authority of the Troops—Soldiers Are Said to Have Much Difficulty in Protecting the Lives of Non-Union Workmen—An Encounter at Lansford.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 30.—Having exhausted every other means for preserving the peace, and in protecting the non-union men from violence on their way to and from the mines, Brig.-Gen. Gobin, in command of the troops now in the coal fields, last night issued an order that the soldiers shall shoot any person detected in throwing stones or other missiles, and that if any mob resist the authority of the troops that they shall freely use their bayonets and butts.

The Panther Creek Valley has been in almost continual turmoil this week, and the troops stationed there have had a difficult time in protecting the lives of the workmen. Last night the situation in that valley had improved considerably, and it is hoped by the military authorities that the lawlessness and abusive language directed toward the soldiers will now cease. The other sections of the coal regions are comparatively quiet.

An Encounter at Lansford.

Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 30.—In an encounter between the troops and strikers at Lansford yesterday Captain W. H. Heim, of Company K., 12th Regiment, was slightly injured, and half a dozen strikers were bayoneted by the soldiers in the fracas. Major Gearheart, in command of the troops here, says that he will appeal to the military authorities to put the Town of Lansford under martial law.

Concentration of Forces.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 30.—Serious trouble was threatened at the Prospect and Dorrance mines of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company yesterday morning. The strikers heard a rumor Thursday night that the company intended to concentrate all its employes at the various mines into one working force, and operate the Dorrance colliery. It is said the company has all told about 250 experienced men now in its employ. If this number could be placed in one colliery like the Dorrance the mining of coal could go on without difficulty. The strikers determined to frustrate the plans of the company if possible, and it is said that over a thousand men turned out and patrolled the roads leading to the mines. The officials of the coal company recognized the serious condition of affairs, and no attempt was made to place any additional men in the Dorrance mine. The strikers made no demonstration, and many of them withdrew to their homes.

Steel Workers Strike.

Lebanon, Pa., Aug. 30.—A committee of the striking employes of the American Iron and Steel Manufacturing Company called at the office of General Manager Lord yesterday, and demanded that the colored non-union workmen from Reading and other men who had been sent here be removed, and the old hands be taken back. This was refused. The committee reported the matter to their leaders, and the men still at work, some 1,800, were told to come out. The order was obeyed. The entire plant is idle, with the exception of that portion manned by the new comers.

CHOLERA EPIDEMIC IN THE EAST.

Prevalent From Java to Japan—Many European Victims.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 30.—The epidemic of cholera is reaching alarming proportions on the other side of the Pacific, according to advices received here by steamship. The outbreak extends further and has more victims than ever before reported. It extends from the Island of Java to Japan, and almost every city on the coast and many from the interior are affected. The disease, too, is being contracted by Europeans as well as natives. In Hong Kong, from the first of the outbreak to Aug. 6, there had been 523 cases, six being Europeans, and 511 deaths, of whom four were Europeans. In Tien-Tsin the last report placed the number of cases for the year at 1,049 and 761 deaths within the city walls, and 1,015 cases and 593 deaths outside the city walls. In other places in China the proportion of cases and deaths is just as great.

30 Cows Knocked Down.

Midmay, Aug. 30.—During a thunderstorm lightning struck the barn on the dairy farm of George Sargeant, Holland Township. In the barn were 35 cows, and half a dozen people were engaged in milking them. All of the animals fell at the shock and one of the milkers had a leg crushed by a cow falling on him. Another man had his trousers slit from top to bottom on both sides of the body, but escaped scorching of the skin. All the animals regained their feet except two, which were killed by the shock.

Get Off the Earth.

London, Aug. 30.—A despatch to The Times from Vienna says the newspapers there represent Roosevelt's speech on the Monroe doctrine as meaning that all the European powers having colonies on American soil must be ousted. The Dutch must quit Curacoa and Surina, the the French must leave French Guiana, the British must clear out of Canada, Trinidad, Newfoundland, British Guiana, Jamaica, etc.

Boy Worried by a Dog.

Stouffville, Aug. 30.—The young son of J. H. Ratclive was thrown down and "worried" by his father's hound. The hound was killed.

SIR WILFRID'S TOUR.

An English Paper Looks on It as a Hazardous Enterprise—French-Canadian Love of France.

London, Aug. 30.—The Daily News yesterday says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's tour through France is a somewhat hazardous enterprise from the point of view of Canadian politics, yet Sir William has displayed wisdom at his recent speeches have clearly shown that he has managed to be polite to the Mayor of Lille without offending Mr. Chamberlain.

Telegraphing to The Standard from Paris a correspondent says that the proposal regarding the French-Canadian line is that a syndicate of Frenchmen and Englishmen be formed and that each should own two steamships, which would sail respectively under the British and French flags, the British steamers to get the Canadian subsidy and the French to earn the navigation and other premiums which France accords to her shipping. A prominent Liverpool firm, is prepared to take up the British part of the line.

Sentiment Honors All.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—A cable to La Presse from Paris says Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking at Lille of the warm love which French-Canadians have for France, said that such a sentiment honors France which inspires it, Canada which conserves it, spires it, Canada which conserves it, and England which respects it.

The despatch adds: "It now seems certain that the the capital of the Franco-Canadian Steamship Line comes from Sir Alfred Jones of the Elder-Dempster Line and certain capitalists of Lille, the conditions of the latter being that Dunkirk shall be a port of call."

FRENCH-CANADIAN LYNCHED.

A Frenzied Michigan Mob Puts Joseph La Barge to Death.

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 20.—Walter Lemerand, lately from Toledo, came home yesterday noon and found a man, a Frenchman, in the house with his wife. A quarrel ensued, and the unknown man finally ran from the house. An officer attempted to arrest him, but he ran down Thirty-third street with a crowd pursuing him.

The cry "Assaulter" was raised and the mob began to shoot. The unknown man ran into a cornfield where he was surrounded and shot dead, a bullet penetrating his heart.

The woman denies that there was any assault.

Mrs. Lemerand has just told the sheriff that the dead man is Joseph La Barge of Toledo. She says that she and La Barge had planned an elopement.

An autopsy is now being performed on La Barge's body and the inquest will be held to-day. No arrests will be made until after the inquest.

A despatch from Windsor says that La Barge is a Canadian, residing till just recently in Montreal. His murder may become an international episode.

SENT CODE TO STEYN.

Accusation Made Against a Cape Official in the House.

London, Aug. 30.—"In his speech in the Cape Colony Parliament," says the Cape Town correspondent of The Times, "ex-Colonial Secretary J. W. Saer delivered a scathing tirade against the loyal Dutch, who, he alleged, deserted their own people and deserved all they suffered. Dr. T. W. Smart, ex-Commissioner of Public Work, replying, repudiated the attempts made on the other side of the House to represent the rebellion as the result of martial law, instead of vice versa."

In a later despatch the correspondent says that as a result of grave charges brought by innuendo against Mr. Tewater, an official, by Dr. Smart, Mr. Merriman moved the adjournment of the House. Dr. Smart thereupon made a definite charge that Mr. Tewater, at the outbreak of the Boer war, sent a secret ministerial code book, of which there were only three copies, to Steyn at Bloemfontein, where it was subsequently found.

Struck by a Freight Train.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 30.—A serious accident occurred yesterday morning at Weston to Mrs. Irwin, wife of Mr. H. E. Irwin, Clerk of the Peace. Mrs. Irwin about 10 o'clock was crossing the railway track at Weston in order to catch a street car, when a freight train which she had not noticed struck her. The train was moving very slowly at the time, but Mrs. Irwin was thrown about ten feet. She was picked up and conveyed to her residence at Weston, where it was found that she had two ribs broken and a very badly bruised arm.

If He Can Get $15,000.

Quebec, Aug. 30.— If the Government of the Province of Quebec will grant $15,000 toward the Bernier polar expedition fund the captain will commence work at once to build his ship. The electrical engineer, Bernard Nordhl, who was with Nansen, is to assist Capt. Bernier, in fitting up the ship.

Dropped Dead on Market.

Kingston, Aug. 30. — Mrs. John Guirey dropped dead on the market Thursday while stooping to pick a pair of chickens from a basket. She had been complaining of excessive heart palpitation. For forty years Mrs. Guirey was a familiar figure on the market place.

Note Limit Reached.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—There will probably be a big circulation of Dominion notes this fall, as a number of the Canadian banks will by that time have reached the limit of the circulation of their own bills allowed by law.

His Arm Twisted off.

Kintzville, Aug. 30.—Emmons Porteous was caught by the belt of a thresher and had his arm twisted off three inches from the shoulder.

A pure hard Soap
SURPRISE SOAP
MAKES CHILD'S PLAY OF WASH DAY

HEADQUARTERS
—FOR—
School Supplies.

A beautiful clean stock of everything that is required for school . . . .

Pens, Inks, Pencils, Pencil Boxes, Scribblers
AT PRICES THAT CANNOT BE COMPARED.

2nd Reader 15c	History 25c Copy Books—5c.	3rd Reader 25c.

EVERY CHILD WILL RECEIVE A QUANTITY OF CANDY WITH THEIR PURCHASE, NO MATTER HOW SMALL IT MAY BE . . . . .

Special. Saturday Night Special

20 pieces assorted Satin Neck Ribbon, regular 25c, for.... 15c
40 pieces assorted Tafleta " " " 25c, for.... 15c
All shades in No. 40 width.

5 & 10c Store. J. G. WOOD'S 15 & 25c Store.

For pure blood, a bright eye, a clear complexion, a keen appetite, a good digestion and refreshing sleep, TAKE
BRISTOL'S Sarsaparilla
It arouses the Liver, quickens the circulation, brightens the spirits and generally improves the health.
Sixty-eight years trial have proved it to be, the most reliable BLOOD purifier known.
All druggists sell "BRISTOL'S."

Corticelli
SPOOL SILK

FOR dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many excellent qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk.

If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for "CORTICELLI"—the Dressmakers Favorite Spool Silk.

Genuine Scranton COAL!
Mined and shipped by The Delaware, Lackawana & Western Ry.
The Rathbun Co. Yards—Foot Front St. Office—Bridge St. 'Phone A93 B93

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE
FOR CHEAP AND ARTISTIC WORK.

Bargains in Boots Shoes and Slippers

Balances of lines to be cleared out at low down prices. Here are a few of them; Women's Satin Slippers in 3 colors, $2.00, for 50c; Women's Dong. slippers, French heel, $2.00, for 75c; Women's Dong. and Pat. Lea., $1.50 and $2.00, for $1.00; Girl's Boots $1.00 and $1.25 for 50c; A lot of Infants 40c and 50c, for 25c; Men's Dong. and Box Calf, $3.00 and $3.50, for $1.50 and $2.00. A lot of other lines marked very low.

F. P. Carney.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.
10,000 Farm Laborers Wanted.
Farm Laborers' Excursions

Will be run to stations on C.P.R. in Manitoba and Assiniboia, West, South-west and North-west of Winnipeg as far as Moose Jaw, Estevan and Yorkton, on August 30th from stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Div. North of Toronto and Cardwell.

SECOND CLASS $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, with a certificate extending the trip, before September 10th, without additional cost, to other points in Manitoba and Assiniboia as above. If purchasers engage as farm laborers at Winnipeg, provided such farm laborers will work not less than 30 days at harvesting, and produce certificate to that effect, they will be returned to original starting point at $18.00, on or before Nov. 30th, 1902.

Tickets not good on "Imperial Limited."

For further particulars and tickets apply to nearest railway agent.
A. H. NOTMAN,
Assistant General Passenger Agent, 1 King St. East,
Toronto.
S. BURROWS, C.P.R. and General Ticket Agent, Front St., Belleville.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Labor Day, Sept. 1st, 1902

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada on Grand Trunk and connecting lines at
SINGLE FIRST CLASS FARE.
Good going August 30th, 31st, and Sept. 1st, returning good until Sept. 2nd, 1902.

CANADA'S GREAT FAIR
TORONTO
September 1st to 13th.

Belleville to Toronto and Return, Good going Sept. 2nd to 12th, inclusive $3.75.
Good going on Sept. 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 10th $2.75
All tickets valid returning on or before Sept. 15th.

SPECIAL TRAIN
Leaves Belleville at 3.00 a.m., Monday, Sept. 8th, arriving Toronto 6.50 a.m. Ask agents for official programme and time table.
U. E. THOMPSON, City Agent, Bridge Street.
T. H. COPPIN, Depot Agent.

Jelly Crystals

One package of Oliver's concentrated Jelly Crystals makes one pint of Jelly. All flavors.

Price 7c a package.
HITCHON BROS
Front St. Phone 91.

Wall Paper

If you desire newest designs at lowest possible prices, we can supply you with latest productions of the leading manufactures and at prices never before given in this city. Our borders are sold by the roll same prices as papers, with ceilings to match.

Painting. Paper Hanging, Graining.
J. CORNELIUS.
Shop Victoria Ave. Telephone connection

Off Colour?
Practically the whole English speaking population of the world keep themselves in condition by using
Beecham's Pills.
Sold Everywhere. In boxes, 25 cents.

Wedding Stationery at The Intelligencer Job Office. tf

FAIRY GOLD

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

—Author of—

"A Woman's Vengeance," "Between Two Loves," "Her Second Love," "A Fatal Wedding," Etc.

Once established in her own especial sanctum, a small bare-looking room, used as work-room, household repairs of all descriptions. Miss Dormer's temper and spirits im-keeper's room, and general shop for prove. There is a lot of house linen to be looked over; there is a tidy sewing-woman to be set to work making new bed-ticks; and, when the old lady has eaten a morsel of luncheon — a spoonful of soup, a bit of boiled fowl — and drunk a glass of Burgundy, she feels as well and cheerful as ever. By-and-by the music of the sewing machine begins, and the seamstress's voice is raised in a high key to retail a choice bit of local news to Miss Dormer, who is placidly gathering the frills for a pillow-case.

A faint hopeless pain seems dragging Yolande's heart down to the earth, a feverish impatience with every one and every thing in general, and the tedious job of marking linen in particular torments her to a degree of silent irritation that threatens to break out every moment.

"Finished the pillow-cases, dear?" aunt Keren askes smilingly. "Then here are the dozen of table napkins and the kitchen towels."

Yolande bites her lip and grinds her teeth to keep back the sharp words of unreasonable anger. Miss Dormer knows quite well that Yolande is unhappy and restless. She can see that the girl's eyes are dull and weary, that the young face is haggard and pallid with pain. Because it soothes her nerves to sit in a cosy rocking chair, employed with light work, in this cool, clean, and altogether unlovely little room, she thinks it must soothe Yolande to sit in another cosy chair and write names on linen for the space of an hour or two.

"My head is very hot, aunt," Yolande says, with a smothered sigh and a quick frowning glance out of the window which commands a view of a brick wall six feet distant. "I think,"—with another frown at the table napkins and kitchen towels — "I must take a turn in the garden."

"Very well, dear," Miss Dormer responds amiably, but with a slight touch of "Christian patience and resignation" in her tones. "Run away and enjoy yourself. I dare say I can do these towels and napkins by-and-by myself."

"Hush! Isn't that a sound of wheels?" Yolande exclaims, suddenly starting up. "Oh, do stop that horrid machine for one minute!"—with a convulsive gesture of wrath.

The woman stares with amazed eyes at Yolande's display of impatience.

"There, there! Never mind me, Mrs. Sale; go on—go on with your seam! What does it matter?"

Yolande flings herself down into her chair again, and snatches up her pen. She was almost sure that she heard in a momentary pause of the harsh "whir-r-r" the sounds of trampling hoofs and the gravel being crunched under wheels; but these sounds of hope were smothered the next moment; and now, when she has demanded silence, it is but to know she has deluded herself.

She begins to write "Dorm" with feverish haste, and then a great drop of indellible ink falls as the parlor maid appears.

"A lady to see you, ma'am. Mrs. Glynne the lady wants, ma'am"—to her mistress. "Here's her card, ma'am" — for Yolande, after a second upspringing of hope, is standing dumb and stupid.

"A lady? Oh, it's Lady Nora!"

Swift is the change from cold despair to warm throbbing delight, from weary indifference to glad, trembling hope. She rushes through the hall, then checks herself with difficulty, all smiles and blushes and shining eyes and trembling lips.

"Am I all right, Jane? Does my hair look very untidy? Oh, pick off that long thread! Those horrid linen ravelings! I must look nice before my mother-in-law!" — with a merry smile half blotted out in rising tears.

And then she tries hard to enter gracefully and sedately; but all in vain. The deliberate lady-like entrance ends in a rush, with both hands held out imploringly, with streaming tears and hysteric distorted smiles.

"Oh, Lady Nora, where is he — where is he? Oh, dear Lady Nora" — she grasps her dainty mother-in-law in her strong young arms, crushing her exquisite mantle, composed apparently of sparkling festoons of cut jet drops and flounces of fragile lace, to Lady Nora's evident dismay —"where is my husband?"

"My dear child! How are you, Yolande dear?" Lady Nora says, trying to free herself from her clasp, and knitting her delicate brows, the kohl tracery and shading of which are perfect. "Pray don't give way to such excitement, dear, or I cannot tell you anything."

CHAPTER XXV.

"I received your letter — forwarded to me from Paris, dear." Lady Nora begins smilingly — "just as I was leaving town this morning. I —I—have a good deal to tell you."

Lady Nora's fingers tremble nervously as she adjusts her laces and looks down at her daintily-gloved hands, and then up at Yolande, who is standing staring at her with a look of such agonized entreaty and suspense that Lady Nora is shocked and flurried out of all her pretty assumption of composure.

"I came down by my son's desire to see you, dear," she goes on, trying to smile; "and so far as I am concerned, I may tell you," she adds, a swift frown puckering her delicate brows, while she bites her under-lip viciously, "that I am very much displeased with Dallas — very much; and I am quite sure you will be also, and I cannot blame you. I don't blame you at all, dearest," Lady Nora repeats, with a new quasi-maternal tenderness in her voice and manner; "and I should just advise you to travel about, or go up to town and enjoy yourself — there is no earthly reason why you should not do so under proper chaperonage —and not to trouble yourself about Dallas until he has come to his senses, of which I am quite sure he has taken temporary leave. You have heard of course about the Earl's will?"

"No," replies Yolande faintly, "but won't you tell me at once, dear Lady Nora, if he—will he—I mean — did he know I had written to you? Does he know what I said — promised?" The words die away huskily, and a faint flush of womanly pride struggles with the pallor of womanly love in anguish. "Won't he come down even to see me, and tell me what he wishes me to do?" she asks imploringly. "You know I said I would do anything to please him and make him happy."

Lady Nora's jet fringes rattle again.

"My son's great fault — his worst fault — is his pride," she says, frowning again, but speaking coldly and haughtily. "I am proud myself—I cannot be very angry with Dallas for it; it is his inheritance, so to speak. But it is my son's pride which has placed him in his present unpleasant position. Is it possible," she demands sharply and impatiently, scrutinizing Yolande's haggard face and patient sad eyes, "that you don't know the result of the Earl's will — that you are unaware that my son has lost the allowance which has been paid to him and his father, my deceased husband, for more than forty years?"

"Lost his allowance?" Yolande repeats rather vaguely, striving to concentrate her thoughts. "And does that make very much difference to him, Lady Nora? I do not know much of his private affairs, you see, and——"

"I should think not, when you ask such a question, my dear!" Lady Nora interrupts curtly, with a stormy ill-tempered look on her pretty face. "But I thought you were made fully aware, at the time of your marriage with my son, that, independent of the expectations he had — and most justly had — of a handsome legacy from his uncle Lord Pentreath, he had only his allowance from the Pentreath estate, besides his pay?"

"No — at least, I cannot quite remember," Yolande says nervously, flushing; "but, even if he has lost some money —"

"Some!" Lady Nora interrupts shrilly and angrily. "My dear, I wish I could make you understand what I am saying. Dallas has lost everything. There has been some scandalous machination at work. I am convinced — perfectly convinced — I know the quarter from which it has come. My son has not only not benefited to the extent of one shilling by his uncle's will, but there was no provision made for paying him his usual allowance of five hundred a year, except as the generosity of his cousin, the present Earl, should dictate, and consequently Dallas will not accept one farthing, though I believe Lord Pentreath, his cousin, wished to make some amends. He had sent in his papers also to the War Office immediately before his marriage; so — now — he" — there is a little natural choking sound of emotion in her ladyship's imperious voice — "he has lost — everything!"

"I am very sorry — very!" Yolande says tremulously, pain at the thought of the trouble and disappointment he has been enduring, of which she has been unconscious, mingling with the selfish unselfishness of the generous love that longs to lay everything it possesses at his feet. "But, then, my money, you know, Lady Nora—will it not be enough for us both? I am not at all extravagant, and should be only too happy to deny myself anything to enable him to live as he pleased — I should indeed!"

Lady Nora sees the tears in Yolande's eyes, and knows in her heart how sincere is her poor little daughter-in-law in her simple devotion to her son; but, for this very reason — like all unworthy natures — she resolves to wreak her anger and disappointment on her.

"That you have some money I am of course aware, my dear," she says coldly and resentfully; "but, under the marriage settlement which your trustees chose to make, my son, as you must be aware" — this very sharply — "benefits very little — in a most trifling degree indeed. Even this small pittance, however," her ladyship adds, bringing out her words with a hiss of contempt, "he is deprived of, in consequence of the quarrel, or misunderstanding, or whatever it is, between you and him."

(To be continued.)

Ladies' and gentlemen's Calling Cards printed or engraved from plate at the Intelligencer Office. tf

---

LAST DAY OF O.R.A. MATCHES

Weather Conditions Splendid and Good Averages Made.

President Osler Entertained a Company of Military Men at Luncheon Friday Afternoon—The Chief Scores in the Matches Pulled Off on the Closing Day of the Association's Annual Gathering Recorded in Brief Fashion.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—For the third day of the annual matches of the Ontario Rifle Association, splendid weather favored the marksmen yesterday. The mirage which has marked the first hour's shooting each day was present, but the wind was somewhat lighter, though changeable. Some excellent shooting was done.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. E. B. Osler, M. P., President of the association, entertained the officers of the association, and a number of distinguished visitors at luncheon.

Among those present were Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieut.-Col. McLaren, 13th; Surgeon-Major Nattress, Arch. Campbell, M. P., J. W. St. John, M. P. P., Lieut.-Col. Stimson, R. G., Lieut.-Col. Grasset, W. D. Matthews, Col. Buchan, Lieut.-Col. Graveley, Lieut.-Col. Davidson, Lieut.-Col. Clarence Denison, Cockshutt, T. J. Smith, K. C., Major R. Y. Ellis, Major Galloway, D. S. A.

There was a large number of ladies and visitors on the grounds.

The results of the various matches were as follows:

The Tait-Brassey Match.

Open to active militia of Canada: 200 yards, kneeling or standing: 500 and 600 yards prone; seven rounds at each range. The winners were as follows:

$20—Pte. R. McLaren, Highlanders 96.

$15—S.-Sergt. A. Graham, Highlanders, 96.

$12—Capt. A. Elliott, 12th, 96.

$10—Sergt.-Major Richardson, 5th C.A., 96.

$8—Sergt. G. Mortimer, Grenadiers, 95; S.-Sergt. T. H. Hayhurst, 13th, 94.

$7—Capt. J. Buckley, 32nd, 94, Q. M.-Sergt. McVittie, Highlanders, 94.

Thirty won $5 each with scores from 93 to 89 inclusive.

Thirty-seven won $4 each, with scores from 89 to 83 inclusive.

Thirty-four won $3 each with scores from 86 to 83 inclusive.

Fifteen tyros won $3 each, with scores from 83 to 74 inclusive.

Rapid Firing Competition.

Five hundred yards, five rounds, rifle loaded and raised to the shoulder before the target appears; magazine not used. The winners are:

$7.50 each—Major H. Jekill, 1th, 25; Corp. S. C. Mortimore, 6th D. C. O.R., 25; Pte. John T. Peddie, 5th R. S., 25; S.-Sgt. J. H. Simpson, Grenadiers, 25.

$5—Capt. Mercer, Q.O.R., 24.

$4.50 each—L.-Corp. W. J. Cook, Grenadiers, 23; Lt. M. McPherson, 77th, 23.

$4 each—Sgt. C. Cliff, Q.O.R., 23; Lieut. W. L. Ross, 13th, 23; Capt. W. F. Moore, 77th, 22; Pte. J. W. Smith, 21st, 22.

Nineteen won $3 each with scores from 22 to 20 inclusive.

The F. W. Ellis & Co. Match.

Five rounds, 600 yards. The winners are:

Cup and $10—Capt. D. J. C. Munro, 44th, 48.

$9.33 each—Capt. W. C. King, 46th, 24; S.-Sgt. T. Mitchell, 13th, 24; Capt. T. Mitchell U. L., 24.

Six won $5 each, with scores from 24 to 23 inclusive.

Eight others with scores of 23 won $4 each.

Extra Series—No. 2.

Five rounds at 200 yards. The winners are:

$15—Surg.-Major Ross, 77th, 48.

$10—Sgt. G. Mortimer, Grenadiers, 47.

$8—Corp. J. P. White, Q.O.R., 47.

$6—Capt. T. Mitchell, U.L., 47.

Eight won $5 each with scores of 46 and 45.

Six 45's won $4 each.

Six 44's and one 43 won $3 each.

The Revolver Match.

Open to revolvers of any pattern; range, 25 yards; position, standing, off-hand; three minutes for series of six shots. The winners were:

Revolver—Capt. T. Mitchell, U.L., 66.

$6—Sgt.-Maj. S. J. Huggins, 13th 64.

$5—Capt. Mercer, Q.O.R., 62.

4—Lieut. W. L. Ross, 59.

Six won $3 each with scores from 58 to 44.

The Mulock Match Aggregate.

The winner of first prize of this list, Sgt.-Major Richardson of Winnipeg, is not entitled to the money consideration accompanying the prize, not being a residence of the province. The match was open to the active militia of Canada. The winners were:

Cup, Medal and Badge—Sgt.-Major Richardson, 5th C. A., (Winnipeg), 309.

Medal, badge and $15—Sgt. W. Swaine, 14th, 307.

Medal, badge and $10—S.-Sergt C. R. Crowe, 1st B.F.A., 305.

Medal, badge and $8 — Sergt G. Mortimer, Grenadiers, 300.

Medal and $7.—Sgt. H. Corrigan, 39th, 300.

Medal and $6—Capt. Elliott, 12th 300.

Ten won $5 each with scores of 299 to 292.

Sixteen won $3 each with scores from 291 to 285.

The Gzowski Match.

This match was keenly contested. The conditions stipulated that one target be allotted to each of the teams, but none exposed to view for more than 10 seconds at a time. Seven teams entered, and the result was as follows:

$40—13th Battalion	452
30—6th D.C.O.R.	449
25—Royal Grenadiers (second team)	419
20—Queen's Own Rifles	405
15—7th Fusiliers	394

Next in order: Royal Grenadiers, (first team), 360; 48th Highlanders, 375.

Tait-Brassey Company Team.

Brassey Cup and $20 — B. Co. 13th Batt.	349
$15—B Co., Grenadiers	347
10—A Co., 77th	343

Tait-Brassey Battalion Team Match.

The Challenge Cup and $48—48th Highlanders	551
$42—13th Battalion	538
36—Royal Grenadiers	526
30—6th D. C. O. R.	525
24—77th Regiment	521

Duke of Cornwall and York.

Silver Medallion—Capt. C. R. Mitchell, R.O.

Bronze Medallion—Pte. D. Mitchell, 13th Batt.

CATTLE FROM ARGENTINE.

Great Britain Will Buy One Million to Restock Boer Farms.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—In an interview yesterday, Senor Juan B. Rivaras of the Argentine Republic, who is now here, stated that he had just heard that Great Britain was endeavoring to buy 1,000,000 head of cattle in the Argentine to stock South African farms.

When Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M.P., the well-known live stock exporter, was informed of Mr. Rivaras' statement, that 1,000,000 head of cattle were being purchased in the Argentine for South Africa by the British Government, he replied that the Canadian cattle dealers were justly incensed over the matter, and were making efforts to secure this great opportunity for Canada.

Hon. Mr. Fisher had been communicated with, and subsequently Lord Strathcona, but the dealers fear that it was too late to succeed. "We think it strange that the British Government should go so far out of their way to get cattle to stock the South African farms when they could get all they wanted in Canada," said Mr. Bickerdike. "What they want are young, lean cattle, and we can supply them."

"The Argentine cannot furnish the full million. Could Canada?" He was asked.

"We could give them the million they want," he replied.

NEW STEAMERS FOR LAKE TRADE.

Grain Carriers of the Peterson Line Will Arrive This Fall.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—The new line of steamships which is to compete for the Canadian grain trade will be on the lakes in time to carry some of this year's crop. Messrs. William Petersen & Company, Limited, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, who will operate the new line, have opened offices in Toronto in the McKinnon Building. Captain Donnelly of Kingston has been appointed Chief Superintendent of the new line. Four steel steamers will be put on the route from Fort William and Port Arthur to the Georgian Bay ports, the Turret Cape, Turret Court, Turret Crown and Turret Chief. They will each have a capacity of 108,000 bushels of grain. Mr. Petersen is expected to arrive in Toronto from England about September 10, and one of the boats will be in the harbor about the same time. Mr. T. R. McCarthy of Montreal will represent the line in that city.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

Lawrence Baynes-Reed of Victoria, B. C., shot himself dead at Banff, N. W. T., Thursday night. No reason can be given for his action.

The Portuguese Zambesi expedition has defeated a force under Macombi, the chief of the Barue region, Africa. There were many casualties among the natives.

The Schomberg and Aurora Railway is at last completed. The last spike was driven on Friday afternoon at Schomberg amid the rejoicings of the whole countryside.

The Clark extradition case was continued by Judge Morgan at Toronto Friday morning. The date for the case to be called is indefinite. The bond was renewed for two weeks.

The gas well struck at Hepworth, Ont., on Thursday was 1,413 feet deep. The hole is flowing at the rate of 750,000 cubic feet. Fifty quarts of nitro-glycerine will be got and the well shot.

Toronto lost another of its oldest residents on Friday in the death of ex-Ald. Wm. Wesley Farley, which occurred at his late residence at Sunnyside. Mr. Farley's death came as a great shock to his many friends. On Tuesday he was down town and visited several of his friends. He was 49 years old.

Prof. Virchow Nearing His End.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—Prof. Virchow, the famous scientist, appears to be near his end. The German Medical Weekly regrets to announce, on information obtained from physicians who are treating him, that the improvement of last week has not been maintained, and that his strength is unmistakably failing. The professor is at Harzburg, in the Herz Mountains, and no one except his family and the doctors have been allowed to see him for several weeks. He celebrated his 80th birthday last October.

Killed by Lightning.

Roland, Man., Aug. 30.—Charles S. Shaw, of Eldorado, Ont., was instantly killed by lightning Thursday. Deceased was a harvest hand, employed by John McLaughlin, and only arrived in the west the other day.

All Aboard For Air Line.

Paris, Aug. 29.—Santos Dumont has begun the construction of an airship designed for public travel. It will combine the system of airship with that of aeroplane.

King Edward Deer-stalking.

London, Aug. 30.—King Edward went deer-stalking on the estate of the Duke of Hamilton on the Firth of Clyde yesterday morning. His Majesty shot a stag.

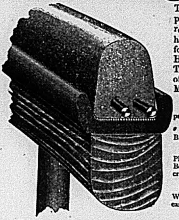
IT REALLY COSTS LESS than Japan Tea, because it goes much farther.
"SALADA"
Ceylon GREEN Tea for strength, flavor and purity is superior to the finest Japan tea grown. It is as far ahead of Japan tea as "SALADA" black is ahead of all other teas. Lead packets only, 25c & 40c per lb. By all grocers.

THE NEW WOMAN
will not use antiquated Starches. She insists upon being supplied with
BEE STARCH
It is ready to use—prevents the iron from sticking, the linen from cracking. Gives a fine finish with very little ironing.
10 CENTS PER PACKAGE. Save the Coupons.
SNOWDON, FORBES & CO., Agts., 449 St. Paul St., Montreal. 18A

The Finnegan CARRIAGE & WAGON Co'y.



Take pleasure in notifying the People of Belleville and surrounding district that they have the necessary appliances for putting on the Dunlop Hard Rubber and Pneumatic Tires, thus saving the expense of sending your wheels to Montreal or Toronto.
First quality of goods and reasonable prices. All work guaranteed.
We build only the highest grade of Bike Buggies and hard rubber tire rigs.
A full line Open and Top Surreys, Phaetons, Micadoes, Corning and Piano Box Top Buggies and Farmers' Democrats always in stock.
The Finnegan Steel Tubular Axle Wagon is the best, the lightest and the easiest running wagon in the world.
Prices Moderate. Terms Easy. A Call Solicited.

Diamond Hall of Canada.
Established in the year 1854, our business has experienced a steady advancement until the present day.
Our stock of Diamonds, Fine Jewelry and Silverware is universally conceded to be the largest in Canada, and our reputation for fair treatment of our patrons is such as to command confidence.
Our handsomely illustrated catalogue will bring you in touch with our present stock and a copy of this will be cheerfully forwarded you upon application.
RYRIE BROS.,
Yonge and Adelaide Sts.,
TORONTO.
We prepay charges and refund money if desired.

You May Need
Pain-Killer
For Cuts
Burns
Bruises
Cramps
Diarrhoea
All Bowel Complaints
It is a sure, safe and quick remedy.
There's only one PAIN-KILLER.
Perry Davis'.
Two sizes, 25c. and 50c.

Carling's Trade Mark
CARLING LONDON
on Ale, Porter or Lager is an absolute guarantee of purity, age and quality.
For sale by Wesley Mullen.

GOOD FISHING.
Fishing in our Bay has not been as good in some years as it is at present and we are prepared to supply all your wants in Tackle. Our assortment is complete in—
Rods, Reels, Lines, Flies, Landing Nets, Gaff Hooks, Trolling Spoons Phantom Minnows, Linuium Minnows, Archer Spinners, Sinkers, Swivels, Line Runners, Tip-Ends, Hooks, etc., etc.
Do you not think that a few fishing excursions on the Bay would do you good? We believe they would and would like to furnish you with an outfit.
At The Beehive.
CHAS. N. SULMAN.

For Pickling
XXX Cider
and White Wine
Vinegars
Pure Spices
Whole and Ground.
ALL VARIETIES
J. C. Hanley & Co.,
Telephone 214.

Hastings Loan and Investment Society
Money to Loan on Farm or City Property at Lowest current rates.
No delay in obtaining the money beyond the time necessarily employed investigating the titles.
For further particulars apply at the office of the Company, No. 4 Bridge Street.
J. P. C. PHILLIPS,
tf Manager.

GLASGOW WAREHOUSE.

AUTUMN 1902

New Autumn Dress Goods

We have received within the past few days a large shipment of

New Dress Materials

Direct from the fashion centres of Europe. They include all the latest weaves and colorings to be worn this coming season.

In Broadcloths, Coverts, Vicunas, Zebelines,

Poplins, Homespuns, Friezes and Tweed Effects.

A word about the finish of all our Dress Goods this season—They are all finished in the celebrated "Ripley Finish." This particular finish is a perfect guarantee that the goods are thoroughly shrunk and will not spot.

Laidlaw & Ketcheson

DIRECT IMPORTERS.

Daily Intelligencer.

Local Reading Advertisements, words 50 cents; 2 cents per word first insertion, 1c per word subsequent consecutive insertions. Headlines count as 12 words; contracts for long periods made at office.

THE INTELLIGENCER IS SOLD AT J. W. London's, G. Wardhaugh's and Moxam's jewellery store.

CASH SYSTEM ADVERTISING.

Notice to the Public.

Anyone using the columns of the Daily or Weekly Intelligencer for advertising of any kind which does not exceed $1.00 will please take notice that cash must accompany order. No accounts will be charged upon the books of the Company, except in cases of regular customers who have open accounts.

WE DON'T UNDERTAKE

To put glasses on every patient who calls at our office whether they are needed or not. Our Optician knows how to make an intelligent examination of an eye, and when he has finished knows the nature of the defect, if any, and how to correct it if glasses will do it.

And you'll find he will stand for the right because it is right whether there is money in it or not.

ANGUS McFEE, Jeweller & Optician 210 Front St.

The Store with the Big Clock.

PUT THESE ON AND SEE THAT YOUR CHOCOLATES ARE STAMPED THUS
G.B

"G. B." Chocolates are ever increasing in popularity and favor with the chocolate eating public. Over eighty varieties of this famous brand made. They are "The finest in the land." 60c a lb. mixed.

CHAS. S. CLAPP

Bank of Montreal

ESTABLISHED 1817

Capital and Rest, All Paid Up,

$20,000,000

(Twenty Millions.)

Savings Bank Department.

Interest on sums of $4.00 and upwards allowed at current rates.

A. G. PARKER.

Manager Belleville Branch

CITY AND DISTRICT.

Advertisements under this heading TWO CENTS A WORD; subsequent consecutive insertions ONE CENT A WORD. No locs charged as less than twenty-five words.

Editorial and important local news on second page.

Special rates by the R. & O. Liners to Toronto Exhibition. Rathbun Co. for further particulars. 28-tf

Steamers "North King" and "Caspian" leave Belleville daily (except Monday) for Kingston and 1000 Islands at 3.25 a.m., and for Rochester, N.Y., at 11.38 p.m., after June 28th. me13-d&wtf

Miss Sidna H. Brown, late pupil of Miss Archer, of Toronto, will receive pupils in violin after Sept. 1st, at the residence of C. H. Vermilyea, Bridge St. Arrangements may be made with Miss Brown any time during August.

The steamer Annie Lake will leave here to-morrow for Kingston, and on Monday will take on board a party of Americans who intend to spend two weeks cruising amongst the Thousand Islands and also running as far east as Ottawa.

Mrs. A. A. Campbell is prepared to take music pupils at her residence in the Metropolitan Block, Campbell St., after the 1st September. Telephone 90. 9,12,19,26,28,30.

Miss Agnes Hanley, A. T. C. M., graduate of Toronto Conservatory of Music, Violin Department, is prepared to receive pupils at her residence, 75 Dunbar St., after Sept. 1st. a9,12,16,19,23,30,s2,13d&wlt

Trouble in the Family

The police were yesterday afternoon called to Mary street by Mrs. Wm. Ellis, who claimed that she had been abused by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. Ellis. It was also alleged by Mrs. Ellis, sr., that two large stones had been thrown at her by the party complained of. As all was quiet when the police arrived no arrests were made.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOOKS,
PUBLIC SCHOOL BOOKS,
HIGH SCHOOL BOOKS,

Scribblers, Exercise Books, Copy Books, Drawing Books and a full line of School Supplies, all of the best quality and at lowest prices at LONDON'S Book Store. 22dtf&1tw

Band Concert

The band concert at the Park last evening proved to be as usual a great attraction. The attendance was exceptionally large, the music furnished appreciated and the evening all that could have been desired for such an event.

SALE OF NECKWEAR.

That big sale of bow ties at the Oak Hall goes merrily along. Regular 25c ties selling 3 for 25c. Just think of it; three for the price of one. We guarantee every one of these equal to the best at 25c. Display in north window. Sale for a few days more.

Great Bargains

IN

Ladies' and Children's Hosiery

THIS EVENING

AT—cINTOSH BROS.

Across the Continent And Back Again

(Written for The Intelligencer by Mrs. James Boldrick, of Corbyville.)

(Continued.)

The morning of the first of June was dark and gloomy, heavy clouds hung over the mountains and a smart shower of rain and hail fell about six o'clock, but at eight the clouds had all cleared away, and the sun was shining its brightest on the snow-capped mountains, and making the green hillsides look greener still after its recent bath. We at first thought of spending the day in the city, but the hotels there furnish nothing but rooms, and we thought it no more harm to travel on Sunday than to go out and buy our meals, so nine o'clock we boarded our train and bid farewell to Salt Lake City. The ride up the valley was very pretty, the farms were all under good cultivation. We passed a great number of coke ovens and crossed a great many railroads, going in all directions. We reached Ogden after a ride of an hour and a half. Ogden is a great railway centre and quite a large city, but we did not stop long, we were soon underway again, passing through more mountains, but we could not see much of the scenery. It began to rain heavily, and did not clear away till near evening. We arrived at Pocatella about two o'clock and had to remain here for three hours. Pocatella is a small town, and not far distant is an Indian reserve, and we saw a great number all dressed in their feathers and blankets, in fact it was all we had to see. All the buildings that were in sight were about a dozen saloons, and they all seemed to be busy, Sunday and all, as it was.

We left Pocatella by the "Oregon short line," and travelled the rest of the day in Idaho, nothing much to be seen but ridges of sand and sage brush.

The morning of the second of June found us climbing the Blue Mountains. The climb was about the same as the other ranges, but how different the scenery. In the place of rocks was great forests, miles and miles of the most beautiful timber land, every little village we passed had one or more saw mills, it seemed to be their only occupation, that, and saloonkeeping, it was dreadful to see their number. We reached the divide quite early in the day, and the journey down the western slope was one never to be forgotten. We would dash by lumbermen's cabins, Indian wigwams and once in a while a rancher's home, then we would see great log slides, some of them would come nearly from the mountain top, and go to the foot, where railroads would be built to take them out. Once, while stopping at a small village, we saw a number of Indian ponies, and squaws with their blankets and papooses attending them. I thought it would make a splendid picture, so took a snap, but when the picture was developed the ponies were there all right, but not one squaw, they had seen me, and every one had jumped behind their pony. They dislike so much to have their photo taken. We reached Pendleton, Oregon, about noon, and then we had a long, disagreeable ride through dry, sandy desert for miles and miles, till we reached the Columbia river, even here for a short distance it was worse, as the sand drifts up from the river and blows over the track, so that they have to build high fences to keep it off, a pure white sand, as white as snow.

The Columbia river passes through the Cascade range, and the railroad follows the river in and out, around and through the great high cliffs on the southern side of the river. Often we could see the end of the train and the middle, but the engine would be away around the sharp curve. All day we had travelled through hot, barren country, hardly anything green, but here how different. The great high rocks, that towered hundreds of feet above us, were all covered with the loveliest ferns and mosses, with here and there a beautiful waterfall. One I must mention, I could not get a very good view of it from the car, but later when I took a sail up the river, I could see all of it. It is called "The Bridal Veil," and was eight hundred and fifty feet high. Another one, Horsetail Falls, was four hundred feet high. There were many other smaller ones, and to see them, a white, foamy streak, amid all the greenery, after so much dry, hot sand, it was so refreshing. But no wonder everything was so green, every few minutes there would be a little shower of rain.

The scenery was very pretty all the way into Portland, which place we reached about five o'clock in the evening, and found our train had gone, so we had to stop in the city till the following evening. There were so many showers we were able to see but little of the city.

But one thing I did notice was that every man, woman and child carried an umbrella, and no wonder perpetual rain, but they do not seem to mind it, it comes down so easy.

About four o'clock the afternoon of the third of June we left Portland for Forest Grove, a distance of twenty-six miles, our destination.

Forest Grove is a pretty little village situated in a lovely valley just east of the coast range. We found the people very much like those in Ontario, in fact a great many came from Canada.

After spending a couple of days with us, Mr. Milburn returned to Denver, where he intended to spend some time.

Although I was very tired, it did not take me long to rest, and I was ready to see more. My first visit was to Portland, where I spent several days. I, with friends, visited a rose show, that was then going on, the city hall, its museum, with its many old relics, its principal stores, and other buildings of interest, and also spent some time in the park, which was a small mountain they had left

(Continued on page 5.)

SATURDAY SALE

Here are a few lines of goods we desire to clear on Saturday. The quantities are limited so you had best come early to get a good choice.

WASH SKIRTS

The balance of our Colored Duck Skirts at	$1.00
7 Gore flare skirt of fine Navy and White Duck, trimmed with 3 bias folds, inverted plait back, regular $2.00 skirt, Saturday	$1.00

WHITE PIQUE SKIRTS HALF PRICE.

7 Gore skirt of fine quality white pique, trimmed with embroidery insertion, regular $3.00, for	$1.50
Balance of Linen Crash Skirts to clear at	.50

BLOUSES

All our White and Colored Blouses at	HALF PRICE
—Fine White India Linen Blouse, plaited back, front of allover embroidery trimmed with insertion in Bolero effect, special value at $1.00, Saturday	50c
—Fine White Linen Lawn Blouse, hemstitched cuffs, back trimmed with tucks and hemstitching, front of embroidery insertion and bias tucks, $2.00, for	$1.00
—Linen Batiste Blouse, newest cut, front cuffs and collar heavily embroidered in white, back with rows of tucks, a very pretty blouse, regular $3.65, for	$1.38
—Fine Linen Colored Lawn Blouse, full front, with open work and embroidery, regular $2.90, for	$1.45

HOSE

A few pairs ladies' and children's fancy hosiery, stainless, regular 25 and 30c, to clear at 15c

SAILORS

Ladies' Sailors going at less than HALF PRICE.

The RITCHIE COMPANY Limited.

New York's Society Palmist

Miss Ellen Francis

Wonderful, Marvellous, Astonishing are Her Readings.
Gives Advice on all Affairs of Life.
Unites the Separated.
When Others Fail She Succeeds.

If you are in trouble of any kind, discontented, unhappy, not satisfied in life, having business, love or domestic troubles, you will be told how to overcome all.

"Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and honor."—Prov. iii., 16.

PARLORS KYLE HOUSE.

Hours: 10 to 9. Satisfaction guaranteed. Maid in attendance. 26-6t

FINE QUALITY UNDERSHIRTS 25c.

Have a look at Quick & Robertson's north window and see the great values they are offering in underwear at 25c each—shirts only. The regular value of these garments is 50c and 75c each. This is only one of the many bargains we will offer during our alteration sales.

Month After Month a cold sticks, and seems to tear holes in your throat. Are you aware that even a stubborn and long-neglected cold is cured with Allen's Lung Balsam? Cough and worry no longer.

MORE CLEARING BARGAINS.

NATHAN JONES.

During our present alteration sale we show good bargains in every department. Our reductions are genuine and customers can depend on our goods being exactly as represented here.

French Flannels

These are in fancy designs, polka dots and stripes, worth 50c yard, all to go at 35c yard.

Wool Delaines

In these we have a few choice flowered and fancy patterns, also to clear at 35c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

Taffeta Ribbons

Just received a line of Taffeta Neck Ribbons in colors, to be cleared out at 15c yard.

ALTERATION SALE

NATHAN JONES.

INTELLIGENCER JOB OFFICE For Artistic Work

Utopian Art Ware.

We have secured four handsome Jardinieres of the celebrated Utopian Art Ware, which is now on exhibit in one of our north windows. A single piece of Utopian pottery is an art education in itself. To take a piece in your hand and to feel its velvet softness, to look lovingly on the happy blending of painting and glaze is suggestive of symphony—the music of some half forgotten dream. This most wonderful ceramic production received the highest honors conferred on this class of goods at both Paris and Chicago.

You should make it a point to call and examine these Jardinieres.

STROUD'S TEA STORE.

Tea, Coffee, China Silver Plate Lamps, Cutlery